American Legion Post 73 schedules weekend events to honor veterans

Special to the Ledger

American Legion Post 73 Bill Lauffer Post of Murray has scheduled events to honor veterans and members of the community who have helped further veterans' causes.

Cecil Cowsert, commander of Post 73, has announced that activities are scheduled for both Sunday and Monday at the Post 73 hall off North Fourth Street.

"On Sunday afternoon, from 1:30-3 p.m., we plan to have a reception honoring veterans from all of the branches of our armed force. We will have a cake cutting ceremony to recognize the oldest and youngest member present from each of the five branches of our military," Cowsert said, adding that Post 73 plans to recognize members of the community who have significantly supported veterans' causes at this time.

On Monday, Post 73 will present a ceremony honoring veter-

"The armistice to end World War I was signed at the 11th hour on the 11th day of the 11th month and that is the exact time our Veterans Day ceremony will commence," Cowsert said, adding that the ceremony will be followed by the presentation of the Veterans of the Year awards and a light lunch. The event is open to "anyone who simply wants to honor veterans."

Post 73 is located at 310 Bee Creek Drive, off North Fourth Street, just past Fortner Gas. For more information, call Cowsert at 436-2172 or 519-8375.

Students to host 'Stand Up for a Cause" to benefit CASA

By SHERRY McCLAIN

MSU Print Media

Students in the youth and nonprofit leadership program (YNL) at Murray State University will host a night of comedy, art, poetry and music, "Stand Up for a Cause," on Monday, Nov. 18, at 7 p.m. in the Stables, located on the first floor of the Curris Center on campus.

The event is part of a classroom project led by Dr. Roger Weis, assistant dean of the college of health sciences and human services, and is designed to raise awareness of neglected and abused children in the area and the assistance that CASA by the Lakes offers. Located in the 42nd Judicial District of Kentucky, Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) by the Lakes is a nonprofit organization that recruits, trains and supports quality volunteers whose mission is to

Need Line prepares for relocation Moving process to limit services at current location

Need Line Director Tonia Casey said on Friday morning the final preparations are being made before the big move to the Arcadia Drive/Eighth Street location. The near-4,000 squarefoot addition to the existing structure is complete with a drivethrough awning and two loading docks for supply trucks.

By EDWARD MARLOWE Staff Writer

t approximately 5 p.m. Thursday, Need Line Director Tonia Casey received long-awaited words for the program - confirmation of ownership for the new facility located on the corner of Eighth Street and Arcadia Drive.

The news allows Casey and her volunteers to begin the transfer from the original South Fourth Street to the new facility, which she said is providing nearly 3,000 additional square feet (and 6,000 total square feet) of workspace and storage for servicing clients and preparing foodstuffs for the needy.

The new food bank is complete with renovated offices, a drive-through and awning to shelter volunteers, donors and recipients of goods from the elements and two loading docks for trailers. Casey said a hydraulic lift is also in the White House tries to combat health care law rollout woes

By JULIE PACE AP White House Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) - Bowing to intense criticism, President Barack Obama apologized to Americans who are losing health insurance plans he repeatedly said they could keep and pledged to find fixes that might allow people to keep their cover-

"I am sorry that they are finding themselves in this situation based on assurances they got from me," he said in an interview Thursday with NBC News.

He added: "We've got to work hard to make sure that they know we hear them, and we are going to do everything we can to deal with folks who find themselves in a tough position as a consequence of this."

Officials said the president was referring to fixes his administration could make on its

The president's apology comes as the White House tries to combat a cascade of troubles surrounding the rollout of the health care law, often referred to as

The HealthCare.gov website that was supposed to be an easy portal for Americans to purchase insurance has been hobbled by technical issues. And with at least 3.5 million Americans receiving cancellation notices from their insurance companies; there's new scrutiny aimed at the way the president tried to sell the law to the public in the first place.

Obama stopped short in Thursday's interiew of apologizing for telling Americans they would be able to keep their insurance plans if they liked them - a promise he has made repeatedly since the law was enacted. But he did take broader responsibility for the health care woes than in his previous comments about the flawed rollout, declaring that if the law isn't working, "it's my job to get it fixed."

When you've got a health care rollout that is as important to the country and to me as this is and it doesn't work like a charm, that's my fault," he said.

Some Republicans, who remain fierce opponents of the law three years after it won congressional approval, appeared unmoved by Obama's mea

"If the president is truly sorry for breaking his promises to the American people, he'll do more than just issue a halfhearted on TV," apology Senate Minority Leader Mitch McConnell, R-Ky., said in a statement.

In recent days, focus has intensified on the president's promise that Americans who liked their insurance coverage would be able to keep it. He repeated the line often, both as the bill was being debated in Congress and after it was signed into law.

But the health care law itself made that promise almost impossible to keep. It mandated that insurance coverage must meet certain standards and that policies falling short of those standards would no longer be valid except through a grandfathering process, meaning some policies were always expected to disappear.

The White House says under those guidelines, fewer than 5 percent of Americans will have to change their coverage. But in a nation of more than 300 million people, 5 percent is about 15 million people.

Officials argue that those forced to change plans will end up with better coverage and that subsidies offered by the government will help offset any increased costs.

"We weren't as clear as we needed to be in terms of the changes that were taking place," Obama told NBC. "And I want to do everything we can to make sure that people are finding themselves in a good position, a better position than they were before this law happened."

The president's critics have accused him of misleading the public about changes that were coming under the law, which remains unpopular with many

Obama dismissed those accusations, saying the White House was operating in "good faith." He acknowledged that the administration "didn't do a good enough job in terms of how we crafted the law" but did not specify what changes his administration might make.

The White House has not formally taken a position on a variety of proposals from Congress to address issues that have arisen since the insurance sign-ups launched on Oct. 1.

Sen. Mary Landrieu, D-La., has proposed requiring insurance companies to reinstate canceled plans, and Sen. Joe Manchin, D-W.Va., is supporting a measure to delay for a year the penalties for going without insurance. Another Democrat, Sen. Jeanne Shaheen of New Hampshire, is asking Obama to extend the open enrollment period for insurance exchanges because of the widespread problems with the website

On Wednesday, Obama met at the White House with Senate Democrats facing re-election next year to try to ease their concerns about the impact the rough health care rollout might have on their races. Many senators in the meeting asked for the enrollment period to be extended beyond the March 31 end point, but the White House said it doesn't think that will be nec-

"Keep in mind that the open enrollment period, the period during which you can buy health insurance is available all the way until March 31," Obama said. "And we're only five weeks into it."

"We must continue to fight for the children of our area who face abuse and neglect," said Isbell. "We hope everyone will join us as we stand up for this cause on Nov. 18 in the Curris Center. With just a few of us joining together, we'll make a big difference for the hundreds of kids who need help every year."

In addition to this event, YNL students have launched the "$541 Challenge" to raise $541 for CASA by the Lakes. The students are seeking individuals and businesses that would join with them in pledging $541 to help abused and neglected children throughout Marshall and Calloway counties. Donations of any amount can be made at the "Stand Up for a Cause" event, online at www.541challenge.com, or by calling Isbell at (618) 889-9148.

"Last year, our area had 541 children who were abused and neglected who could have been assisted by CASA. However, due to a lack of funding, our local CASA organization was only able to help 20 percent of those children. We can do better and we hope the community will join us to raise the much-needed funds for CASA by the Lakes," Rebecca Wylie, MSU junior, explained.

currently available in the area.

Available online at www.surveymonkey.com/s/calloway healthsurvey or by physical copy at numerous businesses, Aaron Dail, president/CEO for the Murray-Calloway County Chamber of Commerce, said getting input from community members is crucial, as the results of the findings will help form action plans based on perceived weaknesses in the community.

"Chamber-wise, we want to connect businesses and industry to help understand the health needs and wants of workers," Dail said. "We want to target and push, getting as many people as we can to fill this out."

The survey is filled out anonymously, as the questions range from demographic information to "select the top three health issues you feel must be addressed in Calloway County."

Several questions, such as "select the top three risks in Calloway County that might impact health," also allow applicants to specify in detail about their concerns.

One of world's strongest storms hits Philippines

MANILA, Philippines (AP) -One of the strongest storms on record slammed into the central Philippines on Friday, killing at least four people, forcing hundreds of thousands from their homes and knocking out power and communications in several provinces. But the nation appeared to avoid a major disaster because the rapidly moving typhoon blew away before wreaking more damage, officials said.

Typhoon Haiyan raced across a string of islands from east to west Samar, Leyte, Cebu and Panay and lashed beach communities. Nearly 750,000 people were forced to flee their homes.

Weather officials said Haiyan had sustained winds of 235 kph (147 mph) with gusts of 275 kph (170 mph) when it made landfall. By those measurements, Haiyan would be comparable to a strong Category 4 hurricane in the U.S., knocking on the door of the top category, a 5.

Hurricanes, cyclones and typhoons are the same thing. They are just called different names in different parts of the world.

Because of cut-off communications in the Philippines, it was impossible to know the full extent of casualties and damage. At least two people were electrocuted in storm-related accidents, one person was killed by a fallen tree and another was struck by lightning, official reports said.

Southern Leyte Gov. Roger Mercado said the typhoon triggered landslides that blocked roads, uprooted trees and ripped roofs off houses around his resi-

"When you're faced with such a scenario, you can only pray, and pray and pray," Mercado told The Associated Press by telephone. adding that mayors in the province had not called in to report any major damage.

"I hope that means they were spared and not the other way around," he said. "My worst fearis there will be massive loss of lives and property."

Eduardo del Rosario, head of the disaster response agency, said a powerful typhoon that also hit the central Philippines in 1990 killed 508 people and left 246 missing, but this time authorities had ordered pre-emptive evacuation and other measures to minimize casualties.

He said the speed at which the typhoon sliced through the central islands - 40 kph (25 mph) helped prevent its 600-kilometer (375-mile) band of rain clouds from dumping enough of their load to overflow waterways. Flooding from heavy rains is often the main cause of deaths from typhoons.

"It has helped that the typhoon blew very fast in terms of preventing lots of casualties," regional military commander Lt. Gen. Roy Deveraturda said. He said the massive evacuation of villagers before the storm also saved many works to help volunteers unload bulk freight.

The relocation is being made possible through a $500,000 federal block grant - funds Casey said she was made aware of through discussions with County Judge-Executive Larry Elkins nearly two years ago.

With the funds, Casey said she was able to contract Riley Architecture Services out of Mayfield and Clark complete the structure, and she commended both Elkins and the contractors for a smooth start to the transfer process.

Targeting the first week of December to be open in the new location, Casey said Need Line will begin the shutdown process immediately, effective as of Nov. 11 for Veteran's Day. Casey said all volunteers will have the holiday off before coming in Tuesday morning to begin the move.

"It's going to be a long process because we still have stuff to box and shelving that's being donated that still has to be installed," Casey said. "I'd like to move the front part of our old warehouse next week, but a lot of that is going to depend on when my volunteers are able to help.'

Limited services will remain at the old Need Line location, Casey said, as the trailers with senior feeding program supplies will arrive on Nov. 19. Casey said volunteers will be putting those packages together on Nov. 20 and all staff will be on hand to deliver goods to seniors on Casey also said minimal services will be available Nov. 25-2/ at the old location, as volunteers will be signing people up for Christmas boxes and preparing them for the holiday season.

Anyone interested in applying for Christmas assistance is encouraged to bring proof of income and residency during this time, as Casev said the files and records will have already been moved to the new facility.

During the shutdown, Casey said a number of non-profits and churches are providing feeding services and warming stations while Need Line works to get up and running next month.

Carolyn M. Jacob

Carolyn M. Jacob, 80, passed away Thursday, Oct. 31, 2013, in Oklahoma City, Okla. She was born to the late Noel and Ruby Melugin on Sept. 19, 1933, in Murray, Ky. Carolyn's uncle on her mother's side is Gillard "Popeye" Ross. Carolyn graduated from Murray High School in 1951 and continued her advanced education at Murray State University. She was a member of the John Henry Slumber Club and was the waterfront director of the Girl Scouts Summer Camp.

After college, she moved to Dallas, Texas, where she worked first at Braniff Airlines and then at Texas Instruments. She married George Phil Harney in 1955 and they lived together in Dallas before moving to Atlanta, Ga. They transferred to Oklahoma City, Okla., in 1966. Carolyn was a Special Education teacher at Putnam City West High School and then continued her career in counseling, having received her second master's degree from the University of Central Oklahoma. Carolyn was passionate about making a difference in the lives of her students and continued to get notes and cards from them well after she retired in 1995.

When Carolyn's children were younger, she was a den mother for the Boy Scouts and a Troop Leader for the Campfire Girls. She was an active member of the Garden Club at Nichols Hills Baptist Church. Carolyn was a member of the PTA at D.D. Kirkland Elementary School and often made the costumes for the musicals and plays for the children's performances.

In 1982, Carolyn married Loren E. Jacob and they had many wonderful years traveling together and enjoying life. They bought a sailboat and sailed Lake Hefner together and also visited Carolyn's brother in Florida where they sailed on the open seas. After Loren passed in 1989, Carolyn continued her travels with several of her best friends. Among the many and varied locations, they traveled to Costa Rica, Africa, Russia, England, Hungary and Turkey. She climbed Machu Picchu twice while in her early 70s and even went to Rome with her friends where they shirked the tour guide and rented a car and drove all over the country.

Carolyn was a member of the Panoramic Book Club at Twin Hills and the Town Hall at St. Luke's Church. She was an avid sailor and a member at the Oklahoma City Boat Club. She was the entertainment chairman at OCBC for many years. She sailed in the Lady of the Lake and hosted a few of the out-of-town racers that would come for sailing events. She participated in the Wednesday Night Races and many regattas and always looked forward to all of the events, especially the OCBC Annual Banquet and Splash Day. She played Mahjong most Tuesday evenings and met with her teacher friends every Thursday evening for lively and spirited conversation. She enjoyed gazing up at the night sky, basking in sunsets, and watching the birds in her back yard.

Carolyn is survived by her sons, Phil L. Harney and Jason C. Harney and wife, Katherine H. Harney, and a daughter, Jill Jones and husband, Steele Jones. Carolyn has five grandchildren, Stephen N. Harney, Austin L. Harney, Ruby A. Harney, Sierra N. Harney and Cimmaron C. Harney.

Carolyn had an extraordinary sense of humor and a light shone from her that would brighten even the darkest day. She was adventurous, tenacious, graceful, determined, practical and forgiving. We have all been so blessed to have such a woman in our lives as a spiritual guide, a mentor, a teacher, a friend, a counselor, an advocate, and most important of all, a mother.

A memorial service will be held at The Oklahoma City Boat Club at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Nov. 9, 2013, located on the East Side of Lake Hefner: 9101 Lake Hefner Pkwy., Oklahoma City, (405) 751-8409. In lieu of flowers, you may donate to the American Leukemia Society, to which Carolyn gave yearly, or you may simply choose to enjoy the sunset and the night sky and think of Carolyn.

Group study to examine education funding

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) - A group representing nearly all of Kentucky's school districts is planning a study that could show lawmakers that school funding needs to be restored.

The Lexington Herald-Leader reports the Council for Better Education is raising money for the $130,000 study, which could begin Dec. 1.

Council president Tom Shelton says the study would design an equitable and adequate funding system to allow all students to become college- and career-ready.

The SEEK program, the primary source of money for school districts, has remained flat while schools have seen increases in the number of students and average daily attendance figures. That caused the amount of funding per student to slip from $3,866 in 2009 to $3,827 this year.

Flexible focus funds — which include textbooks, preschool and staff development — also have dropped.

RYLA students to be recognized

Special to the Ledger

Murray State University will honor student participants in Regional MSU's Youth Leadership Academy (RYLA) at halftime of the Saturday, Nov. 9, football game between the Racers and the Eastern Illinois Panthers.

Before being recognized at the football game, the students and their parents or guardians will participate in an interactive tour of campus. They will also see college-level Project Citizen presentations while visiting the Lowry Center. The 9th-grade students began the program in their 8th-grade year.

The new program unites emerging young leaders from across the 18-county MSU service region. Two applicants from each applying district were chosen as team leaders. Those student leaders selected their teammates to help them with the project. The students have participated in field trips across the region to learn more about what is unique and important about southwestern Kentucky and how they can unite to represent the region.

Each of the student teams will present a Project Citizen for the final exhibition in the summer of 2014. The winning team will receive a prize pack including two iPads. The student leaders graduate from the program with better problem solving, teamwork, critical thinking, public speaking and conflict management skills.

For more information about the 2014-15 applications and other details about the RYLA program, murraystate.edu/outreach and click on the Regional Youth Leadership Academy link.

JAMES HUNSLEY / The Northwest Times Valpo's Clay Yeo tries to pass around Murray State's Zay Henderson during the Racers 77-74 loss to the Crusaders Friday night on the road.

Racers fall in opener at Valparaiso

By RICKY MARTIN Sports Editor

VALPARAISO, Ind. Steve Prohm was more encouraged than discouraged Friday night.

So is everyone else, it seems. The Racers trailed by as many as 12 points during the second half Friday night at Valparaiso, then watched a late rally come up short, falling to the Crusaders 77-74.

"I'm encouraged and I'm excited," Prohm said in his postgame radio comments. "It was a great atmosphere here tonight. We are down 10, down 12 in the second half and we wouldn't give in, we staved resilient and had a great chance to win."

The Racers trailed by two with 8.3 seconds left, when Valpo's LaVonte Dority knocked in a tough layup in traffic to push the Crusaders ahead four.

Dority's bucket would help provide the final score, but Prohm said he felt like the end of the first half was really the difference in the game.

Murray State led by two entering the final media timeout, but Valpo closed the half on a 10-3 run, carrying a 38-31 lead into halftime.

"I think we lost the game in the last three minutes of the first half," Prohm said. "We were up two with around three minutes left to play, and then we made a couple of turnovers that led to easy baskets for them. They hurt us on the offensive glass, and that proved to be the difference those last three minutes.

"We made some tough plays to get back in the game, but we got out-toughed in a couple of big possessions that put us in a big hole."

Freshman Cameron Payne led all scorers with 21, while senior Dexter Fields and sophomore Tyler Rambo added 12. Jarvis Williams scored 11 points and had seven rebounds, while Jeffery Moss struggled from the field in a nine-point, eightrebound performance.

Valpo's size advantage led to a 44-35 edge on the glass, and the Crusaders out-rebounded the Racers by eight in the first half alone.

Free throws also plagued Murray State.

The Racers were 17-of-23 from the charity stripe in the second half, but still only managed to shoot 69 percent from the line on the night.

"I bet four of those six misses in the second half came in the last two minutes, by guys that I would love to be on that line," Prohm said.

The Lakers had multiple chances to put points on the board and take control of the game but their missed opportunities and mental miscues cost them a chance at playing another game.

Calloway County's Thad McPherson stiff arms a Warren East defender after catching a screen pass from quarterback Trace Weatherly Friday night in the Lakers 21-0 loss to the Raiders in the opening round of Kentucky's Class 4A state playoffs.

Head coach Brad Lawson needed a spark to ignite his offense and his Lakers seemed to find it after recovering the onside kick and driving to the Raider five yard line.

They were helped by a Warren defensive pass interference call but again the Lakers couldn't capitalize. After getting in a long fourth down situation, quarterback Cole Stetson completed a tipped pass to a diving Jacob Friedrich but he fell short of the first down.

The Raiders again took advantage, driving 95 yards in 5:03 seconds and finished it off with a fourth down touchdown pass from four yards out to extend their lead to 14-0.

Calloway looked to cut the score in half after Thad McPherson returned the kickoff to the house but a holding penalty brought the ball back and an unsportsmanlike penalty from the Laker bench put the ball at their own 25 yard line.

They would go for a fake punt but McPherson was brought down behind the line.

TIGERS WIN OPENING ROUND. FOUR WINS AWAY FROM TITLE

> By LEXY GROSS Sports Writer

Head coach Steve Duncan knows everything will taste sweeter to the Tigers this week.

A 38-12 win against Butler County Friday night advanced Murray High to the second round of the Kentucky Class 2A state playoffs.

"We just take it one week at a time," Duncan said. "About 96 teams won, and about that many went home. They'll be turning in their equipment."

The Tiger offense dominated with nearly 38 minutes of possession, compared to Butler's 10. The Bears struggled to complete passes, which Murray's defense took advantage of for several interceptions and six total turnovers. Good field position from the defensive takeaways primed the Tiger offense for several of their 38 points.

Senior quarterback Dylan Boone said the offense needs to continue to execute well in the red zone next week against Owensboro Catholic, the next step in the team's quest for a state championship.

"We completed step one, now we've got four more to get down," Boone said.

Kirby knocked down four of her six, 3-point attempts and finished 10-for-15 from the floor, leading Murray State past Robert Morris-Springfield 101-

"I just was feeling it tonight," Kirby said after a game-high 25 points. "I've been shooting it before practice all week, so I was just feeling it tonight.

"I really don't notice how deep I am, I just shoot while I'm going with the flow, so I really never look down."

And Cross, for one, is glad she doesn't.

"I'm a firm believer that you shoot in your range, and for some reason she's better off shooting the ball deeper, shooting the ball wherever she thinks she's open," he said. "I have no qualms with her letting go of it, that's one of the things we are going have to kind of live and die by with this team. "I think we are going to be a very, very good perimeter shooting team, as long as we are relaxed and feel free to shoot the ball. I don't want any secondguessing by players on offense, I want them to play and have some freedom.

Friday's win marked the second-straight time the Racers have eclipsed the century mark this season, following up a 103-59 exhibition win over Berea last Sunday with a 57-point win over the Eagles.

The Racers also put six players in double-figures in both

COLLEGE BASKETBALL: KENTUCKY 89, UNC-ASHEVILLE 57

No. 1 Kentucky routs UNC-Asheville

By GARY B. GRAVES AP Sports Writer

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) -For one half, Kentucky looked little like the nation's No. 1 team because the Wildcats' freshmen resembled the rookies they were.

Julius Randle made sure the Wildcats and his much-heralded fellow freshmen lived up to their billing in the final 20 minutes.

Randle scored 15 of his gamehigh 23 points in the second half to lead five Kentucky players in double figures and help the topranked Wildcats' highly touted freshman class debut successfully with an 89-57 season-opening rout of UNC-Asheville on Friday

Randle, a 6-foot-9 forward considered the best of Kentucky's six high school All-American recruits in an eight-man group some are calling the best ever, also grabbed 15 rebounds.

While his effort offered a peek at his potential, Randle's focus was on helping the Wildcats development

'We're getting better every game, but we still have a long way to go," Randle said. "We're nowhere near where we should be, but I think as the intensity and the competition keeps going up, I think we'll have guys rise to the challenge.

Despite Randle's third doubledouble following two in exhibition games, Wildcats coach John Calipari suggested that he could have had at least five more rebounds with continued intensity. That's not saying he disliked the results

"When he's going after it and he's getting the ball by people and getting that third and fourth play around the goal, there's no one better," Calipari said.

Reserve sophomore forward Alex Poythress added 10 points and 13 rebounds. Reserve Marcus Lee added 17 points, James Young had 11 and Aaron Harrison 10 as Kentucky's freshmen helped the Wildcats overcome a ragged start.

Poythress' performance was impressive after a rocky freshman season that began strong but finished inconsistently. That struggle factored into his decision to pass on entering the NBA Draft to return for more experi-

The Wildcats converted 30 of 48 free throws, compared to 10 of just 21 attempts for the Bulldogs. Randle's 11-of-13 shooting

His solid play at the point couldn't prevent Kentucky's uneven first-half play as the Wildcats shot just 11 of 29 from the field (37.9 percent) and had as many turnovers as assists (four) while trying to sort things

Those issues caused Calipari to frequently scream at his players, who struggled to put together consistent stretches through 8 1-2 minutes. Good things such as forcing the Bulldogs into two shot-clock violations were offset by breakdowns that allowed them to beat their 2-3 zone inside. Sam Hughes also hit a 3pointer to provide UNC-Asheville's third - and last lead at 13-12.

Kentucky went on a 15-2 run helped by consecutive 3-pointers from Young and two putbacks by Poythress. The Wildcats went on to lead 41-31 lead at halftime thanks to eight points from Lee, whom Calipari used sparingly during preseason.

Told that he finished with 17 points, Lee said, "I don't even keep track of that stuff. I try to make sure I give my team as much energy as possible so we can go from one level to the starting quarterback Bryce Shanklin failed to complete several passes under Tiger pressure. Boone didn't waste any time.

A throw to running back Peyton Glynn launched Murray 86 yards down the field for their first touchdown of the night.

The Tigers quickly gained possession of the ball again and let the clock run out on Butler's 12 yard line.

The second quarter had a slow start with few productive plays from Butler County and their second quarterback, Jimmy Burns eventually inched closer to Murray's end zone but then threw the first Butler interception of the night. Boone picked the ball and ran 53 yards, landing on the Bears' 20.

Boone finished the possession with a one-yard run into the endzone with three minutes left in the quarter.

Jonathan Curd then proceeded by picking up a Butler fumble and, soon after, an interception.

"Coach said we would probably get a lot of picks," Boone said. "Curd played good and we just executed the game plan."

Murray's high energy continued into the third quarter, where defensive pressure held Butler County and their pass-heavy offense far from the 50 yard line. Butler produced another fumble in the third quarter, which Curd again recovered.

He took the ball 69 yards to set up a James Holland touchdown. The fourth touchdown of the night came from another lengthy carry, this time by DesJahvanni Miles.

By the time the fourth quarter started, Murray had a lead of 28-

Despite the deficit, Butler County showed a new strength in the fourth quarter and didn't go down lightly.

Butler gained two touchdowns in the fourth, while the Murray offense seemed stagnant with the ball. For the first time of the game, Butler's possession time nearly matched Murray's.

"I don't think we were playing any weaker," Duncan said. "But they're a good football team and we just held them earlier in the game."

A field goal from Schafer

Putz and another interception by Boone landed Murray with their Class 2A playoff win. Boone said perfection is the goal of the Tigers going into next week's game against Owensboro Catholic. "Next week we'll be fine tuned and ready to play," he Duncan acknowledged a few mistakes could've hurt Murray against other teams. "What hurts us is the deep pass, it's what we've got to work on," Duncan said. "This will make them sleep better tonight. It'll make them so happy."

In all my years of dating, I have been in love only twice. Any help would be appreciated. -- LOST

DEAR LOST: I wish I had a magic lamp that would give you what you're looking for in a puff of smoke, but I don't. What I can offer is that you need to continue looking for someone who is as independent as you are, so you can find an attractive man whose needs are similar to yours.

Some couples find the process of dating a smooth and easy one. For others it's complicated, but not impossible. I agree that the basis of strong relationships is friendship and compatibility.

DEAR ABBY: How does one stop family and old friends from going on and on about their aches, pains, symptoms, conditions, doctor visits and medications in excruciating detail? Aside from my mother (who is 85), I don't care to hear about this from others. It has taught me a lesson I wish people would follow: While I do have back issues, I speak of them only to my doctor.

try to be patient, but some folks seem to need someone to vent to. I don't want to be the one they "tell all" to. I try to tune it out, but I wish there was an easy way to let them know enough is enough.

Any ideas on the best way to handle these people? Or am I stuck being a good listener forever? -- NOBODY'S THERAPIST

DEAR NOBODY'S THERA-PIST: Try this: Say, "Really, I'm sorry to hear that." Then change the subject to something you read in the newspaper, saw on television or that's happening in your community.

DEAR ABBY: Tell me what you would have done in this situation. While dining at an expensive restaurant on a rare night out, we were seated directly across from a nice-looking family. As I was eating my meal, I had a nauseating view of their child's butt crease. The boy was about 12 or 14, and I didn't want to embarrass him in a public place, but it put a damper on my enjoyment.

Would it have been appropriate to approach his mother and quietly tell her? The restaurant was full, so I couldn't request another table. -- LOST MY APPETITE

Prevent flat spots on baby's head by varying his position

DEAR DOCTOR K: I know it's safer for my baby to sleep on his back, but I'm worried he'll develop flat spots on the back of his head. What can I do to prevent this?

Since "Back to Sleep" recommendation went into effect in 1994, the rate of SIDS has dropped

But sleeping on the back does put pressure on the back of a baby's head. Babies have soft, malleable skulls. This helps them get through the birth canal and allows for the rapid brain growth that happens during infancy. It also makes their skulls sensitive to pressure, especially when that pressure is always in the same place.

the position of your baby's head throughout the day: -- Give your baby "tummy time" when he is awake and being watched. Do this for at least a few minutes a few times

-- Carry your baby in a sling or other baby carrier to take pressure off his head.

-- Vary the position of your baby's head when he is lying down. You may have to literally turn his head so he is facing the other way. If your baby prefers one side to another, position his seat or bassinet during the day so that the more interesting things to look at are on the less-preferred side.

Most flat spots are mild and go away once babies are a little older and spend less time lying down. In severe cases, your pediatrician can prescribe a soft helmet that shields the skull from pressure, allowing the head to grow naturally into a rounder shape.

Few parts of our body were built to take constant challenge and pressure. Many parts are always working -- like the heart and lungs. However, even they get a bit of a rest at night. And our bones, muscles and joints regularly get a break during the day and when we sleep. Bed sores, for example, develop when sick people in bed all day are not turned regularly to put pressure on different parts of their body.

So there are ways to protect the shape of your baby's head and to prevent flat spots from forming on his soft skull. But whatever you do, keep putting your baby on his back to sleep! It greatly reduces the risk of

Sudoku is a number-placing puzzle based on a 9x9 grid with several given numbers. The object is to place the numbers 1 to 9 in the empty squares so that each row, each column and each 3x3 box contains the same number only once. The difficulty level of the Conceptis Sudoku increases from Monday to Sunday.

hits your Outdoors driveway, Columnist there should be a few very happy hunters out there as this looks like it's going to be a great season.

cooperate, too. After a cold snap earlier, the temperatures should be just right for deer hunting. The forecast for next week looks downright cold so deer will definitely be moving. I'll know more next week, but for now it looks like the season is going to sync up in perfect timing with the whitetail rut.

Don't forget about the Hunters for the Hungry program. Hunters for the Hungry accepts donations of deer taken by hunters and delivered to participating processing facilities. The processor then delivers the meat to places like Needline and other food pantries or shelters. It's a win-win for Kentucky's deer hunters - the hunter gets to take an extra deer or two and the needy in the community are fed.

In our area, the only two processors are Len Rudd Processing in Possum Trot, and Dowdy's Taxidermy and Processing in Mayfield. Check out Kentucky Hunters for the Hungry on the web for contact The weather appears ready to information and the location of these processors. Thanks to the generous donations of the KDFWR and benevolent groups and individuals, there is no processing fee involved when you donate your deer to Kentucky Hunters for the Hungry.

Bissell Bluff in Livingston have a meal there. But it serves County on Squire Barrett's farm. Our headquarters is an old (and I do mean "old") house on the farm that is decorated and furnished in Early American Dilapidated style. Most of the furnishings and the furniture have been scrounged out of junk piles and yard sales by our friend, Roscoe Rouse.

The walls are adorned with various deer heads, memorabilia, and other odd things. We have a Zenith TV - strictly old school - and without cable or satellite, we have to suck a signal out of the air via an outside antenna. We have a kitchen, dining room, bathroom, warm and cold running water, and a bedroom for everyone except me. I have to sleep on the couch in the living room and look at a stuffed rattlesnake on the coffee table all night.

It's not a place that the Chairman would approve of. As a matter of fact. I doubt that any of our wives would even sit down inside the place much less our purpose and is every bit as rustic as a hunting cabin is sup-

The two most important rooms are the kitchen and the dining room as our principal activity at deer camp is eating. We have a freezer full of deer meat and catfish fillets, Rouse brings beans and other trimmings, Dr. Young always has a bag full of turnip greens, and Squire Barrett is a master chef at making cornbread. Considering the way we eat, it's a shear wonder that anyone is able to get up and go hunting.

I hope your deer season is successful. Remember to observe all safety rules when handling firearms, always wear a harness and fall-restraint when hunting out of a treestand, and be courteous to fellow hunters and landowners. These are the good old days of hunting folks! Good luck to all.

Horoscope

HAPPY BIRTHDAY Monday, Nov. 11, 2013: This year you often demonstrate an unusually creative yet disciplined side of your personality. When you use it well, you could find that very little is unattainable. If you are single, you seem to be able to attract the type of person you desire. You will meet several desirable suitors. As a result, you will date a lot. If you are attached, your sweetie often finds you closed down. This person might be manipulative in his or her desire to have you open up. Avoid fighting, and understand where your significant other is coming from. PISCES often makes you feel like a kid
