RENAISSANCE PERIOD RELIVED IN MUSICAL/DINNER CELEBRATION

Music from the Renaissance period, plus an appropriately named menu, will be featured at the Renaissance Festival hosted by the Chamber Singers Friday and Saturday, May 9-10. The gala event will begin at 6 p.m. each evening in the Commons. Reservations for the dinner/theatre celebration are required and those interested in attending are urged to call the music department immediately for an invitation, ext. 7454. Only 108 tickets are available for each evening. The cost is $15 per person.

The program will feature the Chamber Singers, directed by Dr. Loren Filbeck, associate professor of music, and a Renaissance instrumental consort performing selected 16th century madrigals from England and Italy. The theme of the program is "Festivo Musica Transalpina," which translated means--music from across the Alps.

Before the program, the costumed Chamber Singers will greet their guests, serve a full-course meal and entertain with songs and dance of the period. A full-dressed roast pig will be paraded around the room before being served as a side dish with the meal.

FESTIVE ARRAY OF ACTIVITIES PLANNED FOR CINCO DE MAYO

According to M.E.Ch.A. president, John Zaragoza, "For the first time, this year there will be a pinata for adults as well as one for children to break." From the festive costumes and decorations to activities with cascarones, this year's celebration will be steeped in tradition," he added.

Food and information booths will also add to the afternoon's diversions. Everyone is invited to attend at no charge.
