REPORT
OF THE
Superintending School Committee
OF THE
TOWN OF SUNAPEE,
FOR THE YEAR ENDING MARCH 14, 1876.

DISTRICT No. 1.

Summer Term—Miss FANNIE T. ANGELL, Teacher. The order, at each visit made by me, was good, and the closing examination showed a good degree of improvement in the various branches studied.

Winter Term—Mr. HORACE M. FELCH, Teacher. Mr. Felch at once won the good will of his pupils. The term was profitable to the scholars and pleasant to all.

DISTRICT No. 2.

Summer Term—Miss MARY E. BABB, Teacher. Fall Term—same teacher. The result of the school year shows that it was wisdom to retain the same teacher for both terms. The order seemed to be sufficiently strict for so small a school, and a fair amount of progress was made. A nice present testified to the esteem in which the pupils held their teacher.

DISTRICT No. 3.

Winter Term only—Mr. G. F. FARRAND, Teacher. The school needed and was fortunate in securing the services of a well-educated teacher. Most of the larger scholars are devoted students, and made very rapid improvement.

DISTRICT No. 4.

Summer Term—Miss FRANCENA G. RYDER, Teacher. A teacher so well qualified, patient and kind could not fail to win the love of her pupils and to have a pleasant term.

Winter Term—Miss AMELIA P. SCOTT, Teacher. A distinguished writer has said "It is woman's vocation to teach." It certainly is Miss Scott's. Perfectly at home and at ease in the school-room, she labors with an efficiency which I have never seen excelled.

DISTRICT No. 5.

Summer Term—Miss AUGUSTA A. COLBY, Teacher. Winter Term—same. The progress was steady and rapid, and the moral deportment of the scholars a credit to themselves and to their teacher.

DISTRICT No. 6.

Summer Term—Miss MANZA D. GEORGE, Teacher. The teachers' faithful labors were rewarded with success. If Miss George will cultivate the talent she has, and devote herself to the work, she may become a very useful teacher.

Fall Term—Miss FRANCENA G. RYDER, Teacher. Miss Ryder is always and deservedly popular in this district; but, having improved by experience, she was enabled to make this term more profitable than any previous one that she has taught in this school.

DISTRICT No. 7.

Summer Term—Miss ELVIE O. BOYCE, Teacher. A very satisfactory term. Order and progress good. Miss Boyce possesses many elements of a successful teacher, and will do well to make teaching her vocation.

Winter Term—Miss C. NETTIE BUELL, Teacher. Miss Buell was educated in the city and unfamiliar with country schools; but, as she strove to do the best she could, I gave her all the assistance in my power, and sustained her in keeping order. Had the district given the school the moral support which they ought to have done, the term would have been one of average success.

DISTRICT No. 8.

Summer Term—Miss INEZ D. NELSON, Teacher. Fall Term—same teacher. Private Term—same teacher. It is said to be impossible for a teacher to suit every one ; but, so far as I know, Miss Nelson did, do it, and that too in a very large district. The deportment and progress of the scholars were excellent.

DISTRICT No. 9.

Fall Term only — Miss CELIA A. GOVE, Teacher. The Lower Village was also fortunate in securing the services of a most excellent teacher, who conducted a term successful in every respect, and gave general satisfaction to the district.

GENERAL REMARKS.

In the foregoing you will see that I have studied brevity. I trust, however, that you will perceive my estimate of the several terms as clearly as if the same ideas had been enveloped in a multitude of words. You will notice that I censure no teacher. I think that all our teachers have endeavored to perform their duty faithfully. Some have had advantages over others,—advantages of greater previous experience, of wider intellectual culture, of natural adaptation to teaching, of the support of an appreciative district, etc., — and consequently have been more successful. But I am sure that no one has been culpably remiss in effort for the good of the school under his or her charge. This being true, I have given, as it was my duty to do, a hearty support to every teacher. But this is not the duty of the Superintendent alone. If a teacher is unable, with proper support, to go on successfully with the school, she should be dismissed at once. But so long as she is retained, the interests of the school demand that she receive an earnest support from every citizen. We should think that man woefully deficient in understanding who should employ a laborer to do a piece of work, and then throw impediments in the laborer's way. But not more void of understanding is that man than he who throws his influence against the teacher who has been employed to labor for the instruction of his children. He blindly thinks that he is injuring a teacher with whom he is dissatisfied, but he is injuring his own children—his own flesh and blood—far more. Even if a laborer is not doing all that he ought, how foolish is that employer who should destroy that which he does do ! And so, even if a teacher is not all we could desire, how unwise is that parent who by bringing railing accusations against her, so prejudices the minds of his children that they reap no good whatever! In this matter there are two, and but two, courses of conduct that a wise man can take. He should either support the teacher, or else apply to the Superintendent to have her dismissed. To find fault with her and to obstruct her work while she remains in the school-room, and under pay, is only to make a bad matter worse. A little support will often enable a man to bear up under a heavy load. An additional weight cast upon him will often crush him entirely. The cordial support of the district will often enable the teacher to triumph over every difficulty. The opposition of a district will often thwart her utmost endeavors. Thus the influence of the district may make all the difference between a good and a poor school.

In making these remarks, I have no reference to the citizens of any particular district. I know of no district that gives its school the support which it ought to do. I make them because I believe that there is no one thing that would do so much for the improvement of our common schools as it would to have all parents instruct their children to respect and obey the laws of school. If all parents would instil into the minds of their children a reverence for the school-room as the place in which by proper conduct and reasonable industry they may acquire that which will be of inestimable value to them all through life, and would also ascertain for themselves what their scholars are doing at school, frown upon them for every act of disobedience, and rebuke them for every school-hour passed in idleness, commend them for all right conduct, and manifest a lively interest in all their progress, the moral atmosphere of the school-room would be wonderfully changed, and an impulse given to the cause of education such as it has never yet received.

Asking your candid attention to this matter, as to one of vital importance to your children's welfare; and subjoining in a statistical table the additional items which the law requires, I respectfully submit the whole.

EDWARD R. PERKINS,

Superintending School Committee.
