

International Bibliography of Carillon Music by Women, Transgender, and Nonbinary Composers

Introduction

This open-access international bibliography lists published and unpublished original carillon works by over a hundred women, transgender, and nonbinary composers. The composers' birth years range from 1858 to the twenty-first century, the musical styles range from lyrical to avant-garde, and the formats range from solo to ensemble to electroacoustic. The listings are followed by two appendices. Appendix A lists arrangements and transcriptions, written for carillon, of music by women composed for other instruments or voice. Appendix B comprises an online streaming playlist of music by women carillon composers, with links to free audio and video across the web. (For general readers wishing to skip ahead, we provide the playlist links here: SoundCloud and YouTube.)

We outline our research findings in the rest of this introduction, followed by the Bibliography on p. 11. We use the gender-neutral term 'carillonist,' which was formally adopted by the Executive Committee of the World Carillon Federation for its communications in 2018.

Gender inequity remains systemic and common practice in carillon concerts

We analyzed the gender statistics of all repertoire performed at the 2019 GCNA Congress (including on all Carillonneur Examination recitals) and at the 2017 World Carillon Federation Congress, the two most recent datasets available at the time of writing. Only 35% of GCNA recitals included at least one piece by a woman composer or arranger (Figure 3), while 56% of WCF recitals included at least one piece by a woman composer or arranger (Figure 4).

In total, however, only 5% of all carillon works performed at the GCNA were original compositions by women (Figure 1), and the WCF statistic was similar at 7% (Figure 2). These numbers rise slightly when both original works and arrangements written by women are counted, totaling 11% of the works performed at the GCNA Congress (Figure 9), and 22% of works performed at the WCF Congress (Figure 10). Overall, music written by men continues to dominate professional carillon conventions, with 89% of GCNA repertoire and 78% of WCF repertoire authored by male composers and arrangers. As far as we are aware, nonbinary and transgender composers authored 0% of the music in these datasets.

We also calculated the percentage of music by women that was performed by men. This dataset yielded a similarly high level of inequality, and pointed to an important mechanism by which gender inequality is reproduced. At the GCNA Congress, only 33% of the pieces composed or arranged by women were performed by men (Figure 11). At the WCF Congress, only 9% of the pieces composed or arranged by women were performed by men (Figure 12). To put it another way, an overwhelming 91% of women-authored pieces at the WCF were performed by women, and 67% of women-authored pieces at the GCNA were performed by women.

Men and women have equal access to carillon music by women composers. Yet at the international professional level of the WCF, 9 out of 10 times, the labor to equalize the representation of women composers fell on women carillonists, while the overwhelming majority of men performed all-male selections that perpetuated gender inequality. If this practice amongst male carillonists does not change, women composers will never achieve parity--unless women carillon performers rise to 50% of the global profession and play virtually only repertoire by women, an impossible scenario.

Gender representation can be rapidly equalized in commissioning projects when discussions of gender equity are included from initial planning stages onward

We analyzed two sets of carillon commissioning and composition competition data from North America. The GCNA Johan Franco Composition Fund has been active intermittently since 1982 in both commissioning and holding composition contests, and its complete list of commissions and contest winners is available online. In total, 25% of its commissioned works were by women, and 75% of those works were published in the year 2018 (Figure 13). (At that time, the committee switched from commissioning one composer per round to commissioning four per round.)

Since the Franco Composition Contest was established in 1988, 13% of awardees who received any level of award have been women or transgender, and 66% of those awardees won in the year 2019. All first-prize winners have been cisgender males. (Figure 13)

These statistics reflect not only the broader male-dominated history of the carillon and its institutions, but also the highly statistically significant effect that increased attention to gender equity can have on the results of institutional operations. The Franco Committee incorporated active discussion of racial and gender representation into its operations starting in 2016, and worked to share contest announcements with mailing lists that reach historically underrepresented composers. The committee also mandated itself to commission at least as many women as men for the 2017-2018 and 2019-2020 commissioning cycles. Over the next 3 years, works by 5 women composers were recognized and published, a rapid increase over the period from 1982 to 2017, during which 2 works by women and nonbinary composers were published.

For full disclosure, Tiffany Ng, one of the authors of this study, has been a member of the Franco Committee since 2015.

Data source: <https://www.gcna.org/carillon-music>

- 25% of commissioned works (4 works out of 16 total) were by women composers, with 75% of those women (3) commissioned in 2018
- 13% of contest awardees who received any level of recognition (3 awardees out of 23 total) were women or transgender, with 66% of those awardees (2) placing in 2019. All first prize awardees were cisgender male.

Women who broke glass (tower) ceilings

From available data thus far, Utrecht composer Catharina Van Rennes appears to have become the first published woman composer in 1920 with “Meidansje,” issued by the NKV and preserved in their archives (Muziekuitgaven NKV, AUm 2). After a gap of fourteen years, Gladys Watkins published her “Prelude for Bells” with the NKV. Johanna Bordewijk-Roepman appears to have become the first woman to publish a carillon composition with major Dutch publishing house Donemus in 1950, and in 1961 Jean Miller became the first woman to publish her carillon music in North America through the GCNA. So few women have published in Belgium that we currently have inadequate information to determine the first trailblazer, but we know that Adèle Colson's "Ave Maria" was published by t Schipke, the alumni newsletter of the Royal Carillon School 'Jef Denyn,' in the 1980s. We welcome revisions and corrections to our data.

Some composers are represented by a single piece, and some by dozens. Sally Slade Warner was the most prolific, with 34 published works, not counting her trove of unpublished manuscripts in the GCNA Heritage Collection. Olesya Rostovskaya has composed 30 works for carillon solo and carillon plus, Anna Maria Reverté has composed 24 works for carillon solo and carillon plus, and Alice Gomez is the most prolific non-carillonist composer with 16 publications. However, both Gomez and Rostovskaya are primarily self-published, Warner circulated her unpublished arrangements through informal networks, and Reverté has published none of her works, indicating that the most prolific women have opted out of traditional publishing houses for most of their needs. As a professional composer of orchestral, chamber, and solo works, Gomez has made diverse contributions to the carillon repertoire thanks to the ongoing advocacy of carillonist George Gregory. Her output points to the extraordinary influence that one local advocate can have on carillon repertoire, regardless of the level of advocacy from service organizations or publishing houses, by introducing a composer to the carillon and commissioning and premiering her work.

How you can make a difference

The first step towards repertorial gender equity is for carillonists to learn music by women, transgender, and nonbinary composers and to make a commitment to include such music on every program. Depending on one's current repertoire, the first months of this effort may be more or less work-intensive, but as one's repertoire grows to encompass greater diversity, programming gender-balanced programs starts to happen naturally.

The second step is to commission new carillon music by women composers. One easy starting point is the Composer Diversity Database (composerdiversity.com), where users can perform location-based searches for [living] [woman] [non-binary] composers in their geographical area. A second resource is Chamber Music America's Composers Equity Project (chamber-music.org), a database of women, gender non-conforming, and ALAANA (African, Latinx, Asian, Arab, and Native American) composers. Mind the wage gap (pay-equity.org); women, and particularly women of color and transgender people, are on average paid less than men. Consult the NewMusicBox Commissioning Fees Calculator as a starting point to help you determine a fair commission fee.

If you currently lack the means to commission a composer, you still have other opportunities to increase repertorial gender equity. Invite a local student composer to write for carillon and commit to premiering her/their piece on your concerts. If you are not in a position to make connections with educational programs, arrange music by a historical woman composer and share it widely. The sheet music sharing website IMSLP: The Petrucci Music Library (imslp.org) has a list of female composers whose public domain works can be downloaded directly from their website.

Help us grow this bibliography

Please contact michigancarillons@gmail.com with additions to the bibliography. We welcome original carillon works by women, transgender, and nonbinary composers, as well as carillon arrangements (created by musicians of any gender) of non-carillon works by women, transgender, and nonbinary composers.

When you contact us with suggested listings, please include as much of the following information as possible:

1. Composer's full name
2. Composer's year of birth (and death, if applicable)
3. Composer's website, if managed directly by the composer herself/themself
4. Title of work
5. Name of publisher, if applicable
6. Year of publication (or year of composition, if unpublished)
7. Instrumentation, if composed for a format other than solo acoustic carillon
8. Link to free online streaming audio or video

We do not need to receive the score, unless you have permission to send it to us.

Additional Contributors & Acknowledgements

Additional contributions were made by Audrey Dye, Lyn Fuller, Scott Allan Orr, Elisa Tersigni, and numerous composers themselves. Several biographies were used with permission from Anna Maria Reverté from the program book of the XIX World Carillon Federation Congress Barcelona (2017). Research on this open-access publication was supported in part by the University of Michigan Undergraduate Research Opportunity Program (UROP). Michelle S. Lam provided the genesis for this project.

Biography:

Johanna Bordewijk-Roepman was born in Rotterdam. Although she studied orchestration with Eduard Flipse, she was a self-taught composer, not hewing to any particular tradition or school. She received a government prize for her Pianosonate as well as several government commissions, and her husband Ferdinand wrote the libretto for her opera Rotonde. She composed Moeder des Vaderlands at the request of the Royal Singers Union for the occasion of the 50th jubilee of Queen Wilhelmina. Her output includes works for orchestra, choir and orchestra, piano, chamber music, and songs, including compositions upon request from Eindhoven Mayor Kolfshoten, and the commissioned work Triptiek (1951) for the Rotterdam Carillon Association.

Biography:

Joke Brandsma was born in Heerenveen in 1959 and started her music education in Anco Ezinga's organ classes. She went on to study organ at the Music Conservatorium in Arnhem. There she also learned to play the carillon with Gert Oldenbeuving. Later she studied at the Dutch Carillon School in Amersfoort with Arie Abbenes and Bernard Winsemius. For choir direction and choir music, she studied in Utrecht.

As a composer she worked on the Organ Book for the "491 Gezangen" collection of church music, the Zingend Geloven (Singing Beliefs), and the Nieuwe Liedboek (New Songbook). She composed, among other works, Miserere mihi (1979) and Lutum fecit (1985), two motets on Gregorian themes for five-part a cappella choir. In 2011 followed Lorc'amor and Mystiek Lichaam (Mystical Body), also for a capella. She wrote both music and text for Van de Dolfijn en de Forel (From the Dolphin and Trout) for choir and Kalm is de Nacht (Calm is the Night) for choir and flute.

On behalf of the Dutch Broadcast Foundation (NOS), she produced arrangements by Johannes and Frederik Berghuis, Delft carillonists who arranged much music in their time, including overtures, folk songs, dances, and marches. This "Berghuis repertoire" is preserved in the Delft municipal archive.

For carillon, Joke wrote the Twente Suite in 1995, in which she blended characteristics of the five Twente carillon towns ingeniously and with an eye for detail. Her earlier carillon composition The Rhythm of Mother Earth (1988) originated from the song "Zo lang er mensen zijn op aarde" by Tera de Marez Oyens. Joke devoted this work to her partner Joke Nachenius.

Biography:

Emma Lou Diemer holds Bachelor and Master of Music degrees from Yale University, having studied with Paul Hindemith and Richard Donovan. She holds a PhD from Eastman School of Music, as a student of Howard Hanson and Bernard Rogers. She also studied with Roger Sessions. She has collected many honors for choral works, and also writes many works for organ. She is Professor Emeritus of Music Composition at the University of California, Santa Barbara and Organist Emerita at First Presbyterian Church in Santa Barbara.

She continues to be very active as a composer and performer. She has performed recitals of her own works at Washington National Cathedral, Grace Cathedral in San Francisco, and St. Mary's Cathedral in San Francisco. Recent recordings include her Concerto in One Movement for Organ (with Marilyn Mason) and her Concerto in One Movement for Marimba (with Nathan Daugherty), both recorded with the Slovak Radio Symphony. Recent publications include various chamber, orchestral, and solo works. A major work for chorus and orchestra, commissioned by the San Francisco Choral Society, was premiered in 2005 at Davies Symphony Hall in San Francisco.

* Three Pieces (Level 3): Prelude, Interlude and Toccata (1972) were dedicated to Ennis Fruhauf (then carillonneur at UCSB), and premiered by Fruhauf Santa Barbara in 1972.

Dr. Diemer was commissioned to write another piece, Bellsong, for a performance by Margo Halsted at a conference on Women in Music, held at Ann Arbor, Michigan, in 1983. It is published in the Leuven Carillon Book (Leuvens Beiaardboek).

Reflections from the Tower (1989, Level 4), is also published by the GCNA.

Biography:

A pianist by training, Élisabeth Duwelz (1933-2010) was an educator and music professor at the Institut du Sacré-Cœur in Mons [Belgium]. She enrolled in 1962 in the Carillon School of Mons, where she graduated in 1964 with the carillonneur diploma and in 1966 with the virtuoso artist diploma. After the death of Géo Clément in 1969, the City of Mons named her co-titular carillonist of the municipal carillon, jointly with Paula Van de Wiele. She was invited to give concerts in Wallonia, Flanders, the north of France, the Netherlands, Germany, and Switzerland. In 1967, the city of Braine-le-Comte appointed her titular carillonist of its newly inaugurated instrument. She undertook the restoration and rejuvenation of the carillons of Enghien and La Louvière, silent for several years. Every Sunday, she fulfilled her passion for bells by giving in the same day concerts in Mons, Enghien, Braine-le-Comte, La Louvière, and sometimes elsewhere for ad hoc invitations.

In 1999, the carillon of La Louvière proved nearly fatal to her: falling from the upper floors of the tower, she passed two floors before hitting the rood screen behind the organ, condemning her to bed for two long months. The ensuing year of campanological inactivity did not prevent her from resuming, with the same ardor, her long carillon career and her involvement in the association Les Montois Cayaux, for which she provided piano accompaniment at cultural shows. Appreciated by all for her honesty and sincerity, she was recognized for her strong, talented, passionate, dedicated personality as well as her great campanological contributions.

Biography:

Ana Elias is a carillonist, founder, music director, and teacher at the International Center for the Carillon and the Organ (CICO). Ana obtained her music diploma with emphasis in Piano from the Gregorian Institute of Lisbon, Portugal. She graduated with great distinction from the Royal Carillon School 'Jef Denyn' in Mechelen, Belgium and obtained her Master of Music degree in carillon from the Lemmens Institute in Leuven, Belgium. At the Mechelen Conservatory, Ana earned her Organ diploma with great distinction. Moreover, she holds a Master of Mining and Geological Engineering degree from the Instituto Superior Técnico in Lisbon, Portugal. Ana has also been recognized with several awards, including second prize at the Queen Fabiola International Carillon Contest in Mechelen. Ana and her sister, Sara Elias, were the winners of a prize that recognizes young Portuguese people; the mission of this prize is to "give expression to potential new Portuguese values through projects that are innovative and relevant to the Portuguese society." Their project envisioned the promotion of the carillon, its music, and the art of playing it, and foresaw acquiring a traveling carillon: the LVSITANVS Carillon. Ana has played numerous recitals in her native Portugal, as well as throughout Europe, Australia, New Zealand, Russia, and the USA, and has been an invited performer and lecturer at diverse international carillon gatherings and festivals. Her carillon playing can be heard on a CD that she recorded with her sister at the Clérigos Carillon in Porto on the occasion of Porto 2001-European Capital of Culture. Together, Ana and Sara form the carillon duo Lvsitanvs©, which has the distinction of being the only such duo with two sisters as performers.

Biography:

Margo Halsted has been active in the carillon world for many years. She has performed in all countries with an established carillon tradition, taught over 100 students to play the carillon, consulted for eight carillon installations and three carillon renovations, and rediscovered and written about two historical carillon manuscripts. She has been a recitalist or speaker at four World Carillon Federation (WCF) meetings. She has received awards from the Guild of Carillonneurs in North America (GCNA), the WCF, and the University of California, Berkeley. Thirty of her students have passed the GCNA Examination Recital to become Carillonneur Members. She recently served as Adjunct Professor of Music at the University of California, Santa Barbara. The University of Michigan granted her Professor Emerita status when she retired after serving as associate professor and University Carillonist from 1987-2003. Her other previous carillon positions were at Michigan State University, Stanford University, and the University of California, Riverside. Halsted has earned bachelor's and master's degrees from Stanford University in music and education, a master's degree in Performance Practice of Carillon from the University of California, Riverside, and a practical diploma from the Netherlands Carillon School.

Biography:

Yvette Janine Jackson is a composer of electroacoustic, chamber, and orchestral musics for concert, theatre, and installation, and Assistant Professor of Creative Practice and Critical Inquiry at Harvard University, where she also teaches for Theater, Dance and Media. Previously a theatrical sound designer, she blends forms into an aesthetic of narrative soundscape composition, radio opera, and improvisation. She developed this style of composing as a way to pivot between creative practice and research while investigating how darkness, spatial audio, and interactivity affect the audience's engagement with narrative in electroacoustic music listening experiences. Her radio opera Invisible People (2013), for example, responds to homophobia in African American communities; her 2018 radio opera Destination Freedom (premiered at the New Ear Festival in New York City) she describes as a "meditative electroacoustic experience that places the listener in the cargo hold of a ship transporting Africans to the Americas and traverses time in search of freedom."

Jackson is a recipient of San Francisco's Dean Goodman Choice Award for Sound Design and Theatre Bay Area's Eric Landisman Fellowship. She studied music at the RD Colburn School of Performing Arts in Los Angeles, holds a BA in Music from Columbia University and a PhD in Music-Integrative Studies from the University of California, San Diego. She was the Joseph E. and Grace W. Valentine Visiting Assistant Professor of Music at Amherst College for 2018-2019.

Biography:

Described as “ethereal, beautiful and heartfelt,” (Kapralova Society Journal) composer and pianist Jung Sun Kang's music seeks a balance between wild imaginations from many different cultures and a firm belief in classical music's structural tradition.

Jung Sun's music is recorded on the ArtistShare, Centaur, Delos, University of Chicago, and Prima Facie labels. She has received awards from Wildacres, PlySpace, Faber Residency, Kimmel Harding Nelson Center, Willapa Bay, New Music USA, British Harpsichord Society, as well as the Leonard Bernstein Fellowship from Tanglewood Music Center.

Jung Sun was born In Daegu, South Korea. Now a permanent resident of the United States, she makes New York City her home.

Kaoutzani, Maria (b. 1993)

- Faro, unpublished (2018)

Biography:

Maria Kaoutzani is from Limassol, Cyprus, currently based in Chicago. Color and texture are central elements in her work. She enjoys exploring how a number of instruments, no matter how diverse they are coloristically, can function as a unified entity that evolves in time.

She is also interested in the creation of musical spaces that surround the listener, where distinct layers can be heard developing and interacting with one another.

Kaoutzani's works have been performed in Europe, the US, and Latin America. Her major influences include Kaija Saariaho, György Ligeti and Tania León. She is studying towards her PhD in music composition at the University of Chicago, and she holds a master's in music theory and composition from New York University and her undergraduate degree in music from the University of York. Past collaborators include Arizona-based poet and cellist Ruth Wegner, New York-based choreographer Bridget Struthers, and Greek visual artist Nicos Kyprianou.

Biography:

Libby Larsen (born December 24, 1950) has created a catalogue of over 220 works, spanning virtually every genre from intimate vocal and chamber music to massive orchestral and choral scores. Her music has been praised for its dynamic, deeply inspired, and vigorous spirit. Widely recorded, including over 50 CDs of her work, Libby Larsen has established a permanent place for her works in the concert repertory. As an energetic, articulate advocate for the music and musicians of our time, in 1973 Larsen co-founded the Minnesota Composers Forum, now the American Composer's Forum, which has become an invaluable aid for composers in a difficult, transitional time for American arts. The 2003 holder of the Papamarkou Chair at John W. Kluge Center of the Library of Congress, Larsen has held residencies with the Minnesota Orchestra, the Charlotte Symphony, and the Colorado Symphony. Her works are published by ECS Music and Oxford University Press. (Biographical sketch provided by Oxford University Press.)

Larsen earned BA., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Minnesota, where she studied with Domenic Argento, Paul Fetler, and Erik Stokes. She is in great demand as a lecturer as well as composer.

Leroy, Hélène (1934-1982)

- Chant Hébraïque, in Sur les traces de Fernand Redouté et Géo Clément à Mons, Association Campanaire Wallonne (2017)

Biography:

Originally from Péruwelz [Belgium], Hélène Leroy (1934-1982) was an excellent musician, characterized by her kindness and dynamism. Her primary instrument was the violin. She was among the first students of Géo Clément at the Carillon School of Mons. After obtaining her carillon diploma, she traveled regularly to Ath in the early 1960s to bring the carillon to life at the Thursday markets. She was very familiar with the carillons of northern France, especially that of St-Amand-les-Eaux. Her repertoire was quite varied and her playing light and limber, putting into practice the principles taught by her teacher. Unfortunately she died early, after a serious illness. Carillon composer Emile Marin held her in great regard and dedicated four compositions to her.

- Soliloquy, GCNA (1962)
- Suite for Carillon, GCNA (1970)
- Three Short Pieces, GCNA (1961)

Biography:

Jean Miller lived in Colorado Springs, Colorado. Her music and records about her work were given to Colorado Women's College, now part of the University of Denver. (Information was provided by Suzanne Moulton, Music Librarian.) Further information is on file at the Anton Brees Carillon Library (The Bok Singing Tower, Lake Wales, Florida).

Jean Miller studied at Juilliard School of Music, Colorado Women's College (in Denver), and the University of Colorado in Boulder, graduating from the latter with a Bachelor of Music degree in composition in 1940. She also studied composition privately with Bernard Wagenaar, Roger Sessions, Arthur Honegger, and at the Summer School in Fontainebleau (France) with Nadia Boulanger. Additionally, she attended summer classes under Nicolas Slonimsky and Paul Hindemith. She had a strong interest in Africa and African tribal music, which led her to study anthropology at Northwestern University. She was very adept with many languages, and served as a translator for radio programs in Spanish during World War II. Most of her time was devoted to composition, which covered a wide range of musical media (concert band, strings, choral ensembles, piano, etc.). Her friend Johan Franco urged her to write for the carillon, and at his suggestion, she made contact with Ronald Barnes at the University of Kansas. During the last few years of her life, she wrote many carillon works, although sadly she never got to hear them played. She was also given a tape demonstrating the range and pitches of a carillon. (Presumably, she was also supplied with some information about how it was played.) From this scant information, she composed her works.

Suite for Carillon (1955, Level 2) contains four sections: Rather lively, joyous (2/4), Rather slow, with feeling (3/2), Vigorous and exalted (3/4), and Lively and Gay (4/4).

Three Short Pieces: Air, Lullaby, and Chantey; were written in 1959 and first performed by Ronald Barnes at the University of Kansas in 1960. Air and Lullaby are on Level 1. Chantey is on Level 4. Air and Chantey are also included in Playing the Carillon: An Introductory Method, by John Gouwens.

Four Short Pieces: Prelude, Children's Song, Hoedown, and Toccata (1961) are on Level 2. * Prayer for Peace (1962, Level 2) was written for the "Public Service of Dedication" of Whatley Chapel and the Olinger Tower (which houses the 30-bell Charles S. Hill Memorial Carillon) at Colorado Women's College.

Soliloquy (1963, Level 2) is written in the octatonic scale, and was first performed by Ronald Barnes at the University of Kansas in 1963. Barnes played it again at the dedication of the carillon at Washington Cathedral.

Other pieces for carillon (which are not published by the GCNA) include:

A Merry Dance (1962), written for the Carillon at Colorado Women's College, first played on March 30, 1962 at an "Alumni Scholarship Concert;" and Prelude for a Two-Octave Carillon (1961).

Biography:

Margot Glassett Murdoch (b. 1981) is a composer, extended vocalist, and music theory pedagogue. After completing her Bachelor's and Master's degrees in music composition at Brigham Young University, she went on to earn a Ph.D. in composition from the University of Utah. Margot's dissertation included an analysis of Luciano Berio's Sequenza III and a cataloguing of extended vocal techniques. Margot has written music for student animations that won student Emmys, worked with Ensemble Aleph, Canyonlands New Music Ensemble and Flexible Music. As a vocalist, Margot performed in improvisational and experimental bands, toured with Seattle Experimental Opera and has performed as an extended vocal soloist and improviser at Salt Lake Library's 12 Minutes Max, Locust Salon, Salty Cricket Composer's Collective Mélange concerts and the Avant Garage. Margot has been commissioned by Utah Youth Symphony, Utah Opera, and in addition to teaching musicianship and theory at BYU and the U of U during her graduate degrees, she taught at Pioneer High School for the Performing Arts and online as a private music tutor. Some of her recent gigs include recording a video series on music theory topics for Musician's Toolkit and writing music for children's operas through USUO outreach program. Margot currently lives in Utah with her husband and three grade school-aged children.

Biography:

Ethel Adelaide Parker was an organist and composer. She studied organ at the Royal Conservatory of Music in London under Sir Walter Parratt from 1905 to 1909. She wrote under several pseudonyms (primarily Etelka d’Arba and Bruno d’Arba; as well as Joan d’Arba and Joan McLeod). She became interested in carillon and bell music by 1920 through campanologist William Wooding Starmer and studied performance in Bruges under Antoon [Tony] Nauwelaerts in 1921. Her studies were reputedly sponsored by a Swiss millionaire who intended to donate funds for a carillon in Geneva.

Biography:

Olesya Rostovskaya studied piano in Anna Artobolevskaya’s class. After her studies at the Russian Central Music School, she studied with Albert Leman at the Tchaikovsky Moscow Conservatory from 1993 to 2000, specializing in composition. In 2001, she completed her specialization in organ with Oleg Yanchenko. She began playing the thereminvox in 1999 and the Russian bell tradition in 2003. In 2006, she began her studies in carillon, graduating in 2008 from Saint Petersburg State University as carillonist (the first in the world to earn the Russian Carillon Diploma). In 2009, she graduated from the Royal Carillon School ‘Jef Denyn’ in Mechelen, where she studied with Jo Haazen.

Now Rostovskaya is very active as a composer, having composed for symphony and chamber orchestras, various ensembles, choir, organ, carillon, thereminvox, voice, musical theater, radio, and electroacoustic music. Her compositions have been performed in Russia, western Europe, and the USA.

Rostovskaya is also active as a performer with classical and modern repertoire and improvisations. She recorded CDs including Soul of a Bell: Russian Carillon Music and What Peter the Great heard from the carillon tower, and she made a cycle of radio programs called "Don Carillon." She has also presented on the carillon and bells at conferences and symposia, and represented Russia at two World Carillon Federation congresses. She has won numerous awards and competitions, including the Sacred Music Contest (1996), First National Young Composers Contest (1999), New Generation Music contest (2000); Massalitinov's national music contest (2005); piano improvisation contest (2006), and Russian Artiada (2010).

Rostovskaya is a member of the Russian Composers Union, the Russian Association of Electroacoustic Music, the Association of Russian Organ Art, and the Russian Carillon Foundation.

Biography:

The music of Augusta Read Thomas is nuanced, majestic, elegant, capricious, and colorful—"it is boldly considered music that celebrates the sound of instruments and reaffirms the vitality of orchestral music" (Philadelphia Inquirer). A Grammy winner, her impressive works embody unbridled passion and fierce poetry. The New Yorker called her "a true virtuoso composer." Critic Edward Reichel wrote, "Thomas has secured for herself a permanent place in the pantheon of American composers of the twentieth and twenty-first centuries. She is without question one of the best and most important composers that this country has today. Her music has substance, depth, and a sense of purpose. She has a lot to say and knows how to say it—and in a way that is intelligent yet appealing and sophisticated."

Biography:

Paula Van de Wiele (1933-2000) studied piano at the Royal Conservatory of Mons. A typing instructor at the Athénée Jean d'Avesnes, she enrolled at the Carillon School of Mons in 1960. She earned her carillon diploma in 1962 and her virtuoso artist diploma in 1964. She then enrolled at Royal Carillon School in Mechelen, where she took classes for a year, then at the Conservatory of Music in Tourcoing, where she graduated in 1974 with the State Carillonneur diploma, before being proclaimed a laureate of the superior course in 1975. Her campanological career was particularly eventful: co-titular carillonist of the City of Mons since 1969, titular carillonist of that of the City of Brussels since 1981, and that of Charleroi since 1986; she was co-founder of and a pivotal figure in the Association Catiau Montois et Carillons de Mons, for which she was the foremost performer of the Queen Fabiola mobile carillon, inaugurated in 1989. She gave numerous concerts in Belgium and abroad, including four tours of the United States. She participated in various radio and television programs and recorded an album of the carillon of Mons.

Secretary of the Belgian Guild of Carillonneurs, then of the Flemish Carillon Guild, van de Wiele participated in various planning meetings for the founding of the Association Campanaire Wallonne in 1994. She published seventeen editions of the Rencontres Franco-Belges d'Amitié Campanaire, very much appreciated by her French neighbors, with whom she had very solid and faithful friendships. With a temperament that combined joy and creativity, she made great contributions to the propagation of the carillon art in Mons, Belgium, and abroad.

Biography:

Elizabeth Vitu studied the carillon for nine years with Charles Chapman in Luray, Virginia and participated in his workshops with Johan Franco and LaSalle Spier. She pursued her carillon studies at Hollins University, which created a music degree in carillon for her, and studied with James Leland, Roy Hamlin Johnson, and John Diercks and did an internship with Milford Myhre. Upon receiving her diploma with honors, she studied for two years with Jacques Lannoy at the École Française de Carillon in Douai. Elizabeth was named assistant carillonneur of Perpignan Cathedral from 1999-2005 and was named carillonneur by Episcopal decree in 2006. She is also responsible for organizing the Perpignan International Carillon Festival, was recently appointed carillonneur in Carcassonne, and is professor of carillon at the Perpignan Conservatory of Music. In 2016, after four years of study with Koen Cosaert, Eddy Mariën, and Tom van Peer, Elizabeth received her diploma with distinction from the Royal Carillon School 'Jef Denyn' in Mechelen, Belgium.

Biography:

Sally Slade Warner was Academy Carillonneur at Phillips Academy, Andover, as well as being Carillonneur at Saint Stephen's Episcopal Church, Cohasset, Massachusetts. For many years, she served as Organist and Director of Music at the Church of Saint John the Evangelist, Boston. She studied at the New England Conservatory of Music (Boston 1950-52). A member of the American Guild of Organists, she held the AAGO (Associate, 1965) and the Choir Master (1954) certificates from that organization. Her first carillon studies (1974-77) were with Earl Chamberlain (for many years the carillonneur at Cohasset), followed in 1978-79 by studies with Piet van den Broek at the Royal Carillon School "Jef Denijn" in Mechelen, Belgium. She received the Final Diploma with great distinction from the Mechelen school. At Mechelen, she studied composition with Willy Climan, Jan Hadermann, and Piet van den Broek.

* Passacaglia on E-A-C (Level 4) was composed to fulfill a diploma requirement at the Mechelen School. It is dedicated to Earl A. Chamberlain (whose initials provide the beginning of the theme). Since being deleted from the GCNA catalogue, this piece has been published by American Carillon Music Editions, Inc.

Warner's transcription of Handel's Solemn Sinfonia: Entrance to Queen of Sheba and her arrangement of Staf Nee's transcription of the Chorus and March from Handel's Judas Maccabaeus were published in 1985 as part of the Bach/Handel/Scarlatti Tercentenary Series.

Another work, Variations on an old Flemish Song: "Die alder soetste Jesus," also written to fulfill a Mechelen diploma requirement, has been published by the Belgian Guild of Carillonneurs. It incorporates Gregorian Chant themes pertaining to the Blessed Virgin Mary, which provide the background for the principal tune. The piece is dedicated to the memory of Everett Titcomb, Director of Music at Saint John the Evangelist church in Boston for fifty years, and is now published by the Guild of Carillonneurs in North America.

She has also made arrangements of many hymn tunes and folk songs, which are published by American Carillon Music Editions, Inc.
