Housing Group Reaffirms Rule Of Board Of Control On Dorm Occupancy

The college housing committee, recently organized to supervise placements in all of the campus dormitory facilities yesterday held its first meeting and made the following announcement:

"The housing committee, after due consideration, feels that it can do nothing else than accept as its duty the instructions to enforce the dormitory regulations as passed by the Board of Control and printed in the Marshall College catalogue for 1935-36 on pages 25 and 26."

These instructions referred to by the committee are as follows:

WHEREAS, such resolution (authorization of construction) provides, among other things, that the Board shall establish and enforce, so long as any of the bonds authorized by the aforesaid resolution remain outstanding, such lawful parietal rules and regulations as will insure maximum occupancy of the dormitory; and

WHEREAS, the West Virginia Board of Control desires to carry such provisions into full force and effect.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE WEST VIRGINIA BOARD OF CONTROL--

Section 1. All boarding student enrolled at Marshall college shall occupy the dormitory to the extent that facilities are available and under the supervision and direction of the President of said college, and no member of the freshman class shall be permitted to live outside the dormitory as long as facilities within the dormitory are available.

Section 4. (exceptions). The provisions of this resolution shall not apply to students whose parents or legal guardians reside within daily commuting distance of the college or to students above the rank of freshmen residing in sorority or fraternity houses under the supervision of either the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women. The provisions of this resolution shall not apply to working students where the conditions of their employment require residence on the premises."

Todd Addresses Y.M.C.A. Forum

Dr. Leslie J. Todd, of the chemistry department, addressed the weekly forum of the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday with a talk entitled, "Waste, Is It An Economic Necessity?"

Dr. Todd cited the prevalent wastes in resources, production and distribution in our economic system, and pointed out way in which they might be eliminated, and the savings which would be effected.

He replaced the scheduled speaker, Dr. H. G. James, president of Ohio university, who was unable to reach Huntington because of an automobile breakdown.

Dr. Halley Writes Pindaric Ode Commemorating Centennial Year

Yesterday's program on the college radio series over station WSAZ marked the first public presentation of a Pindaric ode, written by Dr. A. R. Halley, head of the English department, in commemoration of the Centennial anniversary of the college.

Dr. Halley's ode was modeled in structure on Thomas Gray's Pindaric ode "The Progress of Poesy".

Today The Parthenon is honored to publish the poem for the first time.

Pindaric Ode In Commemoration of the Centennial Anniversary of Marshall College.

By A. R. HALLEY

STROPHE

All hail to thee, O Marshall fair!
Thy great tradition must not be forgot;
For ne'er will shame, reproach, or blot
Throw shades obscure and taint the crystal air
That wafts in fragrance through thy halls,
Where truth and freedom hear thy calls.
The deeds of noble men and women brave
Echo still from beyond the grave;
We hear in quiet what thy sons have done,
And honor those whose race has run.
Thy teachers through long days of strife—
May they remember God without whom is no life!

ANTISTROPHE

We yield to thee, O Marshall fair,
Our gratitude, our deep respect and love;
And may Urania from above
With all thy leaders inspiration share.
Look not for sordid gain to earth,
But let the stars that come to birth
Each night send hope and harmony sublime.
Beauty and truth are not of time;
They last fore'er; all else is false indeed.
Let flowers of thought implant their seed
And grow in fertile minds of men.
To be eternal guides to lead from Apollyon's den.

EPODE

Look to the past and seize the best,
And in the future on thy quest
Let sweetness and light forever be
Thy guide for all eternity,
And freedom e'er thy guest.
Thy greatest joy is ever serving,
From greatness never swerving,
Thy teachers have a sacred duty—
A trust that must not be betrayed;
Their beacon light eternal beauty—
Then they will never be afraid.
Remember Phaeton could not guide the car
As did Apollo, whose unerring hand
Restrained the horses wandering from far,
Had kept the fires from burning heav'n and land.
A glorious future waits thee, O, Marshall fair—
Thy name shall ring fore'er, from earth and sea and air.

Grounds To Be Improved

Walks To Join Dormitories With Remainder Of Campus

Twenty-five workmen are now clearing the grounds around the new dormitories, taking the first step in the $30,000 program for beautification of the campus.

Tentative plans for the new walks include the extension of the walks in back of the library to the front entrance to women's dormitory, and the extension of the walk in front of the gymnasium to the front entrance to the men's dormitory. Virginia avenue will be eliminated and filled with dirt from the foundation of the new training school.

A driveway will be constructed running from Eighteenth street. It will be for the special convenience of visitors to the college as well as to serve the new dormitories.

Among other plans which in the offing is the re-locating of the gas house on College avenue, and the removal of the head of the gas well to below the ground level.

The electrical system and the gas lines will be extended and enlarged to serve the new buildings.

In a short time, the Health Clinic and the building at 1729 and 1733 Third avenue will be removed, according to present plans.

New Life

Today on the east campus of Marshall college stand two dormitories, fulfilling the hopes and dreams of those who have long realized the need for such structures.

There they are, ready to become a part of that moving panorama of work, play, worry, and pleasure which we identify as the component parts of an intangible whole called "college life." Soon the halls of both buildings will be opened to students, providing a new environment for new experiences in this thing called "college life."

It has been said of Marshall that the school lacks a well defined school spirit. This is due to the fact, we are told, that most of our students are residents of Huntington and are fortunate enough to enjoy the comforts of home while acquiring an education, to the detriment of the establishment of a communal spirit upon the campus through closer relationships. Then too, the absence of accommodations even for all of the boarding students who attend Marshall has made it necessary for all men and a great number of women to seek quarters with townspeople offering rooms for rent. This scattering has served also to throw a person upon his own and has weakened the ties between the student and the institution.

Now we have the dormitories. Also we have a vexing problem in the breaking away from the old system and the acceptance of the new. Objections there may be, but in the face of the advantages these become inconsequential.

Consider the convenience of living upon the campus, the closer companionship, and lastly, the building of a better morale among the students. Occupation of the dormitories will mark the passing of one stage of the development of our local "college life." Our new phase will see us increase in spirit and in size.

Worthy Effort

Monday evening the Madrigal club, a choral society composed entirely of college students, will present its first concert in the auditorium. For many weeks its members have given unstintingly of their time in practice in preparation for this presentation. Its director, Dr. Harry Mueller, has made every possible effort to present a program to the public's

WAGER....

Speaking of sound and fury we would like to lay a few shekels on the line. There is big noise about this man's campus. It is this Centennial business. We do not like to appear pessimistic, but as to that bet we spoke of: we have coin which says that the only thing in the way of celebration this school will have this spring is the celebration seniors will put on after they receive their sheepskins.

NEED....

What this school needs is a buffalo. Why even the Student President sanctions the idea. He also has other ideas on the same lines which are plenty good, but they won't bear mentioning here. Anyway a few two-bit pieces here and there will bring in the king of the Western Plains. We could house him in the new dorms--that would fill up a couple of rooms. Graze him on the campus, and charge a thin to the curiars. You have a good thought there Pres....

The girls must have used a mimeograph...Duncan Sturm hangs his own picture in the bathroom. His mug is in a circular frame. Personally we'd prefer a brass band...Eph Jacobs has given up his apple selling activities since the "Support the Honor System" campaign fell through. liking. It will not suffice for us to praise the pains that have been taken to make Monday evening's program a well-rounded musical concert. The Madrigal club will not feel that it has been amply rewarded unless more than cursory interest is shown by the attendance.

We may admire its industry, but the audience must applaud its talent.

Miss Wallace Has Leave For Study

Miss Frances Wallace, instructor in the English department, has been granted a leave of absence by the State Board of Education to continue her graduate work in child guidance at Columbia university.

Miss Wallace will leave next week, and will return to resume her teaching duties here in September.

Morrow Library Presents

N By E

By Rockwell Kent

If one can't travel, the next best thing one can do is to read about other people's wayfaring. There is something of the explorer and the adventurer in us all. As our friend of the comic strip says, "It's the gypsy in me" that makes a book of this sort so popular. It is guaranteed to blow the cobwebs away.

"N by E" is a story of adventure in far northern latitudes. Three men set sail in a small boat for Greenland. The author was navigator and cook for the expedition. They put out from Nova Scotia, landed at Newfoundland, and sailed up the coast of Labrador.

The voyage was a feat of endurance. For a month they battled the elements. Finally a storm drove their boat on the rocks off southwest Greenland, and left the party stranded fifty miles from the nearest settlement.

If you like queer, out-of-the-world places, you'll enjoy the author's account of his sojourn among the fisher-folk of Newfoundland. The arrival of a stranger was a red-letter day. Sealing is the means of existence in this barren country. In the spring all able-bodied men go to the ice fields. Many never return, for the hazards are too great.

If you are interested in the romance of the Vikings, you will be thrilled by the author's experience in Greenland. He spent glorious days there among the friendly Eskimos and Danes. He saw with his own eyes the place where Leif Ericson and his hardy mariners landed in the New World. He found relics of the ancient Icelandic settlement--primitive churches and stone dwellings in ruins, fields and enclosures that once were cultivated.

"N by E" is a man's book. It is a salty, vigorous chronicle of bold adventure written in a straightforward, unpolished style. There are illustrations on every page--superb sketches of surging seas, stern mountains, and strong men as only Rockwell Kent can draw them. In fact, it is really a picture book, and the artist has painted in words as well as in illustrations.

Professors Sees Recovery Coming

New York, N. Y. --- (ACP) --- That the United States is in the recovery phase of a business cycle and will be able to retire its national debt in ten years is the prediction of Dr. Virgil Jordan, president of the National Conference board, a New Deal critic, and a former professor of economics at the University of Wisconsin.

Addressing the annual convention of the University and College Business Officers of Eastern States, Dr. Jordan said that one of the indications of business recovery was the "heavy Christmas shopping" which exceeded the Christmas buying of 1929.

The power plant at the University of Chicago produces and delivers over a 1,000,000 pounds of steam daily to heat the university buildings, to supply hot water, and to sterilize instruments in Billings hospital.

Collegiate World

Carleton college students who dine at Burton Hall turned the tables on Miss Boyce, the dietitian.

When Miss Boyce lost her voice temporarily, disgruntled gourmets seized the opportunity to berate her for serving certain dishes which they dislike.

Since she is helpless to answer them, the voice-less Boyce is enduring a lot of punishment. But she has the upper hand even now, for she still has a voice in the food choice.

A little, blond coed at the University of Utah germinated the "kissing strike" that paved the way for similar movements on many of the college campuses throughout the country.

During a laboratory class, she pressed a glass slide to her lips, placed it under a microscope and screamed when she saw millions of bacteria dividing before her eyes.

Coeds all over the campus took action and declared a "kissing-strike" that included most of the girls. "Scabs" who refused to join the "anti-osculation" driver atonalized to appease the anger of striking females and to retain their par standard of exchange with the Utah men.

"Kissing may not be so dangerous if you use the right technique," argued one germ-defying coed.

Another suggested that although bacteria may "go to town" under the microscope they are pretty helpless in the dark.

A freshman girl declared, "If you kiss hard enough, you can kill the germs."

Angered at being deprived of romance, the men organized an Osculation League to combat the resolute women. The league's first step was to call a strike on all dates.

This trend brought matters to a head. Science versus romance. There were no two ways about it. Since the men were unyielding the girls had to "kiss and make up."

Big Green Invades Delaware For Bishop Tilt

Big Green Sportlites By Bill Keesler

FOOD FOR THOUGHT....

Slowly but surely the Big Green athletic teams are forging to the fore in Buckeye and other collegiate circles. The vast improvement of the 1936 football team over teams of recent years accounted for a successful financial outcome this past season.

With the sensational showing of the basketball team to date in the conference and during the holiday tour, we find that Big Green teams are proving a better attraction than in former years.

Naturally with the increase in color and ability of the teams comes the ever present Joe Fan. He wants to get a peek at a high class college team in action, and is willing to pay a goodly price for that privilege.

IN THE FUTURE --

We can see no reason why an adequate field house cannot be erected on our campus to do away with all the crowded inconveniences that now exist. The attendance at the basketball game with Cincinnati, university can plainly indicate that there should be a larger place for the college to promote its athletic activities in the winter time.

With Marshall coming into its own in athletic circles we can see no reason why immediate steps cannot be taken to rectify this sore finger that has been constantly in the eyes of Big Green followers. A new field house erected at the present time would more than pay for itself, as the increase in paid admissions show....

Let's not seem small-time about the situation;—practically every college or university of note in the country has a field house, and in most every case it proves to be a deciding factor in gate receipts and the subsequent popularity of the school.

GOSSIP....

With all these frosh cagers setting and breaking records the varsity will have to watch themselves next season if they expect to remain intact.... With Buster Vest and Chub Watson hitting a fast pace, the Big Green should experience no difficulty in downing the Bishops tomorrow night.... Elmer Bauld, Clarksburg's gift to Big Green athletic circles, is itching to get his hands on a baseball. The Clarksburg flash is a mighty clever man on the diamond.

Herd Seeks Win To Top Buckeye Basketball Loop

Attack Of Flu May Hinder Starting Of Watson And Smith

Handicapped by lack of full time practice, the Big Green basketballers will invade the stronghold of the Battling Bishops of Ohio Wesleyan tomorrow night, bent on keeping in the win column in the Buckeye cage race.

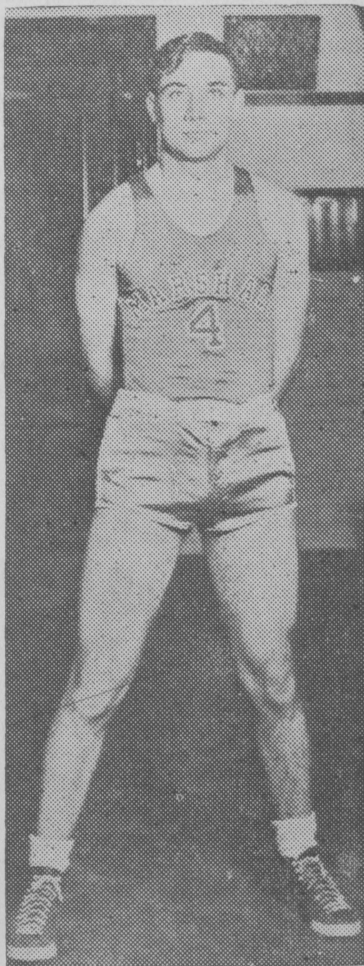

Because of injuries to three of the mainstays of the quint, the Herd has not been able to put a full team of first stringers on the practice floor during the greater part of the week. For this reason the Greenclad warriors will enter the game on a more even level with the Bishops than was previously anticipated.

Chub Watson, Bill Smith, and Lew Wilcox have missed practice the latter part of the week, confined to a minimum of activity due to serious attacks of influenza. Whether they will be able to start the game will not be known until game time. In event that they are not physically able to enter the tilt John Casey, Johnny Cox, Hank Green, Herb Royer, and J. B. Russell will divide the time in the contest.

The starting lineup will be in doubt until the opening whistle tomorrow night, but Buster Vest, high-scoring Green forward, is certain to start at his usual position. George Ayresman will open the game at one guard and Buck Jamison will probably fill the other post. J. B. Russell may see opening action in Jamison's spot.

Ohio Wesleyan will be paced by Johnny McAdams, one of the
