Friendship is the hardest thing in the world to explain. It's not something you learn in school.

But if you haven't learned the meaning of friendship, you really haven't learned anything. --Muhammed Ali

Kindergarten Wisdom

"Wisdom was not at the top of the graduate school mountain, but there in the pile at Sunday school:
 Share everything.
 Play fair.
 Don't hit people.
 Put things back where you found them.
 Clean up your own mess.
 Don't take things that aren't yours.
 Say you're sorry when you hurt somebody.
 Wash your hands before you eat.
 Flush.
 Warm cookies and cold milk are good for you.
 Live a balanced life - learn some, & think some, & draw & paint & sing & dance & play & work every day some.
 Take a nap every afternoon.
 When you go out into the world, watch out for traffic, hold hands and stick together.
 Be aware of wonder.
 Remember the little seed in the styrofoam cup: the roots go down and the plant goes up and nobody really knows how or why but we are all like that.
 Goldfish and hamsters and white mice and even the little seed in the styrofoam cup they all die. And so do we.
 And remember the Dick and Jane books and first work you learned—the biggest word of all LOOK.
 Everything you need to know is in there somewhere.
 The golden rule and love and the basic sanitation, ecology and politics and quality and sane living.
 Take any one of those items and extrapolate it into sophisticated adult terms and apply it to your family life or your work or your government or your world and it holds true and clear and firm. Think what a better world it would be if we all—the whole world had cookies and milk about three o'clock every afternoon and then laid down with our blankies for a nap. Or if all governments had as a basic policy to always put things back where they found them and to clean up their own mess. And it is still true, no matter how old you are—when you go out into the world, it is best to hold hands and stick together."
 —Robert Fulgham

Bits & Pieces

People. People important to you, people unimportant to you, cross your life, touch it with love and carelessness and move on. There are people who leave you and you breathe a sigh of relief and wonder why you ever came in contact with them.

There are people who leave you and you breathe a sigh of remorse and wonder why they had to go away and leave such a gaping hole. Acquaintances move on. People change homes. People grow apart. Enemies hate and move on. Friends love and move on. You think of the many who have moved, in your hazy memory. You look on the present and wonder. I believe in God's master plan in lives. He moves people in and out of each other's lives and each leaves his mark on the other. You find you are made up of bits and pieces of all who have ever touched your life, and you are more because of it, and you would be less if they had not touched you. Pray God you accept the bits and pieces in humility and wonder, and never question, and never regret.

Us College People

People who go to college are incredible. We live away from home. We go to class. We read and absorb and are comprehensively tested on heavy amounts of various materials. We sleep very little. Someone's always sick. Someone's always wishing they were somewhere else. Someone's always complaining. We become attached to close friends. We smother each other. We lean too much. We think too much. We talk way too much. We think often of the past and want to be back there. We know we can't go. We all have our own separate lives and families, backgrounds and pasts. We live totally different lives from how we used to. We are frustrated, and although we sometimes want to give up, we never stop trying. We disregard health. We eat awful food. We are forced to think about the future. We are scared and confused. We reach out for things but don't find them. We try to sort our minds, which are filled with studies, worries, problems, memories, emotions—powerful feelings. We wander the halls looking for happiness. We wonder where we fit in. We fall and get back up. We hurt—a lot. We keep on going, though, because above all else, we never stop learning, growing, changing, and, most importantly, dreaming. Dreams keep us going. And they always will. All we can do about that is thank God that we have something to hold on to. -Lynn Fulginiti

Cheers to 4 years of disco, friends and fun

What a long strange trip it's been....

Jennifer E. Edwards
Commentary Editor
Emeritus

The Mirror has taught me my greatest lesson of my four years of college. The great revelation didn't come in a philosophy, religion, or other core class (Although I learned a great many useful and not so many useful things that will make me a prime candidate for Jeopardy one day).

It came after a year of pouring heart and soul into a publication that got little recognition, very little praise and a lot of bashing. I learned that you do something because you love doing it, not for the praise or the criticism. It's the passion that keeps me going and working hard.

After spending weeks working on a two part series on a sensitive topic, I received no feedback, but after writing a humorous column, poking fun at the oddities and arrogance of the Empire State residents, I received numerous letters and crank calls. I brushed the annoyances aside because they didn't matter. The pieces stand for themselves and I wouldn't change one word of them. Fr. Regan's talk, with some help from Kierkegaard and Nietzsche, about authenticity rings true. My columns didn't win me the Loyola Award, but I hope that the valid points I raised will be addressed and changed. After all, someone needs to keep FUSA in line. Lou was in charge of Residence Life.

My four years at Fairfield have been shaped by people and events and I love each and every one of you that has changed my life in some small way. I look forward to graduating and moving on, but I will carry the memories with me.

Kevin Sutton for making the last two years at Fairfield the best ones and being the only one who knows that it's a boa constrictor eating an elephant. I look forward to more slurpee runs, Timothy's ice cream (Although it will be some other brand outside of Connecticut), dancing in the aisles, elephant hunts and Elvis movies in the future.

Frank Szivos for not letting me back down from controversy and forcing me to question the powers that don't want to be questioned. Also, to knowing what journalism is all about. Here's to pretzels and yadda yadda yadda - the stuff dreams are made of.

Bart Haggerty, even though you don't go here you're the only one that I have truly converted to disco, burn baby burn, and I look forward to opening the Disco Hall of Fame in the near future. Besides, you're the only New Yorker who thought my article was funny. To everyone else who keeps the disco dream alive with me including my friends (I'll probably forget some names, but you're in spirit with me) Lorraine, Debbie, Bridget, Kevin, Mario, Chris, Jeff, Bill, Melinda, Maribeth, Henry, Steve, and Maureen. It's been a great four years of freaks and late night talking. Here's to more.

Mirror Staff (Chris, Lyn, Jen, Lou, Caitlin, Brian, Laura, and Kevin) for working on the greatest campus newspaper. I admit I hated it at times, but it will be one of the few things that I will truly miss. Lou, even though your articles were always late, I wouldn't have traded you for any assistant. Good luck to Kurt and Vanessa next year. I hope you enjoy the section as much as I have. Jen, I'll miss lunches with you on Wednesdays at work.

WVOF, the one activity on campus that gets even less recognition than the Mirror, for providing a great forum of public affairs, radio, and allowing me to play an eclectic sample of music on my show. Here's a sampling: "These are the days to remember never before and never since...There was funky Chinamen from funky Chinatown. They were chopping them up, they were chopping them down...I'm just a hunk, a hunk of burning love...I am strong, I am invincible, I am woman, hear me roar."

Fr. Paul Holland, S.J. and all the other Jesuits and Campus Ministry, thanks for helping me find my spiritual side and making it an integral part of my self.

I wish the underclassmen and the Class of '94 the best of luck in all future endeavors. I'm off for some more new and exciting adventures.

Disco Awards '94 by Jennie Edwards

The Stayin' Alive award goes to WPLJ for keeping the 70s alive with disco weekends.

My greatest Fairfield moment was watching the Village People at Alumni Hall last year.

The "I Look Good in Disco Clothes" award goes to Mario Perciballi for accessorizing his Salvation Army clothes with a great hat (see picture at left).

The "I Will Survive" award goes to the 70s Preservation Society for keeping me supplied with great music.

The "Kung Fu Fighting" award goes to Carl Douglas for having the greatest song ever written.

"The time has come," the walrus said,
"To speak of many things...
Of tests and grades and teachers' aids
And school time studyings!"

"Of English, music, art, and math
And of the teachers' rath...
Of all the subjects hard or easy
Of final exams when we all felt queasy!"

"And how this time has come about,
This time when we are finally out.
Of our joys, our woes, our friends, our foes,
And we have all had plenty of those!"

"So the time has come," the walrus said
"As off to the future we do tread
To close from our hearts that little fear
We feel on leaving these things so dear."

So with joy abounding, we pause to say,
"We've graduated-HOORAY!HOORAY!"

Fairfield needs a kick in the ass!

And Lou and Jeff always had the boot.

Lou and Jeff arrived in the fall of 1990 as wide-eyed, pimple-faced freshmen who knew as much about college as the "Revenge of the Nerds" movies would allow. They began their life of crime at Fairfield by skipping all the Freshman orientation activities and using their Freshman journals as doorstops. Lou and Jeff were mere larvae ready to emerge from their cocoons of high school innocence and reek havoc on the old Jesuit ideal.

Young Jeff's chief accomplishment as IRHG floor governor was the organizing of the "Dolan 2 Ugly Court." This was a non-profit organization that tried and convicted Dolan 2 residents who had hook-ups they later regretted. Jeff has since mended his ways and is a couple of weeks away from finishing his Women's Studies minor.

Meanwhile, Lou was busy writing articles about the Bush administration and world affairs that nobody read except for his parents. After taking in some of Lou's more recent material, his father was quoted as saying: "How come you don't write about the economy anymore? I paid all that money so you could waste your time writing this crap!"

It became clear that Lou and Jeff needed stronger outlets for expressing their opinions and views. They got their chance sophomore year with the birth of the "Naturally Brewed Radio" show on WVOF (Fairfield's voice of obscurity). They muddled through lousy time slots and scarce listenership. But by Senior year, Lou and Jeff officially earned the reputation of trouble makers when they got a slap on the wrist for calling the Director of Residence Life, Henry Humphreys, a "fathead" over the air.

Everything sort of came together in their Senior year. Lou and Jeff caused problems on a weekly basis both on the radio and in print. In the proud commentary tradition of Mark Sarro, they were a constant thorn in the side of Fairfield's elite.

What you are about to read could determine their seating at graduation (or whether they will be graduating at all). Hold on to your final schedules because things could get ugly as Lou and Jeff take one last swipe at their favorite targets.

Ready, Aim...

*Over the past four years, Residence Life, or as we like to call it, Residence "Strife," has managed to annoy and irritate the most patient souls. From Pat Rombalski's tenure as the Townhouse Czar to Maria and Eileen "the write up machines," the stiffs under the Dolan arch have managed to virtually kill any semblance of campus social life.

*Although it seems as though FUSA throws events that are about as exciting as a Saturday night at Giovanna's, they are not completely to blame. The administration has always held the group down and turned it into a committee of sign makers and dance decorators. Real leadership was never encouraged by image-paranoid administrators who prematurely killed too many new ideas.

*The cast of characters that make up the Campus Center staff have particularly ruffled Jeff's feathers. Countless signs from "In Transition" and other bands were mercilessly torn from walls and doors even though they did not make any references to alcohol. They must have been afraid that events at local bars would hurt attendance at star-studded Quick Center shows such as, the wonderful sounds of Blinkie Schmuggie and his Washboard Quartet.

*On behalf of all those graduating, we'd like to give the people who decided Senior Week ticket prices a good kick in the pants. When Seniors go to Pub Night, they will still have to pay $1.50 for each beer on top of the $16 ticket charge. The other events also cost a fortune and are "bring your own everything." So, along with our quarter keg of Guinness we're bringing two chain saws jugglers and a fire eater for entertainment.

*It's a shame we're graduating without getting the chance to express our views over the airwaves of the new campus cable network. The publicity office pretty much decides who will be on TV and to our utter surprise, we haven't been asked to contribute. The invitation must have gotten lost in the mail. Just remember, you're forced to pay $40 to $70 per semester for a cable system with poor equipment and a lousy choice of channels. The least the administration can do is let the students get involved in programming as much as possible with a minimum of regulations.

*We have one apology to make. In the past, we've consistently maimed the Seiler's/Sodexo dining experience. Whether it was cheddar cheese goldfish placed on top of butterscotch pudding or shepherd's pie that had a little of the shepherd in every bite, food services was a constant source of material for our articles and shows.

Despite all the indigestion, we can't help but tip our hats to some of the motherly people who fed us throughout the years; namely Gilda, Ann, Bunny et al... Finally, we'd like to give special mention to Jim, the hardest worker we've ever seen at Fairfield.

*There's a little more unfinished business we have to take care of. Over the course of the year, we've had a few people constantly ask us to give them some mention in the paper. Here's an official Lou and Jeff salute to Mike "Sally" Kuras, the guys of TH 155 - Jay, Shep, Dave, Paul, Tommy, and Mike, the girls of TH 151 (the best girls in the 15 block), Tino "He Always F—ks Up!" DosSantos, and Lawanda.

Let us leave you with these words of wisdom that have become our motto. We care. We are about you - the Fairfield student who works hard and plays even harder. That's why we tried to make student life a little more interesting and amusing through our commentary. When we saw something unfair or downright stupid happening on campus we never let it slide. Our goal was to promote change where change was needed.

Of course there have been victims, there's always victims. For those who have found our satire a little too biting we have three words for you - SUCK IT UP!

For those of you with a sense of humor, we hope that we shed some light on campus dilemmas and fiascos with a style that you will always remember. We had a great four years.

Unfortunately, we've got to go now, Fr. Kelley just called and he's dying to have us join him for some free happy hour wings at Archie Moore's. We just hope he doesn't do that trick where he puts the celery sticks up his nose again. That joke is so played out!

Here's to the Class of '94 and their four years of memories at Fairfield.

"Oh, The Places You'll Go." What a great book by Dr. Seuss. It was one of my favorites, and is certainly an applicable story to describe a student's experience at Fairfield University.

When I came here four years ago, I wasn't sure of the places that I would go, or what I would do with my college years. To be quite honest, I was very nervous about leaving that "comfort zone" of the familiar surroundings of Belmont, MA.

Obviously, that feeling changed through my years in Stag country. I learned quickly that people who didn't pronounce their "r's" were made fun of quite frequently in these parts. It was nice to have Dan Gilligan, a fellow Bostonian, on my floor freshman year. At least he knew that when I said "pahty," I didn't mean the thing in the bathroom.

It was tough to find Red Sox fans, though. It still is, although I think that I have inspired a few converts over the years. When you live and die for the Olde Towne Team, and you are surrounded by people who worship both pinstripes and Mookie Wilson, it can be difficult, but fun: Definitely not boring, that's for sure.

But there is so much more to my Fairfield experience than mere trivial argumentation concerning the superiority of Roger Clemens over Jimmy Key or any other Yankee pitcher. This school has given me the unique opportunity to put my opinions in print. And, over the past year, I have formulated quite a few. I figure that it might be more interesting to hear some of them than to read the untold stories of my life here on North Benson Rd. So here goes...drum roll, please.

- First, with regards to the current status of the Fairfield basketball program. The women's team has no problem. Dianne Nolan has a firm grasp on what is going on, and will no doubt continue her winning ways. The men's team, however, is another story. Paul Cormier is a nice guy, and a fellow Massachusetts native, so I can't knock him as a person. As a coach, however, I question his ability to be a winner at this level. I get the feeling that when Mitch Buonaguro (remember him?) resigned (fired) three years ago, the school wanted to bring in an unemotional, clean-cut coach who would not be controversial. Cormier fit the bill.

He held up the unemotional end of the bargain. Yet, his program has been filled with controversy. Players with academic problems. Chris Barry being dismissed from the squad for "violation of team policy." The Peter Guarasci saga. Now, the Derrick Dunlap story. Sounds like the days of Tarkanian at UNLV.

The point is that Uncle Paul may outwork other coaches with regards to preparation for practice, games, and planning strategy. But he is not a players coach. I don't care if you have watched tapes for hours. If your players don't like you, you're not going to win. As I was once told, basketball is a simple game: Score, and stop the other team from scoring.

The kicker of all this is that Fairfield has some great players. Yet, I think Cormier plays favorites, and puts people in the doghouse too easily. I'll tell you this, and not to knock Dunlap, Meishay Gattis, or Greg Francis, but I want Johnnie Jones on the floor before the latter three. I also want the team's best shooter, Craig Martin, out there as well. Too many times during crunch-time this year, they were on the bench. Why?

Changes must be made. I don't think that it is too much to ask to have a competitive team. Fairfield will not be competitive until it has a coach that can get his players motivated.

Cormier will be here next year, that is for certain. Unless the team turns it around next winter, however, Cormier must be let go. An 8-20 record three out of four years is less than impressive, and is grounds for dismissal in my book.

- I would kill to come back to Alumni Weekend in a few years and be able to tailgate at a football game. It probably won't happen, but football brings a lot to a school, not to mention that it gives people something to look forward to on a Saturday afternoon other than watching the F.U.N. channel.

- In my four years here, Doremus Bennerman was the best player to come through Alumni Hall. Not Keith Bullock, that's for sure. He was the most overrated player to ever play in the MAAC.

- Jim Fitzpatrick should have gotten the job at Fenway Park to replace Sherm Feller as P.A. announcer. I could hear him now... "Ladies and gentlemen, there is a cappuccino machine located in the southwest corner of the ballpark."

- I really like rugby. Really.

- Yankee Stadium is nicer than Shea Stadium. Oh my God, he said something positive about New York.

These are a few of my final thoughts as I exit this place we call Fairfield University. I can say that as a person, I have come a long way since that memorable first year here. The friendships I have made are so numerous that I can't say hi to everyone, but let it be known that you are all very important to me. I also would like to thank everyone here for giving me the opportunity to get involved with so much on campus, and touch the lives of so many people. It truly has been a great experience.

One other thing. Dr. Seuss was right about looking into the future. But just as important as looking ahead is enjoying the present, and glancing back at the past with a smile as well.

"Oh, the Places You'll Go." After four years, I know the places that I have gone here are ones that I will never forget, and will always treasure. Stay well, and go Red Sox!

Pre-graduation contemplation from the Senior Mirror sports writers

Although my Mirror career spanned all of about four articles, I'd like to thank my good friend "The Doctor" Brian Keegan for all of the opportunities. It's nice to open up the back pages and find your article in one of those snappy shaded boxes.

Covering the Lady Stags basketball team for the Mirror and WVOF has been one of my favorite memories on this campus. I will be forever grateful for the chance to have covered them from the hallowed hardwood of Alumni Hall to the outer recesses of the Knick in Albany. To Dianne Nolan and the rest of the Lady Stags, thanks for the post-game interviews, the long, strange bus rides, the last second victories, and this past season for almost pulling out the big one. I wish you continued success in 1995 and beyond.

I also want to thank my radio partner, Ken Nippes, for making everything easier. I'll miss diving across the highway at 9:00 AM to get to Burger King. Thanks buddy.

And to all I've forgotten, or don't have the space to mention, thanks also. It's been an experience I'll never forget.

To all my fellow Stags and Lady Stags:

Very often we at WVOF and the Mirror are critical of the athletic department. However, in my final entry into Fairfield lore, I would like to commend Fairfield's commitment to women's athletics. In a word, it is tremendous. After touring the MAAC with the women's basketball team for the past few years, I have come to realize how well this university treats its women athletes. The women's soccer, tennis, and basketball teams have been amazingly successful with our limited available resources. In this, the athletic department is second to none, and deserves to be commended.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Lady Stags basketball team. In three years you have become more than just players that I follow for 28 games — you have become my friends. It has been my honor and privilege to be the "Voice of the Lady Stags." Thank you for letting me fulfill my dream.

I would also like to thank my partner Kevin Sutton, whose tireless work often goes unrecognized, and my loving and humble editor Brian Keegan, for never cutting one of my articles.

Special thanks to the Hitmen for giving me my first and only Intramural championship! To my friends at the Toolbox, Sandbar, Lighthouse, the entire Residence Life staff, and my two best friends — thanks for making these the best years of my life!

Robert Shannon

Dear Fairfield:

It was once spoken that "parting is such sweet sorrow," and it is. Four years at Fairfield are nearing their completion, and I would like to thank each and every one of you for making this such an enjoyable time.

I have lived and died with the Fairfield Stags over the last couple of years, and truly "died a thousand deaths," but have taken great pride in Fairfield Athletics. I plan to provide as much support as I possibly can post-graduation. I ask you all to do the same.

In parting, I would like to thank WVOF 88.5 FM, the Fairfield University Athletic Department, Coach Paul Cormier and the Stags, and most importantly Brian "Doc" Keegan for an exciting three years of Stag basketball broadcasting. It was an experience that I will never forget and will provide the basis for many humorous stories in the future, no doubt.

Good luck to all those who remain behind!

"Yes, and the Foul!"

Mark Georgescu

Covering sports for the Mirror was one of the most personally rewarding activities I took part in during my four years at Fairfield. I was glad that my friend, Brian Keegan, along with others, gave me the final push that I needed to join the staff. It is easy to say that "I'll do this tomorrow," but there comes a time when people have to do what interests them, and to take chances. Fairfield has had its very high and very low points, but I would prefer to remember the good times and learn from the bad ones. That is my advice to the underclassmen. I wish success upon all of my friends, and just want to let you know how terrific it was going through four years with you!

From Loyola 3 to "Myrtle, Tommy!" - It's been quite a four year trip, guys!

How could Residence Life expect a Red Sox and a Mets fan to live together civilly for four years? They must have known something - Thanks for everything, Rob!

Boys, Boys. Holes in ceilings are expensive to fix, especially in TH 151!

Intramural Update

Who is Don Schmidt, anyway?

Don Schmidt
Staff Writer

Before we get started with the end of the year Intramural awards, I would like to take the time to thank the people who make Intramurals possible at Fairfield University: Debbie Belkin (now a Michigan Wolverine) and Jim Giachino, Intramural Directors; and our Intramural Supervisors: Sophomores, Matt Capuzzi and Derek Cummings, and Seniors Erin "I'll be in the Office" Patton, Sean "I'm Punched In" Hester, Brian "The Groundskeeper" Keegan, Jeff "Ironman" Taylor, Travis "I Have to Cancel My Game" Bassi, and John "Here's My Whistle Catalogue" Collins.

Now for our unofficial awards for the year:

A closer look at four years of memories

Jennifer Luongo
News Editor

My aunt recently sent me a book filled with three-dimensional illusions. She told me that it would take a while for my eyes to adjust to the images, but once they did, the images behind the pictures were definitely worth seeing. She was right. And I learned a new way of seeing things.

Throughout my four years at Fairfield, I have learned many different ways of looking at things—in my classes, of course, but especially in my relationships with people. Learning to look beyond the surface isn't always easy, but once you truly know someone, without dying from the heat or my nerves.

Brian and I. Harvest '93.

Even though there were people everywhere, carrying trunks and bags and pushing through the crowded hallway, I looked at my tiny, empty room and felt very much beginning. So many of the friendships that I value the most had their start during those early days in Jogues.

And there are many others that have developed along the road from past to present. I would like to thank the people who have made my college career as special as it has been.

Brian, what can I say? I think you know all the words. But I just want you to know that I'm glad we met that day on the hill, in spite of the whole soccer incident. We've come a long way since the day you pretended to lose your I.D. and I wouldn't trade a minute of the time that's past since then. I love you.

Dolores, it's been a great four years of all-nighters and cracking ourselves up in the Bermuda Triangle. Thanks for everything. Bob Hurley- he knew it.

D, M i c h e l e , Christine, Meg, Lori and Jodie, I will miss you all so much. Thanks for making the Hightide a great place- never a dull moment. Senior year has been amazing and it's not over yet.

To the entire staff of the Mirror, you can be proud of the work you've done this year and you can be happy because it's all over. Many thanks to all the people who have written for me this year. Caitlin, best of luck as News Editor. I know you'll do a great job. A big thanks to Frank Szivos, our advisor. And I can't forget to thank Kevin for supplying the news section with some great photos. Thanks Kev.

Now, for the biggest thank you of all. My parents are the ones who have made these it's all worthwhile.

When I walked into Room 214 of Jogues Hall for the first time, in the sweltering heat of September, 1990, I had absolutely no idea what the next four years would hold. At the time, I was just worried about making it through the day alone. But after my family helped to move me in and I ran to Gonzaga to take my I.D. picture, I returned to my room to find I was no longer alone. My roommate, Dolores Martinez, had arrived and at the time I never realized that I had met my roommate for the next four years and one of the closest people to me throughout college.

That was just the

I would also like to thank two professors who have helped me to see myself and the people around me in a different way. Dr. Kim Bridgford has been a constant source of help and encouragement throughout the year. It's been wonderful working with you Dr. Bridgford. Thank you for everything.

And Father G. Simon Harak has taught me a great deal about peace and justice. He has always taught his students to go beyond presuppositions, form our own ideas and stand up for what we believe in.

It's a lesson I will always carry with me. Thank you Father Harak.

Memories of my college experience would not

So, four years at Fairfield have passed. And, unlike the images I have learned to see in my book of pictures, the things I have learned at Fairfield are not illusions. The people, the experiences and the friendships are very much real. And so are the memories.

Bye.

The Mirror. It has been my life for the past semester, and I hope that you have seen some sort of improvement in it since I become Editor on December 16th of last year. If not, lie to me, because otherwise you might get a smack in the head. Many people look forward to seeing it every Thursday, and I know that it was my personal motivation to get up for early first that day. To my wonderful, understanding, compassionate professors—please look at my grades through rose-colored glasses, after drinking a bottle of Dom Perignon (on me) when considering my grades—my priorities may not have been straight, but my heart was there. Frank, our advisor, (YES-we do have a faculty advisor), warned me against writing yet another goodbye, farewell article, but what else is left to write about? How about just one more article on Pilkerton? Just kidding.

Bill Schimpf has been the guidance for the Mirror, and he deserves recognition, as does Linda White, for my daily phone calls to his office. Bill was my first encounter with the administration here, and I must say that he is the opposite of what everybody thinks the administration is like. That's the highest compliment a member of the administration can get, you know.

My wonderful staff (especially Caitlin & Jessica) has endured my demanding, hyper, flighty ways, and I thank God that we only lost two of our staff during the year due to the pressure and stress the Mirror exudes. With all of the time we spend in here, we have gotten to know each other really well. And with all of the shared love and relationship advice that has been thrown around this room, we are all ready to write an entire issue on the topic. Look for it next week.

Lyn Campanella is the person responsible for getting me involved with the Mirror. Thank-you for one of the best experiences I've had at college, and at the same time, I could kill you.

To my 3 favorite math professors—thanks. Jen & Deirdre—thanks for all of the math help and the gossip and the friendship.

My housemates—Monica, Trish, Chrissy, Beth, Abbie & Matt—what can I say? Try to drag me out one night before we graduate. I don't have the Mirror to make me insane anymore.

Jen & Patty—I may not have seen you guys too much this year, but you are in my heart.

Christie—up your butt with a bird. By the way, you sink a duck by tying a rock to its foot.

JC, my roommate for three a half years—don't turn around, I'm getting changed.

Michael Patrick—to think it all started with "Would you like to go for a walk?"

M, D, Bri, AH & Poppy—I love you.

And to everyone graduating, please don't think of the past four years as the best years of your life. What else is there to live for then, after graduation? Unless, of course, you never want to grow up and leave college, and therefore become a college professor.

I wish everyone success in life in finding happiness and employment.

It is definitely the little things in life that turn out to be the most meaningful. These things happen because of the people we encounter and the experiences we have. I know that I am made up of all the bits and pieces of those who have touched my Fairfield years, and I am eternally grateful.

I wish that I could include a special memory for every person who has been important to me over the last four years, but Christine would only give me one page to say my goodbyes. Besides, if I were to mention each of these people, it would probably take me another four years... (hey- maybe that's not such a bad idea. I'm not ready to graduate anyway...) Nonetheless, after three years typing the Mirror, I send out some of my favorite bits and pieces to all of you. Cheers

In the future...

Lisa Huck will be behind bars for assault and battery and intent to kill because she attacked an innocent elderly woman in Las Vegas for taking her seat at the slot machine while Lisa was chasing after a quarter she dropped.

Cristina Gonzalez, this energetic shoe store manager, will be found on a tropical island with husband Joe Hayes trying to sell shoes to all tourists.

Beatriz Annexy will be found trying to get her law degree at Florida State (yeah, right). She will probably lose 40 pounds teaching aerobics and then head down to the beach to show off.

Maria E. Rios will be found studying medicine in the University of Puerto Rico. In the next few years she will invent the cure to a deadly disease, winning a Nobel Prize for it.

Marisol Ferraivoli will be manager for life of the PR campaign in charge of promoting Puerto Rico as the best island in the world besides regretting forever missing the 1994 keg races.

Jen Graf will be married on the SNET phone line, pregnant with twins and living at home.

Steph Amoroso will be crazy in jail for blowing up the chem lab while trying to grow her children.

Denise Thayer will be flirting with the boy next door, massaging a "friend," and sleeping on a pool table.

Jill Grenier will be 6'3" after ingesting the new growth hormone.

Sean Broderick will be the president and client of the Hair Club for Men.

Brian Martin will be as big as his closet.

Meri Jitsukawa will be working for Chase Manhattan and moonlighting as a chauffeur.

Michele Imperia will have published her first dictionary and thesaurus.

Karen Schroeder will have hugged her billionth tree.

Matt Barron will land his first role as the next Inspector Closeau in The Pink Panther.

Karen LoCurto will spend her days watching TV and eating bonbons.

Jen Luongo will still be in the Grape playing the name game.

Christine Morgan quits her job as a high-powered executive to become the sock-t-shirt coordinator for the Gap.

Laura Galbraith will co-host her own court-TV talk show, "She said—He said."

Monica Roosa will play the part of Julie McCoy in the revival of TV hit series, The Love Boat.

Megan Heaney will be the next big star of Baywatch as a lifeguard/legal consultant.

Kate Moore kicks out her husband so she has more space to store her shoes.

Laurie Connors will be sleeping on the couch in Karen Schroeder's home.

Brian "Kookie" Concannon will still be in the Grape telling those same dirty jokes, in between rounds of darts.

James Cafferty will turn down a seat on the Supreme Court to take over David Letterman's Late Show.

Karen Schroeder will enter overeaters anonymous.

Denise Thayer will break the Guinness book of world records for the most TV hours watched.

Jen Graf will own and operate a Volvo dealership.

Michelle Sparaco will win a Grammy award for her wonderful singing.

Cheryl Schultz and Jill Grenier will be Nobel laureates for their studies of Phospholipase.

Sean Broderick will be more muscular than Rick Oeckler.

Daniel Gilligan will own the Sodexo corporation.

Pete Evangelista will be the Surgeon General.

Dan Gilligan will be the next Hulk Hogan.

Jen Graf will be a millionaire from owning stock in SNET.

Deborah Trerice will win the gold medal for the newly established Olympic Beirut competition.

Tom Knox will still be drinking beer, watching pornos, and saying "all righty then."

Michelle Sparaco will be the graduation speaker, telling everyone how stupid they were for wasting their money at Fairfield.

Stephanie Amoroso will misplace her child.

Jill Grenier will be manager of U2.

Meg Heaney will be making millions in her private law firm.

Dolores Martinez will head an Ad agency in New York.

Christine Morgan will own her own Ben & Jerry's.

Jennifer Luongo will have a book on the NY Times Best Sellers list.

Jodie Pryor will be the president of a successful cosmetics firm.

Lori McCarthy will be a corporate lawyer for the Hostess Corporation.

Michele Imperia will be sunning herself on the beaches of the Italian Riviera.

Jennie Edwards will revive K-TEL records and turn disco into a bigger cash-cow than NKOTB or Nirvana or even Pearl Jam.

Steve Burke will marry the mother of a swarthy, and live happily after ever.

Kevin Sutton will develop a new, more "natural looking" hair coloring for men, and become rich.

Mark Barzda will remain on the Fairfield campus his entire life, living at townhouse parties.

Joe Mongillo will have a freak accident while working on the set of CATS 2 and become the center of a new right-to-die controversy.

Tricia Dawson will win the gold medal for ladies' downhill skiing at the '98 winter Olympics.

Erica Schondorf will follow in the footsteps of Lorena Bobbit on her route to stardom.

Lorraine Fargas will become the anchor for a new FOX-TV tabloid news show.

Cheryl Schultz will be permanently engaged to a successive string of military men throughout the world.

Amy Zenkert and Stephanie Amoroso will grace every empty field in New Jersey will their presence at 3 in the morning.

Jen Graf's bedtime rituals will become so extensive that it will be morning before she falls asleep.

Sean Broderick will become CEO for Lego, Inc. and make a million from a patent on replaceable hair pieces.

Jill Grenier will become a Syrian terrorist and eradicate her enemies by feeding them poisoned Near East rice pilaf.

Amy Zenkert will return from Micronesia with dread locks, a native husband, 10 kids and an orca whale.

Jen Nehlsen will travel to all area Volkswagon dealerships picking up men.

Pablo Colon will become less stingy with his bodily fluids.

Tom Knox will die laughing at his own jokes.

Christine Folchi will travel cross-country fixing up college newspapers.

Ellen Hanley will be searching through the Alumni Newsletter trying to network.

Deirdre Little will be conducting surveys in the mall.

Meg Armata will own and operate her own Ann Taylor store.

Kelly McLaughlin will be back in college getting a degree in something she actually likes.

Marybeth Jodice will be a Medford High School cheerleading coach.

Rebecca Heid will be eating pasta for dinner as often as she does now.

Jenn Piekarski will be chosen to head the U.S. Department of Education.

Kilian Murphy will still be searching for jokes.

Dawn Esposito will publish her quote collection.

Christine Folchi and her staff will be running back to Fairfield because of Cheapie withdrawal.

Memories by Jennifer Piekarski

"Life is a series of hellos and goodbyes, I'm afraid it's time for goodbye again." I never thought that four years could go by so quickly and that it would be time for goodbyes again. It seems like just yesterday that I was reading the Class of 1991's Senior Edition and now I am writing for the Class of 1994's edition. My years at Fairfield have been fun and I have some wonderful people to thank.

To the red-headed Irishman—you've been quite a friend. Thanks for four years of jokes, laughter at your expense (the closet incident) and your constant support. To the girl who is as "Taught as a tick"—it has been an interesting four years. Who could ever forget our interesting friends (?), "Steve Martin is cool," the infamous night at the chapel and the Grape, and Spring Break with Kevin, Jeff and Tony. We've had our ups and downs, especially this year, but you've always been there for me! Thank you!

To the people I've been an RA for: I'll remember you all with love and with no more headaches!!

To my wonderful suitemates, the three of us made it through Student Teaching. Thanks for your understanding and it isn't my turn to clean the bathroom!!

To my amazing staff, you are the rock hard stones and I'll miss you all so much! Don't ever forget... Fartknocker, the big dipper, da Nuts, January training and Disney dancing, belching and constant love and support. McBski—we have developed a great friendship this year and you'll always be special to me. Thanks for being a shoulder to lean on and for always sharing your great laugh with me. I'll miss you!! Espo, it has been crazy but we both made it through student teaching in one piece. Don't ever forget last summer and the eternal 21st birthday.

LMC, I don't even know where to begin. I have only known you for two short years, but in that time you have been such an amazing friend. Some things have brought us closer and I'll always be grateful for that. I'll never forget... our 21st birthday "pahty," days of the week underwear, Mickey on ice, study breaks with the beverage of choice, endless talks and loads of great times. You are so special to me and I thank you for sharing the gift of you with me.

To all of you who await your Senior Edition, enjoy your time at Fairfield because, before you know it, it will be your turn to say goodbye!!

DOWLING COLLEGE

ENROLL FOR SUMMER SCHOOL AND YOU WON'T WANT TO LEAVE.

ENROLLMENT: NOW THRU MAY 23RD

CLASSES BEGIN: SESSION I—MAY 23RD, SESSION II—JUNE 27TH

Earn summer credits as you discover your future. At Dowling, The Personal College, your individual growth and career preparation are our number-one priority. Here you'll find the summer courses and programs you want, all scheduled to fit your busy lifestyle: nights, days, Saturdays and Sundays. And that's just the beginning!

Beaches, parks and midtown Manhattan all within easy reach. Our beautiful riverfront campus is just minutes from Long Island's white sand beaches and less than an hour from Manhattan via major highways and the Long Island Railroad. This autumn, you'll want to stay to complete your degree at Dowling.

Aviation & Transportation, Business, Education, Arts & Sciences—our four schools offer a broad range of career-oriented programs. And Dowling has just launched America's first bachelor's degree in the growing field of Intermodal Transportation. Our National Aviation and Transportation Center—The NAT CenterSM—opens this fall. You can be part of it.

You can transfer up to 60 credits from a two-year college, even more from a four-year college. Whether you're an undergraduate or graduate student, you're sure to feel welcome at Dowling: over 60% of our students are transfers.

Call for your own personal financial aid review session. There's no substitute for a meeting with your financial aid counselor. Choose any day or time that suits you. Weekends included.
