MURRAY STATE UNIVERSITY, MURRAY, KY., OCT. 25, 1967

NO. 5

Ward Blasts Local Poll; Is Cheered and Jeered

By Gary Grace

The Hon. Henry Ward, Democratic candidate for governor, approached the speaker's rostrum amid cheers, whistles, and the clanging of cow bells. These raucous sounds very nearly drowned out the booing and cat-calls of another faction.

When order was achieved and the first wave of the "Other Party" very "politely" strode out, Mr. Ward was able to begin his speech.

He immediately made reference to several mock elections and polls which had been made on the Murray campus. He decried these as being farcical and entirely unreliable. He pointed out that these tactics were organized and conducted by the Young Republicans on campus.

Mr. Ward stated that in one respect these elections and polls are beneficial. They do stir up an interest in the upcoming election. However, he hastened to point out that the truly important election will occur on Nov. 7.

The gubernatorial candidate declared that his main opponent,

11:30 Correct Hour For Vacation Start

Thanksgiving holidays will not begin until 11:30 a.m. on Nov. 22, according to Dean William G. Nash.

The dean said that the statement in the social calendar distributed by the Student Council that classes will be dismissed all day Nov. 22 is false.

POLL RESULTS CONTESTED:

Factions Feud Over Mock Election

The political eyes of the state are being focused on this campus following the mock gubernatorial election conducted last week in the SUB.

Rarely does any election on this campus generate more than local interest, but in a pre-presidential-election year when political observers are studying the trends across the country, this mock election is particularly significant.

Results of the "election" showed Judge Louie B. Nunn, Republican candidate for governor, defeating former Highway Commissioner Henry Ward, the Democratic nominee, by receiving 79 per cent of the vote.

This is of great interest to state politicians because the Judge Louie Nunn, was attempting to corrupt the youth of Kentucky.

He said that Nunn's mudslinging and other disreputable tactics should serve only to incense and arouse the responsible citizens of this state. Mr. Ward said that no longer could the Democrats brush aside or merely deplore these tactics.

"Nunnism," he said, "is no way to build a sound Kentucky. It is no way to provide the type of leadership this state needs. And more important, it is no way to conduct government."

The campaign thus far conducted by the Democrats, both as a party and as individuals, has been a high-level one, Mr. Ward stated. He felt that the people of Kentucky should know the facts involved in the issues of the campaign.

He stated that the Democratic Party ". . . need not stoop to degradation of the opposition. We present the issues for scrutiny, not our competition."

At this point, Mr. Ward said that the next four years will necessitate having the best possible man in the Governor's Mansion, he stated that the real issue, and the most important one, is not the progress made in the past, but rather that which can be achieved in the future.

Mr. Ward declared that the people of Kentucky are not electing a governor to satisfy the whims of a chosen few, of a select minority. Nor are they electing a man to represent any fac-

52 Names on Tomorrow's Ballots; Polls to Open at 8, Close at 5:30

Fifty-two candidates will be vying for Class Assembly and Student Council representative positions in the SO elections to be held in the SUB ballroom tomorrow from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

According to Ron Beshear, vice-president of the SO, nine new names have been added to the list of candidates. The new candidates begin with the junior class where Tom Shay, Sudbury, Mass., has filed for the presidential race.

An addition to the junior secretarial race is Gwen Van Seyoc, Peoria, Ill. George Coryell, Paducah, adds competition to the formerly one-man treasurer race.

Three additions to the sophomore races are Nancy Vaughan, Marion, and Rita Hurd, Murray, for secretary and Lee Engel, Fulton, for treasurer.

Greg Backes, Mt. Vernon, Ill., makes it a three-man race for Freshman president, while William Ross, Murray, does the same thing in the vice-presidential battle.

Melanie Boyd, Murray, has decided she doesn't want to be secretary after all and is an addition to the treasurer's race with another new candidate Tony Rayburn, Murray.

An election rally will be held tonight in the Hester Hall parking lot, if the weather permits. If not, it will be a sock hop in the Carr Health Bldg. gymnasium, stated Beshear.

ELECTION MADNESS That's apparently what this student has acquired after becoming frustrated with trying to decide how to vote in tomorrow's student election. After much indecision, he apparently gave up and decided to wear everybody's campaign card, making it rougher on the clothing but much easier on the nerves.

Concert by Pickett Friday to Start at 8

"The Midnight Hour" approaches and with it comes recording-star Wilson Pickett to the Auditorium at 8 Friday night.

Among Pickett's most popular hit recordings are "In the Midnight Hour," "Land of 1,000 Dances," and the currently popular song-dance "Funky Broadway."

The Shytone orchestra will be the accompanying back-up band for the concert.

Also a songwriter, Pickett has shown his ability by writing or co-writing many of his own hit songs.

Tickets are still on sale daily in the SUB lobby from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Tickets are $2.50 each, according to Spencer Solomon, SO concert chairman.

Students to Decide Tomorrow On 'Larger Council' Proposal

An amendment proposing the addition of two representatives to the Student Council from men and women's dormitory housing will be on the election ballot tomorrow for student acceptance or rejection, stated Mike Sanford, SO president.

"One representative from women's housing and one from the men's dormitories would be elected to represent them on the Council if this amendment is passed by the student body," explained Sanford.

"If approved the election will take place the first Thursday in May and the elected representatives will take office immediately. This election as is the case in SO elections will be by secret ballot," Sanford added.

This amendment would only be the second ever added to the constitution. The first amendment provided for the Judicial Board to be established.

In the event that this amendment is passed, the total members on the council will be increased to 19. The council is currently composed of four officers, 12 elected class representatives, and one appointed independent representative.

LIBEL THREAT Mike McMinoway (right, partly hidden) president of the Young Republicans, threatens the officers of the Young Democrats with a libel suit, unless they stop saying the results from last week's mock election were invalid. Mike O'Bryant (third from left), Democrat membership chairman, retaliated by saying, "You get your lawyer; we'll get ours, and we'll see who gets to the courthouse first."

tion, group of even a party. "We are electing a governor of all the people, regardless of their political convictions."

At this point Mr. Ward outlined several of his proposals for the betterment of Kentucky. He stated that he has a deep personal interest in the people of his state. Concurrently, this interest furthers itself in concern for the future of these people.

Mr. Ward stated that he is "... committed to the proposition that the president of the Student Council should be a member of the Board of Regents." In this way, he said, the student body would have a more powerful voice in the decisions which directly concern them.

He feels that the present Youth Program should provide more opportunities for the citizens of this state who need them.

Mr. Ward stated that he intends to expand the present scholarship programs so that they could include more students who need financial assistance.

Along with this, the prospective governor plans to enlarge the Kentucky internship programs now in effect. This would especially benefit those students who intend to enter into public-service jobs.

The program would allow the student to attend school while at the same time observe the field in which he intends to serve.

At this time Mr. Ward invited questions from the audience.

Among these were:

Q. What is your opinion of the resignation and comments of the Young Democrats' treasurer?

A. The person to whom you are referring, Ronny Webb, was a plant of the Young Republicans. He happens to be the roommate of the president of the Young Republicans. But more importantly, that boy is a resident of Tennessee, which means that he is not even qualified to vote in our state. We in Kentucky can handle our own affairs quite well. We certainly do not need outsiders coming in from Tennessee or California or New York telling us how to run our state.

Q. do you feel that you will win by a large majority in November?

A. Mr. Ward stated there seemed to be a great deal of interest in this election. Therefore, he said, a large turnout can be expected. "I only need one vote to win, but of course I certainly hope for a large majority so that I can see that the populace of this state is truly supporting me and the Party."

Q. What do you feel is the most important issue of this election?

A. Mr. Ward then reiterated his earlier statement that the next four years, and the actions and progress of those four years, is the only true issue of this campaign. He went on to say that anyone can make promises of a glorious future, but that only the right man will be able to fulfill those promises, "... and I feel that I am that man."

In closing, Mr. Ward asked that everyone who is qualified to vote to do so. He also asked that those people "vote according to their true convictions, but to get all of the available facts first."

Preceding Mr. Ward was Sen. Wendell Ford, Democratic candidate for lieutenant-governor. He stated that it was a great pleasure to address the student of Murray State. Mr. Ford said the students of Murray State "have made a great name for their school, both on the state-wide level as well as nationally."

Mr. Ford stated that he was running for lieutenant-governor for one reason and one reason only — he feels that he can help Mr. Ward and help the people of Kentucky.

Both Mr. Ward and Mr. Ford were introduced by Mr. M. O. Wrather, acting president of Murray State.

"It has always been the policy of this school to present both parties, both candidates, and both platforms of our state's political system," Mr. Wrather said.

In a press conference at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, Mr. Ward was able to expound more thoroughly on some of his theories. Once again, the conference was a question-and-answer session.

Q. According to a recent survey, Kentucky is 12 per cent behind the national average in open roads. Is this true and what comment can you give?

A. I have no comment to make on that topic as your statistics are completely wrong. I have a copy of that survey if you care to know the facts of this issue.

Q. Before you decided to run for governor, you made a statement about "bringing down the kingmakers." Don't you feel that you are now one of these self-same kingmakers?

A. I am hardly a "kingmaker" as you called them. I am a Democratic candidate for governor who polled more than 100,000 votes in the April primary."

Q. Do you propose any type of tax credit plan for parents who have children in school?

A. No. I feel a much better plan is to put this money in the treasury. There are many parents who do not need this type of credit plan. I would prefer to expand the present loan programs and to set up scholarship funds exclusively for needy students.

Mr. Ward termed the present time as the "silly season" in politics. "This is the time, as the election draws nearer, that the accusations are made and the wrong conclusions are drawn."

He stated that dishonesty, under any guise, is still dishonesty. "The eliciting of a person's vote through misrepresentation and falsehood is comparable to stealing money from that person."

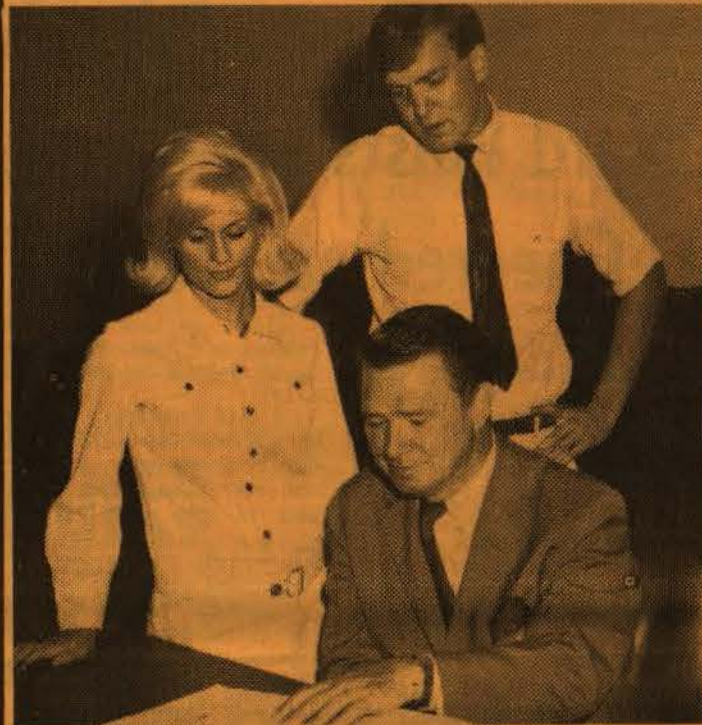

Wrather, Sanford To Attend Meeting Of Alumni Council

Five people will represent Murray State University at the Joint Alumni Council of Kentucky meeting at the University of Kentucky this weekend.

Mr. Marvin O. Wrather, executive secretary of the MSU Alumni Association, along with Miss Martha Guier and Mrs. Ruth Hughes, alumni office, will represent the university.

Mr. J. W. Carneal, president of Murray State's Alumni Association, will represent the alumni. Mike Sanford, president of the Student Council, will present the students' viewpoint to the council.

LET'S ELECT A GOVERNOR WHO "TELLS IT THE WAY IT IS!"

HENRY WARD for Governor!

He'll tell it the way it is. He always has. He always will. Henry Ward is a builder. A man with vision. A man with faith in the future. A man who gets things done the way you want them done.

AS GOVERNOR, HENRY WARD WILL

- Build more schools and provide better educational opportunities at all levels for Kentuckians in all areas.
- Start a Kentucky Youth Corps with emphasis on getting young people into government.
- Develop new and expanded industry through bold programs that will provide more and better jobs for Kentuckians.
- Add momentum to Kentucky's road building program for rural areas as well as for major highways.

Henry Ward is a straight-talking man. He'll tell it the way it is!

Elect Henry Ward Governor!

Mock Election Results Contested by Democrats

of the local Young Democrats, stated: "We refuse to recognize the validity of this poll. It was done on a partisan basis with no recognition of our club. Our treasurer acted without authorization."

Thursday night, within 36 hours after the "election" results were released, the Young Democrats Club met in the SUB.

Several Young Republicans, including McMinoway, entered the meeting room, where he proceeded to inform Rayburn and other Democrat officers that his organization would file suit for libel against them if they persisted in saying the election results were not valid.

When McMinoway finished delivering his ultimatum, Mike O'Bryant, Dem. membership chairman, retorted, "You get your lawyer, we'll get ours, and we'll see who gets to the courthouse first."

McMinoway attempted to stay for the meeting, but Rayburn requested that he leave, saying the meeting was for members only.

At this point McMinoway asserted that he was a member. Democrat Secretary Barbara Jarboe informed him that she did not have his application for membership.

McMinoway asked how he could join the club. "Don't call us, we'll call you," quipped Jay Divine, second vice-president of the Democrats.

Again the Republican president asked to be accepted as a member. The executive committee of the Democrats met and unanimously agreed not to accept him.

McMinoway then pointed out that the Young Democrats Club is not a campus-sponsored group (their official name in Calloway County Young Democrats Club), and that they were thus using the SUB meeting rooms illegally.

Dean J. Matt Sparkman, a Democrat who helped found the first Young Republican Club on campus several years ago, later asserted that the Young Democrats had permission to use the SUB rooms for their activities.

Following the Republican's remark about the legality of the of the Democrats' meeting place, Rayburn announced, "Mr. McMinoway, you're out of order—I've asked you to leave the room."

"I'm going to say this first," retorted McMinoway; "we asked you to help in the election but you refused to participate in it. We had no desire to put anything over on you."

Ed Frank Jeffrey, former president, of campus Democrats, asked McMinoway if he would see an election anywhere in the state conducted in the manner in which this "election" was conducted. ("Someone met me at the table and watched me vote. He had a Nunn button on," testified Carolyn Brown, a Young Democrat.)

"It was a fair, honest election," asserted McMinoway before leaving.

"It's not the results we're complaining about—it's the manner in which it was run," said Jeffrey.

Rayburn asked if there were anymore Republicans in the crowd. "Yes, and proud of it affirmed one coed, rising to leave."

"I'm a Democrat, but I like to be with someone who's going to work," retorted Mike Patterson, walking toward the door.

As the Republicans left, Bob Grossman, Democrats' first vice-president, and Jeffrey followed them into the hall to continue the discussion with McMinoway.

Jeffrey asked, "Was it right, Mike? Was it right to do us that way?"

"An officer from your club was there. He had an equal chance to campaign for your candidate," was his answer.

As this discussion proceeded in the hall, Webb (Democrats' treasurer) faced his fellow Democrats alone.

"Where did you get the authority to participate in this election?" asked Rayburn.

"I thought we didn't decide not to," was the reply.

"We definitely decided not to participate in any election until a later date. Do you think your statement is binding on this organization?" Rayburn continued.

"No," replied Webb. "Did you at the time you made it?" Rayburn asked.

"No," Webb said.

Joe Durm asked if there was any clause in the organization's constitution for the removal of an officer who had gone against the wishes of the group.

Rayburn said that there was, but he didn't want to do anything if Webb had done what he (Webb) thought best for the organization.

Meanwhile the discussion in the hall continued.

Jeffrey told McMinoway that if the Democrats were to agree to another poll, it would be with the stipulation that voting would be conducted in private ("not in front of you"), that only registered Kentucky voters would be allowed to vote (all students were allowed to vote in last week's poll), and that members of the faculty would have to conduct the election to see that it was run fairly.

In the Democrats' discussion Devine moved that the club participate in no "mock elections." The motion was seconded and passed unanimously.

The following day the officers of the Young Democrats issued a statement which said in part:

"We feel that the 'mock election' is an all but worthless indicator of the student political sentiment. Only one member of the Young Democrats participated; members of the Young Republicans dispensed Republican campaign literature and advice at voting site; voting was not by secret ballot; moreover, publicity was inadequate — Young Democrat officers knew nothing of the election until it was over."

"We hereby assert that the 'mock election' was NOT co-sponsored by our organization, and further that for several reasons a truly representative vote was not obtained." The statement was signed by all the Young Democrats officers.

McMinoway stated that publicity was adequate. He testified that announcements of the "election" were slipped under the doors of all dormitory rooms. (Some 4,500 students live in campus dormitories.)

In a statement he said, "The election was run by rules set down by officers of both clubs. It was supervised by representatives of each club, and open to suggestions by any interested party. The results were fairly tabulated by representatives of both groups and the results were announced publicly."

"A challenge for a new mock election was again offered the Young Democrats who refused the offer on the grounds that they couldn't win. The Young Democrats have not shown to us that they have any issues concerning the mock elections."

Financial Aid Applicants Show 3-Fold Increase

Although costs have remained fairly stable, the number of students seeking financial assistance has increased three-fold in the year-and-a-half that Mr. Johnny McDougal has served as Murray State's co-ordinator of student financial aid.

Mr. McDougal, the university's first full-time financial aid officer, attributes the increase to three factors: an increase in the general cost of living, an increasing independence among students, and liberal terms for students who borrow money.

To some extent, the factors are interrelated. Mr. McDougal explains it in this manner:

Because the costs of living has increased, money which families had intended to apply toward college expenses is now needed for other purposes. As a result, more students are striking out to finance their education on their own. They see their prospects for success as very good, since there are varieties of recently initiated programs through which long-term, low-term loans may be obtained.

Four of the seven aid programs which Mr. McDougal administers are concerned with loans. Two others provide funds in return for student work.

These programs are the National Defense Student Loan, Nursing Student Loan, Guarantee Student Loan, Cuban Student Loan, Educational Opportunity Grant, Nursing Educational Opportunity

Blankenship Heads Industrial Arts Club

Dan Blankenship, Beaver Dam, has been elected president of the Industrial Arts Club for the fall semester.

Other elected club officers are Phil Putnam, Fulton, vice-president; Tom Harwood, Fulton, secretary; Paul Guess, Kuttawa, treasurer; Ronnie Moss, Hopkinsville, parliamentarian; and Ted Barclay, Fulton, publicity chairman.

The IA club has a record membership of 145 for the fall, according to Barkley.

Marketing Club Will Meet Tonight in Business Building

The local chapter of the American Marketing Association will meet at 7 tonight in 106 Business Bldg. Dues will be collected and plans to attend Tuesday's marketing conference in Louisville will be made.

Grant, and Federal Work-Study. All seven are connected in some way with the federal government.

Eligibility requirements for the various types of aid differ, but Mr. McDougal says most qualifications are based on financial need and academic promise or ability.

In very few cases is the total cost of a student's education provided. The amount which a student receives is calculated on how much he or his parents can reasonably be expected to contribute.

However, Mr. McDougal notes that if a student meets the eligibility tests and applies before the deadline, his office can usually be of financial assistance.

Last year more than 1,700 students obtained approximately $1,400,000 in aid under one or several of the programs.

About 700 students received Guarantee Student Loans. National Defense Loans went to 724, Educational Opportunity Grants to 237, and the Federal Work-Study program employed 490. Nursing Student Loans went to 44 and Cuban Loans to 4.

Students interested in additional information about any of the programs should contact the Student Financial Aid Office, 16 Administration Bldg.

Alpha Phi Gamma to Elect Officers at Meeting Today

Alpha Phi Gamma, an honorary journalism fraternity, will meet at 4:30 this afternoon in 111 Wilson Hall to elect officers. All members are urged by President Steve Story to attend.

Corrections Needed at Once To Remove Traffic Hazards

There are several traffic hazards on and around campus which should be corrected immediately.

The most dangerous of these would be relatively simple to fix, but is apparently being ignored. The "Don't Walk" signs at the Orchard Heights complex "don't work." These signs have been out of order since the beginning of school. Without their enlightening message students must cross Chestnut Street "in the dark."

It is not always possible to tell which of the traffic lights is green, especially in the daylight hours. These signs are the only guides to when it is safe to cross. Continuance without them may result in permanent darkness for some sleepy-eyed student hurrying to a 7:30 class.

Another hazard to pedestrians is the limited number of crosswalks on campus. Crosswalks giving walking students the right-of-way over those in cars should be located at every main crossing.

Even the few crosswalks we have are not always honored by inconsiderate drivers. There are few students who have not had to jump from the path of a speeding car, even though crossing the street at one of the marked places.

With the addition of more crosswalks should also come enforcement of the existing ones. This could be accomplished if the campus police would concentrate more effort on the protection of student safety and less on writing parking tickets and patrolling the dark nooks behind girls' dorms.

The final correction needs to be made at the corner of 15th and Main Streets. A traffic light is badly needed at this spot. During the busy hours cars approaching Main St. on 15th back up to The Hut and beyond, unable to cross or merge with the Main Street traffic flow.

Administration officials should work with city officials in solving the traffic problems around campus. Immediate action could prevent a serious or fatal accident — an accident that might involve YOU.

Thoughts of Value

Character is what you are in the dark. — Dwight L. Moody.

Tell me what company thou keepest, and I'll tell thee what thou art. — Cervantes.

Conceit is the most incurable disease that is known to the human soul. — Henry Ward Beecher.

A failure is a man who has blundered, but is not able to cash in the experience. — Elbert Hubbard.

Support Urged For Increased Representation

If you live in a dormitory, you should be sure to vote in tomorrow's election.

Why?

Because, you should do your part in a passing the proposed amendment to the Student Organization Constitution.

This amendment has much significance for students living in university housing. It will add two posts to the Student Council. One of the new slots will be filled with a men's dormitory representative. The other will represent women's dorms.

Of course there are other SO members who live in dorms. However, they are representing other groups also. The new posts would be filled by representatives who would promote only the interests of dormitory students.

If you think this amendment is unimportant, you're wrong. It is hard to get something accomplished without a representative working for that change.

It is up to you. If you want your interests promoted in the Student Organization, vote "yes" tomorrow.

Wider Range of Course Selection Offered By New Bachelor of Science Curriculum

The new bachelor of science program outlined in this issue may open several doors for you if you investigate now.

If you are working toward a BS without teacher certification, you should find out if it would be advantageous for you to switch to the new program.

You might graduate a semester sooner than you had expected under the new program. Some electives you have already taken may count toward completion of one of your minors. Perhaps you have already completed a minor without even knowing it.

Even if none of the above situations is true, you will find the new program much more flexible than the old one. It will give you greater freedom in selecting requirements for your second minor.

With the freedom to choose two different fields of study to complete one minor you can broaden your range of study. Under the old system a student might learn about one aspect of his future profession but lack some of the varied details essential for success.

This program might be just what you need, but do not make plans until you talk to your adviser. All requirements for majors and minors will change under the new program. These changes are not outlined in the current catalog.

The new catalog, which will come into use next fall, will outline the program completely. Until then, department heads and faculty advisers will be the primary source of information concerning the new program.

Check with your adviser soon to take full advantage of this program. It is a big improvement over the old system.

There's not a doubt in anyone's mind what tomorrow will be. You can walk down the hall with your head in a bag and tell.

You meet a candidate (your bag has eye holes): "You look so-o-o-nice... what class are you? ... oh, bye ..."

Or you pass a pledge who looks like a walking billboard and feels like a voodoo doll (why can't there be stick on tags?).

The boy who was in your hygiene class three years ago and never spoke to you comes and sits with you for a few minutes at lunch.

Yes, tomorrow is election day.

Seems like there are candidates on every corner, but we non-runners are still in the majority. The excitement must be contagious though, because I feel I'm just as much a part.

In truth, every student is, or can be, a very important part... if he votes.

Three thousand tags passed out and intricately-drawn posters aren't worth anything except the paper they are on, if they don't draw votes.

And the candidate's vote, or that of his campaign manager, is no more important than yours!

Your vote may be the turning point of an election, and it would be a shame not to use it.

You are a part of your class; you have a responsibility to yourself and your class to exercise your voting privilege.

If you don't vote, you can't gripe later about the result.

Who knows, you might have been able to change it!

You don't know the candidates, you say. Well, you still have one more day to do something about that.

It's true that a candidate tends to show a false face during the campaign to some extent, but don't most of us tend to show one at times.

Talk to him if you can. Talk to other people to find out about him.

Attend the election rally tonight.

You'll hear talk there about each candidate. It's not all ture; perhaps you can judge the comment by the commenter.

But somehow, somehow, judge and vote.

It's a shame that some of the candidates didn't have enough confidence in their own possibility or ability to stick with what they started.

After seeing the list of candidates in last week's News, some promptly switched positions.

Personally, I think that indicates a weakness — one I wouldn't want my class officers to have.

Why would a fraternity choose as its "sweetheart" a coed who is not, in some way, affiliated with the group?

She might be somebody's pinmate, or somebody's sister, but she should definitely have her loyalty to that group prior to being chosen as their sweetheart or even sweetheart attendant.

If the hope is that by making her an attendant the fraternity can "pin" her, it'll never work.

What will happen instead is that the coed may not be there when she should be. Would her ABC date want to attend a DEF function?

Or is it fair to the loyal gal who is always there to push her aside in favor of some new-found beauty?

"Things" can happen while a girl is still sweetheart that might create an awkward situation; that can be worked out.

But there is no excuse for making an awkward situation in choosing a girl to honor!

Don't forget to vote tomorrow. The election result has depended on one vote more than once in my three years at Murray!

From Thailand She Came to MSU To Study Nursing 'American Style'

By Sharon Phillips

Her name is Koontol Kosulvit — but call her Tuy (pronounced two-ee). All her friends do. The black-haired coed is an unusual student in several ways. First, she is one of five Thai students enrolled at MSU. And although Thy graduated from the

FROM AFAR . . . Tuy came from Thailand. She chose Murray because it was a small school with a good nursing program and was in the South.

Royal Thai Air Force School of Nursing in Bangkok and is a registered nurse, she is enrolled in Murray's undergraduate nursing program in order to get a college degree.

All the names and terms in her nursing books and courses were in Thai; so Tuy has had to start all over again learning the English equivalents. She started school at Murray last fall and is a sophomore this year.

Tuy couldn't speak English very well when she first came to Kentucky. Even though she had studied English during her schooling, she said she had had little opportunity to practice the language outside of the classroom. Today she speaks English quite well.

Comparing school here with the Thai system, Tuy said that the teachers here are quite different. "Here students have to help themselves more."

In Thailand the instructors lecture most of the time, giving the students little chance to participate in the class, Tuy said a student has to be more independent here, "and I like it that way."

Tuy feels that the students here are very friendly, and that they try to help her when she doesn't understand something.

She said that she "likes everything at Murray" — the school, the teachers, the students, and the dorm. (She lives in Woods Hall.)

When she came to MSU last fall there were only two other Thai students on campus, Tuy said she vowed to herself that "even if there were no Thai students here that she would stay."

MSU was Tuy's choice because it was a small school, offered a good nursing program, and was in the South.

As to Murray's southern climate, Tuy says it is very different from the Thai climate. There you need only a sweater in winter and sometimes you don't even need that.

The first time she saw snow was here at Murray last year. She "just stood by the window watching it fall," not quite able to believe that at last she was seeing it snow.

Tuy admits there are many differences between school here and in her homeland. In Thailand the universities really have no campuses and the dormitories are privately owned.

Another difference is the custom of dating. It is practically nonexistent in Thailand — a girl dates a boy only after she is engaged to him. She can, however, go out with a boy in a group of friends or relatives.

Tuy is one of five children. Her only brother is studying in Rochester, N.Y. One of her sisters is studying on a scholarship in Canada, another is a housewife, and the other sister is the manager of a Thai Air Force base.

This fall Tuy's niece (who is only 18) enrolled here at Murray where Tuy could help look after her, bringing the total number of Thai students at MSU to five.

As a final comment on going to school here, Tuy said she thought it was "good to study in other countries because you have to learn to help yourself." Then she said with a convincing smile, "I'm very glad I came to Murray."

EVERYTHING'S NEW . . . Koontol Kosulvit, better known as Tuy, knew the nursing techniques and terms in Thai, her native country, but is having to learn all over again as she works toward a college degree at Murray. She is a sophomore this year, and is one of five Thai students on campus.

Best Grades Made By Married Coeds, According to Study

By Peggy Dwyer

Married women, perk up! Statistics say that you — on an average — will make the best grades.

A computer at California State College that was fed grades of the college's 20,000 students revealed that information.

But that's not all — it also pictured the "single male" as the low man on the grade totem pole.

Marriage motivated the women's average to almost a B, while the single male acquired a C plus.

Marital responsibilities, a full-time job, or other extraneous factors which serve as a stabilizing force would naturally make the student being affected a more serious and intent student.

The married student is very likely in a hurry to complete the requirements for a degree. Their responsibilities, especially financial ones, can no longer be shoved off on Mom and Dad.

It is also suggested by Francesca Alexander, assistant professor of sociology at California State, that in many instances the single male is carrying a heavier load than is the married woman, and is performing under the pressure of a constant draft threat.

At any rate, and for whatever reasons, the married female student — in spite of her cooking, cleaning, or children — is leading the competition in average scholastic earnings.

YOU'RE NOT SEEING DOUBLE . . . Joyce (left) and Lois Wooten, Madisonville, sophomores, have managed to preserve their individual identity though, as Joyce is an elementary education and English major, and Lois is a mathematics and accounting major. Both are members of Gamma Beta Phi and Alpha Lambda Delta, honorary for freshman women with a 3.5 standing or better, but each one also belongs to a departmental organization related to her major. The coeds are occasionally dressed alike but seen together frequently. Joyce is, by ten minutes, the older of the identical twins.

Class Offices No Place For Lazy Title-Seekers

By Martin J. Kady

So you think you'll be a B.M.O.C. (big man on campus) and get yourself elected to class office in the upcoming elections?

Well, you are dead wrong? If you are just running for office for that reason, forget it. If you are running for office so you can help your class with some of your ideas, then welcome aboard.

Too many students think that a class office is just a title, no work, not time spent, just status baby, status. With the office of president and representative goes responsibility, not just prestige.

Let us take for example the position of freshman representative; more than likely he will be an assistant chairman to one of the upper-class representatives. But this means work.

Concerts is in his field and with that goes much time. There is the setting up of equipment, the signing of contracts with the performers, obtaining publicity on radio stations, having posters made up, getting the news in the paper. If you don't think so, just ask Spencer Solomon.

You say you're not running for representative because you know it's too much work, you're just going after the simple job of class president? Well, hold on; according to Ron Beshear, vice-president of the SO, and presiding officer of the Class Assembly you are in for a surprise.

"We hope that we can make the Class Assembly a really active body this year and make it not quite as hard for the representatives. It is hoped that the SO can deal more with governmental matters and needs of the students and delegate some of this responsibility to the Class Assembly," Beshear explained.

So it's election time. If you are going to run, and want to run to help your class, then run well, and win!

60 High Schools to Participate In Quad-State Choral Festival

Sixty high schools are scheduled to participate in the 20th annual Quad-State Choral Festival on campus Nov. 6, according to Dr. Josiah Darnall, chairman of the music festival.

The activity is co-sponsored by the music department and the First District Kentucky Music Educators Association.

An evening concert and broadcast will be presented at 7 p.m. in the SUB by the 320 singers. The public is invited to attend, and there is no admission charge.

Kentucky schools participating will be:

Allen County, Ballard Memorial, Bardstown, Benton, Caldwell County, Calloway County, Christian County, Heath, Crittenden County, Drakesboro Consolidated, Elizabethtown, Farmington, Ft. Campbell, Franklin-Simpson, Glasgow, Greenville Independent.

Hancock County, Henderson County, Henderson High, Hopkinsville, Lebanon, Livingston Central, Lone Oak, Mayfield, Murray, North Marshall, Old Ky.

Beta Beta Beta Open House Tonight Will Begin at 6:30

Beta Beta Beta, an honorary biological fraternity, will hold open house in the SUB faculty lounge from 6:30 till 8 tonight.

All students who plan to major in biology and who have 3.0 overall average are invited to the meeting.

Home, Paducah Tilghman, Providence, Reidland, Russellville, St. Catherine, St. Mary, South Marshall, Todd County Central, Trigg County, Union County, West Hopkins, and Wingo.

Tennessee schools will be Big Sandy, Byars-Hall, Carmi Township, Dyersburgh, East Robertson, Father Bertrand, Hillwood, Huntingdon, Kingsbury, Martin, Messick, Montgomery Central, Southside, Springfield, Springfield, Treadwell, and Westwood.

Missouri schools will be Chaffee and Illmo-Scott City. Carmi will be the only Illinois school.

DIRECTOR . . . Prof. Robert Baar, fine arts department, will direct the evening concert in the SUB at 7 on Nov. 6. The chorus will consist of 320 high school singers representing 60 schools from four states.

Louisville Plays Offered To Students at Discount

Actors Theatre of Louisville is offering a special "Modern Theatre Package" to Murray State students for a limited time only at a special discount.

The theatre lists four plays, scheduled for Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, at a special rate of $7.

The productions include Brendan Behan's "The Hostage," done in the style of the old music hall. The play is concerned with the capture of an English soldier by the Irish Republican Army and a group of zany boarding-house types who intend to shoot their "hostage" if one of their number, also in captivity, is hanged by the government.

Eugene O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey Into Night" will also be presented. This excruciating examination of the Tyrone family is so intense a scrutiny of O'Neill's own family that it was never produced during the author's lifetime.

Samuel Beckett's "Endgame" explores the emptiness of existence, and, by the use of evocative symbol, attempts to define a state of being.

The final offering of this "package" will be the premier production of a new play or a new production of an unproved work.

Ticket orders may be placed by writing to Actors Theatre Box Office, North Seventh Street, Louisville 40202 or by calling JUniper 4-1205.

Please don't zlupf Sprite. It makes plenty of noise all by itself.

Sprite, you recall, is the soft drink that's so tart and tingling, we just couldn't keep it quiet.

Flip its lid and it really flips. Bubbling, fizzing, gurgling, hissing and carrying on all over the place.

An almost excessively lively drink. Hence, to zlupf is to err.

What is zlupping?

Zlupping is to drinking what smacking one's lips is to eating.

It's the staccato buzz you make when draining the last few deliciously tangy drops of Sprite from the bottle with a straw.

Zzzzzllupf! It's completely uncalled for. Frowned upon in polite society. And not appreciated on campus either.

But, if zlupping Sprite is absolutely essential to your enjoyment; if a good healthy zlupf is your idea of heaven, well... all right.

But have a heart. With a drink as noisy as Sprite, a little zlupf goes a long, long way.

SPRITE. SO TART AND TINGLING, WE JUST COULDN'T KEEP IT QUIET.

Free Guidance Offered By Psychological Center

Psychological service at no charge to students and university personnel is the primary responsibility of the Psychological Center on campus, according to Dr. Charles McArthur, director of the center.

The center located in the Education Bldg, provides psychotherapy, counseling and guidance, and psychodiagnosis for its clients. It also serves as a consultant to other advisers on campus, such as ministers and dormitory counselors.

The center is also used for training graduate students and for research in experimental clinical psychology.

The clinical psychologists connected with the center are Dr. McArthur, Dr. Frank Kodman, department head, and Dr. Leon Silber.

Those in counseling and guidance are Mr. Willis Bartlett, Miss Linda Beemer, Miss Evelyn Bradley, and Dr. Ben Humphreys.

Dr. Charles Homra represents the area of school psychology at the center. These faculty members are affiliated with the center as a part-time staff.

Any student or faculty member interested in the services rendered by the center should contact Dr. McArthur.

TAKING FIRST STEP Building a wardrobe can be done inexpensively if you have a knack with the needle. Beryl Davis, Louisville, takes time and care in choosing a pattern.

CUT CLOTHING COSTS:

Needle Might Solve Your Problem

By Deb Mathis

Need a few extras added to your wardrobe — but think you can't afford them?

Well, you're probably right if they are such items as skirts, dresses, or suits.

Clothing prices these days are sky-high and going up.

Is there nothing in sight but poverty in return for an adequate wardrobe?

No! Don't settle for that pennyless plight! Those extras can be yours for only a few shillings.

Magic? Maybe — if that's what you'd like to call a sewing machine. This handy little invention can transform your life.

The great thing about the whole idea is that you don't have to be a professional seamstress to make a good-looking out fit.

Before starting out blindly on your own, though, gather up a few little helpers. They'll make the job quicker, easier, and more professional looking.

Choose a good pattern; it will be your best friend. Start with one of the "how-to-sew" selections or a "jiffy" job.

Now select good practical material. Avoid stripes and plaids on the first attempts. They can be real path blockers even for professionals.

Check the end of the material to see that it has been cut or torn straight. The threads in inexpensive material will sometimes run diagonally. This could throw your whole dress into catastrophe.

For beginners, cotton or a tightly woven fabric is best. Stay away from the knits, sheers, and blends. They may look terrific on a bolt but they'll be trouble to sew.

You have the material, now collect your tools.

Pins, needles, ruler, scissors, measuring tape, thimble, and other small items are your basic beginning tools.

Set up your machine and tools in a spacious place. You'll need lots of room. Somewhere near an iron will save you needless steps.

Now it's simple, just follow pattern directions. This won't be hard; instructions on most patterns are simple and can easily be understood. Be sure not to overlook small detailed instructions in sewing directions. These minute "dos" give the product a finished look.

Proud of your job — well show off that homemade!

RUSHEES AWAIT DECISION:

Friday to Climax Fraternity Hopes

By Deb Mathis

Will Friday be your red-letter day, or will it look black?

Either one of these extremes could be true if your goal is a fraternity bid.

Fraternities have been in the process of official rush for a couple of weeks. Such a short time, you think, to make such important decisions.

Questions fill the "study space" of your mind. Will I make a good appearance? Do I have the things that will impress the "frat" men? And, finally, will I get a bid from that special brotherhood?

Look at yourself critically and try to answer these questions:

First, do you make a good appearance? Technically, this means are you neat and well-dressed?

The quote "never judge a book by its cover" may be the prescribed theory, but how often is it practiced? First appearances are many times the basis for judgements. A neglected appear-

Dates of Interviews Set by Two Firms

Two firms will be on campus next week to interview seniors, according to Mr. M. O. Wrather, director of placement.

On Friday Hamilton-Costo Inc., Columbus, Ind., will be interviewing those in business administration, finance, accounting, sales, marketing, and production management.

The B. F. Goodrich Co., Akron, Ohio, will be on campus Tuesday talking with chemistry and physics majors; business majors in accounting, marketing, management, finance, data processing; and any territory or retail management trainees.

All credentials must be on file in the placement office.

'Still No. 1' Selected as Theme Of Annual Military Ball Nov. 3

The Military Ball, sponsored by the military science department, will be held at 8 a.m. Nov. 3 in the SUB ballroom.

The Men of Note will provide the music. Dress will be formal. The theme of the ball will be "Still No. 1."

Cadet Col. Joe S. Morris, Arlington, is in charge of arrangements for the ball. He will be assisted by Cadet Lt.-Col. Eddie T. Farmer, Murray.

FRATERNITY AFFAIR The Greek men on campus give rushees a view of fraternity life by a host of smokers. A quick glimpse of a smoker shows that talent is one of the highlights.

ance may unjustly put you in an inferior rank.

OK appearance - wise? Then move forward to the next question: What will impress the fraternity men?

Personality is the key to your success. Friendliness and a genuine interest in others are essentials in making a good impression.

Try to meet others. Ideas and characteristics of other people will broaden your outlook and enrich your life.

Beware, however, of displaying a "fake" front. Be honest and be yourself.

Everyone has some characteristic that makes him outstanding. So take advantage of your asset. Play it up! Others will notice and admire you.

Now for the big question: Will you get that hoped for bid?

If you do, then great!

But if you don't, it's not the end of the world. You're not a failure.

You have met new people and have made some new friends. The rush activities have been fun, and you haven't lost a thing.

Make up your mind to do something great and get to work on it. If your goal is still that golden bid, then keep trying. Put your best self forward and get to know the fraternity men during the semester.

Things will look up and, who knows, that bid might be yours later on.

8 Members of Art Division Attend State Conference

Eight members of the art division attended the meeting of the Kentucky Art Education Association in Owensboro last week.

Those attending the meeting were Mrs. Karen Boyd, Miss Clara Eagle, department head, Mr. Harry Furches, Mr. William Green, Mr. Richard Jackson, Mrs. Elsie Kennedy, Mr. Thomas Spoerner, and Mrs. Emily Wolfson.

Three-Step Membership Basis Set by Interfraternity Council

The Interfraternity Council, in a regular business meeting Oct. 18, voted to accept a three-phase membership qualification.

The three phases are:

1. A petition must be filed with the IFC. The fraternity is then put on a one-semester probationary period, during which they are to work on their qualifications and be observed by the IFC.

2. At the end of this period they will be voted on by the IFC. If accepted, the fraternity will be on a two-month conditional membership.

3. After this period they will be voted on for regular membership.

The purpose of these qualifications is to "strengthen the overall Greek system at Murray," according to David Bradley, Fredonia, IFC president.

In other action, the IFC announced that graduate students are no longer eligible to participate on fraternity teams in intramural sports.

It was also decided that Beta Sigma's open rush period will run from Oct. 30 until Dec. 11, or until 35 members have been signed.

John Evans, Clinton, was appointed to head a committee on the printing of a Greek directory.

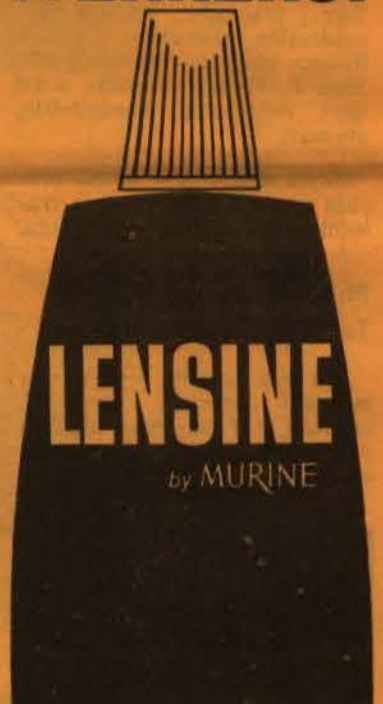

Richard Fagan, Jacksonville, Fla., James McClure, Erlanger, and John Woodward, O'Fallon, Ill., were named as committee for the establishment of a Junior IFC.

4 Officers Chosen By Richmond Hall

Harvey Bunker, Nashville, Ill., and Jim Havener, Owensboro, have been elected president and vice-president of Richmond Hall.

Also running on the winning Advance Guard ticket were Robert Platt, Trenton, N.J., secretary-treasurer, and Phillip Forrester, Mayfield, athletic-social director.

'HOME AWAY FROM HOME':

Church of Christ 'Adopts' Students

(Editor's note — This is the third in a series of articles describing the various religious centers on campus.)

By Betty Higgins

An interesting service offered to students by the University Church of Christ is the "Home-Away-From-Home" program.

As the name implies, local families "adopt" students, giving of themselves and their homes.

"We hope the program will grow into an extensive service to the student body," said the Rev. Hollis Miller, Church of Christ minister.

Other student-oriented services include a university student class at 7 each Wednesday evening.

According to Mr. Miller, there are about 55 students enrolled.

There is also a 9:30 Sunday morning class which discusses various issues of interest to students.

Thursday evenings at 6:05 students meet for devotions in the church. Guest speakers frequently give talks.

"Our goal is to be of service to the entire student body by meeting their spiritual needs," stated Mr. Miller.

The church serves, in addition to students, faculty and administration members. Regular worship is on Sundays at 10:30 a.m. and 6:00 p.m.

"Students, of course, are also invited to attend these."

The University Christian Student Center is still in the stage of development.

To be located at 1403 West Olive Blvd., the center will have a library, study room, TV lounge, game room, and day-use facilities.

Mr. Miller said, "The center is the work of interested Christians in the western part of Ken-

OVC Cage Tournament Tickets Available Here

Tickets are now on sale for the OVC Basketball Tournament, according to Mr. Rex A. Thompson, auditor.

The tournament will be Dec. 1-2 in the Municipal Auditorium, Nashville, Tenn. The first session of the tournament at 1 p.m. Dec. 1 will send Tennessee Tech against Morehead State.

The other two upper-bracket teams, Eastern State and East Tennessee, will see action at 3 p.m.

Murray State and Austin Peay will open lower-bracket play at 7 p.m. Western Kentucky State, last year's OVC champions, will face Middle Tennessee at 9 p.m. to complete the first round of play.

The winners of the two upper-bracket games will meet at 1 p.m. Dec. 2. Lower-bracket winners will make their bids for the final round at 3 p.m.

Upper and lower bracket finalists will vie for the championship at 8 p.m. Dec. 2.

In last year's tournament, Murray fell to Western, 94-83, in the first round of play. Western went on the championship by defeating East Tennessee 72-59 in the final game.

Tickets for the tournament are $3 per session (one game) for reserved seats, $2 per session for general admission, and $1.50 per session for advance-student tickets.

Ticket books good for the entire tournament are available at $11 for reserved seats and $7 for general admission. Advance student tickets are not available by the book.

Orders for tickets are being taken in the Auditor's Office, 7 Admn. Bldg. Nov. 10 is the deadline for placing orders. Payment must be made when the order is placed.

Those placing orders will receive tickets about Nov. 22, according to Mr. Thompson.

Racers Hoping to Deal Eastern Their 1st Loss Here Saturday

The Eastern Maroons, fourth-ranked in the small-college poll last week and OVC co-leaders, are to invade Murray Saturday night for a big battle with the surprising Racers.

The Maroons, currently 4-1-1 and 3-0-1 in the conference, are fresh from a 14-14 tie with Western in last week's OVC "game of the year" Murray was edged out, 8-7, Saturday at East Tenn. and are 3-3, 2-2 in league play.

Eastern features some of the top stars in conference history, and have players capable of playing for any team in the country, according to most observers.

One of these performers is split end Aaron Marsh, the second-best pass catcher in the OVC so far, trailing only Racer flanker Harvey Tanner, who ranks second in the college division statistics for the entire country. Marsh sprints the 100-yard dash in 10.1.

The other big receiver is tight end John Tazel, who ranks in the top five in conference pass catching. He hauled in eight for 129 yards against Western.

The Maroons also feature two of the best quarterbacks in the conference in first stringer Jim Guice, a holdover ace from last year, and sophomore Tim Speaks, who stepped in for Guice earlier in the season and performed extremely well. The two together have accounted for 1231 yards passing and nine touchdowns.

On the ground, Eastern depends mainly on tailback Jack McCoy, a freshman sensation who won acclaim in Eastern's Sept. 23 victory over Austin Peay. McCoy chewed up 74 yards in 13 carries in that one, and against Western last week he scored one of the Maroons' two touchdowns with a brilliant 56-yard romp.

Bob Beck, the bruising fullback, scored the other TD last week, and is Guice's mainstay when it comes to short yardage pickups.

The Maroons, like Murray, are noted as a passing team, but of late have gone to the ground game more and more with McCoy and Beck showing the way.

Murray was stymied by a good defense and some costly miscues at East Tenn. Saturday, but superb signal-caller Larry Tillman still completed 21 of 48 passes for 258 yards. He was third in passing in the college division statistics going into the Buccaneer game.

Tanner caught 12 more aeri-als in the game, giving him 58 for the year and the OVC lead in that department. Tillman continues to lead the conference in passing and total offense, with 122 completions in 231 attempts for 1560 yards. He leads the field in total offense by about 600 yards.

The Racers will rate as definite underdogs as they have in almost every game thus far, but with their surprisingly good showing week after week, anything could happen if Tillman and his receivers get together more often than Guice, Marsh, Tazel, Beck, and McCoy can cross the paydirt line.

Game time is 7:30 Saturday night in Cutchin Stadium.

8-7 Loss to East Tenn. Attributed to 'Mistakes'

"We did several things well, but we made too many mistakes to keep from losing." With these words Coach Bill Furgerson summed up Saturday's 8-7 football loss suffered at East Tennessee's Homecoming.

The "too many mistakes" referred to two fumbles and four pass interceptions. The coach also felt the long trip to Johnson City hurt his boys, as well as the fact that they had been "up" for five consecutive weeks, and had played top-flight football those weeks.

"Of course, when you start making excuses such as these, it sounds like sour grapes," Coach Furgerson explained, "but our boys had played about as well as they could for three or four weeks in a row, and the breaks seemed to fall to East Tennessee Saturday."

Coach Furgerson went on to say that he was puzzled—to some extent—by the officiating. The coach referred to one particular play in the second half in which freshman end Jack Wolf caught a Tillman pass on the East nine-yard line, but the ball was returned to the original line of scrimmage because the officials ruled him out of bounds at the time he made the catch.

"Once again, it will sound like sour grapes, but we have an $850 camera with stopaction that plainly shows Wolf to be in bounds by a considerable distance," the coach quipped.

FUMBLES, INTERCEPTIONS, PENALTIES:

Racer Miscues Costly in Buc Win

Hold on, wait a minute. Somebody forgot to tell East Tennessee's Buccaneers that Murray was the top offensive outfit in the OVC.

The result was a very rude welcoming to Johnson City, Tenn., for Racer quarterback Larry Tillman and an 8-7 loss suffered by Murray.

The loss ended the Racer victory skein at three, and evened their season slate at 3-3. The Bucs, on the other hand, celebrated Homecoming with their first victory of the year, and are 1-4-1.

The vaunted East defense, which held powerful Western to six points earlier this season, rushed the air ace Tillman with more success than any team has been able to do. He was dumped more times in two hours Saturday than he had been previously in five games combined.

Defense was the name of the game in the first quarter as the ball changed sides five times. Each team made a mild threat, but errors hurt both squads.

Midway into the initial period the Racers started a drive on their own 38-yard line, and drove to the East Tenn. 31 in seven plays.

Tillman then passed to flanker Harvey Tanner for 16 yards to the Bucs 15-yard stripe, but on the play Murray was penalized 15 yards for holding. The crime was committed on the 35-yard line, and the ball was placed back on the 50-yard mark. The penalty cost Murray 35 yards, and they had to punt two plays later.

The Bucs' only threatening drive started with a fumble and ended with a fumble. Racer back Don Veatch fumbled an East Tenn. punt which was recovered by the Bucs' Rusty Miller on the Murray 29-yard line.

Three plays later the Bucs were on the Murray 18, but freshman quarterback Larry Graham fumbled and the Racers recovered.

On the first play of the second period a Tillman pass was intercepted by Buc linebacker Ron Overbay, who returned it six yards to the Racer 16-yard mark. The Bucs drove and were knocking on the door at the Racer six, but were stopped there and missed a 29-yard field goal attempt.

The only threat in the third period was by Murray. Tillman's arm headed a drive from the Racer 11 to the Buc six, but on the first down-goal-to-go play, Tillman's pass for Tanner was intercepted by Buc linebacker Butch Buchanan to end the threat.

Murray finally ended the goose-egg game on the initial paly of the fourth stanza.

The Racers had taken the ball on the Bucs' 41-yard line with 12 seconds to go in the third period when a bad snap on a fourth down punt hurt East Tenn.

Tillman promptly passed to Tanner, the OVC's leading receiver, to the Buc five, a 36-yard pickup on a fly out pattern. That ended the third quarter.

Tillman then passed to fullback Joe Meade for the score and Bill Humphreys' conversion kick made it 7-0.

Murray linebacker Hiram Sanders intercepted a Graham pass two minutes later and the Racers were in business on East Tenn.'s 28-yard stripe.

A 12-yard pass from Tillman to Tanner put the ball 16 yards from paydirt, but another holding penalty cost Murray 15 yards and ended the threat.

East Tenn. decided the issue with 5:17 left in the game when fullback Ronnie Harrold carried over from two yards out. Graham completed a conversion pass to Miller for two points and an 8-7 lead, which was the final margin.

The scoring play was set up by Buchanan, who intercepted a Tillman pass and returned it to the Racer 27. The series was almost halted on the 20-yard line, but halfback Mike Young gained four yards on a crucial fourth-and-three situation.

Murray never threatened after that. The last time they possessed the pigskin, Tillman had a pass batted down and was dumped behind the line of scrimmage twice.

DEFENDER... Vic Etheridge, Racer defensive end, had another good day at East Tennessee Saturday with numerous tackles and assists. Etheridge has been one of Murray's top defensive performers all year.

UP AND OVER Janet Oesterheld (No. 2) of the Kappa Delta girls' volleyball team sends the ball back over the net for the Alpha Gamma Delta girls to worry with. Kappa Delta defeated Alpha Gamma Delta in this action during the first week of play in the girls' volleyball league. Both teams are members of the Panhellenic League.

4 Remain Unbeaten as 2nd Week Of Coed Volleyball Play Opens

The second week of action in the girls' intramural volleyball tourney is scheduled to be completed tomorrow with 6 games on tap. The Cheerio Kids are scheduled to take on The Raiders No. 1 and the Acers are to play the Star Treks at 4:45, while the Dames Club is to battle the Raiders No. 2 and Kappa Delta is to meet Sigma Sigma Sigma at 5:45.

The No Names-TF's game and the Alpha Sigma Alpha encounter with Alpha Delta Pi are to complete the activities. The final two games start at 6:45.

In the independent League the Raiders No. 1 and the Acers were the only teams able to maintain perfect records. The other six teams lost at least one game each.

Rudy's, Civic Club To Sponsor Benefit For Football Squad

A three-meal, three-dollar deal has been set up to help the Murray State Racer football team Saturday at Rudy's Restaurant.

The Young Businessmen's Club of Murray is sponsoring an all-day "eating affair," with breakfast, lunch and dinner all going for $1 each. Rudy's Restaurant, downtown, is the site for the "eat-in."

"All proceeds from the day will go toward bettering the football program at MSU," stated Coach Bill Ferguson.

Tickets are being sold on campus by Alpha Tau Omega, a social fraternity, and the tickets may be purchases from any member of the fraternity throughout the week.

Soccer Team Shows 'Sock'; Should Get Athletic Backing

By Karl Harrison

Soccer is here to stay. Murray's first two home matches, their fourth and fifth matches of the season, drew a good many curious and interested fans. Most of them did not know exactly what was going on, but they knew when to cheer Murray and boo the other teams, for the most part.

Now, why doesn't the athletic dept. give them some backing and support and money. Intercollegiate soccer is gaining momentum all over the country, as is professional soccer. It will become America's fourth large-audience sport in three to four more years.

Big crowds can always be had in the east, where soccer is quite common, but recent crowds of 45 and 50,000 in midwestern cities such as St. Louis have surprised even the soccer officials and owners themselves.

Murray should get in on the pioneering of the sport in the OVC and push it 100 per cent. The weekend games in Murray showed that our team is ready to give 100 per cent every time they hit the field.

Last week a one paragraph story in the Courier-Journal told of Murray's victory over Ky. Southern. With backing from the athletic dept. and publicity dept., the next account of our team in the C-J could be a little bigger.

CORRECTION - We're sorry Terry Adamses, both of you. Two different stories in previous issues of the news have listed the Terry Adams of the soccer team as being from Fulton. Not so. The soccer-playing Terry Adams is from Mt. Clemens, Mich. There is a university Student from Fulton named Terry Adams, but he doesn't play soccer, at least not on the team.

The football loss at East Tenn. brought a number of people down from their cloud, but Murray certainly has nothing to be ashamed of.

The Racers knew before they left town Friday that East was no slouch. The Bucs had been plagued by tough luck and failure to make the big play in almost every game (excluding the 35-7 loss to Eastern) and were much tougher than their 0-4-1 mark indicated.

Saturday the breaks went their way, and before the Homecoming crowd, they made the big play and took the victory from Murray's grasp almost at the last moment.

The Racer ground game bogged down again after showing a marked improvement the last three weeks. East Tenn.'s battlehardened defense held Murray to 10 yards rushing, and added Murray to their long list of good offenses which they have stopped cold. The four interceptions by the Bucs matched the five-game total of Larry Tillman passes stolen previously this season.

Plans have been submitted for approval of Murray's new football stadium, and it is none to soon. Eastern has let bids on its new house, Western's is near completion, Tenn. Tech is already in its new stadium, and East Tenn. (rumored to be about to pull out of the OVC) has plans being drawn at this time. The success of the team this year and the sunny future we can see ahead for it should be enough incentive to spark swift action.

For those of you who like to look ahead and plan ahead, plan to attend the Racer intrasquad basketball game on the night of Nov. 20, and plan to attend the OVC Tournament on Friday and Saturday nights, Dec. 1 and 2.

The conference tourney has been moved up from its usual Christmas time slot to a season-opening capacity for the valley teams. It will take place in Nashville, as opposed to Louisville the last few years. Nash-Nashville is only two hours SOUTH of Murray by car, and we open against Austin Peay on Friday.

EASY SINGLES VICTORIES:

Coed Tennis Team Blanks Peabody

Vicki Russell

Murray's female tennis team waltzed to another victory Friday by shutting out the girls from George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, on the Murray courts.

The Fillies notched easy victories in all five singles matches and won both doubles matches for a perfect afternoon.

Here's the way it went in the Singles: Martha Bostin, at No. 1 ser, 6-2, 6-0; at No. 2, Sally Bichon downed Ann Baldinger, 6-0, 6-2.

Carolyn Wells, at No. 3 for Murray, trounced Peabody's Dallas Brown, 6-0, 6-1; Paula Carbonell skunked Nancy Koelleir, 6-0, 6-0, at No. 4; and Vicki Russell completed the Murray sweep by bombing Pat Hyder, 6-1, 6-0, in the No. 5 match.

Murray registered a double victory in the doubles, as Miss Wells teamed with Cindy Almendinger to win the first doubles affair. They downed the Resser-Baldringer team, 7-5, 5-7, 6-4. Jean Ann Luther and Carol Stopper stopped Peabody's Brown-Koelleir team, 6-2, 2-6 and 7-5, in the second doubles match.

INTRAMURALS ROLLING:

Three Flag Football Games Today

Three games highlight today's action in intramural football league play, with two Fraternity League battles and one Independent League contest scheduled.

Sigma Chi and Alpha Gamma Rho, a pair of Greek foes, will meet on the practice football field. Tau Kappa Epsilon and Sigma Pi, two more fraternity elevens, will battle on the field behind Springer Hall, and Independent League members Springer Hall and Alpha Gamma Delta will test each other at City Park.

Friday's action, will pit Greeks Pi Kappa Alpha and Lambda Chi Alpha at the City Park, while the Independent League has two games on tap: the Vets Club vs. Richmond Hall II behind Springer Hall, and Tri-Sigma vs. Sigma Gamma Omega on the practice gridiron.

All of the games will start at 4:30 in the afternoon.

Saturday morning at 9 Alpha Omicron Pi will battle Richmond Hall I on the practice grid field, and Freudian Friars are set to play Springer Hall behind that dormitory, and Sigma Nu will test Greek foe Alpha Gamma Rho at City Park.

Saturday's 11 o'clock games with pit Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Chi in a Greek game on the practice football field, Tau Kappa Epsilon and Lambda Chi behind Springer, and Tri-Sigma vs. Richmond Hall II at City Park.

At 1 p.m. Sigma Gamma Omega will play Richmond Hall I on the practice gridiron, the Vets Club will take on Alpha Gamma Delta behind Springer, and Sigma Pi will do battle with Alpha Gamma Rho in a Greek game at the park.

Fourteen games were played last week, but only 11 of them were reported to the intramural office.

Wednesday's action saw Tau Kappa Epsilon TKE rout Sigma Nu, 45-6; Alpha Omicron Pi paste the Newman Friars, 35-0; and Alpha Tau Omega edge Pi Kappa Alpha, 6-0.

Friday the Vets Club nosed out Springer Hall by a touchdown, 13-6; Richmond Hall I was declared the winner over Richmond II by forfeit; and Alpha Gamma Rho fell to Lambda Chi Alpha, 2-0.

The Alpha Gamma Delta-Sigma Gamma Omega game on Friday and the Saturday games involving the Newman Friars- Sigma Gamma Omega and Alpha Gamma Delta-Richmond Hall I teams, were not reported.

Saturday games which were reported showed Sigma Chi blasting Sigma Pi, 21-0; Tau Kappa Epsilon topping Pi Kappa Alpha, 19-0; and Sigma Nu crushing Sigma Pi, 36-0. The Vets Club took the Tri-Sigma, 12-6, and Springer Hall won over Richmond Hall II by a forfeit.

Vande Zande Leads Rifle Team In Victory Over North Georgia

Victory again belongs to the Murray State rifle team. Their latest conquest was a 1405 to 1338 shellacking of North Georgia College in a match which took place Saturday in Dahlonega, Ga. The Georgians, who finished in the top 10 teams in the country last year, were completely outclassed and outshot. Their highest individual scorer in the Saturday match, All-American firer James McPhail, could shoot only as high as Murray's fifth best individual scorer.

Ernie Vande Zande led the Murray riflemen with a 286, Bob Arledge and Tom Harrington each fired 281, Roger Estes had a 280, and Roger Buck shot for a 277 score.

MURRAY DOMINATES BOTH GAMES:

Improved Soccer Team Routs Peabody, 11-0; Edges UK, 5-2

Murray State's soccer team routed inexperienced Peabody College, 11-0, Friday and held on to a first-half lead to edge the University of Kentucky, 5-2, here Saturday.

Eight Murray players scored against Peabody as faculty advisor R. G. Layman shifted his players, giving each a chance to score on offense. Mohamad "Mo" Moghadamian led in scoring with four goals.

Others scoring one goal each were Doug Foland, Al Herrera, Titus Okolo, Kaarlo Hietela, Mike Lehmann, Curtis Keen, and Ernest Brumbaugh.

Approximately 350 spectators were on hand Saturday as Murray grabbed a 3-0 lead early in the first half and snuffed a Kentucky rally in the second half for the 5-2 victory.

Although playing with five men hampered by injuries received against Peabody, Murray had little trouble in obtaining the early lead. Most of the action took place around the Kentucky goal with Murray getting numerous shots at it.

Perhaps tiring from the second game in as many days, Murray was forced to play defense the second half as Kentucky took control and tried to rally. However, Kentucky managed to score only two points.

"Mo", Doug Foland, and Titus

Okolo gave Murray its three first-half goals and Al Herrera scored two in the second half. Herrera's first goal was a perfectly placed "head shot" which seemed to amaze the hometown spectators.

Herrera constantly placed his corner kicks in front of the goal, giving Murray good opportunities to score.

Mr. Layman credited Arlie Kirpatrick, Curtis Keen, and Ernest Brumbaugh, all fullbacks, for a great performance on defense. "They kicked the ball long, keeping it out of the scoring area, which took much pressure off of our defensive game."

Titus Okolo was also singled out by Mr. Layman as playing an outstanding game. The coach said, "He passed and played an excellent game at the inside right forward position."

Praising the team even more, Coach Layman went on to say that "we have some real good players, some of them will go far and are real fine pro prospects."

Recently Murray received an invitation to participate in the Kentucky Invitational Soccer Tournament at Berea College. All Kentucky schools with soccer teams will compete, along with the possibility of a couple of Tennessee schools. The tournament will be later in the year.

Murray's next game will be Saturday at Southern Illinois University. SIU recently defeated St. Louis University, which has dominated collegiate soccer competition for the last five years.

The next home game will be Saturday, Nov. 4, against Southeast Missouri. Southeast Missouri defeated Murray 4-2 in Murray's season opener. Coach Layman stated that the squad is "looking forward for a chance to avenge their earlier defeat."

GOOD GO, GOALIE . . . Goalie Terry Adams (No. 1) successfully blocks a shot by a determined University of Kentucky halfback in a game here Saturday. Murray fullback Mike Lehmann speeds in to aid Adams. The goalie is allowed to block the shot in any manner and kick the ball away.

A STONE WALL . . . Five Murray soccer players are lined up with intentions of blocking this free kick by the University of Kentucky. The kick sailed over their heads and, fortunately for Murray, over the goal. The players are (left to right) Rick Sangvichien, Doug Foland, Brian Darling, Hector Gonzalez and Mohamad "Mo" Moghadamian. The photographer was behind the goal and took his picture through the netting.

New BS Degree Curriculum Announced for Non-Teachers

A new bachelor of science program has been set up for students not working toward a teaching certificate. This change was made to equalize the requirements of a degree with and without teacher certification, Dean William G. Nash explained. The new program allows students to choose courses from two different fields of study to complete a minor. For example, a student might take nine hours of history and nine hours of political science for an 18-hour minor. This second minor must be made up of complementary courses. A student would use this second minor and one regular major and minor for a BS degree. Although the required subjects remain the same, individual major and minor requirements have been changed. Students interested in changing to the new program should discuss the changes with department heads and their faculty advisers, according to Dean Nash. This new program will not be outlined in writing until new catalogs for next fall are issued.

15 Meets, 7,500 Miles Await Murray Debaters

Fifteen tournaments and 7,500 miles lie ahead of Murray's debate teams as the 1967-1968 intercollegiate forensic season gets under way. The teams will travel to nine states to debate this year's topic: "Resolved: That the federal government should guarantee a minimum cash income to all citizens." The season will open Nov. 2-4 when Murray travels to Atlanta, where they will meet Emory University. Also in November, the varsity squad will meet Western Kentucky at Bowling Green. On Dec. 2 the novice team will debate Greenville College in Greenville, Ill. The varsity team will be host for the Old Gray Mare Debate Tournament on Dec. 8-9. Three tournaments are scheduled for January. On Jan. 5-6 Murray will attend the tournament at Middle Tennessee State University in Murfreesboro. The two remaining tournaments are with Ohio State University on Jan. 11-13 and Kansas State College in Pittsburg, Kan., on Jan. 26-27.

In February the teams will travel to Henderson State College,

DePauw University, and Memphis State University. Three tournaments are also slated for March including Mississippi State College for Women in Columbus, Miss., on March 1-2. On March 8-9 Murray will meet Eastern Kentucky at Richmond. On March 15-16 Murray's teams will attend the Kentucky Intercollegiate Forensic Conference at Bowling Green. The teams will make their longest trip to attend the DSR-TKA National Conference in Washington, D.C. The season will end with a novice debate on April 20 at the University of Illinois in Urbana. Other sponsored activities include the Third Annual High School Oratory - Interpretation Workshop on Dec. 2, and the 17th season of the High School Assembly Debate Programs, which will run from November through February.

The sixth annual College Conference on Intergroup Relations will be held Nov. 3-5 at Catherine Spalding College in Louisville, according to Mr. Willis

A. Sutton, conference coordinator.

The theme of this year's conference is "Student Power and the Community Crisis."

Special emphasis will be placed on what students can do to help eliminate discrimination on campus, in the local community, and throughout the nation.

Workers in community-action and poverty programs from the Louisville area will interpret the problems they face and present possible solutions.

The final day of the conference will feature a panel reviewing the findings of the speakers and workshops.

Picture Schedules Posted by Shield In Library, SUB

Sign-up sheets for class pictures in this year's Shield have been posted in the lobby of the SUB and in the entrance of the Library, Editor Floyd Carpenter announced this week.

The sheets list openings for this week and will continue until the Thanksgiving holidays. Shooting is scheduled 8-12 a.m. and 1-5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Carpenter said that pictures for seniors will be formal. Men will be photographed in formal wear furnished at the time of the picture in Meeting Room 4 of the SUB. They are asked to wear a straight-collared white shirt. Coeds should wear skirts and blouses since drapes will be provided.

Carpenter also stressed that all students who sign up should keep the appointment so that they can be photographed as near to the scheduled time as possible.

Pictures are being made by Colonna Studios of New York City.

Turn In Drop-Add Cards Immediately, Nash Warns

All students who have not turned in drop-add cards must do so immediately, according to Dean William G. Nash.

These cards were due in the registrar's office Monday. If they are not turned in immediately, students will receive failing grades for dropped courses, Dean Nash said.

Monday Interviews Set By UK Medical School

Representatives from the University of Kentucky Medical School will be in 204 Science Bldg. Monday from 8:30 a.m. until noon, according to Dean William G. Nash.

"These representatives will be glad to talk with any students who might be interested in the study of medicine either at the University of Kentucky or elsewhere," explained Dean Nash.
