Thursday wreck on 121 South claims life of cheerleader

Staff Report
The Calloway County Sheriff's Office reported Friday that a late Thursday night wreck resulted in fatal injuries to a Marshall County High School cheerleader from Calloway County.

According to a report, CCSO said it was notified of an injury accident along KY 121 South in the area of the 10466 address at 10:17 p.m. Thursday. CCSO said, upon arrival, it found Dasha F. Roberts, 18, of New Concord inside the vehicle.

CCSO said investigation shows that her vehicle was headed south on 121 when it crossed the oncoming traffic lane, left the roadway and struck a tree on the passenger side. The vehicle came to rest near a ditch alongside the road.

A unit from the Murray-Calloway County Ambulance Service rushed Roberts away from the scene to Murray-Calloway County Hospital. There, CCSO said, Roberts was pronounced deceased.

CCSO said Roberts was not wearing a seatbelt at the time of the wreck and the investigation is ongoing.

Calloway County Sheriff Sam Steger confirmed Friday afternoon that Roberts was a cheerleader at Marshall County High School in Draffenville. He also confirmed that Roberts was on her way home after cheering at a basketball game Thursday

Regents talk tuition

President stresses that Friday's talks are all preliminary

By JOHN WRIGHT and MORGAN WILLIAMS
Staff Writers

With a decrease in enrollment expected to continue into the 2016-17 school year, the Murray State University Board of Regents Friday broached a topic that has a way of arising at such times - tuition increases.

However, while ideas were presented as to how to combat this pressing issue, MSU President Dr. Bob Davies wanted one thing known for certain.

"All of this today is for information only. Nothing is being decided today," Davies said, also directing his comments to audience members gathered inside the Jesse Stuart Room of Pogue Library. "However, we'll continue to have these discussions and hear ideas over the next several months. I'd say probably we'll have a plan formulated in either February or March and then in the June meeting, the board will give its official endorsement."

Board Chairman Harry Lee Waterfield II, though, seemed to think action needs to be taken earlier.

"I wouldn't think June gives us a lot of time to get it out there for families who have students interested in coming here. I would think they need to know

Police say Arkansas State suspect changed mind on shooting others

By ANDREW DeMILLO
Associated Press

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The gunman who prompted a campus lockdown at Arkansas State University said he initially wanted to shoot other people but changed his mind and was planning on killing himself before he was arrested, police said Friday.

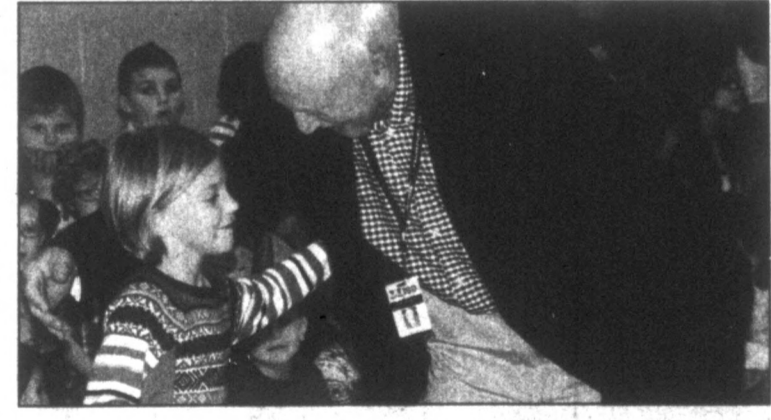

Brad Kenneth Bartelt was charged Friday with aggravated assault, terroristic threatening, possession of explosive material and carrying a firearm in a publicly owned facility. His bond was set at $50,000. A judge denied Bartelt's request to be appointed a public defender.

Bartelt, 47, of Jonesboro, had a 12-gauge shotgun, along with containers of gasoline and propane, when he drove his truck onto a plaza east of the student union, Jonesboro Police Chief Rick Elliott said.

Bartelt called 911 after driving onto the plaza and told dispatchers he was on campus with a gun, police said in a report released Friday. While talking with negotiators, he waved his gun and threatened to shoot the propane tank, the report said.

After he was taken into custody, Bartelt told police he was upset over an injury he received in 2012 while training to drive an

FFA helps the Conservation District teach about agriculture

By DEBBIE BATTEIGER

Some fourth graders at East Calloway Elementary School got a break from their science textbooks recently, thanks to a program created by the Calloway County Conservation District.

Bill Sampson, Calloway County High School agriculture teacher and FFA advisor, said he was approached by Cindy Cossey of the CCCD to have his student members teach elementary school science classes a few times a semester.

about what kind of model we'll have in place earlier than that," he said.

Overall, though, a proposed model of tuition/scholarship numbers for the next school year was well received by the board. This came from MSU Vice President of Finance and Administrative Services Jackie Dudley, along with Associate Vice President of Enrollment Management Fred Dietz, who outlined a program geared toward making MSU more competitive with the rest of the public colleges/universities in the state.

"We're the second lowest tuition in the state right now," Davies said. "A, that sends a message about your value proposition. If you're, say, the lowest, you're saying that maybe you're not interested in advancing."

"Second, your revenue increases. The risk is greater I think if we do not take a step, given the current fiscal pressures and dynamics."

Dudley and Dietz' model would go into effect for first-time enrolled students entering MSU for summer classes in 2016 and beyond.

It includes:

- Capping the proposed tuition (which appears to be $8,400 a year, provided it rises 3 percent, as appears to be the plan for several other state institutions as well) at 12 to 15 hours.

- Charge for each hour past 15 at a 50 percent discounted per hour rate, which would also allow for the current web tuition pricing structure to be eliminated; that web premium would be eliminated and replaced with a per-hour course web fee up to $75.

This would lead to scholarships rising, according to the model. For instance, the University Scholarship, with a tuition of $8,400, would go from its current figure of $1,000 to $1,680. The Regents Scholarship, second most valuable, would rise from $6,000 to $8,220. Only the top scholarship offered - Trustee - which is at $10,000 currently, would stay higher than its redone version for the tuition hike proposal, which would come in at $9,900.

This comes at a time when enrollment at MSU is on a decline. Statistics Dudley presented Friday show that enrollment for first-time freshmen for the 2014-15 year was 1,501 but for the current year, it has dropped to 1,469. Projected figures for 2016-17 show that the trend will accelerate to 1,318, a drop of 183 students from 2014-15.

Earlier, Dudley had given an indication of why this was something the board needed to address during her treasurer's report, showing that, if not for a $2 million cushion placed in the budget earlier, MSU's financial situation would be rather tough. Tuition projections for the current school year will end $1.5 to $1.8 million short of budgeted figures.

"And the primary reason (for MSU's state of net position showing cash inflow increasing from last year) is because of the bond sale on Franklin College. If not for that, this could've been a pretty rough time," Dudley said.

The afternoon session of the Board of Regents and Committee meetings consisted of information updates along with Committee action.

Jason Youngblood, assistant director for Facilities Design & Construction at MSU, presented on the progress of the Franklin Residence College, the Engineering and Physics building and the Breathitt Veterinary Center on the Hopkinsville campus.

"The Breathitt Center is running 35 days behind schedule due to inclement weather but we are currently on schedule for Franklin (College) and the Engineering and Physics buildings," said Youngblood in his report.

The renovation of the Winslow Dining Facility was also on the docket and with the approximate $2 million in funds already allocated, the board unanimously authorized the project.

The Board agreed that the facility needs to be updated with 3,000 students and faculty using it weekly. The renovation will be completed during the summer of 2017.

The Fall 2015 Enrollment Report covered a number of statistics, markedly that there was an overall drop in enrollment from the fall of 2014 to this past semester, which was not surprising given the numbers revealed earlier in the day.

The 1.9 percent decrease in enrollment resulted in 10,998 students instead of the previous year's 11,207. Though the University had less freshmen enroll, the average ACT score went from 22.6 to 23.3. There was an overall increase in students enrolled from the 18-county service region from 574 to 590.

Dr. Adrienne King, Vice President of Marketing and Outreach, presented on an innovative new scheduling tool for students and faculty as well as the highly publicized new alumni campaign, Racer Holidays.

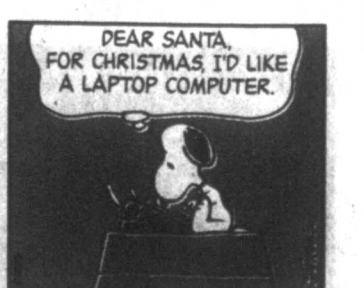

King presented on a new centralized calendar for all University sanctioned events that will be available Jan. 8. The online calendar can be synced with Google calendars or iCal on Apple devices and utilizes GPS technology for easy directions to events on campus.

"Previous to this calendar, there wasn't a resource that combined athletic, extracurricular and academic events in one place," said King. "The calendar has a mobile friendly design and can highlight photos as well as promotional materials for events."

While finances may be a big issue for Board members, there were things to celebrate. Davies listed a number of these in his report during the morning session.

One of the biggest had to do with the number 1,156 ... the exact number of students who will walk across the stage at the CFSB Center today to receive their diplomas.

"This is about everything we do, to make sure our students are well prepared to make a significant difference," Davies said, then receiving unanimous approval of the soon-to-be graduates' by the Board members after their names were submitted en masse. ■ night. Marshall's boys and girls teams had played Fulton County in a doubleheader played at Benton Middle School in Benton.

Steger said that as the investigation continues into what might have caused the wreck, one factor could be the weather.

"I know that the road was damp (at the time of the wreck, perhaps from moisture caused by fog that had formed in the area). That could have been a contributing factor. You know how slick the road gets when it just gets damp," Steger said. "It's terrible."

Traffic was stopped about a half mile from the crash site in both directions as emergency personnel cleared the scene. Traffic was allowed to continue flowing through the area again early Friday morning.

Along with Murray-Calloway Ambulance Service, CCSO was assisted at the scene by Calloway County Fire-Rescue and Murray-Calloway County EMS Rescue. ■

CLOSED UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE: Barricades guard both ends of this bridge Friday afternoon on Cherry Street at the intersection of Olive Street in Murray. City of Murray Public Works announced Friday morning that it had closed the structure due to settling on the approach to the south side of the bridge. Public Works said the bridge will remain closed until further notice, and it is not known how long this means.

"This is not an FFA event. Cindy (Cossey) approached me about my students teaching a lesson to promote environmental awareness in the elementary schools," he said.

Sampson said the lessons are prepared by the CCCD in advance and they even practice with them before teams of two are sent to the schools.

"They're (the FFA students) really just the facilitators," he said.

"For the elementary kids its a great program to expose them to an agriculture lesson; and it works well for us, our FFA kids become agriculture ambassadors."

Madison Jeziorski and Hannah Ray, seniors at Calloway County High School and FFA officers, were asked to teach a lesson that the CCCD had prepared recently.

There were also six other classes scheduled for the day with different FFA members.

On this day, the high school students were charged with teaching Lisa Armstrong's fourth grade science class about symbiosis in relation to relationships between plants and animals.

Jeziorski started the lesson off explaining to the students what symbiosis is - the living together of two dissimilar organisms - by using the Disney movie "Finding Nemo."

"Who has seen the movie 'Finding Nemo?'" she asked.

The entire class raised their hands. From there, the high school seniors had their complete attention.

Anderson said the students seem to enjoy when FFA comes to teach them agriculture principles.

"They're always hands on and do things that really engages the kids," she said. "(The lessons) reinforce what we teach here."

The fourth graders also seem to like having teenagers talk with them.

"They enjoy hearing someone else - besides their regular teachers - teach them," she said. "And the activities they do with the students are things I can't accomplish here."

Anderson said because of budget restraints, the interesting activities the CCCD arranges for the FFA students to teach is out of her reach.

"Last time they brought owl pellets to dissect; I just don't have the budget to do that," she said.

Jeziorski said she likes teaching the lessons CCCD prepares for them.

"It gives us a chance to experience something else in agriculture," she said.

Cossey said that they started this program to encourage agriculture studies in the elementary schools.

"(The students) really enjoy hearing from the high school students, it's a chance to do something a little different," she said.

The program also goes to North Calloway Elementary and teaches not only fourth graders, but first graders as well. Sampson said there are already two days in the spring FFA students will be traveling to the elementary schools again. ■

18-wheeler at Arkansas State's Newport campus, 45 miles away.

"He said they did not treat him right and pay for certain expenses and bills resulting from the injury," the report said. "He stated that he was going to come to the university and shoot other people but he realized that murder would be wrong, so he was going to kill himself."

In a Facebook post Wednesday, Bartelt said he was feeling homicidal and suicidal and complained about a recent decision in a Social Security case, police said.

Emergency center audio released by Jonesboro police Friday included a recording from a man identified by officers as Bartelt.

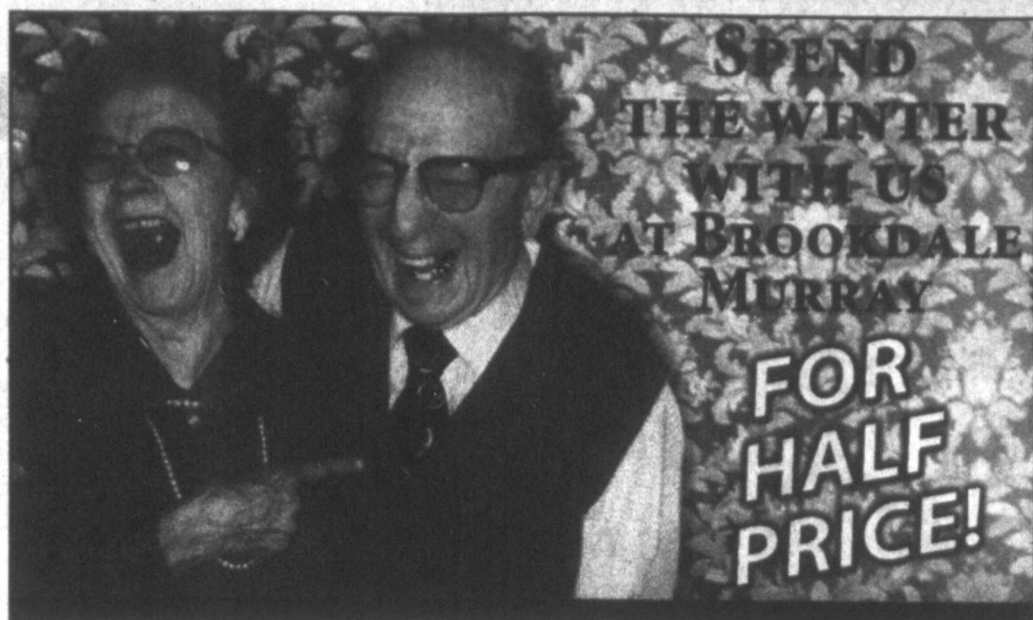

"I don't want no incidents, but I'm just tired of, hell, I've been beat for three years so you might want to send somebody up here," Bartelt said. "You might want to send a news agency or two out."

He told the emergency operator that his shotgun had only one shell.

Bartelt was injured in August 2012 when his driving partner ran over him when he was retrieving a 50-pound barrel, according to a filing with the state worker's compensation commission.

Bartelt last year agreed to a $787,500 settlement with ASU-Newport's insurance carrier for the accident, with $262,500 of that going to a Memphis hospital where he was treated for his injuries, according to documents released by the university system Friday. Bartelt was enrolled in a four-week training course for commercial truckers at the time of the accident.

Elliott said at a Thursday news conference that Bartelt never pointed a weapon toward officers. The chief said that, when he arrived, Bartelt was sitting in the truck with his foot out the window and the shotgun visible, yelling something inaudible. He said from "time-to-time" Bartelt would get out of the truck and slosh gasoline on the truck or hold the shotgun to his chin. Bartelt eventually threw the shotgun down and surrendered, Elliott said. ■

Eiley Joymaria Grace LuoMinYing Pierce

Pierce

Eiley Joymaria Grace LuoMinYing Pierce, 3, gained her angel wings and went to live with her eternal Heavenly family on Dec 9, 2015.

She was born on May 28, 2012 in Luoshan County, Henan, China PR. At the age of one month, she was taken to live at the Shanghai Healing Home. On Oct 24, 2013 she was chosen by the Pierce family to be their third daughter and on Sept 15, 2014 was placed in the arms of her forever family.

Eiley Joy or the "Little One," as she was fondly called by her sisters, had a personality that was bigger than life. When Shakespeare wrote, "And though she be but little, she is fierce," he surely had her in mind. She never met a stranger, had a smile that could melt anyone's heart and had the most contagious little laugh. She loved to eat bananas, carrots, sweet potatoes, cranberry sauce, mac-n-cheese and peanut butter balls. She was a prolific little swimmer and could splash and make bubbles in the bathtub that rose higher than her head on many occasions. She loved playing outside where swinging and sliding were her favorite activities. She was quite a tornado and much like a bull in a China shop. She loved to slam doors, splash in the dog's water bowl and do most anything to get her Mama to tell her "No," to which she would respond with a big smile. She loved her GranGran, her uncle and aunts, her church family, her little friends in the nursery, and her sweet China friends whom she spent time with weekly. Most of all she loved to be held, cuddled, rocked and snuggled. She loved her Daddy and Mama, her three big bubbas, and two big sisters with all her little soul and might. She was the cherry on top of the sundae in her family. She was rightly named Eiley "Joy" as she brought so much joy to everyone's path she crossed.

Surviving are her parents, Vicki Weatherford Pierce and Roger D. Pierce of Benton; three brothers, Shea Pierce and Evan Pierce, both of Murray and Keaton Pierce of Lexington; two sisters, Callie Beth Pierce and Molly Kate Pierce, both of Benton; maternal grandmother, Doris Marie Weatherford of Almo; uncle, Steve Weatherford and wife Phyllis of Murray; two aunts, Carmelia Pierce and Cathy Lile, both of Benton.

She was preceded in death by her maternal grandfather, Jesse Bard Weatherford and her paternal grandparents, Franklin J. and Clara L. Pierce.

Funeral services will be Saturday, Dec. 12, 2015 at 1 p.m. at New Harmony Baptist Church, 4757 Symsonia Highway, Benton, with Rev. Jason Sharp officiating. Burial will follow in the Unity Cemetery, Hardin. Visitation was held from 4-8 p.m. Friday, Dec. 11, 2015 at New Harmony Baptist Church. Visitation will also be Saturday, Dec. 12, 2015 at 11 a.m. until the service hour.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Shanghai Healing Home c/o Linda Bowes, 625 Milikeus Bond, Covington, LA 70433. Collier Funeral Home, Benton, is in charge of arrangements.

Thomas 'Poppa' Ervin Royal

Thomas "Poppa" Ervin Royal, 86, of Hattiesburg, Mississippi, died peacefully at his home on Tuesday, Dec. 8, 2015.

He was a wonderful husband, father, grandfather, uncle and friend to many.

Poppa was born Aug. 28, 1929 in Scott, Mississippi, to Emma Elizabeth "Bessie" Shackelford Royal and Asa Jerome Royal Sr. He attended Mississippi State University and received his Doctor of Veterinary Medicine from Auburn University. After serving in the Air Force during the Korean War, he married the love of his life, Sara Jo McKee, on Sept. 2, 1953 in Belzoni. He moved his family to Greenville, where he established Greenville Animal Clinic in 1958. He was affiliated with numerous charitable, religious, fraternal, and political organizations. He held positions with St. Vincent de Paul, Knights of Columbus and the Exchange Club. His hobbies included hunting, fishing, gardening and electronics, to name a few.

After retiring from veterinary practice in the mid 90s, he and his bride moved to New Concord where they lived many blissful years overlooking Kentucky Lake. They returned to Mississippi in 2014, this time to Hattiesburg, to be closer to family and friends. Poppa had a unique and special way of connecting with everyone he met. His sparkling blue eyes, big smile (topped only by his heart) and gentle way with people made him a magnet to any and all. He left an indelible mark on almost everyone he met.

He was preceded in death by his parents; a brother, Asa Jerome Royal Jr. and sister, Elizabeth "Liz" Royal Thurmond.

Poppa is survived by his wife of 62 years, Sara Jo McKee Royal; two daughters, Deles Royal Roberts (Truett), and Karla Royal Hollowell (Barry); a son, Roger Ellis Royal (Lisa); nine grandchildren, Jason Roberts (Jaeyoun), Brent Roberts, Hall Roberts (Jackie), Sarah Roberts-Lee, Emma Royal, Claire Royal, Ellis Royal, Jennifer Hollowell Shaddon (Darrell) and Sonia Hollowell Millsap; and 11 great-grandchildren, Landin Lindsey Roberts, Jack Thomas Roberts, Joey Lee, Aaron Kingstone Lee, Lilly Avis-Elizabeth Lee, Alyssa Brooke Pollan, Addison Makenzie Millsap, Bryson Dane Millsap and Aaron Michael Shaddon.

A funeral mass, officiated by Frs. Tommy Conway, Godfrey Andoh, and Mark Ropel, was held Friday, Dec. 11, 2015 at St. Thomas Aquinas Catholic Church, Hattiesburg, followed by burial in Highland Cemetery. A rosary service was held Thursday, Dec. 10, 2015, with visitation immediately following from 5:30-6:30 at St. Thomas Aquinas Catholic Church.

The family requests, in lieu of flowers, donations be made to the St. Fabian Building Fund, 5266 Old Hwy. 11, Suite 70-214, Hattiesburg, MS 39402.

Kentucky National Guard tuition aid falls short

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky National Guard says a financial shortfall is causing hundreds of the state's soldiers to lose college tuition funding.

Guard spokesman Walt Leumont tells local media that with Kentucky Guard members no longer deployed as often to Iraq and Afghanistan, applications for the tuition assistance program spiked this year. That depleted the $5.3 million set aside by the General Assembly, leaving the Guard $2.8 million short.

As a result, the Guard last week had to deny 696 guard members funds for spring semester next year.

Officials are encouraging Guard members to try to fill the gap with federal military tuition assistance, though it's not clear whether they can get funding in time for next semester.

Guard leads say they plan to lobby the General Assembly to increase funding.

Catherine Rowlett Jones

Catherine Rowlett Jones, 82, of Murray, Kentucky, died at 6 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 9, 2015 at her residence.

She was born Jan. 12, 1933 in Murray, Kentucky, to Albert and Alberta Martin who preceded her in death.

She was a member of St. John Missionary Baptist Church. Her daughter, Linda Jones, died on Dec. 10, 2015.

Bevin's appointment doesn't sway Democrat Tilley from party loyalty

By ADAM BEAM Associated Press

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Democratic state Rep. John Tilley said he will not switch parties when he resigns his seat to go work for Republican Gov. Matt Bevin, adding that he did not "betray anyone's trust" in choosing to leave the House as Democrats are battling to maintain their slim majority.

Bevin named Tilley the new secretary of the Justice and Public Safety Cabinet on Thursday. The move means Democrats lose an influential member in the House and will be forced to win a special election in a Republican-friendly district. Republicans need to pick up four seats to win control of the House for the first time since 1920.

In an interview, Tilley said he was concerned what impact his decision might have on Democrats keeping control of the House. But he said his passion for public safety and criminal justice outweighed any political ramifications. He said he did not know if the House would flip to Republican control or if Democrats would be able to hold his seat in a special election.

"I was prepared to run a campaign and I felt confident. I know that a good part of Kentucky is trending in the other direction and I don't know exactly how that might affect my district," he said. "It has been restricted, so it might have some impact."

Democratic House Speaker Greg Stumbo criticized Tilley on Thursday, saying he thought Tilley "had more character than that," and suggested the Hopkinsville lawmaker compromised his political values for an annual salary of $137,000.

"I did not switch parties. I did not betray anyone's trust," Tilley said. "If it was about money I would have never moved into public service. I don't need a job but I want this job and I make no apologies for that."

Tilley said he did hold a fundraiser for his re-election campaign on Nov. 21. But at the time, he said Bevin had not contacted him and he did not think Bevin was seriously considering him for the job.

As justice secretary, Tilley said he wants to study turning some low capacity juvenile detention centers into minimum security drug treatment centers. He wants to study the impact of mental health on the prison system to hopefully lower the number of people who return to prison after committing new crimes. And he said he wants to "address some morale issues" with corrections officers who he says "make food stamp wages."

Former Democratic Gov. Steve Beshear gave corrections officers a 13.1 percent raise earlier this year.

Obituary for Jr. Garrison, December 2, 1934 - December 13, 2014. In honor of my precious Daddy, the most patient, caring, loving, giving & selfless person & Daddy. I thank God for his Son Jesus, our Savior, for Heaven is your home now. All pain, sorrow & sickness gone. You are whole! I love & miss you so. We'll meet again, praise God. Love, Kary

Allen Commonwealth Attorney says he hasn't decided on death penalty in case of Scottsville girl's murder

By BRUCE SCHREINER Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A Kentucky man was indicted Friday on charges of kidnapping, raping and killing a 7-year-old girl whose body was found in a creek soon after she disappeared from a youth football game.

Following the indictment in Scottsville, Kentucky, local Commonwealth's Attorney Clint Willis said he had not yet decided whether to seek the death penalty against Timothy Madden, who is charged in Gabriella Doolin's death last month.

Willis said he planned to discuss the matter with the child's family after the holidays.

"That's not a meeting you would want to have with this family right before Christmas," Willis said in a phone interview.

Madden, a former construction worker who has maintained his innocence, was indicted on murder, kidnapping, first-degree rape and first-degree sodomy charges. His arrest warrant says the child died of manual strangulation and drowning.

She disappeared while attending a Nov. 14 game to cheer on her brother. She was found dead less than a half-hour later in a creek. The death and arrest of a local man stunned people in Scottsville, a town of about 5,000 near the Tennessee state line. On the day of the child's funeral, residents lined streets holding pink and blue balloons that were released as the hearse drove by.

Madden's attorney, Travis Lock, said Friday he was not surprised by the indictment.

"This gets us one step closer in the process to the time when we will be entitled to the evidence that the commonwealth possesses to support its belief that they have the right guy," Lock said by phone.

Madden's next court appearance is an arraignment set for Jan. 13 in Allen Circuit Court. Madden pleaded not guilty at his initial appearance last month in district court.

The police citation said Madden's DNA collected during the investigation matched that recovered from the child during the autopsy. So far, Lock said, he has received a two-page preliminary DNA report. Willis said some DNA evidence is still being tested.

Meanwhile, Lock said he was denied access to meet with Madden on the day of his client's arrest. Lock said he was contacted by a Madden relative on the morning of the arrest, and Madden reached out to him shortly before taken into custody.

"That is a clear-cut violation of Timothy Madden's civil rights," Lock said.

Madden, in his late 30s, professed his innocence in a jailhouse media interview after his arrest. Lock said he first met with Madden the day after the arrest.

Tim Stark, Marketing Coordinator at The Murray Bank, is guiding Mrs. Kellye Steele's class through the Jr. Achievement "Our Nation" program.

Murray Bank forms partnership with SWES Junior Achievement

Special to The Ledger

After five weeks of studying with employees from The Murray Bank, Fifth grade students at Southwest Elementary School received graduation certificates and celebrated with cookies in the classroom upon completion of the Junior Achievement "Our Nation" program.

"At The Murray Bank, we believe that financial literacy and money management skills are crucial building blocks for economic success," said Tim Stark, Marketing Coordinator for The Murray Bank. "That's why we invest our time and efforts in financial literacy programs like Jr Achievement to help put individuals of all ages on the path of fiscal responsibility and economic self-reliance."

This particular program introduces fifth-grade students to the intersection of work readiness and upper elementary grades social studies learning objectives. Through hands-on classroom activities, the "Our Nation" program provides students with practical information about the nation's free market system and how it serves as an economic engine for businesses and careers. The curriculum also introduces the need for entrepreneurial and innovative thinking to meet the requirements of high-growth, high-demand careers and the concept of globalization in business.

"This is always such a rewarding experience for anyone who takes the time to do it," said Eleshia Brandon, Vice President at The Murray Bank.

"Thru this class we are helping prepare students to succeed as adults by teaching them some basic practical money management skills which they will need to help them prosper in life."

Junior Achievement is the world's largest organization dedicated to giving young people the knowledge and skills they need to own their economic success, plan for their future, and make smart academic and economic choices. JA programs are delivered by corporate and community volunteers and provides relevant, hands-on experiences that give students from kindergarten through high school knowledge and skills in financial literacy, work readiness and entrepreneurship. Today JA reaches four million students per year in more than 120 markets across the United States, with an additional six million students served by operations in 119 other countries worldwide. Visit www.ja.org for more information.

Goodwill exceeds '14 job placements

Special to The Ledger

Goodwill Industries of Kentucky placed Kentuckians into more than 3,400 jobs this past year, a nearly 20 percent increase over 2014.

The increase can be partially attributed to the addition of job placement programming and related staff members in western Kentucky; increased placements through Goodwill's temp-to-hire agency, GTS Staffing; and more dedicated staff time to the Job Connection program. Goodwill's program services team also cites an improved job market in some areas of Kentucky that contributed to the increase over last year; people were placed in jobs with 694 employers.

Donations to Goodwill stay in local communities and help people with disabilities or other barriers to employment across Kentucky. Revenue from 64 retail locations, which provide jobs and hands-on training, enables Goodwill to offer employment counseling, adult literacy programs and other assistance with job placement.

"We are proud to play a role in connecting eager potential workers - many of whom have a disability or other barrier to finding and keeping a job - with opportunities to earn a paycheck," said Amy Luttrell, president and CEO of Goodwill Industries of Kentucky. "Donations made to Goodwill stores help fund essential preparation and training programs that allow us to place Kentuckians with numerous employers across the state." ■

A rout in crude oil prices hammers the stock market

NEW YORK (AP) — A slump in oil prices sparked a global sell-off in financial markets on Friday with losses spreading from Asia to Europe to the U.S., where stocks fell sharply to cap their worst week since the summer.

The selling was broad, with all 10 sectors of the Standard and Poor's 500 index ending down. Fearful investors put their money in government bonds, especially U.S. Treasuries. Another measure of anxiety, the so-called Vix index, jumped. It is now up 70 percent in just five days.

Investors worry the sharp fall in the price of oil and other commodities is a sign of weakness in the global economy, especially China, and that will cut into profits at big energy producers and suppliers of raw materials as well as other companies.

"We're stockpiling commodities and demand is not picking up," said Tim Courtney, chief investment officer of Exencial Wealth Advisors. "It's kind of a depressing market."

Energy shares, already decimated this year, fell 3.4 percent on Friday. Southwestern Energy plunged 14 percent. Freeport McMoRan, a mining giant, dropped 6 percent.

The trouble began with a report from the International Energy Agency that said the oversupply in oil would persist until late next year even as demand continues to weaken. Benchmark U.S. crude plunged $1.14, or 3 percent, to close at $35.62 a barrel in New York. It has been falling for 1 1/2 years and is now at its lowest level since early 2009.

By the end of the day, the S&P 500 index had lost 39.86 points, or 1.9 percent, to 2,012.37. It was down 3.8 percent for the week, its worst showing since August. ■

Community gathers for funeral of boy who died during burglary

VERSAILLES, Ky. (AP) — A central Kentucky community said its final goodbye Friday to a 6-year-old boy who was stabbed to death during a burglary.

Hundreds of mourners filled the stands and the field at Falling Springs Recreation Center, where Logan Dean Tipton played football, according to local news outlets.

Tipton's ivory coffin was adorned by white and yellow flowers. His football jersey was mounted in a frame in front of it, and his helmet rested atop.

Woodford Youth Football League president Peter Barnhardt said coaches ask players to give all they have to the game.

"Logan, you kept your end of the deal," Barnhardt said. "You gave us everything you had, and now it's our turn."

Many people came together to give the child the send-off he deserved, Barnhardt told the Lexington Herald-Leader.

A Woodford County grand jury indicted 32-year-old Ronald Exantus of Indianapolis on Wednesday with murder, first-degree burglary, two counts of second-degree assault and one count of fourth-degree assault. Police say he stabbed the boy Monday in his home while he slept. Two of the boy's sisters suffered non-life-threatening cuts in the attack.

Versailles police Lt. Michael Fortney has said detectives have found nothing to connect Exantus to the family or the town.

The suspect's lawyer has questioned his competency. ■

Soldiers take up collections to help homeless veterans

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP) — Soldiers at Fort Campbell plan to collect items this weekend to help homeless veterans stay warm through the winter.

A statement from the post on the Kentucky-Tennessee line says family, friends and soldiers assigned to Fort Campbell's 1st Squadron, 32nd Cavalry Regiment, 1st Brigade Combat Team, 101st Airborne Division will participate in the event on Saturday. They will be collecting blankets and cold-weather clothing for homeless vets.

The statement says the idea came from Spc. Justin Mucciolo, who wanted to find a way to help veterans without homes stay warm in winter.

The event is set to begin at 7 p.m. in front of Love Blood Inc. Tattoo Parlor. ■

Auto parts maker seeks to build facility in Franklin

FRANKLIN, Ky. (AP) — A German-owned automotive parts maker is planning to build a $193.7 million foundry and production facility in Franklin.

The Bowling Green Daily News reports the Fritz Winter North America LP facility expects to bring 343 jobs to the area. The Simpson County Fiscal Court and Franklin City Commission authorized a memorandum of understanding at a meeting Thursday that helps clear the way for the company's planned 240,000-square-foot facility in Wilkey North Industrial Park. ■

GIRLS BASKETBALL: MURRAY HIGH 52, WEBSTER COUNTY 49

Turner notches 400th victory

Lady Tigers rally to beat Lady Trojans

Staff Report

DIXON --- Down 47-46 at Webster County with 2 minutes, 15 seconds to go, two things were at risk for the Murray High Lady Tigers.

One was their undefeated record. The other was head coach Rechelle Turner on the verge of notching 400th career victory.

Thanks to a step-back 3-pointer from Macey Turley to give Murray High a 49-47 lead and three key free throws for Lily Ramey down the stretch, the Lady Tigers made sure both feats were secure.

Murray High held on Friday night 52-49 for Turner's 400th career coaching victory, a significant milestone, but it wasn't giftwrapped.

It was earned, just like the other 399.

"Four hundred wins is an accumulation of all these years put together," Turner said. "I've been blessed by a great coaching staff, great players throughout the years and a wonderful administration along the way. I owe my thanks to Dave Carr, Dan Hampton, W.A. Franklin for taking a chance on a 23-year old girl to coach this team back in 1996."

Turley not only had the decisive bucket, she led the team in scoring with 13 points, making all four of her free throws after making 12 of 12 against Hopkinsville on Tuesday night.

Lily Ramey added a season high 10 points, Lex Mayes scored nine points (seven of them at the free throw line) and Alexis Burpo chipped in eight more.

Brittany Lawson sparked the Lady Tigers' offense with six points, but MHS was plagued with poor shooting, making only 2 of 12 shots from 3-point range and going 10 for 34 overall from the field.

Murray High was save at the free-throw line, where it knocked down 26 free throws on 34 attempts.

"We were in a lot of foul trouble throughout the night. We played through adversity but the kids came up with stops when it mattered the most. I'm proud of our fight tonight and our free throws saved us," Turner said.

Murray High (3-0) concludes its three-game road swing at 1 p.m. today against Muhlenberg County in the Independence Bank Classic at Owensboro Catholic. ■

Caught in a storm: Tigers fall in early Region 1 test

Blue Tornado leaves with victory at Murray High

By BRYCE RUDD
Sports Reporter

With the post presence of Tre Hornbuckle vacant in arguably their most crucial matchup of the year, Murray High head coach Bart Flener turned to the versatility of senior Ethan Clark, hoping he could fill the void.

Clark delivered and then some, with a career-high 21 points and four rebounds but, despite a late comeback attempt, the rest of the Tigers' offense never matched the production that Paducah Tilghman displayed.

If there was any question just which boys basketball team was the best in the Region 1 heading into Friday night, the Blue Tornado (3-0) left little to the imagination at Taylor Gymnasium, convincingly handing Murray High its first loss this season 78-61.

Though it was an early season meeting, the impression could last until February. The two teams are not scheduled to meet again this season unless they square off in the region tournament.

"I think we've been humble, but we said it tonight. If you aren't humbled now, you will never be," Flener said. "They came in on our home court and were clearly the better team. We played an even first quarter and, then, all of a sudden, it's an eight-point game. I'm really proud of our fight and our kids almost came back. They don't quit. They never will."

Flener said the ideal game plan, defensively, for Murray High was to limit Paducah Tilghman's three best players --- Sayveon McEwen, Devon Hart and J.J. Reed --- under 35 points and the Blue Tornado under 60. Though the scheme was ideal, Paducah Tilghman's big three combined for 52. McEwen had 20 points, Hart had a game-high 22 and Reed collected a double double with 10 points and 13 rebounds.

Meanwhile, James Boone and Preston English were contained throughout the contest, combining for 13 points and four field goals.

Boone got off to a hot start in the first quarter, scoring six of his nine points in the first 3 minutes, capping his early display off with a corner 3 to knot the game at 9. But Brannon Warfield was the X-factor for Paducah Tilghman, scoring 10 of his 20 points in the first quarter and answering every big shot the Tigers made early.

The first quarter, as expected, was played evenly with both teams vying for a competitive advantage heading into the second stanza tied at 21 after four lead changes.

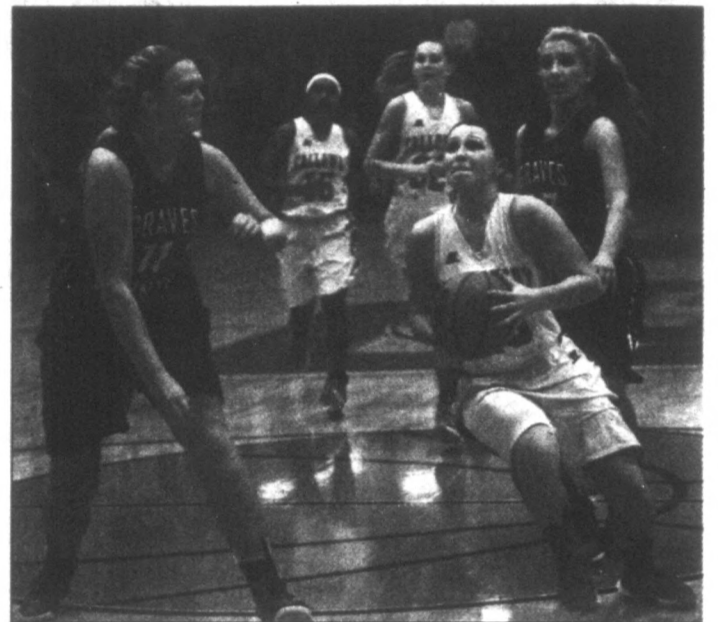

Down by five early in the second quarter, the Tigers looked to English late in the period as he drained two consecutive jumpers to keep it a one-possession contest. Boone reeled off his second 3 of the half two possessions later to keep it close at 30-35.

Then came the turning point.

The Tigers hadn't allowed a larger deficit than six in the first 15 minutes, until Hart polished off a 3-point play to send Paducah Tilghman to a 38-30 lead at the half. The play sparked a 9-1 run that spilled into the

Lady Eagles run past Lady Lakers in fourth quarter

By JEFF ARENZ

Graves County ran away from Calloway County in the fourth quarter of a 66-37 Region 1 victory Friday night at Jeffrey Gymnasium.

The Lady Lakers (0-3), who trailed 40-31 after 24 minutes, had no answer for the Lady Eagles (3-3) late. Graves County used 9 of 14 shooting in the final 8 minutes to spark a 26-6 run. Calloway County went 3 of 12 from the field in the fourth quarter.

"If we think about it, looking back at our first three games, I think I have had to call a timeout in the early seconds of every fourth quarter to get us back mentally ready to play," CCHS head coach Valerie Waller said.

"I think this is a learning process. I've told the girls that they have to play four quarters because it's not going to come easy. Give Graves County credit for wanting it more than we did."

Waller doesn't believe fatigue was a factor.

"I think we had more of a mental lapse. I don't feel like fatigue was an issue," Waller said. "I think we gave up four 3-pointers in the fourth quarter after we defended that so well the first three quarters. We knew where (Bailey) Cartwright was at on the floor, but that just didn't happen in the fourth quarter. We made some defensive mistakes and let her get some looks."

Cartwright buried a pair of 3-pointers in the final 8 minutes and had three overall while scoring 11 points Friday. But she wasn't the only weapon in Graves County's arsenal.

Vogt leads Eagles past cold-shooting Calloway County

By JEFF ARENZ
Sports Editor

Graves County 6-foot-10 center Chris Vogt almost outscored Calloway County by himself in a 60-29 Region 1 win Friday at Jeffrey Gymnasium.

Vogt, who went 11-of-18 from the field, scored 24 points while collecting five rebounds and blocking two shots for the Eagles (3-2).

But Vogt was only a minor problem for the Lakers (1-3), who struggled to shoot all night long. Calloway County made 26 percent (11 of 42) from the field, including a frigid 9 percent (2 of 23) from 3-point range.

Before CCHS knew what was going on, the Lakers were staring at a 31-12 halftime deficit. After Graves County completed its 12-7 third-quarter run, the Eagles were ahead 43-19 with 8 minutes remaining.

"Graves County has a good team, probably a top three or top four team in our region. They got us on a night when we didn't shoot the ball really well," Calloway County head coach Terry Birdsong said.

The Lakers missed their first 13 3-point attempts before Peyton Johnson (11 points to lead the team) finally buried one with 4:48 left in the third quarter. Carson Chapman made another 3-pointer for the Lakers in the fourth quarter.

Birdsong, who was the Eagles head coach for seven seasons until returning to be the Lakers head coach for a second stint at the start of the 2014-2015 season, said he could see Graves County had a stockpile of younger talented players.

"When I left Graves County, I knew what they had coming up in a few years," Birdsong said. "This is not it. A lot of those kids they are playing as freshmen and sophomores. So, they're going to be a good team for a while."

"We talked at halftime about how we were not getting many offensive rebounds, but we were still getting beat in transition," Birdsong said. "Those two things should never be in the same basket. If you're not getting offensive rebounds, it means you're standing around on the perimeter."

Calloway County's Peyton Johnson drives the ball against a Graves County defender during a Region 1 game Friday at Jeffrey Gymnasium.

Birdsong said the Eagles imposed their physicality on Calloway County.

Graves County, which went 2 of 10 from 3-point land, didn't need to attempt many long-range shots. The Eagles worked to set up Vogt in the low post or ran successfully in transition.

Hunter Grant and Christian Gough each contributed seven points for Graves County, which used a 15-6 first-quarter run to establish control. Brendan Young chipped in six points in a reserve role.

Isaiah Butler, who was the Lakers' second-leading scorer, had five points off the bench. Jeremy Darnell, who had two first-half baskets, was next with four points.

Calloway County hosts Fulton County at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. ■

Waggoner combined to score 36 of Graves County's 66 points. Sheppard controlled the inside by making 8 of 10 shots en route to a game-high 19 points. Waggoner, who knocked down 7 of 15 field-goal attempts to add 17 points, made her presence felt on the outside and in transition.

Waggoner, Lyndi Qualls and Raychel Mathis also drained 3-pointers for GCHS.

Plagued by foul trouble in the first quarter, Charlee Settle had an early seat on the Lady Lakers' bench. When she re-entered the game, Settle had trouble finding her offensive rhythm. Calloway County's swingman, who came into Friday averaging 18 points and 14 rebounds in her first two games, was limited to two points on 1 of 5 shooting and five rebounds.

Alicia Hornbuckle was the main source of offense for CCHS, scoring a team-high 12 points on 5 of 20 shooting.

The Lady Eagles (23 of 47) outshot the Lady Lakers (16 of 47) 49 to 34 percent. Graves County (14 of 21, 67 percent) also made it to the free-throw line for twice as many opportunities as Calloway County (5 of 10, 50 percent).

Kelli Puckett added seven points for the Lady Lakers, who also received six more from Megan Greer.

Mathis added nine points for the Lady Eagles.

Calloway County will attempt to win its first game this season at 3:30 p.m. today, when the Lady Lakers host University Heights Academy at Jeffrey Gymnasium. ■

CCHS cheerleaders advance to state

Calloway County won the KHSAA Region 1 Medium Varsity Cheerleading Championship on Dec. 5 by beating Marshall County by 10 1/2 points. The Lakers advanced to the KHSAA state competition in Lexington today. Team members are seniors Lily Lowe and Tanna Robertson; juniors Claire Crosier, Kaylee Lax, Cassidy Mitchell and Sydney Roberts; sophomores Breaha Duncan, Devan Konchar, Montana Leab and Jordyn Wyatt; freshman Emily Brown; and eighth graders Ciara Ericson, Abby Mayfield, and Brooklyn Underwood. The team is coached by Samantha Thouvenot, assisted by Alli Bozarth and Shawna Munger.

third quarter, giving the Blue Tornado the cushion it would need in order to close out a gutsy fourth-quarter performance by the Tigers.

Fleener added that a steady change in offensive mindset was the difference in the game, with the Tigers electing for 3-point attempts after relying on a physical offensive attack.

"I thought Tilghman played really strong, defensively," Fleener said. "They kept us in front and made it tough for James to get to the rim. They gave up some 3's and we took them. We took 29 3's on the night and only made nine. If they're going to give those up, we better make a few more with the looks we got."

After a steady first half, Boone was held scoreless in the second half and the Tigers found themselves in a 13-point hole heading into the final frame after scoring single digits in two consecutive quarters.

McEwen wrecked havoc in the early moments of the fourth quarter, scoring six straight Tilghman buckets to bolster the lead to 60-41 with 4:24 to play.

Game Over?
 Not yet.

As they did in last season's regional tournament game, Murray High made a quick comeback when all hope seemed to be lost. Zach Fleener scored nine of his 14 points in the last 8 minutes as the Tigers surged for 20 points in a 3-minute span, capped off by Clark's steal and 3-point play to make it 69-61 with 1:10 remaining.

Hart responded with a 3-point play of his own and the Blue Tornado wrapped it up at the free-throw line as time eventually ran out on the Tiger's undefeated streak.

Murray High impressed on the glass with 22 rebounds, but it couldn't make up for the shooting woes.

"They got better shots than we did tonight," Fleener said.

"We came out down eight points in the third quarter and our first five shots were 3's. We tried to get it all back at once."

"Tilghman played really inspired," Fleener said. "Credit goes to them. Clearly they are the best team in the first region that we've seen. They're a force to be reckoned with."

It's a quick turnaround for Murray High. The Tigers (4-1) travel to Mayfield to take on the Cardinals at 6:30 p.m. today. ■

The Hunter's Guide

Late muzzleloader season set to open

As of Saturday, Dec. 12, the late muzzleloader season for deer will open in the Commonwealth and will run through Dec. 20 here in the west end of the state. Hunters may take deer of either sex with a muzzleloader but not more than one antlered buck. Kentucky has a one buck per year rule so if you have previously harvested an antlered deer in the archery, muzzleloader or modern rifle seasons, you cannot take another antlered deer. Kentucky defines "antlered deer" as any deer having visible antlers above the hairline.

As I said last week, Kentucky appears to be on track for a record deer harvest this year. With just average harvest numbers from here on out the take most likely will exceed the 150,000 mark. That's a lot of deer — especially when you factor in that nebulous number of deer that are killed but not reported to the official harvest record. This weekend looks like it may be a washout — especially on Sunday. Rain and muzzleloaders do not mix well and the old adage to "keep your powder dry" is more than just a quaint old saying.

In light of the recent state of affairs in this country, specifically the threat of terrorism and noise coming from Washington threatening gun bans and outright confiscation, it is no wonder that people are flocking to their local gun shop, some to purchase their first firearm. Let me say this first and foremost — Guns are not evil. People can be evil, however, and anything, guns included, in the hands of evil people tend to become instruments of evil.

So here is my advice to anyone and everyone. If you are inexperienced with firearms, take the concealed carry course that is offered by several certified instructors in our community. The course will teach the basics of firearm safety, laws and regulations regarding firearms possession and the essentials of firearm operation and shooting. After the course is completed, a person may apply for a concealed carry permit or you may just take the course for the instructional value.

In addition to seeking instruction, buy yourself a firearm. Go to a good, reputable dealer who will take the time to insure that you are aware of the available options so you can make an informed choice for your personal firearm. And yes, a firearm is a personal thing. These days there is more at stake than just taking a duck or a deer with your firearm, your life and the lives of others can depend on your choice of firearm and the comfort level you can achieve with the use of your gun.

There are several small firearms on the market now and no, they are not "Saturday night specials" thank you. The big players in the game are Ruger, Smith and Wesson, Glock, Sig, Walther, Springfield and Kimber. There are other brands that are also good but just not as well known. The key to choosing a personal firearm is determining the proper size. For concealment in a pocket or small purse, you will want the smallest, lightest pistol you can find. For home defense where size is not an issue, then a medium to full-size gun will suffice. For home defense many people like to have a short pump-action shotgun handy. A shotgun in any close-range situation is a formidable weapon.

By the way, the local radio station, in its infinite wisdom, has cancelled my radio show, Froggyland Outdoors, for reasons unknown to me. I suspect it has something to do with my statements about having faith in God and my warnings about radical Islamism and terrorism. The cancellation was immediate and unexpected. Thank you all for listening to the show over the past three years and for all the kind comments I have received.

QUIT LIKE A CHAMPION™

How does your body recover after smoking...

20 minutes

Your heart rate and blood pressure drop.

1 year

The excess risk of coronary heart disease is half that of a continuing smoker's.

12 hours

The carbon monoxide level in your blood drops to normal.

5 years

The risk of cancer of the mouth, throat, esophagus, and bladder is cut in half. Cervical cancer risk falls to that of a non-smoker. Stroke risk can fall to that of a non-smoker after 2-5 years.

2 weeks to 3 months

Your circulation improves, and your lung function increases.

10 years

The risk of dying from lung cancer is about half that of a person who is still smoking. The risk of cancer of the larynx (voice box) and pancreas decreases.

1-9 months

Coughing and shortness of breath decrease; cilia start to regain normal function in the lungs, increasing the ability to handle mucus, clean the lungs, and reduce the risk of infection.

15 years

The risk of coronary heart disease is that of a non-smoker's.

Netflix leads in Golden Globes nominations

FRAZIER MOORE
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The folks at TV's Big Four networks might as well have slept in Thursday morning and skipped the announcement of the Golden Globes nominations. In the latest sign of their lack of critical love and viewer size, commercial broadcasters ABC, CBS, Fox and NBC together scored a paltry nine nods (though three more than last year), while streaming service Netflix boosted its total from last year's seven to singlehandedly claim the lead with nine nominations distributed across six series ("Narcos," "Orange Is the New Black," "Grace and Frankie," "Bloodline," "House of Cards" and "Master of None") plus its original film, "Beast of No Nation."

Daniel Deza/Netflix via AP

This image released by Netflix shows Wagner Moura as Pablo Escobar in the Netflix Original Series "Narcos." The series was nominated for a Golden Globe award for best television drama on Thursday, Dec. 10, 2015. Moura was also nominated for best actor in a TV drama series. The 73rd Annual Golden Globes will be held on Jan. 10, 2016.

Fellow streaming video outlet Amazon snagged five nominations (up from two last year) and Hulu scored its first.

Grand total for digital on-demand outlets: 15.

With its two nominations, tiny broadcast outlet CW beat CBS' single mention (for supporting dramatic actor Alan Cumming in "The Good Wife") as well as NBC (which will air the Globes awardscast on Jan. 10, but was completely snubbed on Thursday by the Globes). CW's "Jane the Virgin" leading lady Gina Rodriguez — last year's winner — and "Crazy Ex-Girlfriend" star Rachel Bloom are pitted against each other in the musical or comedy actress category.

Broadcast networks were shut out altogether in the music or comedy series category, where they used to glow. "Casual," on Hulu, shares the category with "Mozart in the Jungle" and "Transparent" (both on Amazon), "Orange is the New Black" (Netflix), and "Silicon Valley" and "Veep" (HBO).

The nominees for best drama series include only Fox's breakout hit "Empire" among broadcast networks, plus USA's "Mr. Robot," Netflix's "Narcos," Starz' "Outlander" and "Game of Thrones" on HBO.

Even pay-cable network HBO, which traditionally ruled at awards time, has been humbled by this year's digital invasion. It has seven nominations, down from 15 last year.

Premium rival Showtime suffered a falloff, too, with last year's nine nominations shrinking to three.

But Starz, which had two nominations last year, enjoyed a happy uptick to six, spread across its series "Flesh & Bone," "Blunt Talk" and time-travel romance "Outlander," which got three nominations, including best drama, best actress (Caitriona Balfe) and best supporting actor (Tobias Menzies).

Fox, shut out last year, landed four nominations thanks to two for "Empire," plus Rob Lowe in the comedy actor category on its freshman "The Grinder" and Jamie Lee Curtis in its new horror-comedy "Scream Queens."

The most nominations for any show was three, scored by USA's quirky thriller "Mr. Robot" along with ABC's prestige drama "American Crime," FX's " Fargo," Starz' "Outlander," PBS' miniseries "Wolf Hall" and the much-honored Amazon comedy "Transparent."

The Hollywood Foreign Press Association, which bestows the Golden Globes, exhibited a lack of sentiment for AMC's "Mad Men," which completed its stellar run last season. Only Jon Hamm, in the dramatic actor category, was saluted.

FX's "The Americans," which seems to singularly suffer the role of best stealth drama (having been ignored for nearly every award in its three seasons, other than the prestigious Peabody), maintained that status by escaping Globes notice again this year. ■

Horoscope by Jacqueline Bigar

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Monday, Dec. 14, 2015:

This year you might feel as though you are not ready to take a leap of faith or assume new responsibilities, yet these obligations could land on you anyway. You have the wisdom and diligence to take the lead. You are likely to greet a promotion or pay raise. Your thoroughness will pay off. If you are single, you meet people from out of the blue when you least expect to. Know what you want from a relationship, and you will make good choices. If you are attached, you'll share more with your significant other. Remember, this relationship needs care. AQUARIUS can be provocative and fun.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

★★★★ You'll put a lot of energy into seeing the big picture. As a result, it will become clear which direction you should head in. Friends stand by you and encourage you to create more of what you want. Tonight: Meet a friend out for munchies after doing some shopping.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

★★★★ You have been considering some big, dynamic ideas. A partner could challenge your creativity. Recognize what you want from a project, and focus. An associate wants you to succeed, but he or she seems to be more uptight than you realize. Tonight: All eyes turn to you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

★★★★ A discussion will take you down a unique path. You might need to step back in order to see the big picture. You could feel uncomfortable with a situation seems to be problematic. Make an adjustment accordingly. Detach and become an observer. Tonight: Try something new.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

★★★★ You might want to switch gears and handle a personal matter differently. You also could opt to let someone else take this on, as this person is so sure of him- or herself. You will free up some spare time if you do. You will appreciate the space. Tonight: Time with a special person.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

★★★★ You have a lot of ground to cover, and you need to have an important discussion with a friend. Sometimes this person confuses you. Allow your creativity to come out. Your cheerfulness makes all the difference in the outcome. Tonight: Put up your feet and relax.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

★★★★ Others could be confusing, or possibly not on the same page as you. You are practical, while they tend to lean toward being idealistic. That might be the core problem with the conversation you're about to have. Tonight: Squeeze in some exercise if you can.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

★★★★ You might want to be serious and think only about business or work. You could have difficulty eliminating all other thoughts. Allow your imagination to drift to other areas of your life. You will need some important information. Tonight: A boss can be difficult to speak to.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

★★★★ Understand your limits. Your imagination will add more dimension to what would otherwise be a dull day. A money matter needs to be sorted out. Someone whom you find to be refreshing and caring adds a new dimension to your day or plans. Tonight: Head home early.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

★★★★ You will manage to ask the right questions, even if you don't receive the answers you desire. Do not push so hard to get to a certain point. Recognize that you are coming from a centered space, though you might not be as upbeat as usual. Tonight: Pay bills first.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

★★★★ Your instincts will help you discern how to handle a money decision. Still, you'll want to avoid taking any risks. News, calls and information comes in from a distance. A private discussion is likely to illuminate your thinking. Tonight: Take some much-needed personal time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

★★★★ Do more listening than talking. A partner will share many ideas, so don't discount them. Use self-discipline when dealing with your funds. A friend could be taxing and somewhat boring. Listen anyway; he or she might have wisdom to impart. Tonight: Where your friends are.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

★★★ Take your time when making a decision. Wait several days, if that is what you want to do. Time is your ally, even though your partner seems to want to act now. Much more is going to come up, so trust your instincts. Be diligent. Tonight: Relax in front of a warm fire.

Some grown children live at home because it works

DEAR ABBY: My heart breaks when jokes are made about older children, especially sons, who still live at home. My son "Nick" has his own area of the house and cares for himself. His rent helps us greatly. My parents also live in another part of the house, and he helps with their needs sometimes.

Dear Abby
by
Abigail Van Buren

Why does everyone make fun of these people without knowing the situation? Nick has a college degree and a good job, but the wages aren't what they were in relation to the cost of living. We both work full time, and so I rarely see him. He also travels for his job and can be gone for two weeks at a time. He used to own a home, but sold it to move out of state for work. When he came back, we set up this arrangement to benefit all of us.

People need to look at the whole picture before making a judgment. Abby, do you think this is an unacceptable arrangement? -- FAMILY EXTENDED IN KANSAS

DEAR FAMILY EXTENDED: Unacceptable? Not at all, if it's working for you and your family. In recent years it's become more common for adult children to live with their parents. People shouldn't rush to judgment if they don't have all of the facts.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has an extensive list of health issues, both mental and physical. His family has a history of cancer. Last week, we were given the news that he may have pancreatic cancer. He watched his brother die from the same disease, so we know that if he is diagnosed, he may not survive long. The doctors weren't able to make a definitive diagnosis, so there will be more testing. I love my husband with all my heart and have stood by him through everything.

My dilemma: After we got the news, I started thinking about what may happen to me after he dies. I thought about getting him more life insurance, selling the house, what to do with his belongings -- even where I would bury him. Am I a terrible person? I feel guilty for doing it and would appreciate your opinion. -- FILLED WITH ALL SORTS OF EMOTIONS

DEAR FILLED: Please stop beating yourself up. I can't think of a single reason why you should feel guilty for thinking rationally.

You and your husband are going through a traumatic health crisis right now. I hope his diagnosis of a terminal illness is premature and that you will enjoy many more happy years together. However, whatever lies ahead, the two of you are overdue for a conversation about what both of you would like to happen -- including a review of each other's health care powers of attorney.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a student in eighth grade. In September we had a shooting at the high school in my district. Honestly, I have no clue what to think.

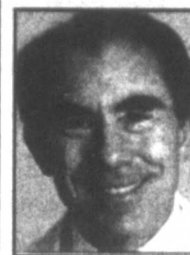

My dad always said that being in South Dakota, we are safer from the craziness that happens in more populated areas. We have little to no bad/dangerous kids in our district, so I still can't wrap my mind around it. It feels surreal.

I'll be in high school next year, and I don't know how I'm going to cope with the idea that it could happen again. -- SCARED IN SOUTH DAKOTA

DEAR SCARED: The student who acted out so violently may have suffered from a severe mental illness that wasn't properly treated, or may have been angry because he was bullied, excluded or felt discriminated against. While no one is 100 percent safe from violence these days, the chances of it happening to you are less if you treat others with the same respect and kindness with which you would like to be treated. If these concerns are preoccupying you, it's important that you continue to discuss them with your parents so they can give you the assurance you need.

With right preparation, walking in winter is fine

DEAR DOCTOR K: Last year I started a walking exercise program in the spring. But by winter the cold temperatures drove me indoors. This year I'd like to keep walking year-round. Any advice?

Dr. Komaroff
by
Dr. Anthony Komaroff

Warm up indoors. Cold air can make the transition to workout mode tougher. Doing an exercise warmup indoors will take stress off your heart and make winter walking feel easier.

Dressing in layers helps you stay warm and dry. Remove and replace layers during your walk as needed.

First layer: Start with a light synthetic fabric, such as CoolMax or polypropylene, closest to your skin on top and bottom. It will pull sweat away from your skin and dry quickly.

Second layer: This is your insulation. Look for a fleece, sweater or sweatshirt made of a synthetic fabric like Polartec or a wool blend that provides warmth while wicking away moisture. (Avoid cotton because it stays wet.)

Third layer: This one protects you from wind, rain or snow. A waterproof or water-resistant breathable jacket and pants, such as those made of Gore-Tex, will keep you warm and dry.

Protect extremities. Wear a thin, moisture-wicking pair of gloves underneath heavier mittens or gloves.

That way you can remove the outer layer without exposing your skin if your hands get sweaty. And don't forget a hat!

Cover your mouth and nose. This will warm the air as you inhale, making it easier to breathe on very cold or windy days.

Wear shoes with rugged soles. You may need to trade in your regular walking shoes for a sturdier, hiking-style pair for better traction and more warmth.

Get noticed. If you must walk when the light is dim, wear reflective gear so motorists can see you.

Watch out for trouble signs. Head indoors at the first signs of frostbite (numbness, loss of feeling, or a stinging sensation in your fingers or toes) or hypothermia (intense shivering).

Stay hydrated. You can become dehydrated in the winter, too. Drink plenty of water before you begin your walk. You may also need to carry water with you.

Always check with your doctor before exercising in cold weather if you have health conditions such as asthma, heart problems or Raynaud's disease that can be made worse by the cold.

Some avid walkers (not joggers) have a preferred winter walking alternative, eliminating the need for all of the above advice. They drive to a large indoor mall and walk briskly around the mall for 30 to 60 minutes at least five days a week. That's worth considering.

Today In History

Today is Saturday, Dec. 12, the 346th day of 2015. There are 19 days left in the year.

On Dec. 12, 1915, singer-actor Frank Sinatra was born Francis Albert Sinatra in Hoboken, New Jersey.

In 1787, Pennsylvania became the second state to ratify the U.S. Constitution.

In 1870, Joseph H. Rainey of South Carolina became the first black lawmaker sworn into the U.S. House of Representatives.

In 1906, President Theodore

Roosevelt nominated Oscar Straus to be secretary of Commerce and Labor; Straus became the first Jewish Cabinet member.

In 1917, Father Edward Flanagan founded Boys Town outside Omaha, Nebraska.

In 1925, the first motel -- the Motel Inn -- opened in San Luis Obispo, California.

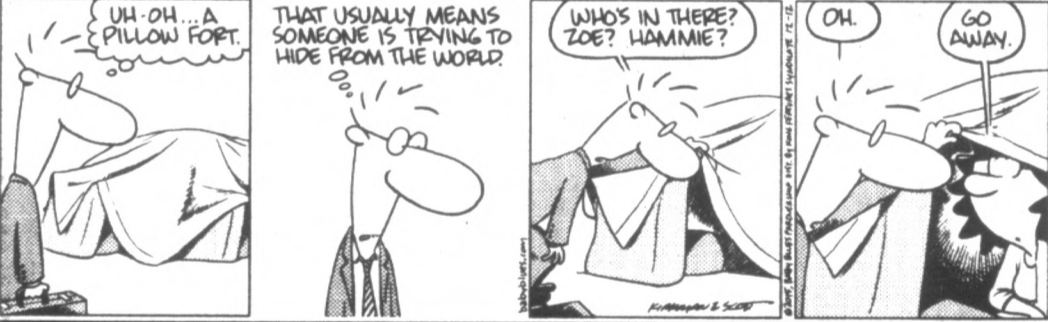

In 1946, a United Nations committee voted to accept a six-block tract of Manhattan real estate offered as a gift by John D. Rockefeller Jr. to be the site of the U.N.'s headquarters.

In 1975, Sara Jane Moore asked a federal court in San Francisco to allow her to plead guilty to trying to kill President Gerald R. Ford. (After the judge ruled Moore competent to change her plea, she was sentenced to life. Moore was released on parole on New Year's Eve 2007 after serving 32 years behind bars.)

In 1985, 248 American soldiers and eight crew members were killed when an Arrow Air charter crashed after takeoff from Gander, Newfoundland.

CATS GET EQUAL TIME

Dear Readers: A recent column addressed dogs' feeding schedules, and for fairness' sake, it's CAT time! Yes, I know, it's always cat time, on their time!

Just like dogs, experts usually recommend feeding cats twice a day, or what fits your household schedule.

The average cat should weigh between 8 and 10 pounds, so they say! But, of course, that does vary, depending on the cat.

The general "look and see" test is to look down at the cat's backbone, and there should be an indent at the "waist" line. If you can't feel ribs, or if there is a glob or paunch between the legs, it's diet time! It may be cute when your cat sits up and that fat roll between the back legs puffs out, but it's not healthy.

If you want to get your kitty healthy, check with the veterinarian before making changes in food or schedule. Less food and more exercise (just like humans!) typically is the "recipe" for getting Kitty lean.

Your cat CANNOT open the refrigerator door -- no scraps or high-calorie people food for your kitty!

Gradually cut down the amount of food -- don't suddenly cut back!

As for exercise, it's easy! Scratching posts, laser pointers and adopting a buddy for the cat to play with all can do the trick!

Meow, meow, for a streamlined feline. -- Heloise

P.S.: Use an old fishing pole, and attach a cat toy to the end of the line. You can cast, reel and get your cat moving.

HOROSCOPES

CAPRICORN: Dec 22 - Jan 20
Restlessness has you looking for a brief vacation to somewhere within driving distance, Capricorn. It is a great time of year for a road trip to take in the foliage.

AQUARIUS: Jan 21 - Feb 18
Aquarius, it may take a while to wrap your head around a particularly trying problem. If you cannot come to a resolution on your own, ask a friend to share his or her perspective.

PISCES: Feb 19 - Mar 20
Simplify your life any way you can this week, Pisces. You will benefit from few responsibilities and no worries.

ARIES: Mar 21 - Apr 20
Aries, you have a natural sense of what people want. You may find yourself playing the role of peacemaker this week, and it's a role you will excel in.

TAURUS: Apr 21 - May 21
Your goals are commendable, Taurus. By Friday you may find there are some things you need to take charge of. Don't worry when things get hectic, as you will get the job done.

GEMINI: May 22 - Jun 21
This is a good week to reshape and renew a personal philosophy on spirituality, Gemini. You'll experience breakthroughs in compassion and communication.

CANCER: Jun 22 - Jul 22
Cancer, you are pondering a trip out of town. A secluded cabin or campsite may be the way to go. You will find plenty of great options if you ask around for recommendation.

LEO: Jul 23 - Aug 23
There's more to you than meets the eye, Leo. But people often seem content with what they gleam from the surface. This week you will show them a different side.

VIRGO: Aug 24 - Sept 22
You're not content to be just part of the party this week, Virgo. You want to be the center of attention. You just may get your chance later in the week when a social occasion pops up.

LIBRA: Sept 23 - Oct 23
Libra, don't grow discouraged when your first try at something doesn't work out as you had expected. You will have plenty of opportunities to try again.

SCORPIO: Oct 24 - Nov 22
Patience has not always been your strong suit, Scorpio. When you set your eyes on a prize this week, you will do anything within your power to get it.

SAGITTARIUS: Nov 23 - Dec 21
Sagittarius, you know that complaining about a situation is not likely to make it change anytime soon. Instead, put your words into action and attempt to change things for the better.
