“From the moment I stepped out of the car onto the UNH campus, I knew this was where I needed to go to school.”

I couldn't explain why, but I knew.

Now, as a senior, I have countless memories of my journey at UNH. From fears while moving in as a freshman to excitement about returning again and again, the ups and downs are endless, but I am proud of my UNH story. Four years have come and gone since that first time seeing campus, and my feeling of home has only grown.

In my time as a student I joined (probably too many) student organizations. I got a few jobs on campus. I fell in love with the opportunities I was given. And I found my family at UNH.
