Manuscript Title: The Indonesia Policy on Television Broadcasting: A Politics and Economics Perspective

Authors: Rendra - Widyatama, Habil Polereczki Zsolt

Dear Mr. Rendra - Widyatama

If it needs, please upload a "response to reviewers" file to answer the reviewers' questions. We will send your revisions to the final reviewer.

The overview of the first reviewer (minor revision):

"I believe that the minimum revise for the following manuscript would be:

1-The economic aspects of this manuscript should be reinforced to be published in an economic journal. Or in the case of the Political Economy perspective, the authors can discuss the social-political dimensions of the main theme of their work.

2-Indicating the relative share of public-private ownership of the TV industry, both at national and local levels is very helpful. Based on that one can judge much more logically about the findings of this manuscript.

3-the author can point out some general database of Indonesian country for demonstration of the arguable political intention of the government in regulating both public and local TV industries.

4-determining the role of the TV industry in the economic system of Indonesia, is another crucial point

5-In modern political economy, and optimum governance, almost all TV channels are operating in the private sector and the government just monitors and regulates them generally, and it does not intervene in the details frameworks of the industry in question The authors may compare the Indonesian case with that of OECD, or the like

6-the author should rely on the experiences of successful countries in TV regulating, monitoring, controlling and the like, and adjust the findings in question for the case of Indonesia(if applicable).

7-The authors should consider the general cost-benefit analysis for their arguments in supporting the government of the local TV industry,

8-Some data, I think, could be updated. We are now approaching 2021, so using at least 2019 data for Indonesia in the TV industry is applicable."

The overview of the second reviewer (minor revision):

"Undoubtedly, the political interests determine the formulation of any rules in a society especially the rules related to TV broadcasting. This is the main result of the paper which is interesting. The paper can be accepted as it is since the work is understandable, correct, and appropriate.

Furthermore the work is clearly stated and free of obvious errors. Although the relationship between government and big TV broadcasting companies depends on other variables as well, using a political economy perspective help to clarify the power relationships in TV broadcasting.

Finally, I would recommend editing the whole paper again to eliminate any possible errors.

Thank you for choosing to submit your paper to The Journal of Iranian Economic Review."

Regards,

Executive Manager
