Rep. Margaret Smith Speaks Here Wednesday

By Dave Powers

Under the sponsorship of the Political Forum, Congressman Margaret Chase Smith will speak at the Student Union Wednesday, February 25th at 7:30 P. M. All interested people are invited to attend. There will be a question period following the speech.

Bodley's Talk Was Well Received

R. V. C. Bodley gave a very entertaining and informative talk at the Student Union Monday morning about life with the nomad Arabs of Sahara Desert.

His lecture, "Wind in the Sails" was as interesting a talk as has ever been privileged to hear near at the Annex. He made immediate hit with the audience, which was composed of students, faculty members and many guests, held its attention from the opening sentence to the last. The rapt applause at the closing was testified to that effect.

Bodley included in his talk an outline of the exciting life of Mohammed, bringing out the known fact that it is so close related to Christianity. He also pointed out that the religion of the Arabs is Islam, and that the popular "Mohammedism" is completely erroneous; Mohammed never claimed to be a divine person and merely counted himself as messenger of Allah. Allah is also not a doubt our own "Allah" that of the Jews, "Allah" being an Arabic word for god, and of course.

Bodley showed how closely the Mohammed religion and the daily life of the Arab ties together, and that Mohammed's ideas closely adhere to necessity, and not burdenous, such as they may appear to uninitiated Occidental.

Bodley gave us glimpses of the daily life of the Nomads, the serious side of the humorous, and his comments of their philosophy gave us food for thought. Their consecration to Kismet, fatalism both its benefits and its drawbacks, from a Western point of view. Everything, however, was an interesting part of an excellent

Schedule For This Semester — We're Trying It Again!

Last week there was a slight mix-up in the schedule for the Spring semester, though not fault of our own. Nevertheless, university telegrams have been ringing from one end of the Campus to the other to find out what's what; here, we hope, at 15 what:

Monday, Feb. 23rd, holiday, Washington's Birthday (Sunday)

Monday noon, April 2, Spring vacation begins.

Monday morning, April 13, classes resume.

Monday, April 20, mid-semester exams due.

Monday, June 5, classes end.

Monday, June 7, final examinations begin.

Monday, June 12, examinations end; every-thing ends!

Band, Glee Club Concert Wednesday

On Wednesday, Feb. 25th, the Maine Annex Glee Club and Band will present a joint musical program in an assembly at the Student Union building. The glee club under the direction of Mr. Doe will present eight numbers as follows:

Keep In The Middle Of The Road, Bartholomew; Go Down Moses, Gaul; Fosteriana, Gibb; All Through the Night, Ringward; Shadon March, Protheroe; Cape Cod Chantry, Norman; This Is My Country, Jacobs; O Singing Land, Sibelius.

The Band, under the able baton of Victor Parquet, will present several numbers during the program.

These musical organizations have been heard several times before and have proven to be very well skilled in the art of entertaining. The program on the morning of the 25th will be open to both students and public.

NOTICE

Any Cut from noon Friday, 20 February, to 6 P. M. Tuesday, 24 February, means drop with an "F"!

See page 9 of "Information for the Guidance of Students."

An excuse will be good during this period only if signed by either Mr. Crouse or Mr. French.

This means you must be here for all your classes this week, and for all classes Tuesday. Monday is a holiday, and you have either a two or a three day holiday (nobody has a class on Saturday, does he?) but Monday only, and even if one class, if you could cut it, means extra hours home, it doesn't count. In this case, your studies must interfere with your college career!

NOTICE

The Business Manager has been informed that Catholic students need not abstain from eating on Wednesdays of Lent.

Ozzie Ellis States Political Platform

By John L. Borodko

Monday evening at the gym during the half, the honest philosopher Osborne Ellis, who is running for Mayor, attempted to make a speech and would have succeeded if it had not been for the rudeness of a certain team. However he did state that he would like to offer protection. As all you fellows know, the month of March is about to come in and with that month comes the most terrible of winds and Ozzie's protection will be to talk in the opposite direction as a counteracting influence.

The high moment of Ozzie's speech came when he went over to shake his worthy opponent John Glew's hand. When Ozzie was asked as to what Glew had said to him, Oz said that Glew's only comment was, "The same to you, the same to you, the same to you."

Ozzie was introduced by that well-known ex-candidate, Mike Wheeler, and Ozzie wishes to thank Mike for the fine introduction.

Brunswick Campus Has Turned Co-educational!

Orono No Longer Has Monopoly On Women; Ratio Here Only 350 to 1

For the first time in its history as an educational institution, the Brunswick Campus has been revolutionized. No longer must we face a year of dreary, barren classrooms devoid of feminine comradeship—the Annex is co-educational!

The young hopefuls are Pat Emerson and LaVona McCowan, both of whom are nurses at the school infirmary. "Mac" is taking English, while Pat is taking English and Descriptive Physics. Too late to change schedules, men. With 30 credits received in nursing school, the girls have 90 to go for the 120 required for a Bachelor of Science Degree. LaVona will probably complete her formal education at Orono; however, Miss Emerson plans to receive her degree from Columbia University. Best of luck to you both.

We sincerely hope that the presence of these young ladies will put an end to the strangled moans of our potential Casanovas. Rough statistics show that now there is a girl for every 325 men; not counting Mrs. McCowan's husband.

R.O.T.C. Forms Own Club On Campus

Well another club has been developed at our Brunswick Annex. This new organization will join forces with the other groups and clubs to help in driving out our old-time gripe: "We don't have enough extra-curricular activities."

Our R. O. T. C. unit has organized to form a club which will perform in the same fashion as the "Swords and Sabre" club at the Orono campus. The actual constitution will be drawn up by the elected executive members, and it will be subject to ratification by the whole group. Two students from each military division will be elected to the executive group this coming Tuesday and Wednesday.

The club not only has the approval of the Student Senate and of Director Crouse, but also will have a reserved spot on the social calendar for its Military Ball.

The Brunswick Campus will be setting another precedent in getting this club under way. No other organization of its sort is in existence in the entire U. S. A. It seems that the army still holds its caste system (you can tell a vet wrote this), but Brunswick is doing what it can to fight for the rights of the EM. The EM in this case being the junior half of the Maine R. O. T. C. unit.

If our boys get this going well, they might start something that will spread to other Universities!

Camera Club Makes Semester Plans

Last Tuesday night the conference room of the administration building was the scene of a meeting of the U. of M. Annex Photography Club. As this was the first meeting of the new semester, the subject which dominated the business meeting was a discussion of new plans and arrangements which would be put into effect for the rest of the school year. Although hindered by the unavoidable absence of the president and vice-president, those present were able to accomplish much in the way of making tentative plans for future activities, including a salon exhibition in the spring and possibly several photographic field trips to some of the many nearby beauty spots which dominate the landscape along this part of the Maine coast.

Under the chairmanship of treasurer Sid Folsom, the meeting was opened at 7 o'clock, and business got under way immediately. After a treasurer's report announcing a very favorable condition of the club's exchequer, a suggestion was brought up recommending that some of the money, derived mainly from membership fees, be set aside for the purpose of insuring some of the club's more expensive apparatus. This met with instant approval, and two members were given the task of investigating the policies of various companies in preparation for later positive action on the measure.

After this, the subject of dropping members and voting in new members was discussed at length. It was decided that at the next meeting there would be a mass elimination of those members who have shown little interest in the past semester, many of whom have not cared enough about the club to

THE EDITOR'S DESK . . .

The idea has been proposed by the newly formed Political Forum here on campus that a pre-congressional election for State of Maine representatives to our next Congress be held here at the Annex. The individual student will have ample opportunity to make his decision between the potential candidates due to the fact that invitations will be issued by the Forum to Messrs Sewall, Hildreth, Beveridge, and Mrs. Smith to speak to us here in the Student Union.

At these assemblies the speakers will not only present his and her personal viewpoints on national and international issues of importance, but a question period will be arranged to take place immediately following the speeches during which the guest speaker may be interrogated by the audience at large. Further details as to the manner and date of this election, as well as the dates on which the speakers will appear, will be published in the "Annex" as soon as the details on the final balloting procedure have been definitely decided on and as soon as final word has been received from those invited to speak.

Our first speaker will be Representative Margaret Chase Smith, who will speak to us in the Student Union on Wednesday, the 25th of February. Here is an excellent chance for all you campus politicians to formally launch your careers. If you have any questions that you would like her to answer—bring them with you. Be sure and be there . . .

CAMPUS CURRENTS

By Dave Macken

Everywhere small, scattered groups of students can be seen engaging in conversation concerning the injustices done them, or perhaps even the kindness of the professors in dealing out the grades . . . Have you noticed how often one person asks another what the instructor GAVE him? It would seem closer to the truth to ask a fellow student what he EARNED even though the prof does have the right to vary a grade slightly in some cases . . . It wasn't at all strange to attend a class last week and discover that a half or more of the usual number in attendance had either changed periods or taken up residence in other parts . . . Before long we'll all find ourselves being swept along in a political stream that runs to the ballot box. The mayor of the campus campaign seems to narrow down to a battle between Glew and the elite aristocrats with their pomp and free tickets and Ellis, leading the humble commoners with their belief in a representative with the simple qualities held by the greatest number of the people . . .

THOUGHTS WHILE SHOW-ERING . . . We haven't noticed that many Arts students have shifted to Tech for more work . . . Say, that definition in the English book stating that a WORD is merely a tool of thought sums up the meaning in a precise manner . . . Some of the fellows staggered away from the book store laden nearly as heavily this time as they were for the first semester . . . With so many hapless souls departing last week, it was hard to tell whether the officer at the administration building was directing traffic from the director's office or guarding the treasury . . . It is more than aggravating to get 2.9 for an average when that other tenth of a point could mean a ride on the glory train . . . Speaking of trains, someone should start a balcony line for the boys that make the chatter outside, but freeze up in speech class or any other place where the talk counts . . . Along with the snappy weather come a few equally brisk words from the instructors that the Spring semester will be accelerated . . . Let this admonishment lend haste to our endeavors.

FACULTY FACTS

By Dick Gordon

During the short lull in hostilities after mid-years, when we were sweating out changes in subjects and instructors, it was not uncommon around Div-6 to hear, "God! I hope we get Given for Calculus next semester." This expression was not intended to belittle the ability of other instructors, but rather to commote the feeling of confidence we have in the ability of Samuel Given, who led us through Algebra and Trig.

Mr. Given was graduated from the admirable institution in the pines down the road a piece. His only excuse is that his home is in Topsham, and he could walk to school. He confessed that teaching math was furthestmost from his mind, but he sort of fell into the job and now he enjoys it. Ah, well! Each to his own taste. Still single, he hopes to get his Master's degree before indulging in a bit of nuptial bliss—as the innocents are wont to call the institution of marriage.

Of hobbies or spare time activities, he had little to say, but he did profess to have a lukewarm interest in philately (yuh wanna bet?). He has the mien of the innocuous, retiring type, and it is often this type who are the real paramours. So perhaps Mr. Given has a hobby after all.

Sam (may I call you Sam?) was a 1st John in the Air Corps during the recent struggle for? His job was to cast a knowing eye on the clouds and to tell the Fly Boys whether or not they could put on their boots and fly.

To wind this column up with a bit of gus, I would like to heave a bouquet of considerable proportions into Mr. Given's lap. We feel that his savvy more than makes up for his lack of experience. We have a healthy respect for him and wish him all possible success.

CAMPUS CUTIES

Our "Campus Cutie" for a week was donated to our gallery Johnny Coombs of Building 20, answers to the name of Li Stone. Remember when some you guys were overseas? Wouldn't the above picture have minded you then of the ty American girl whom you missed much back home?
 Libby is 19 years old and continues way up into the stratosphere to a height of 5 feet 8 inches. John and Libby come from Bell Maine where they went to school together and tried their best to outdo each other in their self sporting activities. At the present too is struggling through algebra being a sophomore in Oberlin College in Ohio. She is majoring in Social Science there in preparation for her chosen career in secret work following her graduation.

Annex Trips CCI

The Maine Annex five tripped a happy Coburn Classical Institute 55 to 52 in a hair-raising overtime game last Tuesday night. With a 7 point lead at halftime, the Annex blew its lead in the last period only to sit up 48 to 48 in the closing minutes of play. The Annex club got off to a fast start as they out-passed their opponent. Paced by Woodbury and Tremont the Annex built up a 10 to 8 lead at the end of the first period. The Annex continued to roll as Mahaney soared around the Coburn defense to drop in several points to tie the Annex in the lead. Dick Mahaney, former Portland High football star, tossed in several beautiful long shots to keep Coburn in the running, trailing the Annex 26 to 24 at halftime.

Annex Trips PJC

The Maine Annex Basketball Team squeaked out a 37 to 35 victory over the P. J. C. squad on Monday. The Annex got off to a good start by piling up a 10 to 2 lead at the end of the first period.

Close guarding by the Annex in the first period put them in a commanding lead. The Annex proved fatal to the Annex in the last period as the classy Coburn club tied the score and went ahead. With the score changing hands several times, Coburn went ahead with a minute left to play. Art Dentremont saved the day for the Annex when he chucked in a low looping shot from out side the bucket to tie the score 48 to 48.

In the overtime Goodie, Dentremont, and Mahaney came through in the clutch to put the game on ice for the Annex. Nagle scored all four points in the overtime for Coburn.

Portable lead. P. J. C. shot wildly throughout this period and missed several scoring chances by throwing careless passes. At the end of the period P. J. C. finally scored. The points came on two foul shots made by Kirby.

In the second period, the Annex was slowed up considerably by the slow moving play of P. J. C. but continued to move along. For the first time in the game P. J. C. began to hit the basket by sinking

Bill Cummings Outstanding Skier

Bill Cummings, outstanding skier from the Maine Annex, placed second in the jumping event at the Dartmouth Winter Carnival Coach S. R. Curtis announced this week. Cummings, who traveled to Dartmouth with the Maine Varsity Ski Team, missed first place by a slim one tenth of a point. He sustained an injury at the carnival which may keep him from further competition this year. Coach Curtis is awaiting official medical reports as to Cummings' knee injury.

On February 8, Cummings won the Frederick Payne Trophy for the longest standing jump by a Maine skier at the Rumford Winter Carnival.

The Annex Sport's Staff takes time to congratulate Bill Cummings in his excellent work.

STUDENT SILHOUETTES

By George Phocas, Esq.

Erol Murphy called, "The Peasant" by those in the know, is the erstwhile subject of today's exposé! Murph was born in 1923 and later, not realizing that in him were the makings of an air corps man, he made the unforgivable mistake of seeking an education. After four years service he decided that Maine was the Place for him. (no Irony intended).

"The Peasant" is a good student although how he does it is a mystery to his intimates since he has a finger in almost every intellectual pie on the campus.

One of the few remaining survivors of the once famous multitude known as the Black Irish, his curly dark hair smites the heart of all good cooleens; but so far he has not deigned to bow to any of them.

The respect in which he is held by his fellow students was demonstrated recently when the Campus veterans sent him as their representative to a veteran conference in Washington, which incidently has born fruit in the form of a wage boost effective April 1st.

Murphy is president of the Student Senate and had a hand in getting the Coke down to its pre-war nickel. A member of the editorial board of the "Annex" "The Peasant" is also a member of the Phosorian Society and is helping in the formation of a political forum which will discuss informally current problems in the political world. Murph believes in college wholeheartedly as a medium for the exchange of ideas and philosophies, this is obvious from the way in which he goes about exhausting the library of its available stock of philosophical studies.

Although his only answer when you ask him about it is a pathetic grimace, we seem to see Murph as a potential presidential candidate . . . The Peasant Party, Murph?

As it is imperative that a majority of members be present at meetings before any final action can be taken on plans concerning the whole club, the new suggestion was lauded in that it would narrow the membership to only the deserving twenty-odd members who have been faithfully active in the club's program. It was also decided that it would be wise to post announcements of all club activities and legislative actions on the darkroom bulletin board.

Faculty-Students Meet

The Faculty-Student meeting was held Wednesday night at the Student Union with quite a bit of success. In the comfortable surroundings of the Student Lounge, the students discovered their instructors to be quite human and very enjoyable company.

The discussion group was held on an informal plane and students circulated from one group to another as they heard a topic particularly interesting to them voiced in a group other than their own.

Roving Reporter got in on all of them and here are some of the comments heard.

Dr. Knoff and reporter were holding forth on a conversation concerning languages and the need of a Universal Language when they joined Mr. Whiting and Dr. Thorndike to discuss the new 280 inch telescope — they wound up with a philosophy of politics.

Mr. Mazlish and Mr. Macomber gave their views on the importance of history classes in education when the Reporter arrived. I should recall Mr. Wallace's name mentioned in the din.
