Rev. Hal Shipley To Speak At First Baptist Church

Rev. Hal Shipley, son of Mrs. E. D. Shipley of Murray Route Five and the late Mr. Shipley, will be the guest minister at the 10:45 a.m. and five p.m. services Sunday, January 17, at the First Baptist Church.

The former Calloway man is now serving as pastor of the Sacramento Baptist Church, Sacramento, Ky. He formerly served as pastor of the New Providence and Spring Creek Baptist Churches in Calloway County and the West Baptist Church in Hickman.

Rev. Shipley is a former member of the First Baptist Church and was ordained by the church. He is a graduate of Murray College High School, Murray State University, and the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville.

The minister is married to the former Jean Ezell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Ezell, of Murray Route Six, and they have two children, Karen, age ten, and Kenny, age seven.

Several Purchases Are Authorized By Council

Building permits for the city of Murray were greater for 1970 than for 1969, Mayor Holmes Ellis told the Murray City Council last night. He pointed out that the most encouraging aspect was that home building last year was well above home building for 1969 by a good margin.

Mayor Ellis said that many people thought that home building had dropped off considerably, but figures show that the reverse is true.

Single family dwellings in 1969 totaled $547,700 while in 1970 single family dwellings building totaled $722,500. Commercial building was up by about $200,000 also he reported.

The number of permits and the estimated cost of building is shown below for each of the two years he compared.

Home Building Permits Issued During 1970

Number Of Permits	Estimated Cost
39 Single Family Dwellings	722,500.00
5 Duplex Buildings	73,000.00
11 Additions to Residence Buildings	35,500.00
6 Utility Buildings	4,275.00
4 Carports	7,000.00
10 Commercial Buildings	1,125,000.00
6 Additions to Commercial Buildings	80,550.00
4 Private Garages	7,500.00
Total	$2,055,325.00

Building Permits Issued During 1969

29 Single Family Dwellings	547,700.00
6 Duplex Buildings	136,500.00
15 Additions to Residence Buildings	39,150.00
4 Utility Buildings	1,600.00
13 Commercial Buildings	929,750.00
12 Additional Buildings	96,500.00
3 Private Garages	4,850.00
1 Library Building	145,000.00
1 Swimming Pool	5,000.00
Total	$1,906,050.00

Mayor Ellis told the council that the report above, prepared by I. H. Key, City Building Inspector, was pleasing to him and was indicative of more sound growth for the city.

In other action the city council accepted bids on new fire hose for the Murray Fire Department and a new siren for Fire Chief Jackie Cooper's automobile.

Fire Equipment Service of Louisville was the low bidder on the 1500 two and one-half inch hose at $1.40 per foot. Other bidders were Midwest Fire & Safety Equipment Company, of Indianapolis at $1.56 per foot and Eureka Fire Hose Company of New Town, Conn. at $1.63 per foot.

The siren bid was won by Gaul Police Equipment Company of Lexington for $235 installed. Chuck's Radio Maintenance of Paris, Tennessee bid $250.

The Fire Safety Committee with James Rudy Albritten as chairman decided to give the Calloway County Fire and Rescue Squad what surplus hose the Fire Department had when the new hose comes in. The council approved this move.

A new saw will be purchased by the Murray Fire Department which will cut through metal and concrete. This is a gasoline engine powered saw which operates much like the small powered saws used to cut trees. The saw will be useful in cutting holes in buildings to reach the base of a fire and may also be used to extricate someone trapped in a wrecked vehicle.

The annual uniform allowances for city employees was approved last night. City Police are granted $150 per officer with an extra $100 for a new policeman. City firemen are granted six work uniforms amounting to about $75.00. The Chief and Fire Inspector receive $100.

Mayor Ellis reported a carryover from last year's budget of $8200.

Bids will be asked for a new cruiser for the Murray Police Department to replace the 1969

Fiscal Court Schedules Referendum February 9

The Calloway County Fiscal Court in regular session on Thursday voted to hold a special election on Tuesday, February 9, for the qualified voters of the County School District to vote on the question as to whether an annual special school building tax of thirteen cents shall be levied for a period of twenty years in the county school district.

William B. Miller, superintendent of Calloway County Schools, made the request to the Court after the Calloway County Board of Education, meeting in regular session on Monday, January 4, voted unanimously to request the Fiscal Court to adopt an order and resolution for the special election.

County Judge Robert O. Miller presided at the meeting. The court approved the request since state statutes say it is mandatory on the court, county officials said.

Supt. Miller said if voted, the special school building fund tax could be used only for school building purposes as stated in KRS 160.477. The County Board plans to construct two elementary schools in keeping with the Department of Education's recommendations, Miller said.

The Division of Buildings and Grounds of the State Department of Education has conducted a study in regard to pupil population and school bus routes and has recommended that one elementary school be located on the east side and one on the west side of the county.

School officials said the east side school would be located in the general area of Highway 94 where it is intersected by the Pottertown Road, and the west side school would be constructed somewhere in the vicinity of Highway 121 and the Johnny Robertson Road. Each of these schools would house approximately 950 pupils in grades one through eight, Miller said.

The superintendent said even though Calloway County was one of the counties in Kentucky which was required by the Department of Revenue in Frankfort to have a re-assessment of property, it has been noted that most property taxes were down due to a decrease in school and other taxes. This year, 1970-71, the Calloway County Board of Education was allowed a rate of thirty-three cents per $100 of assessed valuation of property in comparison to thirty-six cents as of a year ago.

Miller further said that presently the Board of Education does not have the necessary funds for the erection of the two elementary schools; however if the thirteen cents tax is successful, Joe Alsip of the Division of Administration and Finance, Department of Education, Frankfort, has said that the amount available from the voted tax, along with additional capital outlay funds and the utility tax receipts would provide ample funds to adequately carry out the program.

The school leader said it has also been noted that Calloway County's School Tax Rate of thirty-three cents is one of the lowest in the State of Kentucky when compared with other school districts, and that is the lowest in the Jackson Purchase and Western Kentucky.

Marvin Harris, Calloway County Court Clerk, said all persons who will be eighteen years of age before February 9 will be eligible to vote in the special election on that date.

Persons who have not registered to vote in Calloway County may register through January 31 to vote in the special election which will be conducted in the regular polling places throughout Calloway County.

Division Kiwanis Meeting Held Here Thursday Night

Governor Wes Davis of Bristol, Tennessee, was the honored speaker at an area wide meeting of Division 15 of Kiwanis International Wednesday night. The banquet meeting was held in the Student Union Ballroom of Murray State University.

Approximately 75 Kiwanians and their wives from Bristol, Princeton, Mayfield, Benton, Henderson and Murray attended the meeting. Governor Davis represents 15 divisions in the states of Kentucky and Tennessee.

Dr. Harold Eversmeyer, Lieutenant Governor of this division, presided at the meeting. Group singing was led by Josiah Darnall. Immediate Past Lieutenant Governor Paul Dotson, Benton, presented awards to Princeton for the greatest net membership gain and to Benton for having the most interclubs.

"To Improve the Quality of Life" is the 1971 objective of Kiwanis International. Mr. Davis suggested several concrete ways Kiwanians can contribute to their community their nation.

"Getting along with young people is one of our biggest goals," Davis said. He emphasized eight points: 1. Listen to them; 2. Keep smiling; 3. Don't ask why they do the way they do; 4. Don't tell them how hard you've worked; 5. Level with them; 6. Don't try to be one of them; 7. Share with them your highest purpose; and 8. Believe in them.

He urged the Kiwanians to return to their homes to build rather than to be satisfied with the status quo. "All clubs should show enthusiasm for service and should get involved in community service," he reiterated. "God has given every Christian his set of responsibilities and He needs us all," the speaker concluded.

Hiram L. Tucker

Death claimed a fine man here yesterday when Hiram L. Tucker was taken.

What greater tribute could we pay such a man than to say that Hiram Tucker was a friend?

Possessed of a keen sense of humor, Hiram enjoyed nothing more than to engage in a good natured matching of wits with his friends. Hiram Tucker had an abiding faith in his Maker which has stood him in good stead since he first became ill.

Hiram Tucker was a man inculcated with the desire to serve and to serve well. He had a good mind, a well developed sense of perception, and the qualities which made him a sought after confidant, counselor, and advisor.

As a Realtor, he handled a number of transactions which changed the face of the city.

He was a successful man.

Hiram Tucker was a family man. He loved his family and was proud of each member of his household.

His friends numbered in the hundreds. It was our good fortune to know Hiram Tucker over a period of years which spanned two decades. He was a friend to enjoy, to talk with and to plan with.

Hiram Tucker was one of those chosen few whose privilege and responsibility it is to lay the groundwork for the future. He took up the gauntlet gladly, accepting the challenge with confidence in his ability and the knowledge that much of what he was doing was for the benefit of future generations.

His passing away will leave a vacancy in that strong guard that has helped to direct the city along paths of orderly and progressive development.

Our deep sympathy is extended to his family and his multitude of friends.

Private Enterprise

Political and economic liberty live or die together. Stated another way, free enterprise and ownership of property by private citizens is inseparable from representative self-government. A free press depends upon the advertising support of private enterprise. Under the U.S. constitutional form of government, the law is the guardian of both persons and property.

An example of what happens to political liberty when property rights are trampled upon by the state is being starkly demonstrated in Chile, a country that is now rapidly falling under totalitarian Marxist rule. Industry is being nationalized—taken over by government. And foreign investors are becoming wary of putting their money anywhere in Latin America. If private enterprise dies in Chile, so does liberty. The press will soon be nothing more than a sounding board of dictatorship. As U.S. News & World Report states, nationalization of industry is automatically removing political opposition as advertising is cut off and newspapers go into bankruptcy.

The experience of Chile should show why, as a matter of principle, U.S. citizens should support the institution of private enterprise whether it be the local corner grocery store or a basic industry. Where private enterprise—and a free press—are destroyed, elections become meaningless rituals, and oppression becomes a way of life.

After You Read This Story, Give It Your Own Title

My story telling dad is quite creative, but sometimes he repeats stories. He'll listen to just about any story, and as you already know, there are a few he won't repeat. Well, dad has this neighbor that goes to church regularly, and likes to talk about what goes on. This friend came by the other day and said he wanted to tell dad how smart his preacher is. (I know by experience, even though I'm little, it helps alot if you have a smart preacher.) This neighbor said that this preacher was the smartest fellow he ever saw. "Why, this man is so smart he doesn't even prepare his sermons before Sunday preaching. He's so smart he has a subject box right in front of the pulpit stand that he just reaches into, and draws out a slip of paper with a subject on it, as he steps behind the pulpit. (You see, this preacher is smart and he wants other folks to know it.) This preacher has asked all his members to put in any subject that they want to hear, and he will pick it up and preach it right then. Well, things were just fine for quite a while. The first Sunday the preacher happened to select a slip that said "Heaven" on it. He did a fine job preaching about heaven. The next Sunday he happened to select a slip that said "Hell" on it. He made hell really hot that day. The third Sunday, well, it seems there was a wise guy in the congregation that really wanted to test the preacher, so he had dropped in a slip that said "Constipation", that's all just "Constipation". The smart preacher reached in and happened to select this very one, as he stepped behind the stand. This smart preacher wasn't phased at all. He just opened the Bible and read where it said that Moses took the tablets and went upon the mountain alone."

Dad said to me, "This is the perfect example of one of those stories he'd better not tell."

AUTUMN LEAVES

As I try to remember
I think it was November,
Or maybe a time in September,
It couldn't have been December.

I awoke one beautiful morning
As the clock was alarming.
The leaves were falling.
Oh, how charming.

I got out of bed,
Nearly fell on my head
To see that the leaves
Looked almost dead.

When they fell red, yellow, gold, and green,
They were the prettiest sight I had ever seen.
On a rake I now lean,
Raking the leaves that were once green.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Lost at the Laundry

Katherine went to the neighborhood laundry to pick up her week's wash. But the proprietor greeted her with bad news.

"We had a burglary last night," he said, "and your bundles were stolen. I'm afraid you are just out of luck."

But Katherine decided that he, not she, ought to bear the loss. Filing suit for damages, she pointed out that the back door of the laundry had only the flimsiest kind of a lock, even though the building had been burglarized before. The court found the proprietor guilty of negligence, and ordered him to pay Katherine's claim.

When you leave clothing at either a laundry or a dry cleaner, you are creating what the law calls a "bailment." The company, as the bailor, must take reasonable care of your belongings.

Although not to blame for an unavoidable loss, it is liable for a loss it could fairly have prevented.

Suppose the company tries to protect itself by a notice saying it is not responsible for losses of any kind. Does that make a difference?

Most courts will recognize some limitation, but not a total denial of the company's liability. Furthermore, a notice has no legal effect unless it is properly brought to public attention.

In one case a laundry inserted into each finished bundle a small printed notice, placing a dollar limit on its liability for losses. But when a customer demanded payment for some missing items, the company was held liable in full. The judge said the dollar limit could not be part of the bailment contract, because it was not even mentioned when the clothing was first brought in.

On the other hand, the company too is entitled to "notice" of what it is accepting responsibility for. In another case, a man negligently left a ring in the pocket of a suit he sent to the cleaner. The ring vanished, and he put in a claim against the company for compensation.

But after a court hearing, his claim was turned down. The court said he could not blame the company for losing what it did not even know it had.

Sports Parade

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer
FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—Bob Hayes isn't exactly what you'd call a truck horse. He can move a little.

They used to bill the Dallas Cowboys' pass-catching dazzler as the world's fastest human and although that title has become passed by now you probably can still count the number of people on one hand who can beat him in a flat out 100 yard.

Anyway Bob Hayes, who knows Mickey Mantle, found himself in the same Dallas restaurant not so long ago and he was anxious to get up, walk over and chat with the one-time Yankee slugger.

Mantle wasn't far away. Only 15-20 yards at most. But he was with his wife, Marilyn, and they were in the middle of their meal so Bob Hayes didn't go over. "I didn't because I know exactly how it is," says America's former Olympic gold medalist. "I didn't want to disturb him. As much as I wanted to talk with him I didn't go over."

The particular incident is cited simply to demonstrate the degree of sensitivity which is looked inside an individual like Bob Hayes, who is completing his sixth season with the Cowboys and playing out his option with them.

Hayes Feels Underpaid
He's doing that because they're paying him $32,000 and because he feels he has been underpaid for years, which is probably true. He also believes he's worth $70,000, which is something the Cowboys will have to decide by May 1 or give up their claim on him.

Before he came down here for next Sunday's Super Bowl game with Baltimore it was said in Dallas that if Bob Hayes left Miami still unsigned he was a cinch not to be back with the Cowboys next season.

"That's not quite true," says the 27-year-old wide receiver. "I love Dallas, the town and everything. First of all I came down here for the Super Bowl game, not to talk about my contract. So I'm not going to do it. There's nothing different about my contract. I haven't spoken to them (the Cowboys) about it since July so my situation is the same. I'll only say this: I feel a ballplayer should get what he's worth."

Bob Hayes paused a moment. "Regardless of what color he is," he added, sitting up against a wire fence at Yankee Stadium here where the Cowboys go through their daily drills.

"Did Hayes feel color had anything to do with his situation?"

"No," he said thoughtfully. "Not exactly. But I remember when I was benched early in the season, and there was all this talk about me not signing my contract and playing out my option, I got crank calls. A lot of 'em."

Wife Takes it in Stride
"My wife would go shopping and people would tell her she should be back in Africa picking cotton. She took it in stride and I'm proud of her. Some small-minded people felt I was asking for a million dollars. Well I'm not asking for a million dollars. Not anything like that."

Bob Hayes makes one thing plain. He thinks the world of Tom Landry, the Cowboys' coach, even though Landry benched him for five games this past season.

"I think Tom and I have one of the best relationships in sports," he says. "I respect him as a coach and as a man."

Hayes led all Dallas pass receivers this season with 34 catches for 889 yards, an average of 26.1 yards per catch and 10 touchdowns.

The Cowboys aren't likely to let somebody like that get away.

Hayes is amused by the people who say all he has is speed.

"What in hell more do you need?" he laughs. "Speed is the greatest asset you can have in this game. On a man-to-man situation I'd say it counts for 90 per cent."

Only 90?
"I was just giving a defensive back the benefit of any doubt," Bob Hayes explained. "If you want to go technical I'd say speed counts 100 per cent."

If you want to get technical, it does.

Lakers Beat Cincinnati 126-120 In Toronto Game

By United Press International
The National Basketball Association waited too long to return to Toronto but it didn't wait long enough before going back to Rochester.

Toronto is the place where the first NBA game was played back in 1946 but the franchise folded at the end of that season. The NBA didn't decide to schedule another league game there until Thursday night when the Cincinnati Royals played a "home" game against Los Angeles in the Canadian city.

It was obvious the Canadians had missed pro basketball as 11,589 fans showed up to watch the Lakers beat Cincinnati 126-120.

Dan Devine To Coach at Green Bay

By CHARLIE SMITH
UPI Sports Writer
KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Thursday was a long and memorable day for Dan Devine, the University of Missouri football program and the Green Bay Packers.

The man many thought would never leave left. And he took with him a 16-year college coaching record—three at Arizona State, 13 at Missouri—of 120 victories, 40 losses and eight ties.

Devine, 46, accepted the dual job of general manager and head coach of the Green Bay Packers.

The shock that swept the Missouri campus did not evaporate quickly. But speculation immediately arose concerning Devine's successor. Because of the Feb. 9 Big Eight letter-of-intent signing date, Missouri was expected to act quickly and dip within the ranks of Devine's assistant coaches to name a new head coach.

Devine, as athletic director and football coach and with tenure as a full professor, had a base pay scale of $26,000 at Missouri. But side benefits probably boosted his earnings to between $40,000 and $45,000.

He did not say what the Packers would pay him, but said it was a five-year contract.

"Five years is a fair amount of time to get the job done," he said. "That's fair to both parties."

Stars Down Memphis Pros

By United Press International
Glen Combs and Ron Boone have begun to pay dividends for the Utah Stars.

Combs and Boone, acquired from Texas last week in exchange for Don Freeman, combined for 41 points Thursday night as the Stars downed the Memphis Pros 116-102.

The victory stretched Utah's Western Division lead to 1 1/2 games over idle Indiana. Zelmo Beaty also had 21 points for the stars and George Stone had 20 while Charlie Williams' 29-point performance was high for Memphis.

In the only other American Basketball Association action Thursday night, the Pittsburgh Condors beat the Kentucky Colonels 121-111 and the Carolina Cougars edged the Floridians 133-130.

Stew Johnson had 30 points and Skeeter Swift a career high 29 as the Condors rallied to beat Kentucky. Pittsburgh outscored the Colonels 32-16 in the final quarter to win.

George Lehmann's two foul shots with four seconds left clinched the Cougars' victory over the Floridians. Mack Calvin, the league's leading scorer, had 39 points for the Floridians. While Joe Caldwell, who won a court decision earlier in the day enabling him to stay with Carolina, led the Cougars with 36.

Linemen Will Hold On Offense

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer
MIAMI (UPI)—Don't get fooled Sunday.

Don't let those offensive linemen fake you out when you're sitting there watching the Super Bowl game on TV.

Those offensive linemen hold. They're not supposed to, but they all do.

Roy Hilton, the Baltimore Colts' defensive end, verifies that. He ought to know. He has to play against those offensive linemen.

"All great offensive linemen are great holders," Hilton says, putting a bit of extra emphasis on the word great.

"They have great quick hands and this is the only way they become great offensive linemen. What makes a 'great' holder is he's able to hold and get away with it. They do quite a bit of it."

"An offensive tackle may come and hook his arms around you just long enough to stop your charge, and before the official throws a flag your pass rush is stopped and he looks great. This is what your great offensive lineman has to do."

That's terrible. What does Roy Hilton do about things like that?

"If a guy holds me I go tell an official," he said. "I'll say 'watch No. 78, he's holding.' By the same token I'll go at him one way then come back at him another. If he holds me real bad and makes me angry I'll try to take his head off with my hands."

"I go at him with the head slap. I try not to complain to the officials too much. I just try to knock the offensive lineman loose, you know what I mean? Sometimes it works, sometimes not."

Kentucky Will Face Tennessee Saturday

Defending SEC basketball champion Kentucky, with a 10-2 season record and a perfect 4-0 in conference play, faces three successive road games which could go a long way in determining whether the Wildcats capture their 28th title.

The Wildcats travel to Knoxville, Saturday, Jan. 16, for an afternoon televised game with rugged Tennessee.

A week later, Jan. 23, the Wildcats take on LSU at Baton Rouge, and travel to Tuscaloosa, Monday, Jan. 25, for a game with surprising Alabama.

Coach Adolph Rupp has used four different starting combinations in an effort to find the most effective unit, and apparently has settled on forwards Larry Steele (Sr. 13.5), Tom Parker, (Jr. 17.5), center Tom Payne, (Soph. 15.9), and guard Mike Casey, (Sr. 21.0).

The other guard post has seen a running battle between Kent Hollenbeck, (Jr. 13.1), and Terry Mills, (Sr. 8.3), the team's leading shooter with 59.5 percent from the field. Rather than harm team unity, the pair seems actually to complement one another, with the master strategist Rupp sensing which is to have the hot hand at a given moment.

Not surprising has been the emergence of two-time All-SEC guard Casey as the team's leader in scoring and floor-generalship. The 6-foot-4-inch Casey, after suffering leg injuries last year in an automobile accident which almost cost him his basketball career, has scored 252 points in 12 games.

Casey's 1,327 career points place him 11th top scorer in UK history and only 17-points behind the great Frank Ramsey. Casey this year has passed such illustrious names in Kentucky basketball tradition as Bill Lickert, Wallace (Wah Wah) Jones, Vernon Hatton and Bill Spivey.

Dear Abby

Secretary no gem to his wife

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My very efficient secretary, who had been with me for 12 years, retired.

After several weeks of interviews, our daughter sent a 26-year-old former college friend of hers to apply for the position. The very plain, she appeared to be personable, competent and well-groomed, so I hired her. In the past months she has shown promise of developing into a top-notch secretary. Meanwhile my wife is furious with my daughter for sending this girl over and she's angry with me for hiring her. The reason, the girl is well endowed and she goes braless.

Good secretaries are at a premium, and I mean to keep this one, short of breaking up my home. Her going braless doesn't bother me, and besides, I feel it is her business and nobody else's. By the way, our own daughter (who is equally well endowed) goes braless, too, but this doesn't bother my wife. Now, what do you think, Abby?

NO HANKY PANKY IN PORTLAND

DEAR NO HANKY: Tell your wife to run the house and to let you run your office. Better a braless secretary than one who's braless.

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend grew a beard and it looks crummy. The hair on his head is brown, and his beard grew in red! Also, it's very uneven and it looks like moths got into it in spots. He knows it looks funny, and he knows I don't like it, but he won't shave it off because to him it's a symbol of his independence, and he knows his parents hate it. It is for this reason that I don't ask him to please get rid of it, altho I wish he would.

Is there some way I can get him to shave it off without making him feel he would be yielding to those who have been bugging him about it? LISA

DEAR LISA: Having made your preference known, say no more. People, like beards, grow. And one day your boy friend might outgrow the need to cling to something only because he knows his parents don't like it.

DEAR ABBY: For years, whenever my husband and I have had a quarrel, he has written his side of it to his mother, and she in return has sent (addressed to both of us) acid letters, condemning me and blaming me for ruining her son's happiness. For about a year I have refused to read her letters, so my husband has been reading these letters aloud to our children, ages 8, 13, and 16.

I have always felt that husband-wife quarrels, no matter how trivial, were private, so I have tried not to quarrel in front of our children. And I certainly would not think of writing to my parents about our differences. I've tried to get this across to my husband without success. He claims that parents should know how their children's lives are, and that our children are old enough to realize that not only "he" thinks I am in the wrong all the time.

The children ask me questions about their grandmother's letters, and I don't know what to do about the whole mess. FED UP

DEAR FED: Some counseling from a competent, impartial third party might improve your marriage. If it doesn't, your alternative is to clear out and take the children with you. Suggest that to your husband. If you continue to hang around while he tries to punish you in the manner you describe, it's a toss-up as to who's sicker—you or your husband.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90089. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90089.

Parents Help To Change School For The Better

By RUTH YOUNGBLOOD HONOLULU (UPI) — Youngsters, high on glue, lunched in the hallways, daring teachers to "do something about it." Gangs roamed the grounds, terrorizing students and faculty members.

Beatings and hijackings directed at members of minority groups were common.

If this sounds like school is there anything you can do to change it?

Stevenson Intermediate School in Honolulu was plagued with just such frightening problems until a group of parents became part of a special program designed to turn a bad school into a good one.

In two years, thanks to the program, Stevenson has gone from a school described by a state legislator as a "bloody disgrace" to one which can make Hawaii proud.

Road To Recovery

The road to recovery began when Mrs. June Leong became principal and had the courage to acknowledge the problems she found and to ask for parents' help.

"Many of the youngsters had motivational difficulties," she said. "Their feelings accumulated to a point where they couldn't handle them."

"They tuned school out, so we had to find a way to tune them back in."

Stevenson is a city school drawing on youngsters of many racial and economic backgrounds. Mrs. Leong believes Stevenson's success story could be imitated wherever concerned parents and school administrators join forces in a similar program.

One of the first things Mrs.

Leong did was extend the lunch period from 35 minutes to 65 minutes and make "fun-learning" activities available.

"When I got here, the youngsters were warehoused in the cafeteria during lunch," she said. Realizing that they needed a respite from classes, parents as a starter were invited to conduct a wide range of lunch period activities, including sports, bridge lessons, fishing, camera and pet clubs.

Open Doors

"The principal has to open the doors and want parents involved," Mrs. Leong said. "For us, they supervise the (non-class) activities, but their main reason for giving up their time and coming is to show they care about the students and the school."

Each day a number of cooperating parents just walk around the grounds, getting to know the students.

Mrs. Leong has found that most of the 1,350 seventh, eighth and ninth graders do participate in the activities offered. "But they don't have too," she said. "I realize that young people need time to be by themselves, too, just to think."

In the 1968-69 school year, 103 students were suspended. The figure dropped to six the year after Mrs. Leong became principal and the parent-participation program went into action.

"There is a tenure of happiness here now," the principal said. "Disciplinary problems are rare and the atmosphere of fear is gone."

Cooperative Conference To Be On January 21-22

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Agricultural leaders from throughout Kentucky will be in Louisville January 21-22 for the 19th Kentucky Cooperative Conference.

The conference, conducted by the Kentucky Cooperative Council, will be held at the Executive Inn.

Featured speakers will include Dr. Glenwood Creech, vice president for university relations at the University of Kentucky; Dr. Eric Thor, administrator of the Farmer Cooperative Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture; Tommy Bell, attorney and professional football official; and Walter Brown, Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Louisville.

Another highlight will be a review of the reorganization of the Kentucky Cooperative Council. The reorganization was approved following an extensive evaluation of the structure and future of the Council, which promotes the cooperative movement in Kentucky.

The conference will begin at 9 a.m. Thursday, January 21, with registration, to be followed by an 11:45 a.m. luncheon. Dr. Creech will be the featured speaker at the luncheon, and 1970 Cooperative Council President Davis Gatlin will follow Dr. Creech with a report on Council activities.

After a recess, Dr. Thor will speak at 2 p.m. on the subject, "Why Do We Need Co-Ops?"

At 2:45 p.m., a panel discussion on "How We Handle Personnel Recruitment and Development" will be moderated by Wendell C. Binkley of the University of Kentucky.

A banquet is scheduled at 6:30 p.m. January 21, with Tommy Bell addressing himself to the topic of "Tiger By The Tail."

Activities on Friday, January 22, will begin with a 7 a.m. breakfast and a program featuring discussion of the 1971 youth program co-sponsored by the Cooperative Council and University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. The youth program, which has received national recognition in recent years, involves young Kentuckians in an in-depth study of the American private enterprise system.

A business meeting will follow the breakfast at 9 a.m. The meeting will include the review of the Council's reorganization; caucuses to nominate council directors; and election and presentation of the Council's board.

Walter Brown will close the conference with a talk entitled, "Our Challenges and New Opportunities."

The conference will adjourn at 10:30 a.m. January 22.

A HITCH IN TIME

TRING, England (UPI) — Embarrassed civil leaders Wednesday canceled plans for a full year of celebrations marking the 1,400th anniversary of the founding of the town. A local historian informed them that she could find no mention of the town before 1066. She said the person who said he had found an earlier mention was in error.

Can you find the Volkswagen hidden in this picture?

If you can, you'll make us very sad.

Because we've troubled ourselves no end to hide it from you.

Our quest for the invisible Volkswagen took us all the way to Turin, Italy.

Where we asked the famous Ghia Studios to design us a sporty Italian body.

They did.

Their drawings clutched tightly in hand, we secretly prowled about Europe for the best coach builder we could find.

Success. To the Karmann Coachworks of Osnabrück we handed over Ghia's sketches with the injunction:

"Make it beautiful." (Or else.)

They did.

They welded. And burnished. And sculpted. And sanded. And painted.

Until they had shaped in steel what Ghia had shaped in pencil.

Smug in the knowledge that nobody could ever mistake this beautiful car for a Volkswagen, we made it a Volkswagen.

By concealing our air-cooled engine in back. (For better traction.)

And making it go about 26 miles on just one gallon.

Then we gave this Volkswagen its final disguise:

We named it the Karmann Ghia.

GENERAL KILLED SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese air force fighter-bombers killed a North Vietnamese army general in an air strike last month during the battle to lift the siege of the Cambodian city of Kompong Cham, military sources said Monday.

South Vietnamese paratroopers said they had positive identification of the body of Gen. Muoi Tri, former commander of the "27A Regiment" of the 5th Viet Cong division.

DEATH SENTENCE—Albert Ndongmo (above), 44, an African Roman Catholic bishop, was sentenced to death by a firing squad in a public place in Yaounde, Cameroun, on charges he plotted to kill President Ahmadou Ahidjo.

Get The Light From GOD'S LIGHTHOUSE & GUIDE YOU TO HIS CHURCH.

Only a TENTH

"What shall I render unto the Lord for all His benefits?" (Psalms 116:12). Every man of earnest and serious mind must ask himself this question as he meditates on the goodness and the Grace of God toward him. We want to do what is right in our every association with God and man. The Government takes as its proper share at least twenty per cent of every man's income. WHAT IF GOD SHOULD REACH DOWN INTO YOUR LIFE AND MINE AND TAKE WHAT REALLY BELONGS TO HIM? How much would be left for us? Have you raised corn? Or did you and God work together in making the corn crop? And just which of you put more time and energy into the process? Have you "struck" oil? Who spent centuries creating the oil and holding it in the underground lake until you came along? Is the oil really all yours? What is God's share? YOU AND GOD ARE PARTNERS IN THE OIL BUSINESS. WHAT IS HIS PORTION?

Jesus Christ is our revelation of the generosity of God who has been the eternal Giver, enlightening us with every sort of good thing. From the day of the first creation God has been at work with and for man. Each of us represents in his body and in his soul the everlasting toil of God, who truly wants to make us His children and who desires us to join Him in making an ever better world for His sons and daughters to live in. JESUS IS OUR PATTERN OF WHAT A MAN CAN GIVE TO HELP IN THE PURPOSE OF GOD. HOW MUCH DID JESUS GIVE BACK TO GOD?

Jewish and Christian people have agreed that we ought to give at least a tenth of our income to God and His Church for the carrying on of His redemptive program. A tenth will not necessarily discharge all our debt, but it will show a sense of deep gratitude. Everything is His, even the cattle of a thousand hills and the abundant harvest from the fields. He gives us everything which makes life abundant. Our ideal is to join in the prayer, "Take my life and let it be consecrated, Lord to Thee." Let us be good partners with God. Let us be His co-workers. MAY WE GLADLY GIVE BACK TO HIM AT LEAST A TENTH OF WHAT HE SO FREELY GIVES US."

Motor Transportation Increases Activity; Saves Taxpayer Money

By Jim Warren
State News Bureau
FRANKFORT, KY.—For the third consecutive year, the Department of Motor Transportation not only increased its activities—but saved the taxpayers' money.

The department's recently released year-end report shows all divisions performed more services while returning unused funds.

Motor Transportation Commissioner Alex McIntyre Jr. returned to the treasury some $116,143 for the fiscal year 1969-70. He sent back $38,733 in fiscal year 1967-68 and returned $98,004 unused in 1968-69.

McIntyre said the savings were achieved through implementing changes recommended by the efficiency task force and by careful use of the department's fleet of mobile units.

One departmental section showing growth during the past fiscal year is the Qualifications Division which issues special license plates and collects taxes on commercial licenses, certificates and operational fees.

Revenue collected on commercial licenses and permits increased in every category except bus mileage tax which showed a slight decrease because of accounting procedures.

Revenue on commercial truck plates increased 5.1 per cent from $12,248,378 to $12,877,008 and revenue from trailer registration increased 10.3 per cent.

Increases also are shown in Kentucky motor fuel tax receipts.

Total revenues from the tax increased 8 per cent over last year, rising from $3,395,665 to $3,667,567. Receipts for 1967-68 were $2,793,573.

Total road fund receipts realized from the tax statutes administered by the department are up from $16,759,639 to $17,639,924 an increase of 5.2 per cent.

A decline was noted in the number of specialized plates issued to bus companies. This can be traced to a continuing decline in patronage by bus passengers and rising costs which caused the demise of seven bus companies during the fiscal year.

For the third consecutive year safety inspections performed by the Division of Law Enforcement also increased.

Some 17,060 inspections were performed in 1969-70, compared with 16,910 in 1968-69 and 15,046 in 1967-68.

The number of citations issued rose from 11,681 in 1968-69 to 12,486. Some 8,979 citations were issued in 1967-68.

"Convictions declined to 7319 for the year from 7586 for fiscal 68-69, while the number filed away or acquitted rose from 4095 in 1968-69 to 5167 for fiscal 69-70," McIntyre said.

Fines rose from $433,169 in fiscal 1968-69 to $454,109 for 1969-70.

"We have been successful in putting the existing personnel to work in a more efficient manner, allowing them to produce more work without hiring more staff," McIntyre said. "We have done our best to put the department on an efficient and businesslike basis. We think our record to date bears out our success."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Within the year-end rally there has not been a dramatic rise in the averages, according to TPO Inc. But the company says that "hundreds of issues which had failed to participate at all since May have begun to attract buying volume." The company believes the technical indicators among the "innumerable dormant equities" are developing long-term bullish trends.

This year will be a year for the bulls just as 1969 and 1970 were years for the bears, Harris, Upham & Co. believes. "There should be less emotionalism this year with most of the movements of the Dow Jones industrials confined to the 20 per cent range of 760-925," the company predicts. Adding to the company's optimism is its belief that third years of four-year presidential terms "have the best record for bulls."

With the easier money conditions and President Nixon's prediction that the economy would improve this year, a further extension of the market's upward movement appears "logical," according to Oppenheimer, Newborg & Neu. The firm says "it remains to be seen" whether foreign political events will reverse the trend. In the meantime, the company believes the purchase of sound equities seems "justified."

DEFENSE TIGHTENER—A Sprint missile, shown in test firing, scored a bull's-eye hit on an intercontinental ballistic missile in its first test against a simulated warhead, the Pentagon has announced. The Sprint, a small, high-velocity missile in the Safeguard Antiballistic Missile System, is designed to provide close-in protection.

Open Letter To Teaching Mothers

(Editor's Note - This Open Letter To Teaching Mothers was written for the Kentucky School Journal January issue by Shirley Porter Williamson.)

WORKING MOTHERS are continually pressured internally and externally by the question, "Should a woman with children work?" While this creates a dilemma for the working mother, it creates an even greater problem for the teaching mother because we daily see children who have been neglected by their parents, and we wonder if our own children are being neglected because we teach.

No longer is it a question of whether a woman should work or should not work when she has children at home. The fact is that women comprise 38 per cent of the work force in the United States. Still, the working mother is fed much negativism from males and non-working women, and made to feel guilty because she works.

She is made to feel even more guilty if she enjoys working. Work if you must; but enjoy it never.

The role of the woman and the mother is changing. In biblical times women were needed to replenish the earth, and the world would have never reached its present population explosion if the women had not dedicated themselves to having baby after baby, and devoted their time to the care and feeding of the family, which was a 48-hour-a-day task.

But we are living in a different age. If the earth still needed to be populated, and if mankind would die out if I didn't help, I would definitely feel it to be my duty to stay at home and have babies. That is the last thing this old earth needs now. It needs women to stop having babies.

Modern technology has made it possible for me to keep house, and keep it better, in one-tenth of the time it took my grandmother. I do not have to build a fire and cook on a wood stove, do the laundry in a tub on a washboard, make my own soap, kill my own hogs, carry water from the well, or run down the path to the outhouse.

I work; I have always worked. Not only that, I enjoy working. Working gives me a great deal of satisfaction, ego involvement, and emotional well-being. Women who do not work condemn me. I do not care if they choose to stay at home.

I sometimes wonder how they spend their time. That isn't true. I don't have to wonder. I know. They watch television, play golf, play cards, shop, have coffee clatches, have parties, or do volunteer work for the PTA and civic organizations. Very few of them spend any more hours with their children or at home keeping house than the working mother.

I do not think working mothers contribute to the delinquency of children. Delinquency is created by the neglect of children when you are with them.

It is not the amount of time you spend with your kids; it is how you relate to them and use the time when you are with them. I do listen to my three girls. I am two things: A career woman and a wife and mother. That is all I can manage. I do not have time to belong to women's groups or clubs or social or civic organizations. I decided years ago that I could only do two things, and the two things I chose were job and family.

Of course, these priorities will change when the children are grown. Then, I will have time for socializing and civic duties. Right now, even though I would enjoy those things, I do not have time. My socializing is done with the family, and my civic responsibilities are filled by participating in professional activities connected with education.

I said I am a wife and a mother. I am not a housekeeper. Some women teach and keep house. If you are the frantic housekeeper type, and upset if the house isn't in perfect order all the time, you have no business working. Something has to give. If you hit the dust mop and broom, and tackle the dirt and debris when you step across the threshold every morning, your kids are going to be neglected because then you are a working mother and a housekeeper.

Give your time to your kids. Listen to them. Talk with them. Share with them. Be a fulltime mother when you are with them. Naturally, this means you should not take your job home with you.

Each of us has to decide what is right for us to do. If you feel your children will suffer and misbehave because you work, they probably will. For one thing, your own guilt feelings will make them suffer. Your nonverbal guilt feeling come through loud and clear even though you are saying something different.

I believe children and adults react to things the way we expect them to react. If you distrust them, they will probably be distrustful. If you expect them to behave, and you know inside they will behave, they will. This is not something you can tell them. It is a feeling. Children can sense when they are trusted and loved and liked...just as animals can sense

NEW YORK (UPI)—Getting that new refrigerator or sofa from warehouse to distributor to consumer sounds easy enough, but it's not.

Matter of fact, it's a major reason for today's soaring prices.

The warehouse industry, which has a big stake in the subject, figures that the consumer sometimes pays as much as $80 on a $200 item just getting it moved from factory to home. Forty per cent is a big bite. So the industry, which has about a quarter of a billion square feet of warehouse space in operation, is trying to get the job done cheaper to avoid consumer flak.

The D. H. Overmyer Company Inc., the largest public warehousing organization in the United States with 27-million square feet of space, has started sending its employees back to school. Robert D. Schmidt, Overmyer president, says the educational effort has, among other things, cut shipping time by 10 per cent.

George Ludwig, 32 and a warehouseman since 1966, is a typical student in the training program scheduled to "graduate" 800 the first year.

The Overmyer school involves on-the-job training. "That's fine for me. Going back to a regular school would be impossible since my wife and kids depend on that weekly pay check," said Ludwig. "This is a good way to learn more and have a chance of going to foreman."

The "school" teaches efficiency through better knowledge of the job and why it's being done a certain way. One example is the teaching of the way to unload canned food. A three-man crew working at a rate of $10 per man-hour should unload eight standard railroad box cars in eight hours, a normal working day. On this basis, the railroads allow 24 hours for unloading before a freight car customer is charged for demurrage.

The training course teaches ways to get that job done in eight hours. The system calls for eight warehouse doors used simultaneously for receiving canned goods from eight box cars. The crew rotates from one door to the next, picking up goods as they are placed on the loading dock from the car, eliminating all waiting time. If there are no goods at one door, they simply move on to the next.

A simple improvement such as eight-door unloading, says Schmidt, can reduce man-hours as much as 30 per cent. The customer also avoids penalty charges by the railroad. Those savings mean lower prices for the consumer.

Holdup suspect explains 'theft' at Hawaii bank

HONOLULU (UPI): Police today closed the book on the bank robbery that wasn't.

It occurred—or rather didn't occur—at the Hawaii National Bank's Waikiki branch yesterday.

A note was handed to a teller, $2800 was taken, the alarm was sounded and a suspect was arrested—but there was no robbery, police said.

Detectives said Erich Mittermier, 41, was freed after explaining what happened.

Mittermier, a red-haired Bavarian, had previously arranged to have his funds transferred from a bank in New York. Assuming the transfer had been made, he went to Hawaii National to make a withdrawal.

He handed a teller a note specifying he wanted to withdraw $6000.

The teller, thinking it was the third robbery at the bank since August, handed over a stack of bills. Mittermier took the money and walked away as the alarm went off.

Police were all over the place in minutes. An hour later, Mittermier was found at another bank, where he was going to deposit the money. He was a bit upset because he discovered he had only $2800 instead of $6000.

Phi Delta Kappa Plans Initiation For Tuesday

Thirty-five new members will be interviewed and formally initiated into the Murray State University chapter of Phi Delta Kappa in ceremonies at the university Tuesday, Jan. 19.

Following the installation program at 5 p.m. in Room 204 of the Applied Science Building, Dr. Stanley Wall of the University of Kentucky will be the featured speaker at a dinner meeting in the cafeteria of the Waterfield Student Union Building at 7 p.m.

His theme will be "Concerns of Community Colleges in the 1970s." Now dean of the University of Kentucky community college system, Wall has been associated with the College of Agriculture and with agricultural education at the university for several years.

An international professional fraternity for men in education, Phi Delta Kappa is the largest professional fraternity of its kind in the world with 100,000 members in 344 chapters in the United States and Canada.

Chartered in June of 1969, the chapter at Murray State now has a membership of 129. It was the fourth chapter organized in Kentucky and includes members from four other states—Tennessee, Illinois, Arkansas and Missouri.

Dr. Donald B. Hunter, dean of the School of Education, is president of the Murray State chapter.

PROPERTY insurance losses dip

NEW YORK (UPI) - Underwriting losses for property-liability insurance dropped to $275 million in the last two quarters of 1970, compared with $500 million in 1970, the Insurance Information Institute reported.

At the same time, premium volume increased 13 per cent to $32.8 billion and dividend and interest income rose from $1.7 billion to $1.9 billion. The institute predicted that the number of stolen cars in the new year would increase by some 1 million, costing the industry $1 billion. Major disasters such as hurricane Celia cost $450 million while jet hijackings, a new type of case, may have cost $20 million or more. Economic losses from auto losses were down 3.5 per cent in 1970 but crime losses were up 10 per cent.

FT. MCPHERSON, Ga.—Edward Magill, attorney for Sgt. Charles E. Hutto, who was charged in the alleged My Lai massacre and freed by an Army court martial board: "When you get around to assessing—responsibility, let's get to the people who make the judgments, and not to the foot-sloggers."

Air National Guard Gets Union Contract

By Shanna Columbus State News Bureau

FRANKFORT, Ky.—The first union contract between the state Department of Military Affairs and the Kentucky Air National Guard was signed today (1-12) by Gen. Larry C. Dawson, Adj. Gen., Dept. of Military Affairs; Col. Harlan Mitchell, civilian personnel technician, Dept. of Military Affairs; and Charles W. Johnson, president of Local R5-100 of the National Assn. of Government Employees.

The first local union for the Kentucky Air National Guard is located at Shewmaker Air National Guard Base, Louisville. The union contract covers the 1970 employees of the Air National Guard Base, guaranteeing certain rights to these federally-paid civilian employes by the state's Department of Military Affairs.

In January 1969 federally-paid state employes of both the Army and Air National Guard were brought into the federal civil service system by law.

The contract, signed between General Dawson and Local R5-100, however, provides state guarantees for the union employes of the Air National Guard.

"The trend for civilian employes of National Guard units to be covered under union contracts is becoming a prominent one," says Col. Mitchell, civilian personnel technician. "One-half of the civilian National Guard technicians in the United States are union members of the National Assn. of Government Employees.
