Solid Waste meeting draws large crowd of residents

By JOHN WRIGHT
Staff Writer

Some audience members of Monday afternoon's Calloway County Solid Waste Committee meeting came to simply vent.

Others came to hear about the progress the committee is making toward developing a new and tougher ordinance aimed at combatting the areas residents say soils their community's appearance.

However, in the end, nearly everyone packed into the first-floor conference room of the Calloway County Courthouse seemed to have the same idea. They want these areas that they believe can be classified as nuisances, to be cleaned up and the property owners punished.

"Is there anyone here in this room who disagrees with that idea?" asked Calloway County Attorney Bryan Ernstberger, receiving no opposition voices from the audience of about 25. One even voiced an emphatic "No!" after Ernstberger asked the question.

While getting to the heart of the matter might have caused disagreements Monday, some quite heated at times, the committee itself seemed quite pleased with the heavy attendance.

"This is democracy in action right here. Thanks to everyone

Human Rights Commission prepares for future events

By JORDAN FERGUSON
Staff Writer

On Monday the City of Murray Human Rights Commission met to iron out details for a series of upcoming events planned for this year.

The commission discussed the organization of various activities which would correspond with Human Rights Awareness week, set for the third week of April. Among ideas discussed were educational endeavors among local high schools and Murray State, to facilitate an understanding of what human rights are.

Since this is an election year, the commission also discussed the idea of educational activities in the realm of voting rights, potentially to be held at the Calloway County Public Library, and Murray State University. This would be done to better familiarize local residents, as well as collegiate students from outside of Murray, with their voting districts and locations.

The commission also discussed an HRC signature event which is set to be held sometime in October. Potential venues, caterers, guest speakers and a need for more sponsors were all items which were discussed in relation to the event.

Grimes announces online voter registration in Kentucky

Special to The Ledger

Kentuckians are now able to register to vote using the Commonwealth's online voter registration portal at GoVoteKY.com, Secretary of State Alison Lundergan Grimes announced today. Grimes also announced a key partnership between her office and Microsoft, which will assist in registering voters across the Commonwealth. A statewide GoVoteKY.com Tour will begin this week to educate and register voters.

"Kentucky made history today. This is an amazing milestone for the Commonwealth," said Grimes. "We've allowed paper to be taken out of the process. Every eligible Kentuckian may now go online to register to vote or update their registration with ease and speed."

The portal, GoVoteKY.com, can be accessed via computer or smart-

GOP 1st Congressional candidates speak at Lincoln Reagan Dinner

By JOHN WRIGHT
Staff Writer

Though it was not in a debate format, all three of the Republican Party's candidates for Kentucky 1st District Congressman were in the same room this past weekend in Murray.

Former Kentucky Agriculture Commissioner James Comer of Tompkinsville, current Hickman County Attorney Jason Batts of Clinton and Michael Pape of Hopkinsville, longtime district director for the man who is retiring from that position after 11 terms in Washington, Ed Whitfield, all took turns at the podium during Saturday's annual West Kentucky Lincoln Reagan Dinner at Murray State University.

The segment was free of sparring among the candidates; no barbs really were tossed in anyone's direction. However, each candidate did not hold back in expressing their philosophies after a rather unusual drawing of

Lyons second in American Legion Oratory Scholarship Program

Trent Lyons of Murray recently placed second in the 2016 American Legion Oratory Scholarship Program. A senior at Murray High School, Trent represented American Legion Post 73 of Murray, the First District and Area "A" of the American Legion in western Kentucky. He accumulated a total of $2,550.00 in scholarship funds for his efforts.

Commander Mike Nutter of Post 73 and Mark Kennedy, First District and Area A coordinator, both expressed their pride in Trent. "Trent represented our post, district and area in an exemplary manner and his prepared oration about our American Constitution was an inspiring oration," Nutter said.

Kennedy added that it is his wish that more high school students, aided by their counselors, speech coaches, principals and teachers, will participate in next year's contest. "Any high school student under the age of 20 can compete to win up to $18,000 in scholarships and area schools will get information in August/September about the 2017 contest," Kennedy stated.

LBL maintenance burns are planned for March

Special to the Ledger

The U.S. Forest Service will conduct a series of small burns to maintain facilities, such as campgrounds, at Land Between The Lakes National Recreation Area beginning in March, weather permitting.

"Our goal is to reduce hazardous fuels such as debris from flooding, leaves from clogged culverts and brush piles from hazard trees removed across the recreation area over the past year," says Todd Lerke, fire management specialist at Land Between The Lakes. "Another goal is to improve aesthetics in campgrounds and other areas for everyone who visits this spring." These burns may be visible from all directions coming into Land Between The Lakes.

Land Between The Lakes National Recreation Area manages more than 170,000 acres in western Kentucky and Tennessee as part of the Forest Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture's public lands program. Land Between The Lakes offers outdoor recreation, lake access, land management, and environmental education to over 1.4 million visitors annually. The Friends of Land Between The Lakes works in partnership with the Forest Service providing program services, funds development, and volunteer support.

2 charged after going over Cumberland Falls in kayaks

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky officials say two men have been charged with trespassing after going over Cumberland Falls in kayaks last weekend.

State Department of Parks spokesman Gil Lawson says a ranger cited Dane Jackson and Nicholas Troutman after they came off the river below the falls, the Lexington Herald-Leader reports.

The charge is a misdemeanor. The two weren't available for comment Monday, but they posted video and comments on their Facebook pages. Lawson did not have information on where the two were from or their ages.

Both said on Facebook they are champion kayakers.

Lawson said the two went over the falls in separate kayaks about 6 p.m. Saturday.

He says the Parks Department strongly discourages anyone from attempting to go over the falls because of the danger of death or injury. ■

Facing backlash, Clinton says coal still has a future

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Facing a backlash from Appalachian Democrats, Hillary Clinton's campaign on Monday tried to reaffirm her commitment to coal communities one day after declaring on national television she was going to "put a lot of coal miners and coal companies out of business."

Clinton's comments came during a Sunday night appearance on CNN, where she was asked a question about how her policies would benefit poor white people in southern states who generally vote Republican.

"I'm the only candidate, who has a policy about how to bring economic opportunity, using clean renewable energy as the key, into coal country. Because we're going to put a lot of coal miners and coal companies out of business," Clinton said. "We're going to make it clear that we don't want to forget those people."

Clinton was touting a plan she released last year that would set aside $30 billion to protect the health benefits for coal miners and their families. But her quip about putting coal miners out of business gave Republicans a perfect soundbite to use against her in states like Kentucky and West Virginia, where the party has made historic gains in coal communities in recent years by running against President Barack Obama's energy policies.

"I think every voter in the state of Kentucky needs to hear what she said," said Jonathan Shell, a Kentucky state representative who is leading Republican efforts to take control of the state House of Representatives in November, the last legislative chamber in the South still controlled by Democrats. ■ swords to determine the order they would speak, with the candidate drawing the shortest sword leading off the speaking.

That went to Comer, who talked about not just keeping the Congressional seat Republican but continuing a trend of turning western Kentucky in general toward the GOP.

"Fifteen years ago, there weren't many Republican state representatives in Frankfort. Now we have all but one (Democrat Gerald Watkins in Paducah). There are also weren't any Republican county judge-executives then and I've said many times that if you change the courthouses, you can change the direction and we now have two (Larry Elkins in Calloway County and Kenny Wilson in Hickman County)," Comer said.

"Now your hard work is paying off, but we need the next generation to emerge and stand up. People are fed up. They're fed up with overregulation from the EPA, Corps of Engineers and OSHA.

"When I was agriculture commissioner, I filed suit against (President Barack) Obama and won (over Kentucky's right to grow industrial hemp). I say let's audit the government. Let's audit the Pentagon. Let's see how our money is being spent."

Batts made history last year when he became the first Republican to be elected county attorney in his home area. He said he is running for Congress because he wants to be an alternative to "career politicians."

"We hear that the government knows best and so many members of the liberal media tell us to sit down and go away," Batts said. "We believe in the power of the individual to determine where they want to go, not government." Batts also spoke of his experience as a military veteran and how he feels the American government has not done its job protecting those who protect the country.

JOHN WRIGHT / Ledger & Times

"They've failed us," he said, referring specifically to a fatal shooting of four Marines last year in Chattanooga, Tennessee. "They told us to take uniforms off (as a protective measure for recruiters following the shootings). They said it was for our protection. I'm here to tell you, fighters of the military don't ever take their uniform off."

"There was a time the American military was turned loose, not turned back. It's not going to be easy. They say you and I shouldn't take on the establishment, but I took an oath to defend this country and I choose to honor that"

Pape was the only one to move in the direction of confronting his opponents, explaining that he believes his 21 years with Whitfield have prepared him best to work on Capitol Hill on Day 1.

"I bring more to the table than anyone in this race. People talk about 'pushing back' against Washington. I've been pushing back for 20 years. It's nothing new to me," Pape said, explaining that early in his post-collegiate years at MSU he thought he might be ready for a challenge like Congress. "Looking back, I know I wasn't prepared."

He also talked of Whitfield and how it did not take long to accept his offer to be part of his team.

"After college I went into business because I wanted to make a difference and that's always been a big thing to me, making a difference. Then I looked at Ed Whitfield and said, 'There's a man who has a lot of (former President Ronald) Reagan's ideas. I can make a difference with him,'" Pape said. ■

Sudoku is a number-placing puzzle based on a 9x9 grid with several given numbers. The object is to place the numbers 1 to 9 in the empty squares so that each row, each column and each 3x3 box contains the same number only once. The difficulty level of the Conceptis Sudoku increases from Monday to Sunday.

Mom taking step into dating is tripped up by daughter

DEAR ABBY: I'm a single mom in my 40s and my daughter is 12. After my last relationship, 10 years ago (not with her father), I took a leave of absence from the dating world to concentrate on myself and being the best mother I could.

Fast-forward: When I attempt to talk to anyone of the opposite sex, my daughter has a fit. She has hidden my car keys and my phone, pouts if I go out and behaves like an all-out brat. I have reassured her that I love her and always will. Also, I would never allow someone around her if I had any suspicion that he might not be good for her. Nothing works. I have spoken with only one person I would even think of introducing her to, but I am afraid of her attitude.

Abby, what's the best way to enter into the dating world without hurting my child? I want to date, but my child won't let me. -- ENTERING THE DATING WORLD AGAIN

DEAR ENTERING: Your daughter likes things just the way they are and views any disruption as a threat to her lifestyle. The best way to enter into the dating world would be to do it without consulting her. IF and when you meet someone and things become serious, introduce them then -- in a casual way. If she acts up, remember that YOU are the parent.

Your daughter doesn't have to "love" someone because you do. She does, however, have to treat that person with the same respect with which you treat her friends -- and you should insist upon it. You are the parent, and it's up to you to enforce the rules for as long as she lives with you.

DEAR ABBY: My girlfriend and I are getting ready to move to a new city in six months (each of us for our own careers) and plan to move in together. Some issues still need to be ironed out before we make that commitment, and my biggest concern is the anger and resentment she carries toward her semi-estranged father.

I understand where it comes from and why, but it worries me to see how quickly and completely it can overwhelm her personality. I lack comparable experience, so I struggle to have constructive conversations with her about it. But I can't accept this poisonous volatility as a feature of our life together. I believe that speaking to someone would help her deal with these feelings in a healthier, more constructive way, but she rejects that idea.

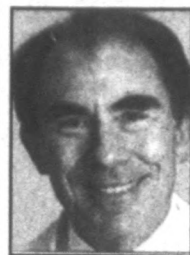

I don't want to bully her into counseling, but I feel like I have to do something before we take this next step, for both our sakes. Would it be wrong to tell her she has to start seeing someone before I commit to moving in together? -- HESITATING IN FLORIDA

DEAR HESITATING: No, it would not be wrong. If your girlfriend's problems with her father bleed over into her relationship with you -- and it appears they have -- it would be a mistake for you to move in together because it won't last.

Good advice for everyone -- teens to seniors -- is in "The Anger in All of Us and How to Deal With It." To order, send your name and mailing address, plus check or money order for $7 (U.S. funds) to: Dear Abby, Anger Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, IL 61054-0447. (Shipping and handling are included in the price.)

Husband quitting alcohol should consult doctor first

DEAR DOCTOR K: My husband has a problem with alcohol. He has finally decided to quit and has set a date for his final drink. How will his body react once he stops? Is there anything we can do to help ease his withdrawal symptoms?

DEAR READER: Alcohol withdrawal refers to the changes the body goes through when a person who has been drinking heavily for a long time suddenly stops.

Alcohol has a slowing effect on the brain. In a heavy, long-term drinker, the brain is almost continually exposed to this depressant effect of alcohol. In response, the brain adjusts its own chemistry to compensate. It does so by producing larger-than-normal amounts of stimulating chemicals.

If a person suddenly stops drinking alcohol, the brain is still bathed in the stimulating chemicals -- but no longer has the alcohol to slow it down. It's like a car with the gas pedal floored that has lost its brakes. Not surprisingly, most withdrawal symptoms occur when the brain is overstimulated.

The symptoms of alcohol withdrawal occur in a predictable pattern after the final drink. Not all people experience all symptoms: -- TREMORS (shakes). These usually begin within five to 10 hours after the last drink and typically peak at 24 to 48 hours. Along with tremors (trembling), they include a rapid pulse, an increase in blood pressure, rapid breathing, sweating, nausea and vomiting, anxiety or a hyper-alert state, irritability, nightmares or vivid dreams and insomnia.

-- ALCOHOL HALLUCINOSIS. This symptom usually begins within 12 to 24 hours after the last drink, and may last as long as two days once it begins. If this happens, a person sees, hears or feels things that are not real.

-- ALCOHOL WITHDRAWAL SEIZURES. Seizures may occur six to 48 hours after the last drink. It is common for several seizures to occur over several hours. The risk peaks at 24 hours.

-- DELIRIUM TREMENS. This is the most dangerous form of alcohol withdrawal. This condition occurs in about one out of every 20 people who have withdrawal symptoms. Its peak intensity is usually four to five days after the last drink.

People suffering from delirium tremens are very agitated and have hallucinations. In my experience, they often see animals that aren't there -- domesticated and wild. They have very rapid pulse, rapid breathing, high blood pressure, very high fevers and profuse sweating. They may get severely dehydrated, and their body minerals can get dangerously out of balance. If untreated, delirium tremens can be fatal.

It sounds as though your husband is planning to quit at home. Before he does, he should consult with his doctor. The doctor may think it is safer if he is in a medical setting. If not, the doctor can give him advice and prescribe medicines to make withdrawal symptoms more tolerable. If your husband experiences severe vomiting, seizures or delirium tremens during withdrawal, let his doctor know -- but also get him to a hospital. He will need to be under medical care ASAP.

Today In History

Today is Tuesday, March 15, the 75th day of 2016. There are 291 days left in the year.

Today's Highlights in History:

On March 15, 1916, a U.S. expeditionary force led by Brig. Gen. John J. Pershing entered Mexico on an ultimately futile mission to capture Pancho Villa, whose raiders had attacked Columbus, New Mexico, killing 18 U.S. citizens. Trumpet player and bandleader Harry James was born in Albany, Georgia.

On this date: In 44 B.C., Roman dictator Julius Caesar was assassinated by a group of nobles that included Brutus and Cassius.

In 1767, the seventh president of the United States, Andrew Jackson, was born in Waxhaw, South Carolina.

In 1820, Maine became the 23rd state.

In 1922, Sultan Fuad I proclaimed himself the first king of modern Egypt.

In 1935, the Busby Berkeley movie musical "Gold Diggers of 1935" was released by Warner Bros. In 1956, the Lerner and Loewe musical play "My Fair Lady," based on Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion," opened on Broadway.

In 1966, at the 8th Annual Grammy Awards, "A Taste of Honey," performed by Herb Alpert & the Tijuana Brass, was named Record of the Year, while Frank Sinatra's

Hints From Heloise

IN THE BAG OR NOT? Dear Heloise: It seems that most upright vacuum cleaners sold these days are BAGLESS. What is the advantage of this, other than not having to buy bags? It is very messy to clean them out. Dust flies everywhere. -- A Reader, via email

I'm with you! I have two bagless ones that sit in the garage because it was a pain in the ... neck ... to clean out that plastic cup, and it happened way too often. And, as you said, messy! Some people like bagless vacuums because the canisters are reusable and environmentally friendly, and you can see when it needs to be emptied. It's really your call. I use two robot-type round cleaners and love them! I've nicknamed them Rambo Zamboni and II. Put them in a room, shut the door and they do the work! It's funny to see them

by Heloise

scouting down the hall! -- Heloise

PROOF OF SALE Dear Heloise: I have used the scan or "take a photo" application on my cellphone when checking out at a store. It keeps the line moving. I look for bargains and find that the scanner does not always register the right price. If it is something tagged by the store at a lesser price, I take a photo and show it to the cashier. This saves them calling for a price check and holding up the line. -- Pat S. in San Antonio

Love your hint -- saves money and shows consideration of other shoppers! -- Heloise

CHECK DRAIN Dear Heloise: I travel quite a bit, but have just noticed this in the past couple of stays at a hotel. Maybe it's just the hotel I stayed at (I am a member of a rewards program), but I think it's a good hint for travelers.

Check the sink and bathtub drain BEFORE running water. My last two stays, I turned on the shower and realized too late that I was filling the tub because housekeeping had closed the drain.

I checked the sink, and that drain also was closed. I now will always check this when staying in any hotel room. (The next day, after housekeeping had been in the room, the drains were both closed.) Hope this helps other travelers. -- Helen D., via email

Helen, oh yes! How about this: You want to run a bath and the shower comes on, soaking your head! I've done that one toooooo many times. -- Heloise

EASY PULL Dear Heloise: You recently published a hint about using clear tape to pull credit cards, IDs, etc., from a snug wallet slot. The tape doesn't hold up very well, so I use a small adhesive bandage, folded across the middle of the gauze area, and press the sticky ends on either side of the card. Be sure not to cover the "chip" on the newer cards. -- Jane A., Beavercreek, Ohio

MOVING FURNITURE Dear Heloise: To ease the effort of sliding furniture on rugs, simply place a thin magazine between each leg/rug interface. -- Jim P., via email

Send a money-saving or timesaving hint to Heloise, P.O. Box 795000, San Antonio, TX 78279-5000, or you can fax it to 1-210-HELOISE or email it to Heloise(at)Heloise.com. I can't answer your letter personally but will use the best hints received in my column.

Horoscope

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Wed., March 16, 2016: This year you will become well-known for your flights of fantasy as well as for your ability to imagine what others cannot. As a result, people often head your way when they have a problem to solve. If you are single, you are likely to stumble into a very special relationship. This person easily could be Mr. or Ms. Right. Try not to push this person to move too fast. If you are attached, your relationship indirectly serves as your muse. Treat your significant other as a friend as well as the love of your life. CANCER shows his or her feelings even more than you do.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)  Follow your instincts no matter what you are dealing with. As a result, you might come up with some wild, great ideas. Someone whose feedback you respect will be quite impressed. This person will step out of your way.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)  You could be forced to rethink a plan. Your perspective on a certain problem seems to have changed. Your creativity will open up to many possibilities, as long as you drop self-imposed restrictions. A friend will help you see another path as well.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)  Even with your flirtatious ways, you can become quite jealous. Right now, because of the expression of affection between you and someone else, you might feel more complete than usual. You could end up in an intense one-on-one talk.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)  Others are working with you, and you don't have the normal hassles to deal with. Reach out to someone you have not seen in a while. All of the sharing from different parties brings a change in perspective, not only for you, but also for a loved one.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)  You might not feel up to snuff, so you'll probably want to schedule a lengthy nap. Listen to your inner thoughts, as they will point you in the right direction. A partner proves to be unusually imaginative.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)  Your friends will prove how supportive they are. A partner or loved one helps you digest a very romantic and dynamic thought. You might not be ready to hear the implications involved yet, as so many other ideas are being presented.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)  A situation tosses you into prominence. You could be taken aback by others' willingness to make an adjustment and follow your suggestions. A domestic matter seems to transform itself without a lot of work. Be pleased, and just go with the flow.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)  Work with others on a one-on-one level. The results you get could delight you. Reach out to those who seem to demonstrate an ability to see the big picture. Your sixth sense comes through for you in a way that you might not have anticipated.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)  Deal with a friend or loved one directly. You could be so overwhelmed by what you hear, whether it is good or bad news, that you might feel the need to have a separate conversation to clarify what you have heard. You work well in general with one other person.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)  It appears as if others are in control right now. Don't fight the trend, and allow them to tend to matters that normally are your priority. Assume that you will have extra time, and figure out what you'd like to do. Try to squeeze in some fun.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)  You clearly have a lot to get done, and you have the intention to do just that. Keep in mind a recent example of a boss pointing to wasted time. You will do an excellent job of catching up. What is clear is that you find your own rhythm.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)  Your imagination carries you into new realms with very different ideas. Do not deny the inevitable; instead, go with the flow. A friendship draws your attention, perhaps because this person is controlling and/or has profoundly changed,

Tigers, Lady Tigers salute history

MHS has night to celebrate hoops

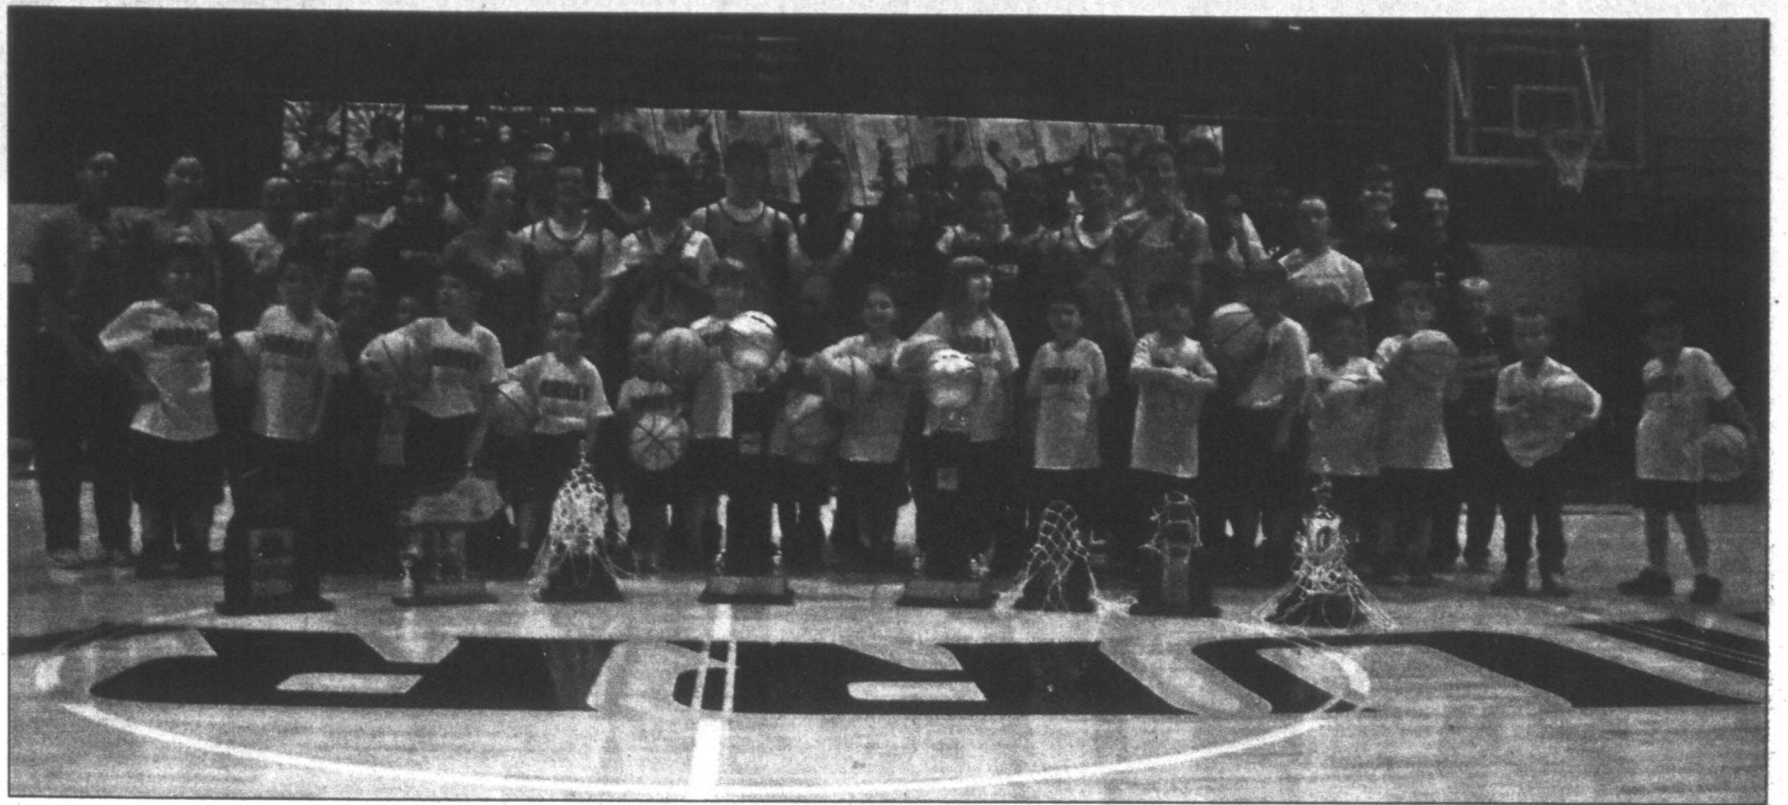

By BRYCE RUDD
Sports Reporter

Winning their first Region 1 title since 1985, it seemed as if there was no time to celebrate all the accolades the Murray High Tigers had already accomplished with a trip to Rupp Arena at the KHSAA Boys Basketball State Tournament in Lexington already on the horizon.

So, MHS head coach Bart Flener made time.

On Monday night, a slew of Tigers, Lady Tigers and Little Tigers were honored and celebrated inside Murray High's Taylor Gymnasium, while fans had a once-in-a-lifetime chance to get specialized autographs, meet their favorite MHS basketball players and see the trophies in their rightful homes for the first time.

A spring sports festival, with proceeds benefiting the Tigers' meals in Lexington during the next week, featured a catered dinner for the players, a meet-and-greet with the Region 1 Tournament champion Tigers and KHSAA Girls Basketball State Tournament semifinalist Lady Tigers and the opportunity to grab a commemorative T-shirt with the catchy slogan "Follow the Gold Brick Road to Rupp Arena" printed across the front, complete with the scores of the Tigers' Region 1 Tournament victories against Hickman County, Paducah Tilghman and McCracken County.

The Murray Little Dribblers and the Murray High boys and girls basketball teams pose for a photo after a pep rally celebrating the Lady Tigers' semifinalist appearance in the KHSAA Girls Basketball State Tournament on Saturday at Northern Kentucky University's BB&T Arena and the Tigers' send off to the first round of the KHSAA Boys Basketball Tournament at 11 a.m. Wednesday at the University of Kentucky's Rupp Arena.

Though nothing like this has every taken place before, it's hard to imagine if and when such an event will ever be put together again, making the night all the more special to those fortunate enough to be in attendance.

"This is Roaring to Rupp, a night with the Tigers," Flener said. This is a homecoming celebration for the Lady Tigers as well, coming off a Final Four appearance at the state tournament. We're sending our Tigers off to Rupp Arena in style. It's tough to feed a group of teenage boys when you've got about 20 in your traveling party."

With the option of having a individual players photo autographed by Murray High standouts like Maddie Waldrop and Macey Turley, or collecting the whole gang in a team shot, the fans were treated to a program that took off minutes later inside Taylor Gymnasium, with spotlight player introductions, a Little Dribblers exhibition and the Murray High cheerleading squad performing its state tournament routines.

With the recently-found fame, no player could use the exposure in the limelight more than Tigers center Tre Hornbuckle, who will be signing plenty of autographs while he plays football for Duke University this fall.

"It's kind of fun. I've never done anything like this before. It's good experience for not only me, but also the whole team. We're enjoying this time together. I love it and I know the rest of the team loves it. The kids love it and that's what matters," Horn-buckle said.

While the extra exposure is certain to fuel the fan base for Wednesday's first-round state tournament contest against the Buckhorn Wildcats (19-15 from Region 14), Murray High's intention was rooted for the celebration of what was already accomplished, including the Lady Tigers' run to the Final Four last week in their state tournament.

"It's been 31 years, so we just wanted to celebrate. We hope to come back with a huge celebration because we won it all but, at the same time, we wanted to stop and celebrate the regional championship and the girls accomplishments," Flener said. "We wanted our guys to enjoy this evening and to feel good about being a star for the night as we prepare to head out."

The nightcap, was no doubt a motivational tactic; Maybe the biggest one of the evening.

Jay Wells, a member of the 1985 regional championship team, the last squad the Tigers sent to Rupp Arena, was the keynote speaker, addressing Murray

MSU Sports Information

JACKSON, Tenn. — Murray State senior Preston French fired a career-low 7-under 65 and goes into the final round of the Grover Page Classic one shot off the lead at Jackson Country Club.

French's opening 65 came just two weeks after he shot a 66 (March 1) in Arizona. Coupled with his second round 75, French is one shot off the lead at 140 behind Arkansas State's Andrew Huseman who carded scores of 69-70—139 (-5).

When the final round begins Tuesday, French will try to make it back-to-back titles at the Grover Page Classic after Murray State's Jordan Smith won it a year ago. French's only win as a Racer came in his 2013 freshman season at the MSU Invitational at Miller Memorial.

The Racers were tied with ASU for the lead after the morning round at 282, but faltered in the afternoon with a 299. MSU's 581 had the Racers in a share of fourth place with Tennessee Tech. ASU (566) leads host UT Martin (569) by three shots and third-place Southern Illinois (572) by six shots.

Other Murray State competitors included Duncan McCormick who was in 24th place after scores of 72-74—146. Brock Simmons had a spot in 30th place after rounds of 72-75—147 and Jared Gosser had a spot in 35th place with scores of 73-75—148. Gabe Wheeler's scores of 79-75—154 were good for a spot in 49th place.

MSU's Matthew Zakutney is playing the event as an individual and was in 12th place overall with scores of 72-72—144.

Nicholls State (583) was in sixth place, while Samford (593), New Orleans (594), Tennessee State (609) made up the top-10. John A. Logan (610), Union (TN) (611) and Jackson State (623) rounded out the 12-team field.

The Jackson Country Club is playing to a par of 72 and 6,776 yards.

The field of 73 players will begin today's final round with a shotgun start at 8:30 a.m.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — The Murray State softball team took care of Jacksonville 9-1 in five innings Sunday at the Pruitt Softball Complex. The win sent the Racers home from their Florida road trip at 2-2.

Murray State wasted no time scoring in the contest, as senior Shelby Miller scored on a RBI fielder's choice by Taylor Odum in the first. Miller expanded the lead in the second with a two-run home run, her first of the season.

The Racers (8-10) blew the game open in the third by scoring five runs, with four coming on a pair of two-RBI singles by Miller and junior Cayla Levins. Levins would add another run in the fifth on another single, to

Lakers claim SAF Murray State Open

Staff Report

GILBERTSVILLE — The third edition of the Student Angler Federation's Murray State University Open was held Saturday at Kentucky Dam Marina with 110 teams competing.

One of Calloway County's freshmen teams, Colton Noel and Allen Mullins, walked away with the win after bagging a limit that slammed the scales at 27 pounds.

Overcast skies and calm waters played an important role in the Lakers' win. Mullins said that fishing off the points seemed to be most successful in moderately deep water using plastics. Noel said jerk-baits worked well in increasing their limit and then they started the culling process. Mid-morning proved best as they decided to stop at noon with their limit in the wells.

The winning anglers won trophies and, most importantly, an automatic bid to the Southeast Regionals which will be held on Lake Cumberland in September. This is the second time in three years Calloway County has earned a spot in the prestigious tournament. This is the first year the tournament will be held at Lake Cumberland, and it will prove to be a challenge in late summer.

Henderson County finished second and always favored, Muhlenberg County, rounded out the top three.

CCHS anglers Andrew Douglas and Colton Cox worked together to net the Big Bass Award. Douglas' catch weighed in at 6 pounds, 9 ounces and helped the team finish in the top 25 percent of the field with two fish that to-

Exec: Link between CTE, head trauma

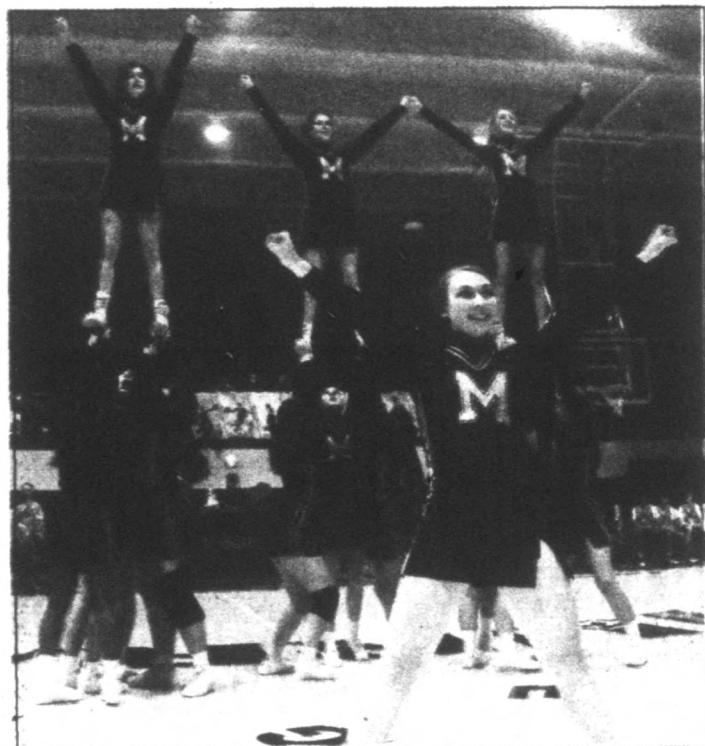

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — An NFL official has acknowledged a link between football and the brain disease CTE for the first time.

Jeff Miller, the NFL's senior vice president for health and safety, spoke about the connection during an appearance Monday at a congressional committee's roundtable discussion.

The NFL has not previously linked playing football to chronic traumatic encephalopathy, a disease linked to repeated brain trauma and associated with symptoms such as memory loss, depression and progressive dementia. ■

"It's a mindset," Wells told the Tigers. "Rupp Arena is a big court. With 15 to 16,000 people there, it's simple. Do what you do, do it well, play together, trust each other, move the ball well and play that hard defense I've seen you play.

"You got a great draw. I think you can knock them out. The No. 1 team doesn't always win. Who knows what could happen? You've got just as good of a shot to win this thing as anybody else."

The Tigers will play Buckhorn at Rupp Arena at 11 a.m. on Wednesday. ■ cap the scoring at nine. Jacksonville (14-13) scored one run in the fourth, but it was not enough to extend the game, as it ended via the eight-run rule after five complete innings.

Defense was once again key for Murray State as they twice loaded the bases with no outs and twice got out of the inning, throwing out four runners at the plate in the process. Miller finished the day at 2-for-3 with two runs, four RBIs and a walk, while LeVins was also 2-for-3 with a run and three RBIs. Junior Jessica Twaddle also had two hits in the game, to go along with two runs scored.

Sophomore Haven Campbell got the win for MSU by allowing no runs on four hits over three innings of work. Senior J.J. Francis threw the final two innings of the game and allowed one run on four hits with two walks and a strikeout.

State plays its 2016 home opener, a doubleheader against Evansville that is scheduled to begin at 4 p.m. at Racer Field.

Ball State 9, Murray State 5 Jacksonville 4, Murray State 2

The Murray State softball team lost both games of a doubleheader Saturday, 9-5, to Ball State and 4-2, to Jacksonville, at the Pruitt Softball Complex in Jacksonville Florida.

Murray State (7-10) surged to a 4-0 lead in the game, thanks in large part to a three-RBI double by junior Taylor Odom in the third inning. After allowing just one run in the fifth, it would all come crashing down for Murray State in the sixth. Four different Racer pitchers allowed six walks and gave up three hits for a total of eight runs, as the Cardinals took a 9-4 lead. The Racers added one run in the seventh on a RBI-single, but it was not enough as Ball State held on for the 9-5 win.

Junior Jocelynn Rodgers was 2-for-4 with a run and a RBI, while Odom finished at 2-for-3 with three RBIs. Freshman Amber Van Duyse took the loss for MSU after allowing two runs on two walks in no official innings. Sophomore Haven Campbell had a solid outing for the Racers in the start, allowing three runs on four hits and four walks with a career-high six strikeouts.

In the second game, Jacksonville jumped out to an early 2-0 lead on a pair of unearned runs thanks a double steal that scored one and a sacrifice fly that scored another. However, Murray State tied it up in the third with a two-RBI single from Twaddle that went straight up the middle.

The Dolphins would go on to use a pair of RBI singles in the third and fourth to take the lead for good at 4-2. Murray State was not without its chances, as it outhit JU, 6-4, and stranded a total of eight runners on the base paths.

Six different Racers tallied hits in the game, as Twaddle finished with two RBIs and freshman Brenna Finck and senior Shelby Miller scored one run each. Junior Mason Robinson took the seven inning loss by giving up two runs on four hits with three strikeouts and a walk. ■
