Three bombs kill five in Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (AP) — Three bombs apparently carried by suicide bombers ripped through a downtown Jerusalem pedestrian mall packed with shoppers and tourists today, killing five people and wounding 138.

The Islamic militant group Hamas claimed responsibility in a phone call to the French news agency Agence France Presse. The claim could not be verified.

Jerusalem police chief Yair Yitzhaki said three of the dead were apparently suicide bombers. Their bodies were completely torn apart by the blast. "We assume it is a suicide bombing, although we cannot say for sure," Yitzhaki said.

Blood spattered the pavement and rescue workers rushed victims away on stretchers. A woman's body, covered by a sheet of plastic, was lying in an alley. Paramedics said dozens of people were wounded; one woman sat crying under a tree as paramedics bandaged her.

Israel reimposed its tight closure on the West Bank and Gaza Strip, barring all Palestinians from entering Israel, the army said. The last closure was imposed July 30, after a suicide bombing in a Jerusalem market that Israel blamed on the Islamic militant group Hamas.

The attack came only a week before U.S. Secretary of State Madeleine Albright was to come to the Middle East to try and revive the Israeli-Palestinian peace talks. A senior Palestinian denounced what he called a "criminal terrorist attack."

Idle storefronts to be filled in fall

K-Mart, former Treas store targeted

By JIM MAHANES
Staff Writer

If things go as planned, two of Murray's largest empty retail buildings will be filled with merchandise by the end of the year.

The Ledger has learned that Big Lots is planning a mid-November grand opening in the building formerly occupied by K-Mart, a company representative said Thursday.

"We've been expanding and opening a lot of stores throughout Kentucky and Murray seems like a good place for us," said Eric Gecsi.

Big Lots is a retail chain operated by Consolidated Stores Corporation. The Columbus, Ohio-based corporation boasts it is the country's most successful close-out retailer. Big Lots deals in merchandise such as housewares, automotive items, tools, hardware, home decor and clothing. In the past six years, the corporation has grown from 337 stores to 1,798 and employs more than 53,000 people.

While city officials could not confirm the move, they said that is not unusual.

"We've not received anything from (Big Lots) yet," said Butch Seargent, director of planning and engineering. "But K-Mart has a lease on that building until the year 2004 and they could rent it out to a company like Big Lots without having to come to us." Gecsi said Big Lots will occupy the entire 55,000-square-foot building, located in the Chestnut Hills Shopping Center, but was unsure what, if any, renovations would be needed.

The Ledger has also learned that plans are being finalized for a "regional retail" business to move into the building formerly occupied by Treas Lumber, located in the Bel-Air Shopping Center.

According to Bob Billington, president of Murray Shopping Centers Inc. which owns the center, a regional retail company is looking at the building and is also planning a November grand opening.

"I'm not at liberty to say what company, but they are looking to occupy 19,000 square feet of that building," Billington said. "We plan to make an official announcement in a couple of weeks."

The 51,000-square-foot retail space has been empty since Treas' lease expired earlier this year and Billington said there are no plans for the remaining space.

Hot meals bring seniors together

By JIM MAHANES
Staff Writer

She walks to her seat, the one she carefully chose next to her friends, grasping the plate she just loaded with barbecue chicken, baked beans and potato salad.

"Just look at this," Agnes Morris says gleefully. "Look at how great all this food is."

Morris is just one of about 50 local senior citizens who, each Wednesday for the past year, eat a hot meal at the Murray-Calloway County Senior Citizens' Center.

But why is a hot lunch such a big deal — because it almost didn't happen.

For years, seniors throughout Calloway County have been served hot meals at the center. Through subcontracting with West Kentucky Allied Services, the center has provided both in-house meals and the Meals on Wheels program.

But last year allied services informed the center its funding was being cut and that on Wednesday, seniors would be served only cold sandwiches. That's when director Eric Kelleher bucked the system.

"I said no, I wasn't going to do that," Kelleher said. "Most of our clients eat cold meals for breakfast and dinner and I wasn't going to have them eat that for lunch."

So last year, Kelleher and a small crew of helpers began serving hot lunches on Wednesdays to its clients.

"I think we were one of the only counties to say 'no' to cold

Founders' Day set for Sept. 17

Murray State University will celebrate 75 years of "hope, endeavor and achievement" with a Founders' Day ceremony at 1 p.m., Sept. 17, in the auditorium of Wrather West Kentucky Museum.

During the ceremony, Golden Horseshoe winners for 1997 will be recognized. These awards are presented annually to recognize the service of dedicated Murray State alumni who have held responsible positions and who have, through significant and continuing support, contributed to the excellence of the university. This year's three recipients are Rep. Fred Curd, Michael Hamilton and Dr. Janice Weaver.

Curd, a resident of Murray, has had a profound effect on education in Calloway County through his dual role as educator and legislator. His experience in education spans almost three decades, with both administrative and classroom teaching roles.

As a legislator in the Kentucky House of Representatives for the past 27 years, Curd has been instrumental in reforming education through his support for the Kentucky Education Reform Act and Gov. Paul Patton's Higher Education Reform Plan. He served on the House Education Committee for several years and held leadership positions there.

A 1951 graduate of Hazel High School, Curd entered MSU before enlisting in the United States Air Force. Following an honorable discharge, he re-entered Murray State and earned a bachelor's degree in 1959. He received a master's degree in education in 1961.

After graduation, he and his wife, Millie Jones, moved to Karnak, Ill.

where he taught history and driver's education and coached boys' basketball. He and Millie, a 1957 MSU graduate, later moved back to Murray where he continued teaching and coaching at Cuba and Faxon, Ky.

He spent a year working at Taylor Motors before returning to his teaching career at Lynn Grove High School and served as principal from 1969 to 1974. When the Calloway County School System was consolidated, he continued teaching history, government and driver's education, as well as teaching home-bound students.

He was chosen as Outstanding Teacher in Calloway County in 1978. Upon retiring from active teaching, he continued in education as the coordinator of a federal education grant program and JTPA programs for the county schools.

He is a member of the Lions Club, Calloway County Teacher Association, Kentucky Education Association and the National Education Association. The Curds have three daughters — Tamra Lynn Curd, Karen Denise Curd Steele and Stacey Curd McCuiston — all of whom are MSU graduates.

Hamilton, a resident of Shreveport, La., has served as medical center director at Shreveport VA Medical Center since 1994. He received a bachelor's degree in 1970, followed by a master's degree in 1973, both from Murray State. He then received a master's degree in health administration from Indiana University in 1978.

Now a retired lieutenant colonel from the U.S. Army Reserves, Hamilton began his military career while at Murray State. He served for a year in South Vietnam and received a Bronze Star. From 1972 to 1989, he held various positions within the military's medical service corps.

His career in health administration has led him to VA medical centers in Dallas, Marion, Ind.; Dayton, Ohio; and Big Spring, Texas. He served for four years as director of veterans affairs at Indiana University.

Among his honors are an Outstanding Service Award in 1993 from the governor of Texas, Outstanding Young Executive Award from the Disabled American Veterans, Marine Corps League Distinguished Service Award and Murray State University Alumni Special Recognition Award in 1990. He has served as executive director of the black alumni reunion committee at MSU since 1989 and was instrumental in establishing a black alumni scholarship.

He is a member of the National Association Healthcare Services Executives, American Hospital Association, Association of Military Surgeons of the United States and Reserve Officers Association. He also served on the Education and Training Review Task Force, Southern Region Director's Advisory Board and the Department of Veterans Affairs Human Resources Task Force.

He and his wife, Ada, a 1974 MSU graduate, have two children. Weaver, a resident of Murray, obtained a bachelor's degree in 1953 from Kentucky Wesleyan College, followed by a master's degree in 1957 and a doctorate in 1964, both from Indiana University.

A well-known figure in education, Weaver retired this year as dean of Murray State's College of Education, a position she had held since 1985. Her administrative experience included 18 years with Glassboro (now Rowan) State College in New Jersey in roles ranging from dean of professional studies to chairman of the foundations of education department, two years as a visiting assistant professor at Indiana University and three years as a teacher at Owensboro High School.

She has extensive professional credentials, including serving as a member of the Executive Committee of the Kentucky Association of Colleges for Teacher Education, Kentucky Education Professional Standards Board, Kentucky School Board Association, National Board for Professional Teaching Standards and the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education.

She is a member of Phi Delta Kappa and Kappa Delta Phi honorary societies and a 1992 graduate of Leadership Kentucky. She is also a member of the Philosophy of Education Society, American Educational Research Association, John Dewey Society, American Educational Studies Association and the Society of Professors of Education.

She has delivered numerous presentations as a keynote speaker throughout the nation, especially on the topics of the Kentucky Education Reform Act and higher education reform. Her publications have included topics such as "Inservice Education," "Educational Policy and the Next Decade" and "Needed Changes in Teacher Education and Certification."

She and her husband, Richard, are avid supporters of the Racer athletic program. The Weaver Center for Academic Enhancement, which provides academic opportunities for student athletes, opened this summer on campus. The Weavers also established the Martin J. and Lucy M. Farmer Scholarship to assist graduates of Ohio County High School or Owensboro High School in Daviess County who are seeking to be teachers.

meals on Wednesdays," he said. "(West Kentucky Allied Services) told me (cold Wednesday lunches) was only going to be a temporary thing and I knew that wasn't going to be true. It's now going on a year."

Using an oven no bigger than the average household, in a kitchen smaller than most, Kelleher and crew provide a hot lunch to about 50 senior citizens each Wednesday.

"We get in here at 8 a.m. to start preparing," said Wanda Reagan. "There is a lot that goes into making this much food because we only have the one stove."

Reagan, the oldest child of eight, has raised five children and uses her kitchen expertise to help cook the Wednesday meals.

"These ladies can really cook," Kelleher said of her and Rachel Williams, a six-year employee of the center.

Reagan moved to Murray last year and along with volunteering in the kitchen on Wednesdays, she and her husband also help deliver the Meals on Wheels program.

"The atmosphere is good and I really love the seniors," she said. "It's been a great way to meet people and learn my way around the area."

The center asks for, but does not require, a $2.50 donation on Wednesdays and allows other agencies based in the George Weaks Community Center to join the seniors for lunch.

"Most of the people who work in this building will come down here to eat on Wednesdays," he said.

What little funds are generated through the program goes back into the center's general fund and is spent on the seniors.

"We'll use it for fun activities and things like that," Kelleher said. "The money is not the motivation here. I truly believe that (the seniors) need a hot meal at least once a day."

After a year of serving hot Wednesday meals, Kelleher said it is making an impact.

"The seniors seem to love it," he said. "Other counties are seeing a drop in their Wednesday participation where we're seeing an increase."

Following the meal, with the aroma of "home-cooking" lingering in the air, attention moves from dinner to cards and billiards.

"We come here, we eat, play cards. We have fun and we laugh a lot — that's good medicine," Morris said.

Lawmakers seek pay increase

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Members of the General Assembly are "grossly underpaid," says House Democratic Leader Greg Stumbo, who will be pushing for an increase in the pay scale during next year's session.

The current rates have forced some legislators to consider retirement and keep others from seeking office at all, Stumbo said.

He said this could turn the legislature into "a playground for the rich and famous" or be limited to those who had retired.

"It's getting to the point where we're going to lose members of both parties," Stumbo said, adding that he knew of eight to 10 lawmakers who had voiced concerns over pay.

Lawmakers currently receive $102.70 each day they are in Frankfort during a legislative session or for each day their committees hold meetings during the interim, plus $88 daily for expenses.

They are reimbursed for mileage for one round trip during the session and for travel expenses to interim meetings. They are paid $975.65 a month between sessions.

Legislative leaders receive more — the House speaker and Senate president earn $128.38 for each day in Frankfort.

Stumbo, a Prestonsburg attorney, expressed his views Wednesday during a meeting of the Legislative Research Commission, which includes legislative leaders. He said he asked legislative staff members to bring information about other part-time public officials' pay to next month's LRC meeting.

Stumbo said his proposal for the 1998 session will be similar to the $50-a-day pay raise he advocated during the 1996 General Assembly. The latter narrowly passed the House but failed in the Senate. Legislators ultimately approved a small cost-of-living raise.

Stumbo received $16,460 in salary last year, plus expenses. He said he raised the issue now because he was criticized last year for proposing a pay increase without warning in the middle of the session. Before last year, lawmakers had not received a raise since 1982.

House Republican Leader Danny Ford of Mount Vernon said he wanted to hear more about the proposal but agreed with Stumbo's concerns about lawmakers finding it difficult to handle. The part-time job "is getting to be more and more time consuming," said Ford, who voted for the pay raise last year.

Legislative seats are considered part-time positions. The General Assembly meets for 60 days every two years and can be called into special session by the governor. Lawmakers also hold committee meetings during the period between sessions.

House Speaker Jody Richards of Bowling Green agreed low pay keeps some candidates away.

"So many are really interested until they find out they have to give up a job that pays so much more," Richards said.

Senate President Larry Saunders, D-Louisville, said he wanted to listen to the pay proposals before making a decision. He said it would depend upon other needs in the state budget.

Gore's actions may mean independent counsel

By LARRY MARGASAK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just as Senate hearings are delving into an embarrassing fund-raising event in Al Gore's past, Attorney General Janet Reno is giving her first indication that the vice president's fund-raising activities could trigger an independent counsel investigation.

After months of resistance by Reno to a special prosecutor, the Justice Department dropped a potential bombshell on the eve of today's Senate Governmental Affairs Committee hearing.

"The Justice Department is reviewing whether allegations that the vice president illegally solicited campaign contributions on federal property should warrant a preliminary investigation under the independent counsel act," Reno's office said.

Even before the announcement, the new round of hearings following an August break promised some uneasy moments for Gore that could affect his political future.

Three Buddhist nuns, appearing reluctantly under a grant of immunity, were to testify today before the Senate panel about an apparently illegal money-raising scheme linked to Gore's appearance at the Hsi Lai Temple in Hacienda Heights, Calif., on April 29, 1996.

David Strauss, who was deputy chief of Gore's staff in 1996, was also scheduled to testify.

Republicans agreed there was no evidence that Gore knew the temple reimbursed members who made contributions to the Democratic Party — a campaign money laundering arrangement documented by committee investigators.

Still, worried about a public relations disaster, the White House launched a pre-emptive defense of Gore on Tuesday — concerned that his appearance at the temple would associate him with a scheme that violated federal election law.

Clinton administration aides released briefing papers, internal memos and electronic messages in an effort to demonstrate Gore's lack of knowledge that the temple event was a fund-raiser.

There's little the White House can do, however, to counter the possible sea change in Reno's thinking.

Republicans, who have persistently demanded an independent counsel, pounced on Wednesday's development with relish. Sen. Arlen Specter, R-Pa., predicted the review would lead to Reno petitioning a federal court to name the outside investigator.

"It's pretty certain where it's going. I don't think the Justice Department would start this without knowing where it's headed," Specter told reporters.

Justice Department spokesman Bert Brandenburg declined to say whether the statement meant the department had found recent disclosures about Gore's fund-raising calls from the White House more troubling.

Diana had been given $200,000 ring

By ELAINE GANLEY
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — Love apparently blessed Princess Diana in her final hours of life. A Paris jeweler says he created $200,000 diamond ring that Dodi Fayed gave to Diana during dinner Saturday night at the Ritz Hotel, just hours before they both died.

Queen Elizabeth, "pressed by British papers to make a show of grief, announced she will speak to the nation on Friday, the day before Diana's funeral.

"The queen has asked me to say that the royal family have been hurt by suggestions that they are indifferent to the country's sorrow at the tragic death of the Princess of Wales," spokesman Geoffrey Crawford told the BBC in a rare television appearance.

British papers lambasted the queen and the royal family today for failing to respond to the public outpouring of grief. "Speak to us Ma'am," one headlined. "Show us you care," said another.

The queen has remained with Prince Charles and her grandsons Prince William, 15, and Prince Harry, 12, at Balmoral Castle in Scotland.

"The princess was a much loved national figure, but she was also a mother whose sons miss her deeply. Prince William and Prince Harry themselves want to be with their father and grandparents at this time in the quiet haven of Balmoral," Crawford said.

"As their grandmother, the queen is helping the princes to come to terms with their loss, as they prepare themselves for the public ordeal of mourning their mother with the nation on Saturday."

Buckingham Palace decided to more than triple the length of Saturday's funeral procession to allow as many people as possible to share in the massive public grieving. The procession will proceed through central London to Westminster Abbey along a 3 1/2-mile route.

As Britain mourned, photographers blamed for the accident that killed Diana, Fayed and a chauffeur sought to counter claims they were shoving their way to professional glory at the accident scene.

"I tried to help, just to see if they were still alive," said Romuald Rat of the Gamma agency, explaining on French television why he opened a door of the mangled car before police arrived.

Rat is one of seven people — six photographers and a press motorcyclist — placed under formal investigation by a French court Tuesday for manslaughter and failure to help the victims, an obligation under French law.

All seven could face up to five years in prison and fines.

The Paris jeweler quoted in The Sun newspaper today said he created an extraordinary diamond ring that Fayed gave to Diana over dinner Saturday.

"He told me how much he was in love with the princess and he wanted to spend the rest of his life with her," jeweler Alberto Repossi was quoted as saying.

Fayed had asked him to create "a ring of the like that had never been seen before," Repossi said.

The $205,400 ring was found in the wrecked car, according to The Sun.

Press Association, the British national news agency, said the ring was turned over to Diana's sisters when they went to Paris to recover the body Monday and it is now at Kensington Palace.

Diana's brother-in-law, Prince Edward, today signed a book of condolence at St. James's Palace, where thousands of mourners have waited to pay their respects.

With the funeral still two days away, attention has focused on the paparazzi who have been accused not only of precipitating the accident with their frenzied pursuit of Diana but of hampering police access to the mangled car.

Rat and one other photographer have had their press cards and drivers licenses removed and are forbidden to work until the case is resolved. But after remaining silent for several days, the photographers are now speaking out.

"I saw the princess sitting on the floor, her back to me. I said in English to stay calm, that I was there, that help would arrive," Rat told France-2 television.

Rat's boss, Didier Contant, said earlier that his photographer had taken Diana's pulse.

Diana, Fayed and driver Henri Paul died early Sunday when their black Mercedes crashed at high speed in a tunnel along the Seine River. Paul, who blood tests indicated was legally drunk, reportedly had taunted photographers to try and keep up with his Mercedes.

Fayed's bodyguard, Trevor Rees-Jones, remained hospitalized with serious injuries today. His testimony is considered crucial, but press reports said it will be weeks before police can question him because of his severe injuries.

Fetus found at ECU dorm bathroom

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP) — Students and officials at Eastern Kentucky University are trying to make sense of a dead fetus discovered in a dormitory bathroom.

According to campus officials, the fetus was found by two residents in a toilet on the seventh floor of Sydney Clay Hall about 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Ron Harrell, director of public information for the university, said campus police and the Madison County coroner's office are conducting a joint investigation. Authorities know the identity of the mother but no action has been taken against her, he said.

While the age of the fetus is unknown, Harrell said it was far enough along to be recognizable as a human baby. The fetus was pronounced dead at the scene, he said.

Madison County Coroner Embury Curry said an autopsy was performed on the fetus Wednesday at the state medical examiner's office in Frankfort. It could be 10 to 15 days before autopsy findings are released, he said.

The mother's name and other details of the incident will be withheld until authorities decide whether the case should be presented to a Madison County grand jury.

It is unclear for now, Curry said, whether the death was intentional, or the result of a miscarriage. Curry said the mother sought medical treatment, but would not provide details.

"I think it's so sad," Sara Richardson of Irvine said as she sat in the student center with her friends.

"I was adopted, and even though my mother didn't keep me, she still had enough respect for me and herself to drive herself to the hospital when she was in labor," the 18-year-old freshman said.

In 1991, a full-term baby girl found dead in the Madison County landfill was traced back to a dumpster used by one of ECU women's dormitories. The mother was never found.

That same year, an infant born in a Burnam Hall bathroom died of exposure after police say her mother, Pamela Michelle Harris, wrapped her in a plastic bag and threw her in a dumpster behind the building.

EDITORIAL ROUNDUP

Editorial pages examine media role in Diana's death

The Los Angeles Times:

Beyond the legalities, the entertainment press should reject the anything-goes tactics that are employed by some paparazzi. But the celebrity industry machine — the one that relentlessly promotes stars and is all too happy to bask in free publicity to make megabucks for their latest project — also needs to consider how it can help rein in a monster that it helped create.

The San Francisco Chronicle:

Photographers and their employers often trample on good judgment. But the tawdry soap opera industry that used the princess is supported by the supermarkets that showcase the celebrity covers, and the readers who buy them.

It does not take a law to stop this shameless and unrelenting exploitation. It takes restraint, by everyone involved.

The News Tribune of Tacoma, Wash.:

No longer queen-in-waiting, Diana was determined to be "a queen in people's hearts." She wasn't content to just be a pretty face on the covers of tabloids and magazines, a style setter and the most photographed woman in the world. Perhaps because she felt so misunderstood and unloved herself, she had a special affinity for others in unfortunate situations.

The Salt Lake Tribune:

"For never was a story of more woe" than that of Diana, the beautiful Englishwoman who wed an English prince in front of the whole world, bore him two sons, endured a loveless marriage and gruesomely public breakup, and, this weekend, died too young in a tragic automobile accident.

Indeed, Princess Diana's adult life seemed to be set on some Shakespearean stage, performed solely for public consumption. But there was a real human life being lived within those small spaces between media exposure and myth.

Le Monde, Paris:

Diana became a heroine, a central figure in the global media landscape, the universe of television screens, radio broadcasts, magazine covers, of which we all are consumers. To this sequined empire, to the international market of images, to this fair of secrets, true or false, this maelstrom of privatizations of public life and this making public of private life, it is difficult to escape.

The Des Moines (Iowa) Register:

If paparazzi contributed to the deaths of Diana and others with her, criminal prosecution will not seem enough.

So the debate about what is fair and what's not in media coverage is once again in full swing. Mainstream journalists will seek to separate themselves from those who stalk celebrities in order to sell photos to the tabloids and, indeed, there is a difference between the two. Still what is considered suitable, and salable, in daily newspapers and on television has changed drastically in recent years and deserves to be part of the debate.

The Star Tribune of Minneapolis:

Consider the many essences of Diana, beloved Princess of Wales, who died early Sunday in a Paris car crash. She was stunningly beautiful in face, form and manner, the most photographed woman in a world that loves to photograph beautiful women.

She was exuberant and unrestrained (some would say undisciplined) to the point of wildness — able on occasion to behave like a shallow, jet-setting vamp.

She was complex and troubled, a victim of bulimia who told of several attempts to take her own life.

She was the royal commoner, comfortable in the poshest dress at the highest-toned affair but also able to take delight in the informal stops for hamburgers and home videos with sons William and Harry.

The Atlanta Journal-Constitution:

Princess Diana, perhaps the most recognizable woman in the world, was so beautiful and compassionate that people everywhere fell in love with her. And then they loved her to death. The insatiable demand for gossip and pictures involving Diana set the stage for her tragic end.

The Chicago Sun-Times:

When a young mother dies, one's first thought must be for her children. When the mother of the future king dies, the first thought is, if anything, stronger. For Prince William and Prince Harry, the death of Diana, princess of Wales, is the most terrible event in their short lives. How they learn to live with it will determine their future happiness. In the case of Prince William, the eventual heir, the consequences will affect the whole nation.

Congress may rest on laurels

POLITICAL NEWS ANALYSIS

Tom Raum
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is just back from a month-long summer vacation and already leaders are talking about calling it quits for the year. Their reasoning is simple: Enacting the first balanced-budget plan in three decades and the biggest tax break in 16 years — as Congress did right before the August recess — are hard acts to follow.

So why bother? All Congress really needs to do is keep the government from shutting down, handle a few other high-priority items and adjourn. Leaders are talking about Oct. 31 as an adjournment target.

It could mean that some high-profile proposals, like the Clinton administration's "fast-track" trade bill, tobacco-litigation legislation and campaign-finance overhaul may wind up on a side track instead.

"It is certainly our goal and objective ... to be done by the 31st of October. There is no reason why that can't happen," House Majority Leader Dick Armey, R-Texas, said Tuesday.

Of course, keeping the government, or parts of it, from shutting down has proven to be no mean chore in the past. And not one of the 13 appropriations bills needed to fund the government in fiscal 1998 — which begins in just 27 days — has been enacted.

Incumbents don't need to be reminded of the bitter winter of 1995-96, when partisan budget battles resulted in two separate partial government shutdowns.

Although Republicans took most of the political heat for those disruptions, neither party wants another shutdown. It would sour the celebration of the budget accord — right before a midterm election season that sees the entire House and a third of the Senate up for re-election.

New figures released Tuesday may have bolstered the case for Congress to rest on its laurels. The nonpartisan Congressional Budget Office said the budget-balancing package and a continued strong economy should produce a $32 billion federal surplus in 2002 and a $86 billion one by 2007.

Recent developments make even a partial government shutdown unlikely this year.

The budget accord resolved most of the major spending disputes between President Clinton and the GOP Congress.

And all 13 bills are now moving along. Each chamber has passed seven of them, with more votes expected this week.

"The budget agreement worked. We now know what the (spending) targets are," Senate Majority Leader Trent Lott, R-Miss., said.

Furthermore, the new line-item-veto legislation gives Clinton another tool to cancel individual projects or spending items without having to veto an entire appropriations bill.

That doesn't mean all 13 spending bills will be passed by Oct. 1.

GOP leaders suggest a stopgap measure still may be needed to keep some agencies operating in October while the appropriations measures are completed.

But few think such a temporary spending bill will be government-wide, as it was in 1995-96.

Certain fights loom over welfare-to-work rules, methods for the 2000 national census and whether to allow parents to use tax-free Individual Retirement Accounts for private-school tuition.

But leaders seem generally pleased with progress.

Armey told reporters Tuesday that a controversial GOP measure — to prevent shutdowns by requiring that agencies denied fiscal 1998 funds keep operating on previous-year levels — now might not even be necessary, or worth the fight.

Republicans tried to attach it to last spring's emergency flood relief bill for the Dakotas — and got burned again in public opinion polls.

Nor do leaders seem in any rush to air new initiatives.

"I'm not interested in creating confrontational issues — or avoiding them," Lott said.

On campaign-finance reform, for instance, the Senate GOP leader said he had attended "two dozen events in my state" during the August recess "and not one person asked me about campaign finance reform."

And both Lott and Armey suggested Tuesday that Clinton could run into big trouble on the fast-track trade bill if it contains too many labor and environmental restrictions.

The measure, expected later this month, would allow the extension of the North American Free Trade Agreement to Chile and give Clinton expedited authority to negotiate free trade pacts with other countries.

"If the president keeps it clean, it will go straight through," Armey said. Otherwise, "it could bog down."

For the moment, at least, members returning from their August recess seem mostly interested in a fast track home again.

EDITORIAL ROUNDUP

Aug. 27 — Le Nouveau Quotidien, Lausanne, Switzerland, on Zionism:

If the 100th anniversary of the first Zionist Congress in Basel had taken place in the aftermath of the Oslo Accords ... the entire world would have been there. ...

Each would have welcomed peace for the Jews and peace for the Palestinians under the portrait of a Theodor Herzl unaware of the suffering the two peoples would endure after his death.

But the 'peace process' is deadlocked, the Israeli government is unenlightened, stubborn and obtuse, and Arafat is trapped and uncreative.

The Nazi gold affair has added unease. ...

That is why this centenary, surrounded by police more than famous names, is concerned with reflection rather than celebration. ...

It is a good occasion ... to remind oneself that the European people harbored anti-Semitism well before Hitler. ... Zionism is the response to our refusal, our hate, which culminated with Hitler. ... With the creation of Israel, Europe has, however, lost more than its Jews. It has lost a universalist culture. ...

Aug. 27 — Le Monde, Paris, on disclosure of sterilization in Sweden:

What is worse, the terrifying lesson of Nazism did not prevent these practices from continuing in Sweden for 30 more years. A respectable political regime, a religious ambience or a commonplace ideology — in this case, Puritanism — was able, with the help of social conformity, (to) conceal such practices with a discretion that borders on self-censure. To the point where Sweden is not truly aware of equally discrete texts legitimizing the practices, twenty years after they ended.

Aug. 26 — La Repubblica, Rome, on sentencing of former East German Premier Egon Krenz:

Egon Krenz is wrong to denounce the sentence passed on him as "the justice of the victors." However serious its defects, the Federal Republic is not a country given to witchhunts. The PDS, heir of the SED of East Berlin, performs its political, economic and financial activities in total freedom and has a media access that the Italian Communist Party could have only dreamed of in the fifties and sixties. ...

The fault in Berlin's verdict lies, perhaps, elsewhere: a court hearing cannot replace historical processes in bridging the ever-present gap between the two Germans. This sentence makes a different kind of political statement. Seven years after reunification, the verdict is not a condemnation of true socialism, but of crimes against citizens committed by left-wing totalitarianism, in violation of the international accords signed by this regime in Helsinki. ...

In Warsaw and Budapest, where the Communists chose to cooperate with the state for the transition to democracy, there was no need for a trial. The "reds" were even freely elected back into government.

Kiss seen around the world

CAL'S THOUGHTS

Cal Thomas
Syndicated columnist

had eliminated its predecessors. Nothing ambiguous about that.

For those who believe that Hamas is an extreme organization, Article Seven says, "Hamas is one of the links in the Chain of Jihad in the confrontation with the Zionist invasion." Later, the charter speaks of killing Jews and "discarding it, so that truth may prevail and homelands revert (to their owners)."

As to those who believe that negotiations, compromise and "land for peace" remain the best hope for the Middle East, Article Eleven says, "The Islamic Resistance Movement believes the land of Palestine has been an Islamic Waqf throughout the generations and until the Day of Resurrection, no one can renounce it or part of it, or abandon it or part of it. No Arab country nor the aggregate of all Arab countries, and no Arab King or President nor all of them in the aggregate, have the right, nor has that right any organization or the aggregate of all organizations, be they Palestinian or Arab."

It gets better (or worse if you're an Israeli). The charter states a belief in marriage between church and state and regards nationalism as part and parcel of the religious faith.

The charter regards "peace initiatives" by the West as the work of infidels: "(Peace) initiatives, the so-called peaceful solutions, and the international conferences to resolve the Palestinian problem, are all contrary to the beliefs of the Islamic Resistance Movement. For renouncing any part of Palestine means renouncing part of the religion; the nationalism of the Islamic Resistance Movement is part of this faith, the movement educates its members to adhere to its principles and to raise the banner of Allah over their homeland as they fight their Jihad."

The peace conferences "are no more than a means to appoint the nonbelievers as arbitrators in the lands of Islam. Since when did Unbelievers do justice to Believers?"

For those who still cling to the "peace process," there is this in Article Thirteen: "There is no solution to the Palestinian problems except by Jihad. The initiatives, proposals and International Conferences are but a waste of time, an exercise in futility..."

The charter calls the Jews "Nazis," which is ironic since many Arab nations supported the Nazis and their attempt to exterminate Jews during World War II.

In case there is doubt about the relationship between Hamas and the PLO, Article Twenty-Seven says, "The PLO is among the closest to the Hamas, for it constitutes a father, a brother, a relative, a friend."

The kiss seen around the world between Arafat and the Hamas leader is proof that these two organizations are not merely "dating" but are married — with the goal of destroying and completely occupying all of Israel, killing Jews in the process as a favor to Allah. To proceed as if Hamas' beliefs, actions and objectives do not matter is the ultimate in denial and puts not only U.S. interests at risk but also the survival of Israel and the Jewish people.

Faye Wells to retire from MSU Sept. 30

Faye C. Wells, the military administration manager for Murray State University's department of military science, will retire Sept. 30.

Wells has worked at Murray State since 1968 when she was employed as secretary for Buddy Hewitt, director of the Waterfield Student Union Building and men's golf coach. She later served as special projects secretary for President Harry Sparks, as secretary for President Ralph Woods while he wrote the book "Fifty Years of Progress—A History of Murray State University 1922-1972," and as secretary for M.C. Garrott, director of public relations.

In 1976 she moved to the civil service position in the department of military science and has since worked for eight of its department chairs. During her 21 years with the ROTC program, she has won numerous awards and promotions from the U.S. Army Second ROTC Region at Ft. Knox.

With a total of 41 years of office administration, including 11 years as secretary for the Murray Natural Gas System, she earned the Bachelor of Independent Studies (BIS) degree from Murray State University in 1991.

A charter member of the Murray chapter of Professional Secretaries International (PSI). Wells has served in a number of offices, including president. She was chosen the Murray chapter's Secretary of the Year in 1976 and went on to win the Kentucky Secretary of the Year in 1978. She was also the first member of the Murray chapter to earn the Certified Professional Secretary (CPS) rating and was a charter member of the CPS Academy.

FAYE C. WELLS

Her other honors include being listed in "The World Who's Who of Women" in 1980 and back-to-back listings (1979 and 1980) in "Personalities of the South."

Wells is married to Martin Wells, a retired captain with the Murray Police Department currently working as a shift leader with Murray State's department of public safety. They have one son, Steve, who is employed by Briggs and Stratton Corporation as a member of the corporate sales department in Dublin, Ga.

A native of Calloway County, Wells is the daughter of Ralph Clark who resides in the Route 2, Hazel, area and the late Cova Lassiter Clark. She has one sister, Mrs. Sam (Millie) Elkins, of Murray. Wells is a member of the Glendale Road Church of Christ in Murray. Her plans for retirement include volunteer work, traveling and spending time with family and friends.

A retirement reception will be held Friday, Sept. 19 from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. in the Curris Center second floor reception area. The public, in addition to the campus community is invited to attend.

Inmates play joke with state's license plates

WATERLOO, Iowa (AP) — Iowa's nifty new license plates are distinctive — some a little more than others, thanks to a prank by prison inmates.

Some of the handiwork of Anamosa State Penitentiary inmates has included dropping the "C" on Cass County license plates, leaving a word not popular with state Department of Transportation officials.

A few Shelby County plates also were missing the first and last two letters.

"Rather than 'Shelby,' it looked like 'hell,'" said Jan Hardy of the DOT vehicle services office.

The DOT warned motor vehicle offices across the state to check the plates in July after drivers and some county workers noticed the alterations. They said only a few of the 4 million newly issued plates appear to have been altered.

Several inmates were disciplined when prison officials learned of the tampering, said Tom Stelzer, plant manager of Iowa Prison Industries in Anamosa. But there's not much more the DOT can do about quality control, said Dave McCullough, operations manager of the Black Hawk County motor vehicle division.

"You can't fire them," McCullough said. "They're inmates."

Mrs. Christine Beaver

Mrs. Christine Beaver, 81, Coach Estates, Murray, died today, Thursday, Sept. 4, 1997, at 2:50 a.m. at Lourdes Hospital, Paducah.

A member of Memorial Baptist Church, Murray, she had retired from Sears in Florida.

Her husband, Johnnie Beaver, died Sept. 30, 1984. Born March 31, 1916, at Fulton, she was the daughter of the late Priesley Holt and Blanche Sams Holt.

Survivors include one nephew, Ray Beaver and wife, Barbara, Laguna Beach, Fla.; several cousins including Mrs. Linda Adams, Paducah, H.C. Sams, Clinton, Bennie Sams, Somonauk, Ill., and Mrs. Marie Satterfield, Water Valley.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete, but friends may call at J.H. Churchill Funeral Home after 5 p.m. Friday.

Mrs. Phyllis Ruth Lamb

Services for Mrs. Phyllis Ruth Lamb will be Friday at 2 p.m. in the chapel of J.H. Churchill Funeral Home. The Rev. Steve Cavitt, her nephew, will officiate. Burial will follow in Union Township Cemetery, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 5 p.m. today (Thursday).

Mrs. Lamb, 60, Tree Tops Road, Dover, Tenn., died Tuesday, Sept. 2, 1997, at 10 a.m. at Henry County Medical Center, Paris, Tenn.

She was of Presbyterian faith. Born Oct. 26, 1936, at Monongah, W.Va., she was the daughter of the late Louis Wimer and Pauline Post Wimer.

Survivors include her husband, Charles Lamb; four daughters,

Mrs. Carla Copens and husband, James, Ms. Charlene Lamb and Ms. Kimberly Lamb, all of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Mrs. Paula Eily and husband, Derek, Chuluota, Fla.; one sister, Mrs. Frances Miller, Tulsa, Okla.; eight grandchildren.

Jerry Max Boggess

The funeral for Jerry Max Boggess has been changed to 11 a.m. Saturday in the chapel of Miller Funeral Home of Murray. John Dale will officiate. Burial will follow in Murray Memorial Gardens.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 5 to 8 p.m. Friday. Mr. Boggess, 56, Swift Road, Kinksey, died Sunday, Aug. 31, 1997, at 1:57 p.m. at his home.

Cast, crew for 'Bell, Book, and Candle' set

The Playhouse in the Park has announced the cast and crew for its next production, John Van Druten's "Bell, Book, and Candle," which opens Oct. 10.

"Bell, Book, and Candle" is set in a small brownstone apartment house in the Murray Hill district of New York City and it chronicles two months in the lives of an unusual and very different couple. As the play opens, Gillian Holroyd (played by Amy Sykes) has just returned from a trip to Mexico where she acquired a very unusual mask, a potent witch mask. Most people might be afraid to own such an object, but not Gillian because, you see, she is a witch, a witch with a problem.

Gillian's world, at least for in this century, centers around the old brownstone where she is the landlady. On the top floor of this house lives Gillian's Aunt Queenie. Aunt Queenie (Nancy Christensen) is a witch-come-lately who revels in her new powers and uses them to spy on the man downstairs, Shepherd Henderson (played by Nathan Hicks). Aunt Queenie's spying has not gone unnoticed by the conservative, wealthy publisher, and as soon as Gillian returns from her trip, he comes calling to complain. What he receives in return for this visit is more than any of them bargained for, particularly when a certain cat and a certain brother, Nicky (played by Gary Potts), become involved in the action.

This romantic comedy is a little different from the usual October programs. Oh, it still has witches and warlocks, and there is a generous sprinkling of magic, but the emphasis is more on human (and supernatural) relationships than on scary horsemen and ghost stories. According to director Kim McFarlen, the play is a "magical" story of a witch who casts a spell of revenge and deception over another but who soon finds that she has fallen under the most powerful spell of all — love!

Not only are there witchcraft and love in this play, but there is also much humor. Nancy Christensen's Aunt Queenie is outrageously funny as is Gary Potts' malicious and mischievous Nicky, and, of course, the play would not be complete without the pompous Mr. Redlitch (Ed Davis) whose complete lack of understanding about what is happening around him makes him the perfect human buffoon...although it would be wise not to underestimate Mr. Redlitch's character too much. After all, he knows several witches personally.

Assisting the director are Ed Davis and stage manager Gary Willis. The very small, very intimate set has been recreated by Don Fleming, technical director for Playhouse in the Park. Don is also the lighting designer for the production and Justin Cripps is the light board operator and assistant light designer. Dana, and Mackenzie Hoffman are in charge of costumes and some set design while Vicky and Tim Peyton are responsible for the music and sound effects.

"Bell, Book, and Candle" opens at the Playhouse on Friday, Oct. 10, with shows Oct. 10-11, 17-18, 24-25 at 8 p.m. A 2 p.m. matinee is on Sunday, Oct. 26.

Reservations may be made through the theater box office by calling 759-1752.

The production is sponsored by Boone's Laundry, Cheri Theater and Vintage Rose Emporium.

Clay Jester, 13, grandson of Clifton and Marie Coleman, of Murray, has a small speaking role in the Steven Seagal film, "Fire Down Below." The movie will be released in September. It was filmed in Hazard, Ky. last fall.

New symphony director selected

The Paducah Symphony Orchestra has announced the appointment of Dr. Bradley Almquist as the new director of the Symphony Chorus. His first duty in that capacity will be to audition adult singers for the ensemble on Thursday, Sept. 11 and Saturday, Sept. 13. The Chorus is scheduled to perform on the Orchestra's Christmas concerts on Dec. 13 and 14 and on the final subscription concert of the season on May 2.

Dr. Almquist, an associate professor of music at Murray State University, is director of choral activities and head of the vocal choral unit. He received bachelor and master degrees from the University of North Dakota and a Doctor of Musical Arts degree from Louisiana State University.

Prior to joining the faculty at MSU in 1992, Almquist taught at Eastern Michigan University, Louisiana State University and the University of Wisconsin Center at Marshfield-Wood County.

Since arriving at Murray, he has been guest conductor, adjudicator and clinician on over 50 occasions in the four state area. He is currently president of the Kentucky Choral Directors Association and recently served as program chair for the Southern Division Convention of the American Choral Directors Association.

Almquist's Chamber Singers performed for the Kentucky Music Educators Association, earlier this year and the Concert Choir sang for the Southern Division Convention of the Music Educators National Conference in March. His Concert Choir toured England, Scotland and Wales in 1995, singing at Westminster Abbey, Canterbury Cathedral, and other well-known cathedrals in those countries.

Of Almquist's appointment, Symphony President Juliette Grumley said, "We are excited to have Dr. Almquist on our team. He has a reputation for developing choral groups of the highest quality and we are confident the Symphony Chorus will be no exception."

Singers who would like to audition for the Symphony Chorus should call 444-0065 or 1-800-738-3727 to schedule an audition time. Rehearsals will begin later in the fall and will be on Sunday afternoons from 2 to 4 p.m.

SKIP HAMRA

Collaboration set to train

Regional theater goers recognize the name of Maestro Skip Hamra, while area dancers know the name of "The Ballet Lady" Nancy Z. Nerney. Playhouse goers were pleased with their collaboration on "South Pacific" this past summer. Now, in an innovative move for Western Kentucky, the Maestro and "The Ballet Lady" have teamed up to offer the best in theater and dance training to area residents. Hamra will be directing the theater component, with Nerney in charge of dance.

As experienced professionals in their field, both Hamra and Nerney have longed for a higher standard of performance and performance training in the areas of both theater and dance in the region.

"The Arts are not a hobby for us. This collaboration is a testament to the faith we both have in our art, and the energy and devotion we are willing to invest in the Human Spirit. When it comes to Theater and Dance we can take you there...to the place you have dreamed of being."

Classes start this Saturday, Sept. 6th, at The Ballet Studio. Classes are available in both theater and dance for students from age 8 to 80. For more information, call Hamra at 436-2797, or 753-4296.

Choral Union invites singers

The department of music at Murray State University invites area singers to the first rehearsal of the MSU Choral Union for the 1997-98 season. The choir will begin rehearsals on Monday, Sept. 8 at 7 p.m. in room 314 of the Price Doyle Fine Arts Building.

The Choral Union will sing arrangements of hymn tunes and folksongs. They will sing at the annual "Hanging of the Green" community holiday event held in the Curris Center and will also combine with the MSU University Chorale to present "Requiem" by Gabriel Fauré at the Fall Concert scheduled for Nov. 23.

Music for all arrangements is available at the MSU bookstore located on the second level of the Curris Center.

The Choral Union is made up of Murray State students along with singers from Murray, Benton, Mayfield, Almo, Paris, Tenn., and other surrounding communities. This year marks the Choral Union's seventh season. In 1995, members toured England, Scotland and Wales with the Concert Choir and are featuring on the compact disc recording "A Musical Tour of Great Britain," available for purchase from the MSU department of music. The MSU choirs are planning a performance tour of Germany, Austria, the Czech Republic and Hungary during the summer of 1998.

The choir is conducted by Dr. Bradley Almquist, associate professor and director of choral activities. For more information, call the MSU department of music at (502) 762-4288.

MSU to host recital

Murray State University will host a solo piano recital featuring Dr. Denine LeBlanc of the University of Louisville School of Music. The concert is scheduled for 3:30 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 7, in the Performing Arts Hall of Fine Arts Building on the MSU campus. There is no charge to attend.

LeBlanc holds the B.M. degree from the Cleveland Institute of Music, the M.M. degree from the University of Louisville and the D.M.A. degree from the College-Conservatory of Music of the University of Cincinnati. She has had articles published in several magazines, including "American Music Teacher" and "Clavier." She is a frequent accompanist, chamber player and performer of new music. An instructor of piano in the Preparatory Department of the University of Louisville School of Music, LeBlanc currently serves as president of the Kentucky Music Teachers Association and is immediate past president of the Greater Louisville Music Teacher Association. She is also Humanities Teacher of the Kennedy Montessori Elementary School.

LeBlanc's performance at Murray State will include works by Beethoven, Chopin, Brahms and University of Louisville composers Fred Speck and Steve Rouse.

Murray State University and the department of music invites the public to attend this guest recital. For more information contact Dr. Stephen Brown, professor of music, at (502) 762-6333.

TIGER FOOTBALL

Tiger head coach Rick Fisher discusses a play with officials during last Friday's 21-11 loss to Fulton County.

Murray High (0-1) vs. Calloway County (1-0) Sept. 5, 1997 — 7:30 Roy Stewart Stadium, Murray Tigers seek improvements after loss to Fulton County

By SCOTT NANNEY
Staff Writer

Friday's game against rival Calloway County will be a "learning experience" for the Murray High Tigers, according to head coach Rick Fisher.

The Tigers, fresh off a season-opening 21-11 loss to district foe Fulton County, will look for a big win to gain momentum for the remainder of the season.

But Fisher said the Tigers will need some breaks to overcome a powerful Laker offense, which compiled 196 yards on the ground in a 35-11 trouncing of Graves County last week.

"There's no way we should be able to beat Calloway County," Fisher said. "We really have no business playing them. We're a class A school and they're a AAA school. We need to be playing teams in our own class. But the reason we play this game is for the fans and our kids."

Fisher said the biggest obstacle facing Murray will be the size of both squads.

"Numbers are a factor in this game," said Fisher. "They have a lot of kids to choose from over there. Our kids have to play both ways. We tend to wear out doing that."

However, Fisher said the Tigers are approaching the cross-town rivalry with the same desire — to win.

"We'll try to approach it as any other game," he explained. "We're going to try to do the things we think we can do well. We play these type of games in order to get better for district games. Our season isn't based on the outcome of the Calloway game."

One advantage for the Tigers is the running of senior tailback Kenny Hammonds, who was the key to the Murray offense with 223 of the team's 254 total yards in week one against Fulton County.

"Kenny had a fantastic game," Fisher noted. "If he does that every game, we'll have a chance to win. The thing that really hurt us last week is that he just wore down."

Another factor for the Tigers, Fisher claimed, will be the switch from natural grass to the artificial surface at Murray State's Roy Stewart Stadium.

Moving the contest to MSU concerns Fisher.

"This is going to be a different type of field — one that the kids are not used to playing on," he said. "I am a little concerned about that. But I don't see the turf being an advantage to either team. This was done to create a neutral site for both teams."

Despite last week's loss, Fisher said his squad has a positive attitude.

"Our confidence is good," he said. "Each team has its own identity. We're still trying to find ours. I know it's going to come, I just don't know when."

Fisher hopes that with five consecutive games out of the district, the Tigers will be able to find their niche. "We're going to be out of the district for a little while," said Fisher. "By that time, we ought to be ready to go."

Harbaugh says Racers 'haven't missed a beat'

■ 12th ranked MSU heads to Bowling Green Saturday to face No. 11 Hilltoppers

By MARK YOUNG
Sports Editor

When Jack Harbaugh watched the Murray State-Indiana State game tape, he saw several things he didn't particularly care for.

The Western Kentucky coach was hoping he would see a bumbling defense that his team's 1-Bone offense could exploit at will, a new quarterback who looked confused and an entire team that looked lost under a new head coach.

No such luck. What he saw instead was an attacking, in-your-face defense that held ISU to just 134 total yards, a quarterback in Dan Loyd who ran the offense effectively in his first-ever start and a team that generally ran smooth in a 13-0 win in coach Denver Johnson's debut.

Harbaugh's conclusion? "They haven't missed a beat," Harbaugh said of 12th ranked Records: Both teams enter the game at 1-0 as Murray State opened the 1997 season last Thursday with a 13-0 win over Indiana State and Western trounced Tennessee-Martin 42-0.

Rankings: Western Kentucky is ranked 11th in this week's Division I-AA national poll while Murray State is next at No. 12.

The series: Western leads the all-time series 31-23, with seven ties.

Last season: Western 44, Murray St. 41, 2 OT.

Murray State, which travels to Bowling Green Saturday night to take on 11th ranked Western at 7. "I thought with a new staff, new players on the defense and a new quarterback, it would take a few weeks for them to come together, but that's not the case. They're a well-coached, disciplined team, and they played an outstanding game."

Considering the opposition from the Racers' first game made the win even more impressive, Harbaugh said.

"We play Indiana State every year and they're a good team, but Murray State just totally dominated them, especially on the defensive side," he said. "Murray

State has some tremendous athletes, and it was very disheartening to watch that film."

The Hilltoppers weren't too shabby in their season opener last Thursday either, pounding Ohio Valley Conference member Tennessee-Martin 42-0 on the road.

Not surprisingly, watching a tape of that game wasn't a very pleasant experience for Johnson.

"They feel like they can run against us, and if they can, they'll have a pretty good chance to win the game," the Racers coach said. "I just hope our defense can continue to have the effort we had

Earnhardt ready to make return after inconclusive tests

By JOE MACENKA
AP Sports Writer

MOORESVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Dale Earnhardt is ready to return to racing now that medical tests have failed to pinpoint a reason why he fell asleep at the wheel during the Southern 500.

Reports from tests conducted on Earnhardt over a four-day period have been forwarded to NASCAR officials in Daytona Beach, Fla. The sanctioning body for stock car racing's premier series was expected to decide today whether to clear Earnhardt to rejoin the Winston Cup circuit in time for this weekend's event at Richmond International Raceway.

Earnhardt has started 537 consecutive races, the second-longest streak on the circuit behind Terry Labonte's 560.

"He's as ornery as he's ever been, and he wants to race," David Allen, a spokesman for the seven-time Winston Cup champion, said Wednesday.

Doctors at two hospitals conducted numerous tests to try to determine why Earnhardt, 46, nodded off at the wheel before Sunday's race and then wrecked on the first lap and showed repeated signs of being disoriented.

The information from the tests was shared with doctors at two other hospitals, giving Earnhardt opinions from specialists at four institutions.

"All of our indications are nothing was found and that he's fine," Allen said.

Earnhardt underwent the last battery of tests Wednesday and canceled a promotional appearance at the Mall of America in Bloomington, Minn. His son, Dale Jr., attended and said his father seemed fine. The two were hunting less than 24 hours after the elder Earnhardt's problems.

Rusedski moves into U.S. Open semis

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Throw out the seedings on the men's side of the U.S. Open: They don't mean much this year. And toss out past performances, too. They're useless now.

Greg Rusedski, who came into the Open without a seeding this year and was rubbed out in the first round in each of his previous trips to this final Grand Slam of the season, is in the semifinals of the tournament.

And he hasn't lost a set yet.

Rusedski, the transplanted Canadian who now lives in Britain, continued to ride his monster serve, outlasting Richard Krajicek 7-5, 7-6 (7-5), 7-6 (8-6) Wednesday. He next meets Jonas Bjorkman, who ousted No. 15 Petr Korda 7-6 (7-3), 6-2, 1-0. Korda retired after the first game of the third set because of flu-like symptoms and general fatigue.

The other half of the men's semis were to be set today when No. 2 Michael Chang, the last familiar survivor on the men's side, meets No. 10 Marcelo Rios and No. 13 Patrick Rafter goes against Magnus Larsson.

On the women's side, No. 1 seed Martina Hingis and No. 6 seed Lindsay Davenport advanced to the semis by defeating their doubles partners. Hingis had an easy time with No. 10 Arantxa Sanchez Vicario 6-3, 6-2, and Davenport outlasted No. 3 Jana Novotna 6-2, 4-6, 7-6 (7-5). Venus Williams and No. 11 Irina Spirlea had already reached the other women's semi.

In a largely anonymous group, Rusedski may be the most fascinating character of all, saddled by an unspectacular Grand Slam career until this summer. After reaching the final 16 at Wimbledon in 1995, he was eliminated in the first round five times and the second round twice.

Sheffield leads Marlins over Orioles

The Associated Press

Gary Sheffield had the Baltimore Orioles looking for cover in the American League. Carlos Perez and Mike Lansing had a pair of Boston Red Sox pitchers wondering how they could lose a one-hitter.

The first year of regular-season interleague play came to a close Wednesday night, with the Florida Marlins and Montreal Expos finishing with 12-3 records against the AL.

Sheffield homered with one out in the ninth inning to give Florida a 7-6 victory over Baltimore, while Perez threw a two-hitter and Lansing homered for Mon-tréal's lone hit in a 1-0 decision over Boston.

With the Marlins and Expos leading the way, National League teams finished interleague play 117-97. The NL took the first two stages 28-18 and 53-31 after dropping the first round 48-36.

At Miami, Sheffield's homer off Shawn Boskie (6-6) gave the Marlins their 22nd victory in their last at-bat and second in a row against the AL-leading Orioles, who lost their last five games against NL teams. Florida has 39 comeback victories.

"You've got to beat the best to say you're the champions," Sheffield said. "First place is all I've got my mind on. Hopefully, we can go into the playoffs as hot as we are now and take the whole thing."

The Orioles had a scare in the third inning when a section of the roof over their dugout collapsed. No players were hurt.

"A lot of crazy things have happened to cause injuries," said Orioles ironman Cal Ripken, who was on the field when the roof collapsed. "That would have been the craziest."

Ripken hit a three-run homer for Baltimore, 8-7 against the NL.

Jay Powell (5-2) pitched a perfect ninth for Florida, which has won six straight to move within 2½ games of NL East-leader Atlanta.

Perez (12-10) struck out eight and walked none.

In other games Wednesday, it was Philadelphia 5, New York Yankees 4; Cleveland 7, Pittsburgh 3; San Diego 6, Seattle 5; Detroit 12, Atlanta 4; New York Mets 4, Toronto 2; Oakland 12, San Francisco 3; Texas 5, Los Angeles 2; Houston 4, Milwaukee 0; St. Louis 4, Chicago White Sox 2; Chicago Cubs 10, Minnesota 6; and Cincinnati 6, Kansas City 3.

MSU volleyball squad wins at St. Louis

ST. LOUIS — The Murray State volleyball team improved to 4-0 on the year with a five-game win at St. Louis University Wednesday.

Under the guidance of assistant coach Sarah Dearworth, MSU won the first game 15-10, and after dropping the next two games 15-13 and 15-9, the Racers won the fourth game 15-8 then wrapped up the match by taking the fifth game 15-12.

Krista Shumard had 15 kills and 29 digs for Murray State while Jill Kennedy added 11 kills and 16 digs.

MSU returns to the road for its last preseason tournament Friday and Saturday at the Illinois State Tournament in Norman, Ill. The Racers will open with California before taking on Illinois State and Tulsa.

against Indiana State. This week is a big challenge."

The Western offense starts (and mostly stays with) quarterback Willie Taggart, who ran for two touchdowns and passed for three more in the blowout victory over Martin. Taggart finished the game with 98 yards rushing and 164 passing, connecting on 10 of 12 attempts.

"We did some very good things against Martin," Harbaugh said. "We had some good play at quarterback, and rather than having just one running back, I think we've got two or three that can help us. We've also got an experienced fullback and wide receiver that did a good job for us."

Johnson said Western simply overpowered Martin, as the score reflected. The Hilltoppers rolled up 471 total yards.

"Western just had better talent," he said. "Martin has a lot of new players, and I'm sure Western was a lot better team than they would have liked to have opened with. It was tough for them."

Taggart ran for 181 yards and two touchdowns and passed for 25 yards and another score in last year's 44-41 season-opening double overtime win over MSU at Stewart Stadium. The Hilltoppers amassed 480 rushing yards and 505 total in the victory.

"Last year was a little bit of a circumstance where we had put a new play in that they hadn't seen and we caught them off balance," Harbaugh said. "I credit a lot of our winning that game to the new play we put in. But there's nothing new this year."

Johnson, a former assistant at Oklahoma, said coaching against teams such as Nebraska afforded him the opportunity to see option football at its best, but no one player he has seen before compares to Taggart in running that particular offense.

"Going back to my Oklahoma days I've seen a lot of option guys, but this guy (Taggart) is a weapon," he said. "When Number 1 (Taggart) has the ball, my belly hurts. The key for our defense is that we've got to get off the block and make a tackle."

Johnson said that while Western's defense has no bona fide superstars, it works as an effective, cohesive unit.

"They're very well coached and they play several different fronts," he said. "They're hard to get a beat on, and it's hard to find that mudhole in their defense that we can stomp all the water out of."

"But if our running game holds up the passing game will follow," Johnson added. "We want to make them make adjustments. We'll just try to scratch where it itches, like we did against Indiana State."

Harbaugh was complimentary of the Racers' ability to simply stay with what worked against ISU.

"Their coaching staff showed tremendous patience offensively," he said. "Their offensive line stayed on people and their running game was outstanding."

Party time: Prior to Saturday's game, Racers fans can visit a tailgate party sponsored by the MSU Alumni Association on the Downing South Lawn area at Western. Food and drinks will be available. Visitors should look for the MSU tent and the red tent. Parking will be available at the Preston Center. For more information contact Lori Pearson at 762-3001 or 1-800-758-8510.

Deion Sanders has been allowed to leave the Cincinnati Reds for the remainder of the baseball season to join the NFL's Dallas Cowboys.

Reds give Sanders OK to join Cowboys

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds have given Deion Sanders permission to end his baseball season after Friday night's game to join the Dallas Cowboys fulltime.

The deal takes effect after the final out is made in the Reds-Pittsburgh Pirates game at Cinergy Field Friday night. The Cincinnati Post and the Dayton Daily News reported today.

It is none too soon for Sanders, 30, who said he has become fatigued by playing two sports and is struggling for time to see his two children.

"This is going to be easier for me. I'm not a spring chicken anymore. It used to be cute in Atlanta, leaving in a helicopter and everything, but it's not cute any more," Sanders said, referring to his previous two-sport days with the Atlanta Braves and Atlanta Falcons.

Sanders agreed with Reds' general manager Jim Bowden on Wednesday that he will stay with the team through Friday, fly to Dallas on Cowboys owner Jerry Jones' private jet after the game and then devote all of his attention to the Cowboys starting Saturday.

"I basically told him to forget what the contract says," Bowden said. "We respect that he's one of the best football players in the country and we made it clear that we don't want him to stay here out of loyalty toward myself or the organization. He has to do what's right for both sports."

Sanders had an agreement with Bowden that he would continue to play as long as the Reds remained in contention for a playoff spot.

$35 for 150 minutes.

Any minutes.

Any time.

Any questions?

Sure, it may look simple. But convincing our bean counters to offer a great wireless deal this straightforward wasn't easy, believe us.

Still, don't take our word for it: cut out all the other wireless deals you find in this paper, then compare. Read all the fine print and legal stipulations in the other ads (if you need help, call your lawyer or accountant).

Pretty soon you'll realize that their deals aren't all they seem to be, and that ours is. A simply great deal.

For $35 a month, you get 150 local minutes (over 2½ hours a month). Plus, there are no "on" and "off-peak" times to worry about, so you can actually use your wireless phone, whenever.

All that our lawyers ask from you is a one-year service agreement with credit approval and service activation fee, oh, and taxes, directory assistance, long distance and landline charges are additional. Duh.

Oh yeah. Like all good things, this offer won't be around forever, so call or stop by before 10/11/97.

Laker head coach Joe Stonecipher talks with quarterback Eric King during last week's 35-11 season-opening victory over Graves County.

While change was the theme for Calloway County this preseason, the Lakers will do just the opposite in preparation for cross-town rival Murray this Friday — stay the same.

In a season-opening 35-11 thrashing of Graves County last week, the Laker offense compiled 196 yards on the ground. Tailback Jason Eaves led the power rushing attack with 101 yards on 14 carries and two touchdowns.

"We're not changing anything," said Laker head coach Joe Stonecipher. "We're going to line up and try to control the line of scrimmage. We're ready to play."

However, Stonecipher said his squad, ranked fourth in the state in this week's Class AAA poll, must execute better in special teams play and cut down on penalties in order to post a victory. Calloway was penalized 13 times for 125 yards against Graves County.

"I didn't think our effort on special teams was very good," he said. "We have to be improved in that area and eliminate the penalties. One hundred, twenty-five yards in penalties is totally unacceptable."

Murray High comes into Friday night's contest off a tough 21-11 loss to district foe Fulton County.

Despite the loss, Stonecipher said his team will have their hands full this week.

"We've looked at the film of their game extensively," he said. "We're really impressed with what they've been able to do so far. They've got a good football team."

Tailback Kenny Hammonds served as the catalyst for the Tiger offensive unit. The 6-2, 180-pound senior accounted for 223 of Murray's 254 total yards.

According to Stonecipher, stopping Hammonds will be the key to the Lakers' success against Murray.

"We hope to find a way to stop Kenny," Stonecipher noted. "He was the main part of their offense last week. We have to try and find him coming out of the backfield."

The Lakers will also have to find a way to contain senior quarterback O'Shea Hudspeth, who plays a key part in the Murray offensive scheme.

"With Hammonds, Hudspeth and (Bryan) Dennison at fullback, they have three really good skilled positions. We know that O'Shea can throw the ball. If we give him time to throw, he's a good passer. He can move it up and down the field pretty well."

In addition to stopping Murray's three key offensive players, the Lakers will also have to contend with playing on the artificial surface at Murray State's Roy Stewart Stadium.

But Stonecipher insists that the Lakers are looking forward to playing on the turf, as opposed to natural grass.

"We're just unbelievably excited to be playing there," Stonecipher explained. "Our kids love playing on the turf. Plus, it will be so much better for our fans."

"This game is for the fans. There's not a bad seat in Stewart Stadium. What better place is there to play this football game? Hopefully, we will put on a good show for everybody."

County Judge Executive J.D. Williams, pictured with Calloway Literacy Project Co-coordinators, June Vander Molen and Donna McCoy, and Murray State University Adult Learning Center Director Dot Newborn signed an official proclamation declaring Monday, Sept. 8 as "Community Literacy Day." This community emphasis coincides with "International Literacy Day" which will be celebrated with a Breakfast Open House on Sept. 8 from 7 a.m. to 10 a.m. at the Calloway Literacy Project, 814 Poplar. The public is invited to attend.

MSU to offer ACT prep course on Saturdays

Murray State University will offer a preparation course for juniors and seniors planning to take the ACT. Materials for classroom and home study will be provided along with software to access Kaplan's web site via America On-line. Sally Brannen of MSU's department of English will be the course instructor. She will conduct the study sessions and administer two diagnostic tests to assess student progress. The course will be offered every Saturday from Sept. 13 through Oct. 18. Each session will last from 9 a.m. to noon and will be held in Room 242 of the Collins Center for Industry and Technology located on campus. The registration fee for the program is $195. Parents interested in registering their high school juniors and seniors in the ACT Prep course should contact the office of community education at (502) 762-3662 or call toll free, 1 (800) 669-7654. The office of community education is part of the Center for Continuing Education and Academic Outreach.

HOROSCOPES

BY JACQUELINE BIGAR

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Friday, Sept. 5, 1997:

You will add to your net worth by using your professional abilities this year. One such talent suggests a different way to increase your income. Curb spending, and be clear about your budget. Do not take any unnecessary risks. If you are single, be realistic about people you meet. You have a tendency to put loved ones on a pedestal. If you do, reality eventually will come crashing down. If attached, a relationship builds as long as you stay open. Keep your expectations down-to-earth. LIBRA fascinates you.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) ★★★★★ You are pushed to the extreme. An associate is gentle and caring, and in the mood to agree! This is the time to ask for what you want, discuss new ideas and make agreements. There is a last-minute snag as you leave the office. Tonight: Be where there is fun! TAURUS (April 20-May 20) ★★★★★ You are trying to get another perspective, but a sense of being overwhelmed dominates. You have difficulty clearing the air. Take a walk at lunchtime; you will find the air refreshing. A change in plans might be more OK than you know. Tonight: Ask for a backrub. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) ★★★★★ Let your playful side emerge. Others respond to your energetic ideas. Laughter in the office enhances everyone's day. A partner might be iffy about a money matter. Stay open to possibilities, and don't be demanding, at least for now. Tonight: Let it all happen. CANCER (June 21-July 22) ★★★★★ Pressure is intense on the home front. You need to make a decision between work and personal life. Hedge a bit, and don't rush yourself into a difficult situation. There are a lot of answers, though they might not be visible presently. Tonight: Hang out at home. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) ★★★★★ Remain positive when talking to another. In your eyes, another might be creating barriers. Make calls, seek out new information and make time for a business lunch. Be direct and creative with work. A change might be needed, for your sake. Tonight: Hit a favorite spot. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) ★★★★★ Expenses are high, and a partner won't meet your requests. A discussion is needed but might not happen for another day or so. Your softer side emerges. Buy a gift or card. This token of affection makes a big difference. Tonight: Stay anchored. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) ★★★★★ Put your best foot forward. Be realistic about what you offer. Your attractiveness is high. Decide to do something just for yourself. Be aware of a family member's reactions. There is little you can do to change it, but remain optimistic. Tonight: Draw in what you want. SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) ★★★★★ You might need time off. You have pushed hard and are overwhelmed. If you can make this an early day, do so. Someone you meet today is alluring to you. Make sure you know enough about him before getting involved. Tonight: Vanish. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) ★★★★★ Zero in on what you want. A friend adds a lot to the quality of your life. Make a point of going to a meeting or joining co-workers. Add to your immediate circle. Networking is important. Use extra caution with money. Tonight: Meet the gang. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) ★★★★★ A professional commitment seems iffy. Something you agreed to is a lot different from what you are now hearing. Discuss exactly what is going on. A respected associate can help you. Clear out cobwebs in the path of communications. Tonight: The camera is on you. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) ★★★★★ Instincts are correct with a loved one. Reach out for others who are at a distance. Make plans or have a discussion that can open a new mental door. Be sensitive to another's request. It will be easy if you look at the big picture. Tonight: Take in a movie. PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) ★★★★★ Associates are finally receptive to your ideas and wishes. Discussions are positive and bring the results you have been seeking. A new beginning is imminent. You are confused about your desires and direction. Tonight: You want privacy. BORN TODAY

TODAY IN HISTORY

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, Sept. 4, the 247th day of 1997. There are 118 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On Sept. 4, 1781, Los Angeles was founded by Spanish settlers.

On this date:

In 1888, George Eastman received a patent for his roll-film camera and registered his trademark: "Kodak."

In 1894, some 12,000 tailors in New York City went on strike to protest the existence of sweatshops.

In 1917, the American expeditionary force in France suffered its first fatalities in World War I.

In 1948, Queen Wilhelmina abdicated the Dutch throne for health reasons.

In 1951, in the first live coast-to-coast television broadcast, President Truman addressed the nation from the Japanese peace treaty conference in San Francisco.

In 1957, Ford Motor Co. began selling its ill-fated Edsel line.

In 1967, Michigan Gov. George Romney told a TV interview he'd undergone a "brainwashing" by U.S. officials during a 1965 visit to Vietnam, a comment that apparently damaged Romney's bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

In 1971, an Alaska Airlines jet crashed near Juneau, killing 111 people.

In 1972, U.S. swimmer Mark Spitz won a record seventh Olympic gold medal in the 400-meter relay at the Munich Summer Olympics.

Ten years ago: A Soviet court convicted West German pilot Mathias Rust of charges stemming from his daring flight to Moscow's Red Square, and sentenced him to four years in a labor camp. He was released the following August.

Five years ago: The government reported the nation's unemployment rate had edged down to 7.6 percent in August 1992, but also said adult joblessness had worsened slightly and the economy had lost thousands of crucial manufacturing jobs.

One year ago: Anti-aircraft fire lit up the skies of Baghdad, hours after the United States fired a new round of cruise missiles into southern Iraq and destroyed an Iraqi radar site. Whitewater prosecutors had Susan McDougal held in contempt for refusing to tell a grand jury whether President Clinton had lied at her trial.

Thought for Today: "I am one of the people who love the why of things." — Catherine the Great, Russian czarina (1729-1796).

DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I have been a widow for 10 years. I've always kept my car in good repair. While I wait for my car to be serviced, I usually sit in the shop's waiting room. Magazines are provided for waiting customers, but all the magazines are about fishing, hunting, mechanics, racing, etc. In other words, the magazines are meant for male customers. Women who bring in their cars are totally ignored.

I have news for these auto shops. I have spent several hundred dollars with them, and I am only one of thousands of women who take responsibility for auto maintenance.

Recently, however, I had a pleasant surprise when I took my car in for service. The new manager greeted me politely and invited me to have a cup of coffee. When I sat down with my coffee, I was surprised again — displayed on the table were a number of magazines women love to read.

Abby, that manager recognizes that women matter, and you can bet I'll patronize his shop again because they obviously appreciate the business of women.

PLEASANTLY SURPRISED IN KNOXVILLE

DEAR PLEASANTLY SURPRISED: The new manager is obviously a smart businessman. Women of the world, clip this letter and present it to your mechanic. If he (or she) is as enterprising and service-oriented as the manager of the business where the reader took her car, you'll soon be taken seriously in auto shops.

DEAR ABBY: I am currently seeing a counselor for depression and anxiety. On top of that, I am in constant pain from arthritis, and a condition called fibromyalgia.

My counselor and physician advised that walking would improve both my depression and muscle tone. However, until I made a call to the local humane society, I had no motivation to make myself do it. Now I volunteer to walk dogs almost every day. The results have been great — both for me and the dogs. I get my exercise and several dogs get the individual attention, petting and loving they need, as well as a chance to get out of the kennels. My depression is lifting.

Abby, there must be other animal lovers who cannot have a pet in their homes for one reason or another. Walking dogs is a great way to have contact with animals we love.

Words cannot describe the intense satisfaction I feel when these animals say "thank you" with their eyes and wagging tails. All it takes is a stop by the local humane society to volunteer. Sign me.

INCURABLE ANIMAL LOVER
IN PENNSYLVANIA

DEAR INCURABLE: Orchids to you. It has long been known that people who interact with pets are much happier and healthier. I can't think of a better way for people to help themselves — and needy animals.

Readers, this two-way street is a route to better health and happiness for yourselves — and a welcome respite for furry creatures who are incarcerated through no fault of their own.

DEAR ABBY: I quit smoking 11 years ago, and put my cigarette money into a savings bond for my 1-year-old grandson. A year later when another baby was added to our family, I put a similar amount into a savings bond for him. I repeated this for No. 3.

As of July this year, there is a total of $10,000 in the savings pot for my grandchildren, and the added bonus of a healthier body for me.

It's wonderful what cigarette money can do rather than go up in smoke.

MARILYN J. OSTRONIC,
COUNCIL BLUFFS, IOWA

DEAR MARILYN: What a terrific idea. It's a pleasure to know that something so positive can come from cigarette money.

DR. GOTT

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I am under treatment for mild hypertension, but my main problem is an enlarged prostate gland. This causes me to urinate several times a night, wet myself on occasion, experience urgency, and so forth.

I took Proscar for a year. It didn't help a bit. Are there other treatments available?

DEAR READER: Yes, there are. And, as luck would have it, one might be perfect for you.

As I have written before, many of the symptoms of prostatic enlargement are really caused by spasm of the bladder muscle. Thus, frequency, urgency and nighttime urination may not be helped by Proscar, a drug that is supposed to shrink the prostate but doesn't affect the bladder muscle.

There are two drugs that are widely used to treat bladder spasm: Hytrin and Cardura. Ordinarily they are very effective and can be a godsend. However, as a side effect, they lower blood pressure, which may make some men lightheaded and dizzy.

You see where I'm going with this, don't you? Because you already have hypertension, I believe that either Hytrin or Cardura might solve two problems simultaneously. You could lower your blood pressure AND relieve your prostate symptoms with one drug. Ask your doctor about this.

In my practice, I have many grateful patients who are delighted to be cured of two disorders with a single prescription. Perhaps you might be, too.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Why are so many Americans overweight?

DEAR READER: Experts believe that the main reason is simple. People are eating too much and burning fewer calories because they exercise less often.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recently released some disturbing statistics. The proportion of overweight adults and children in the United States (with body mass index more than 27 percent above ideal) rose substantially between 1988 and 1994. Data show that 33 percent of men, 36 percent of women, 12 percent of teens and 44 percent of children are too heavy. This translates into a 3.3 percent increase in the six year period.

Given the fact that excess weight contributes to a host of unpleasant consequences — including heart disease, hypertension and cancer — you'd think that the educated consumer would try harder to balance calorie intake with calorie expenditure. But alas, it doesn't seem so.

Nutritionists urge us to address this national epidemic by exercising more and eating less — or, if we choose to be couch potatoes, reducing our consumption of "empty calories" to correspond more appropriately with our sedentary lifestyles.

DR. PETER H. GOTT, M.D.

When Sylvia first joined the club, she created a tremendous stir. All of us had met our share of bad players, but Sylvia was something different. We thought we had seen mistakes of every type at the bridge table, but it remained for Sylvia to show us what a hollow existence we had led.

Nevertheless, Sylvia had what might be called a saving grace. Every once in a while she would conjure up a bizarre bid or play that would work like a charm and utterly devastate the opposition.

I was kibitzing her one day when she held the East hand in today's

MSU Counseling offers programs

Murray State University's Counseling and Testing Center and the Women's Center offer various services for the university community. Group counseling, support and training programs are now being developed.

The programs are offered free of charge. The following groups are now forming:

•Assertiveness Training — The

MSU frat wins awards

The brothers of Alpha Sigma Phi here at Murray State, recently brought home 11 of 14 citations from its National Leadership Conference in Valley Forge, PA. The chapter received more awards than any other chapter in the nation.

The awards were for: alumni relations, brotherhood development, campus involvement, Canine Companions for Independence Philanthropy, leadership development, membership improvement, membership recruitment, parent relations, philanthropy, scholastic achievement and service.

In addition to receiving these chapter awards, Robert Blaisdell (president of the Murray State chapter this past year) was awarded the Friends of Rho scholarship and was honored as the Undergraduate Brother of the Year.

Alpha Sigma Phi is a national social fraternity that began in 1845, making it the 10th oldest fraternity in the nation.

The Delta Tau chapter began here in 1994 and has steadily increased its membership to become the second largest chapter in the nation. It is also currently the largest social fraternity on the MSU campus.

For more information about Alpha Sigma Phi, contact Steve Keach at 767-9277.

Quartets to meet

The National Quartet Convention (NQC) celebrates 40 years of packing halls and thrilling audiences at the Kentucky Fair & Exposition Center (KFEC) Monday, Sept. 8 through Saturday, Sept. 13.

The largest gospel music event in America continues to grow since moving its permanent home to KFEC in 1994. The event will feature more than 70 of the industry's hottest groups and more than 40,000 fans from across the world.

This year's convention will feature more than 400 exhibitors occupying over 150,000 square feet of KFEC's East Wing.

Afternoons at NQC have become more popular each year with featured soloists, choral workshops, an old fashioned singing school and a class-sing with one of the best in the industry, Bill Gaither in the expanded "Showcase Spectaculars." Evenings at NQC are the focal point of the six-day event. Concerts begin each evening at 6 p.m. Anywhere from 15 to 23 groups will perform on stage for sell-out crowds in KFEC's Freedom Hall.

Almo man wins horse award

Randy G. Garland of Almo, KY, recently earned an award for logging 1,000 hours in the American Quarter Horse Association Horseback Riding Program. The program provides AQHA members recognition for time spent riding or driving American Quarter Horses.

A unique aspect of the program is its simplicity. Current AQHA members complete a program application and pay a one-time $25 enrollment fee. Each enrollee receives an official AQHA log sheet to record their hours driving or riding their American Quarter Horse. Participants need not own their horse, but all official hours must be accrued with a registered American Quarter Horse.

The first award, a program recognition patch, is given after only 50 hours have been logged and verified. Patches and nine subsequent awards are presented at 100 to 5,000 hour levels and range from merchandise gift certificates from Drydals Western Store to a Montana Silversmith trophy belt buckle at the highest level.

AQHA actively encourages horseback riding as a recreational activity that can be enjoyed alone or shared with family and friends.

organizational meeting for this group will be held, Tuesday, Sept. 9, from 12:30-1:45 p.m. This group is designed for men and women interested in improving their interpersonal communication skills. Call 762-6851 or 762-3140 for more information.

•General Psychotherapy Group — This group is designed for people whose "problems of living" have resulted in feelings of depression and general dissatisfaction. It is for individuals who may continually find themselves hurt in relationships. Meetings will be from 1:30-3 p.m. every Wednesday. Individual appointments must be scheduled with Jane Etheridge at 762-3140.

•"How to talk so kids will listen" Parenting Group — This group will focus on effective methods of encouraging cooperation, responsibility, self-reliance and mutual respect between parent and child. Call Anni Benes at 753-5181 for additional information.

•Support Group for Developing and Maintaining Healthy Relationships — The primary goal of this group is for men and women to recognize the components of a healthy relationship and use this information to develop more satisfying relationships. The organizational meeting will be Monday, Sept. 15. Call 762-6851 for information.

•Support Group for Survivors of Childhood Sexual Abuse — This group is designed to offer support and assistance to people who are currently experiencing problems in daily living that relate to childhood sexual abuse. Those interested should schedule an appointment with Tammy Hatfield at 762-6851 or Susan Rosenberger at 753-0141 as soon as possible. This group will be limited to 10 members.

•Therapy Group for Survivors of Rape — This group is designed to assist people who are suffering from the aftereffects that many victims of rape experience. The major goal of the group is for participants to acknowledge the effects of victimization on their lives. Those interested should schedule an appointment with Tammy Hatfield at 762-6951 or Susan Rosenberger at 753-0141 as soon as possible. The group will be limited to 10 members. All group meetings will be held in Ordway Hall, Room 301 unless accessibility is a problem. In addition to these groups, programs on a variety of topics are provided upon request. A complete listing of programs is located in the Counseling and Testing Center. To schedule a program or for further information, contact Jane Etheridge, Tammy Hatfield or Dr. Bill Allbritten at 762-6951.
