FROSH DOWN DEERING 94½ to 31½

Led by red-headed Jonny Gowell, the yearling tracksters opened the spring season with a driving 94½ - 31½ victory over Deering High Tracksters. Mr Gowell personally introduced 15 points into the credit side of the ledger to cop high scoring honors with firsts in both hurdles and the broad jump. Personal honors were numerous as Boettcher swept both dashes, Hurwitz ran the 440 field into the dirt, and Kelly, in spite of an injured ankle, captured the discuss. But it was the all-around power of the Freshman team that was the feather in Coach Jenkins hat. The yearlings scored in all events, Sweeping the discuss, Javlin, shot-put, and broad jump and dropping firsts in the mile and hammers only. The feature race of the afternoon was Bob Fuller driving 880, which nipped Haggert bid for a win by inches. Fuller is the former Derring captain. Sherry, another former Derring ace led home two of his team mates in the Javlin. Hardison marked himself as of varsity calibre, sweeping the pole vault with little competition. Drake led home the shot-putters with his season's best of fort of 46' 3½"

Summary:

100-yard low hurdle, won by Gowell, Maine: 2nd Allen, Derring: 3rd Smart, Maine: Time 13 1-5 sec
 100 yard dash won by Boettcher, Maine:; 2nd pettengill ,Maine: 3rd Dyer Derring. Time 10 4-5 Sec

FRESHMAN DANCE AND BANQUET
 A BIG SUCCESS

The innovation of having the Freshman class banquet on campus proved to be a big success. The banquet got underway at six-thirty o'clock. After the meal the speakers were introduced by the toastmaster, John Gowell. The first speaker on the program was James Moreland, eminent newspaper man about the campus. He rendered one of his best speeches for the benefit of the Freshmen and assembled guests. The next one on the program was Prof. Paddy Huddilston who was royally received by the Frosh. President Hauck was then called on for a speech. A short musical interlude was then enjoyed with Anjelo Polito on the flute and Robert Parker accompanying on the piano. Readings were then given by Mr. William E. Davies of the Bangor Theological Seminary. More entertainment was enjoyed during the evening with a dance act put on by Miss Eodyn Spencer.

Among the guests wre Pres. and Mrs. Arthur Hauck, Dean and Mrs. L.S. Corbett, Prof. and Mrs. J.H. Huddilston Mr. and Mrs. James Moreland, Prof. and Mrs. Stanley Wallace, Major and Mrs. S.S. Eberle, Dean Edith G. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Pierce, Miss Ruth Harding, President All Maine Women, and the Senior Skulls, Maurice Goddard, William Cole, Kenneth Black, and George Cobb. Dancing was enjoyed afterwards in the new gym. The floor was in very good condition and the gym was lit up very good by colored lights. Music was furnished during the banquet and dance by the Maine Bears. Those on the banquet are chairman, Wallace Gleason, Alice G. Collins, Philip M. Rogers, Frederick S. Sturgis, and Elizebeth B. Drummond.

EDITORIAL

Hypocritical Arts students mention them in an undertone; Tech men chant "If you cant go to college, take Aggie"; Professors with that supercilious indulgent smile say, "Oh, you're in the Aggie College"; But the poor innocents are twenty years arrears, they're living with their grand fathers. The Art Graduate that lands a filling station job is the class hero; the clerk in Woolworth's is the local girl who made good. Balance the scales with thr fact that every Forestry Senior has been offered a salary job on graduation. Eighty per cent of the Home Ec bachelors moves into paying spots soon after June. In taunting us, yes I'm a rube, you pitifully call attention to your inadequacies. Aggie, Tech, Arts, we are three cogs in the machine, inseparable. Why not pull the same way.

MAINE DAY

As Professor Huddleston said, it does seem as tho the class of '38 is dodging convention with some constructive bits of reform.

No longer will the freshmen be subjected to the degrading indignity of shedding their clothing in physical combat in the pakama parade. Never again (we trust) will physical violence feature the so-called Freshman-sophomore scrap. And a good thing it is, too. In addition to the harmful publicity attendant upon such activities, they cultivate a false idea of class spirit, and activate a useless rivalry between the classes.

But all work and no play was never meant for a group of college people, so--"Maine Day", the Freshman Banquet, and, we hope, other interesting class and college functions of the same high calibre

If we do not support these efforts to provide entertainment, however, they must fail, but it will not be their failure, it will be ours. So, on May 1, let's get out and make the paint and dirt fly.

There seems to be a rumor flying about to the effect that the activities to schedule "Maine Day" are a bit sissified. That we are to be given a posy, a teaspoon, best wishes of the faculty, and are then to be sent forth to plant our posy, give our love and kisses to the sophomores, and then return home like good little girls and boys to have a pink tea, Phooey, come out and see: In the morning we are going to make the dirt and paint fly-- and dispite word to the contrary, we're going to have a good time.

In the afternoon, the two classes will compete in various games, such as baseball and track. It is rumored that the members of the faculty will run races against each other! Fancy seeing a Ph.D. make the mile in 4:05,--yeh, just fancy!

And at night we dance--free. Also, we're gonna be treated to a high-class show: The faculty is going to present a play! From the looks of the cast, it's worth seeing

Sports by Majo

Kelley stole my track story and I retaliated: Mary Wright was elected Treasurer of Women Student Government at the recent elections.

Adverse weather and lowering skies kept Coach Jenkins' Freshman Baseballers in the cage during the past week. The only touch of Spring warmth felt drifted in through the cage door left open by the ground-keeper. Battery practice only was on slate Thursday and Friday. As things line up in this early season, Riedman and Fox look like the number one battery with pitchers Cary and Additon and Catchers Veague and Grodinsky close in line. Relative batting prowess may decide the starting catcher, as all look smart handling the pitchers. All three moundsmen look to be of starting calibre. There is a fight royal over the first base job between Tommy Lees and Don Adams and here again batting power may determine the starter. The second base play has narrowed down to Butler and Timson with Timson having the apparent edge in fielding. The left side of the diamond looks strong with Elliott, Adams, Lord and Ward fighting it out for starting spots. Red Elliott's arm and clever fielding give him a slight edge in the short-stop berth, while third appears a toss-up. The outfielders will be called when the team goes out-doors, which should be some time this week, weather permitting.

Dick Ireland swept his two-hundred odd pounds over the pole-vault bar like a nymph.

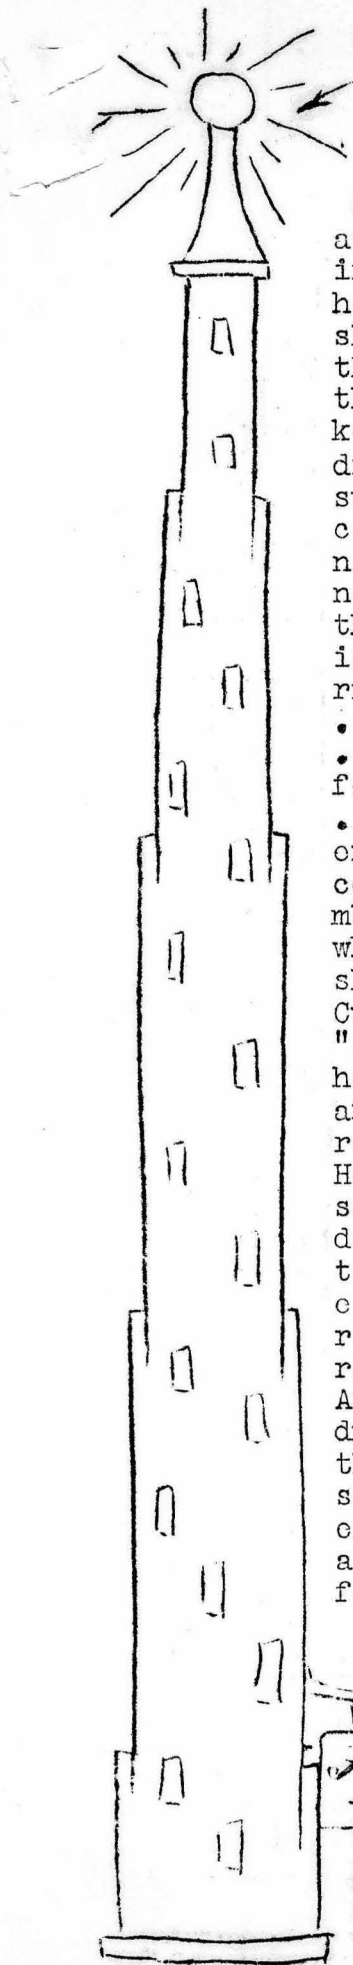

The moon swung low.....
Enchantment hold us.....
Leading us on.....
Last night I was.....
In ecstacy.....
Today I feel.....
Rather Foolish.

It's a wonder Johnny Gowell didn't get splinters in his knees or somewhere the way he skun those high hurdles.

The Yearling track team with one victory under its belt points for its next objective, Saturday's meet with the Portland High Tracksterd. Coach Jenkins will field the same team that wrested Saturday's smashing 94½-31½ win from Deering. Improvement is looked for in the hammer-throwers, who were handicapped in last Saturday's meet by lack of practice. Weather permitting, the Portland meet will be held on the outdoor field and will start at 1:30.

HOUSE OF HENRY

He was climbing the trees back of Maples. Said he was going to prune. Next week we're going to prune.....

Sherry, the fair-haired lad, has served notice that there are six beautiful damsels that could bring out the Tarzan in him. DiscreSSION forbids names.....Flashing lights have been noted between Balentine and Kappa Sig. Last night she confessed and requested that Lamda Chi flash out. Have they forgotten the code Midge?.....Jim Bean has been good this week.....Willey ably supplimented the Banquet speakers with a little skit.....The Chateau and Society have drawn talent from the Freshman lassies. Girls, can't we supply everything?.....Alice is an awful flirt, but that can be corrected with practice. And she does SO love to dance with tall men.....Kelley is a butter-fly lover. With nets and stuff, you know.....Gleason swings Betty just the way he does the hammer.....Adolphine claims that she isn't engaged.....The Dormatory fried eggs should be turned over, turned over to the Muscum of Natural History.....

..Dazzy wony home to get his own Chicken this last week-end.....A fourth floor South man is saying too much, both for his own and for a Balantine girl's good. Says the girl.....Balantiniteites tokk an oath to Banquet and return on masse, but fact and fancy varied. We know.....Lucy cobb warmed up the river with a plunge, today. You're number one, but we refuse to be pinned down as to number one what.....Barbs has the instinct of a reformer. At least, she let George meander her home.....We notted that the Cute Little Veague boy picked a seat near tantalizing Peg. "she has beautiful lips." Quote the sport writer. How long has that come under the heading of Sports, Don?.....Leland Page has got to the step where he blushes at waitresses red-headed ones. We venture that it wont be long now.....Helene Dichl slipped Saturday night. Well, a slide in time sometimes saves a fall.....Chauffer Fuller that all was delightfully improper after the ball. Look to Susie for details.....Bill Thompson, Ward, and Elliott all laid their hearts at the feet of Madge Thompson----and she walked right over them.....Van Gundy just couldn't make up Georgia's mind.....Is the hair-dresser local talent, Verna? And how about your's, Mary?.....Alice Collins asked Ricdman for a dance..No!.....Zippy sure can swing that thing on a dance floor, move over Gleason.....A paper slipped under our door contained the note; Betty has never been kissed---well. We don't know Betty, but the Staff always tries to oblige.....Scotty has found a new use for old razor blades. He shaves with them.....Refer all insulting criticism for this sheet not to Editor Kelley, but to Henry through Don.....Good night.
