A Final Farewell

Jennifer Panaro
Editor-in-Chief Emeritus

Friends are hard to come by. It is often said that a man is lucky if he can count the number of his true friends with one hand. Well, God has blessed me, because I need many more hands to count on. It is hard to believe that in seventeen days I will be leaving Fairfield and moving onto to something new. It seems like yesterday that I walked through the halls of Claver I with my mom in anticipation of the next four years. Those four years have come and gone but not without many memories and many people to thank.

How can I put in words all of the memories that I have collected over these four years. As a freshman, everything looked so big, so much fun, and yet there were things that seemed so far away. Now those things are in the past and I have nine people, my housemates, to thank for so many of the memories. They have affected my life and stood by my side. Sarah, Jody, Allison, Amy, Erin, Kate, Carrie, Jen and Nicole, without you my four years would not be the same. It was you who made me laugh, who took care of me when I needed you, who stood by me through thick and thin and it is you who I thank. I know that the bond that we have formed is one that will never grow weak, but as we get older it will only strengthen.

It is the little things in life that turn out to be the most meaningful. All of these memories happen because of the people we know, the people we meet along the way. My memories are made up of the bits and pieces of those who have been there over the past four years and those who have touched my life in special ways. For these memories I will be forever grateful.

Remember Giovanna's's, Eli's, Sophomore snobs on Campion 2, Eli's and Kelly's, Karaoke and Ladies's nights, elevator rides and trips to Jogues, dance party at Regis, conquering Loyola 3, the basement of Eli's then onto the Big House, rides through the quad and trips to 7-11. Then it was on to the beach. The Road House, the Frozen Shamrock, the eighties party, the keg races, junior night out at the Dapper Dog, the Screw Harvest Party, block parties at the third hump, Halloween parties, Road House parties, TH141, the KID, The Girl's Dup, The Sea Grape and Thursday night's at Larkins, the guy's at the Dug Out, the Boobie Trap, the Guinty and the Honeymoon Cottage, our "Friends", trips to South Padre, The Mock Wedding, again the keg races, endless happy hours, ten keg parties, morning video tapes, Ice Box Weds. nights and many many more.

All of these memories I will look back on and miss, but will always think of the friends that I shared them with. Danny, Maggie and Jessica, you have been there with us since sophomore year and the days never forget it. The K.I.D., that should be enough said.

I would also like to thank Andi Rierdan, our advisor to the Mirror. Whenever there was a problem, I could always count on you. Christine, I wouldn't have made it through the year if it wasn't for all your help. I wish you the best of luck next year. I have no doubt that you will do a great job with the paper. To all of my staff, I could always count on you, and it was such a pleasure to work with all of you this year.

To the readers, I hope that you have enjoyed the Mirror this year and that the new front page was appealing. It seems like yesterday that I was working on it for the first edition in September, and now the logo has changed once again. I also want to thank my mother, father and sister. Without their constant support, I would never have made it through. They stuck by me through my ups and downs and I owe them a great deal. I love you mom and dad, and even though I'm a pain in the neck sometimes, never forget that. I have realized that life is nothing but a series of hellos and good-byes. Unfortunately this is the time for good-byes. I will miss everyone with my heart and soul and wish you the best in life. God Bless and Good Luck. Girl's Dup, I love you all and this is only the beginning of a new chapter in our lives, one that will be just as fun and just as exciting as the past four years together.

of Campion 2. I will always remember the fun that we had. Danny and Maggie, you better come back to CT. Jessica, thanks for always listening. The Icebox. You guys have been there since mine and Al's late night trips to Jogues. Don't forget us when you go back to Hoboken. Remember our Sunday night dinners and Weds. nights. You have been conquered,

HAPPINESS IS FOUND IN MEMORIES, AND MEMORIES ARE FOUND IN FRIENDS.

In the beginning, everyone is nice to everyone because we don't know anyone at all, and we hope that new friends can ease our loneliness. Then we begin to sense who we really want to spend time with, and we choose those people as our friends. It isn't a conscious decision, but slowly friendships form. We may not be friends with the people we met at freshman orientation, but we try to say hi to them because they were the first people we met in this crazy new place. Sometimes we misjudge people, giving too much of ourselves to learn that people are not always who we believe they are. In turn, we disappoint people with who we are. We watch friends change, some spinning away from us, some spiraling toward us. We try to support them in whichever direction they go. Sometimes we don't meet our closest friends until school is almost over. Sometimes we meet old friends all over again.

We blow off school work because we would rather do anything else, because our friends tease us that we are nerds, because homework doesn't seem as important as meeting new people. Then one day we realize that we like our classes, we like to learn, and when our friends call us nerds, we smile.

Sometimes we stay home at night because we have a paper to write. Maybe we stay up all night studying for a test. Sometimes we are more familiar with the library than with our own homes. But sometimes we need to go out, regardless of what's due the next day, because our sanity is more important than any grade. We put down our text book for a coloring book. We drink a beer instead of coffee. We sleep through third period. We sit back and do nothing when we should be doing a million things because it feels good just to sit. Perhaps if we stayed home every night reading, writing and studying, we would have better GPA's, we would receive more awards, our parents would be happier, but we would surely miss out. College isn't only about school work. If that were the case, we wouldn't learn how to compromise with new roommates, how to cook our own meals, how to handle our problems without always calling home. So we make decisions about our own lives, about what we want to accomplish, and if we don't meet our expectations, that's okay.

We've got pasts ripe with memories and futures bursting with endless possibilities.

-Lauren Pandolfelli

Pictures say it better than I can right now...I love Florida oranges...Caw...

The moral of the story is that there are no answers. I still haven't figured it out. We spent four years at Fairfield trying to find ourselves, trying to find each other, and in those memories we seek solace. There are many things I wish I could have changed, many people I wish I could have known, yet somehow I can never regret. Despite all of those differences, we share one thing in common; we're all standing on the edge of the void, staring into that inevitable blackness our parents like to call the future. Some of us are scared, others are indifferent or anxious. Somehow we know that it will all work out.

For my friends, all I can do is say thank you. I have faith that we will meet again.

-Jen Imperia

“How can you get very far
If you don't know Who You Are?
How can you do what you ought,
If you don't know What You've Got?
And if you don't know Which to Do
Of all the things in front of you
Then what you'll have when you are through
Is just a mess without a clue.
Of all the best that can come true
If you know What and Which and Who.”
-Benjamin Hoff

US COLLEGE PEOPLE

People who go to college are incredible. We live away from home. We go to class. We read and absorb and are comprehensively tested on heavy amounts of various materials. We sleep very little. Someone's always sick. Someone's always wishing they were somewhere else. Someone's always complaining. We become attached to close friends. We smother each other. We lean too much. We think too much. We talk way too much. We think often of the past and want to be back there. We know we can't go. We all have our own separate lives and families, backgrounds and past. We live totally different lives from how we used to. We are frustrated, and although we sometimes want to give up, we never stop trying. We disregard health. We eat awful food. We are forced to think about the future. We are scared and confused. We reach out for things but don't find them. We try to sort our minds, which are filled with studies, worries, problems, memories, emotions-powerful feelings. We wander the halls looking for happiness. We wonder where we fit in. We fall and get back up. We hurt-a lot. We keep on going, though, because above all else, we never stop learning, growing, changing, and most importantly, dreaming. Dreams keep us going. And they always will. All we can do about that is thank God that we have something to hold on to.

“A FRIEND IS SOMEONE
HUBCAPS”
-THE JERSEY BOYS

As our time here comes to a close, we can look back and laugh. We made a ton of friends from many places, and shared a lot of good times. The faces and places are all almost to numerous to name, but the memories will never be forgotten.

Freshman year, it seemed like everytime we made a friend, a handful more soon would follow. As time went on, softball games, Giavanna's and finding rides to the beach brought more faces to our "squad." Now we see the faces that have made the last four years, the best of our lives...Fishbowl, Boobie Trap, Exit, College, Albino Frog, Honeymoon Cottage, Guinty, Icebox, TH 41, Bunny, Greenturtle and Pawnshop...getting older, and moving on. Even though we won't be together here at school, the memories we have shared, will always keep us together. Thanks Everyone! Good Luck!

Random thoughts

It has been fun. I'm finally gonna graduate and I must confess I have a lot of things I wish I had said and done and alot of things I just don't understand. But first things first, big ups and alot of love to "The Operation Hamhock Crew," we had a lot of fun and a lot of experiences..you had better stay in touch!

Things I don't understand and things I wish I had said before

People that walk around wearing filthy white hats..I don't get it...bad on all these stereotypical, drinking, conformist, filthy people that don't wear clean hats..bad on these people a.k.a the White Hats, (copyright Tim Welsh, 1996).

People that get drunk, and high go out and meet someone and then get raped..I know that sounds harsh but guys grow up will you, if you make your own bed you are gonna have to lie in it..just like if I walked into a Klan rally I am gonna get killed, it ain't right, but it will sure as hell happen. This thought also goes for drunk drivers..no sympathy from me, you get what you deserved.

Random hookups..what are you thinking..now when I mean hookup I mean sex..where is your self-respect and your sense of decency. I also have to say bad on people that have sex while their roommates are sleeping in the same room. Never had a "random" hookup and like L. Boogie said, if you sleep around you'll get the gift that keeps on giving, or worse. This also goes for people that hookup in bathrooms or in the corner at Dogwoods.

The beach situation. You live in a neighborhood with people that have been there for a long time. You drink, urinate, defecate, and generally cause a ruckus...and then have the nerve to complain. Again, get a grip and when you are older and live in a neighborhood with disruptive college students you'll understand exactly what I mean.

Safe Negroes. You know who you are, you don't talk to other AHANA people and some of you generally try to "pass." This goes for all the other people trying to get by on the down low as far as their color and identity is concerned, you don't want to be a minority until it comes time to get a scholarship, get a grip. The F.U. Drop Squad knows who you are and we'll be comin' for you in the 98!!! And don't come out when there is a racial incident because we don't want you!!!!

Safe Negro complaint number 2: When will this school invite some people that will shake things up? This school has a problem with excitement. It seems that many of the students are scared of different ideas and philosophies. All people that speak on issues of race, class, and gender aren't in the "we are the world" club. Invite some of them, so people will understand what intellectual diversity really is.

2nd to last thought: Why do mediocre business school graduates get higher paying and better jobs than liberal arts graduates with far superior skills and g.p.a.'s? I guess that explains why this country is in such a crisis.

Last thought: America loves Jackie Robinson, Martin Luther King and Muhammed Ali but hated them when they were alive. Is it somewhere that the powers that be in the country have a guilty conscience and need to make amends?..I guess in regards to race and heroes America has sort of an S&M thing going on..a love hate relationship where it likes to have people like the gimp around to point out what it did wrong and then gives them a lot of awards when they're dead..or graduate (like me, I guess).

Peace. It has been fun and I thank everyone that has given me the opportunity to work and contribute. here. Who knows, maybe this is just the beginning of something far worse.

With love,
