DORM DANCE SUCCESS

A large proportion of the Freshman Class turned out for the annual Dorm Dance held Saturday night in the dining hall of the men's dormitory. About eighty couples enjoyed the music rendered by Perley Reynolds band. The hall was pleasingly decorated by the committee in charge of the affair, and an enjoyable time was had by everyone. The members of the committee were: Romansky, Levenson, Brooks, Ford, and Waxman. Chaperons were Dean and Mrs. Corbett, Professor and Mrs. Wallace, Asst. Dean and Mrs. Hincks, and William Wells.

THE NEW GYM

Everyone is watching with interest the construction of the new gymnasium now being added to the south side of Memorial Armory. This building is a gift of the Alumni, faculty, and friends of the University, and its total cost will approximate $163,000.

This unit is a continuation of the project started several years ago to commemorate those Maine men who died in the service of their country.

The building will be of brick and steel construction, with Maine granite for the steps and trimmings. The lobby or trophy room will be of blue stone with walls of limestone.

The first floor will contain the offices of the coaches and the headquarters of the Physical Training Department. The second floor will be used almost exclusively for locker rooms. The third floor will have three exercise rooms, and two hand-ball courts. The main gym will extend from the first floor to the roof, and will be about 80 feet by 106 feet. This will be enclosed by stands and galleries with a seating capacity of 1350.

This gymnasium, which is expected to reach completion some time in February, will fulfill a long-felt need of the University.

THE WINGATE STONE

The stone in front of Wingate Hall is known as conglomerate. The name itself means, in geology; a rock composed of gravel and coarse material fastened together by very fine sand. This sand acts as a natural cement and looks a great deal like our ordinary cement. No one knows the actual composition of this stone. It was found in the Maine woods and sent to the University of Maine by the discover, who was a Maine man.

THE CHIMNEY CORNER

The people have spoken. Some one calls the ballot, -

"A weapon that comes down
as still
As snowflakes fall upon
the sod;
But executes a freeman's will,
As lightning does the will of God."

The ballot was the only quiet thing about this election, and this lightning figure aptly illustrates the popular will. It is a mighty freakish exhibition of power.

The last winner meets overwhelming problems, works his heart out, is ousted. His successor, even in the elate hour of victory, may contemplate this phenomenon and ponder. After all, what is reassuring in "we want a change" without a fair idea of how it will improve matters?--or "we want beer" when what millions want is bread? How will the lightning strike next time? Would we not better rely upon the controlled current of a sustained program, embracing the needs of all, rather than upon the quadrennial display of the lightning of hasty partisan promise?

THANKS TO SKULLS

The Freshman Class greatly appreciates the opportunity to hold the recent Dorm Dance. We realize that this dance was made possible by the Senior Skulls. We, therefore, wish to thank them for their kind consideration.

OV MINNESOTA

Time was at Gargoyle college when we were truly football mad, the fever gripped each student and his uncle and his dad. We went crazy at pep meetings, and the enemy wet hiss, But alas, the game is suffering from overemphasis.

We would crowd the grandstands woefully and our penants wildly wave, And each player was a hero, ay, the bravest of the brave. We talked of passes, and runs, and such intricacies deep, Over soup, between our classes, in our spare time and our sleep.

But such green enthusiasm you won't find here any more; Modern youth is finding football-- well, a rather beastly bore. Outside fans now crowd our grandstands with their blankets and their flasks, And a surcease from weird whoopee is what every student asks.

We are quite fed up at Gargoyle. Sports been over-emphasized. Culture's triumphs are what lure us, Scholarship is highly prized. Yes, we're going strong for culture you can scarcely blame us, when we've had such a r-o-t-t-o-n season, losing eight games out of ten.

From "Hit or Miss."

THE BULL SESSION

We hope that you have sufficiently recovered from the week-end activities long enuf to bear the following onslaught.--Please return my washing--says Ann--too bad children don't realize the value of such things--If the ice-cream lifters had returned they could have had the sauce too--the Mount Vernon girls admired their efficiency--By the way, Mac, what were you doing Wednesday night for excitement--whatever you do, don't get frozen--twenty thousand Frenchwomen can't be wrong, can they--Mad Dyer ought not to be so prepared--fire drill all by one's lonesome isn't so much fun, is it, Mad--What freshman knows the most women on the campus--ask Sam Caddish--Wharles Buck is much improved, thank you--As winter approaches, Tarzan Sealoy will have to change his studying costume--Phil Hamilton had to evacuate because of a wee mouse --she should learn the Mount Vernon method of extermination--take 'em by the tail and whack their heads on a bed post--it's all right except when the skin of the tail peels--Keep away from that Brass Nail, MacLean.

FRESHMEN ON "CAMPUS"

The following Freshmen are Cub Reporters for the "Campus," E. Adams, D. Brown, F. Harriman, B. Mullen, M. Saunders, B. Sullivan, and G. Waxman.

MAPLES NEWS

A new ruling has been adopted by the Freshman girls at Mount Vernon and the Maples--It states that no upper-class girl may enter the dorm unless she is received by the girl she is coming to see. There has been a great deal of confusion caused by so much running in and out that the girls say that it interferes with their studying.

The Maples girls have a free hour every Thursday night from 9.30 to 10.30. On such nights they may have feeds and get-togethers.

NOTICE AGGIES

The Week Club meeting will be held on Tuesday evening, instead of Wednesday, at 7.15. There will be a short business meeting, followed by an address by Dr.C. Telford Erickson, on Agricultural Education in Albania.

THE "FRESHMAN" BOARD will meet at Alumni Hall at 6.30 tonight to be photographed.
