Americans patrol

Soldiers are upset

By JEFFREY ULBRICH
Associated Press Writer

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Haiti's military leaders have banned street demonstrations to halt clashes between police and protesters that have killed at least one person since the arrival of American troops.

Sporadic violence erupted Tuesday at Port-au-Prince's docks, airport and huge Cite Soleil slum, while American soldiers stood by and watched in dismay. Witnesses said one man was clubbed to death by a Haitian policeman.

The demonstration ban came in a communique on state media late Tuesday night and was repeated this morning.

The commander of U.S. forces in Haiti, Lt. Gen. Henry Hugh Shelton, said he would meet with army chief Lt. Gen. Raoul Cedras today to pressure him to rein in

"I feel terrible. To see people beaten and not be able to do anything."

pro-army militiamen as well. "We certainly cannot police 100 percent of Haiti," Shelton said. "It's a rather large area."

The arrival of the Americans, under an accord brokered over the weekend that headed off a U.S. invasion, has prompted pro-democracy demonstrations and celebrations.

The jubilation has led to ugly clashes with Haitian police, who beat and tear gassed crowds that gathered to welcome the U.S. forces. American troops were preparing today to spread out from Haiti's two major cities amid appeals for calm by political leaders.

U.S. Embassy spokesman Stanley Schragar told The Associated Press that the presence of U.S.

soldiers "sort of opened up an avenue for demonstrations that hasn't existed before."

The U.S.-Haiti agreement, worked out by a delegation headed by former President Carter, requires military leaders to step down by Oct. 15 and allow the restoration of exiled President Jean-Bertrand Aristide.

Shelton said American officials contacted Cedras on Tuesday to "let him know that we are not happy."

He said he would meet with him this morning "to let him know that we expect him to gain control ... and bring these acts of violence to a halt," he told NBC-TV.

U.S. troops landed in Port-au-Prince on Monday, and about 1,800 Marines landed Tuesday at Haiti's second city, Cap-Haitien, in the north. Once their equipment is ashore, they are to begin fanning out into the countryside.

The potential for violence remains high in this wretchedly poor Caribbean nation as the intervention force gets organized and the ruling military and police

Petitions circulate to protest LBL cuts

By AMY WILSON
Staff Writer

A groundswell of community support for Land Between the Lakes has begun in the form of petitions directed to Tennessee Valley Authority, as well as congressional representatives.

"I have about 3,000 signatures so far and about 100 petitions still out in other states," said Charles Smith.

Budget still not available

Smith and his wife Nancy began the petition about three weeks ago when a friend employed at LBL told them about the proposed budget cuts.

"I was one of the first 14 people to roll into Wrangler's Camp when it opened in 1973," Smith said. "My family rides horses and we try to go every chance we can."

As part of the National Wagon Train and Trail Riders Association's homecoming this week, a group of people from 40 states and Canada are at Wrangler's

Camp. "This makes the seventh year to have homecoming there," Smith said. "When we first started going to Wrangler's, we carried lawnmowers and weed-eaters with us to clear out a place to camp."

"If something happened to LBL, I would have to go to southern Illinois or Tennessee because LBL has more room to ride horses than any place I've been," he said.

In addition to sending copies of the signed petitions to TVA Chairman Craven Crowell, U.S. Rep. Tom Barlow and U.S. Sens. Wendell Ford and Mitch McConnell, Smith has also sent personal letters to anyone who has volunteered time or money to LBL.

Smith has also enclosed petitions for people to have signed and return before Oct. 1, which is the beginning of the federal government's fiscal year.

"We have had a really good response about the petitions,"

Car chase leads to grand jury

By STACEY CROOK
Staff Writer

The case against a Murray man who led police on a 31-mile pursuit has been bound over to the grand jury following a preliminary hearing in Calloway District Court Tuesday.

Brian M. Cartee, 24, 1213 N. 16th St., was arrested Sept. 11 by Murray police and charged with four felony counts of first-degree wanton endangerment — three of those charges involve endangering police officers.

He was also charged with seven misdemeanors including: reckless driving, disregarding a traffic control device, disregarding a stop sign, speeding, attempting to elude a police officer, driving under the influence and resisting arrest.

According to police reports, Sgt. Ken Claud allegedly saw Cartee driving recklessly at the corner of 12th and Main streets.

When Claud attempted to stop Cartee's 1993 Jeep at 1:56 a.m., Cartee, who was westbound on Main Street, reportedly accelerated and refused to stop.

Two other Murray officers, Eddie Rollins and Tom Bailey joined in the pursuit at 15th and Main streets.

As the pursuit continued, Cartee allegedly ran a stop sign at 16th and Main streets. He con-

Steel company considers Paducah

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — Paducah is a finalist in Birmingham Steel Corp.'s search for a site to build a $100 million facility to recycle scrap steel. The Paducah Sun reported in a copyright story Tuesday.

Other sites under consideration for the plants are in Erie, Pa.; and Cuyahoga Heights and Conneaut in Ohio. The Sun reported.

Harry Ruth, chairman of the Greater Paducah Economic Development Corp., said the plant initially would employ 150 people with average salaries in excess of $35,000.

The company also is looking for a site to build a $109 million steel bar and rod plant. A com-

Expert says: Tobacco farmers have tough choices

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A leading tobacco expert at the University of Kentucky says tobacco farmers have two choices for next year: Take a cut in burley prices or reduce quotas substantially.

"We've got some very difficult times ahead of us," Will Snell, an agriculture economics professor, told the legislature's Tobacco Task Force on Tuesday.

Reductions of 30 percent to 48 percent may be imposed on the amount of tobacco farmers are allowed to sell next year to stem the growing surplus of burley.

Groups representing tobacco growers and congressmen from tobacco states are at odds over whether to allow such a huge cut or to tamper again with a federal formula intended to balance tobacco supply and demand.

Leaders of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation and the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association say that following the formula will reduce the tobacco glut and prevent a big increase in the fee farmers must pay to buy and store surplus tobacco.

"I think that would be ridiculous," he said. "I'm getting a little bit tired of the farmer taking the hit all the time."

Sales of Kentucky tobacco, which hit $918 million last year, could drop to less than $600 million a year within two or three years, Snell said. That would mean at least a 35 percent decrease in tobacco revenue for farmers.

In recent years, tobacco-state farmers have produced more burley than cigarette companies wanted to buy. The burley co-ops, using money from a fee farmers pay on each pound of tobacco sold, has bought the excess.

The pool of excess tobacco is likely to exceed 500 million pounds with this year's burley harvest, a glut comparable to the mid-1980s, when farmers took price cuts.

Quotas would have to be cut 30 percent to 48 percent next year under a federal formula that uses existing tobacco supplies, exports, and cigarette companies' buying plans to balance supply and demand, according to Snell.

Petitions...

Smith said. "People say 'give us' and they offer to take us back home for more signatures."

They want to sign it for their own reasons. "Where else are you going to go and see wild animals? This is the only place to see the animals in their natural setting."

Three years ago, Smith generally petitioned when a proposal was made to increase user fees at the camp.

The reason I got this current petition started is if I sit back and do nothing, it will just stay the same," Smith said. "All I'm worried about is saving LBL."

The trouble we have been having is that no one seems to care why these cuts are being made. It seems to me that TVA is trying to tell the government that it can't support LBL without federalization."

In addition to the cover letter of the petition, "Whatever the reason for the cut, we, the users of LBL, will pay the bill. We will no longer know what it is today."

If you don't want to see the disturbances of cemeteries, wildlife destroyed, forests mowed down, springs and natural salt removed and replaced by concrete, swimming pools and fountains, please sign this petition to stop this funding cut to LBL."

Educators are also rallying behind LBL's educational mission through a petition being circulated by the student chapter of the National Education Association at Murray State University.

"So far, we have about 400 signatures and people are still signing," said a spokesman in MSU's department of elementary and secondary education.

With the beginning of the fiscal year less than two weeks away, LBL still doesn't have a budget. However, LBL officials have already sent notification to various employees indicating their positions will be "surplussed."

"Hopefully, we will have a budget by late this week," said Ann Wright, LBL general manager. "The budget is developed collaboratively between the managers of the Resource Group, which handles the appropriations from Congress."

Based on appropriation figures for 1994-95 from Congress, TVA will receive $142,873,000.

"The situation is that the Resource Group has had a steady budget for several years and because of inflation, salaries and a lot of aging infrastructure, we are basically having to see what we can do with declining resources," said John Doty, TVA communications officer.

Although TVA operates a separate budget for its power operation, Doty said it is illegal to transfer revenue from its power system to the appropriated side.

"The Resource Group does certain work for the power plant, but it gets paid for it," Doty said. "The appropriated funds are solely for the appropriated projects."

Wright said that in fiscal year 1993-1994, $2 million in revenue was generated at the LBL site.

"That income stays within LBL," she said. "Essentially, our budget is appropriations and revenue."

For fiscal year 1994, LBL received an appropriation of $9,686,000. Of that, $303,000 was transferred to Knoxville for environmental training, as well as $533,000 for international programs and networks. The remaining $8,850,000 was LBL's operating budget for 1993-94.

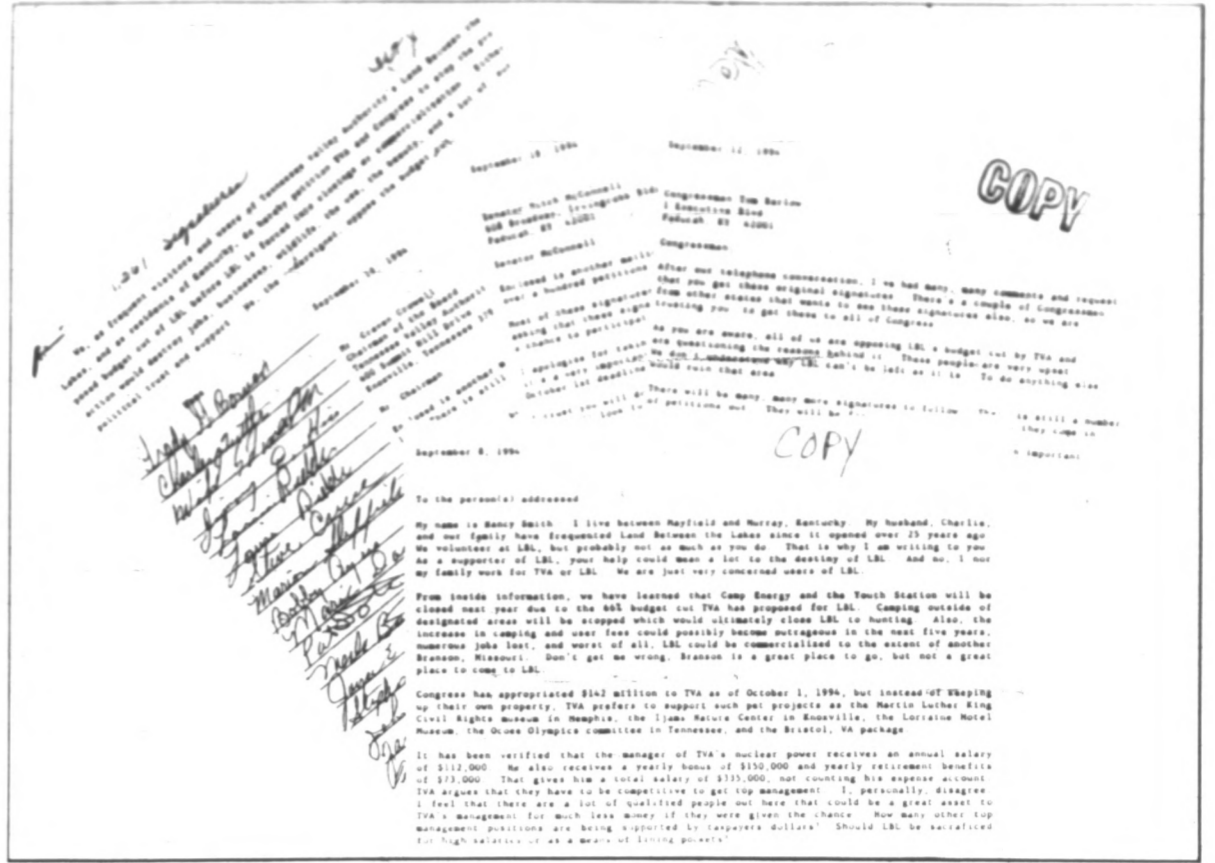

Wright said she is unsure how many notices have been sent out to employees regarding the surplus positions.

"One reason I don't know how many will be affected is because of the early-out incentives that are being offered," she said.

"Across TVA, employees are being offered three early-out incentives which are pretty lucrative," Doty said. "Others will be transferred to TVA's service organization, which will offer training opportunities."

However, numerous LBL employees, including some of the managers, have confirmed that they have received notification that they will no longer have jobs.

"All agencies of TVA are being asked to focus on core activities and having to determine whether we should be in particular businesses," Doty said. Personnel is not the only area at LBL that will feel the impact of proposed cuts. Officials are also examining facilities and programs.

Citing a low occupancy rate, LBL officials have said they plan to close Youth Station, which is an overnight camping facility in Kentucky, after December.

"Everybody is looking at how they can tighten their belts," Wright said. "As we begin working on our master plan, we will need to determine LBL's assets and discuss uses for Empire Farm and other facilities."

Empire Farm has been closed since 1991. Wright said LBL currently has no plans for the site.

Regardless of mandates from TVA to become self-supporting, budget cuts are not being looked upon favorably by those who use LBL.

According to a letter sent to Barlow by Smith, "Congress really needs to stop and think and then look and listen, or vice versa. People are speaking quietly through this petition right now, but after Oct. 1 when the actions start taking place, people will get louder. As commercialization and closings begin, these people are going to be heard."

Sanctions were imposed after the army overthrew Aristide in a bloody 1991 coup. Stricter embargos and bans on travel and financial transactions have been imposed in the attempt to compel the military to restore him to power. Ambassador Madeleine K. Albright had said Monday the oil embargo and other sanctions could be suspended if Haiti's military rulers cooperated with the multinational force. But on Tuesday night, after U.S. officials met with Aristide and Security Council members, Albright said, "What we have decided to do for now is not to ask for a suspension of sanctions." But in general, most people appear ready to give the latest plan to bring democracy to Haiti a chance. Even Franck Pierre, leader of the violent, pro-army political group Capois La Mort, sounded conciliatory. Pierre asked people "to stay home and go about their business ... let the Haitian and American armies do the job." "The U.S. Army has come to collaborate with the Haitian army to establish order and discipline," he said. # Carter said he will return for Korean peace effort

By WALTER PUTNAM
Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — Former President Carter emerged from private meetings with ambassadors from North and South Korea to say he is willing to return to the divided peninsula to foster talks on defusing nuclear tensions.

Buoyed by his last-minute mission to avoid a U.S. invasion of Haiti, Carter met with the ambassadors separately at the Carter Center on Monday and Tuesday to offer his aid, but no peace talks were scheduled.

"I don't have any specific plans to return to Korea," Carter said Tuesday after a meeting with Han Seung-Soo, South Korea's ambassador to the United States.

In June, he traveled to North Korea and helped arrange a series of accords, including an agreement for an unprecedented summit that was put on hold after the death of North Korean President Kim Il Sung in July.

"I think that both the North and South Korean people would like to see steps resumed at an early date that would lead to the complete reconciliation and understanding between North and South Korea," Carter said.

On Monday, after returning from a weekend of negotiations in Haiti, Carter met with Pak Gil Yon, North Korea's ambassador to the United Nations.

The ambassador delivered a letter written by Kim before his death, confirming the agreements reached in June.

Han delivered a letter from South Korean President Kim Young Sam, thanking Carter for helping bring the two sides to the table.

"We really appreciate what he has been doing to promote dialogue between North and South Korea," Han said. "We wish that he would continue to play a constructive role."

During his presidency, Carter was credited with helping broker the peace between Egypt and Israel. He continued his outreach efforts after returning to private life, mediating disputes and acting as an election observer around the globe.

This past weekend he negotiated a deal with Haiti's military leaders in which they agreed to relinquish power by Oct. 15 to avoid a U.S. invasion.

Addressing about 450 people Tuesday at the first of five "Conversations at The Carter Center," he criticized the State Department for a policy he characterized as "If you have a disagreement with someone, don't talk to them."

He nevertheless praised President Clinton for dispatching him, retired Gen. Colin Powell and

Sen. Sam Nunn to talk with the Haitian junta.

"You have to communicate in some way," said Carter, pointing out that Clinton has so far avoided war in Korea and Haiti, while his predecessors sent troops into the Persian Gulf, Panama and Grenada.

"I'm convinced, and always have been, that these wars could have been avoided if someone like us could have gone in and reached an agreement with mutual understanding and dignity," Carter said. "Almost all wars can be avoided."

Motive unclear regarding massage parlor fatalities

OAK GROVE, Ky. (AP) — Two women were fatally shot and stabbed early Tuesday while working at a massage parlor near the Army's Fort Campbell, police said. Authorities discounted robbery as a motive.

The women were found dead in a back room about 4 a.m. CDT at the New Life Massage Parlor after co-workers left to take one woman home and to get something to eat, detectives said.

Oak Grove Police Chief Milton Perry said no motive was known. Robbery apparently was not the motive because cash was still in the business.

New Life has been under investigation for possible prostitution, officials said. More than a year ago, Oak Grove police charged a representative of the business with offering prostitution in the business, but the charge was later dropped.

One of Tuesday's victims was identified as Gloria A. Ross, 18. She was married to a Fort Campbell soldier and had two children, including a 6-month-old. The other victim was identified as Candy Belt, 22.

Witnesses said Mrs. Ross' husband was unaware of the murder until he arrived at the massage parlor with their two children to pick her up from work Tuesday morning.

Belt was still alive when co-workers found the bodies but died about 7:30 a.m. at Vanderbilt University Medical Center in Nashville, Tenn.

"It appears right now that both victims have been shot and stabbed," Christian Coroner Dorris Lamb said.

Support Elkins at meeting

Dear Editor:

When my husband and I moved our family from New York a few years ago, we were very pleased with the new community we would now be calling home. We have recently seen something very disturbing to us. Small-town politics are running rampant in the town of Murray.

The question in my mind is, "How does a well-known, highly-respected chief of police like Mr. Larry Elkins have his career destroyed for no apparent reason other than, it's time for a change?"

Does Mr. Elkins' record, standing in the community and loyalty to his men have no merit in this situation? The people of Murray are in an uproar. This is apparent by the petitions circulating all over town in support of our Chief Larry Elkins.

I can only hope that politics do not win out and through these petitions the people are heard and Mr. Elkins is restored to his rightful position as chief of police.

It's time for the community to be heard! We elect our city officials in the hopes they will do what is right for our community. When we do not feel our best interest is being served, it's time to let our feelings be known. Show your support for Mr. Elkins by coming to the city council meeting Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. This is our town, let's be heard.

Sheriff's office backs Elkins

Dear Editor:

The Calloway County Sheriff's Department would like to take this opportunity to express our thanks and gratitude to Chief Larry Elkins for the spirit of cooperation and assistance he has shown to the people of Calloway County in the course of his duties. He has extended every courtesy and lent his expertise and professionalism in making our city and county a better place to live and to work.

We would like to encourage every citizen of Murray to contact members of the city council to voice his or her outrage at the demotion of Chief Larry Elkins. Murray and Calloway County continue to need the experience and dedication that Larry Elkins has displayed over the past 22 years of faithful service. This department supports any effort to reinstate Larry Elkins to the office of Chief of Police.

KENTUCKY EDITORIAL

The Paducah Sun

Arcane legal points aside, the victory in a Kentucky Supreme Court decision recently goes to drunken drivers with a history of committing the offense.

By the 5-2 ruling, drivers convicted under a 1991 statute cannot face more serious penalties because of convictions under the previous driving-under-the-influence law.

The reason, according to Chief Justice Robert Stephens, is that the legislature created a new crime by making it illegal per se for anyone to operate a vehicle when their blood-alcohol level is .10 percent or more. Previously, such a reading constituted only a legal presumption of DUI.

The practical effect apparently will be to give everyone a clean pre-1991 DUI record.

That is not, we are reasonably sure, what either the General Assembly had in mind when it passed the new law or the people of Kentucky desire today.

It is reasonable to wonder why intoxicated driving before 1991 is not the same crime as intoxicated driving now. All the legislature changed was the standard of proof by lowering it. The prior convictions, which are now to be treated as though they never happened, were obtained under a tougher standard. So how were the rights of the appellants compromised anyway?

This case is a classic illustration of the great divide between the law as judicial theorists see it and the law as it applies where people live. While judges argue over minute distinctions without differences, drunken drivers, some of whom are habitual in committing the crime, are still out there as a danger to all who must share the highway with them.

Domestic violence laws stronger

The terrible problem - and toll in lives - of domestic violence isn't a phenomenon limited only to Kentucky, of course, but 101 people died as a result of domestic violence across the commonwealth last year and that rate is increasing. The number of victims - mostly women - who never show up on a statistician's graph because they survive the assaults and don't notify authorities can only be guessed.

That increasing death rate and a surge in highly visible incidents of domestic violence this summer mobilized a lot of powerful people here to attempt to find a solution. Many of them thought the problem had been properly addressed two years ago, then the General Assembly, acting on the recommendations of a special commission on domestic violence, enacted tough new laws that are among the most progressive in the country on the subject.

The problem is those laws don't seem to be working, as the death toll reveals.

Right now there are two new commissions trying to find out what more is needed to protect the victims of domestic violence and to make certain procedures now in the statute books for handling cases of violence work as they were intended. One commission is the creature of the legislature, the other is a joint effort by Gov. Brereton Jones, Attorney General Chris Gorham and Supreme Court Chief Justice Robert Stephens.

Last week Stephens announced action on his part that shows how easy it is to miss a tree when everyone is looking only at the forest.

As of October 1, Stephens is making it far more difficult for a person charged with domestic abuse to get out of jail. Under the domestic violence laws passed two years ago, the victim of violence can obtain a court order virtually 24 hours a day to require the abuser to stay away from the victim.

The problem is, however, that when an alleged abuser is taken off to jail, it is all too easy for him to get out - and go right back to attack the victim. That's when people get killed.

So the chief justice is requiring a cooling off period for persons accused of domestic violence.

Beginning next month, people accused of abusing a spouse or partner will have to go before a judge or trial commissioner before being released. The pretrial release officials, who make recommendations to judges about a defendant, will only be able to recommend a full-cash bond.

Also, the investigation the pretrial release officers make of a defendant will be more thorough than it has been. No one will be released on their own recognizance after a phone call to the jail.

Stephens believes letting accused abusers sit in jail cells for longer periods before they see a judge or are able to post a cash bond will let the anger, frustration or whatever the cause of the violence dissipate. That means fewer follow-up incidents that too often end in death or serious injury.

All of this makes sense, of course. People accused of drunk driving aren't allowed out of jail until they've sobered up. The same principle should apply to those accused of violent behavior against anyone.

All the studies and consultants' reports on the causes of domestic violence notwithstanding, it only makes good common sense that when violence occurs, the abuser ought to be given time to calm down before being released from confinement.

The cooling off period Stephens is establishing won't solve all the difficulties in protecting victims of violence. There is no way to protect every victim every time violence breaks out in a domestic situation.

But a few more hours or a few more days behind bars for an accused abuser is a small inconvenience when the lives of victims, including law enforcement officers, are on the line.

Clinton won one in foreign arena

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fragile, imprecise, risky — for all the second guesses, President Clinton's deal to depose Haiti's military rulers short of war is a plus among his minuses in foreign policy.

He won. It may be temporary, and that will be told soon enough — by the Oct. 15 deadline for the military bosses to yield power for the return of Haiti's ousted, elected president.

There may yet be casualties, despite the agreement that averted a U.S. attack with only 30 minutes to spare Sunday night. Peacekeeping can be a deadly business; 36 Americans were killed in Somalia, where the final, few Marines were withdrawn last week just before the first U.S. forces went unopposed into Haiti.

"I want to emphasize that the situation in Haiti remains difficult, it remains uncertain; the mission still has risks," Clinton said Monday as American forces landed for a military occupation he promised will be limited in time and scope. He didn't say how limited, and there soon will be pressure for that answer.

There are complaints that he's accepted a bargain too kind to the usurpers he accused of a reign of terror, that they won't be compelled to go into exile for the return of President Jean-Bertrand Aristide, that human rights violators are to get amnesty, that there's a face-saving delay before they have to relinquish power.

Flaws, perhaps. "I don't want it to be examined by lawyers who can spend weeks seeing what we did in just a few minutes," said former President Carter, the chief negotiator, "but the overwhelming point is that all of our objectives were accomplished."

And it certainly is better than the alternative, both for the forces who might otherwise have had to fight against sniping or skirmishes and for the president. Clinton avoided an invasion for which he'd gained scant support, despite months of warnings, United Nations backing and a nationally televised ultimatum Thursday night.

Congress was divided. Sunday morning, Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, D-N.Y., had said on network TV that Clinton would be breaching his oath of office by ordering invasion, an accusation as angry as those chorused by Republicans.

"Unfortunately, not all the decisions that are right can be popular," Clinton said, maintaining that he hadn't needed congressional approval for an invasion or for occupation. But he also said that any sustained effort involving U.S. forces needs public support over the long run. "We have learned that mostly in good ways and sometimes in sad ways in our country's history," he said, obliquely recalling his own opposition to the war in Vietnam 25 years ago.

The difference between an invasion and the unopposed landing was the difference between bitter debate over an uncertain vote on his policy, and a resolution that backs the troops, praises the negotiators and, more guardedly, the president, and silently reserves judgment on a policy some Republicans were calling a mistaken military occupation.

After all, congressional elections are only seven weeks away, and the Republicans aren't about to give Clinton a mid-campaign endorsement. When party roles were reversed, in the Persian Gulf War, the Democrats had agreed to a resolution supporting George Bush as commander in chief, but balked at praising him as president.

Clinton had said the Haitian situation was a test of American credibility. It certainly was a test of his own. Carter helped him pass that exam, with more to come, beginning with the deadline for the end of military rule.

The head man, Lt. Gen. Raoul Cedras, reneged on a deal to yield by Oct. 15, 1993, but there weren't 15,000 American troops in Haiti to make that happen. This time there will be. None of it is based on trust, Defense Secretary William Perry said.

But there is no lack of uncertainty. "There will be difficult times ahead," said retired Gen. Colin Powell, former chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, credited with a key role in bargaining with the Haitian generals. "There may well be injuries and casualties. We can't guarantee anything."

Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., the other negotiator, said there is a "clear and continuing danger" that Haitian factions will vengefully turn on one another.

Those perils notwithstanding, the first polling after the generals agreed to go showed a surge in approval of Clinton's handling of Haiti, from negative ratings to majority support.

"At a time when there's so much hand wringing in this country about everything being wrong," Sen. Byron Dorgan, D-N.D. said, "it appears the right thing occurred here."

Cathryn Leigh Walker and Cary Arthur Miller Jr. to marry Walker-Miller wedding vows will be said Oct. 8

Mrs. Charlotte L. Walker of Atlanta, Ga., and Dr. Jack R. Walker of Huntsville, Ala., announce the engagement of their daughter, Cathryn Leigh Walker, to Cary Arthur Miller Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Cary Miller of Murray.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George M. Little of Atlanta, and the late Mr. and Mrs. John C. Walker of Meridian, Miss.

The groom-elect is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Hopkins and the late Mr. and Mrs. Claude L. Miller, all of Murray.

Miss Walker is a graduate of Lovett School and the University of Georgia where she received a Bachelor of Science degree in Interior Design. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. Miss Walker is employed at Georgia Lighting.

Mr. Miller, a graduate of Murray High School, received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Business from Murray State University. He is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity. Mr. Miller is employed at Radix International, Inc.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, Oct. 8, at 6:30 p.m. at Morningside Presbyterian Church, Atlanta.

A reception will follow at Fern Bank Museum, Atlanta.

Mrs. Kentucky United States Pageant will be held Sept. 30

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. — Applications to enter the Mrs. Kentucky United States Pageant are available to married women age 21 or older.

An inaugural pageant is set for Sept. 30 and Oct. 1 in connection with the Heartland Women's Show at the Show-Me Center in Cape Girardeau.

The pageant is a preliminary to the Mrs. United States national pageant, scheduled for Las Vegas, Nev. The pageant winner at Cape Girardeau will get a free trip to the national pageant and other prizes.

Requests for applications should be mailed to the Mrs. Kentucky United States Pageant, 1005 N. Kingshighway, Suite 101, Cape Girardeau, Mo. 63701. Phone contacts are Melody Hutson at 1-314-335-9252 and Shari Marvel at 1-314-335-0914.

Brittni Nichole Miller is born

The baby weighed five pounds two ounces. The mother is the former Cindy Thompson.

Paternal grandparents are Audra and Sue Barnhill of Buchanan and the late T.C. and Ethel Miller. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Rainey E. Edwards of Puryear, Tenn., and the late William K. (Billy) Thompson.

Paternal great-grandparents are Robert and Minnie Miller. Maternal great-grandparents are William E. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Read, and Mr. and Mrs. F.R. Edwards. A great-great-grandmother is Mrs. Daffo Seaborn.

Patterson is chosen member of cast of play

HENDERSON, Tenn. — A New Concord resident has been chosen for the cast of John Patrick's "The Curious Savage," being presented Sept. 30 and Oct. 1 and 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the Old Main on the campus of Freed-Hardeman University.

Paige Patterson, daughter of W.T. and Linda Patterson, has been selected for the part of Ethel P. Savage. Patterson is a freshman elementary education major. She is a 1994 graduate of Calloway County High School.

Set in a mental institution, "The Curious Savage" is a comedy that delivers a light-hearted but revealing look into how people see themselves and how they really are.

Tickets are $5 in advance or $6 at the door and can be ordered by calling 1-901-989-6780.

Baha'i Faith lecture to be Sunday at library

While Murray commemorates its Sesquicentennial this year, the Baha'is of Murray will be celebrating the 150th anniversary of the founding of their faith and the centenary of the establishment of the Baha'i Faith in America.

Dr. Susan Maneck, a professor of history at Murray State University, will present a public lecture on Sunday, Sept. 25, at 4 p.m. at the Calloway County Public Library, 710 Main St., Murray.

Maneck will lecture on the origins of the Baha'i Faith with the aim of illustrating what light its development may shed on the emergence and growth of earlier prophetic religions.

The first American Baha'i, Thornton Chase (1847-1912) declared his faith in Chicago in June 1894. He served as a white officer of an African-American infantry unit during the Civil War and later as a teacher in a school for African-American children.

According to the Encyclopedia Britannica 1992 Book of the Year, the Baha'i Faith is the second most widespread religion in the world after the Christian Faith, and, according to the World Christian Encyclopedia, is the fastest growing of the independent world religions.

The public is invited to attend the lecture. Light refreshments will be served following the program.

VFW offers scholarships

"Students win more than awards and scholarships when they participate in the VFW Voice of Democracy Scholarship Program," said Commander Daythel Turley of Post 6291 of Veterans of Foreign Wars, in discussing the audio essay program conducted annually by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Ladies Auxiliary.

Some of the fringe benefits, according to Commander Turley, are increased self-confidence and poise, experience in communicating with others and valuable training in self-expression. For the state winners, there is also the broadening experience of a five-day tour of Washington, D.C., and the opportunity to make lasting friendships with the other state winners.

In the 47 years that the VFW and its Ladies Auxiliary have been involved with the Voice of Democracy Program, more than 6,000,000 high school students have participated.

Participants write and then record a three-to-five minute audio essay expressing their views on "My Vision for America." From among the state winners, national winners are chosen to receive a total of over $100,000 in scholarships with a $20,000 first place award.

"One of the greatest benefits to young people who take part in the program is that by thinking, writing and speaking up for their country, they gain a better appreciation of their obligation and freedom in America," Commander Turley said.

Shapla ends Laker story Tigers mount charge for 3-1 win

By STEVE PARKER
Sports Editor

Calloway County keeps trying to write another chapter in its boys soccer history, but Murray High still has the page marked. Calloway, halfway to its first-ever victory over the Tigers, saw Murray's Roman Shapla dash all hopes with two goals in the second half to lead the Tigers to a 2-1 win Tuesday night at the Calloway County soccer complex. For Calloway coach Bill Miller, it was business as usual between the Lakers and Tigers. "We felt like we were in control of the game, but something, somewhere breaks down and it's hard for them (Lakers) to bounce back," Miller said after the rough and tumble affair. Murray (4-4) has never lost to Calloway County (3-3-2) in seven years, but they were dangerously close after a first half that was won by the Lakers. "I expected Calloway to play us tough and they did some things well," said Murray coach James Weatherly. "They took it to us in the first half and beat us to the ball." Calloway jumped out to a 1-0 lead by halftime on an early goal by Nathan Keller, who was assisted by Jared Lencki. Murray came out in the second half and pushed the ball until Shapla was taken down in the penalty area and awarded a penalty kick. One of the best players in the First Region, Shapla pulled his penalty shot wide of Laker goalkeeper Dustin Parks for a rare miss. "It's not our night," admitted Weatherly. "That's what you initially think." Shapla seemed to just tease the Lakers, as well as his teammates, when a minute later he set up for a free kick from 30-plus yards and bent a shot over and around Parks for the tying goal. "That's an emotional roller coaster that lasted for a minute," said Miller. "They get the penalty kick and our heads are down, then he misses and their (Murray) heads go down and we have the momentum back. And then they score on a direct kick a minute later." Despite the poor play, Weatherly "felt like if we could tie it up, we could go from there." Shapla broke the 1-1 tie minutes later when he scored his second unassisted goal of the night when he gathered a loose ball and beat Parks. Still, Calloway fought back and had two prime scoring opportunities to tie the game. Scott Earwood's breakaway chance was spoiled by Tiger keeper Bobby Setzer. Later, Russell Lencki hit the post from close range. "We re-established the ball down at that end, but then they got a breakaway and got that goal," said Miller, referring to the game's final score. Shapla made a long pass to teammate Stephen Crouch on the wing, who pushed it forward to a charging Greg Miller who beat Parks and found an open net. ■ See Page 11A

Graves Co. scores win over locals

Staff Report
Murray Ledger & Times

In high school golf action at South Highland Country Club in Graves County Tuesday, Graves County's boys downed both Calloway County and Murray while the Eagle girls won over Murray. In boys play, Graves finished with a team score of 157, two strokes better than Calloway, while Murray wound up at 172. Individually for Calloway, Brad Clendennen shot a 38, David Greene fired a 39, Adam Haley turned in a 40 and Buzz Paul carded a 42. For Murray, Ryan Haverstock led the way with a 41 while Drew Holton shot 42, Ryan Pickens turned in a 44 and Jacob Rayburn had a 45. On the girls side, Graves ended the day with a team score of 191, edging out Murray by four strokes. For the Lady Tigers, Robyn Myhill shot a 39, Kim Alexander turned in a 49, Rachel Cella fired a 53 and Morgan Blankenship shot a 54. The teams are back in action today at home against Fulton City.

Red Sox fire Hobson; search is on

By HOWARD ULMAN
AP Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — The last two men to lead the Boston Red Sox were rookie major league managers. The next one probably won't be. When general manager Dan Duquette announced the firing of Butch Hobson on Tuesday, he emphasized one factor that would guide his search for a successor.

"We felt that there were more experienced managers, more seasoned managers that we could find to lead the Red Sox. At this point, I can't tell you" who the leading candidates are, Duquette said. "We wouldn't have a training factor involved if we could find an experienced man at the major league level." Hobson was International League manager of the year in 1991, but had losing records in each of the next three seasons in Boston. His predecessor, Joe Morgan, won AL East titles in two of his four seasons despite never having been a big-league boss. However, he lost the AL playoffs twice to Oakland. Tony La Russa managed those A's teams and could be leading the Red Sox next year. La Russa's contract expires after this season. The A's made a contract offer in spring training, but La Russa reportedly is concerned because the team is up for sale. He met with club officials several times last week. Asked about La Russa, Duquette said simply, "I read about that on Sunday," referring to an article in a Boston newspaper. The timing of the Hobson firing lets potential candidates know of the opening. Duquette said he'd like to replace Hobson within four weeks. That would put a new manager in place by the time players declare free agency in November. "It takes five to eight years to make a good manager," Duquette said.

Lakers turn over Tigers

Calloway wins 14-0

Staff Report
Murray Ledger & Times

Calloway County took advantage of three Murray turnovers to take a 14-0 win in middle school football action Tuesday night at Ty Holland Stadium. Calloway fumbled the opening kickoff and Murray recovered deep in Laker territory. Quarterback Thurman Foster apparently scored a few plays later, but the touchdown was nullified by a penalty. Calloway took over on downs and moved down the field, and apparently scored on a run by Mason Lilly, but it, too, was called back by a penalty. Near the end of the first half, the teams traded turnovers as Murray's Markise Hammonds tumbled the ball away to the Lakers but Derek Bramley intercepted a Calloway pass on the final play of the half, leaving no score at halftime. The Lakers took the opening kickoff of the third quarter and marched straight down the field, scoring on a four-yard run by Jason Hargrove at the 2:10 mark. The point-after try failed, leaving Calloway up 6-0. Calloway's second score was set up by another Hammonds fumble with 3:40 remaining in the game. With 1:09 left in the contest, Eric King found the end zone from four yards out and Hargrove ran in the two-point conversion for the 14-0 edge. Murray then moved down to Calloway's three-yard line, but time ran out before the Tigers could get into the end zone. "The offensive line was the key for us; they dominated up front," Calloway coach James Pigg said. "Our backs ran hard and they had some super holes to run through." Calloway, 2-1, is back in action next Tuesday, with a seventh and eighth grade double-header against Trigg County at home, starting at 5 p.m. Murray, 2-2, hosts Marshall County next Tuesday.

the loss of six other starters to free agency.

"People didn't expect us to sit here," linebacker Corey Miller said. "It really feels good going into the bye week having beaten three divisional teams and sitting at the top all by ourselves."

"I guess you can say I'm surprised," veteran guard William Roberts said Tuesday as the Giants left for a five-day bye-week vacation.

"I'm happy and I'm proud. I'm not content though," he said. "We are going to see most of our adverse situations ahead of us. We have to enjoy this now and realize it is going to take a lot more to get it done."

Errors hurt Lady Racers in volleyball loss to WKU

Staff Report Murray Ledger & Times

Earlier in the week, MSU setter Kristi Hoffman was named the OVC Freshman of the Week following an impressive four match showing.

Murray State had more kills, but errors killed the Lady Racers in Tuesday's 3-2 loss to Western Kentucky.

Western (8-3) took the final two games of the match to win 15-11, 8-15, 11-15, 15-8, 15-11 in Murray State's Racer Arena.

MSU golfers compete

Staff Report Murray Ledger & Times

The Murray State Racer golf team finished eighth at the Summit Collegiate Golf Classic this weekend while the MSU Lady Racers were 12th at the Tennessee Tech Invitational.

The Racers finished eighth out of a 15-team field with a team total of 897 for the 54-hole tournament, which finished Saturday at the Summit Country Club in Owensboro.

Jason Lancaster led the way for the Racers with a 221, followed by Todd Thomas with a 226, Paul Clements and Brian Henson with 227 and Brandon Tucker with a 237. The Lady Racers were 12th out of 18 teams at the Tennessee Tech Invitational in Cookeville, Tenn., shooting a 775 over the 36-hole event.

Angie Hayward led the Lady Racers with a 165 (83-82), followed by Mikki McLeary (166), Rechelle Cadwell (171), Brandi Stevenson (173) and Joy Roach (184).

The Racers will compete in the Legends Intercollegiate in Franklin, Tenn., Monday and Tuesday while the Lady Racers will next be in action next month at Samford.

Ellen Uddberg, playing in her last game for Murray before moving to Chicago, picked up two assists and a goal in the second half.

"That just breaks my heart," Kennedy said of losing Uddberg. "She's such a good kid, as well as a heck of a soccer player."

Ten minutes into the second half, Uddberg assisted on the tying goal to Samantha Hogsd. Sarah Snyder made it 3-2 on an assist from Uddberg before Uddberg scored the game's final goal on an assist from Snyder. "Everybody wore down enough that we weren't making smart passes," said Arant. "When we play weaker teams we can last, but against equal, or better teams, we wear out."

Kennedy pointed out the play of his midfield, as determining factors in the game. "We have four freshmen midfielders and they were magnificent," the coach explained. "Leigh Haverstock, Courtney Christopher, Jeanne Maddox and Kim Howard were absolutely magnificent."

Murray State News among top 20 college publications

The Murray State News, the student-produced weekly newspaper at Murray State University, has been named one of the 20 best university non-daily newspapers in the United States by the Associated Collegiate Press and the Newspaper Association of America Foundation.

From the 150 college newspapers that entered the competition, 40 earned the honor of Pacemaker Finalist - 10 dailies from four-year institutions, 10 from two-year schools and 20 from four-year schools. Judges for the competition included reporters, editorial writers and copy editors from the Los Angeles Times, the Minneapolis Star Tribune and the Philadelphia Inquirer. From the 40 Pacemaker finalists, 15 national Pacemakers will be selected by the Times Picayune in New Orleans.

Awards will be presented at the Associated Collegiate Press College Media Convention in New Orleans, Nov. 3-6.

The Murray State News won the same award in 1990, according to Dr. Ann Landini, associate professor of journalism and adviser to the newspaper. The Pacemaker, first awarded in 1924, is considered by many in the collegiate press to be the "Pulitzer" of college journalism, according to Landini.

The Murray State News is among three student newspapers from Kentucky universities to receive the Pacemaker award. Others include the College Heights Herald at Western Kentucky University and the Eastern Progress at Eastern Kentucky University. Also receiving Pacemaker distinction were newspapers from Auburn University, Pepperdine University, Emory University, Missouri University at Columbia, Tulane University, Carnegie Mellon University, James Madison University and Saint Louis University.

The Murray State News is distributed each Friday during the spring and fall semester on the Murray

State campus.

Copies of the newspaper from the fall 1993 semester and spring 1994 semester were submitted to the competition. Landini said. Serving as editor-in-chief during the fall semester was Jenny Wohlleb. Other editors and managers for the fall 1993 semester were Kelly Menser, news editor; Kris Lawrence, campus life editor; Matt Pereboom, sports editor; Jud Cook, photography editor; Heather Begley, layout/graphics editor; Sean Finnegan, advertising manager; Kim Dunlap, advertising production manager; Allison Burgess, business manager; and Janice Fulps, viewpoint editor.

In addition to Landini, other members of the department of journalism and radio-television staff associated with the newspaper are Orville Herndon, computer technician and Barry Johnson, photography director.

DEATHS

Paul V. Buchanan

Paul V. Buchanan, 72, of South 12th Street, Murray, died Tuesday at 10:45 a.m. at Murray-Calloway County Hospital.

He was retired from the City of Murray Water System and was a member of First Baptist Church, Murray.

Mr. Buchanan was well known for his tiny tool collection. This was included in the 1987 Guinness Book of World Records for having the largest collection of solid brass miniature hand-tools in the world.

The Murray man started building his miniatures at the age of 23. In a feature story in the Murray Ledger & Times on Sept. 20, 1986, it was noted that Buchanan at the age of 64 had a collection of over 100 tools.

The tools were made of brass and were all hand made by Buchanan. Most of the tools measured three inches or less.

Born July 6, 1922, in Calloway County, he was the son of the late John Buchanan and Bessie Hackett Buchanan.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Virginia Giles Buchanan, to whom he was married on March 6, 1943; two brothers, Robert Buchanan and wife, Ruth, Metropolis, Ill., and James Boyd Buchanan and wife, Bobbie, Murray.

The funeral will be Thursday at 1 p.m. in the chapel of J.H. Churchill Funeral Home. Henry Hargis will officiate. Burial will follow in Murray Memorial Gardens.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 5 to 9 p.m. today (Wednesday).

John R. Malone Sr.

Funeral rites for John R. Malone Sr. will be today at 2 p.m. in the chapel of Miller Funeral Home of Murray. The Rev. Dennis Norvell will officiate.

Pallbearers will be Joe Rogers, Marty Story, Robert Ford, Vance Lewis, Donnie Crawford and Roy Harmon. Burial will follow in Barnett Cemetery.

Mr. Malone Sr., 56, Rt. 5, Box 8878, Murray, died Sunday at 10:15 p.m. at Murray-Calloway County Hospital. A self-employed carpenter, he was born Jan. 6, 1938, in Harlan County.

Steven Warren Taylor

Steven Warren Taylor, 43, Rt. 2, Puryear, Tenn., died Tuesday at 12:37 p.m. in the Emergency Room of Murray-Calloway County Hospital.

A client of W.A.T.C.H. Center, he attended Oak Grove Baptist Church. Born Sept. 19, 1951, in Calloway County, he was the son of Elisha Taylor and Delpha Paschall Taylor.

He was preceded in death by his grandparents, Herman Taylor, Mavel Taylor, Judge Paschall and Pearl Paschall.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor; one sister, Mrs. Teresa Capps and husband, Kevin, Rt. 2, Puryear; one brother, Randy Taylor and wife, Becky, Rt. 1, Hazel; his stepgrandmother, Mrs. Ophie Paschall, Hazel; three nieces, Ann Taylor, Kelly Taylor and Shelby Capps; one nephew, Zachary Capps.

The funeral will be Thursday at 2 p.m. at Oak Grove Baptist Church. Burial will follow in Oak Grove Cemetery.

Friends may call at Miller Funeral Home of Hazel after 3 p.m. today (Wednesday).

Mrs. Anna R. Sammons

Mrs. Anna R. Sammons, 75, Las Vegas, Nev., died Monday. She was born Sept. 27, 1918, in Calloway County. She had resided in Las Vegas for 22 years.

Survivors include her husband, Thomas R. Sammons, Las Vegas; one daughter, Mrs. Michele Key, Las Cruces, N.M.; two sons, Michael of Las Vegas and Ronald of Mullica Hill, N.J.; one sister, Mrs. Oranella Mohler, Columbus, Ohio; one brother, Zack Staples, Tucson, Ariz.; seven grandchildren; one great-grandchild.

Services will be Thursday at 1 p.m. at Palm Redrock Mortuary, Las Vegas. Burial will follow in Palm Valley View Memorial Park.

Visitation will be at the mortuary from 2 to 8 p.m. today (Wednesday) and from 9 a.m. to time of service on Thursday.

Mrs. Juanita Smith

Mrs. Juanita Smith, 56, Rt. 2, Buchanan, Tenn., died Monday at Henry County Medical Center, Paris, Tenn.

She was the deli manager for Storey's Grocery in Murray and a member of AMVETS Post 45 Auxiliary at Paris Landing, Tenn. She attended a Baptist church.

Born Feb. 8, 1938, in Henry County, she was the daughter of the late Charles Franklin Lamb and Manierva Elizabeth Bailey Lamb. Also preceding her in death were three sisters, Lucille Horita, Fay Pussiatrain and Maxine Lamb, and two brothers, Norman and James (Bud) Lamb.

Survivors include her husband, Billy Joe Smith, to whom she was married on Jan. 21, 1966; three sons, Billy Joe Smith Jr., Anchorage, Alaska, and Timothy C. Smith and Danny Smith, New Concord; two sisters, Mrs. Marie Ellison, Dover, Tenn., and Mrs. Edith Norton, New Concord; two brothers, Warren Lamb, Paris, and Charles Lamb, Kut-tawa; seven grandchildren.

The funeral was today at 11 a.m. in LeDon Chapel of Ridgeway Morticians, Paris. The Rev. Jerry Norsworthy officiated.

Pallbearers were Raymond Lamb, Frankie Lamb, Junior Ellison, Albert Ludvigson, Raymond Thurbush and Ray Younger. Burial was in New Liberty Cemetery near Buchanan.

Judge Roy Beane

JUDGE ROY BEANE

The funeral for Judge Roy Beane will be Thursday at 11 a.m. in the chapel of Blalock-Coleman Funeral Home. The Rev. Randolph Allen and the Rev. Glynn Orr will officiate. Burial will follow in Murray Memorial Gardens.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 6 to 9 p.m. tonight (Wednesday).

Mr. Beane, 84, Rt. 1, Murray, died Tuesday at 7 a.m. at Murray-Calloway County Hospital.

Born Jan. 6, 1910, in Calloway County, he was the son of the late Jessie Lindsey Boy Beane and Susie Bailey Beane. A veteran of World War II, he was a retired employee of Murray Division of Tappan Company.

Preceding him in death were three sisters, Jennie Baucum, Myrtle Beane and Robbie Beane, and five brothers, Rufe, Guy, Bud, Troy and Dempsey Beane.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Bertha Baker Beane; two daughters, Mrs. Becky Black and husband, Paul, Rt. 6, Murray, and Mrs. Diana Youngerman and husband, John, Murray; two sons, Randy Beane and wife, Janet, Eldorado, Ark., and Lennis Beane and wife, Shirley, Rt. 7, Murray; two sisters, Mrs. Lucille Beaman, Rt. 1, Kirksey, and Mrs. Flora Ford, Murray; three grandchildren, Anthony (Tony) Black, Daniel Beane and Nathan Beane.

Coats are now being collected to distribute at Community Fair

With winter around the corner, hundreds of children and senior citizens in the community do not have warm coats.

Area residents can help by taking your outgrown and old coats to one of the following locations: Wal-Mart, Sparks Hall, Carr Health Building, Curris Center, Faculty Hall, Wells Hall and Waterfield Library.

The coats will be cleaned by Boone's Cleaners and distributed at the third annual Community Fair on Saturday, Oct. 22, at East Calloway Elementary School.

This is being sponsored by American Humanics, Boone's Cleaners and the Family Resource Center.

For more information, call Roger Weis at 762-3808.

Patton vows to abide by campaign finance laws

By PAUL PATTON
Kentucky Lt. Governor

Should tax money be used to finance the next governor's race in Kentucky? At first glance, using badly-needed tax dollars to help candidates buy television commercials will not appeal to the average Kentucky taxpayer. The political demagogues will call public financing for political campaigns "welfare for politicians." Since I intend to be a candidate in that race, I have given a tremendous amount of thought to this subject and fully understand the political impact of the simplistic "welfare" statement. I don't like the idea of using tax money in this way, but after considerable debate and soul-searching, I, Paul Patton, will fully abide by the spirit and the letter of Kentucky's new campaign finance reform law.

To understand why we got to where we are, we need to review where we were. Television has dramatically changed the face of campaigns in Kentucky. The total cost of the governor's race in 1991 was $18.9 million, a 700 percent increase from 1975. Where did this money come from?

It is true thousands of Kentuckians are willing to contribute $10, $100 or perhaps even $1,000 to a candidate because they truly believe a particular individual is the best person to be our governor and expect nothing in return except good government. But the fact of the matter is that most of the money came from special interest groups and individuals who felt like they had to contribute to a particular candidate, or more likely all the major candidates, to be able to have the influence necessary to protect their particular special interest with state government. Their political contribution was an investment. They expected to get their money back — with a profit. The taxpayers were paying for an extremely expensive election, much more than just the $18.9 million cost of the campaigns.

Richard Beliles, chairman of Common Cause of Kentucky, estimates the old system of electing governors of Kentucky has cost the taxpayers a billion dollars during the past 20 years. The situation became so bad, people started making illegal personal and corporate contributions. The candidates felt they had to have the money and the special interest groups felt they had to give it. The taxpayers lost. It's impossible to know who voted for you, but it's real easy to know who contributed money to you.

It's important for candidates to be able to fully communicate with the voters through television. Kentucky is an expensive television market with most of our television stations on our borders. We pay for a message sent to many people out of state who can't vote for us. But do we need to spend more for a governor's race than 45 other states, exceeded by only California, Florida, New York and New Jersey? The system we had was a travesty, a system which insured that the Kentucky voter was defrauded.

Our constitution does not allow us to limit total contributions to a campaign. In order to eliminate the domination of elections by big money, the legislature had to come up with a system to get all the candidates to voluntarily agree to limit the amount of money they would spend. The only known way to constitutionally achieve this goal is to offer all the candidates help from the government to finance their campaigns if they voluntarily agree to limit spending.

If a candidate agrees to limit their total spending to $1.8 million, then they can get every dollar contributed to their campaign matched with $2 from the state. To participate, a candidate must raise at least $300,000. The law also reduces the individual contribution limit to $500 per person.

A very attractive campaign strategy would be to agree to observe the spending limit, thereby appearing to abide by the intent of the law, and then refuse to accept the tax money, appealing to the voters' natural instinct to oppose the use of their tax dollars to finance a politician's campaign. This would appear to be the best of both worlds but it is the height of intellectual dishonesty. The true intent of the law is to eliminate the influence of big money which has corrupted Kentucky government for too long.

If all Kentucky did was to reduce the contribution limit from $4,000 to $500, then we would only increase the pressure on special interest groups to give more and make it easier for persons of great personal financial wealth to finance their own campaigns. Wealthy people should not be barred from running for governor, but persons of ordinary means should not be excluded either. There is no doubt in my mind that if we have a contribution limit of $500 per person, no financial help from the state for persons of ordinary means and no limit on spending, then the Kentucky governor's race will be dominated by wealthy people.

That is exactly what will happen if a candidate in the next governor's race refuses to participate in the new system, demagogues "welfare for politicians" and wins. No candidate in the future would accept public financing, the legislature would not raise the contribution limits, the incumbent would win a second term because no one could finance a race against her or him and the public financing system would collapse. The destruction of the new reform law is not in the best interests of the citizens of Kentucky and that's the reason I have decided to participate in the public financing.

I am one of several people in Kentucky who has, in the past, used his personal financial resources to help finance his political career. Being from a remote part of the state, my accomplishments which I believed qualified me to be lieutenant governor were not covered by our major media centers. My personal resources were used to overcome this handicap.

I recognized in 1992 the proposed campaign finance law would take from me an advantage which I had worked for years to acquire. I am the person who could have raised the $4 million or even $5 million to run and win the next governor's race had the law not been changed. But I also realized the issue was larger than Paul Patton being our next governor. I realized that the issue was giving every Kentuckian equal opportunity in the quest to lead the commonwealth as governor.

As lieutenant governor and president of the Senate, I supported the law as it was passing the Senate. There was great opposition in the House, especially from the eastern Kentucky legislators. At the request of Sen. Mike Moloney, the major architect of the new law, I met with the Eastern Kentucky Caucus and urged them to support the measure. Eleven of the 13 eastern Kentucky Democratic legislators voted for it and the law passed the House 60-39. I firmly believe I could have defeated this reform. It would have been in my best personal political interest to do so. I did what was right for the people of Kentucky.

It would be difficult to raise $1.8 million with a contribution limit of $500, but if anyone in the Democratic primary could do it, it would be me. Most of my time would have been spent raising money, and very little time would be available to visit with the average Kentuckian, learning about their problems, hopes and aspirations. A campaign should be about issues, not money.

The issue is not "will Paul Patton be the next governor of Kentucky?" The issue is, "will we have a system which gives us the best chance to elect the most capable person to be our governor; a system which will give all our leaders, regardless of their access to big money, a chance to let us know their vision for a better Kentucky and compete on a level playing field?"

I suspect that if each of us were asked, "do we want to pay taxes?", we would all say no, but then we would be saying we don't want policemen or firemen or prisons for criminals or schools or roads or even a clean environment. With any action we take, we must look at the alternatives. Do we want our governor to owe the taxpayer or the special interests for their election victory?

Elections are the foundation of our government. It is essential we have a system that lets us elect the best person, not the candidate with access to the most money. The choice is not just "welfare for politicians." The question is, are you willing to use 1.6 pennies out of every $100 you pay in taxes, an average of 50 cents per year for each Kentuckian, to have a better government? The new Kentucky Campaign Finance Reform Law will save the taxpayers hundreds of millions of dollars and give every Kentuckian, regardless of personal wealth, a fair chance to be our governor. It's not "welfare for politicians." It's better government for people.

We now have that system which will provide a level playing field for all qualified candidates for governor. I will play on that level playing field and trust the people of Kentucky to make the right decision.

Richter, Rose named semifinalists

Tom Richter and Andy Rose, seniors at Calloway County High School have been named semifinalists in the 1995 National Merit Scholarship Program.

Richter is the son of Margaret and Fred Richter of Route 8, Murray. Rose is the son of Janice and Jack Rose of Misty Creek Drive, Murray.

Richter and Rose now have an opportunity to continue in the competition for more than 6,500 merit scholarships, worth more than $25 million, to be awarded next spring.

The nation-wide semifinalist pool includes about half of one percent of each state's high school graduating class.

NMSC is a privately financed, non-profit organization that receives grants from some 600 independent merit program sponsors to underwrite scholarships in each annual competition.

By publicly honoring semifinalists, NMSC hopes to broaden their educational opportunities and to heighten public interest in the educational development of able young men and women.

More than one million juniors in more than 19,000 U.S. high schools entered the 1995 merit program by taking 1993 Preliminary SAT-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT-NMQT), which served as an initial screen of program entrants.

The number of semifinalists designated in each state is allocated according to the state's percentage of the national total of graduating high school seniors.

Semifinalists are the top scorers in each state, and they must now advance to the finalist level of the competition in order to be considered for merit scholarships.

Winners of three types of merit scholarships to be awarded in 1995 will be selected on the basis of professional evaluations of finalists' abilities, accomplishments and personal attributes considered important for success in rigorous college studies.

Every finalist will be considered for one of 2,000 national merit $2,000 scholarships.

Corporations, foundations and other business organizations also will support some 1,200 merit scholarships for finalists who meet a sponsor's preferential criteria.

Most corporate-sponsored awards will be provided for children of employees with the grantor organization.

More than 3,300 merit scholarships will be financed by colleges and universities. Winners of college-sponsored merit scholarships will be chosen from among finalists who will attend the institutions financing the awards.

Georgetown College has large class

GEORGETOWN, Ky. (AP) — The entering freshman class at Georgetown College this fall represents the largest increase in new students from one year to the next in the last 25 years, the school recently announced.

"The 354 freshmen, a 24 percent increase above that one year ago, also represents one of the three largest entering classes in 25 years," said Georgetown president William H. Crouch Jr.

Among the freshmen are 13 Governor's Scholars, seven National Merit Scholars, 16 valedictorians, 10 salutatorians and 110 who graduated in the top 10 percent of their classes.

Crouch said that total undergraduate enrollment at the college increased from 1,111 last year to 1,136.

Barlow voting is high

Representative Tom Barlow has a 96.3 percent cumulative voting record in the 103rd Congress. This figure is based on a compilation of all recorded votes taken in the House of Representatives in 1993 and through the 1994 Labor Day recess.

"I consider voting the most important obligation of a member of Congress. I travel home to the First District every weekend to hear what the people of Western and Southern Kentucky are thinking about issues before Congress. I take their views with me into the House chamber when every vote is called," said Barlow.

"In 1993, I had a 98.7 percent voting record. As of August 21, 1994, my record for this year stands at 92.7 percent. In fact, my record since the May 24 primary is right in step with the high percentage I maintained in 1993," Barlow said in a statement today.

"I missed several votes on May 23 and May 24 because of my spring primary election. I also decided to save the taxpayers' money and not return to Washington on the one day the House had votes during the week of President Nixon's funeral. Those votes were all non-controversial."

Barlow noted that his record for 1994 is over 95 percent if May 23 and 24 (primary election period) and April 28 (Nixon Funeral week) are excluded.

"Just taking those three days out of consideration puts my voting record this year at 95.3 percent," Barlow noted. "More importantly, when you combine my actual voting record for 1993 and 1994, my total voting percentage to date comes out to be 96.3 percent. That figure will be higher after Congress adjourns this fall."

MSU exhibit shows danger

According to National Safety Council in 1993 there were more than 424,400 accidental deaths and disabling injuries in the industry of agriculture making it the nation's most accident prone sector.

In observance of these statistics, the week of Sept. 19-23 has been proclaimed National Farm Safety and Health Awareness Week by the Federal Government.

In an effort to promote Farm Hazard Awareness and increase safety measures, different events and exhibits are being staged around the country.

At Murray State University, members of Dr. Dwayne Driskill's Agricultural Safety Course are presenting the residents of Murray and Calloway County with a graphic example of one of the most common farm related accidents.

The display is located on the lot at the corner of 16th and Chestnut Streets. All are invited and encouraged to view the exhibit during the week, a class member said.

Coalition talks about restructuring schools

KERA has brought many changes to Kentucky's public school systems and, at the present time, a major emphasis is on the restructuring of high schools. Some of those initiatives were discussed by the West Kentucky High School Restructuring Coalition, which met Monday, Sept. 19, at Murray State University. The coalition was established in an effort to enable high school principals and other school officials to exchange ideas about the kinds of changes they would like to implement in their programs as the result of the Kentucky Education Reform Act. "The restructuring coalition began after several schools in the state received grants of varying amounts, depending on the types of changes they wanted to make in their school systems," said Russell Wall, director of School Service and Research at Murray State. "Many western Kentucky principals expressed desires to join forces with others to share information," he added.

These meetings are primarily set up for anyone involved in high school education who is interested in discussing various initiatives," Wall said. The restructuring coalition which is being jointly sponsored by Murray State University, the Western Kentucky Education Cooperative, and the Region 1 Service Center, is already off to a good start according to Wall. "We've gotten a lot of great feedback from principals. Most are finding the information about what is or is not working in surrounding school systems very helpful." The first meeting of the school year was held in the Barkley Room of the Murray State Curtis Center on Monday, Sept. 19, from 4 to 5:30 p.m. Don King, who is in charge of high school restructuring at the state Department of Education was present to discuss interaction at the state level and to explain what the coalition has to look forward to in the future.

HOROSCOPES

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1994

(For your personalized daily Jeane Dixon horoscope, based on your own date of birth, call 1-900-988-7788. Your phone company will bill you 99 cents a minute.)

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE:

Put daydreams aside and build a strong foundation for future gains. If you are willing to take a backseat temporarily, your good sense will carry you to the top. Co-workers will insist you pay your dues. Hide your impatience. Overseas travel could prove lucky early in 1995. Let a romance mature before you make any judgments or commitments. Financial issues cannot be settled overnight. Your career goals could suddenly change.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: baseball player Wally Backman, model Shari Belafonte, singer Joan Jett, actor Scott Baio.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You feel more sure of yourself after talking with a longtime ally. The support of a special group boosts your confidence. A newspaper column may have a special message for you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): A period of reconstruction and revitalization lies ahead. Focus on creative endeavors and you may find new career opportunities. Travel is best postponed.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): A financial bonanza gives you cause for celebration. You may be doing more daydreaming than usual. Direct your energies towards constructive goals. Creative urges are likely to lead to new artistic triumphs.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Even if your plans seem sound, put them on ice until conditions are more favorable. Widen your social circle by joining a club or community group. Privacy will be very important to you tonight.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Be prudent if you must criticize others orally or in writing. Reckless comments could create real enmity. Observe all safety factors when plying your trade, especially if moving machinery from place to place.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Current financial restrictions will have a silver lining if they teach you the value of frugality and thrift. A peaceful domestic trend makes it possible for you to pursue a favorite pastime after work hours.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Let your bold imagination guide you when engaged in creative work. Judicious spending helps you make the most of limited funds. Curb a workaholic streak. Know when to slow down before you blow a fuse.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Your social aspirations could lead you into extravagance. Keep a tighter rein on spending. Friends may try to interfere with your domestic arrangements.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): An unexpected offer or event should help solve a financial crisis. Do not let up on your efforts to boost your income. Enrolling in high-tech classes will give you new career options. Study hard!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You may be able to profit from a mistake now. Be more attentive to a family member who complains that you are aloof. Apologizing for an unintended slight sets the stage for happy romance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): New business developments should convince you to take a more realistic view regarding cash flow problems. Refrain from making any statements that could antagonize an employer or valued client. Romance looks rosy. Speak from the heart.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Two heads are better than one when conducting tricky negotiations. Curb a tendency to daydream or make impractical suggestions. Turn to trusted friends or professional counselors for guidance. You may have overlooked something.

TODAY'S CHILDREN are energetic, helpful and greatly interested in the written word. Count on them to be good students, always reading ahead in their school books. A career that lets these Virgos be of practical assistance to other people will hold tremendous appeal. They make wonderful doctors, teachers and counselors—keenly attuned to the emotional needs of both the very young and the elderly. They are capable of deep parental love but will probably have only one or two children.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By The Associated Press
Today is Wednesday, Sept. 21, the 264th day of 1994. There are 101 days left in the year.
Today's Highlight in History:
On Sept. 21, 1893, a horseless carriage — believed to be the first gasoline-powered automobile built in the United States — was taken for a short test drive in Springfield, Mass., by Frank Duryea, who had designed the vehicle with his brother, Charles.
On this date:
In 1792, the French National Convention voted to abolish the monarchy.
In 1897, the New York Sun ran its "Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus" editorial in response to a letter from 8-year-old Virginia O'Hanlon.
In 1931, Britain went off the gold standard.
In 1937, "The Hobbit," by J.R.R. Tolkien, was first published.
In 1970, "NFL Monday Night Football" made its debut on ABC as the Cleveland Browns defeated the visiting New York Jets, 31-21.
In 1973, the U.S. Senate confirmed Henry Kissinger to be secretary of state.
In 1981, the Senate unanimously confirmed the nomination of Sandra Day O'Connor to become the first female justice on the Supreme Court.
Ten years ago: General Motors and the United Auto Workers union reached tentative agreement on a three-year contract, following six days of crippling spot strikes against the nation's largest automaker.
Five years ago: Hurricane Hugo, packing winds of up to 135 mph, crashed into Charleston, S.C. Twenty-one students in Alton, Texas, died when their school bus, involved in a collision with a truck, careened into a water-filled pit.
One year ago: Russian President Boris Yeltsin announced he was ousting the hard-line, Communist-dominated Congress that had long opposed his reforms; Yeltsin was, in effect, seizing all state power.
Today's Birthdays: Cartoon animator Chuck Jones is 82. Actor Larry Hagman is 63. Actor-comedian Henry Gibson is 59. CIA Director James Woolsey is 53. Author-comedian Fannie Flagg is 50. Former White House chief of staff Hamilton Jordan is 50. Author Stephen King is 47. Actor-comedian Bill Murray is 44.
Thought for Today: "If power corrupts, weakness in the seat of power, with its constant necessity of deals and bribes and compromising arrangements, corrupts even more." — Barbara Tuchman, American historian (1912-1989).

LOOKING BACK

Ten years ago

Danny Cunningham and Hal Albritton are pictured as they talk about their good crops for 1984 in a feature story written by Staff Writer and Photographer Charles Honey.
Calloway County High School finalists for homecoming queen are Anne Miller, Amy Bryan, Lori Roberts, Vona Darnell, LeAnn Lockhart and Stacy Wuest. Homecoming is tonight with the Lakers football team hosting Union County.
M.C. Garrott writes about Sharon Moore Wells and her family who are Southern Baptist Home Missionaries in Palmer, Alaska, in his column, "Garrott's Galley."
Mr. and Mrs. Luck Burt will be married for 60 years on Sept. 27.
Official dedication ceremonies for Murray plant of Fisher Price

Toys were held Sept. 19 at the local plant. Gov. Wendell Ford was the speaker for the special luncheon held at University Branch of the Bank of Murray.
Murray Area Vocational Education Center will hold an open house from 7:30 to 9 p.m. on Sept. 23.
Murray Rotary Club will hold its third annual auction and Christmas parade on Dec. 7.
Dr. and Mrs. Constantine Currys were honored at a reception on Sept. 15 at Murray Woman's Club House. This was hosted by the Murray club along with other civic and business groups.
Births reported include a boy to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cox, Aug. 11; a girl to Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Prescott, Aug. 29.

Forty years ago
The Mobile X-Ray Trailer will be at Calloway County Courthouse from Sept. 22 to Oct. 8, according to Mrs. G.B. Scott, chairman of Calloway County Tuberculosis Association.
Pvt. Charlotte S. Donelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buel Donelson of Murray, has completed basic training at Women's Army Corps Center at Fort McClellan, Ala.
Serving as officers of East Side Homemakers Club are Mrs. Ollie Adair, Mrs. Rupert Lassiter, Mrs. G.B. Jones and Mrs. George Wilson.
Recent births reported at Murray Hospital include a boy to Mr. and Mrs. Miller Hopkins, a boy to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Allen Rowland and a boy to Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Duffy.

DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I must comment on your reply to the woman whose gentleman friend's only drawback is his terrible teeth. You recommended candidly saying "You really need to see a dentist — let me refer you to one."
I hope it works for her. When my husband and I were courting, the only thing I found seriously disturbing was the miserable condition of his teeth. The one time I mentioned it to him, he blew up, and I never mentioned it again. However, our compatibilities far outweighed the tooth issue, so I decided to bear with it and hope he would change. He didn't.
After we were married, I got him to brush his teeth more regularly, but he still refused to see a dentist — even when his gums were in such bad condition, he bled on the pillowcase! When I pointed this out to him, he said, "I'll be fine." (Need I tell you what his breath smells like?)

Abby, what would make a grown man behave this way? Is there anything I can do?
BAFFLED IN VIRGINIA
DEAR BAFFLED: He behaves this way because he is absolutely terrified of seeing a dentist. As a boy, he probably had a very painful experience in the dentist's chair.

Perhaps if you told his physician about this hangup, he could explain that a person's general health is seriously threatened if his teeth are rotting.
He could also explain that dentistry has come a long way in recent years, and while the discomfort is temporary, the rewards are permanent.
DEAR ABBY: Re the rooster-shaped alarm clock and where you can buy one: Your search is over — you can have mine. But I must warn you that this is the most annoying alarm clock ever made!

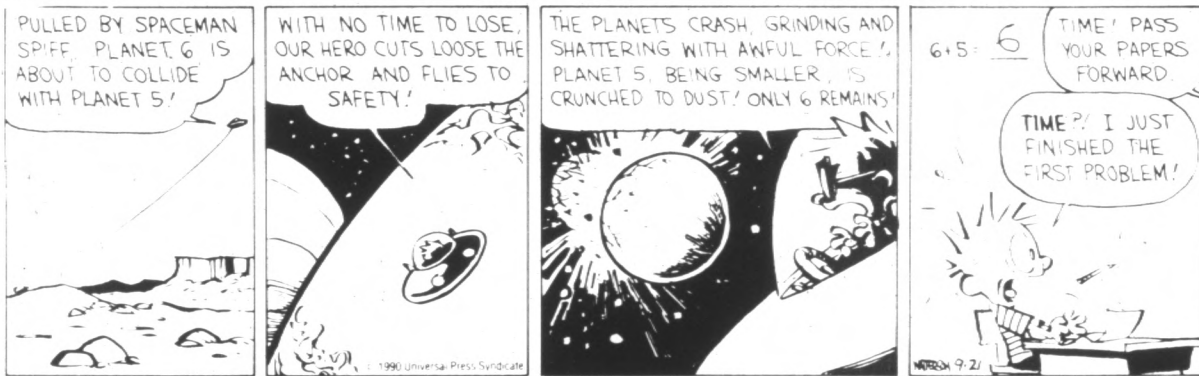

The alarm is bad enough: "cock-a-doodle-doo" at an ear-shattering volume over and over again. But when you finally shut it off by pushing down its comb, the rooster says "Good morning" in an unnaturally cheerful voice.
Abby, nobody should be that cheerful at 7 a.m. — least of all the fatuous fowl that disturbs my slumber. This chicken is really starting to get on my nerves, so please take it off my hands before I choke it.
Since the clock was a gift from a friend, please don't mention my name. Just sign me
NOTHING TO CROW ABOUT
DEAR NOTHING: Thank you for the rooster clock, whose cock-a-doodle-doo is so authentic I thought I had a live rooster in the house.
And to all who wrote asking where such a clock is available, they are advertised in numerous mail-order catalogs — and many novelty shops and electronics stores also carry crowing clocks.

DR. GOTT

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 5-year-old child has a peptic ulcer and has been taking Zantac once a day for four months now. Her pediatrician wants her to remain on the medication for another three months, after which he said he would scope her and do a biopsy, as he does not want to do another upper GI series. Is a biopsy the only method available to determine if the ulcer still remains? How long should she remain on the Zantac, as I'm concerned about the long-term effects of having an ulcer at such an early age?
DEAR READER: As you have read, many (if not all) ulcer patients may suffer from a bacterial infection (H. pylori) that causes the disorder.
Peptic ulcers are very uncommon in children but, if your daughter has H. pylori infection, she could be cured by using special antibiotics for 10-14 days. This condition can be diagnosed by a blood test.
I shouldn't disagree with a specialist outside my area of practice, which is general internal medicine, but endoscopy in a 5-year-old is an uncomfortable and expensive procedure that is best avoided, if possible.
Therefore, I recommend that you seek a second opinion from a gastroenterologist. There may be more appropriate options than endoscopy/biopsy.
In any case, the biopsy isn't to see if the ulcer remains; it is to sample the tissue to see if a growth is the basis for the ulcer. The gastroenterologist can advise you.
In addition, you should ask the specialist about the use of Zantac, an anti-ulcer medicine, in children. According to the manufacturer, the safety and effectiveness of the drug in the pediatric population has not been established.
To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Peptic Ulcers." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2433, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to mention the title.

Calloway County High Seniors Miranda Coles, Milton Stokes, April McKeel, Keila Edwards, and Justin Manna represented the Laker Band during The Starfest Band Festival Awards Ceremonies on Saturday.

Calloway band wins at Marshall festival

The Calloway County High School Band was awarded a Superior Rating, was ranked first in Class AA, and won Division 1 Sweepstakes this Saturday at Marshall County's Starfest Band Festival. In addition, the Laker Guard was awarded second overall color guard and third overall percussion honors. Calloway County High senior Drum Major, April McKeel, was awarded 2nd over best drum major as well. A total of 16 bands were rated and ranked by a six man adjudication panel at the KMEA sanctioned event. The Laker Band will have the opportunity to win a second Superior and qualify for the 1994 Class AA championships this Saturday at the Ohio County Band Festival. The Laker Band is scheduled for a 2:30 p.m. performance in preliminary competition. Directors Fred Ashby and Gary Mullins congratulated their Calloway County High music students for their outstanding performance this Saturday. The Laker directors also expressed gratitude for the large number of parents, alumni, and other supporters who attended the event.

 Opening lead — eight of spades.

The declarer's best-laid plans gang aft a-gley. So said the Scottish poet Robert Burns — if we may be permitted to paraphrase him — some two centuries ago. South surely planned his play correctly in the accompanying deal, but at the critical moment East made an unusually good play that upset South's plan. West led a spade against two notrump. Declarer ducked East's ten of spades as well as the spade continuation, but won the third round of spades with the ace. South then cashed the A-K-Q of hearts and A-K of diamonds, producing this five-card position:

North

Declarer was well aware that East had to have the ace of clubs for his opening spade bid. He therefore decided that by far his best chance to make the contract was to put East on lead with a spade at this point and force him to return a club to dummy's king. This would enable dummy to score the seventh and eighth tricks with the king of clubs and ten of hearts.

But when South led the nine of spades, West discarded a club, dummy a diamond, and East, obviously a devotee of Robert Burns, followed with the three! As a result, declarer had to go down one. He unexpectedly scored a second spade trick, but it proved to be a Greek gift!

Diabetes Bike-a-Thon set at CCHS Sept. 24

The 14th annual Bike-a-Thon for diabetes will be held at the Calloway County High School on Saturday, Sept. 24 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Proceeds from the event, coordinated by Murray-Calloway County Hospital and the Diabetics Taking Control support group, go for diabetes education, research and support functions for those with diabetes and their families.

This year, the Bike-a-Thon is being held in conjunction with the Calloway County 4-H Club Bicycle Rodeo and the Murray Optimist Club's bike inspections. All three events will be going on Sept. 24, and those participating in any of the events should report to the area near the track behind CCHS. Bikes can be inspected before youth take part in the other activities.

The 4-H Bicycle Rodeo will feature bicycle events for all ages and tricycle events for those six years and under. Refreshments and prizes will be available and prizes will be awarded in all categories, ages three through adult. You must be present to win prizes. Also, the first place winners ages 9 through 19 at the rodeo events are eligible for 4-H state competition.

It is a requirement that all Bike-a-Thon riders wear a bike helmet approved by the Department of Transportation. Bicycle Rodeo participants will receive a 10 percent discount coupon good at Murray Wal-Mart on the purchase of a bike helmet. Plus, Bike-a-Thon riders can receive the discount at Wal-Mart by presenting a completed entry form.

Participants for the Bicycle Rodeo should clip and fill out the application form at the end of this story. Forms are also available at the Murray City and Calloway elementary and middle schools. Bring a completed form with you the day of the event. Parental consent must be signed for a child to be able to participate. There is a 25 cent registration fee and participants must bring their own bicycle or tricycle. A drawing for prizes will be held at noon at the conclusion of the rodeo. One of the prizes is a new bicycle donated by the Murray Wal-Mart store.

To enter the Bike-a-Thon, you can pay a $10 entry fee or ask individuals to pledge a certain amount of money for every mile you ride. Bike registration and sponsor forms are available at the Murray City and Calloway County elementary and middle schools, MCHC Public Relations Department, the Murray YMCA, and these Murray businesses: K-Mart, Wal-Mart, Dennison-Hunt Sporting Goods and the Spoke and Pedal Shop in Bel-Air Center.

Riders can choose from the following routes:
 • A one-mile route at the CCHS outdoor track.
 • A 25-mile route
 • A 12.5 mile route
 Cash prizes of $50, $25 and $15 will be awarded to the bikers who collect the three largest contributions through sponsorships. All participants who pay the $10 entry fee or turn in pledged money will receive a Bike-a-Thon t-shirt. Those who ride 25 miles or more will also receive a League of American Wheelman's patch.

To get one of these in the future...

... today's youngsters need to learn math, science and computer skills now.

At no time in Kentucky's history have science, math and technology skills been so critical to the future success and well-being of our young people. Often, those skills mean the difference between a good-paying job and one that barely makes ends meet. Developing a workforce with these skills also ensures a strong, competitive economy. Kentucky's future, as well as the future of our children, is dependent on providing today's youngsters with appropriate science, math and technology instruction. PRISM — a cooperative effort between business, government, and education — focuses on preparing today's youngsters for tomorrow's work. PRISM changes the way science, math and technology are taught and learned from the primary grades through college. A system-wide reform, PRISM offers the opportunity for educators, students, and parents to create a brighter future for our young people.

To learn more about PRISM and how you can help, call (606) 233-3502.
