CURTAIN CALL

"ROSMERSHOLM"
OPENS TONIGHT

The Drama Department's first offering of an Ibsen work opens tonight with a performance of "Rosmersholm" in the Little Theatre.

Tonight's house is sold out but tickets are still available for Saturday's performance and the following week on February 14, 15, 16, 17 and 18. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. except for Sunday, February 18, when a scholarship benefit will be presented at 7 p.m.

Set in the home of John Rosmer where family tradition rules, conflict arises from his fruitless efforts to take up the mantle of liberal politics, encouraged by an enchantress who has worked her way into a favorable position in the home. The two roles are played by Ron Carroll and Pat Casey. Others in the cast are Dan Redfern, Sandi Gustin, John Archer and Don Blair.

The play is directed by William Slout, assisted by Larry Brown. Lighting design is by Amanda Sue Rudisill and set by Sandi Stiglinski.

"heartbeat" offers you a
Coronary Risk Evaluation

Coronary tests will be given on campus next Wednesday, Feb. 14, by staff from the School of Health of Loma Linda University.

Cost of the evaluation is $15 (private fees usually run $50) and it is open to all faculty and staff of the College. The test and preliminary arrangements take from 20-25 minutes. Participants are asked to abstain from eating or drinking anything but water 12 hours prior to the test. Tests are scheduled from 7:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. in Commons 219.

Today at noon Robert Peterson of the LLU will be on campus at the same location to discuss and answer questions about the program. Test results will give cholesterol, triglycerides, electrophoretic type and blood pressure readings.

CSCSB RECEIVES NEW GRANTS,
SCHOLARSHIP FROM CALIFORNIA
RETIRED TEACHERS ASSOCIATION

A second grant of $500 for student loan and a new $250 teaching scholarship have been given to the College by the Calif. Retired Teachers Assn.

In 1970 the CRTA donated $500 for a loan fund, the major purpose of which is to provide short-term low interest emergency assistance to upper division or graduate students interested in teaching. The scholarship is intended for a senior or grad student seriously preparing for a teaching career. It will be awarded for the 1973-74 year.

Robert West, Dean of the School of Education, accepted the scholarship check from Mrs. Rita Thacker, president of the County division of CRTA and Mrs. Kenneth Gibbons, local fund chairman.
