SACRAMENTO JUNIOR COLLEGE STADIUM

.... FOREWORD

The Sacramento Post No. 61 of the American Legion holds again today their annual Armistice Day Fete, bringing to mind that Armistice Day is a day to remember, not one of sorrow, but on the contrary, one of thanks and joviality, never forgetting, however, those comrades who are still in France and those for whom the war will never end, and to whom we owe a debt that can never be paid, and we do homage to these, not only on Armistice Day, but on every day in the year, and all the veterans of the World War seek to remind the citizens of the great republic the significance of the day and what the word "armistice" really meant to those in actual combat; a day never to be forgotten; a day of real profound thanks.

... The Teams ...

When the College of Pacific and the Sacramento Junior College football teams take the field today, one may be assured that they both will be giving everything they have and possibly a little bit more in an effort to score a victory. There is nothing that the College of Pacific hates more than to be defeated by the junior college. Also, as this is their coach's last year at C. O. P. they are striving harder than ever to make it the most successful he has enjoyed in his long reign at that institution.

In order to do this they must beat the local aggregation. They were dealt a serious blow when their all-conference halfback "Ham" Hamilton was injured last week. Hamilton was one of the mainstays of the team last year when they defeated the junior college 14 to 0. And in this year's game with the California Aggies it was he who was responsible for such an overwhelming score. However, his ability has apparently been transferred to one Tom Wilson, who stole the show in the Santa Clara Bronco-C. O. P. game.

The personnel of the visitors is made up largely of all-conference men of last year. In Stocking at tackle one will see one of the greatest tackles to ever grace the local stadium turf. He has everything. Gould at quarterback is another all-conference man and his steady calling of plays has won more than its share of contests. In Biff Strobridge, a product of Lodi, C. O. P. has a marvelous fullback who was all-conference fullback last year and will easily be again this. Bob Wicker at half was not an all-conference man last year, but the wise ones are predicting the recognition this year.

In regards to the balance of the team, anyone who saw the game with the Aggies realizes that they have a truly great forward wall. The ends are fast and get down on the punts. Corson at center is a good passer and a bulwark on defense. Kjeldsen and Seeber are reliable guards with the former being mentioned as all-conference prospects. Hoene at tackle is a sure and steady tackle.

Reading this account might lead the reader to believe that the local college has not a chance. But they are an Applequist coached varsity with stars of their own. At center Captain Olver will be found and that boy can and does play football. McComber and Womble at guards are reliable and steady. Culjis at tackle is one of those boys that can't be kept off the team. Anderson, the other tackle, will probably be the fastest man on the field and he can sure go down on punts.

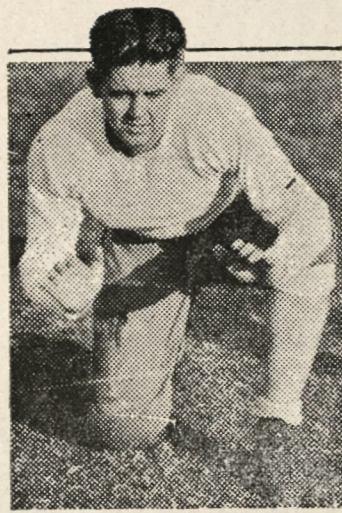

Sacramento will have the best end on the field in Harvey, and Rimmel is not far behind him. The local backfield although not as flashy on open field running as former J. C. teams, has power and a pass attack that may cope with Pacific. In Peterson at fullback the college has one of the best triple-threat men ever developed in this region.

Wynne and Stafford are ideal running mates for the line-crushing Peterson. Woerner at quarterback has come along nicely and has shown good judgment at all times.

In conclusion one might say regarding the game that the local college can win if they have perfected an adequate pass defense and will lose if they have not.

Sacramento Junior College Coaches

Head Coach
"Hack" Applequist

Nowhere in the United States do Junior College football followers have the opportunity of seeing teams perform that are coached by as brilliant a coach as our own mentor, Hack Applequist. In watching his elevens the fan has the opportunity of seeing everything that could be seen watching teams from the largest universities. It has been probably correctly rumored that he will not stay at the Junior College for very long. Sooner or later he will be tempted too sorely to take one of the lucrative offers he has received from some of the larger universities.
