A SWEETHEART AT THIRTY

(By Marion Rubincam)

REALIZATION Chapter I. It was not until early spring that I began to realize what I was—or, rather, what I had become. The transformation came later—quite a bit later and was slow in coming. The realization was slow in coming. It was not until early spring that I began to realize what I was—or, rather, what I had become.

NOTED ACTOR IS CALLED TO REWARD

JAMES O'NEIL DIES IN NEW LONDON, CONNECTICUT; HAD BRILLIANT CAREER

(By Associated Press.)
New London, Conn., Aug. 10.—James O'Neil, the actor, died at his home here today. He had been ill for three months suffering from an internal disorder. His wife and two sons were at his bedside. Mr. O'Neil was left in a weakened condition two years ago after he was struck by an automobile in New York. He was 70 years old.

Mr. O'Neil, born James O'Neil, famous actor, died at his home here today. He was 70 years old. For more than fifteen years he has been associated with that play that in the minds of drama lovers that to mention one was to suggest the other. It was his great part, the character in which he achieved his greatest success and, despite his efforts to discard it for others, he was often compelled to return to it in fulfillment of public demand or at the request of theatrical managers.

Mr. O'Neil was brought to this country when a small child from the home of his parents in Kilkenny, Ireland, where he was born November 15, 1849. His first appearance on the stage was in the National Theatre at Cincinnati in 1864. Subsequently he appeared at the St. Louis Varieties, played in a Chicago stock company for two years, and appeared with Adelardo Nelson and Edwin Booth in classic plays.

He went to New York in 1878 and played "Henry" in "The Two Orphans," the prince in "The Dahlschatts" and as Jean Renaud in "A Celebrated Case." Beginning in 1878 he achieved an enviable reputation as D'Artagnan in "The Musketeers." He attempted many years ago to retire from the stage but was recalled to appear in romantic dramas in which he was at his best.

BURT E. BURROUGHS TELLS OF CALIFORNIA; HER EARTHQUAKES

INTERESTING LETTER DESCRIBING "LUCKY" BALDWIN'S ESTATE THE JAPANESE QUESTION AND POLITICAL SITUATION IN THE PACIFIC COAST STATE.

C. P. Livingston is in receipt of the following interesting letter from Burt E. Burroughs, who with his wife is enjoying life in the far west: Los Robles Court, Pasadena, Calif., Aug. 2, 1920.

Friend Charlie:

I was sitting on my front porch July 15th celebrating the fall of the battle in a sane and rational way, vouching how my friends, Dr. Lauch and Dr. Roy and Bill Cadoret and how me. There are phases for and out of season with nothing better than ginger ale or malted milk for a night, when Pete Schaefer stopped on my porch and I—well, I don't remember on me, but projected his presence into my front porch. It was a most agreeable surprise to me who had been up to the democratic convention at San Francisco and was then visiting his sister in Los Angeles, north of Glendale and I missed them unfortunately. Last Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Broas and family called and we were greatly surprised to meet them. Mr. Broas likes Pasadena much more than Los Angeles and may look here for his stay in California. He has an uncle living in Glendale and may decide to locate there. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Swannell are living in Eagle Rock and we hope to see them before long. We took a drive out on the San Fernando road the other day and saw short Hatter, who carries on a general store there. Mr. Hatter is enthusiastic about California and would not be induced to leave. He describes Earthquake.

Ever been thru an earthquake? Ask me! Ask me! We have had a number of them during the past two weeks, but it was not until about two weeks ago, that I met one face to face and got an introduction. I was asleep on the lounge shortly after dark and was awakened by a movement of the couch swinging endwise. I was talking to Mrs. Burroughs about it and she said that she had seen the picture on the wall was a most nearly roaring something I just cannot describe. She says that people are decidedly nervous, especially the touring element. Mr. Burroughs says that just the way the situation was with them the first months prior to the big quake and while he is not exactly "Fraid" he does like to see them in an effort to get out of the country as soon as possible. The shock made me slightly sick at my stomach and Mrs. Burroughs, who lives back of us, told me that it made her so sick she had to leave up a perfectly good dinner. She says that she has an assortment of variations that enter into life here and rescue it from dull monotony.

Lucky Baldwin's Estate.

We recall last year Baldwin, the race horse man of twenty-five years ago. Well, his estate, one of the finest in Southern California, is situated east of Pasadena in the San Gabriel valley and consists of 40,000 acres of the most beautiful land on earth. Large portions of this tract look like a well-kept park and is covered with natural live oaks of historic proportions. The grain lands are extensive and beautifully level and Santa Anita Boulevard, which he laid out on the eastern border of these lands is one of the beauty spots of the valley. It is several miles in extent and has two concrete roads lined with sculptured and pepper trees alternating. It is a most delightful drive. Baldwin was not only lucky but eccentric as well and he made it a condition that each of his three daughters at marriage to retain the name Baldwin and the "lucky" gentleman in each case was to surrender his name and become Baldwin in fact. This, I am told, has been rigorously adhered to. The estate has three palatial homes surrounded by spacious grounds and all with arbors and gardens that are marvels of nature's productivity, directed and aided by the gardener's art. Two of these magnificent homes are visible from the highway but the 80 home, occupied by Anita Baldwin, is surrounded by a ten-foot concrete wall which most effectively excluded the public. Signs on the gate warn the strangers to "Beware the dogs." "Anoka Kennels" on this estate are famous for the "Brain produced. Numerous strands of barbed wire are thin reminders that a policy of public exclusion is in full force and effect on your way are expected to hurry on your way, and not leave other the help or the dogs. This place used to be the mecca of race-horse people in the days when Lucky himself attended a lordly hospitality and they came from far and near like Judge Billy Hunter's Pembroke and Minnie Hunter's friends used to come from miles around to see him open a keg. "Them was the good old days, what?" California Republican.

Politically, I would say, without meaning to overdraw or mislead on the situation, that California will get about 2,000,000 majority for the

DINNER STORIES

A young artist out on a sketching trip, says London Answers, came across a sturdy youngster, carrying an axe and desiring to bring forth fruits to pose for a sketch. In a few minutes there came along a man whom every sign proclaimed to be a father of a family. For half an hour he stood watching the artist at work, then he burst out in admiring enthusiasm:

"Well, sir, if that isn't wonderful! Beats all I ever saw!"

"Like the sketch, do you?" the flattered artist responded with a pleased blush.

"Sketch? Oh, that! Yes, it's all right, I mean, but I meant was against that you have managed to get that boy quiet for so long."

The other day at a musicale two elderly gentlemen were seated near the rear of the house. A nicely assimilated fellow, that is, in the course of the song one of the men remarked: "That is some fierce song, I wonder who wrote it?"

"I did," meekly replied the other. "Er—ah—pardon me, my dear sir, perhaps it is the singer and not the song. By the way, who is that woman with such an awful voice?"

Very quietly and softly the other replied: "My wife."

"You belong to the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, don't you?" asked the caller.

"Yes, I'm one of the officers," replied the man at home.

"Well, here's a song I dedicated to your society. I'd like to sing it to you."

"All right. Wait until I put the cat out of the room."

planted laboriously one by one, so that by this intensive method enough grain may be raised to feed her 57,000,000 of population, as well as her annual increase of 600,000—his thinking more of domestic problems than of war with the United States. There's more to this Jap question but I will leave to give it to you later.

For President WARREN G. HARDING Of Ohio

For Vice President CALVIN COOLIDGE Of Massachusetts

SPARKS FROM EDITORIAL ANVILS

Manufacturers Record—Mr. Harding visions the chief magistracy as an office designed to make effective and operative great decisions reached, and not as an office from the isolation of which should issue decrees as from a cloister.

Concord (N. H.) Monitor—The people of the United States want a president of the United States, not a president of the world, says George Harvey. And they are going to have what they want after March 4, 1920.

St. Louis Times—Mr. Wilson's ambition to be the last of the Democratic presidents seems to be in a fair way of fulfillment.

Oneta (N. Y.) Dispatch—Postmaster General Burleson's resignation, it is believed, is due to his unwillingness to accept a personal tribute to his administration.

Portland (Ore.), Telegram—Cox may underwrite Wilson's entire foreign policy, but it needs also the signature of Murphy, Taggart, et al.

Seattle Post-Intelligencer—According to reports, Governor Cox has inherited all the funds, policies and spoils of the present administration except the patent rights on "May I not?"

Daily Mossoullah (Mont)—Apparently President Wilson is not too ill to tell Cox how to run his campaign. Cox should be careful of the Greeks for advice, especially when they dwell in manure.

Yankers (N. Y.), Statesman—Now that President Wilson and Mr. McAdoo have no further use for them, the railroads are laying off their surplus hands and getting down to a real business basis.

Dubuque Times-Journal—Samuel Campers, who favors the scheme of giving Britain six votes and America six, in the League of Nations, will take the stump during the presidential campaign and tell Americans how to vote.

Philadelphia Public Ledger—There is no method by which a party can inflict upon this nation the ill of an experimental, pseudo-idealistic, irritatingly unpractical, openly sectional, poisonous and socialist government and get away with it without any "come-back."

August 1, 1920

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Surprenant and daughter, Genevieve, broke camp at the Log Cabin, and returned home Sunday after eight weeks there. The party is much improved physically by their stay and living outdoors.

A party of seven people will leave in the morning for Chicago, en route to New York, and will leave New York by Friday or Saturday for a trip across the water. The party is composed of Mrs. A. E. Baker, wife of the telephone local line manager, B. Minister and Patry Keigher, of this place, and Ladore Lecoe, of Marquette, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Mathis, and Theophile Hougardy, of Clifton. Mininger and Keigher, are going to remain for an indefinite time, while the others will return in the next three months. Mrs. Baker is a native of Belgium, and came over here with her husband about a year ago. We wish the party a "Bon Voyage" and a safe return.

A score of people from this vicinity attended the funeral of the late Leonard Bissonnette yesterday at St. George. Never has a funeral taken place in that little church since so largely attended as that of this young man, whose death was such a tragical and painful one. Every pew was occupied with people standing in the aisles and also many were unable to attend. The news of the terrible accident spread like wild fire for miles around, and on Sunday, last, nearly two hundred automobiles, loaded with curious people, who had come from long distances to view the place of the accident, and from early morning until late in the afternoon automobiles were crowding the roads leading to the spot where the accident took place two days before. Members of the family tell us that had the explosion happened twenty minutes later it would have been had to say how many would have met death, as by that time the whole threatening crew would have been at work.

The Gem theatre has rented the Marceau building and the theatre is going to be moved in that place by September 1. The Marceau room is much larger than the one occupied by the theatre now, but it is so much better, for the present room has proven to be too small for the last couple of months, and the clients are getting more and more numerous as the time goes. The boys have already started to work on the new place, and will have everything ready for the first of next month. They promise the public one of the best programs that ever was put up in a place of this size.

Farmers don't forget to read Farmers' Elevator Company's ad in this issue. The ad has only a few more lines to it and it will pay five times as much to take advantage of the great bargain as it would to wait until it is too late. The ad is in the issue of August 10, 1920, and is on page 10. It is a great bargain and it is a great opportunity for you. Don't miss it. It is a great bargain and it is a great opportunity for you. Don't miss it.

Isabella Rebekah Lodge held an enjoyable meeting Friday evening. After the regular lodge session a social hour was spent and lunch was served in honor of Mrs. Maggie O'Brien of Lowell, and Mrs. Lucia Vail of Chicago. The latter was celebrating her 81st birthday on that day. Mrs. Vail wouldn't acknowledge her age but as usual some one else told. These two ladies are members of long standing in the lodge and we are always glad to honor them. Mrs. Vail expects to go to Canada this Fall but we hope she will be able to return again to celebrate many more such happy birthdays.

When Billy heard Hans say that he did not wait for any more, but raised up on his hind feet, Fritz tried his best to hold him back, but he might as well have tried to hold the wind, and Billy, feeling the tug at his reins, gave a jump that toppled Fritz over backwards out of the cart. He gave one more jump and landed with all his might and main against poor, round Hans, and as his enemy went down Billy jumped on him and ran up one side of him and down the other side. Poor Hans got up and clasped both pudgy hands on his stomach.

"A thousand lightnings yet again," he exclaimed as he looked sorrowfully at his print in the dust. Hans had been butted that time for Billy was going, not Billy whirled and came back to give Hans one for himself, but this time Hans was too quick for him and dodged behind a tree letting Billy butt the tree so hard that it stunned him, and before the fiery tempered goat could make up his mind what had happened to him Caspar came running up and grabbed him by the horns. Billy could have jerked away from Caspar, but he felt that he had, and he did not want to hurt him, so he let Caspar pat him on his sleek sides into the cart behind him.

"You'll have to walk, Fritz," said Caspar loftily. "It takes a good strong boy to manage this goat." Billy laughed at this, but when Caspar "clicked" for him to "get up" he trotted that along without making any fuss about it. At the next corner a carriage turned into the main street, and in it, on the seat back of the driver, were a man and a boy, the latter being about Caspar's age. "Oh, papa, do look at that beautiful goat," said the boy. "Please buy him for me, won't you?" Mr. Brown shook his head. "I'm not going to buy a goat, Frank," he said. "That's not as good a one when we get back to America. There is no use in carrying a goat with you, it's no use with us when there are so many at home."

WHY RATES FOR THE SERVICE Furnished By the PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY OF NORTHERN ILLINOIS Had to Be Raised NO one needs to be reminded that beginning with the Fall of 1914, prices for labor and material of all kinds began to advance, and this advance has been continuous. During this period of nearly six years, this Company has operated its properties without increasing its rates, except for wholesale power, wholesale gas and heating service. It was possible to continue to operate under these conditions only by the practice of the most rigid economy and utilization of the most economical units for the production of both electricity and gas In order that the Company might continue to render adequate service to its customers, it became apparent that the policy of selling its product at pre-war prices could not longer be pursued, and that the selling price of its product MUST BE INCREASED. Accordingly, upon our application, filed May 6, 1920, the Public Utilities Commission of Illinois, by order entered July 31, 1920 (Cases 10569, 10570 and 10579), has granted an increase in OUR ELECTRIC, GAS and WATER RATES, EFFECTIVE AUGUST 1, 1920

The Commission, after consideration of the evidence submitted in support of our application, said in its order: "Principal among the contentions advanced by the petitioner in support of its application for higher rates is the marked increase in operating expenses brought about by the great advance in the costs of labor and materials. In 1919 the Company used approximately 440,000 tons of boiler coal, 32,000 tons of gas coal, 56,000 tons of water gas generator fuel, and 10,000,000 gallons of enriching oil. A year ago bituminous coal for boiler fuel cost $3.50 a ton at the plants of the company as compared with a present cost of $4.48 a ton and an estimated cost after August 1, 1920 of about $4.86 a ton. The company claims it is enabled to secure coal at somewhat less than market price because of its interest in the mines of the Big Muddy Fuel Company in Williamson County, Illinois and the Indiana Hocking Coal Company in Sullivan, Indiana. Until April, 1920, the Company purchased an excellent quality of Kanawha coke for use as generator fuel at a price of $4.75 per ton at the ovens. This grade of coke can no longer be secured, and the company is now purchasing Connellville Coke at $15.50 per ton at the ovens, equivalent to about $17.90 at the various plants. Gas oil of superior quality which sold for 2 or 3 cents a gallon in the period from 1911 to 1915 can not now be secured, and the company is forced to use an inferior grade known as fuel oil, and even this can be obtained only with difficulty at prices varying from 10 to 12 cents a gallon, for necessary oil purchased on the open market." The policy of this Company from its beginning and up until the Fall of 1914, had been to reduce the rates for its service. As soon as it is possible to materially reduce its costs of service, this Company will request the authorities having charge of rates, to authorize a lower rate than THE RATE NOW IN EFFECT Because of the scarcity and extremely high price of boiler fuel and gas making supplies, we earnestly urge ALL of our customers to exercise the utmost economy in the USE OF OUR SERVICE. If they adopt this course, it will not only help us, but it will go a long ways toward helping them in taking care of the increase in the rates PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY OF ILLINOIS

THRILLING AVIATION AT THE FAIR

Ruth Law and Al Wilson Will Fly Three Days Only
One week from today Al Wilson and Ruth Law, the most reckless aviators in the world will arrive in Kankakee with their four planes to fly at the Kankakee Inter-State Fair on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

The other part of this thrilling program of aviation will be performed by Ruth Law, Ruth Law is the leading aviator of the world, she has a national reputation as a flyer having broken several records for distance and altitude, and in reality being the only woman who has ever succeeded in aviation in any of its branches, her reputation is world wide.

On the afternoon and evening of these same three days that Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week she will start the fair grounds and execute all of the difficult stunts in flying. In the evening her plane will be illuminated and as she flies through the air fireworks will be shot from her plane. The landing ground in the infield of the race track will be outlined by twenty-four brilliant lights alternating red and white and upon this field Ruth Law will land after the old fashioned manner. The thrilling nature of these flying exhibits is bound to attract thousands of people from many miles around Kankakee.

This enterprise is of his own creation and like all his undertakings has been very successful."

FREIGHT RATE BOOSTED; NOT PASSENGER

PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION GRANTS INCREASE THROUGH STATE

Freight Raise Will Total Over $100,000,000 A Year Says Chairman Wilkerson
(Chicago, Ill., Aug. 11)—The State Public Utilities Commission granted railroads, operating in Illinois, a 33 and 1/3 per cent increase in intrastate freight rates and denied a petition that passenger rates be increased to 36 cents per mile. The passenger decision was rendered on the ground that the Commission did not have authority under the state law, which fixed the rates at two cents per mile, to grant a rate beyond that amount.
