Postal prices drop for first time in about 100 years

By DEBBIE BATTEIGER dbatteiger@murrayledger.com

Post offices across the country have reduced First Class Mail prices.

According to United States Post Office Corp Communications spokesperson Susan W. Wright, located in Lexington, Kentucky, this price reduction is the first one to occur in nearly 100 years.

"The price rollback was mandated by the Postal Regulatory Commission. It is estimated this price change will have a $2 billion negative impact on the Postal Service revenue," she

"It has been 97 years since the price of a stamp was reduced. The Postal Service anticipates customers will continue to recognize the value of the mail in today's vibrant communication and package delivery environment."

According to a press release issued by the USPS in Washington, D.C., the price reduction was effective on April 10.

"The PRC granted an exigent surcharge beginning in January 2014 on mailing products and services totaling $4.6 billion to recover for the massive volume and revenue losses resulting from the Great Recession. How-

Verse of the Day

Therefore, I urge you, brothers, in view of God's mercy, to offer your bodies as living sacrifices, holy and pleasing to God-this is your spiritual act of worship. Do not conform any longer to the pattern of this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind. Then you will be able to test and approve what God's will is-his good, pleasing and perfect will.

MCCH listed in top 10 percent nationally for patient safety By JOHN WRIGHT

jwright@murrayledger.com

Murray-Calloway County Hospital CEO Jerry Penner is a believer in getting a job done first and foremost

However, he is not above accepting praise when it is extended, and that was the case for MCCH recently when the nationally-known health information company Healthgrades included his facility as being one of the best in the nation when it comes to patient safety. MCCH was one of 466 hospitals to make the cut, meaning it was listed among the top 10 percent.

of six in Kentucky too (out of about 130 facilities) and most of those are smaller facilities than we are (MCCH is a 285bed facility), but the size you are has nothing to do with this. Just because you're bigger doesn't mean you're better. Better is better," Penner said. "The main thing, though, is that this is really a tribute to our staff because they're the ones that made this

Henschel pumps spirit into Friends of CASA Banquet

By JORDAN FERGUSON jferguson@murrayledger.com

For those children who find themselves tragic recipients of abuse or neglect, the only constant of trust and comfort in their lives doesn't come from those families from which they are taken. Nor do they find it in the presence of social workers, foster parents or other workers within the familial jus-

In the experience of Deanna Henschel, family court judge of McCracken County who served as the keynote speaker at the annual Friends of CASA Banquet Thursday night in Murray, those volunteers who offer their time, effort and love to these children are those who truly make a meaningful and critical impact in their lives.

"I remember observing the adoption of two little foster children," Henschel said at the onset of her speech. "I met the family in the hallway right outside my courtroom and I immediately tried to engage with this precious little six-year-old boy about what a big deal that day was for him and his little sister.

"He smiled, but he didn't say a word. I watched as several social workers came in, and I watched as friends and family came in, all trying to engage this little boy. Their enthusiasm was also met with a silent and timid smile. Even friends and family members could not get the fear out of this little boys eyes.

Election board makes preparations for upcoming Kentucky primary

By JOHN WRIGHT jwright@murrayledger.com

The final meeting before an election is always full of activity for the Calloway County Board of Elections and Thursday was

For starters, board members engaged in a mandatory process of handling their half of the certification process for the voting machines that will be used on May 17 in the 29 precincts in the county for the 2016 primary election. Each precinct offers two machines, one that is classified as an E-Scan, which utilizes paper ballots, the other being an E-Slate machine that is digital.

This came after a technician from the Harp firm of Lexington spent a little more than a day earlier in the week checking all 58 machines to make sure they are in top condition for election day.

"Then I remember, seemingly out of nowhere, this small woman jumped up and he yelled, 'Rose!' Miss Rose was walking into the room and he leapt into her arms," Henschel said. "Rose was this child's Court Appointed Special Advo-

Henschel said the woman the child identified with such enthusiasm had been appointed to the children's case three years prior after the siblings were put into foster care after being taken from abusive parents. Through four different foster homes, and through four different social workers, Rose was the one constant thing in the life of this little boy, she said.

"CASA needs volunteers," Henschel said. "CASA needs money, and CASA and the children that CASA serve need your prayers.'

Henschel said that last year in Mc-Cracken county, CASA volunteers donated more than 1,500 hours of volunteer service to the children they serve. In the first quarter of this year alone, she said that those volunteers have already donated another 500 hours.

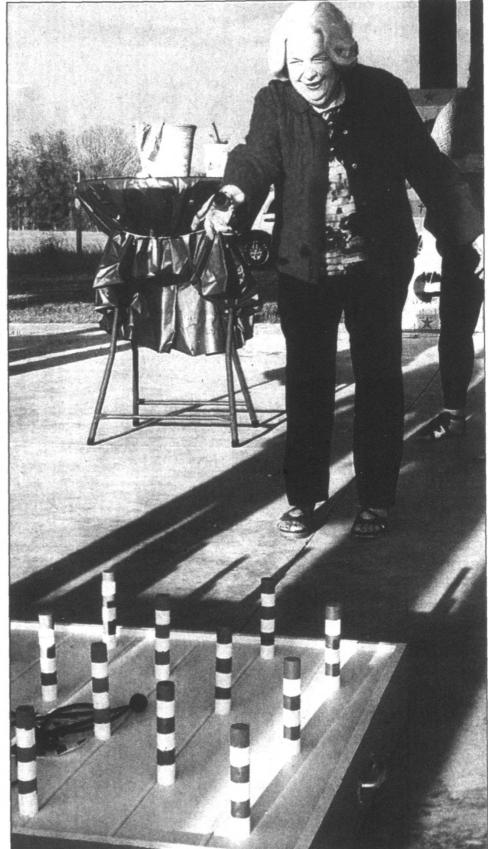

Volunteers receive extensive training on everything from courtroom procedures to emotional injury and child abuse. Volunteers are usually assigned to a case toward its beginning, living through the courtroom experience with children and staying with them until a permanent and safe home can be found. This process usually takes several years.

Henschel said that, due to this close proximity with these kids, volunteers are privy to circumstances of which court officials may be unaware and can provide critical insight and information to judges so they can make the appropriate deci-

This all takes time and money, which is why fundraising events, like the one held on the Calloway County Fair Grounds Thursday, are very important for the success and continuation of these critical services

Henschel said that one year of CASA advocacy costs less than one month of foster care. She also said that, according to statistics, those kids with CASA volunteers assigned to their cases are more likely to find safe, permanent homes, are more likely to succeed in school and are one-half as likely to move into foster care.

"Our community's children are not throwaways, they deserve a chance," Henschel said. "Our world is so hard, and often so cruel to our children. In Calloway County, and in the lives of these victims, CASA is changing the course of children's lives."

Heavy rains lead to several wrecks locally

JOHN WRIGHT/ Ledger & Times

Thursday morning was quite busy for local law enforcement and emergency personnel as several wrecks were reported throughout Calloway County. Heavy rains falling at the time are believed to have contributed to these wrecks occurring. One of those happened on U.S. 641 South at the intersection of Green Plains Road, where this car hydroplaned on the wet pavement and crashed into a ditch. All of the occupants inside the vehicle were not injured.

■ ELECTION BOARD makes preparations...

"What we did was open up each box (containing a machine) and we checked the serial numbers to make sure they matched and that tags that are placed on the outside of the machines have not been tampered with. We want it to be where those tags aren't cut until a precinct worker cuts them off on the morning of the election," said Calloway" County Clerk Antonia Faulkner, who is also the board's chairperson.

"The first part Harp does is where a vendor comes in and checks things like batteries and cords and makes sure those are connected properly. Then he programs them because there are times that our precincts will have different variations of ballots (which is not happening this time)."

found. She said in her years with the clerk's office, she cannot remember a time where pre-election tampering has been detected with the machines.

Two of the machines will begin ner said that starts April 29 and the for that duty will be positioned inof the Calloway County Courthouse. Absentee voting will continue through 4 p.m. May 16.

Deputy Clerk Lynn Paschall said she wants to remind all voters wishing to utilize mail for submitting absentee votes to act quickly. She said applications to use mail for absentee voting must be received by the clerk's office by May 10 and she suggests that it would probably be best to submit applications ahead of that period. Those also must be received by mail, not hand-delivered.

Absentee voting is allowed for registered voters who know they will not be in their home county the day of an election but still wish to exercise their right. Faulkner said she has learned that one candidate for the 1st District Congressional race on the Democrats' side has suspended his campaign. Tom Osborne of Paducah had been opposing Samuel Gaskins of Herndon in Christian County but has now dropped out of that race. Faulkner said Osborne's name will still appear on the ballot voided Center on Poplar Street. This session is used to educate all precinct workers on what their duties will include on election day. Election school attendance is also required in order for workers to be paid or their duties.

Anyone wishing to man a precinct on election day is invited to do so as there is always a need. Board Republican representative Bill Cowan said Thursday that there have been occasions where workers slated to work have to withdraw due to illness or family emergencies and backups are then asked to respond. Contact Republican Party representative Cowan, 270-270-753-8865 or Democratic Party representative Melissa Stark, 270-293-4977, or come to today's election school.

Workers for at least two of the precincts also look to be in line to experiment with a method designed to cut voter wait time. Multiple registration books may be tried for the primary at both Harris Grove and Faxon, which hold some of the largest numbers of registered voters in the county.

Cowan said nine books were divided alphabetically during the March GOP presidential caucus and reviews from that were quite positive. It appears the idea for the primary will be to divide the books by political parties, one or Democrats and another for Republicans. State law prohibits voters from other parties from casting ballots in primary elections.

Faulkner said that the deadline for write-in candidates to enter the November general election is 4 p.m. Oct. 28. The deadline for registering to vote for the November election is Aug. 7 and that is now also available online at www.govoteky.com.

half of Kentucky with two residing in the far west. Marshall County Hospital in Benton (a 25-bed facility) also made the list, along with Logan Memorial Hospital in Russellville (75 beds). Also making the list were Hazard ARH Regional Medical Center in Hazard (308 beds), Meadowview Regional Medical Center in Maysville (101 beds) and Whitesburg ARH Hospital in Whitesburg (240 beds).

According to Healthgrades, the hospitals listed achieved their rankings based on evaluations of performance in safeguarding patients from serious, potentially preventable complications. Hospitals were evaluated based on the occurrence of observed incidents and expected performance for 14 patient safety indicators. These were defined by the Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality.

'You don't cut corners with patient safety, you just don't do it," Penner said. "It's about doing the right things right and that comes down to the efforts of our everybody, from our nurses to our directors to our maintenance staff, everyone has a part in protecting our patients. It's a standard of care that we strive to achieve."

Healthgrades said, on average, 270,457 patient safety events could have been prevented if all hospitals, as a group from 2012-14, performed similarly to the hospitals who exceeded expectations with the 14 patient safety indicators evaluated by Healthgrades, as well as zero instances of a foreign object being left inside a patient during a surgical procedure.

MCCH has taken significant steps in years recent in this are, namely the acquisition of a system that utilizes a wand that monitors sponges that come Penner

equipped in a way that the wand's sensor can detect a sponge that may have been left inside a patient, before suturing. This is done for every surgical procedure at MCCH.

Another area where MCCH probably ranked strong is preventing falls, which has been a strength of the facility. In fact, in the latest Balanced Score Card from February, MCCH averaged just 1.9 falls per 1,000 patients, having averaged 3.3 for 2015.

"What is really nice about something like this is that it's not one of those things that you put in for. Someone else thought enough of us, and took time to look at what we've done, to think we belonged in this," Penner said. "Is it nice to have something that gives us bragging rights? Yes. That's not why we do what we do, though.

"Still, top 10 percent in the country? I'm OK with that." ■

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) -Kentucky's massive public pension problem moved from the fiscal to the political limelight Thursday when the chairman of the state pension board refused the governor's order to step down - presiding over a board meeting instead.

Thomas K. Elliott took his seat at the head of the board table at the meeting, a day after Republican Gov. Matt Bevin ordered his ouster from the Kentucky Retirement System's board of trustees. Bevin's choice to fill Elliott's term - Madisonville dermatologist Bill Smith observed from the audience.

Elliott listened quietly, his hands folded, as his colleagues discussed how to respond to the governor's removal order. The system's exec- take his place.

utive director, William Thielen, recommended the board continue with "business as usual" at the regularly scheduled meeting.

"It is our position that the governor has no authority to do that," Thielen said.

At issue is how to deal with one of the country's worst-funded public pension systems. The Kentucky Retirement System has an unfunded liability of more than $19 billion.

Bevin campaigned last year on fixing the problem. His spokeswoman, Jessica Ditto, said Wednesday that Elliott's removal was intended to give a "fresh start" to fixing the problem.

No board member tried to force Elliott's removal or to have Smith

CHURCH OF

What Would Jesus Do? by Richard Youngblood, University Church of Christ

Question: Does the Bible teach that wives should submit to their husbands? If so, then must she submit even if he abuses her?

Answer: The Bible does teach wives to submit to their husbands, but the submission taught in the Bible was never intended to force a woman to take physical, verbal or emotional abuse from her husband. To insist that a wife must remain in submission to a husband who abuses her is a misuse of what is taught. This one statement about the marriage relationship should not be isolated from the whole of God's teachings about marriage. God created marriage to be a sacred, loving and committed relationship in which the married partners work together with the highest respect for one another's safety and

For example, the first time wives are told to "submit to your husbands" is in the context of a Christian marriage where both the husband and the wife are living in submission to Christ first. Thus, husbands are told to "love your wives just as Christ loved the church and gave himself up for her" and "each one of you also must love his wife as he loves himself. After all, no one ever hated his own body, but feeds and cares for it, just as Christ does the church" (Ephesians 5:21-33). In a fallen world, even Christian husbands have not fully become what they ought to be; but if they are seeking to grow in their submission to Christ, they will certainly never expect their wives to submit to abuse from them.

In a second passage, the apostle Peter instructed Christian wives about submission to unbelieving husbands (1 Peter 3:1-7). This statement is in the context that speaks of how Jesus suffered unjustly for our sakes. In the same way, Peter commented about women at that time who were facing persecution to get them to deny their Christian faith. This persecution was not only from unbelievers in the community but also from their unbelieving husbands. There was the possibility that these wives could influence their husbands to also believe in Christ by their godly behavior. However, this was very different from what some women are facing today. Meaningful suffering because of one's faith is different from taking abuse from someone who sees himself as having a right to do anything to his wife he pleases.

WORSHIP

Submission and abuse

In addition, we need to see that there are always limitations placed upon any submission of one human to another. The instruction for a wife to submit to her husband never means that she submit to any ungodly request. For example, she must never engage in stealing and/or lying even if her husband demands it of her. God has also taught us to be submissive to ruling authorities (1 Peter 2:13-17; Romans 13:1-7); but in numerous examples in the Bible, God blessed people who refused to obey men when to do so meant they would disobey God (Exodus 1:15-22; Daniel 3; Acts 5:17-32). In the same way, a wife's submission to Jesus Christ must come before submission to her husband.

The creation story teaches that both men and women were equally created "in the image of God" (Genesis 1:27). Also, husbands are told to "be considerate" as they live with their wives; for although 4 the woman may be physically smaller or weaker than the husband, she is equally an heir with him of "the gracious gift of life" (1 Peter 3:7; cf. Galatians 3:28). Therefore, we should not see biblical submission as something a husband can demand of his wife; instead, submission is something a wife chooses to give. She submits to her husband as an equal with the power to give submission and not because she is in any way inferior and has no choice. The use of abusive force does not result in true submission but in resented slavery.

Jesus wants us to do all we can to maintain the commitment we made to our marriages (Matthew 19:4-6). No one should be seeking a reason to break his or her marriage vows for anything less than serious provocation. The Lord God stated, "I hate divorce;" but, in the next sentence he added, "I hate a man covering himself with violence" (Malachi 2:16). In view of these things, I would urge that a wife and husband together immediately seek a professionally-trained counselor at the first hint of abusive behavior. By beginning early, one may be able to prevent further abuse and build a healthy and lasting relationship that will bless both husband and wife. However, if the abuse continues and increases, God does not expect wives to submit to abuse that may endanger their lives and perhaps the lives

Arrieta throws 2nd career no-hitter

The Associated Press

CINCINNATI - Jake Arrieta's first no-hitter set him apart. Pitching another one in the span of only 11 regular-season starts has put the Chicago Cubs ace in elite com-

And his catcher suspects that the reigning NL Cy Young winner has a few more of those no-hit moments left in him.

Arrieta overcame early sloppiness and bore down at the end, shutting down the Cincinnati Reds in a 16-0 rout on Thursday night that left everyone amazed except him.

After all, he'd done it before.

"It feels different the second time," said Arrieta, who did his best pitching in the last few innings with the gem in reach. "I was a little more relaxed as the game progressed."

Arrieta (4-0) struck out six, walked four and allowed only six balls hit out of the day of the Phillies pitched a no-hitter against infield during the first no-hitter in Major League Baseball this season.

No spectacular plays were needed by Cubs fielders to preserve Arrieta's performance. He threw 119 pitches, retiring Eugenio Suarez on a routine flyball to right field Arrieta threw his first career no-hitter last Aug. 30 at Dodger Stadium, beating Los Angeles 2-0. That game came as Arrieta put together one of the best pitching stretches in club history - he's 15-0 in his last 16 regular-season starts.

"What can I say?" manager Joe Maddon said. "Man, it was spectacular."

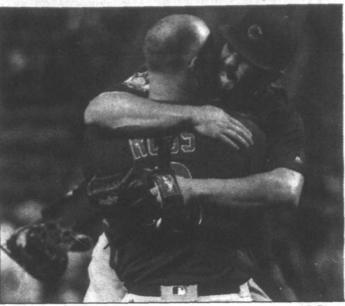

The Reds hadn't been held hitless in a regular-season game since 1971, when Rick Wise did it for Philadelphia at Riverfront Stadium. In the 2010 NL playoffs, Roy HallaCincinnati.

We got dominated," Reds outfielder Jay Bruce said. "That's the most dominating game I've ever been a part of. He was great; we weren't.

"Every time he goes out there, he's got nohit stuff. He's arguably the best pitcher in the game today.'

Arrieta is among several pitchers in the last decade to pitch two no-hitters. The 30-year-old righty is on the list with Max Scherzer, Justin Verlander, Tim Lincecum and Homer Bailey, who threw the only other no-hitter at Great American Ball Park on July 2, 2013, against the Giants.

"I feel like I didn't do a whole lot," said David Ross, who caught his first no-hitter. "That animal was in control the whole time. He locked it in when he needed to."

PREP BASEBALL: MAYFIELD 5, CALLOWAY COUNTY 1

Offense held in check

When bats die: Kennemore's 10 strikeouts bury Lakers

By BRYCE RUDD Sports Reporter

MAYFIELD - Sometimes, all it takes is one bad bounce to unravel a bad

For the Calloway County Lakers, a few bad hops and a few missed swings certainly wasn't the right antidote for a victory but, when the dust cleared in the sixth inning, the Lakers found themselves battling hard in a position all too familiar - down two runs in a close contest.

The effort was present but, as the case has been so many times this season, the Calloway County bats were nowhere to be found.

The Lakers (6-11) received a great pitching effort from Lofton Pigg with three strikeouts in six innings.

Unfortunately, Mayfield received a better one. Lane Kennemore struck out 10 (his first five were caught looking) as the Cardinals took out the Lakers 5-1 on Thursday in Mayfield.

While several missed opportunities pointed toward a bad output in terms of performance, first-year head coach Travis Turner immediately deadened the notion.

"Up until the three runs they scored in the sixth, Lofton pitched marvelous and Ryan Fraher played really well at short stop. Our problem is that we are anemic, offensively," Turner said. "We don't have the at-bats and we don't have the offense that can take the pressure off of our pitching. We're not going to have a guy throw any better than Lofton did tonight. We'd like to create more swings and misses as a staff. But with a group dominated by 15 and 16 year old guys, that's not who we are right now."

Calloway County ran into trouble in the first, when Kennemore turned a 1-2-3 inning on the mound before the top of Mayfield lineup proved a reckoning

Nick Workman led off the bottom of the first with a double, went to third on an infield error before coming home on another error for a 1-0 lead. Kennemore singled a few moments later, before Carson Guthrie followed with a hit to put runners at first and third, but a steal attempt by Guthrie, the Laker defense completely forgot about Kennemore, who came in for a 2-0 edge.

Everything stayed that way until the sixth inning.

Fraher ended the second inning by fielding a grounder at shortstop, while Calloway County's Lofton Pigg records a force out of a Livingston Central baserunner during a game Tuesday at Lakers Stadium.

Pigg asserted his brilliance by allowing no more hits until the sixth. But in terms of offensive output, the production was simply few and far between.

Through three innings, Kennemore had five strikeouts and the Lakers looking for answers.

"You have to give full credit and tip your cap to Lane," Tuner said. "He was tremendous in terms of attacking and getting ahead of the count early with Strike 1 and Strike 2. If pitchers allow you to get ahead in the count, then you get more comfortable and more aggressive at the plate, but we're not good enough against better pitchers as a young club.'

Pigg had found his groove well into the fourth inning, while Carson Chapman swallowed up grounders like a vacuum at second base to keep the deficit reachable at 2-0 heading into the fifth.

Kennemore kept the handcuffs on the Lakers, striking out Garrett Scott and Rister in the fifth, while pop ups from Christian Adams, Jonah Brannon and Chapman shackled the Calloway County offense through six scoreless frames.

Then, Mayfield turned a hill into a mountain in its final at-bat. An RBI single from Guthrie broke the ice from both sides for the first hit since the first frame before a two-run single up the middle from Colin Price bolstered the lead to 5-0, retiring Pigg for the evening.

Scott gave a great relief effort to close out the Lakers' defensive pursuit, but the damage had already been calculated.

With Kennemore pulled from the mound in the seventh frame and Mayfield's win seemingly in hand, the Lakers quickly pressured the Cardinals with runners at first and second with no outs. Kennemore was quickly brought back to the mound, proving to be the end of the beginning for a short Lakers rally. Jeremy Darnell scored off an error for

Anaheim ties series 2-2

The Associated Press

NASHVILLE, Tenn. - The Anaheim Ducks keep traipsing to the penalty box over and over against the Nashville Predators.

Thanks to the NHL's best penalty killers, it hasn't hurt them yet, and now the Ducks head home having dug themselves out of an 0-2 series hole Nate Thompson and Jamie McGinn scored nearly 2 minutes apart late in the second period, and the Ducks beat the Nashville Predators 4-1 on Thursday night to even the first-round series 2-2.

'We're playing with fire," Ducks coach Bruce Boudreau said. "We've got to keep them to two or three minors a game, or it gets too hard on all your players that kill the penalties, like (Ryan) Getzlaf, (Jakob) Silfverberg, (Corey) Perry and (Andrew) Cogliano. They're playing a lot more than you'd like them to play because they're killing so many penal-

Stewart adds Golson for 2016

Staff Reports

Head coach Mitch Stewart announced Thursday the addition of Delaware State wide receiver Malik Golson for 2016 season.

The redshirt senior, who receives his undergraduate degree from Delaware State this spring, will utilize the graduate transfer rule and will be able to play immediately upon arrival.

5-foot-9, Golson, a 180-pound native of Dover, Del., played three seasons for the Hornets and finished second on the team in receiving in each of those three seasons.

He racked up 517 yards as a freshman for DSU in 2013, but last season averaged a career-high 14.0 yards per catch, to go along with three touchdowns. Over three seasons, Golson caught 100 passes for 1,072 vards and nine touchdowns.

He was also Delaware State's leading punt returner in each of those three seasons, totaling 154 yards on 20 punts for an average of 7.7 yards per return. Golson was also utilized as a kick returner during his time as a Hornet, reeling off 281 yards on 20 returns for an average of 14.1 yards per return.

Golson now becomes the 35th member of Stewarts's 2016 class and the eighth receiver.

WOMEN'S TENNIS Murray State ready for OVC Tournament

With the regular season in the rear-view mirror, Murray State sets its sights on the OVC Tournament at the Centennial Sportsplex Tennis Center in Nashville, Tenn.

The Racers enter the tournament the No. 6 seed as they finished the season with an 11-9 overall record and a 6-4 record in the conference.

MSU enters the tournament as the two-time reigning OVC Tournament champions. Seniors Erin Patton, Megan Blue, and Suzaan Stoltz were members of those teams.

The Racers face No. 3 seed Eastern Kentucky. MSU leads the series 42-17, but the Colonels won the regular season matchup 7-0.

Murray State has faced Eastern Kentucky in the finals of the OVC Tournament the past two years, with Murray State coming out victorious in both matches.

Eastern Kentucky came into the season as the preseason favorites to win the conference. The Colonels enter the tournament with a 13-10 overall record and an 8-2 record in conference. EKU's two losses came against the top seeded UT Martin and SIU Edwardsville in the regular season finale. Murray State comes into the

Harden's late shot lifts Rockets over Warriors

The Associated Press

HOUSTON - James Harden scored 35 points, including the game-winner with 2.7 seconds left, and Houston took advantage of Stephen Curry's absence to get a 97-96 victory over Golden State in Game 3 of their firstround playoff series on Thursday night.

The victory cuts Houston's deficit to 2-1 in the best-of-seven series. Game 4 is Sunday in Houston.

Shaun Livingston stole à pass from Trevor Ariza and Ian Clark's layup put Golden State up by one with 10.6 seconds left. Harden then took it to the other end and stepped back for the jump shot to win it.

Golden State had a chance to win it after that, but Draymond Green dribbled the inbounds pass off his foot and out of bounds.

Marreese Speights came off the bench to lead the Warriors with 22 points and Klay Thompson had 17.

Dwight Howard added 13 points, 13 rebounds and had two blocks for Houston.

Thunder 131, Mavericks 102

DALLAS - Kevin Durant bounced back from the worst shooting game of his playoff career with 34 points and Oklahoma City retook control of its first-round series.

Durant had seven field goals midway through the second quarter on nine shots after he needed 33 to get there in a Game 2 loss that followed a 38-point win in the opener.

points in the first half, when the Thunder led by as many as 19 points on their way to a 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven series.

Raptors 101, Pacers 85

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) DeMar DeRozan rebounded from his postseason shooting slump, and he and Kyle Lowry scored 21 points for Toronto.

The Raptors lead the best-ofseven first-round series 2-1 and have reclaimed the home-court advantage they squandered by losing the series opener last weekend.

Indiana was led by Paul George, who had 25 points, 10 rebounds and six assists. Rookie Myles Turner scored 11 of 17 points in the second half.

they are doing. Their power play isn't getting it done either. I thought it showed great poise by our team."

Game 5 is Saturday in Anaheim.

The Predators, who use country star Tim McGraw's hit "I Like It, I Love It" as their goal song, brought McGraw before the puck dropped to wave a towel and rile up the home crowd. The Predators certainly started playing with more energy than in Game 3.

But Anaheim just missed out on the Stanley Cup finals last spring after losing Game 7 on its own ice, and these Ducks have been through plenty of adversity this season after being 16 points back in the Pacific before rallying to win the divi-

Getzlaf put the Ducks up

1-0 just 62 seconds into the game when he poked the puck past Rinne off a shot from David Perron. Coming off his 3-0 shutout in Game 3, Andersen stopped the seven shots the Ducks didn't block in the first period. That gave him a career-high 80-minute shutout streak in the postseason and Anaheim a 1-0 lead after the first period.

The Predators dominated in the second, pressuring Andersen with shot after shot. Finally, Fisher scored his first goal of the series on a snap shot from the right side off a pass from Colin Wilson, beating Andersen to the far side of the net at 11:26

At that point, Nashville outshot Anaheim 12-1 only to see the Ducks close out the period.

The Ducks took the lead for good during a 4-on-4 when Viktor Arvidsson was called for embellishment when slashed by Ducks defenseman Simon Despres at 15:55 of the second. Stopped twice earlier in the period by Rinne, Thompson put a wrister past the Nashville goalie to put Anaheim up 2-1 at 17:04 for his second goal of the series.

"We've got to respond better to that," Predators coach Peter Laviolette said. "Even when the goal goes in and they get that. we need to somehow generate the momentum back in our direction and swing it our way and we didn't do that for the rest of the period. They were able to get another one, so it was a big turning point in the game."

Then McGinn tapped in a rebound off Chris Stewart's shot at 18:56 for a 3-1 lead.

The Ducks killed off two more penalties in the third. helping Andersen by blocking more shots and flooding the slot in front of their goalie. Then Cogliano sealed the win with his second goal of the series at the first Laker run of the game, but it would be their last.

With two outs and the bases loaded in a 5-1 contest, Chapman represented the potential tying run, but Kennemore seized the moment with his 10th strikeout to tie the season series at one win apiece. "Anything we barreled was right at somebody, but they made plays, defensively, and we just don't have enough firepower and thump in our lineup right now. We just aren't good enough, offensively, Turner

After defeating Mayfield 11-1 in a much different affair March 22, Coach Turner would be the first to admit, dwelling anticipated Crosstown Classic against Murray High approaching on Monday.

'The best teams in baseball history that live in immortality win 100 games. If you do the math, that means 60 or more losses," Turner said. "You put it behind you and you move forward and that's where we are right now. I don't want them to lower expectations because on a loss like this would ben- they're young but I want them efit no one; not with the highly to put the past in the past. We are where we are."

Sudoku is a number-placing puzzle based on a 9x9 grid with several given numbers. The object is to place the numbers 1 to 9 in the empty squares so that each row, each column and each 3x3 box contains the same number only once. The difficulty level of the Conceptis Sudoku increases from Monday to Sunday.

Looking Back

Ten years ago

A load of children and adults are pictured enjoying a ride aboard an old-fashioned mule and wagon for a ride around Murray Central Park during "Turn of the Century Social - A Living History of Calloway County.'

Calloway County Relay for Life volunteer Tiffany Shemwell, is joined by Murray Ledger & Times Publisher Alice Rouse as she places a large purple ribbon on the front door of the newspaper. So far, about 2,000 of the ribbons have been distributed to those that have given $10 or more to Relay's "Paint the Town Purple" fundraising campaign.

The Murray Kiwanis Club recently honored the top graduates of Calloway County High School at the annual Academic Honors Banquet. The graduates, all of whom earned 4.0 grade point average, were presented certificates of merit and treated to dinner at Holmes Family Restaurant. Pictured are Whitney Watkins, Catherine Frederick, Mindy Wright, Jessica Miller, Jessica Johnson, Chelsea Darnell, Marcy Boggess, Chase Futrell, David Robertson, Joshua Hodges, Will Sampson, Joshua Johnson, T.J. Hargrove, Tyler Brockman, Laura Jacobs and Austin McCuiston.

High winds early yesterday morning blew the roof off Carol Kriegbaum's residence, located in northeast Calloway County.

presenting the Outstanding Volunteer Award for 1995 to Shelby Morgan in recognition of her dedication toward computer data entry. She volunteers 15 hours a week at the library.

Thirty years ago Farmers of Kentucky's major crops appeared to survive record low temperatures set early today but some fruit growers in Calloway County were reporting major losses.

Steve Zea, executive vice president of the Murray-Calloway County Chamber of Commerce, has been named chairman of the Industrial Development Task Force. Zea succeeds Keith Kelley of Wickliffe.

Pictured is Chip Adkins as he eyes the pitcher after drawing a lead-off walk in the second inning of Murray High's game with Marshall County. Adkins eventually scored on a single by Mark West.

Lucille White, the storeroom clerk at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital, has been named the recipient of the hospital's third "Out of the Ordinary" award.

Murray Country Club director Bill Holt is pictured visiting with Paul and Genevieve Logel at the club's dinner honoring new members. The Logels moved to Murray from Buffalo, New York where he was associated with Fisher Price before being transferred to the company's manufacturing operation in Murray. Forty years ago

In-laws demand too much time from hard-working son

DEAR ABBY: My husband, "Ed," and I are in our 40s. We both work, and Ed often puts in more than 60 hours a week. My in-laws, in their 60s, are both in good health, retired and well-off financially.

washing, etc. These take more than six hours on Sundays, in addition to dinner.

My in-laws also insist on yearly family vacations. Because of this we have little time alone with our teens or each other. I don't think all these gatherings should be mandatory. Please help. This is hurting our marriage. -- HIGHLY STRESSED IN PENNSYLVANIA DEAR HIGHLY STRESSED:

During one of those mandatory family visits, you and your husband should tell his parents what you have told me. Unless you explain to them that they have you on a schedule that doesn't permit you to spend alone time with your children or each other they won't get it.

Family get-togethers are supposed to be pleasant for all, not mandatory. And if your in-laws can afford the expense, they should hire a handyman to help them and not impose upon their son.

DEAR ABBY: I have been single for almost six years and have had no luck with the dating scene. Every time I go on a date, I perceive it as a date that went extremely well. But when I go to contact the guy the next day, I get no response in return.

I have major trust issues to begin with from past relationships, and it's hard for me to let my guard down. Although I try to be as open and honest with the guys as possible, it just doesn't work. I know the whole cliche of "the right one is out there somewhere," but what can someone do when she just feels like giving up completely on dating? -- GIVING UP IN STOCK-TON, CALIF.

DEAR GIVING UP: The one thing you shouldn't do is give up and stop trying. Not knowing what you are doing on these first dates, I can only surmise that while being "as open and honest with guys as possible," you may be giving them so much negative information that you're scaring them off.

In a way, dating is like sales: It's important to communicate positive information about the product you are selling (you) and downplay the negative (i.e. "I have trust issues because someone done me wrong."). It might also be helpful to have an honest talk with some of your friends and ask them what you may be doing wrong.

TO MY JEWISH READERS: Passover begins at sundown. Happy Passover, everyone! --LOVE, ABBY

DEAR DOCTOR K: I've heard that drinking red wine, or any alcoholic beverage, in moderation is "heart-healthy." Is it true, and is red wine any healthier than other alcoholic beverages? DEAR READER: There many studies of the two questions you ask. As for the first question. most studies have found that moderate drinkers are less likely to develop Type Komaroff and heart disease. That's when moderate drinkers are compared either to non-drinkers or to heavy drinkers "Moderate drinkers" refers to men who have an average of one to two alcoholic drinks per day, and women who have an average of one drink per day. The difference between men and women is because women metabolize alcohol somewhat differently from men.

A study published in 2015 from Harvard Medical School and other institutions analyzed results from nearly 15,000 people. The study lasted nearly 25 years. No one had heart failure at the beginning of the study. By the end of the study, however, some did. But moderate drinkers were 20 percent less likely than non-drinkers or heavier drinkers to develop heart failure. This positive effect of moderate drinking was somewhat stronger in men than in women. The study looked primarily at heart failure, and not at other types of heart problems.

Now to your second question, about whether red wine is a more heart-healthy type of alcoholic drink than other alcoholic beverages. Here, I'd say the evidence is less clear. A study reported in late 2015 got a lot of attention in the media for showing that red wine is heart-healthy. In fact, that study did not really compare red wine to all other types of alcoholic bever-

The study involved over 200 adults who were at high risk for heart disease because they had Type 2 diabetes. Participants were assigned at random to drink 5 ounces (two-thirds of a cup) of either red wine, white wine or mineral water each day. The drinks were provided for free, to encourage study participants to drink as they were assigned by the study to do.

After about two years, the red wine drinkers had higher HDL cholesterol ("good" cholesterol), lower ratios of total cholesterol to HDL cholesterol, and fewer markers of "metabolic syndrome" (a cluster of conditions that increase the risk of heart disease, stroke and diabetes), compared to the mineral water drinkers. Each of these changes has been linked to lower rates of heart disease. However, the study was too short to determine if heart disease rates were actually lowered.

Interestingly, the white wine drinkers had somewhat different beneficial effects. Compared to the mineral water drinkers, the white wine drinkers had lower blood sugar levels, lower levels of triglyceride fats and less insulin resistance. Each of these changes, too, has been linked to lower rates of heart disease. But again, the study was too short to determine if heart disease rates were actually lowered.

To make a long story short, moderate drinkers have heart benefits, compared to non-drinkers or heavier drinkers. Heavier drinking puts the heart (and other organs) at risk. It's not clear that red wine is superior to other alcoholic beverages.

Hints From Heloise

A WAY TO AID TROOPS OVERSEAS

Dear Heloise: I recall reading about a place to send OUTDATED COUPONS that can then be used by our soldiers at PXs overseas. Can you give that information again, please?

I have people at church saving them. I can't find the address and specifics. I always read your columns! --Helen F., Prairietown, Ill.

More than happy to help, and as a military brat, it means a lot to me to be able to spread the word. Coupons can be used by service members and their families to shop at the Post Exchange or commissary.

There are groups and clubs all over the U.S. that have individual programs, so check with your Chamber of Commerce.

Here is just one for you: Overseas Coupon Program at has all the information you need: the kinds of coupons accepted, which bases accept them, how to get started, etc.

The FAQ (Frequently Asked Questions) section is a perfect place to learn about the program .-- Heloise P.S.: These coupons save our troops a LOT of mon-

Dear Heloise: I recently moved my computer to my bedroom, and I am not a "tech-savvy" person. To be sure I hooked up the cables correctly, I took pictures of the hookups with my phone. I videotaped myself talking about the connections between the monitor and the tower.

Once in its new location, I was able to walk myself through the process of hooking up my computer correctly and in working order. Thank you, cellphone! Alyssa M., Asheville, N.C.

POSTCARDS TO LOVED ONES

Dear Heloise: With a dear aunt in a nursing home who sometimes doesn't recall much, I've found a way to cheer her up. I live across the country, so I get to visit her only once a year.

Last year, I started sending her postcards. It's easy to jot a cheerful note and let her know where I was when I bought the card. She keeps them in a basket next to her bed, and loves to go through them at any

Now I pick up all sorts of postcards when I travel and send at least two a week. She must have close to a hundred by now. -- June in Ohio

DUAL-COLORED KNITTING NEEDLES

Dear Heloise: My passion is knitting. To save "mental energy" that requires remembering where I left off when I return after taking a break, I purchased the same-size knitting needles in two different colors. I use one color for the odd rows and the other color for even. Now I don't have to remember which row I am working on.

With the extra needles, I can have two projects going at the same time, or use them to help others learn how to do a particular stitch. -- Paige M., via email (c)2016 by King Features Syndicate Inc.

Horoscope

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Saturday, April 23, 2016: This year you open up to different types of thinking. You start to understand where others are coming from when you detach. Sometimes you have ideas that are so ingrained that they prevent you from seeing the big picture. Hot discussions plus the willingness to detach will help you see where you have preconceived notions. If you are single, no one can question your desirability. Know that excitement will weave through whatever bond you choose. If you are attached, agree to disagree, knowing that you both have solid reasoning behind your choices. Expressing mutual respect will intensify this bond. SCORPIO can be challenging.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

* Deal with a key friend directly. Meanwhile, you will need to make time for a boss or older relative. In some sense, you could feel scattered in every which direction. Conversations might be hard to conclude, as everyone seems to be thinking differently TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

 You will need to do a juggling act. You could be overwhelmed by everything that is heading down your path. Your vision of what is possible might change after a discussion with a loved one. Try to understand this person's logic. GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

 You might have a lot to do, and could find that nothing on that list seems interesting! Perhaps vou should enlist a dear friend to join you to clear out as much as you can. You are likely to feel a bit conflicted about a situation that surrounds you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) * Your imagination delights many, but especially a friend who is trying to find a resolution to a hassle. If this person continues to nix one idea after the other, know that he or she is searching for the best one. Don't lose your sense of humor.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

 Handle the basics with family, and find out what needs to be accomplished. Don't hesitate to head in a new direction once certain matters are cleared up. Get some feedback before you decide that you have the only answer VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

 Make an effort to start up a conversation with a relative or neighbor. A younger person could interfere with your plans in an attempt to get your attention. A misunderstanding might arise because of the confusion. Try to keep a talk private.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

 Be aware of the costs of proceeding in your pre-established manner with a family member. If you can pull yourself out of your own head, you might notice that this person is transforming right in front of you. Listen to him or her more carefully. SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

 Your high energy defines nearly everything you do. You'll willingly approach a repetitive disagreement from a different perspective. As a result, you can find a resolution. Don't get uptight with a younger person about his or her lack of attention.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)  Consider taking a day just for you! You don't have to find this day boring. Schedule only what you want to do, and know that you don't have to share your plans. Your beaming smile will reveal just how good you feel after taking care of yourself. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) * Zero in on what someone is saying. Your sense of humor emerges when this person points out that the only reason he or she is pushing so hard is that you do the same thing to him or her. Have a discussion as you decide on plans. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)  Your instinct is to make sure that everyone around you is OK and that they like your plans. Do you like your plans? It appears as if you have a need to bring others together to make sure that they can enjoy themselves. A misunderstanding is likely to emerge. PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

 Don't ignore a longing to do something offbeat. A friend might decide that he or she wants to join you. Whether you take off for a day trip or spend the night at a favorite spot makes no difference. The change of scenery does you a world of good.
