Strickland Comes "Home" for Questions, Answers

Thom Chalfan
UC Writer

The "Forum on Current Political Issues in American Society" was a homecoming of sorts for U.S. Congressman Ted Strickland.

He taught at SSU from 1996-1997 and on August 21 returned to Shawnee State to speak. He also answered questions related to the papers of, and posed by, this summer's Senior Seminar students.

Education was the major topic of the day. The first question concerned the debate between teaching Creationism and Evolution. Strickland said that he has followed the events in Kansas, where two State Board of Education members were ousted when they tried to let local schools determine how, if at all, to teach evolution. He stated that he feels "faith should not be presented as science," and he hopes that we do not get caught up in a debate over an issue that cannot be solved.

Other questions on education dealt with funding of schools and school vouchers. Strickland stated that historically, schools have been funded by states and localities. Federal funding is limited and is used primarily for schools with special needs. He strongly opposes school vouchers, as he stated that one can not use resources for private and parochial schools without taking them away from public schools.

Strickland also spoke about the school funding situation in Ohio, saying that the problem is our heavy dependence on property taxes. He then went on to berate the State Legislature for imposing unfunded mandates on school systems in the form of proficiency tests.

On the death penalty, Strickland said, "Society has a right to have capital punishment," but he is concerned with the "uneven and unjust application of the death penalty." He went on to answered questions about trade relations with China and environmental concerns vs.

More Students On-Campus; Lower Enrollment So Far

This new complex, Campus View Apartments, located on Third Street, is walking distance to the campus and will accommodate 96 students. Up to four students will reside in four single-bedroom or two double-bedroom fully-furnished suites and will have the same amenities as students living on campus, including high-speed access to the university's computer network, paid utilities and cable television, and air conditioning. Neal Hatcher built the facility and SSU will manage the apartments. For more information about housing, call the Office of Student Activities at ext. 2217 or check out the Web site at www.shawnee.edu

UC Writer

SU students and faculty are beaming with excitement for the new school year. What is there to be excited about?

As if it could go unnoticed, the new Campus View Apartments are the biggest addition to the campus. Nearly one hundred students have the privilege of living in these new apartments.

Each apartment building contains six single and eighteen double bedrooms. The generous furnishings provide for a happy student!

It's time for some stats. As of August 22, the total number of students enrolled was 2709. When compared to last year's figures of 2840, enrollment is slightly down. Another 904 students need to register by the 15th day to equal last year's numbers.

The total number of students living on campus this year is almost 300, whereas last year the numbers did not quite reach 200.

"It's going to be a great year for students living in the University approved housing.

In addition, to this new facility, the students and staff in the Office of Student Activities have an exciting year of programs and services planned." Dave Edwards, Director of Student Activities/Auxiliaries

Also, look in the Chronicle for your favorite clubs' meeting times. An awesome year is up ahead. Let's make it the best year ever!

STUDENTS: For Your Own Sake, DO NOT Read This!

Katie Pickenpaugh
Editor-in-Chief

Ha! Now that you are reading this, WELCOME BACK, everyone! A special welcome goes to those here for the first time. Many of you are on the right track now, since you have picked up the school's student-run newspaper and are reading the editorial page! That's wonderful!

As I start my sixth year (haha) of undergraduate studies, I would love to pass along some of the insights that I have collected over the years at OU-E, OU, and SSU. Ideally, this will help you out in your remaining years of college.

In no particular order of importance:

1. Treat the non-faculty staff with the utmost respect. This means your department secretary, admissions and financial aid staff, maintenance and cafeteria workers. If it were not for these folks, this University would not be able to function at all. Be good to these people because you do not want to get on their bad side!

2. Get to know your professors. They are treasure troves of information and knowledge, and will be able to really help you out when you need recommendations.

3. Understand that this is a university, which means that students pay to learn. You will have to do work. Remember that when you graduate, you will be competing in the job market with graduates of ALL schools...and not all schools allow their students to get by with minimal work.

4. This is NOT high school anymore! Profs are not here to babysit. Take responsibility for yourself: read the syllabus and know when your assignments and exams are. Do your homework! If you are having trouble in a class, see your prof about it. It's likely you will receive help and not an "F."

5. Be considerate and use common sense. Throw away trash in the trash can (last time I checked, "stairwell" did not mean "trash can"). Oh, Please wash your hands, too. :)

6. Take advantage of the Clark Memorial Library, James Rhodes Athletic Center, and the Vern Riffe Center for the Arts. You will increase your intelligence, get a good body, and be culturally enlightened.

7. Keep up with school activities by CHECKING YOUR E-MAIL!! If you think it's junk mail, then just hit "X" to delete. ALL e-mail accounts have junk mail, and I get sick of hearing students complaining about it on Bearnet. The Student Programming Board and others keep extremely busy arranging activities to keep you entertained. Movie nights, bowling nights, dinner and theatre, comedians, shopping trips, cultural programs...it's all there for US.

8. Know what classes you need to graduate, and take them when they're offered. You can get updated degree audits at the Success Center anytime.

REALIZE that some classes are offered only certain quarters, or even certain years, so take that into consideration when you plan out the next couple years. (If you don't believe me, just ask Phil Thielen!)

9. If you change your address, notify the registrar, financial aid, your department secretary, the library, and payroll. The computer system doesn't do it the easy way.

10. GET INVOLVED!!!!!! I personally think it should be a general education requirement to be involved in a student organization at least one quarter per year. SSU organizations are diverse and geared toward many interests. Think about your resume and how empty it will be without any activities listed. It does NOT take a lot of time to get involved, and you will make lifelong friends. (Oh, and VOTE in the Student Government Association elections Spring quarter.)

Well, ten insights should be more than enough to get you started on the right foot. Remember that this is a government institution, so everything does not run smoothly all of the time (haha). SSU has some of the best advantages, but it is up to YOU to experience them.

Letters to the Editor

Regarding the June 6, 2000 edition

"I am interested in writing. By the way, the June 6 issue was so much better than the ones before it. I particularly liked the tabloidish additions."

Desiree Dotson

"I couldn't help but laugh my butt off over your article entitled 'Thank You, Thank You Very Much!' I have to ask this question: Did anyone respond back to you or give you a hard time about the article? Also, the movie casting on page 5 is a riot."

Brian Saul

More on "Thank You, Thank You Very Much":

"I totally agree with your logic. In my experiences, there is nothing worse than putting your hand on a wet door leaving the bathroom. On the other hand, at least one can say they wash them."

Karl Boerger

"Hilarious! Horrifying! Maybe some will get the message. We live in a very dirty world and it seems reasonable that we should employ full-time people going around sanitizing commonly-touched surfaces, doors, doorknobs, handrails, computer keyboards, light switches, and anything else we all have to share. With e-coli and flesh-eating bacteria outbreaks, this lack of sanitation could threaten epidemics. Sometimes I'm afraid to touch the faucets in bathrooms. Would it be inappropriate to make signs and tape them inside bathroom doors saying, 'Please wash your hands your filthy b*?' Would it raise sanitary consciousness?

Gary Andrews

On "Astrology Corner":

"I hope your judgment will minimize this sort of gratuitous obscenity in favor of the simple witticisms which comprise most of the piece."

Gary Andrews

Editor's Note: My apologies for those of you who believed that the Chronicle part of that issue was 100% true. There is NOT going to be a movie here. I DO detest those who do not wash their hands, and the language in the Astrology Corner was pushing the envelope, but only one person wrote to say anything about it. Was anybody else surprised, shocked, or offended?

I encourage all of you to make use of the Letters to the Editor section of this newspaper. We need to hear feedback!

How do you like the new look? Any suggestions? Comments? What features would you like to see in YOUR newspaper?

Also, the final touches were put on this issue while jet-lagged after a 24-hour plus trip back from Greece. Look for articles of SSU-related trips to Japan, Civil War sites, and Greece in the next issue.

Steve Purtee
Java Drinker

Today I was astounded once again when I went to buy a cup of coffee in the vending machine on the fourth floor of Massie Hall.

Not only did they raise prices, but they raised them by a dime at once!

Earlier this summer we saw higher vending machine prices when soda and the snack food prices were increased by a nickel; for the most part, prices increased from 55 cents to 60 cents.

If they are going to raise prices, why not do it all at once?! Why do they feel they have to shock the students not once, but TWICE with increasing prices?!

In the cafeteria, there is a much bigger selection of coffees. I personally drink black coffee, but others may find the cafeteria flavors and prices more to their liking.

Many people have back-to-back classes all day long, and may not be able to get to the cafeteria. Nonetheless, they should still not have to deal with sticker shock when they grab a bite of food to eat between classes when they visit the vending machines.

It is not a long walk to the cafeteria to get coffee from there. I wonder if the vending machine owners took that into consideration when they raised the coffee prices. Why was it a 10-cent increase at once?

Letter to the Editor Policy: Tell us what you think!

The University Chronicle is the official student-run newspaper of Shawnee State University. The opinions expressed on the Editorial pages are those of individual students and not necessarily the views of the University Chronicle staff or advisors. They are also not necessarily the opinions of SSU's administration, faculty, or staff. Career Corner

by Tom Charles

Welcome, and best wishes for a fantastic year at Shawnee State University. It will be an exciting time, and those of us who work in the Office of Career Services are delighted to share this special time in your life with you.

The big news in Career Services is that we moved during the summer months. Formerly located in the Commons Building, we are now found in the University Center, room #211. Our new location will be much more convenient for many of you. We invite you to stop in and check out our new home.

Please take full advantage of the services we have to offer you. If you are undecided as to your career goals, talk with a career counselor and explore the numerous possibilities open to you. In addition, we have an excellent computer program entitled Discover that provides you with an opportunity to explore career options at your own pace.

If you are considering a summer internship, take advantage of the resources available in our Career Library. Internships are an excellent way to gain some of that "real world" experience employers are seeking. There is no doubt that job seekers who have completed internships have an edge over those who have not done so. Once again, a career counselor can assist you in exploring some possibilities.

In addition, we would be pleased to take an active role in assisting you with your job search efforts. We provide a variety of services in this regard, many of which will be described in this column throughout the year. Be sure to read Career Corner in each issue of the University Chronicle. You will find the column very informative.

Most importantly, plan to attend each of three workshops being offered this fall. In this issue of the University Chronicle you will find a schedule of workshops for resume writing, cover letter composition and interviewing skills. Each workshop is one hour in length providing the foundation you need to conduct an effective job search.

We look forward to meeting you! Our office hours are as follows fall quarter. Additional meeting times may be arranged by appointment. Remember, we are in room #211 in the University Center, 740-355-2213.

Monday	8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

Perspectives in General Education

by Dr. Robert Mauldin, Coordinator of Shawnee State University's General Education Program

This is a new feature in the Chronicle that will provide students with a better understanding of the General Education Program and its requirements. In each issue, there will be a quote that will relate to this program. Dr. Mauldin is an Associate Professor of Chemistry.

John Hinni, Dean Emeritus of University Studies at Southeast Missouri State University, as part of a lecture on May 4, 2000 (SSU's Distinguished Lecture Series), explained the reason why many of the degree programs at SSU have a large number of courses required for the major, with no electives: "Information doubles in the time required for a student to complete a baccalaureate degree and the rate is increasing. Past practice has been for us to try to keep up by adding new courses. Hence, majors grow, elective courses have disappeared, general education has been reduced, and more insidiously, many general education courses are really courses that introduce subject matter of selected majors."

FRESHMEN: A Message from the Office of Counseling and Psychological Services

by Michael Hughes

Starting college is an exciting time for a freshman, but it can also be very challenging. The Office of Counseling and psychological Services can help.

Confronted with the rich diversity of different people, new ideas, and opportunities for personal growth, it is a time when freshmen begin to ask themselves several basic questions: "Who am I?," "What's important to me?," "What do I want from life?," and "How do I get it?" These are questions all people ask of themselves at some point in their lives. For college freshmen, it is usually the first year on campus.

Also, college is a time of change and adjustment. You will be leaving many of your old friends behind and seeking out new relationships and creating an identity for yourself on campus. You will find increased freedoms, but with that will come more responsibility. As you move forward toward your life goals, you will begin to separate from family and learn to stand on our own.

College will also bring increased academic demands and expectations. In order to be a successful student, refining your study habits, learning to prioritize your tasks, managing your time effectively, and coping with stress will be a few of the challenges you will face.

The Office of Counseling and Psychological Services, located on the second floor of the University Center, can assist you in addressing these issues through CONFIDENTIAL individual counseling sessions or participation in the Office's skills-development workshop series, which is offered weekly on campus.

For more information, please feel free to stop by or call Dr. Michael Hughes at 355-2213 for an appointment. The Office's hours are Monday-Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., and evenings by appointment.

WE'VE MOVED

The Office of Counseling and Psychological Services, formerly located in the Commons Building, has moved to the University Center, Second Floor. We are now located in the former Financial Aid Office.

Hours of operation will remain the same; 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday - Friday and evenings by appointment.

The Office phone numbers are:
Dr. Michael Hughes, Director - 355-2213
Lisa Ashcraft, Secretary - 355-2608
Front Desk - 355-2213

Please stop by and see our new offices!

Orientation Day, 8/15

Lynella Hemry
UC Writer

Before Fall Quarter started at Shawnee State University, prospective students gathered for Orientation Day, Tuesday, August 15th. For Orientation Day, students took a tour of the college, given the opportunity for lunch, and provided with admissions information.

At SSU, students come for many reasons, such as the low cost of tuition, the quality of education, and the closeness to home and work.

Donie Morris is a transfer student planning to major in Nursing. He is coming here after attending two colleges in Kentucky. "The University is closer to my work, so I decided to transfer here."

Jonathan Bobst is a twenty-one year old from Lucasville, Ohio. He plans to major either in Business Administration or Radiology. He is attending SSU "To gain a better education so that I may get a better job and have a better future." When asked if he was planning on becoming involved in activities, he said that he may be interested, but would first like to "get into the groove of things."

Mitch Hamel is an eighteen-old graduate from Waverly High School and said, "I am planning to major in Psychology." In fact, he played baseball and golf for his high school. Hamel said that he is interested in wanting to possibly play baseball for SSU, but he did not know if the option to play is still open.

Andrea Lewis attended Northwestern High School and just graduated this past May. She wants to work in law enforcement; however, because the University does not offer is degree, she is possibly looking at a business or a paralegal degree. She choose SSU "Because the college is close to home and is less expensive compared to other colleges."

Jennifer Howard is also a recent graduate of Northwestern High School. Howard said, "I am probably going to eventually major in the area of law." She decided upon SSU "Because the school is close to home and the tuition is low."

I personally would like to wish a warm welcome to the new students beginning or continuing their education at Shawnee State University!

Students Awarded

Shawnee State University senior Edward Gadzik is the recipient of a $2,500 state scholarship as part of a three-year pilot program to encourage studies in environmental engineering and technologies.

Gadzik, from St. Clairsville, Ohio, is one of 17 recipients of the scholarship. A fifth-year senior, he works as a resident advisor at SSU and serves as president of the National Association of Environmental Professionals. He previously served four years in the United States Army as a sergeant and was stationed in Savannah, Ga., and Schofield Barracks, Hawaii.

Students were selected for the scholarship based on an academic record with at least an overall GPA of 3.0; original research, scholarship, employment, volunteering or other unique contributions to environmental science or environmental engineering; activity in non-athletic extracurricular activities and organizations, ability to communicate, recommendation from education and environmental professionals; and a major in environmental science or environmental engineering.

The funds are offered to environmental science and engineering students from Ohio state-supported colleges and universities by Ohio EPA's Environmental Education Fund in cooperation with the Ohio Academy of Science.

SSU junior Ambra Knoche recently learned that hard work and good grades can pay off. Knoche, 20, of Ripley, Ohio, has received a $1,000 scholarship from Phi Eta Sigma national honor society. Students must have at least a 3.5 GPA to be eligible for the award.

"This is an extremely high honor for Ambra and SSU," said Dr. Larry Mangus, local chapter advisor and vice president of Student Affairs. "There are more than 360 chapters across the country at much larger schools like Ohio State University and SSU has had three winners in the last four years. This speaks very highly of our students."

She also works in SSU's Student Success Center, in the Office of Student Activities and as a Resident Advisor and Orientation Leader. Knoche is studying computer engineering technology – business information systems at SSU.

Rebecca Holdren
SGA PR Coordinator

The Shawnee State University Student Government Association would like to extend a warm welcome to the student body of 2000-2001.

As the fall quarter gets under way there are many rising opportunities for students to take active roles in University events and affairs. The Student Government Association (SGA) provides one of these opportunities for students.

SGA provides students with a chance to create the best university atmosphere by taking part in changing and making rules as well as sponsorship of campus events. When a need for change in University policies and procedures arises, Student Government will intervene and play an active role in the initial procedure to make necessary adjustments to provide utility within the university community.

SGA is composed of six officers and many congress members. Officer positions include the President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer, Inter-Club Council Chair and Public Relations Coordinator. Although all officer positions are currently filled, SGA is searching for new vibrant faces to join the team as congress members. As an Student Government congress member, students can express their views on a variety of issues concerning the student interests and well-being.

Student Government takes part in many campus and club activities including the "Parade of Clubs," which Melissa Worbis, the 2000-2001 SGA Inter-Club chair, has worked diligently to organize. As Public Relations Coordinator, Becky Holden will be informing the entire student body about upcoming SGA sponsored events via press or updates in the SGA web pages.

Sean Withrow, SGA's reigning President has been vested with executive power and will serve as the student body representative at official functions. Erica Schelueffle will have the responsibility of overseeing activities and policies regarding state and national affairs as the SGA Vice President. Weekly meetings will be held in which Rachael Springs will record minutes from and distribute a copy of these minutes to members as the Secretary of Student Government.

An organization without money will hardly succeed so SGA will depend on its Treasurer, John Oliver, to ensure that proper records of funds allocated to recognize organizations and current balances are kept up to date.

Once again, as the school year begins, the time to take a stand and voice your opinion concerning university affairs is upon you. SGA can provide students with the opportunity to become empowered by taking an active role in the decision-making process for the betterment of the student body at Shawnee State University. So, if you are interested in becoming a member of SGA you can pick up an application at the student activities office or contact any of the SGA officers. Once again, welcome and good luck on a successful year at Shawnee State University.

Fall in Midway Opener; Quickly Recover to 3-1

The Shawnee State University Volleyball Team opened up the 2000 season on Wednesday August 30 losing a 4-game decision to Midway College.

The Bears were flat to open the match losing the first game by a score of 10-15. With only two returning starters from last season in the lineup, Shawnee State could not get in sync.

Shawnee State jumped out to a quick 9-0 lead in game two. Midway then reeled off 6 straight points to get back in the game. At that point the two teams traded six consecutive side-outs. Shawnee State went on the win the game 15-13 and even the match at one game apiece.

Game 3 featured 7 lead changes and 8 ties. Shawnee State led the match 7-4 when Midway went on run to take a 14-9 lead. The Bears charged back to lead 15-14, but were unable to hold their momentum. The Eagles scored the next 3 points to take win the game.

Game 4 saw Midway take a 4-0 lead before SSU would rally. After the Bears tied the game at 6, Midway went on a 9-4 run to put the match away.

Leading the Bears in defeat were Aimee Gaines (Lucasville, OH) and Jennifer Cornelius (Cheshire, OH) with 11 kills apiece. Melissa Holland (Chillicothe, OH) had 8 kills and Jeanne Brabson (Waverly, OH) added 7. Gretchen Bennington (South Webster, OH) tallied 16 assists.

Shawnee State returns home on Tuesday, September 5, as they take on Pikeville College at 7:00.

At Middletown:

The Shawnee State University Volleyball Team improved its record to 3-1 on Saturday as they defeated Taylor-Fort Wayne and Miami-Middletown in the Thunderhawk Classic.

The Bears defeated Taylor-Fort Wayne 15-3, 15-10, 15-3 to open today's action. Senior setter, Gretchen Bennington (South Webster, OH) tallied 16 assists in the match, while freshman Tabby King (Lucasville, OH) added 13. Melissa Holland (Chillicothe, OH) notched 10 kills, and Aimee Gaines (Lucasville, OH) and Jennifer Cornelius (Cheshire, OH) added 6 apiece.

Shawnee State defeated Miami-Middletown in the night cap 3 games to 1 (15-4, 13-15, 15-7, 15-7). The Bears were once again led by Aimee Gaines and Melissa Holland. Holland had a season high 17 kills, and Gaines added 14 kills. Both Holland and Gaines were named to the All-Classic Team.

Shawnee State returns home on Tuesday night to take on Pikeville College. Game time is 7:30 in the James A. Rhodes Athletic Center on the campus of Shawnee State University. For more information on Shawnee State Athletics, please log on to www.shawnee.edu/athletics.

Shawnee State returns only two starting position players from a team which finished 5th in the 2000 NAIA World Series. "This is a huge plus for the team. Keenan will probably play a lot of second base for us. There are not too many second basemen around who will put up those kind of power numbers," said SSU coach Pat Rigsby. The desire to win was a large part of Perry's decision to transfer. "I want baseball to be fun again. It has not been fun the last couple of years. Hopefully I can help the team get back to the (NAIA) World Series." When asked what he expected for himself, Perry said, "I'm just excited to be. I want to take it one game at a time, and hopefully it will all workout."

Men's Soccer

In Indiana Opener, Fall to Anderson

The Shawnee State University Men's Soccer Team fell to Anderson University 6-0 in the opening round of the Anderson Classic on Friday September 1. The Bears were out-shot 15-5 on Friday as the young team was never able to get into the flow of the game.

Despite the lopsided score, SSU coach Ron Goodson remains optimistic about his young team. "We came out fairly flat in the first half, mostly due to the six hour van ride. We played a lot harder in the second half. For a good part of the game we had all freshman on the field. It may take a few games for them to adjust to the difference in college and high school soccer, but eventually we are going to be fine."

Goodson was encouraged by the play of freshmen Ryan Owen (Lisbon, OH), Jeff Martin (Mansfield, OH), and Matt Phippen (Logan, OH). In goal for the Bears were freshmen Joey Hobbs (Waverly, OH) with 5 saves, and Robert Appell (Blacklick, OH) with 4 saves.

Shawnee State (0-1) will face Centre College (0-1) at 11:00 tomorrow morning. Centre fell to Olivet Nazarene, 4-3 in the tournament opener.

New Sign-on for Men's Soccer

New Shawnee State Soccer coach, Ron Goodson, added some much needed defense in June, as he signed South Webster defense man, Adam Smith. Smith garnered First Team All-District honors three consecutive seasons. During that span he led a defense which surrendered only eight regular-season losses. Smith is the tenth player to sign with Shawnee State this year.

According to South Webster coach Bill Hale, the 1999 SOC Player of the Year is a super addition for the Bears. "Adam has tremendous quickness, he is an excellent marker, and he is an extremely intelligent player. He's very aggressive in attacking the ball, but he knows when to get back to his position. I truly think he has not yet reached his full potential."

Adam said, "I am really looking forward to continuing my soccer career at Shawnee State. I like the campus and the fact that it is close to home. I wanted to go someplace where I would have a chance to play."

The Bears home opener is September 6, versus Thomas More College.

Baseball Rio-Grande Sign-On

Rio Grande University baseball player, Keenan Perry, has announced that he will transfer to Shawnee State University for the upcoming school year. The New Boston native hit .344 with 13 homeruns and 54 RBI as a sophomore for Rio Grande. Perry brings his All-American Mideast Conference honors to a much depleted Bears lineup.

Shawnee State returns only two starting position players from a team which finished 5th in the 2000 NAIA World Series. "This is a huge plus for the team. Keenan will probably play a lot of second base for us. There are not too many second basemen around who will put up those kind of power numbers," said SSU coach Pat Rigsby. The desire to win was
