Dr. Price Will Present Paper On Nervous System to Pre-Meds

Dr. John B. Price, College physician, will be the guest speaker at the James M. Anders Pre-Medical society meeting tomorrow evening Y Bazaar Friday at 8 p. m. in the Science Building Auditorium.

The paper he will present is entitled "The Autonomic Nervous System and its Relation to Upper Respiratory Symptoms".

Dr. Price has presented the same paper before several nationally recognized medical groups whose reception was most favorable. Illustrations will be used to clarify the details brought out throughout

Manuscript Club Members Read Original Poems and Essays

The regular meeting of the Manuscript Club was held at the home of Dr. Calvin D. Yost, Jr., last Tuesday evening at 8 p. m.

After the group had been comfortably seated about the lighted fireplace, Ralph Mendenhall '44, opened the meeting by reading "Friendship", a prose article Ethel Cunningham '45, read two poems, "Common Things" and "Autumn".

Using her own editorship of the Lantern as the basis, Gladys Heibel '42, read her humorous informal own works, the one an untitled poem and the other an informal essay, "On Plastering".

TRAVELING STORE DISPLAY TO SHOW NEW FASHIONS

Gala clothes and enchanting accessories will be on exhibition in the parlor at Shreiner Hall on Friday, November 7, when the Oppenheim Collins College Bazaar comes to campus. The Y. W. C. A. is sponsoring this exhibit and a percentage of all sales will go to that organization.

Because college girls' days are crowded from morning to night, "Christ in the Fine has inaugurated this easy way to shop. Selection is made at leisure, possession is immediate, and should funds of prospective purchasers by any chance be low, an Oppenheim Collins charge account will tide them over. In any event, they won't be bankrupt, for prices have been kept within the limits of a college budget.

Wide Variety of Merchandise

A wide variety of merchandise will be shown, including both college classics and fashion's newest models. Oppenheim Collins has essay, "So You Want to Become an Editor". WANTED! - A PROGRAM FOR PEACE

"Oh, what's the use? The army will probably get me pretty soon anyhow."

Whenever we college students feel blue, whenever the going gets a little tough, it seems that we just can't help but pity ourselves. Remarks to the effect of that quote above can be heard on college campuses across the continent. They are stock alibis for lethargy and general shiftlessness. It's really a shame that American youth should fling out such an answer to the call of our destiny.

America certainly did not gain her place of eminence in the sun because of the timidity and refusal of past generations to meet destiny's challenge. Over here men have believed in the United States and its dreams and great possibilities. Because they were confident, their fondest hopes were realized.

Today the future does look bleak and uncertain. It has looked so in the past. The only difference is that now we are fatalistic, then they were idealistic. Now we have lost the art of dreaming.

The worst is yet to come,—that's our creed. But why should it be? Why do we look upon the army as a loathsome, distasteful waste of time? Is this the attitude of German youth? The Nazi is consecrated to an ideal, a goal, and sees clearly what he is fighting for. Hitler has instilled in him a great motivating force, Nazi idealogy.

There's a different attitude here. Many regard American participation as utterly farcical and unnecessary. If war comes, to these it will be "the President's war", but not "America's war". Then there are the defeatists. They contend that American victory is impossible. And if we do win the war, they're afraid of the fu-

Where will all this muddled thinking lead us? Is thinking muddled because the issues are not clear-cut? On the other hand, perhaps we who are confused are not intellectually honest enough to recognize a worthy cause when we see

Whatever the real reason for such disunity in our aims and purposes, one thing is clear. American youth must be presented with a more alluring war aim than mere victory. Victory must be the first objective, but then America must not ignore her destiny as she did before. She should assert her natural leadership in fabricating and guaranteeing a more equitable and enduring peace.

HIT THE BOOKS!

And now the time has come for all good little boys and girls to start their quarter-annual cramming program, for those blasted exams will hit into high gear this

Yep, now is the time that really counts. It doesn't make much difference how hard or conscientiously you've worked so far, because marks are based on the quarterlies and the quarterlies are held now.

The only advantage for the student who does his work from day to day is that he will have less to learn in the same period of time.

Of course, the fact that the fellow aside of him may not have done a thing all year but happens to be endowed with a remarkable capacity for memorizing is no lookout for the profs.

It settles down to the old, old story that you can loaf all year if you have the inherent talent of remembering well for a short per-iod of time, because that's all that is necessary to get a good grade in the exams, and marks are based on the exams.

Maybe the system of marking is entirely at fault, since it allows a few hours of really hard studying to make up for a whole quarter of daily conscientious work.

Perhaps the professors are at fault, since the entire outcome of their tests generally depends on the few nights spent by students before the brain-teasers are given.

After a little closer investigation, it would seem that the real fault lies in the fact that pupils in college, on the whole, are a good deal more interested in a few letters that adorn their report cards four times a year than in the intellectual, spiritual and social development those figures are supposed to signify.

There is nothing fundamentally wrong with the marking system; the real fault lies in the student's attitude.

Take stock account of yourself. Do you worry, for the present at least, more about what the college trying to do for you or about what you must do to get an A instead of an A-? Be truthful for a minute and see what the answer

Perhaps there is the solution to the oft-mentioned situation of a college person turning out to be just as poor a citizen and a scholar as the next fellow.

It is indeed fortunate that college does accomplish, to some degree at least, its goal of producing finer men and women on a large-

Success might be even more complete if less emphasis were laid on a few letters chalked down in the dean's book four times a year.

Well, time's awastin', so let's hit the books, for we all know doggone well that our immediate goal is a few more of those coveted A's.

WHAT ABOUT THE POST-WAR ERA?

Our greatest enemy is not an axis panther division, or Russian "good-will", but our own domestic problem of a falling standard of living. Little do people identify this problem with our national defense efforts. They blithely shout, "All for defense" or "Aid for the democracy of Kokimoko", utterly failing to realize that every concession that we make to defense or lendlease lowers our standard of living. They ignore the fact that productive power harnessed for lend-lease and defense is productive power that can't be used for our own needs, and the less we supply our own needs, the more we lower our standard of living.

National defense and lend-lease can not be so heavy that they'll measureably lower our standard of living. The danger lies in having the people actually experience falling living conditions. Privation is a novelty for a while, but when the novelty wears off, people become dissatisfied. With hunger people turn mad. They soon get to the stage where they no longer care whether they starve in the United States or in Podunk. In a situation like that it takes a genius to organize even an effective "dole", let alone any form of resistance to aggression.

Business, too, will stagger under such a burden. Under ordinary circumstances the profits of business go to the owners for reinvestment in the business or for investment elsewhere. This means that today's surplus capital is invested for production tomorrow. This new investment is clearly industrial progress, since we have an increased amount of working capital. If man makes no investment for tomorrow, he doesn't make progress. In a situation where man devotes a large part of his productive effort to non-productive goods, such as armaments, he uses all of today's productive effort, but no part of it goes as an investment for to-

I'll concede that perhaps it's wise to forego progress during an emergency. That is one consideration, but if our own industry wasn't efficient enough to compete with German industry before, how are we ever going to compete with it? Even if Hitler does fall, German industry will still be there—unless we purposely ruin it.

The situation is even more dangerous when the government finances the armament. The demand for more funds must be met. In the government's right hand is the power to taxthe only sound way for a government to balance its budget. Gradually as the tax begins to weigh heavy and destroy the ordinary channels of revenue, the government turns to new ones. This turning only tightens the government's stranglehold on economic freedom. Soon all enterprise staggers; much of it falls. What remains after a hay-day like this is a socialist's or a communist's idea of Utopia.

I hope that I have pointed out that we must change our ideas of defense. Pouring countless billions of dollars into defense is not the efficient way to arm. We all hope that we'll still be here after all this is over, and so we must provide for then.

ZAMAK is an alloy of zinc, aluminum and magnesium. It was most widely used in the manufacture of "housings" for telephone sets.

Now, however, new telephones are being made with plastic instead of Zamak "housings."

This is only one of many substitutions already made in the Bell System's program to cut down its use of vital defense materials. These substitutions are being made promptly because Bell Laboratories have been foresighted—preparing to meet the shortages before they happened.

TKACZ SCORES FOR BEARS ON PASS PLAY

By Bob Ihrie '44

Capitalizing on one long drive, ico and one bad Ursinus boot, the twice - beaten Muhlenberg Mules scored in every period to overwhelm the Bears, 26 to 6, in a mud battle on Patterson field Saturday.

For a while the boys of Pete Stevthe one-man running attack of Bill Talarico, but after the Mules pushed across their second touchdown they marched with comparative

Mules Score Early

The Allentown gridders took Biscotte's opening kickoff on the 35 yard line and marched straight down Patterson field for a touchdown, without once surrendering the ball.

Dashes by Minifri and Bossick and a lateral to Gorgone placed the ball on the Ursinus 28. On the next play Annecharico tore for another first down on the U. 13.

Then Bossick took his turn, sprinting to the U. 3. Undaunted by a fifteen-yard holding penalty, Bossick chucked a pass to Metzger in the end zone for the initial tally.

Minifully boot was blocked and the Minifri's boot was blocked and the count stood at 6-0.

Bears March to Score

After three punt exchanges between Albie Tkacz and Dean Steward and 'Berg's Bossick and Mini fri, Tkacz ranback a kick to the * Mule 42 from his own 35 and the Bears were on the march for the one and only time.

An offside penalty and two dashes by Bill Talarico gave Ursinus a first down on the 28. The hard-charging Mules threw the Bears for an eight-yard loss, and then a pass from Tkacz to Buchanan was ruled complete because of interference on the 18. Talarico hurled a pass to Tkacz in the end zone, tying the score at 6-6. Steward's attempt for the extra point failed.

Second Quarter Even

The action in the second quarter was very even and both teams showed good defense. "Doggie" showed good defense. "Doggie"
Julian's charges were up against a stone wall and Bossick kicked to the U. 25. A penalty put the ball on the Ursinus 30 and then, on the same pass in the flat that spelled disaster once before this season,
Sweatlock intercepted on the 35 and ran down an open field for a score. Morris went in to try for the extra point and his kick was good, making it 13-6. The half ended a few minutes later.

At the kickoff, the Muhlenberg

Steward and 'Bud" short kicking duel, finally putting the pigskin out of bounds on the U. 3. Steward booted to safety man Annecharico on the U. 45 and, with a beautiful exhibition of broken field running, Tony hurled and whirled his way through the entire Ursinus squad to score standing up. Again Morris converted, 20-6.

In the last quarter the Mules tallied again. Gorgone recovered Talarico's fumble on the M. 30 and a great kick by Barbieri shoved the Bears back to their own 13. Steward booted to the Ursinus 8, but tory this year. "1941", he says, Barbieri returned with a punt out "should be our year". Barbieri returned with a punt out of bounds on the U. 4. Steward's next kick netted only eleven yards.

Swarthmore Girls Hand Hockeyites First Defeat, 4-1

UMSTAD LEADS JAY-VEES TO 3 - 2 VICTORY

Fighting vigorously on an unfamiliar, rain-drenched field, the girl's hockey team was made to bow on Friday to a stronger Swarthmore varsity, 4-1.

This game marked the first defeat of a very promising season. The team was in good condition, but failed to rally after the first goal because of their more powerful opponents.

The score was 1-1 in the first half until Ursinus suffered a "pen-alty bully". The ball was then rushed into the cage by the Swarthmore team. During the second half the Ursinus co-eds played a superior game, but failed to score, while Swarthmore gained two more

Something to Think of-

The Lancaster News of October 26 in its column on past reveals that 15 years ago the Bears defeated a superior F. and M. team 13-7, 10 years ago the Bears won again 7-6 and 5 years ago the Bears won a moral victory over a strong Diplomat team by holding them to a scoreless tie.
