Dexter artist illustrates comic book adaptation of 'Thrones'

By TOM BERRY Staff Writer

DEXTER, Ky. - A new comic book series based on the popular book and TV series "Game of Thrones" has been released in comic shops across the country and features the work of Dexter artist Tommy Patterson.

Patterson visited G's Comics in Murray this week to sign copies of the first issue of the book; a medieval fantasy that will run 24 issues over the next two years. The "Game of Thrones" TV show recently completed its first season on HBO. However, "Game of Thrones," the comic series is entirely original. It features characters created by George R.R. Martin in his book series "A Song of Ice and Fire," but as originally drawn by Patterson for the print graphic arts medium

Patterson said he was given artistic license in interpreting the appearance of the charac-

"Licensed property is usually pretty tough, but on this I don't have to draw likenesses (to the TV show)," he said. "I got to create what they all look like. They told me specifically not to make it look like the HBO show."

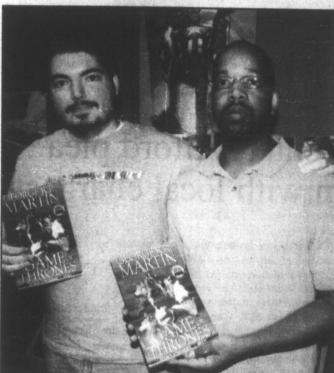

A Paris, Tenn. native, Patterson graduated from Murray State University and worked in graphic design at two Murray businesses for about eight years. However, he continued to draw after hours at home with hopes of breaking into the comic art industry. He succeeded with help from his wife, Michelle, and his family.

"There are so many people wanting to do this it's like a war of attrition," he said. "There were so many artists that I knew growing up that just sort of gave up on it. But my mom kept encouraging me and my wife. I couldn't have done it without them. You really can't do it without the support of family."

Patterson said he got his first break in drawing comics when one of his artist friends, who was also working his way up in the industry, introduced him to an art dealer who had contacts with several editors in the business.

"I sent in my portfolio and he started sending my work

Ky. ed chief: State will reapply for NCLB waiver

JANET CAPPIELLO

Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) -Kentucky's top public education official said Friday the state is ready to resend its application for a waiver to parts of the federal No Child Left Behind law.

"Kentucky is certainly needing to tweak the application for waiver process," Terry Holliday, the state education commissioner, told reporters in a teleconference, "... but we do not see anything major that we have to do."

Holliday and a handful of education leaders from other states joined President Barack Obama when he formally introduced a waiver plan allowing states to ignore some key provisions of the Bush-era law if certain conditions are

Many states, including Kentucky, had already told federal officials it wanted waivers so it could be more flexible in determining whether a school or district is considered to be failing.

U.S. Secretary of Education Arne Duncan had said that 82 percent of schools next year could fail to reach proficiency" requirements under NCLB and thus be labeled "failures," although some experts questioned the figure.

Under NCLB, progress for public schools was primarily measured using scores from standardized reading and math

In Kentucky, scores from the Kentucky Core Content Test were used, but education reform legislation passed in 2009 ordered those assessments to be replaced, and the results of the final round of those tests are to be released Tuesday.

The new assessment model for Kentucky will measure a school's progress using a combination of test scores, achievement gaps, student progress,

Indiana man enters Alford plea in connection with local charges

By TOM BERRY Staff Writer

An Indiana man who had been charged with raping a Murray State University student in August 2010 entered an Alford plea Friday afternoon in Calloway Circuit Court. An Alford plea means the defendant does not admit guilt, but does agree the Commonwealth may have evidence to convict. During a pre-trial conference before Judge Dennis Foust, Brandon S. McManomy, 24, of Evansville, Ind., pleaded to two-counts of first-degree criminal abuse, unlawful imprisonment and violation of an out-of-state emergency protective-domestic order.

McManomy was sentenced to a total of 15 years in prison. McManomy was initially charged with first-degree rape, first-degree sodomy, kidnapping, first-degree assault and violation of an out-of-state domestic violence/emergency protective order for an alleged attack on a female student Aug. 31, 2010, on the MSU campus. He had previously pleaded not guilty of all charges.

During negotiations Friday between McManomy, his attorney Will Kautz of Paducah, and Commonwealth's Attorney Blankenship, Mark McManomy agreed to plead to amended charges, it was

According to Blankenship, the victim and her family had initially approved the 15-year sentencing agreement via text messaging when the offer was made during the negotiations. However, as Foust was accepting McManomy's plea, Blankenship told the court he had just received another text message from the victim that she wanted to withdraw her agreement and proceed with a

However, Blankenship did not negate the offer, citing the victim's previous approval shortly before, and the unlikelihood that the court would allow a reversal.

Blankenship said he thought 15 years was acceptable considering facts that had come to light in the case.

Lough went out into the community to the Chamber of Commerce, the Parks and Recreation Department, Murray Main Street, the Tourism Commission and others to ask about the best way to represent Murray. Lough, who has lived in the city for 14 years, said the project was an excellent learning experience for her. She says she hopes that people who have lived in Murray all their lives will appreciate the kit.

"My really greatest fear is that I've left out something that's important to someone. I know I have. I've tried not to. I've tried my very, very best to give a representation of our town," Lough

The sampler kit includes a sheet explaining the story behind the 10 blocks in the design.

The top center block is the shield of Murray, the date of the city's establishment and the courthouse clock tower.

"This (the clock tower) is the most recognizable to me, maybe the height of it, and it sort of brings you to the court square and represents Main Street and what they're trying to do with downtown," explained.

The center block features Murray State University symbols of the gates, Racer One and the president's home, Oakhurst. On either side of the top block are the logos for the two school systems, the Calloway County Lakers and the Murray Independent Tigers.

Other blocks feature churches, agriculture, the lakes, the arts, handicrafts, recreations, the Murray Woman's Club and local traditions such as Freedom Fest and "Stocky" the steer stat-

Lough included the symbols of the Calloway-County Chamber of Commerce, Murray Ledger & Times and Murray-Calloway County Hospital. She also added in a "V" inside a red

"The V stands for volunteers and the idea that our community has so many people that volunteer, whether they coach or tutor. Or all the service organizations, like Rotary or the Lions Club or the Humane Society,' said Lough. "I just think that (the V) groups what makes our community so special, everybody's spirit of volunteering.'

The sampler was designed by Barbara Bangser of Westport, Conn., one of two designers Lough works with. The other is her sister, Ceil Humphreys, of Orlando, Fla.

In addition to the Murray sampler kit, Red Bug will also sell larger versions of the Tigers and Lakers cross stitch blocks. Courtney says several samplers have already been reserved for sale. She said she hopes the kits will sell well as the Christmas season arrives.

"I think it will be good for people who live in Murray, and those who grew up here and moved away, or who went to school at Murray State, because they don't just remember things about the university, they remember the town too," Courtney said.

"When you do something that's related to history, you hope that it can become something very special to the family," said Lough.

Lough plans to give a portion of the proceeds from the sale of the kits to the Dr. Alice Koenecke Nutrition/Dietetics Scholarship fund. Koenecke was a chairwoman of the Home Economics Department of Murray State. She taught from 1969-1988. Koenecke died in Duncan said states will have six to seven weeks to apply for a waiver, and should have a response late this year or in early January.

Data released by the state Department of Education last year showed just more than half of Kentucky's public schools were meeting academic goals set by NCLB. Overall, 640 Kentucky public schools met 100 percent of their No Child Left Behind goals to achieve "adequate yearly progress" during the 2009-2010 academic year, and that 511 schools fell short, the data showed.

Under NCLB, schools and districts listed as failing risked losing federal funding along with other reprimands such as allowing parents to move their children to another school.

Obama emphasized that states seeking waivers need to show an effort in such categories as improving low-achieving schools and preparing students for college or the work force.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) + A 6-ton NASA satellite on a collision course with Earth clung to space Friday, apparently flipping position in its everlower orbit and stalling its death

The old research spacecraft was targeted to crash through the atmosphere sometime Friday night or early Saturday, putting Canada, Africa and Australia in the potential crosshairs, although most of the satellite should burn up during re-entry. The United States waspossible strike zone skirted morning, NASA said the sun Washington state.

"It just doesn't want to come said Jonathan down," McDowell of the Harvard-Smithsonian Center for Astrophysics.

McDowell said the satellite's delayed demise demonstrates how unreliable predictions can be. That said, "the best guess is that it will still splash in the ocean, just because there's more ocean out there."

Until Friday, increased solar activity was causing the atmosphere to expand and the 35-foot, bus-size satellite to free fall n't entirely out of the woods; the more quickly. But late Friday was no longer the major factor in the rate of descent and that the satellite's position, shape or both had changed by the time it slipped down to a 100-mile "In the last 24 hours, something has happened to the spacecraft," said NASA orbital debris scientist Mark Matney.

On Friday night, NASA said it expected the satellite to come crashing down between 11 p.m. and 3 a.m. EDT. It was going to be passing over the Atlantic, Pacific and Indian oceans at that time, as well as Canada, Africa and Australia.

"The risk to public safety is very remote," NASA said in a statement.

The Aerospace Corp., which tracks space debris, also estimated the strike would happen sometime between about 11 p.m. and 3 a.m. EDT, which would make a huge difference in where the debris falls. Its projections also put almost all of the U.S. in the clear — with Washington state the lone hold-

He said we have a reputation of what people think we are, but God knows our motives and the person we really are now and continually becoming.

Two bands to perform at WKCTC Wednesday

Special to the Ledger

PADUCAH, Ky. - The bands Thompson Square and Elowen will perform at West Kentucky Community & Technical College on Wednesday, Sept. 28.

Husband and wife duo Keifer and Shawna Thompson make up Thompson Square, which was nominated for the 2011 CMT Music Awards in The USA Weekend Breakthrough of the Year and Duo of the Year categories for their highly popular "Are You Gonna Kiss Me or Not" music video. The

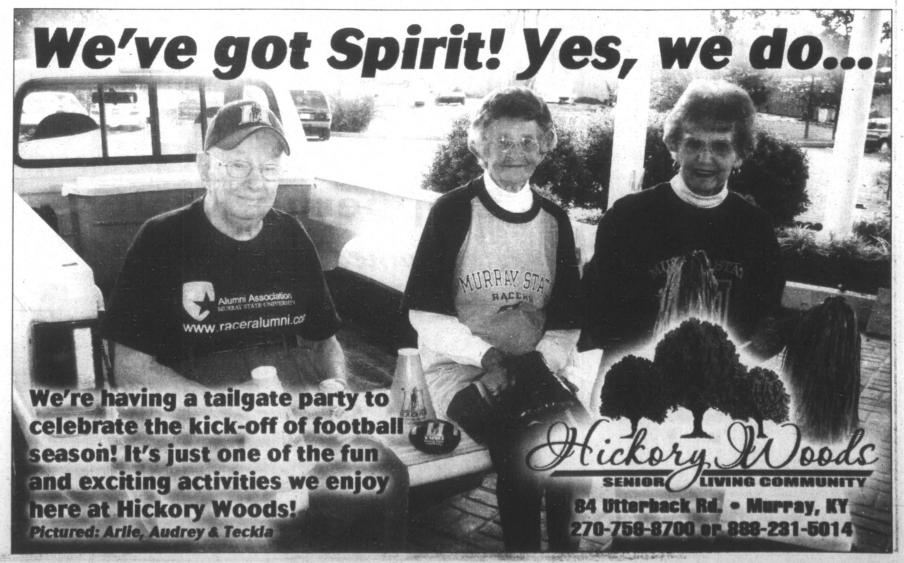

You," entered the video charts at No. 19 on both GAC's Top 20 Countdown and CMT's Top 20. The single, also gaining on the radio charts, recently reached No. 23 on both Billboard and MediaBase. For more information, visit www.thompsonsquare.com.

It certainly is the beginning of a new chapter for husband and wife, Josh and Nicole Johnson as they collaborate their passion and raw talent to form Elenowen after their national Thompson Square video, "I Got debut on NBC's hit television show, "The Voice." Hailing from Nashville, Tenn., Josh and Nicole pursued individual careers before forming the indie/pop duo that sings through the journeys of everyday life and the many battles it brings. Their music emphasizes heavy harmonies, raw acoustics, and ambient elements that combine to create a unique mood and sound that comes as an honest breath of fresh air in an overly manufactured music world. Elenowen's latest single, "Honey Come Home" recently hit No. 1 on the iTunes singer/songwriter chart, while their debut album, "Pulling Back the Veil" quickly rose to No. 2 on that same chart. In an industry hungry for something new, raw, and beautiful, Elenowen distinguishes itself as an up and coming act that completely and refreshingly satisfies its listener.

Demystifying small business survival

By CHRIS WOOLDRIDGE Small Business

Development Center As I work with clients who are prospective entrepreneurs, I am often asked what are the chances of survival in this business environment for their particular industry or chosen line of business. The tendency is to try to paint with wide strokes the "business world" suårvival potential and provide an easy answer. This is difficult to do, as a business is affected by the particular regional and local economy as well the management capabilities of business owner.

There some general statements that can be made regarding the trends of small business start-ups. Keep in mind that such statements include the range of businesses that have both high and low survival

The U.S. Small Business Administration reports based on the most recently available data. seven out of 10 small businesses remained in business after two years. Of those initial ten, approximately half remained open for business after five years. In other words, about half of all new small businesses survive at least five years.

From the Bureau of Labor Statistics we can glean some additional insight. By charting industries by their NAICS codes for a period of five years, it was determined that some industries had better survival rates than others. However, the survival rates did not vary much in terms of percentages. The lowest survival rates were for the information industry which had survival rates for two and four year periods of 63 percent and 38 percent, respectively. Education and Health Services held the highest survival rates for two and four years periods of 73 percent and 55 percent, respectively. These percentages account for a period pre-Great Recession so caution must be-used in reading too much into the data given the new normal in which we is useful to some degree, there is a local aspect that must be considered as well. That aspect is less analytically obtainable.

From my perspective the number one determining factor in survival is passion. If the entrepreneur doesn't believe in the business, have the drive to get out of bed to "get the job done" and provide service to the customer, all other aspects of operating a successful business are secondary. The business is likely to be managed poorly, leading to business closure.

The most important operational aspect of a business that must be understood and controlled to survive is cash flow. Cash flow is not net profit and business owners trying to learn how to manage cash flow must understand that principle first. It is the daily cash in and cash out. Cash flow is the every day life blood of the business.

Additionally, a business plan that is frequently updated is an integral part of a business owner's approach to operating a business. No planning is failure planning. Very few folks can 'wing it" in good times much less survive in tough times. How a business owner manages and operates his or her small business is at least as important to survival, if not more important, than what is happening nationally or even internationally.

Ask yourself if you would welcome a transitional home (housing 4-6 individuals recently released from incarceration) next door to your home. If you would have hesitation about accepting the transition home next door please consider helping us.

New Beginnings Transition Homes, Inc. (an organization with ties to Westside Baptist Church) is planning to open a transition home in our rural neighborhood on Crossland Road. While the purpose and goals of the home are just and honorable, we believe it should be located in an area appropriately zoned for a multi-person home of this type. We believe closer to a municipality with proximity to potential jobs, educational opportunities, transportation, counseling, assistance and supervision as needed might be more appropriate.

Since the county has no, or very limited, zoning laws that prohibits the establishment of such a facility we appeal to your sense of community and family. Please do the neighborly thing and give the concerns of our community consideration and help us preserve the dynamics of our rural community.

Bluegill on my mind

cious table fare and worth the effort of catching and cooking them. We seem to see the larger ones schooling in areas where there are willow flies which is a super treat for the bluegill. Many years ago the islands between Kenlake State Park and Cypress Creek were the attraction for all species of game fish because of the mitlions of mayflies which hatched at night along both sides of the lake. It was some of the best fun fishing ever for young anglers and tourists alike simply because one could catch big bluegill and shellcrackers every cast.

Now that the tornado winds have destroyed so much of the trees along the shorelines we have to look a little harder to spot the bluegill feeding. We can spend the time looking because it is worth the wait to locate the big bluegill.

We kept a bucket full of some of the largest bluegill, yet and they all landed in our freezers. We divided between us and had plenty for each.

I next fished with Ev Craig along the same shores and bays but to my dismay the water elevation had fallen almost two feet. That sure put the big bluegill we were looking for out on the main lake banks or shorelines and really hampered our success because we really had to travel and look for the schools which had moved out.

It was obvious we were not finding active fish but we continued to hunt and peck each bay and shoreline we could but the falling waters just put the whammy on us and we had to settle with just a few fish. I know Ev was as disappointed as I was but it couldn't be helped with the water falling. He doesn't know it yet but when I finish this I will contact Ev and Willie and set up a trip with both

The weather has cooled a lot so maybe we can get some more big bluegill and or shellcrackers as the water begins to cool down. Willie and his grandson, Ben, fished one morning and really found an area which was loaded with some very large bluegill. They knew exactly what to do and did it totaling out a bucket full close to the fifties.

The day was perfect and Ben really caught some big bluegill and shellcrackers to bring home. Hopefully in a couple of days I can get Willie and Ev Craig together and we can really smoke those big shellcrackers and bluegill well enough to have a big fish fry to remember!

Stay tuned! Happy Fishing!

There's a duck season going

Sure enough, there is a duck season open in the Commonwealth of Kentucky. It is the early Wood Duck and Teal sea-

In The Field By Kenny Darnell Outdoors Columnist

Whether the season is good or not depends on when the teal decide to blow through Kentucky on their way south. If the migration is timed just right, then the season could be good indeed. But Mr. Duck, Charlie McKenney is not convinced that there will be teal on the big lakes for the early season, having spent last weekend on the lake in preparation with-

of the small ducks.

But regardless of whether the ducks blow through or not, there is a waterfowl season taking place and it would be downright un-American to miss an opportunity to haul out the boat for a pre-dawn run across Kentucky Lake this weekend. Besides, it's on those adventures that I get the best material for this column.

September is the month to apply for the KDFWR deer and waterfowl hunts. There are several deer hunts scattered around the State on WMAs and State Park properties. Hunters have until the end of the month to apply. There are also waterfowl hunts at Ballard and the Sloughs that are reserved for the annual draw. The Ballard hunts have been getting better each year making them one of the most sought after draws. Check the KDFWR website or the Annual Hunting Guide for the available hunts and application information.

The Murray/Calloway County chapter of Ducks Unlimited held their annual sponsor out seeing so much as a hint appreciation dinner last Tuesday night under Charlie McKenney's carport. Charlie and Mary Linn fixed a scrumptious meal of fried fish with all the trimmings and a great time was had by all. Chuck Jones was recognized during the dinner for having completed his pledge as a Ducks Unlimited Major Donor and was honored with a plaque.

The Ducks Unlimited Annual Dinner will be held on November 5th this year at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Squire Road. The local chapter sponsors the dinner every year to raise money for wetlands conservation through Ducks Unlimited, and to bring outdoor enthusiasts of all types together for a night of fun and

Of course, the archery season for deer is still underway and hunters are looking forward to the prospect of cooler mornings. There have already been reports of some nice deer taken during the early days of the season. I've even heard of one or two that were still in velvet. Most of the bucks should be sporting polished antlers now, however.

Deer are becoming more visible as the days grow shorter and cooler which means more of the critters will be harvested with the family automobile in the coming weeks. Be especially careful when driving during early morning or late afternoon as this is when the deer are most active. If you see a deer on the side of the road, slow down. Many times there are more deer just waiting to run out and bend your fender.

Kentucky Afield Outdoors: Small Water Fishing

FRANKFORT, Ky. - The lower sections of many tributaries to the Kentucky River offer surprisingly good fishing, especially in fall. A good one to try before the weather chills is Six Mile Creek, a 14-mile tributary to the Kentucky River that is an easy drive from the Louisville or Lexington metropolitan areas.

Six Mile Creek rises in northeast Shelby County and flows in a north, northeast direction through Henry County. There's public access to Six Mile Creek at its mouth, in Lockport, Kentucky. Off KY 389, a concrete boat launching ramp offers a free launch and plenty of room to park.

The best fishing is in the lower two to three miles of the creek, depending on the river level. Six Mile Creek rapidly becomes shallow further upstream, even for canoes or kayaks. River backwater is the major influence on this flatwater stream, which is treecanopied and has little flow.

As you paddle upstream of the boat ramp, the remote character of the creek unfolds. Songbirds, deer, birds of prey and wild turkeys are frequently observed in the shoreline woods. Six Mile Creek flows through a wide valley, and is flanked by farm fields and wooded hills. An unimproved one-lane gravel road parallels the creek from Lockport to its junction with Ky. 573, passable only in trucks and SUVs with high clearance.

There are deadfalls and submerged logs in the lower end of the stream. The banks are predominately dirt, with short stretches of bedrock.

Boat traffic is minimal. Paddlers will infrequently encounter other anglers fishing from the banks, or anglers who motor up the creek from the boat ramp in john or bass boats.

The stream offers good fishing for different species at various times of the year.

In the late winter and early spring, sauger congregate around Lock and Dam No. 2, and are caught off the rock banks at the mouth of Six Mile Creek. Jigs, live minnows and crankbaits are top sauger lures.

Bass stage in the lower end of Six Mile Creek beginning in late February or early March, depending on water conditions. Anglers pitching and flipping jigs around wood cover and tree root wads are often rewarded with good catches of quality-sized bass.

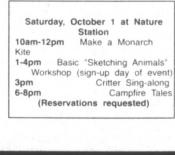

In the early summer, bass can be caught on spinnerbaits and small plastic baits, All three species of black bass can be taken, but the farther up the stream you paddle, the more likely the opportunity of catching a spotted or smallmouth bass.

Meeting To Nominate Second District Member FRANKFORT, Ky. - A meetlenberg, Ohio, Simpson, Todd, ing to nominate candidates for the Second District representative on the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Commission will be held at 7:30 p.m. (Central) Tuesday, Oct. 4, at Wayland Alexander Elementary School, 1250 Oakwood Drive, Hartford.

The Second Wildlife District includes Allen, Butler, Daviess, Hancock, Henderson, Hopkins, Logan, McLean, MuhUnion, Warren and Webster counties.

Residents of the Second Wildlife District who, for the past two consecutive years, have either: purchased a Kentucky hunting or fishing license; or hunted or fished in Kentucky, but were not required to purchase a license, may participate in the nomination process.

2011 DISTRICT LONE OAK'S QUICKNESS PROVES TOO MUCH FOR CALLOWAY COUNTY TO HANDLE

By GREG WADDELL Assistant Sports Editor

In a game of inches, sometimes a little bit of space can take do. you a mile. The Calloway County Lakers found out how true that could be Friday night as district foe Lone Oak overwhelmed them 56-28 in a game where not many passes flew further than 10 yards. For Lone Oak, they preferring to let their speed do the talking and talk it That'would be how Lone Oak opened the scoring, recording the first points of the night just two minutes in as a 54 yard screen pass from Cole Ousley to Derek Collier found its way to paydirt and from there it was all Purple Flash in the first half.

Throughout the game the screen pass would continue to be a nightmare for the Lakers as Lone Oak went to it again and again and again for big plays, most of which came on late down and long situations. Still, despite knowing exactly what Jack Haskins was planning Calloway County head coach Josh McKeel said stopping it was a different matter. With the speed and athleticism the Purple Flash possessed it was a tall task for the

"I've never seen a high school team run (the screen play) better," McKeel said. "Again, you're talking about great athletes and if you get great athletes the ball in space and then you attack them (you're in trouble). Tonight they were superior athletes. We've got kids that work hard and those things and are great kids and good football players but if you have a kid that runs a 4.5 and one that runs a 5.2 there's a difference. They run (the screen plays) very well and obviously it is very effective. Many of the games I've watched them, Marshall County and those things, that's what they

The Purple Flast attack would continue in the first quarter as Ousley hooked up with Tyrae Caldwell for an 81 yard score but the Lakers would get a chance to pull within one touchdown early in the second. After a long drive, Calloway found itself setting up shop on the Lone Oak one yard line but Greer's ensuing pass found the wrong jersey as a Purple Flash defender recorded the pick.

Less than 40 seconds later, the Lakers' misfortune would multipy as the screen play came back to bite them again, this time in the form of a 73 yard pass to Djuan Sherrill for the TD. Less than three minutes later, Ousley would toss another touchdown. this time on a 29 yard strike to Felix Colon.

The Lakers' would get a spark on the next drive though, as Jake Wrye fielded the ensuing kickoff on his own one yard line and raced up the center of the field for a 51 yard gain. A facemask penalty took Calloway another 15 yards and the Lakers were in business deep in Lone Oak terri-

After a long strike to Hunter Arnold out of the backfield, Greer would hook with Dannis Seay for a nine yard gain of his own but two straight incompletions would put the Lakers in a 4th down situation from the 12 yard line. Going for it, Greer rolled to his left before finding a wide open Josh Friedrich, who danced his way to a first down at the two yard line. One play later, Greer muscled his way into paydirt for the first Calloway touch-

Racer Sports in Brief

Racers rebound in regulation for 2-2 tie with Martin

Jillian Russell and Shauna Wicker each scored goals in the final 10 minutes, scoring within 3:30 of each other to eliminate a two goal deficit as Murray State rebounded to score a 2-2 draw with UT Martin Friday afternoon in the Ohio Valley Conference opener for each school at Cutchin Field. Russell's strike came at 82:50, collecting a ball in the left side of the box after an attempt from Jenelle Cunningham on the right side careened off the top of the left post. Her shot to the lower right corner of the net went past the UTM goalkeeper to cut the lead in half and give Russell her first goal of the season.

Wicker responded three and a half minutes later as the Racers were attacking deep in the Skyhawk's defensive zone. With the ball along the left end line, Russell connected on a perfect low cross to the far post where Wicker redirected with a header to the left side of the net for her team-leading third goal of the season.

UT Martin opened scoring in the 32nd minute as Dominika Conc rebounded a blocked save and shot a line drive to the upper right corner of the net.

The Skyhawks doubled their lead just after halftime. Rosaelia Loza took a pass in e middle of the box, fighting off a pair of defenders to turn and shoot into the lower right corner at 48:04.

The Racers out-shot Martin on the day, holding a 19-15 advantage. MSU carried momentum into the overtime sessions, taking six shots to UTM's two, including a three shot to zero mark in the second overtime peri-

Lauren Kelly entered in net for Murray State after halftime, earning the decision by making two saves on three attempts.

McKeel would use some trickeration on the ensuing kick-off though, as Garrett Schwettman planted an onside kick squarely into the Jack D. Rose field and the Lakers recovered.

Nothing would come of it though as a series of unsuccessful plays led to another Calloway County fourth down on the right side of the 50. This time they wouldn't be so successful in their conversion attempt as a scrambling Greer found what looked to be a wide-open Steven Treadaway behind the secondary. After lofting a beautiful ball over the Lone Oak defense backfield the only thing standing between Treadaway and the endzone was open field but after mishandling the pass the boys in blue and red turned the ball over on downs.

After two consecutive long Lone Oak touchdown passes were brought back on account of holding, the Purple Flash would finally punch one in from 15 yards out with 4:33 in the half.

The Lakers wouldn't score again until after the intermission when Arnold would get loose after breaking a couple tackles, scooting 74 yards for the score. Two more short scoring runs by Greer would help stop the bleeding but by then Lone Oak had done too much damage.

Still, McKeel said he was proud of the way his young men fought. He noted that his offense, which had a hiccup against Marshall County a week ago, had a good rebound performance.

"I thought we played well but we left points on the board in the first half with the interception on the one and the dropped touchdown on the scramble by Greer.," he said. "I thought that hurt us. That would have made it 28-14 and who knows with momentum but the one thing they did tonight is they competed. I'm not nearly as disappointed as I was last week because I thought that they competed tonight. When you compete against a superior football team sometimes you're going to get beat."

One player in particular, Hunter Arnold, had a good night as the senior back wracked up 106 yards and a score on just six carries. McKeel said his team's rushing attack was steady, despite a huge size advantage in the trenches.

"(The rushing attack) was a good," he said. "One of those (touchdowns) came late but they continued to fight. You look across Lone Oak's defensive front (and they're) 300, 280 and whatever. They have a huge size advantage but our offensive line competed. They fought and were able to put some yards together. It was a positive thing."

Lone Oak quarterback Cole Ousleydid the most damage for the visitors with 477 yards passing on the night with seven ouchdowns.

The teams traded 2-0 runs for the first four points, but then the Racers pulled ahead with a 5-0 run (7-2). The Golden Eagles (1-12, 0-3 OVC) kept fighting and with several small runs tied the set at 14. However, the Racers responded with a 4-0 run to take the lead for good. MSU then traded serves with TTU the rest of the set and earned the 25-20 win.

The second set was all Racers, as the team jumped ahead 8-2, with a 5-0 run. The Golden Eagles kept the core within striking distance until Sauer stepped back to the service line. Sauer started a 9-0 run to take a 20-7 advantage and despite two short run MSU kept control of the tempo and earned the 25-15 win heading into the intermission.

The final set was all MSU. The Racers pushed ahead early with small runs, but a 7-0 run with junior Molly Goodrich serving sealed the set and match win. MSU kept pushing and earned the 25-10 win.

The Racers had clear advantages in almost all statistical categories, especially in hitting percentage. MSU hit .243 (46k-18e-115ta) to the Golden Eagles .020 (20k-18e-100ta).

The Racers will be in action again Saturday, Sep. 24 at 2 p.m. when they host Jacksonville State in Racer Arena.

Notes: Sophomore Casey Bucher added a career-best .417 (5k-0e-12ta) hitting percentage...head coach David Schwepker now needs two more win in conference play to record his 125th OVC victory while at the helm of MSU...he also needs four more overall wins for his 200th career win.

This third one will cause us to use up our savings, increase our child care responsibilities and take us into our 80s to continue helping. Is it wrong to feel used? I am very depressed over this. OVERWHELMED IN SAN

DEAR OVERWHELMED: Your depression is understandable If you don't draw the line now by telling your daughter you can't handle baby-sitting three small children and this wasn't part of the bargain, she may hand you a fourth or fifth to take care of. You should not sacrifice your retirement savings in order to finance your grandchildren's education. There are other options than your paying for it. The responsibilities you have assumed were not yours in the first place. If you don't insist your daughter and son-in-law stand on their own two feet, you will wind up old, broke, and living on Social Security with nothing to supplement it because your savings will be gone

DEAR ABBY: My fiance, "Johnny," and I have been together for four years and engaged for 16 months. Our wedding is in a few months. Until recently, Johnny didn't have access to a car. That means for the past four years I have done all the driving, including visiting him at school two hours from my home every three to

It didn't bother me because it was out of Johnny's control; his money went to pay for his education. However, because he has a car now, I feel it's reasonable to ask that he do most -- though not all -- of the driving. We live in the same town now and our homes are a mile apart.

Johnny seems to take offense the suggestion and acts as if I am "punishing" him. I'm not, but I'm tired of driving all the time and would like a break now that he can give me one. What do you think? -- AT THE WHEEL AGAINST MY WILL

DEAR AT THE WHEEL: Johnny has grown accustomed to, and spoiled by, the chauffeur service you have provided. That he should assume responsibility for his share of the driving now that he has a car of his own is not an onerous request.

Although you have been together four years, the two of you need to have a talk and work this out. And because you have been apart for the years he has been in school, I also recommend that you schedule premarital counseling before the wedding -- in case there are any other "differences of opinion" that need to be worked

Bidding farewell to readers

DEAR READERS: 1 began writing medical columns for my local weekly paper in 1967, the stems from the fact that

I admit I'm

human.

I write that our feathers are fluffed and our heads swell if we walk into an office waiting room full of patients who have to wait to be seen. I indicated in writing once that if a patient was made to wait more than 45 minutes to see a physician who doesn't explain the justifiable delay, the doctor should be sent a bill for the wait time. Still today, I believe these "qualities" apply to far too many physicians. After all, as a member of "the club," I feel if I can't poke fun at my profession, nobody can. I'm not afraid to speak out.

After reading some of my columns a number of years ago, the executive director of the Dutchess County, N.Y., Medical Society approached the president of my county's medical society because he was outraged by my "attacks" on the profession. My, how the fur did fly! The society wanted me censured. They then found, to their dismay, I was a past president of my county's soci-

Because of all the hoopla, I was interviewed on radio, television and in newspapers. Unknowingly, I became a celebrity overnight. In retrospect, I thank those critics because I was approached by Newspaper Enterprise Association in April 1984 to become its new medical columnist, replacing Dr. Lawrence Lamb, a heart specialist. What a good move! I became syndicated, appearing in more than 700 newspapers nationwide, as well as in several foreign countries. I began receiving about 2,500 pieces of mail every week. To this day I can't thank my syndicate enough for its continued support and encouragement.

Soft

I've seen many changes in medicine over the years. Research remains ongoing on almost every condition known to mankind and offers new treatments and even some cures. New medications are constantly being introduced and investigated -- some that appear to be nothing short of a miracle, others that may have unwanted long-range side effects that aren't always promising in the overall scheme of things.

Looking back, I had a demanding practice. I was medical director of two private schools, town sanitarian, made daily house calls, was on call at my local hospital every third night and weekend yearround -- and put pen to paper for a seven-day-a-week column. I wrote several books. Surprisingly enough, I loved every minute of it and still treasure the memory of those patients I was allowed and privileged to care for.

I prided myself on being a technophobe and dug in my heels when it came to learning about computers. But change is inevitable. The economic climate is different. Newspapers have gone digital, and one click of a mouse button will update a reader to the top events of the day. I wanted to be a part of that world, too. So, in 2010, I expanded my horizons by having an honest-togoodness website, www.AskDr-GottMD.com. This was no small task, but I can now reach readers with a click of a button.

Change has struck again, and now it's time to say farewell to my newspaper syndicate family.

Dear Readers: Joleen V. of Keizer, Ore., sent a picture of her adorable Shih Tzu, Cuddles, who is 5 years old and a bit tired after playing with her new birthday toy, a stuffed cupcake. To see Cuddles and our other Pet Pals, go to www.Heloise.com and click on "Pets." -- Heloise

DRY TOWELS Dear Heloise: I use a standing tree-style coat rack in my guest bathroom for overnight guests and their towels. Long ago, I sewed loops on my towels at the middle, along their lengths, for when I use them at the gym. These loops will ensure that the towels don't hit the floor, and they will air out more quickly. -- Laura G., Springfield, Mo. HELP!

Dear Heloise: Almost all men think your column is only for women. Wake up, guys! I've been reading the paper for many years. I am 57 years old and married. I do the shopping, cleaning, cooking, etc. I've learned so much from your columns! Just a sample: Years ago, I had trouble opening the plastic bags in the produce section. Your column said, "Lick your fingers." Same can be done with trash bags.

Start reading the column, guys.

You know, if you help your wives in the house, then Heloise Hints will make it a lot easier on you. Your wife will be surprised at your knowledge! -- John S. from

Thanks for the endorsement, John. However, a lot of my readers are male! Lifestyle helpful hints are genderless. -- Heloise SAFETY FIRST

Dear Heloise: When backing out of a parking lot, it is not always possible to see clearly oncoming traffic because of the car next to you. I touch the emergency flashing-light button and slowly ease my way out. It is the best warning signal you can give.

-- Dick in Rogers, Ark. POTTED-PLANT PROBLEM

Dear Heloise: Have a pot with a hole in the bottom that causes dirt to fall through? Use mesh drywall tape. It keeps dirt in, and water can pass through. For larger holes, crisscross two pieces.

Carol in San Antonio Send a money-saving or timesaving hint to Heloise, P.O. Box 795000, San Antonio, TX 78279-5000, or you can fax it to 1-210-HELOISE or email it to Heloise(at)Heloise.com. I can't answer your letter personally but will use the best hints received in my column

Horoscope

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Monday, Sept. 26, 2011: This year, you will witness many changes in your life. Some of which you won't be comfortable with; others you might like. You will choose to spend a lot of time by yourself, more so than usual. Use this time to rest, digest what is happening and internalize it. If you are single, check out anyone you meet with care. Someone could be different from the person he or she portrays. If you are attached, you might take more of a back seat than in the past. Your sweetie might not understand why a new you is emerging. Share more. VIRGO reads you cold.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)  All work and no play can be debilitating, yet it is Monday. You must deliver professionally or within your immediate circle. Pace yourself; make lists.

Demonstrate just how efficient you can be when you try. TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

* Allow your creativity to flourish. Stop feeding undeveloped ideas to others who could be judgmental. You are asking for negative feedback. When you are ready, encourage greater give-and-take. Listen and share more. Others appear to be unusually receptive. GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

 Getting out the front door could be a major effort. You really would like to stay home. Who could blame you? If you can get enough done playing the recluse, then why not? Otherwise, know that this, too, will pass.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)  Speak your mind, but understand that not everyone wants to hear your conclusions. You might feel frustrated as you hit a brick wall. Use this moment to experiment with other styles of communicating. You want your points heard, don't you?

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)  Keep your eye on your budget, whether deciding to bring treats in to work or buy a gift (even for you!). It is so easy to overspend and justify it. Keep your eye on increasing funds rather than depleting them. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

* Allow greater giveand-take between you and others. Someone in your daily life -it might even be at work -- could stress you out. There is an misunderstanding implicit between the two of you. Consider clearing it up soon. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

★★★ You simply aren't willing to discuss everything that is on your mind. Make that OK, though a child or loved one knows something is going on. This person might try to pry you open. Enjoy the attention rather than get annoved. SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

* Zero in on what you want. There could be some confusion about a work, health or day-to-day matter. You haven't received a clear message, and you aren't giving one either. If you see confusion, step in and

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec.

 Take a stand and move forward in handling a careerrelated or key personal matter.

Others will intuitively follow you rather than question you. You might want to add to the moment, making what you desire possible.

by Jacqueline Bigar

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)  Keep reaching out for someone at a distance. This person could be an expert or someone who often tosses a different perspective on situations. Be careful with financial commitments AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)  A partner or friend pulls in close and has a lot to share. You might have a mild sense of uneasiness with this person because he or she is so different from you. Still, he or she has a lot to offer. PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)  Defer to others and maintain a sense of independence. Several friends, family and loved ones express their desires, each with a different, implicit agenda! You might be happiest doing your own thing. BORN TODAY Tennis champ Serena Williams (1981), singer Olivia Newton-
