FROM OUTER SPACE — Aztec fullback Bill Kramer, looking like something from outer space, is actually getting some oxygen after his 65 yard run two weeks ago against Long Beach State.

SCOUTING REPORT

OPPONENT: University of Pacific

DATE: November 9, 1974

OFFENSE: The Pacific offense is Willard Harrell. The talented tailback has run for more yards than any other back in Tiger history and currently ranks 22nd on the all-time NCAA list.

This season he has run for 1,082 yards on 190 carries for a 5.7 average. He has also rushed for over 3,000 yards in his career at Pacific and led the NCAA last year in all purpose running.

Harrell does get valuable support, however, from fullback Don Padilla, who has rushed 105 times for 592 yards. Steve Towne is the quarterback and he has run for 226 yards and passed for 547. The Tigers have thrown only 100 times this season with Towne hitting 32 of 71.

DEFENSE: The Pacific defense has been crippled by injuries. At last report the Tigers had only 19 healthy bodies on defense.

The biggest man on the starting defensive team is right linebacker Don Sutton (6-4, 230) who is a sophomore from El Capitan High School in San Diego. Backup lineman Al Cleveland goes at 6-5, 240, but basically the Tiger defense is small and quick. Starting left end Mark Cook is 5-11, 184 and Ken Rohde is 5-11, 225.

Safety Mike Kiley is the best pass defender as he leads the team in interceptions with two.

WILLARD HARRELL

UOP SENIOR TAILBACK

The 5-10, 182-pound speedster who led the nation in all-purpose running during 1973 is the finest running back UOP has produced since the immortal Dick Bass. A 9.6 sprinter, Harrell has the explosive ability to score any time he touches the football. He continually transforms routine plays into electrifying game-breakers. During his UOP career, he has averaged nearly 6 yards a carry in the rushing department and over 30 yards per kick return.

TONIGHT'S GRID NOTES

The Aztecs and Tigers have met 16 times in the past with San Diego State holding a 9-7 edge. San Diego won last year's game 13-10 on a field goal with 3:03 to play by Benny Ricardo. The Aztecs have won the last eight games in a row in the series.

Willard Harrell of the Tigers is one of the top runners in college football and owns virtually every Pacific rushing record. This season he has rushed 190 times for 1,082 yards. He had 1,319 yards last year and 3,098 for his career. He currently ranks 22nd on the all-time NCAA list and could finish his career as high as fifth. Only 23 runners have ever gained 3,000 yards in a career in college football. Harrell has also rushed for over 100 yards in a game 16 of his 29 games as a Tiger.

Pacific has lost four games this year and in all four Harrell has failed to score. He was blanked against Fresno State, rushed only seven times against Kansas State due to an injury, missed the Hawaii game and rushed for 84 yards against Miami when he was only at half speed.

The Tigers set a PCAA rushing record last week against Texas (Arlington) with 437 yards. The old mark was 434 set by the Tigers last year against Los Angeles State.

Dwight McDonald of the Aztecs caught 14 passes last week against North Texas State. That ties him for the best performance by a collegian this season. John Ross of Toledo had 14 earlier in the year. The Aztecs 59 passes in the game was also an NCAA season high.

CLAUDE GILBERT Aztec Head Coach

Claude Gilbert starts his second year as head coach at San Diego State University after taking over for the highly successful Don Coryell.

Gilbert, however, showed in 1973 that he too can be a highly successful coach by posting a 9-1-1 record in his first year as coach of the Aztecs and coaching the nation's top passer and total offense leader Jesse Freitas. The Aztecs also won the NCAA Passing Title last year.

Prior to taking over as head coach at San Diego State, Gilbert had been defensive co-ordinator for the Aztecs for four years and offensive line coach for two seasons before that. Gilbert's defenses produced such top players as Fred Dryer, Jim Peterson, Randy Bixler, Bill Ferguson and Martin Imhof.

In 1970, Gilbert's defensive unit finished fourth in the nation in total defense and in 1971 the team finished just out of the top 10 in several national categories. The 1972 defensive unit posted shutouts over North Texas State and Kent State, and had a string of 12 straight scoreless quarters snapped by San Jose State.

Gilbert played his collegiate football at San Jose State where he was a fullback and flanker. He was the Spartan's team captain as a senior in 1958. Academically, he holds B.A. and M.A. degrees from San Jose State.

Claude went right into coaching following graduation from college and was an assistant football coach at Tulare High School in 1959. The Redskins were 8-1 in 1959 and won the league championship. A season later he was the head coach at Shafter High School and guided the Generals to a three-year record of 24-3-1 from 1960 to 1962.

Bakersfield College was the next stop for Gilbert from 1963 to 1965. He acted as defensive coach as the Renegades posted a 27-5 record. Staying in the junior college ranks, he stepped up the head coaching job at Southwestern College in Chula Vista in 1966. He turned the Apache program around in one year, and led the team to a 5-3 record and a share of the conference title.

Lindsey Nelson Plugs College Football

by LINDSEY NELSON

I've been a college football fan all my life.

I like the fact that the product is an original, and it's stamped "Made in America." It started, like our country did, in the East, spread westward, then all over the U.S.A.

First radio and then television enlarged the popularity of college football; and, as a broadcaster, it's been my good fortune to witness a lot of it.

I got to know the Galloping Ghost of the Illini, the Four Horsemen of Notre Dame, Little Boy Blue, and Mr. Inside and Mr. Outside.

I have done games witnessed by Harry Truman, Lyndon Johnson, and Jack Kennedy. In fact, I once re-created a football broadcast on tape for Jack Kennedy before he was President (there were no blank spots in our tapes).

He's Been There

I've done 11 seasons of NCAA games on network television, and the Notre Dame telecasts for six seasons. I've done 11 Army-Navy games, 14 Cotton Bowls, five Sugar Bowls and four Rose Bowls.

Red Grange, the Galloping Ghost of the Illini, and I once did a game at his Alma Mater. As we toured the campus, Red pointed to a great open space and said, "That's where I took ROTC instruction. At least I was along for the ride. I was in the cavalry and I had an old horse that wasn't very fast but knew more military than MacArthur."

I once spoke to the New Haven Gridiron Club, and afterwards, someone wanted to know if I'd like to visit the legendary Mory's, "the dear old Temple bar we loved so well." I went with Albie Booth, Yale's "Little Boy Blue."

For me, it's all been one delightful experience, starting when I listened to broadcasts in my home town of Columbia, Tennessee. Later, at the University of Tennessee I was signed on by Coach Bob Neyland as a tutor for scholarship athletes who were deficient in freshman English. That put me in close touch with Neyland over a long stretch. He was probably the greatest defensive coach the game ever knew. It also put me in touch with a lot of great football players, many of whom later became great coaches all across the land.

Tipped Off

Coaches have usually been cooperative in revealing unusual tactics they anticipated using. Navy Coach Eddie Erdelatz tipped me off to a Joe Bellino running pass he'd open the game with. (It didn't work.) Bear Bryant told me about a flea-flicker he'd use. (It was completed.) Miami's Andy Gustafson told me how to recognize his quick-kick formation.

Bobby Dodd at Georgia Tech told me about an unbalanced line he'd use against Kentucky to try to spring George Volkert for a long gain. (It worked, and, incidentally, the Kentucky Coach was Blanton Collier assisted by Don Shula.)

Darrell Royal told me about an unbalanced line he'd use against Ole Miss in the Sugar Bowl. (It didn't work.) Red Blaik didn't tell me that just before kickoff he'd switch his Army team to new grey and gold jerseys. You couldn't read a number with a telescope.

Terry Brennan didn't tell me he'd open against Oklahoma with a single wing formation. He may not have told Tailback Paul Hornung either, judging from the speed with which Oklahoma linebacker Jerry Tubbs got Hornung on his shoulder.

It might sound as though I've been doing college football for a long time. But it doesn't seem long. I continue to find in college football the excitement and purpose that are, to me, consistent with the need of ambitious and restless youth to have excitement and purpose.

I've been a college football fan all my life.

RUSHING, PASSING RECORDS MAY FALL

The following stories were taken from the National Collegiate Sports Services Bulletin.

Rushing and passing in football go hand in hand and keeping with that theory the 128 major teams playing NCAA football seem certain to smash several running and passing records.

Rushing yardage has soared to 403.2 yards per game (both teams combined) this season, an increase of 33.4 yards per game over mid-season last year and well above the all-time high of 386.2 set in 1956. Along with this, yards per rush has increased a seventh straight year to 3.89—fourth highest in history (to the record 4.05 in 1954, 3.93 in 1956 and 3.92 in 1953).

At the same time, yards per attempted pass has soared to 6.45 and pass completion percentage to .476. Both would be all-time highs if maintained through the season, breaking the old records of 6.41 last season and .474 in 1968. This is true even though major college teams are throwing less than they have in 10 years (36.4 passes per game, both teams combined, against 35.8 in 1964 and the record high 50.9 in 1969).

Adding passing and rushing, the current 4.56 yards per rushing-passing play is a threat to the all-time high of 4.59 last year.

The 50 per cent increase in veer and wishbone teams (from 36 last year to 54 this season) is a factor in the rushing statistics. The result could be the greatest one season swing in rushing emphasis in the game's history. The spreading triple option craze was also a huge factor in the 1970 and 1971 seasons when rushing offenses showed a considerable increase.

Homer Smith, the new Army coach, told the New York Football Writers with a straight face, "Our problem was simply overconfidence." He cited a string of scores proving Army was 68 points better than Notre Dame. Army lost by seven to Penn State, which won by 27 over Iowa, which won by 11 over UCLA, which won by 42 over Michigan State, which lost by five to Notre Dame. "We tried to tell our kids that Notre Dame was a good team, but it just didn't work. Notre Dame won the game 48-0 in game that marked the honoring of the Four Horsemen.

Miami of Ohio has assured itself of its 32nd straight non-losing season, a streak surpassed only by Penn State now in its 36th. Miami head coaches during the string were Stu Holcomb, Sid Gillman, George Blackburn, Woody Hayes, Ara Parseghian, John Pont, Bo Schembechler, Bill Mallory and Dick Crum.

Now that one of the three Selmon brothers is gone at Oklahoma, can it be that the brothers Nick, Mike and George Obrovac at Bowling Green form the biggest brother trio in the country? They average 6-4, 237. Nick starts at one offensive tackle and George and Mike alternate at the other. Says Nick, "My sister doesn't play football, or coach Nehlen probably would recruit her." Bowling Green comes to San Diego Stadium to play the Aztecs on November 23.

Southern Illinois freshman Vic Major returned a kickoff 97 yards for a touch-down against Temple the first time he touched the ball in his college career, then explained: "Coach Weaver told me to get the ball in good field position. I just figured a touchdown is the best field position you can get."

Joe Dillow, a defensive end at Morehead State, is a 12th child. He has eight brothers and seven sisters, ages 42 to 13. A football team with five reserves. "When we'd sit down to eat, it was mass confusion," he said. "Pass this, pass that . . . it was something. We lived on a farm and had our own meat, but I can remember mom and dad spending $150 a week on groceries." With two persons per bed, it took nine beds. Setting the alarm for 4 a.m. would insure occupancy in the bathroom first. A fellow could grow old waiting for seven sisters to comb their hair."

Joe is the first of his family to graduate from high school, and he'll likely be the only one to graduate from college. He says, "My folks are kinda proud of what I've accomplished, and it makes me feel pretty good, too."

Don Nava may have lost his starting quarterback job at West Texas State, but he's picking up some valuable experience in his career field. Dressed in a stocking cap and wearing uniform No. 7, Nava interviews teammates for Amarillo's KVII (Channel 7) as WT's "seventh string quarterback." In one piece he asked tackle Floyd Jones what he liked to do best. Jones said, "tackle quarterbacks," and wrestled Nava to the ground. In another, Nava simply asked starting halfback Eddie Richardson, "What's it like to play."

In the Homecoming against Montana, Idaho coach Ed Troxel's son Van came in to quarterback Montana with his team ahead 28-14. He was immediately dropped for a loss, on fourth down Idaho blocked a punt, and finally managed a 35-35 tie. After the game, Van told his father, "I told you, dad, they were going to play like hell."

Allegheny amazingly forced Grove City to punt from a fourth-and-55 situation (and none of the huge loss was on penalty). Then Allegheny fumbled the punt and Grove City drove in to score the first touchdown rushing surrendered by Allegheny all season.

RELIEF PITCHER—Dick Clyde, Aztec quarterback, came on in relief of Kevin Sneed last week at North Texas State and nearly rallied the Aztecs to victory in a 14-9 loss to North Texas State. Clyde completed 7 of 17 passes for 155 yards all in the fourth quarter.

1974 MAJOR BACKERS OF THE AZTEC ATHLETIC PROGRAM...

Hundreds of student-athletes have had their education at San Diego State financed through contributions of Aztec Club members. Success of major university athlete programs is more dependent each year upon the financial support of the community. San Diego State University is proud to honor these major contributors to the athletic program.

Aztecs Retain National Passing Lead

The names have now become household words—Dennis Shaw, Brian Sipe and Jesse Freitas. They are the men who did the throwing for San Diego State over the past five years that have allowed the Aztecs to rank as the No. 1 passing team in the nation over the past five seasons.

Shaw completed 333 of 575 passes for 5,324 yards, Sipe was 436 of 788 for 5,707 yards and Freitas was 324 of 518 for 4,193 yards. All are playing professional football now with Shaw at St. Louis, Sipe with the Cleveland Browns and Freitas with the San Diego Chargers. Of course before Shaw, Sipe and Freitas, Don Horn started the great tradition of Aztec quarterbacks by completing 257 of 459 attempts for 3,922 yards. Horn is now with the Chargers.

The Aztecs have always had great receivers to go along with their passers. Men such as Tim Delaney, who had 180 receptions at San Diego, Tom Reynolds, who caught 177 passes, Ken Burrow, who grabbed 78 and Darold Nogle, who caught 69. Delaney is now one of the top receivers in the WFL with the Hawaiians, Reynolds is with the Chicago Bears and Burrow with the Atlanta Falcons.

Before Delaney, Reynolds, Burrow and Nogle, men like Gary Garrison (148 catches), Craig Scoggins (129 receptions), Haven Moses (111 catches) and Tom Nettles (90 receptions).

The Aztecs have won the NCAA Team Passing Title twice (1971 and 1973) and have had three individual win titles (Shaw in 1969, Sipe in 1971 and Freitas in 1973). Shaw and Freitas were also the total offense leaders in the year they won the passing crown.

Monte Jackson — San Diego State's Phantom in the Secondary

His nickname is the Phantom because he shuns the limelight and publicity.

But even though Monte Jackson prefers to stay clear of the public light the fact remains that he is one of the top cornerbacks in college football.

Monte was a first team All-Pacific Coast Athletic Association selection last year as a junior and was selected to the All-Far West Coast team by Kickoff Magazine before the start of the 1974 season. Last year Monte made 74 tackles with 41 unassisted and had three interceptions.

This year, however, he has made only 19 tackles and nine assists with four interceptions as teams have chosen to steer clear of his right corner spot and work on the Aztec left side. Jackson is getting much the same treatment that Willie Buchanon received in 1971 while with the Aztecs.

Buchanon played corner for the Aztecs and was so outstanding that teams refused to throw into his area. Buchanon, however, went on to All-America honors, was drafted on the first round by the Green Bay Packers and was later the National Football League's Rookie of the Year.

"Monte could very well be our best defender since Buchanon," said Aztec defensive backfield coach Ernie Zampese, who has six of his former players on professional rosters. "Monte is a super cover man, has great speed and isn't afraid to hit. He is having a fine season and I know the pro clubs are interested in him. Corners like Monte just don't come along every day."

Zampese's list of former pupils in the pros includes Buchanon, Tom Hayes of the Atlanta Falcons, Nate Wright of the Minnesota Vikings, Joe Lavender of the Philadelphia Eagles, Billie Hayes of the Florida Blazers and Clancy Oliver of the Portland Storm.

Jackson's seven career interceptions ranks him just off the Aztec top 10 and his career return yardage of 175 yards is second to Eldridge Cook's 177. Fifty of Monte's return yardage came two games ago against Long Beach State when the 49ers were driving with three minutes to play when Monte picked off a 49er pass at the goal line and returned it to midfield to save the game for the Aztecs.

"That was just a super play," said Zampese. "Monte had the man covered and just stepped in to take the ball and save the game for us. It was a big, big play."

Monte hopes to go on to to play professional football like Zampese's other defenders and he possesses the speed to do it at 4.5 in the 40. This week Jackson may not get to use his speed as much as the Aztecs will try to defend against the run crazy Tigers of Pacific. The Tigers have thrown just 100 passes in nine games while rushing 526 times.

But running attacks don't scare Jackson. His top game as a collegiate player came last year against run oriented Houston when he made 11 unassisted tackles, six assists and recovered a fumble.

And should the Tigers decide to pass they will be throwing into the teeth of a pass defense that has allowed its opponents to complete just 70 of 201 passes for a completion percentage of .348. This year's team is having a better season than the 1973 club that allowed 11 opponents just 136 completions in 332 attempts for a percentage of .408.

The basic reason could be a year of experience for San Diego State's Phantom—Monte Jackson.

ON THE DEFLECTION—Aztec cornerback Monte Jackson (22) saves a long gain against Long Beach State three weeks ago by deflecting a pass late in the game.

ON THE RETURN—Aztec cornerback Monte Jackson (22) follows the lead blocking of teammate Rance Olison after intercepting a pass against Tampa in the second game of the season.

Aztecs Rate 10th on "Winningest" List

The company at the top is pretty good—Michigan, Penn State, Texas, Arizona State, Notre Dame, Ohio State, Nebraska, Dartmouth, Tennessee and LSU.

Those are the teams that rate above San Diego State on the latest NCAA rankings of winningest teams over the past five years. Michigan is the winningest team over that period with a 48-4-1 record with Penn State right behind at 48-5. Texas also has lost only five games over the past five years, but the Longhorns have won three less games than Penn State and four less than Michigan.

The Aztecs rate in a tie for 10th on the list with a five year record of 44-9-1 and a percentage of .824. That record rates San Diego State in a tie with LSU. The Aztecs' record also includes the 1971 season when San Diego State was 6-5.

Some of the teams below the Aztecs are interesting. Alabama is 12th with Oklahoma 13th and USC 14th. USC is the only team from the PAC-8 on the list of winningest teams.

The only team in the top 10 without at least 40 wins is Dartmouth, but Dartmouth is in the Ivy League which traditionally has played nine and 10 game schedules as opposed to 11 game slates by all the other teams.

If the winningest team list is projected over the past 10 years (San Diego State is not included because it hasn't been major for 10 years) Alabama is the top team with an 88-14-2 mark with Notre Dame second, Nebraska, Texas and Ohio State following.

Following are the NCAA's winningest teams:

Aztecs Near The Top in National Defense

San Diego State University has long been known as a team with high powered offensive teams.

The offense has long overshadowed the Aztec defense, but in the latest statistics released by the NCAA the Aztecs rate 15th in Total Defense, 15th in Scoring Defense and 19th in Rushing Defense. The statistics cover the past five years.

Claude Gilbert and Ernie Zampese molded the Aztec defense in its formative years and in 1969 Zampese's defensive backs led the nation with 36 interceptions and in 1970 San Diego State allowed its opponents an average of just 96.5 yards passing per game. Last season San Diego State allowed its opponents just 129 points in 11 games and rated 11th in the nation in Scoring Defense at 11.7. Aztec opponents scored just 16 touchdowns last season against San Diego State.

In 1970 the Aztec defense was 4th best in the country and in 1971 finished just out of the top 10 in several categories.

The names of the top San Diego State offensive players are well known, but people tend to forget some of the great defensive players from the past five years. Players such as Joe Lavender (Philadelphia Eagles), Bill Ferguson (New York Jets), Jim Peterson (Los Angeles Rams), Martin Imhof (Washington Redskins), Willie Buchanon (Green Bay Packers), Tom Hayes (Atlanta Falcons), and Billie Hayes (Florida Blazers). Buchanon was a first round draft pick of the Packers in 1972 and was selected as the NFL's Rookie of the Year that season.

Following are the NCAA defensive statistics over the past five years.

University of Pacific—California's Pioneer Institution

The University of the Pacific, as California's pioneer institution of higher learning, has been in the forefront of academic innovation since its beginning in 1851.

As a relatively small, privately-funded institution, Pacific has developed an academic program geared to the constantly changing needs of a 5,000-member student body.

The College of the Pacific is the main liberal arts college of UOP which includes three "cluster" colleges—Raymond College, which features a three-year degree program and no "required" classes; Elbert Covell College, for Spanish-speaking students interested in inter-American studies, and Callison College, featuring Asian studies and overseas programs of Japan and India.

Well-Rounded Institution

The McGeorge School of Law in Sacramento; the School of Dentistry and Graduate School of Medicine in San Francisco and the Stockton-based Conservatory of Music, Graduate School and schools of pharmacy, engineering and education make Pacific a well-rounded institution.

In all branches of the University there are opportunities for inter-disciplinary study, independent work and individual research.

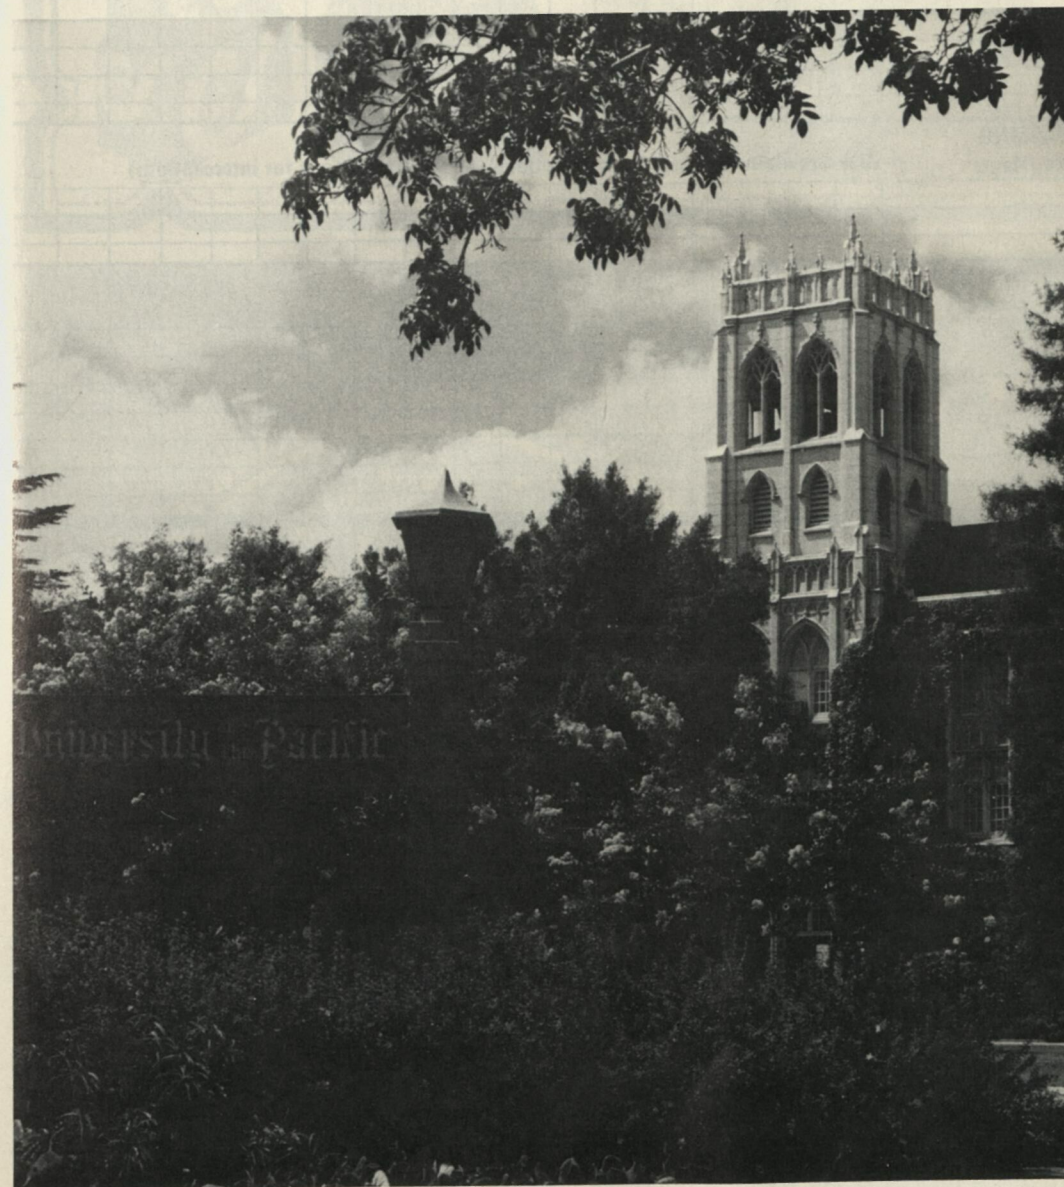

Students on the campus are represented on nearly all the policy-making committees. The faculty members, although engaged in some research, are primarily teachers.

Student Involvement

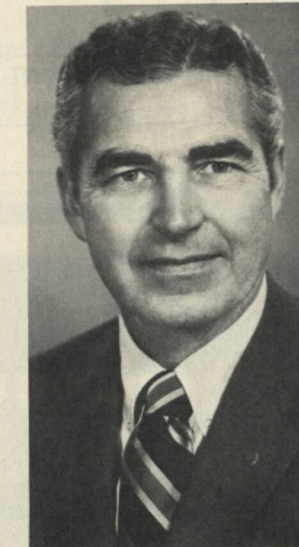

In the area of community involvement, there are many programs that reach both the cluster and professional schools. Students work in migrant worker camps, detention facilities, mental hospitals and public schools. Many of these projects carry course credit.

New facilities on the Pacific campus include the $3 million University Center; the $1 million Covell Student Health Center and $4.4 million School of Pharmacy. The $120,000 Donald B. Wood Bridge spans the Calaveras River to link the other two developments with the main campus.

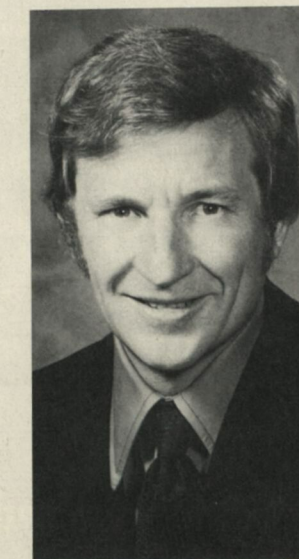

UOP is located in Stockton (pop. 117,000), 70 miles east of San Francisco and the Bay Area and 45 miles south of Sacramento.

DO-IT-YOURSELF STATISTICS

Every football fan knows that the score doesn't always give a good picture of a game. A few statistics, like those that can be kept on this page, can make the picture clearer, show what the individual stars contribute and help to win post-game "debates." Besides, it can be fun to second guess the official scorers whose statistics will appear in tomorrow's papers. But before you start, here are some pointers on being a statistician:

1. Keep cumulative totals to be informed "up to the minute" and to help your figuring of team totals. Example: Jones gains 3, 6, 9, 2 yards and you write 3, 9, 18, 20 on his line.

2. Be satisfied if you come within 10-15 yards of the official team totals. Individual judgments as to the line of scrimmage can make a big difference in the totals.

3. Remember that it takes 10 yards to make a first down—that last inch can be as important as a yard and must be scored as one. Wait until the official places the ball and then go by the official down/yard marker on the sidelines.

4. Be sure to credit first downs on scoring plays originating from lines of scrimmage beyond the 10-yard line.

5. On plays involving penalties measured from the point of the foul, credit the rusher or pass receiver with yardage only to the point of the infraction.

6. Charge gains and losses on fumbles to the player who, in your judgment, contributed most to the error.

7. Don't score two-point conversion attempts after touchdowns as rushing or passing plays.

The Defenders

The San Diego State defense will get one of its stiffest tests of the season tonight in trying to stop the Pacific running attack.

In nine games the Tigers have rushed 526 times for 2332 yards for an average of 259.1 yards per game.

Willard Harrell is the leader of that offense with 1082 yards rushing this season on 190 carries. In his career Harrell has rushed for 3098 yards and has broken all the rushing records at Pacific set by Dick Bass.

CHESTER CADDAS

No Magic Formulas

In the short span of two years, Chester Caddas has completely transformed UOP's football fortunes.

Inheriting a run-down program in 1972, he quickly notched an 8-3 record to earn Northern California Coach-of-the-Year honors. Then, last season, he guided UOP to a 7-2-1 record which, when combined with 1972's mark, constitutes the best back-to-back won-lost records at UOP since the 1949-50 teams parlayed 11-0 and 7-3-1 efforts.

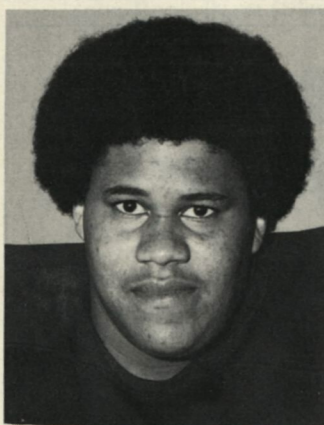

In all, the 39-year-old graduate of Murray State (Ky.) has registered a 15-5-1 record for a winning percentage of .750 that has been surpassed by only one other coach in school history (Larry Siemerling, 35-5-3, .875).

Since Caddas' take-over of the head-coaching reins, UOP has ranked in the nation's Top 15 in rushing offense and rushing defense two years in a row. Tigers ranked fifth in rushing defense in 1972 and ended up ninth last year. Last year's squad also finished seventh in scoring defense. UOP was the nation's No. 12 team in rushing offense during 1972 and wound up ranked 13th in that category last year.

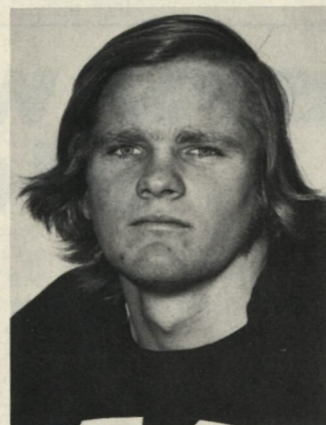

Caddas hasn't used any magic formulas to attain this kind of success.

He emphasizes fundamentals and simplicity when it comes to training and preparing his athletes. Huge helpings of hard work haven't hurt either.

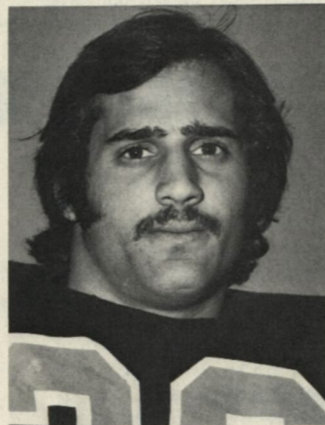

And, as he is the first to admit, his talented coaching staff has done more than its share in contributing to the Tiger's sudden football turnabout.

Twelve automobile dealers in San Diego County are helping the San Diego State athletic program through the loan of courtesy cars. Like other programs which are a part of the Aztec Club, this project enables San Diego State to make greater use of its funds. These sports-minded dealers around the county have earned a great debt of gratitude from the San Diego State Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. They are a most important part of the team, a team that includes players, coaches, administration, faculty, staff, students, alumni and the men behind the courtesy car program.

Aztecs Big Draw in San Diego Stadium

Seven years ago the San Diego State Aztecs made the decision of a lifetime—play all their home games in the new San Diego Stadium.

At the time it was a bit of a gamble. True, the Aztecs had been drawing near capacity crowds in Aztec Bowl (13,000) on campus and a modern facility was required to help upgrade the schedule and the overall program, but was the fan interest great enough to warrant the move to the (then) 50,000 seat stadium.

The gamble paid off. Everything went as hoped. The crowds came in droves and the facility did indeed help attract better competition.

Going into the eighth season at San Diego Stadium, the Aztecs have drawn a total of 1,660,931 fans in 49 games for an average of 33,876 per game. Not bad for what some of the more prestigious schools consider a "minor" program.

Attendance figures in the stadium have always been good. In the first season 240,042 clicked through the turnstiles to see six games for an average of 40,157. The "smallest" crowd that year was the 31,492 that came out for the Cal Poly (San Luis Obispo) game. The largest crowd was that of 47,125 to watch the Montana State contest.

From there things have taken off. In 1968 the Aztecs played a whopping nine games in the stadium and enticed a school record 326,727 fans. The following year (1969) the Aztecs hit an all-time high for average attendance with a figure of 41,139. Only one crowd that season was less than 30,000 (it rained that day) and three crowds were over 45,000 including the all-time record of 48,817 to see the North Texas State game.

Somewhat surprisingly, some of the larger crowds have shown up for "California" games rather than top intersectional clashes. The record crowd came against an intersectional foe, but three of the next four crowds have been attracted by teams from the West Coast. In each case it was a team from the Pacific Coast Athletic Association. In fact, of the Aztecs top 10 crowds only five have involved San Diego State and an intersectional opponent. It would seem that tradition plays a bigger role than the "mystery" appeal of an intersectional opponent.

THE PCAA TONIGHT

San Diego State and Pacific highlight the conference schedule as the two teams square off for the title tonight.

The Aztecs have won the PCAA crown four of five times, missing only in 1971 and winning the last two in a row. Pacific has never won the conference title. San Diego leads the series between the two teams 9-7 and has won the last eight in a row. Benny Ricardo had to win the game for the Aztecs last year with a field goal with 3:03 to play. The final score was 13-10.

Long Beach State and Fresno State meet in a battle of two teams that are playing well of late. Long Beach played tough against San Diego State two weeks ago before losing 27-17 and belted Southern Illinois last week 32-7.

Fresno could be the hottest team in the conference right now. The Bulldogs lost a narrow 24-21 decision to San Diego a month ago, but have won three straight since then. Fresno has beaten Pacific, Fullerton State and Northern State in the last three weeks. Last week's count against Fullerton was 41-0.

San Jose State, with a 5-3-1 record, plays a non-conference game with Hawaii in the Islands tonight.

Aztecs Prominent In NCAA Record Book

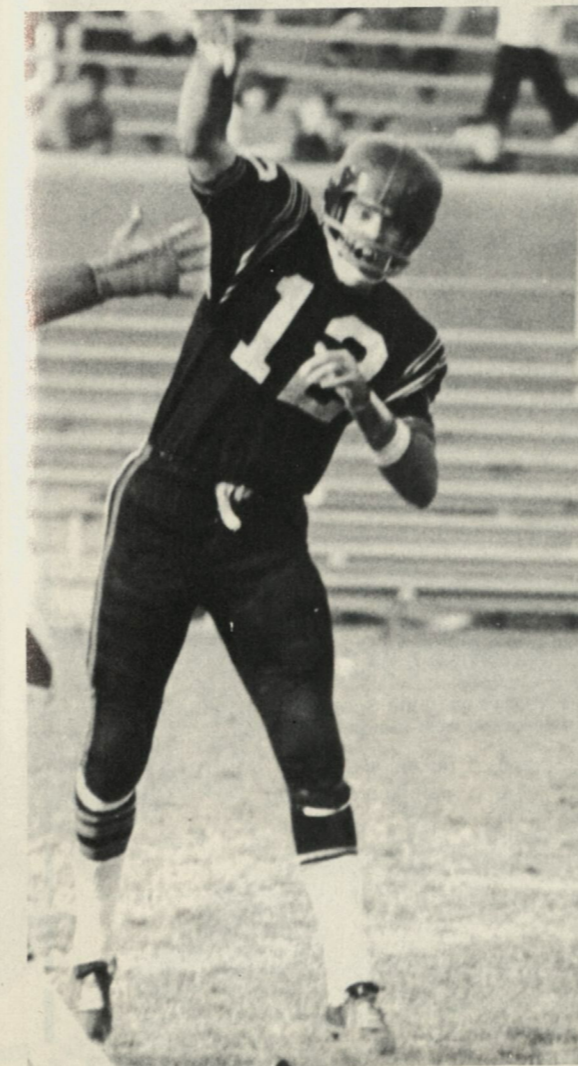

AZTECS IN THE RECORD BOOK Individuals

The name of San Diego State is no stranger to the NCAA Record Book. The Aztecs appear in the latest addition of the book published by the NCAA no less than 46 times.

Dennis Shaw, the Aztecs super passer, holds 10 NCAA records with most of them coming in the 1969 season. Several of the records were set in a 1969 game against New Mexico State when Shaw passes for nine touchdowns and hit tight end Tim Delaney with six of those.

Of course the name Tom Reynolds appears in the record book. Tom caught 18 TD passes in 1969 and missed all of two games and part of another with a knee injury.

Fans can obtain a copy of the record book by sending $2 to the National Collegiate Sports Services, 420 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017.

Willard Harrell Running More in '74

Willard Harrell, UOP's sensational senior running back, is thinking a lot more these days.

But, the Tigers' opponents are enjoying it a lot less.

Which is not to infer Harrell hasn't been thinking in the past. It's just that, with blazing speed (4.4 in the 40) and elusive moves at his command, the 5-10 182-pound tailback has not been allowing his talents to do most of the talking.

Now, with Dick Bass' school records in his pocket and All-America stardom and a possible pro career looming large in his future, Harrell has become a wiser, more mature runner.

"I'm doing things a little differently now," Harrell grins knowingly. "I'm thinking a lot more. I'm not just running crazy like I used to."

Well, Willard is still running a little crazy.

He has already passed Bass' career rushing record, having amassed close to 3,000 yards during his three-year UOP career. He went over the top three weeks ago when he probed Fresno State's defense for 183 yards and every yard he gains tonight will further strengthen his stranglehold on UOP's all-time rushing crown.

Harrell has passed the 100-yard mark in 14 of the collegiate games he's played in and will also finish his career with the most carries and touchdowns in school history. And, should Harrell pass the 1,000-yard mark again this year (he had 1,310 while leading the nation in all-purpose running in 1973), he'll become the first back in Tiger history to notch successive 1,000-yard years and only the 17th runner in NCAA history to gain more than 3,000 yards rushing in a career.

But, Harrell the Thinker isn't terribly concerned about all that.

"It's nice to be recognized and I guess it'll help me as far as pursuing a pro career goes," Willard says.

Setting the records is fine. But, the biggest thing is to stay healthy and have a good season."

That's where the thinking comes in again.

"I'm running with more control now and I'm more relaxed," says Harrell, who has been bothered by nagging foot and leg injuries during most of his UOP career and missed two of the team's games with an ankle sprain this year. "I'm doing things differently now. Like, I try to wait until I get right up on a defensive man before I make my move. That way, he doesn't really tackle me, he grabs at me. He's got to respect my speed too, he can't come right out and get a good stick on me."

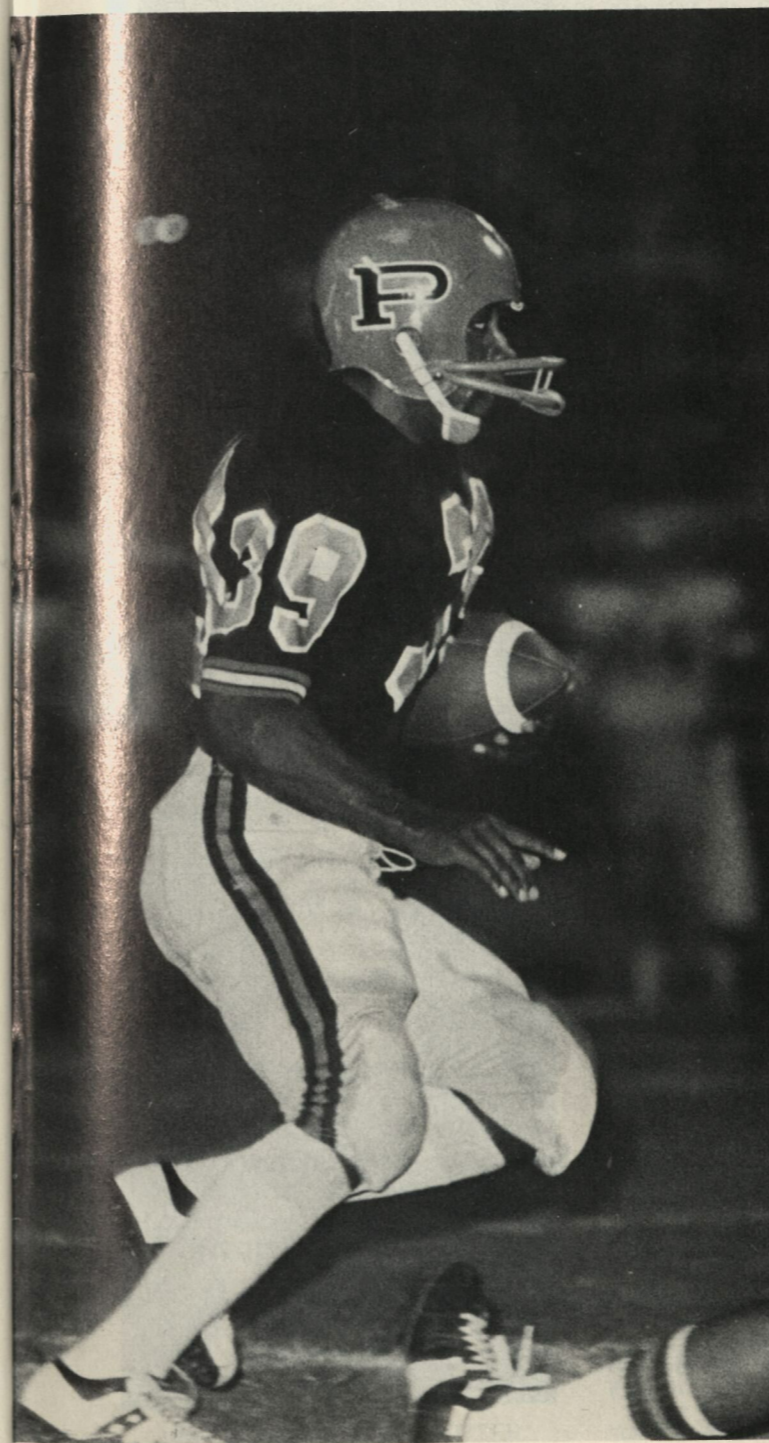

Harrell's thinking has also paid off in other ways. "I play with a lot more confidence now," he says. "I'm relaxed and I don't run the first three plays of a game hard and then be dead tired. I feel like I'm being more consistent now and my goal is to have a good game every week."

Harrell, who admits that his computer-taxing running statistics don't interest him that much, does want to gain "at least 100 yards a game this year. That's a lot of yards," Harrell sighs. "People are always expecting me to gain 160 . . . 180 . . . 200 yards every game. That's hard. Getting 100 yards is fine with me."

So is chasing a legend (Dick Bass), even though Harrell didn't realize until recently the legend was there to pursue. "I lived in Stockton all my life," Harrell grins. "And, I didn't even know Pacific was here. I had heard of Bass, but I didn't know he'd gone to school here. I didn't see my first UOP game until the ninth grade (1970)."

He decided to attend UOP despite the determined recruiting efforts of a host of other schools because "I wanted to play and I knew I'd get the chance here." He hasn't regretted the decision. "We got great coaches here and we're starting to get better players and more of the good players from around here. I think we're going to have a great season."

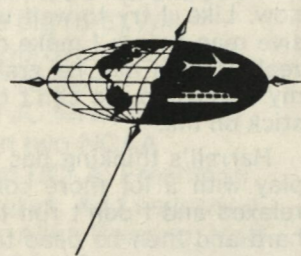

Harrell has played a giant's role in any UOP drive to a conference title.

ALLEN BUNTING — FORWARD

"On the Rebound"

Tim Vezie moves into the role as head basketball coach of the Aztecs as San Diego State faces one of its toughest schedules ever.

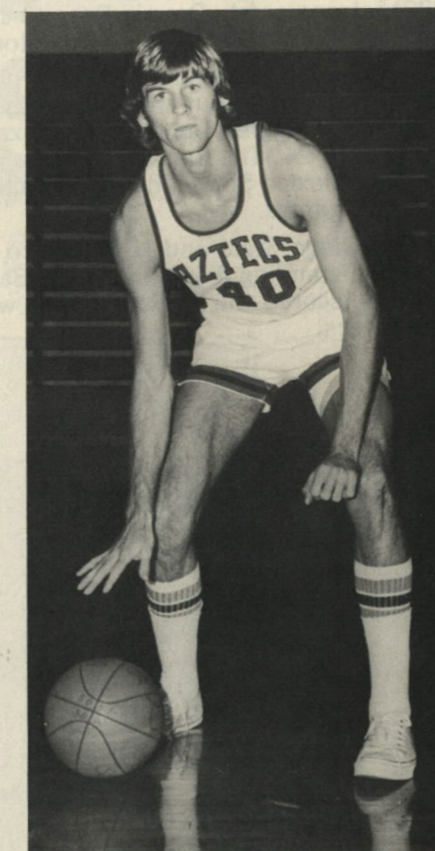

Some of the home opponents include Washington State of the PAC-8, Arizona of the Western Athletic Conference, NIT Champion Purdue from the Big 10, Oklahoma from the Big B, NCAA runner-up Marquette and of course all the teams in Pacific Coast Athletic Association.

The Aztecs also play Rice, Arizona State and Colorado on the road as well as playing in the Oral Roberts Classic. San Diego State will meet Bowling Green in the first round of that tournament with Harvard and Oral Roberts in the other bracket.

Vezie will try to take the team upward from a 7-19 last year. Leading the team this year are top lettermen Steve Copp, Allen Bunting, Gary Earle, Mark Delsman, Willie Stanley, Ray Leary, Joel Kramer and Craig Knudsen. Copp was last year's leading scorer with a 13.1 average and 6.3 rebounds. Bunting averaged 9.8 points, Earle 7.5, Delsman 5.2 and Stanley 4.8.

Top newcomers are redshirt from UCLA Vince Carson, All-New York City players Bob Green and Will Connelly, freshmen Raul Contreras and Jeff Welshans and All-State JC player from Chaffey Bob Kovach.

Truly this year the Aztecs should be "On the Rebound."

NEW MEXICO STATE UNIVERSITY

November 16, 1974

San Diego State will be facing its second 1,000 yard rusher in a row next week when New Mexico State comes to town with top runner Jim Germany.

Germany, like Pacific's Willard Harrell, is one of the top runners in the country. He has topped the 1,000 yard mark on less than 200 carries. He carries the Aggie ground attack as the next best runner is fullback John Portasik with 300 yards.

New Mexico State, like Pacific, will stick to the ground behind its best back rather than put the ball in the air. Quarterback Bill Bowerman has passed just over 100 times this year and as a team the Aggies have thrown less than 150 times.

The ground attack has rolled up over 2500 yards, however and the passing game has netted 1000.

JIM BRADLEY—New Mexico State coach

Defensively linebacker Jim Pratt (6-1, 215) is the top tackler followed closely by nose guard Roger LaRoche (6-2, 240), end Terry Shively (6-2, 220), strong safety Donnie Ross (5-11, 180) tackle Gene Thompson (6-4, 235), and linebacker Tony Middleton (6-2, 215).

New Mexico State had lost three games in a row coming into this week's game with Tulsa, but the three losses were by combined scores of eight points. The Aggies lost to North Texas State 24-19, Drake 29-28 and New Mexico 26-24. The San Diego State game is the final game of the season for New Mexico State. The Aggies will end the season by playing three consecutive games.

San Diego State and New Mexico State have met six times in the past with the standing 4-1-1 in favor of San Diego State. In that time the Aztecs have outscored the Aggies 169-72 with last year's score 27-0 in favor of the Aztecs.
