Committee Raps Local Insanitation

Says Garbage Laws Ignored; Reports Many Outdoor Toilets

Many insanitary conditions in Morehead, in violation of the law, were reported today by the Rowan County Health Department after a city-wide inspection by the local office and representatives from the State Board of Health.

The inspecting committee made four specific charges:

1. Many restaurants and food stores are improperly storing waste and garbage at the rear of their establishments, much being uncovered.

2. Many residents are not using approved metal garbage containers and are creating a health menace in their back yards.

3. Many vacant lots are grown up in weeds and covered with rubbish.

4. Outdoor toilets are in use all over Morehead.

This report was one of the most pointed the department has ever made.

Concluding its investigation the committee said:

"With the Centennial approaching all city and county officials, civic organizations, business people and residents are urged to cooperate with the Health Department to abate the existing improper conditions and to keep them abated so that visitors and former residents, who know that our people take pride in having and maintaining a clean, healthy community."

County Judge William McClain and Morehead Mayor William H. Layne said they would shortly issue clean-up proclamations, probably for early May.

Wildlife In County May Be More Plentiful

Food And Cover Have Been Set During Year

By John D. Alexander

Wildlife will be more abundant in Rowan County as the result of wildlife plantings delivered to Rowan County farmers this year.

The Rowan County Soil Conservation District assists in planning these wildlife plantings.

The plantings this year consisted of lopsided, japonica, shirataki, mulberries, rose, and Korean clover.

The lopsided mulberry is used as a windbreak and for shelter to quail. Mulberries are used for quail and for quail.

Ten farmers co-operating with the Rowan County Soil Conservation District received 12,000 lopsided mulberries, 150 pounds of Korean clover, and 2,000 shirataki plants. This will establish over 20 acres of wildlife plantings.

Rowan County farmers receiving these seeds and plants were: D. White, Philip Ellington, Elmer Fultz, Randy Wells, Walter Warren, Frank Willis, Rowan County Sportsman's Club, Frank Lewis, Frank Moore and Leland Hall.

Wildlife plantings are available each year from the State Division of Fish and Game. This department also furnishes fish to farmers to stock farm ponds.

Recently visited the farm of Frank Netherly and saw the mulberry rose fence he set last year and this year. He had done an excellent job of establishing these fences and the prospects are good for a very useful fence.

These rose fences will turn livestock in three years.

Farmers planting wildlife plantings or fish may leave their requests with M. L. Crawford, conservation officer at the Soil Conservation Service office.

Friday's Deadline For Edition Material

Because of the time limit and the fact that most sections for the Rowan County News, 100 page Centennial Edition are printed in advance, the Publishers have had to make an effective tomorrow (Friday) for acceptance of old pictures, newspapers, documents etc.

If you have anything to submit, it is mandatory that you do so by 5 p. m. Friday as layouts are closing at that time. Only pictures of historical or unusual interest can be taken later to appear in the two sections to be printed Friday.

The News wants this material and histories of old families, plus news events of the past days but a deadline that you have since it takes several days for the engraver to make newspaper cuts and they must then be made up in pages and printed.

CAN YOU PLACE THESE FACTS—This is a picture of the employees at the old Cosmograph Company in Morehead which Ed Magard and Associates founded about 50 years ago. The company was among the first to make movie projection equipment and their product was shipped all over the world. This is the type plan the Rowan County News will feature for its May 10 Centennial Edition. Tomorrow is the deadline for Centennial Edition contributions unless it is of particular significance and historical value.

Many Children At Village Need Clothes

One of the most pressing problems at the Village, where clothing is almost completely out of the question, is the need for clothing for the children. The report states that the children, performed their own laundry, rather than risk it being stolen in the central laundry, or having to do without until it can be returned to them.

At the time the new superintendent arrived on the (Kerns) Village campus in January, there was snow on the ground, but many, many children were found to be walking to their various assignments without any sole on the bottom of their shoes.

Says Kentucky Teachers Have Made Progress

Kentucky's school teachers have shown remarkable strides in the past few years, according to Dr. Robert R. Martin, superintendent of Public Instruction.

A survey shows that 12,679 of the state's 21,650 school teachers hold a baccalaureate degree or better, and 3,173 of the number hold a master's degree or better.

A decade ago, only 44 percent of the 18,000 teachers had college training. Ten years ago, 4,000 teachers had less than two years college preparation.

Dr. Martin said the data showed that Kentucky schools are on the march.

First of the awards will be presented April 18 at University Heights, Ky., by Governor Chandler, Adjutant General Williams, and General Thomas F. Marshall, deputy adjutant general for air.

Claims Of Easy Cure For Cancer Are Unwarranted

The U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare—through its Food and Drug Administration—has warned the public that claims of easy cures for cancer are unwarranted, and constitute a gross deception of the consumer.

The Food and Drug Administration, in an unusual move, named the so-called Hoxsey treatment, receiving publicity, as a deception, and dangerous to those who might rely upon it.

The Hoxsey treatment costs the cancer patient at least four hundred or five hundred dollars, and the Food and Drug Administration, after a lengthy investigation, reports these expenditures yield nothing in the way of value in the cure of cancer.

The Hoxsey treatment included an examination at a clinic in Texas, or one in Pennsylvania, and then the use of certain so-called cancer medicines.

These medicines include various pills, which contain such things as nicotine, red clover blossoms, burdock root, casava sagrada, prickly ash bark, and other things.

Moreover, it is charged that the medicines administered at the two clinics are about the same, though the colors of the pills are different. In addition, the food and drug administration says extensive studies have not revealed a single verified cure of internal cancer as a result of the Hoxsey treatment.

Although the government had gone to court to stop the shipping of these so-called cancer medicines across state boundaries, the Food and Drug Administration feels a warning to Americans is necessary for their protection.

Remember, that cancer must be treated with either surgery or radiation if it is to be cured, and that death from cancer is inevitable if the patient fails to obtain proper medical treatment, possibly because he is fooled by claims of easy cures.

Forest Work Is Planned Year Ahead

Bruce Mahabegar, resource management assistant from the forest supervisor's office in Winchester spent Monday on the district with an on work plans for next fiscal year.

To plan a year's work for a national forest ranger district like we have here on the Red River entails considerable planning to coordinate all of the jobs to be done with the anticipated personnel to do the jobs such as marking and preparing four and one-quarter million board feet of timber for sale. Then after it is set up, the sales to be made to the public are set up with the terms of contracts which are set up for mutual protection to both the operator and us. That is, you and I, the citizens of this country who own the national forest.

In addition to timber management there is the job of trying to prevent any forest fire over any of our lands. We have about 120,000 acres of national forest as well as about 120,000 acres of private timberland within and adjacent thereto to protect in order to properly protect the National Forest.

We also have numerous small portions of land that are rented for various uses, such as agriculture, which must be kept up as to proper use. Around this 120,000 acres of National Forest land is approximately 975 miles of exterior property lines and corner marking. We have to paint to keep established as well as improvements needed for doing these jobs such as fire towers, telephone lines, roads, trails, watchhous, and living quarters for some of the men in outlying stations.

We also have several recreation areas to maintain the improvement and the operation work such as properly painting buildings, and other improvements. We have a lot of work to do, but we are going to get it done. We are going to get it done. We are going to get it done.

The only real security is to have good brains to think a good deal about. We are going to get it done. We are going to get it done. We are going to get it done.

What we want most out of life? Take a chance on going after it. You need special skills? Then use your leisure time to acquire them. Don't feel you have to do what every one else does. You want to travel? Then hunt up a job that will let you travel. You want to live in a nice place? Then work for a living. And so on.

Security Is Fickle And Easy To Lose

I know it is the fashion nowadays to concentrate on security as though it were the most important thing in the world. It is all very well to plan ahead—but there is such a thing as over-addressing the word. Like the woman who went about for six months and knew exactly where she would be at four o'clock on Thursday the eighteenth. Where is the fun in that kind of living?

Furthermore, security depends on so many things. We risk it every time we go to the bank. We put money in a bank and something happens to the bank. We make emergency plans for the future. We have a plan for the future. We have a plan for the future.

Learning to play a musical instrument is often presented as a means of physically handicapped to help develop stricken muscles and redress the necessary sense of rhythm in their use. Music and the playing of musical instruments have been used effectively with the blind, with those afflicted with cerebral palsy, polio, heart troubles, speech disorders, and even with the deaf.

The sound of music played before general anesthesia given, or during local and spinal anesthesia, helps to soothe patients during operations.

These new developments in the use of music in hospitals have brought into being a new career—that of the music therapist. Already one university is offering a degree in this specialty which combines an interest in music, medicine, and teaching. The music therapist is a kind of musical pharmacist. The physician, psychiatrist, or psychologist prescribes for his patient and the therapist then mixes the ingredients of music tailored in the specific case.

The music therapist must be a Jack of all of many trades. In addition to having sound musical training, he must be able to work with individual patients, organize different musical groups, perform for patients, and even repair broken instruments. Those who have gone into the work find great satisfaction in using the charms of music to help the sick along the road to recovery.

EDITOR'S PEN

She Named Rowan Pageant, Then She Wrote The Script

So many people have worked so hard—and will continue to do so—to make the Morehead Rowan County Centennial a success that it is impossible to give proper credit to all of them.

The May 10 Centennial edition of the News will portray, by word and picture, the activities that will make this the greatest week in our history. But behind the scenes some thoughtful people will be working untiringly, and for the most part, unobtrusively.

Today we feel it proper to single out one individual whom we have heard about so much. She is Mrs. Mary Howard. Mrs. Howard submitted the winning "Editor's Pen" column. Within this column she pointed out the need for a centennial script.

What Mrs. Howard has done since is hard work and requires plenty of know-how. She is the force and capable lady who prepared just about all the script for the pageant with more than 300 in the cast.

Her efforts were so productive that the experts engaged to direct the pageant made few changes.

Knowing Mrs. Howard and her recognition of her own worth, we are sure she will believe that within this Valley we are more than capable of doing more than we are doing. We are proud to report today that our representative properly represented us and by her representation we will benefit.

A Checkup And A Check

For the first time in its history, the Cancer Crusade this year is hoping to induce Americans to fight cancer, perhaps our most feared killer, with a check and a checkup.

The idea is to reduce the number of undetected cancers by persuading those with symptoms or others who might be victims, to undergo a medical checkup to determine if cancer is present.

Of the 230 lives lost to cancer in this country every year, about one out of every three—or about 80,000—are needlessly lost. That is, if detection were made in time these 80,000 lives could be saved.

In giving this tie to the Cancer Crusade, you might keep in mind the idea of a check and a checkup. If you yourself do not need a checkup, or have recently had one, you might provide the money for someone else to have a checkup—which could save a life!

April is the month in which the Cancer Crusade reaches its climax. You can give by mailing a check or money to CANCER, care of your local Post Office. Or you may give to local Cancer Crusade authorities. If you give, you'll feel better. If financially able, there is little reason why you should not join in the battle against a disease which took the lives of such greats as Robert Taft, Arthur Vandenberg, Harry Hopkins, General Hoyt Vandenberg, James H. Doolittle, Paul V. McNutt, Sidney Taylor, Damon Runyon, Eddie Duchin, Walter Johnson, Babe Ruth, Frank Buck, "Bathing" Nelson, and many others in recent years.

Advertising Is The Test

Advertising is perhaps the most wonderful development of the modern commercial age. It is the maker or breaker of business, big or little.

Advertising is the one factor of successful sales that is most apt to be overlooked by the merchants of the smaller towns and cities. This should not be so.

Advertising is not the exclusive weapon of big business; it is the power that will make little concerns grow into larger concerns. It is a science that requires study and, be it said, real character. It cannot succeed if it is untrue, it must build upon faith, honesty and confidence.

This newspaper is prepared to assist local business men with their advertising problems. It may say, with due modesty, that its staff knows something about advertising, and that their experience and counsel is available to all who wish to use it.

It is hoped that the scheduled spring tests of atomic weapons in the Pacific will convince the Communist nations that we have atomic bombs to burn.

The Association of American colleges reports a shortage of college presidents. This is serious, of course, but not nearly so serious as would be a shortage of football coaches.

Payment Possible In Ship Sale

The Soviet Union has proposed a quick settlement of its Lend-Lease naval account with the United States. The Russians propose to buy thirty-one ships and sink seventy-nine to settle accounts, and make a final payment.

The latest proposal was made in Washington by George N. Zarouhin, who told reporters he thought an agreement would be reached soon. This proposal is another step in a continuing dispute between the United States and Russia, concerning 565 naval craft and 99 merchant vessels, loaned the Russians during World War II.

Some years ago the United States demanded $2,600,000,000 in settlement of the entire account, but our demand has been scaled down to $800,000,000 at present. The Soviet Union originally offered to pay $240,000,000, and is now willing to pay $300,000,000 to settle the account.

Late in 1953, the Soviets agreed to return 126 of the naval craft, and 127 of these have been returned. Of the 186 ships involved, the Russians propose to sink 59, in the presence of Americans, craft they say are unseaworthy. In addition, they propose to buy another 31, which are presumably seaworthy, and sink others.

Progress in this being made slowly as regards naval vessels. However, ninety-nine U. S. merchant ships were loaned the Russians during World War II and only nine of these have been returned. Little progress is reported here.

And, despite the fact that the Russians realize we were lending in our own interest, to kill Germans, they have not honestly paid their debt. Moreover, they should have been charged the full price for these ships, and interest, covering the last eleven years, when they resorted to fraud and deception in keeping them.

For some time, discounters have enjoyed a thriving business in the field of automobile tires. Home appliances—refrigerators, washers, and other items—have been sold at a profit margin about in half, and therefore, offer goods at prices which regular merchants do not, or cannot meet.

Discount houses are something like wholesale outlets. While they sell to the average consumer, unlike a wholesaler, they cut the profit margin about in half, and therefore, offer goods at prices which regular merchants do not, or cannot meet.

In the women's apparel field, discounters are currently moving in on some of the best lines of clothes and these lines are sold with the labels clearly visible and not taken off as is done when a manufacturer sells a "left-over" assignment to some major outlet for a cut price.

The conventional mark-up in the dry goods is about forty per cent. In other words, if you buy a suit for $50, that suit probably cost the retailer about $30. Retail dealers say they must have such a mark-up to cover the services they provide and their costs of operation.

On the other hand, discounters provide few services and sell on a cash basis, thereby moving goods rapidly. They are thus able to cut their profit margin roughly in half, and sell a $50 suit for $40 and still make a profit. This is in an area where there are no vendors.

We do not know whether this trend will continue, but it is obvious that the discounting system has moved extensively into the automobile and home appliance fields. Now, it appears to be moving into the women's apparel field.

There are still a few ailments that can't be cured by penicillin or psychology.

BUDGET CUT

Senator Harry F. Byrd, chairman of the Finance Committee, and the Joint Committee on reduction of non-essential Federal expenditures, have called for a $3,200,000,000 reduction in expenditures by the Eisenhower Administration for the fiscal year beginning July 1. Byrd said the budget balance projected by President Eisenhower for the 1957 fiscal year hinges "almost entirely" on a proposed $350,000,000 increase in postal rates. But low outlays are reduced "substantially," he declared, "reducing the deficit spending is probable."

Kentucky Farm Market Report

Cool Weather Is Retarding Vegetative Growth In State; Fruit Trees Now Blooming

Vegetative growth is behind usual progress in Kentucky due to persistent cool weather. Pastures, though late, are now furnishing some grazing but it is limited to hill pastures where soil fertility is low. Small grains are also backward, growth generally ranging from a few inches to some rye patches 12-15 inches tall.

Spring plowing is somewhat behind schedule, mostly limited to top ground. Little if any river-bottom land has been broken, but the delay is not serious yet. Spring corn seedling completion, some only being planted due to wet weather. Most grass and legume seedlings also finished. Tobacco plant beds are generally sown and covered in south. Early plants are just getting started.

Fruit trees are blooming now, peach and pears are near full bloom. Apples are just beginning to show color in the south. Strawberry plants are just coming through the mulch, few blossoms appearing yet.

Topsell moisture is mostly excessive, subsoil generally adequate throughout state as far as enter the 1936 growing season.

Livestock generally have come through the winter in good shape, with grain and hay supplies adequate for the winter. The lamb crop seems to be thriving—some counties already approaching marketable weights.

Weather (Weather and crop summary—October, 1935 to March, 1936)—October weather in Kentucky was generally favorable for farm activities. Rainfall was adequate in most areas to give fall-seeded grain a good start. Corn and soybeans have progressed rapidly and most tobacco crops are up well and by the end of the month were ahead of most years. Pastures were excellent.

Despite persistent coolness and deficient precipitation during November, most farm activities were seasonal. Fall plowing was mostly completed, winter grains sown, and the corn harvest nearly over. Tobacco set in good condition with a good portion of the stripping completed and large amounts moving to market.

Soil moisture was ample but pastures made little growth necessitating general cattle feed. Cold weather and near zero dryness in December caused pastures and fall grains to deteriorate, and led to heavy feeding of livestock. Farm activities settled down to winter routine.

In January, cold weather and below normal precipitation limited farm activities to the essential winter chores. Snow cover helped to protect small grains and cover crops from the cold weather. Tobacco marketing was generally completed in February. The usually wet weather during the month kept soils too wet for field work and lowland flooding was reported in several areas. There was some growth of fall grains and pastures and limited turning of tobacco beds was taking place.

Frequent and often heavy rain kept farm activities to a minimum in March. General lowland flooding was again reported during the month. Principal activity was the preparation and seeding of tobacco plant beds. Fall grain and pastures showed some growth with stock feeding raising somewhat. At the end of March, farm activities were generally behind the seasonal average.

Sgt. Lorenz Lacy
In Hawaiian Maneuver
Operation MAUKA, first full-scale assault by Marines of the 1st Provisional Marine Air-ground Task Force, was marked with landings on the Hawaiian island, Barkley Sands, from sea and air shortly after dawn April 7.

Participating in the exercise with the 4th Battalion, 4th Marine Regiment, was SSGT. Lorenz Lacy, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Lacy of R. R. 2, Morehead, Ky., and husband of the former Miss Doris J. Lacy of Elizabethtown.

FEDERAL HIRING
There were 2,351,371 civilian employees on the Federal payroll in February, an increase of 482 over January. The February rise was the second consecutive increase after four successive months in which there were reductions in the Federal civilian work force. The total did not include 299,873 foreign nationals working for American military agencies abroad.

Plan To Get Doctors For Rural Areas

Steps toward getting physicians to go into rural areas of Kentucky will be taken by the Kentucky Medical Foundation, J. Stephen Watkins, president of the Foundation, announced today. "In our campaign to sell the idea of a new medical school for the University of Kentucky," Watkins said, "we learned that one of the most pressing problems facing the state is the shortage of trained physicians in the rural areas. We hope that we will be able to correct this condition to some extent before the new school begins to turn out doctors."

The Kentucky Medical Foundation's chief work, Watkins pointed out, is to raise funds with which to supplement the funds which will be provided by the state and federal government to build a new medical school in Lexington. This task will be carried forward as rapidly as possible, he said, but at the same time a careful study will be made in an effort to solve the medical problems facing the state.

"Some Kentucky counties now are without doctors," Watkins said. "There is a shortage of doctors in dozens of Kentucky counties and doctors are being overworked. Surely there is some way in which doctors can be shown the advantages of working in rural areas."

"Subsidizing of doctors has been instituted in many of the interesting towns in rural areas where the financial returns are not enough to attract a doctor. A plan along this line may be worked out. We currently hope that the people of Kentucky will give serious thought to this problem and that a solution to this problem will come out of the discussion. It is not right that some sections of our state should be without adequate medical care. The Foundation will welcome any suggestion that may be offered looking to the solution of this grave problem."

Librarian Says Books Are Our Best Friends

By Inez F. Humphrey
(Bowen County Librarian)
"Books are our best friends," says a true library devotee. Let us mention a few aspects of this statement.

Are you discouraged? A book will tell you of some man or woman with a similar or worse trouble, and show you how to overcome it—or endure it.

For every evil under the sun there is a remedy, or there none. If there's one, be sure to find it. If there's none, never mind it.

Are you lonely? You may find companionship in the characters in a book and you may choose the ones you like best. There is a poem that says "a book is like a friend, that opens into some one's house." You may stay as long as you wish, or you may reject this door and find another that is more to your liking.

Would you like to travel? Several years ago I had a secret desire to travel the Pan-American Highway, from its beginning in Alaska to its southern extremity.

So, let's travel. This writer has been preaching better gardens these many years. It is no trick to start a garden in the spring when the weather wakes from its winter slumber, when the very air is filled with ambition. And peas are put in, the onions "stuck," the fresh potatoes planted, beans, carrots and greens started, and tomato plants set.

Soon, however, weeds and "crabs" start, and after several meetings—the weather in the meantime having got hot—the gardener loses his spirit. And the weeds sometimes doing the winning. Such a garden can produce some vegetables, but not nearly as many as it might.

But, what vegetables were to be harvested, including the few clusters of tomatoes that come before the plants "give out" completely, to make that beautifully bedecked spot a downright waste.

This can, however, be remedied by keeping the weeds in check while they are still small and easy to stay ahead of. Also, tomato plants can be made to live and bear well all summer by keeping up a fight with the early weeds, by dusting (or, much better, by "wet-spraying" with copper or carbamate.

In such a garden, "clean" and it becomes easy all summer to plant and replant all rows as they're harvested, with beans, peas, greens and carrots, keep these coming to the table all summer, right up to killing frost. Besides, such a garden is much better to look at in the winter than one filled with weeds skeletons that incidentally keep dropping more weed seeds, to make that garden more and more difficult to manage, year by year.

So, let's "stretch" that carded to its limit, it'll "pay" big.

RETAIL SALES
Retail trade as a whole continues to lag a little behind the record pace of the closing months of 1935, according to the Commerce Department. While Easter sales in some sections of the country were better than usual, there were many areas in which storms kept shoppers away from the stores.

Implicated For Lonely Heart Letters
Mrs. Georgetta Blanton, 61 Cincinnati, was held to the federal grand jury Thursday on a charge of using the mails to defraud in a lonely hearts swindle.

Post Office Inspector J. P. Nolan told U. S. Commissioner Graham P. Hunt that Mrs. Blanton wrote one letter saying she was 25 years old, had never married, and was "always ready for love."

In an affidavit, Mrs. Blanton said she obtained about $100 from correspondents who sent her money to help her. She was charged specifically with writing to a Charles Dent, of Clinton, Iowa, who denied getting $13 from him. Mrs. Blanton was held under $1,000 bond.

Margaret Will Continue To Sing

Margaret Truman said this week she will continue her singing career after her marriage but added she expects to be "mostly a housewife."

Mrs. Truman, after having been in the United States for some time, returned to her Independence, Mo., home from New York, said she comes first, speaking of Clifton Daniel, her fiancé.

She said she wanted to "visit the family, sleep and eat as much good home cooking as I can and still get into that wedding dress."

Mrs. Truman, looking radiant and calm, said she has cooked Daniel two dinners "and he's still alive," but admitted cooking was not her favorite pastime.

"Do you wish me to be entertained? There are books for every individual taste, from joke books to travel and biographies. Do you wish to know some famous people? You may have that privilege, free of charge, whether the person lived several hundred years ago, or is living today."

These are only a few of the ways in which books are our friends.

Highway Accidents Claim 15,730 In 1955

In 1955, more than 15,000 individuals didn't return home after the pleasures of the week-end. According to figures recently published by the Safety Service of The Travelers Insurance Companies of Hartford, Conn., 15,730 Americans were killed in week-end traffic accidents. Of last year's traffic fatalities, more than one-fifth occurred on Saturday.

The reasons for this record number of week-end highway fatalities lie in the changing habits of the American public. Every highway in the nation has its Saturday share of that portion of America bound and determined to arrive at its week-end destination in time for dinner, even if the trip's last 60 miles must be covered in an hour flat. Too frequently, the strain and fatigue of distance driving are ignored in anticipation of a quiet relaxation at the journey's end.

Then, too, our highways continue to be filled with those drivers whose idea of relaxation is an extra drink or two for the road.

Millions of dollars have been spent by Federal, state and municipal authorities in an effort to provide better and safer roads. Additional millions are spent by insurance companies and other private organizations for programs of safety education.

Nevertheless, the week-ends of 1955 saw more persons killed and injured on our highways than ever before. It wasn't the fault of the road system; it wasn't the fault of safety education campaigns. It was the fault of people who, while driving, were striving to go too far, too fast, for a week-end enjoyment.

How to reduce this record total of killed and injured? What is desperately required is the immediate, unceasing cooperation of every American in possession of a driver's permit.

As around awareness of the week-end highway peril, plus continued education of this danger is the only way to reduce the week-end fatality figures for 1956.

This Is Time To Spray Strawberries

By Adrian M. Razor

The time is close when strawberry growers, who expect to harvest a crop this year, should be planning to put on their first spray or dust.

This is an important practice since there have been instances in this county of strawberry yield being cut as much as 65 or 70 per cent due to the failure of putting on this dust or spray. There are two methods of application: one being the use of a duster, the other being the use of a sprayer.

If a duster is used, one can obtain 5% Malathion plus 5% of DDT. It will take 30 to 40 pounds per acre to get over the field with one dusting. If the sprayer is used, use Malathion, 25% wettable powder, two tablespoons per gallon of water or 4 pounds in 100 gallons of water plus DDT, 25% wettable powder, one tablespoon per gallon of water or 2 pounds in 100 gallons.

Captain, a material that prevents rot, may be added in a strawberry dust mixed with the two dusts mentioned above at the rate of 7 1/2% or, in mixing the two above materials to use as a spray, you can add one tablespoon per gallon or two pounds per 100 gallons of captan 50% wettable powder. In this way you can do the whole job with one operation.

Of course, the time the spray or dust is put on is very important. Put the first treatment on when you see 1% of the bloom showing. A second treatment should be applied at full bloom which ordinarily will be 12 to 14 days later. If we have a wet picking season, it may be necessary to apply a third time—say, when the picking season is over. Captain alone. Be sure to follow directions on the cartons since all insecticides should be handled cautiously. If there is any question about any of these materials, stop by the Extension Office and we will try to answer them.

Guard Against

Several farmers have told me lately that they have tobacco plants up and if you have plants showing in your back yard, try to

to put on the first application of blattestone lime. Since wildlife can be prevented by using this material, let it ready to apply.

Fruit Should

Be Sprayed

A good fruit supply program can furnish your family with a good supply of clean fruit. If you have trees that are bearing, get the Extension Office and get the two "bulletins" entitled "Sprays for the Home Fruit Garden" and "The Home Fruit Garden." If we are going to control fruit insects and diseases, it is necessary that we spray immediately.

A Garden Will

Save You Money

A good home food supply program can do wonders with family budgets. Start now planning your garden so that you can have vegetables throughout the year. Use only recommended varieties and buy the best quality seeds and plants.

The garden plot can be made the highest pay plot of ground. Try to make it so.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER

The Church of Christ, Morehead, Ky.

Lesson for April 22: Acts 6: 8-10;

Golden Text: Philippians 1: 29.

Stephen was of the seven deacons appointed to distribute the needs of the church. He was a man of great faith and courage. He was stoned to death for his faith in Christ.

The young man became prominent as an evangelist. As such, he aroused opposition from the leaders of several synagogues and they engaged Stephen in controversy. And when they were not able to meet the "wisdom and the spirit" by which Stephen spoke, they utterly lost control of themselves and rushed upon Stephen and stoned him to death.

Stephen was stoned to death, while the young man called upon God and prayed for those who stoned him. His last words were, "Lord, lay not this sin to their charge."

The accounts of those who stoned Stephen were laid at the feet of a young man named Saul. How remarkable it was that this young man was soon converted on the Damascus road and will be forever remembered as Paul, the great "Apostle to the Gentiles."

May the first Christian martyr inspire us to give our all to Jesus—to live by him and for him day after day.

Sues Telephone Company For Quarter

The General Telephone Co. of Kentucky was sued this week in Lexington in Magistrate Court for 25 cents.

The action was brought by Mrs. Irene Hanson, who charged she put the 25 cents into a pay telephone last Dec. 14 and "received no service from said phone or phone company."

"I further state," her petition read, "that I have made demand for the refund of said sum from the said General Telephone Co. of Kentucky, and they have failed and refused to pay, refund or deliver said sum or any sum to me."

Filing fee for the suit was $3.40.

You Can Work And Draw Social Security

The man, who is a retired teacher, said he had been told that he could not work and draw his old-age benefits. He had been told that he had to wait until he was 65 to draw his old-age benefits.

Baptists To Conduct School Of Missions

Beginning Sunday, April 29, 17 of the churches comprising the Bracken Association of Baptists in Kentucky will conduct Schools of Missions. These services will be each evening at 7:30 through Friday, May 4.

Every church is to have a different guest speaker each evening. The speaking personnel will be made up of missionaries of the State-Homes and Foreign Missions Boards of the Southern Baptist Convention, and the purpose of these services is to acquaint the churches with their world-wide missions program.

The Morehead Baptist Church is one of the participating churches in this week of special emphasis on missions.

The caller filed his claim. As he left, he paused for a moment at the receptionist's desk. "Sure am glad I stopped in to check up on my old-age insurance account," he said with a grin.

Further information may be obtained from Darrell Vinson, field representative from the Ashland office in Morehead on the second floor, of the City Building, April 20, at 9-30 a.m. These will be no charge for this service.

More Effective Than A Traffic Ticket

A motorist in such a hurry that he passed another car on a curve near Georgetown Sunday, in full view of a state trooper, received an unusual and forceful lesson.

The trooper—directing traffic at the scene of a wreck in which two persons had been killed—one fatality, only moments earlier—told the offending driver to "get out, and go over there and take a good look."

After he had inspected the demolished vehicle, the offending driver, obviously impressed, was told to get back in his car and drive on.

He did—but slowly.

Walters Is Appointed To Farm Chairmanship For Campaign Of Joe B. Bates

Mack G. Walters, 39, Simpsonville, has been named farm chairman of the Joe B. Bates campaign for Democratic nomination to the United States Senate. The appointment was made by Charles M. Blackburn, campaign manager.

Walters, a Shelby County back and dairy farmer on 700 acres, was recently appointed to a continuing 4-year term on the Kentucky Board of Agriculture by Governor Chandler. He was originally appointed by Governor, Governor, Governor in 1931.

He is a son of the late Shelby County Judge Harry F. Walters, who was elected Commissioner of Agriculture of Kentucky on 1940.

"I know Joe Bates will attack the interest of Kentucky farmers," Walters said. "I am a complete co-operation with our state administration," said Walters, who produced an 1,800-vote majority for Chandler as his campaign chairman in Shelby County last November.

The opportunity of working for the election of Joe Bates offers me another chance to advance the cause of agriculture in the state," Walters said. "I sincerely believe that his election will assure us farmers of team-work between state and national leaders in matters that are vital to our rural citizens."

Walters, in a prepared statement from Bates' headquarters, lashed out at Sen. Earle Clements' lack of interest in helping Kentucky farmers.

"Tobacco acreage in Kentucky over the past ten years has been cut percentage-wise four times as much as the acreage in other burley-producing states," he said. "Measures which could have prevented this were pointed out to Sen. Clements by Kentucky farm groups several years ago, but only recently, as he stands for re-election, has he made any move to correct the situation."

Walters also struck out at Coliday LaMotte, farm chairman for the Clements organization, who is a vice president of the Kentucky Farm Bureau.

"Mr. LaMotte has embarrassed all of the non-political and non-partisan farm Bureau by accepting his appointment as chairman of the Clements campaign. In all fairness to other members of the Bureau, I feel it imperative that he resign as vice president of that organization."

Pointing up the need for a compatible working arrangement between state leaders in Frankfort and elected officials from Kentucky in Washington, Walters said:

"In our new state budget, the livestock sanitation program has received almost four times as much money as it has in the past. This is due to the progressive policy pursued and insisted on by Ben Butler, our new Commissioner of Agriculture. These monies are to be supplemented at least equally by federal funds, but instead of Clements looking out for our interests, Butler will have to make a special trip to Washington to make sure we get our proportionate share and don't get left out altogether."

"I think the record has shown," Walters added, "that Clements will continue to work against the interest of Kentucky farmers."

He married Myrtle Remphrey of Paducah in 1945 and returned to the farm. He has one daughter, Patricia Ann.

Walters is chairman of the board of the Simpsonville Christian Church. Other activities include directorship of the Old Masons Home at Shelbyville and membership in the Simpsonville Lions Club, Wingate Lodge No. 161, F. & A. M., the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Movement By Jewish People Gains Praise

All people of goodwill were urged by Gov. A. B. Chandler to join with Hebrews and other groups interested in promoting the welfare of the "Young Aliah" movement in observance of "World Jewish Child's Day" on April 18.

"People of all faiths within this state and throughout the United States realize that there are still places in the world where thousands of Jewish children quiver under dreadful political, social and economic tensions which make their lives a hopeless blind alley, and these children are challenge to the humanity and brotherhood of all men and women of goodwill."

The Governor declared that "4,000 such children have already been saved from physical and spiritual threat and have been rehabilitated in Israel by the Youth Aliah (immigration) movement, now in its 22nd year of child rescue, rehabilitation and education."

The Governor declared that "4,000 such children have already been saved from physical and spiritual threat and have been rehabilitated in Israel by the Youth Aliah (immigration) movement, now in its 22nd year of child rescue, rehabilitation and education."

Governor Dips In Emergency Funds

Allocations of $17,642 from the Governor's Emergency Fund were made by Gov. Chandler to assist operational activities of various state agencies.

The Governor's office was allocated $12,500 in operating funds; the lieutenant-governor's office, $1,000; Secretary of State's office, $750 for additional election duties; and Department of Military Affairs, $572.84.

Psychiatric Treatment To Be Given Children

Psychiatric and instruction supervision will be offered all children admitted to the state's mental hospitals in the future. Dr. Frank M. Gaines, Mental Health Commissioner, announced.

The children will be brought to Central State Hospital, Lakeview, where a program has been initiated under supervision of Dr. Elbert O'Brien, former child psychiatrist with the Louisville and Jefferson County Juvenile Court.

Eisenhower Vetoes Farm Bill, But Grants Certain Concessions In Parities

President Eisenhower vetoed the farm bill this week and told the American people in a broadcast "I had no choice... it was a bad bill."

His refusal to sign the farm legislation passed by Congress last week gave the Democrats a prime issue for the presidential campaign this fall.

But the President, in an address on a nationwide radio and television broadcast, said he had tried to act "honestly, frankly and regardless of political pressure."

As a substitute for the farm bill now considered dead for this session of Congress—Eisenhower promised the farmers an additional 600 million dollars in benefits this year by raising government price supports on the five basic crops to "at least" 82 1/2 per cent of parity and increasing the support price for milk used in manufacturing.

He outlined this plan in his veto message to Congress.

In his radio-TV talk, he said the farmers might get an extra 600 million dollars this season. Congress would act promptly to give him a soil-bank program. The soil-bank plan, under which farmers would be paid for acreage withdrawn from the production of surplus crops, went down in the vetoed bill.

The President said growers could get almost immediate benefits from a soil bank if Congress would appropriate the money and authorize the government to begin making payments up to 50 per cent after the farmer signs a contract to withdraw cropland.

The President condemned any partisan approach to the farm problem and said he would "always resist any attempt to make the farmer and his problems a political football."

Backers of the vetoed farm bill, guided through Congress by the Democrats with the support of some Farm Belt Republicans, contended it would have offered farmers an estimated two billion dollars more in benefits this year, including 20 per cent of parity for basic crops. These crops are wheat, rice, cotton, corn and peanuts.

The House heard the President's veto message in silence. But there was a burst of applause from Republican members when the clerk finished reading it.

On Capitol Hill, the consensus was that the veto could not be overridden and there would be no general farm bill enacted in this election year. It requires two-thirds majorities in both Houses of Congress to override a veto.

Show About Fishing In State Praised

That show made a believer out of me. These are the words of Earl H. Thomas, assistant director of law enforcement in the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. He was speaking of the Northwest Sport and Travel Show held recently in Minneapolis, Minn.

"Before I went to Minneapolis, I thought Kentucky was going too far from home in its bid for tourists," Thomas said. "I was there less than one day when I changed my mind," he said.

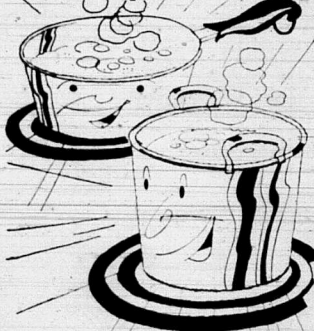

Thomas told how the people crowded around the Kentucky display, read the brochures looked at the pictures, asked questions about fishing and vacation accommodations in Kentucky, and then showed complete surprise that Kentucky really had so many attractions.

Kentucky was the only state south of the Ohio River to have a display booth in the Minneapolis show, Thomas said. It was an outstanding show and the people were satisfied with what Kentucky has to offer.

"I'm confident that some of those people will visit Kentucky on the strength of what they saw about our state in the Northwest Sport and Travel Show," Thomas said. "People are looking for new vacation lands. They want to see new sights and fish in new areas. No place is too far away if it offers modern accommodations and good fishing. Kentucky has both. Our problem is letting people know what we have," he said.

A recent check showed President Eisenhower has averaged better than 100 days a year out of the White House. Therefore, he had to run for a second term to get in a normal four-year term.

"shiny"
when you cook
ELECTRICALLY

The pot that called the kettle black was probably covered with the soot and smudge of old-fashioned cooking. But your pots and pans will look bright and shiny when you cook electrically. Electric heat is as clean as electric light. That's why electric cooking is "white glove" clean. Not only cooking utensils, but walls, curtains—your whole kitchen stays bright longer when you cook electrically. See the modern electric ranges at your dealer's soon!

Five Pounds Of That Relief Cheese Seems To Be In Every Home In The County

By Cleve Hutton

The big question seems to be: "Are you on the relief yet?" There are a few of the unfortunate who ain't getting the relief yet, but we believe that after their difficult get-to-giving out all their cheese and butterbeans, they will suddenly discover that they have plenty for everybody. It seems that they are a bit too liberal with their cheese and butterbeans and if they would practice a bit of economy they would find out that their money in Lee County should be without a five pound box of "relief" cheese in the house. We have talked to several who tell us that their youngsters won't hardly eat them cheese and they don't know what they will be doing with so many. The dried milk products ain't going over so big either.

One little boy was asked if he liked his dried milk at his house and he answered quickly, "No, but the cat do."

The future for cats certainly looks rosy. Too, the dried milk makes good soup for the hogs and chickens. But youngsters won't drink milk made out'n dried milk.

Not so long ago, an article came out in the papers what said dairy products could be a causing factor for certain types of heart diseases. After reading this, we have been doing some extensive studying to try to determine whether there are actually more Democrats than Republicans in drawing their commodities. Could it be that the party in power could be dishing out these commodities with liberal amounts of dairy products so as to knock 'em quite a few of the opposing voters? Could be. Our investigation into this matter ain't complete yet.

There probably will be no damage from eating butterbeans. Nobody eats enough of them to hurt themselves. It was reported that one man on Blaine Branch got a big meal sack full of these beans and as he was going home, it began to rain rather hard. The sack got wet and the beans got wet. The beans swelled up so big that the sack burst and he lost all of his good butterbeans. He can probably get a new supply by explaining that mishap to the president of the Community Club. One fellow said, "I tell you, we just won't eat them big old butterbeans at our house. I've got a sealed bushel of the things right now and they will keep giving me nuts."

No, you can't serve hogs butterbeans hot or cold, cooked or raw. They won't eat 'em. Just fry 'em right out in the trough. Actually, it is debated that butterbeans were ever placed on this earth as a food. Yet, you will find a person occasionally who will tell you that his family likes them. The latest report seems to be to cook a pot of these beans and then have the woman to make-up a big batch of dumpling dough. They tell us that, butterbean dumplings is very delicious eating. Another fellow told us that his family loved butterbeans, but it only took two beans to make a mess.

Now, that pork and gravy product being given out is in very much demand. Everyone seems to like this product and are washing far more of it instead of so much cheese and butterbeans. Some are eating this pork and gravy all up just as soon as they get it. But they should be reminded that this special item is given out for the purpose only of being served when company comes.

Well, if'n you see Sedley Stewart and Joe Davidson going around clean shaven and smelling good every day, it is just as sure as the sun that they see they got the awfulest pile of shaving material other day ever. Two fellows were talking the fill of the new bridge a stopping feller what were passing and a giving them a big cake of soap absolutely free. Then after they got the soap, they sort of urged you over to their new car and here they soon led you to believe that they just had to have your supply of their shaving material. The shaving materials weren't free. You got bottles of toilet lotions, and shaving cream. He showed me what a pile of the stuff he had and he said Sedley got just as much and he went straight home to try it out.

Elmer Treadway got mad at a japanner bushes around his house and grubbed them every one out. But he got some thorns in his right hand and it became infected. He certainly has had a mighty painful hand and has had to spend quite a bit of time and money with the doctor. He told me Saturday, "I never was so mad in all my life. I went down there to that doctor's office to get another X-ray of my hand to see about the japanner thorns and right there in the middle of the table in his office set the biggest bouquet of japanner blossoms I have ever seen. I wanted to get them things down and stomp them into the floor—jap, blossoms, and all!"

After several hours of work and investing into the mechanism of my water pump the trouble was finally found by pumpman Dewey Booth. He was the last one called for a diagnosis. He found the cause at once. The pump's aspirator wouldn't pump that is why it wouldn't pump water. He got the aspirator to pump and the pump began to pump. It is still not asking perfectly, at this writing.

'Up To You' Martin Tells State Teachers

Points To Impetus Given Education By Foundation Program

The artificial barriers that have impeded Kentucky's educational progress have now been removed and it is now up to the teaching profession to produce desired results. Superintendent of Public Instruction, Robert R. Martin, told Kentucky's Classroom Teachers at the Kentucky Education Association session at Louisville.

The program which we have long championed has been fully implemented so far as improvement of the barriers of inadequate financing, removal of money allocated upon a sound and equitable basis, said Martin. Kentucky is now one of the high standard states of the nation.

"A fully financed Foundation Program of education reaffirms the devotion of Kentuckians to education, to their schools, and to their teachers. The Foundation Program, now fully implemented, could be the greatest blessing Kentucky has enjoyed, but on the other hand, this popularity of education will be disappointed unless we build into our program the services which the program makes possible."

Martin said that "education is popular today, as reflected in actions of the state administration," and cited these gains:

1. A workable program under the Foundation Law, a vastly improved measure over the original Act.
2. A proposed Constitutional amendment that calls for appointment of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, rather than his selection through election processes (only part of the program as yet incomplete).
3. An annual Governor's Conference on Education.
4. Removal of maximum limits on salaries of school personnel.

In Performance

At Daytona, Ford won the Miami Factor's Trophy for best all-around performance. And Ford's 225-hp engine snatched 29 world records at Kingsman, Ariz. Truly, Ford goes first!

In Safety

The editors of "Motor Trend" voted Ford's Lifeguard Design "the car of the future" of 1936. It's a whole family of safety features to help protect you from injury in case of accident.

In Economy

In the Midland Economy Run, a Ford V-8 won over all cars in its class. It carried more weight with greater gasoline economy per pound than any competitive car... saves "as well as" "saves!"

The way a Ford performs, the way it saves the way it protects you, go hand-in-hand with the way it looks and feels. Ford's look was inspired by America's most exciting car, the Thunderbolt. Its rugged 8-lb frame and carefully built body give it the endurance and reliability traditional with Ford. These are the facts behind Ford's reputation as the car that's worth more when you buy it... worth more when you sell it, too! Come in and let us show you!

Chandler Will Take Stump For Bates

Governor Says In M'head That Clements Should Be Defeated

Governor A. B. Chandler conferred with some of his aides at Morehead Wednesday and said his administration will make an all-out effort to nominate Joe B. Bates in the May 29 Senatorial primary.

Bates is opposed by incumbent Earle C. Clements for the democratic nomination. Chandler and Clements are political foes of long standing.

Clements was unsuccessful in his fight for Bert Combs against Chandler in last year's gubernatorial primary.

The Governor said at Morehead that "Clements has betrayed the people of Kentucky and taken up with Texas millionaires."

Chandler said that he might make 15 or 16 speeches for Bates and that Lt. Governor Harry Lee Waterfield may also speak for the Governor's candidate.

He called the 1952 redistricting of the state, which removed Bates from Congress, a "monstrous" act that only a man with evil in his heart could conceive. Bates has charged that Clements was the father of the redistricting plan.

The Governor was returning from Huntington where he appeared on a television program with Dave Garaway when he stopped at Morehead.

He brushed aside questions about the administration taking part in Congressional races.

'Turn On Porch Light'—Friday

The slogan of the American Cancer Society—"Battle Cancer with a Check and a Checkup"—will be carried to every Morehead home tomorrow (Friday) evening as the fund raising campaign nears an end.

Residents are asked to turn on their porch lights at 7 o'clock Friday evening so that solicitors may pick-up contributions.

"Give as generously as you can," is the appeal of the local committee. "But, give something even if it is small... let's have every light on... the need is urgent, the cause just."

Volunteer workers will be posted at strategic places in town and will start gathering contributions promptly at 7 o'clock.

DO YOU KNOW THESE MEN?—They were leaders of Morehead and Rowan County many years ago. They will be identified in the May 19 Centennial Edition of the News but there are many of our elderly citizens who can name each one. The Centennial Edition will carry hundreds of old pictures like this but no more can be accepted as time is too limited to get the cuts back from the engravers.

STAGE ALMOST AS LONG AS FOOTBALL FIELD

'Within This Valley' With Cast Of Over 400 Will Highlight Centennial

The cast of more than 400 who will present the six night pageant 'Within This Valley' during Centennial Week (May 29-30) in Morehead has almost been completed and rehearsals will start Monday evening with Sam Gregg, of the John B. Rogers Company, directing.

The pageant depicting life in Rowan County from Indian days, will be on a 250 foot long stage at Jayne Memorial Stadium.

Present chairmen, Mr. Marie Howard, today released a portion of the committees that will be in charge. These include:

Script scenario—Bessie Williams, Martha Ertel and Hildreth Magard.

Music—Don Holloway. He is now organizing a 40 to 50 voice community choir.

Casting—Elizabeth Nickell and Hildreth Magard.

Costume and makeup—Mary Frances Wade and Rowan Homemakers.

Scenery and stage construction—Paul J. Reynolds, chairman.

Mr. Gregg said "this cast of over 400 will portray in authentic costumes the struggle, the adventure, the romance and heroic lives of the rugged and persevering people who established and founded our heritage."

The living, breathing story of Morehead and Rowan County will begin with a gorgeous and strikingly beautiful prologue featuring the Centennial Queen and her Princesses, Queens, Trumpeters, Color Guard and massive patriotic ensemble band.

Lighting and the production "Within This Valley" starts with "Within This Valley" opens with the early Indians including tribes, dances. There follows portrayal of Rowan County's infant days, arrival of the first train, religious development, the first schools... then the turn of the century with horse-drawn carriages... exploits of the roaring 20's and stirring scenes through World War II and the Atomic Age.

Indian chiefs and braves will tread again their hunting paths and Indian ceremonies will prevail; old settlers will arrive in covered wagons... fast moving old-timers will beat lively rhythm to the fiddling of square-dances and the Virginia

Reel. Gay nineties bells and beaus will frolic. Featured also will be pioneers in buckskins, early cowboys, girls in hoop skirts and beau brunettes in silk hats; religious men and social leaders; adventurous doughboys and G.I.'s will have their moments in the pageant highlight.

"In the grand finale each evening as the cast and chorus salute the colors a gigantic fireworks display will bring to a close the dramatic story of Rowan County."

"You will cherish the memory of 'Within This Valley' so long as you live," Mr. Gregg added. "You will want to see it more than one time."

Some idea of the size of the pageant and the great amount of work that is going into the staging may be gleaned from the fact that the stage is almost as long as a football field.

Tickets for the pageant went on sale this week by Beauty Queen nominees. They are $1.50 during Centennial Week. Box seats will also be available at a 50% discount.

Rains Cause Conservation Headaches

By John D. Alexander

The extremely heavy rains of late winter and spring have shown the need for additional conservation practices on many Rowan County farms. Several farmers have requested assistance from the Soil Conservation Service for staking out terraces on land that will be used for crop-land this year. Terraces are installed primarily for erosion control, however they also serve as a permanent guide line for contour cultivation.

The ground has been too wet this spring for conservation practices to be constructed, however we have staked terrace lines on the farm of Robert Bishop, so they can be constructed as soon as the land is sufficiently dry. These terraces are being constructed on land that is being used for tobacco. It is land that has enough slope to wash, yet crops are damaged by too much water in spots.

Farmers should be thinking about planting their row crop on the contour. Contour cultivation is simply cultivating on the level rather than up and over the slope. This type of farming makes cultivation easier and conserves soil and moisture by slowing down the water as it runs off the land. Contour cultivation often increases yields by as much as 10 percent.

Her Conception Of Cowboys Is Intact

The illusion of a nine-year-old British girl obviously under the impression that Kansas to this day is a land of cowboys, remains intact, thanks to Harvey County Sheriff Weldon MacLeod.

It took a bit of doing.

A letter signed, "with love," from Margaret Pemberton of Enfield, Middlesex, England, explained she had "tried for a long time to get a lasso so I can catch a wild pony in the new forest," Margaret explained the country's find one in the toy store, and entreated the help of the sheriff. She added that she is taking riding lessons.

Morehead and his wife agreed only one answer was possible. Margaret must have a lariat—just where to find it?

In spite of the English girl's dream of cowboys and pioneer enforcement, officers, Morehead hadn't the least idea where to find a lariat. But a local hardware dealer came to his rescue and from some long-neglected shelf dragged out a beauty.

The rope was sent by air express.

Childish habits will often save one's life and the interesting part of it is that it might be your own life that is saved.

BOTH ARE PROUD—Mrs. Letha Porter, right, teacher of the 8th grade at Morehead High, beamed Friday when one of her students, Bobby Christian, won the Rowan County Spelling Bee. Bobby is 14 years. (Picture and story of the spelling bee on page one).

Breast Feeding Is Urged By R. C. Nurse

"Today the modern mother breast feeds her baby," says Mrs. Mary C. Kincer, R. N., Rowan County Department of Health nurse. "Breast feeding is an insurance against infant diarrhea and generally gives a baby a healthier, happier start in life."

Most mothers can nurse their babies without any difficulty and a mother's milk contains all most everything a young baby needs for nourishment.

Breast fed babies have many advantages and greater health protection than bottle-fed ones. Infection is less likely from breast. A mother passes some antibodies against disease to the infant in her milk. Breast milk is cheap and requires no advance preparation since the milk is always ready and at the correct temperature. A baby is more apt to get the amount of milk he needs at one feeding when his food isn't measured for him to drink until he is satisfied.

Mrs. Kincer recommends that nursing mothers plan their regular work around their baby's feeding schedule. During feeding time a mother should relax and enjoy her baby. During the milk producing months a mother should watch her diet carefully. Additional information on breast feeding and a mother's diet is available in the pamphlets, "Mother, Breast Feed Your Baby" and "Your Baby Before the Baby Comes" which can be obtained at the Rowan County Department of Health in the Martindale Building.

Cover Crop Turning Is Important

County Agent Says That Burley Yield Will Be Increased

By Adrian M. Razon

Rowan County farmers have for the most part, a good cover crop on their tobacco ground this year. This, he doubts, has been due to the favorable moisture conditions and growing conditions that have existed for small grain and vetch.

Farmers can avoid trouble by turning cover crops at the proper time. It should be turned no later than the time the first heads appear in the small grain or the first blooms on the legumes.

If left standing longer, the plants become woody and will be slow to decay, resulting in a loose soil and difficulty in obtaining a stand when the tobacco is set. When the small grain gets a little past knee-high, it will have formed sufficient humus if turned under.

Many farmers may consider using one of the chemicals for root-killing soil against cut worms, wire worms and grub worms. Among those recommended are Chlordane, Heptachlor and Aldrin.

These materials can be mixed with the fertilizer and then disked in replacing the practice of using chemicals in the setter water.

The formulas recommended are Aldrin: 3 lbs. of actual material per acre; Heptachlor, 3 lbs. of actual material per acre; or Chlordane, 6 lbs. of actual material per acre. Apply on the surface of the field at least two weeks prior to setting and disk lightly into the soil.

Strawberry growers should apply the first recommended spray or dust treatment when the berries are one-fourth in bloom and repeat when they are in full bloom. These sprays or dusts will control insects. A 50 per cent loss in yield may result if the plants are not sprayed at the proper time.

Increase In Jobless Pay Is Opposed

Associated Industries Members Voice Disapproval Of Proposal

Members of Associated Industries of Kentucky are solidly against state legislation to increase jobless benefit payments, results of a poll shown this week.

Rayburn Watkins, managing director of AIK, said the poll showed members were divided on a bill backed by Gov. A. B. Chandler covering annexation of industries.

He pointed out that while Gov. Chandler has said the annexation bill is designed to attract more industry to the state, it is more than offset by the higher cost to industry carried in the other bill.

AIK represents about 1,000 industries which account for 80 percent of the manufacturing employment in Kentucky.

The annexation bill would prohibit cities from annexing industrial locations unless the plant owners consent or adjacent residential areas are taken in at the same time.

Watkins said about half of the members polled thought the proposition given them—the bill was in the line in good public relations it might cause.

The unemployment bill would raise maximum benefits from $28 to $32. Watkins said this would give Kentucky a higher maximum than any other southern state and higher than some northern states.

Thailand May Use American Burley

A young Thailand tobacco monopoly official, in the United States to study the tobacco industry and manufacturing procedures, said his country has developed a good blended cigarette which is rapidly gaining in popularity.

The visitor, Wanich Chantaural, assistant chief engineer of the Thailand Tobacco Monopoly, is making the first of four scheduled trips by Thailand tobacco men under export promotion funds set up under the Agricultural Trade Development & Assistance Act of 1954.

The Burley Tobacco Growers Co-Operative Association showed Chantaural operations at co-op headquarters and other tobacco operations near Lexington. At the co-op offices, the visitor was most impressed with the accounting department, and expressed interest in obtaining similar accounting machines for his tobacco plant.

Federal Officers Get 700 Gallon Still

A 700-gallon moonshine still—described as the largest operation of its kind ever found in Kentucky—was raided by federal officers Saturday in Frankfort, Ky.

Three men were arrested, and the still and other equipment were confiscated or destroyed. Unlawfully setting up and operating a distillery were Harold Newton and Latha Harris, Mill Springs, N. C., and Ephraim Hawkins Riley, Route 2, Newport, Tenn.

Riley had been arrested Thursday night at Frankfort in a pickup truck containing 210 gallons of tax-unpaid whiskey, officers said. After being released on bond he was picked up at the still with the other men.

The still was located in a barn about 10 miles north of Frankfort on the Flat Creek Road. Also confiscated or destroyed were:

A steam boiler of about 750-gallon capacity, a 250-gallon condenser, 250-gallon tempering cup, fifteen 500-gallon metal vats containing 7,000 gallons of whiskey mash, 111 hundred-pound bags of sugar, 37 cases of half-gallon fruit jars containing 222 gallons of moonshine, 100 to 1,500 feet of 1-inch and 2-inch rubber hose, five electric pumps and about 20 cases of empty half-gallon fruit jars.

Most people don't do what is best for them; usually they're satisfied with second best.

Kentucky Park Commission Named

Governor Chandler named seven members of the Kentucky National Park Commission for four-year terms. The Commission, headed by Commissioner of Conservation Loran P. Jackson, includes Robert M. Watt, Lexington; R. E. Bivin, Greenville; Dr. Elwood E. Ham, Vancoville; W. B. Paynter, Middlesboro; Seymour Goodman, Elizabethtown; and Howard J. Douglas, Middlesboro.

Chandler Is Making Bid For Industry

Governor Says Latch String Out For Those Seeking Locations

Gov. A. B. Chandler is rolling out the flags to extend an official welcome to new industrial plants locating in Kentucky.

George W. Hickey, Jr., executive director of the State Agricultural & Industrial Development Board, has requested that each new firm receive an official Kentucky flag as an expression of the state's hospitality.

First presentation was made to officers of the Cumberland Corporation, which has started breaking ground for construction of a $3 million charcoal manufacturing plant at Burnside.

Hickey said the A & I D Board has been working with officers of the Cumberland firm on plans for the Burnside plant for more than three years.

According to the Board's records, 11 new industrial plants to cost an estimated $24 million were announced for Kentucky in the first three months of 1956. They will provide jobs for approximately 2,600 persons. Between 1946 and 1955, more than 200 new factories, representing an investment of $1.6 billion, were built in the state.

Happy Commended By Dairy People

In a letter received from P. F. Manning, executive secretary of the Kentucky Dairy Products Association, Gov. A. B. Chandler was commended for showing a sincere interest in advancing the welfare of the dairy industry in Kentucky. The letter was authorized at the 31st annual meeting of the association and written at the direction of President Ralph White, Owensboro.

Chandler Says He Won't Run Again

What did Gov. A. B. Chandler mean Monday when he said, "I don't intend to run any more?"

The statement was made abruptly at a meeting preceding the breaking of ground for the new Markland Dam on the Ohio River.

I am going to fight anybody that wants to fight," he said, "but I am not going to do any more running."

He left for Frankfort immediately after the speech without elaborating.

Newsmen covering the meeting interpreted the remarks to mean Chandler is through running for office.

Segregation On Buses Held Unconstitutional

The Supreme Court has in effect overturned state laws requiring segregation on buses. At the same time it indirectly rebuked South Carolina when it brought a bus segregation case before the court. It implied they had "needlessly" wasted the tribunal's time by trying to get support for segregation.

The action came in a brief unanimous decision this week turning down an appeal from a lower court decision banning South Carolina's bus segregation law as unconstitutional. The action means the decision stands. It was issued last July by the Fourth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The high court move does not necessarily mean an immediate end to segregated seating on Southern buses. The case involved did not bear directly on the right of privately-owned transportation companies, operating within a state, to have segregation rules of their own.

The high court did issue a formal opinion of its own. Its order cited a 1929 Supreme Court ruling. The court rebuked the applicant for having "needlessly consumed our time."

Among the 26 services offered are quail for restocking fish in stocking ponds, lakes and streams, tree seedlings for restocking and shrub seedlings for wildlife food and cover, soil building and erosion control.

The pamphlet also names the proper persons and agencies to contact for the assistance desired.

Don't Go To These Sales And Auctions Unless You Want To Be A Customer

By Clemmie Holton

That ain't no money in Chester Deaton's overall but-pocket. Let Pyle say he checked on this and found that the bulge in Dea-ton's pocket was caused by a big old watch. We thought it was money all the time.

Herbert Lites tells us that just as soon as he can make arrange-get his head examined. He wants me to go have mine examined too.

I guess I will go.

Me and Herbert just can't stay away from sales and auctions and we always come home with the fullest lot of stuff we don't need you ever did see. We've been guilty of buying a lot of things what don't come from sales too. We've overstocked with motor vehicles and got less money than any man on relief in Lee County today. But if we make a bit of money, we rush to some sale and buy anything from corsets to dress pants. Why last week, I went into that big store in Hottelville what is selling out again and I bought me three pairs of dress pants. Why, I don't know. I ain't a going to dress up. I ain't a going nowhere.
Of these three pants were a bit too large but still, I have been growing a bit all along. I figgered they might just fit by the time I ever decided that I want them.

Several persons have reported that they have been seeing things. They say they've been seeing a pair of big overalls walking down the big road with no one in them. Them overalls ain't walking alone. Paps in them. He just got them a level too big. He was surprised that a pair of 38 overalls were too big for him when he will up the scales at almost 105.

Kirt Abner's new truck gives him the buickache awful bad ev-

MATTIE BUILDS A HOUSE

By Modge Olinger Adams

At first everybody gasped when they heard the news that Mattie McLamahan was building a house on the lot she had inherited from her father almost twenty years ago. It was right next to the school house and the kids used it for a baseball diamond and almost everybody had forgotten that she owned it until the day they found her pouring cement for the foundation.

Some of the men who had boys on the baseball team were pretty mad about her using the baseball diamond to build on. They planned to make a stink about it. But they found out she had offered the land to the school board for just enough to buy a smaller lot in an other part of town and had been refused. Then someone thought maybe a petition could be gotten up and have it torn down because it would be an eye sore, especially after it was rumored that she had run out of money before she got to the roof. Everybody agreed—something should be done!

"I think it's a sin, a woman doing a man's work," the drug gists wife stated at bridge club.
"There should be a law," the doctor's wife waved her soft hat hand about and complained. "She always spends up the back corners of the yard for us every year.
Doctor never has time, you know.
But this year she came one day and said since she was building a house she wouldn't be able to help us until fall. And frankly, I don't see how she has enough to eat! She isn't working for anybody, except old Grandma Martina, since Grandma told her to her hip. And they say Grandma Martina hasn't any money to pay her with."

"You just can't tell about people can you?" The storekeeper's wife pouted.

"You think she'd be content to keep on living at the boarding house, where she wouldn't have to bother about things, amusement reflected.

"She won't have much more space, anyway. Three rooms and a bath!"

By the time the rafters were up everybody had had his say. Not to Mattie of course, but she couldn't help but wonder what they said. But she went about her building, a nail again tied over her dark cotton dress, and as if she as ever. You'd never have known to look at her that she knew how the town was scheming against her.

Then one day a city reporter and a photographer appeared in town. They didn't want to take a picture of the new school building, or the new church or the banker's new $10,000 home. They wanted to take a picture of Mattie's house.

When the story and picture came out on the first page of the Sunday Supplement, some famous architect was quoted as saying it had pleasing proportions, was interestingly compact and an indication to those who wanted to build a little house.

But the article dealt mostly with the starchy, middle-aged Mattie.
The fine, starchy American quality of doing a man's job. It was a heart warming article that suggested the nobility of the town and perhaps the whole region.

In church that morning the banker sat behind Mattie and wondered how he was going to tell her he'd changed his mind about leaving her money for the roof.
It wouldn't do the bank any good for the world to know he'd refused Mattie such a small request.

And on the way out the puffy wife of the storekeeper suggested Mattie's hand and whispered a little too loudly, "Mattie, I have some nice dresses I've been saving for you. I don't get to see you much since you've been building your new house."

A ghost of a noble smile played for a moment on Mattie's lips as she replied, "Thank you, ma'am. I'll be sure to get them as soon as I get the roof on my house."

Kentucky Farm Market Report

Number Of Cattle Decreases; Hog Prices Are Down, But Cattle Market Proves Steady

The U. S. average received by growers for short wool sold during April 1955-January 1956, the first 10 months of the 1955 marketing season, has been tentatively estimated at 440 cents per pound, grease basis. The mid-month averages during this period ranged from 476 for April to 380 for January. Preliminary mid-month averages for the final 10 months of the season were 402 and 393 cents. As announced in the fall of 1954, the rate of Government payment under the incentive program will be based on the average of prices received by producers during the entire season. This average has not yet been calculated. However, the above preliminary information suggests a Government payment to the individual producer on short wool marketed under the 1955 program somewhere in the neighborhood of 40 percent of the value of his short wool sales. It also suggests for pulled wool a payment per hundred pounds of live weight of eligible marketing of sheep and lambs somewhere in the neighborhood of 70 cents.

Domestic production of short wool in 1955 is now estimated at 234 million pounds, 1 percent less than in 1954. Output of pulled wool is estimated at 416 million pounds, 4 percent less than in 1954. The clean equivalent of the total probably was in the neighborhood of 134 million pounds, about 2 percent less than the year before. With about the same number of stock sheep and lambs on farms and ranches at the beginning of this year as last year, short wool production this year is not likely to be much different from 1955.

Fewer Cattle And Calves On Feed

The number of cattle and calves on feed for market in the 14 major feeding states on April 1 was estimated at 423,000 head, according to the Crop Reporting Board. This was a decrease of 8 percent from the previous year and compares with a decrease of less than 1 percent in these 14 states on January 1. The April 1 number is 16 percent below the number on January 1, 1956. The number placed on feed in these states during January-March period was 2 percent less than for the corresponding period last year, while marketings of fed cattle were 13 percent larger. Estimates by weight groups and kind of cattle on feed this year indicate less interest in feeding calves and light weight cattle last year. The number of cattle weighing under 600 pounds was down 14 percent compared with last year; those weighing from 600-999 pounds were down 10 percent, while cattle weighing over 999 pounds were up slightly.

Hogs Average Lower

Top butcher hogs brought $13.45-$14.85, mostly $14.25-$14.50 on Kentucky's main auction markets this past week. Prices averaged about 25c lower on a statewide basis. Shoats were mostly $12.00-$16.00. All steers and heifers averaged about $15.50, up about 50c over last week. More $20.00 prices were reported, but in many months. Fat cows—$9.50-$14.20, mostly above $10.00; baby heaves $12.00-$20.00, mostly $16.00-$17.00; feeders $12.50-$18.50, mostly above $16.00; stockers $11.50-$20.50, mostly above $15.00; butcher bulls $10.00-$15.00. Good choice and prime veals $18.00-$24.45, mostly $10.00-$22.00, about steady with last week's prices on a statewide basis. A few spring lambs were quoted at $22.00-$24.30 per 100 pounds.

Feed Markets Mixed

Feed markets were mixed during the week ended April 17. The U. S. Department of Agriculture reported demand for formula feeds continued good, particularly for dairy and poultry feeds.

Cadet Trooper Examinations Scheduled

Exams for positions as Kentucky State Police Cadet Trooper will be held at Frankfort May 11. It was announced by State Police Commissioner P. A. B. Widener. The exams will be held to fill vacancies and to provide an increase in the number of state troopers.

May 7 is the deadline for filing applications for the nearest district office of the state police. The offices are located at Mayfield, Madisonville, Henderson, Bowling Green, Hodgenville, LaGrange, Dry Ridge, Frankfort, Richmond, London, Lebanon, Pikeville, Harlan, Hazard, Morehead, Ashland and Tip Top.

While in training, cadets draw $210 a month plus living quarters and a limited expense account. Upon completion of training cadets are appointed troopers with a starting salary of $280 a month.

Men applying for cadet training must be citizens of the United States, residents of Kentucky, between 21 and 35 years old, 5 feet 9½ inches tall without shoes, weigh not less than 150 pounds, be a high school graduate or equivalent, have a valid driver's license and pass a physical examination.

Recruits undergo a 12 week training school and on-the-job training.

Wheat and barley prices advanced an average of $1.50. Animal protein markets were steady with prices unchanged to $5.90 above a week ago. Alfalfa meal prices declined an average of 50c per ton reflecting the slow demand. The index number of wholesale feedstuff prices advanced 1.5 points to 196.8 compared with 212.5 a year ago. The feed grain index gained 2.5 points to 212.4 reflecting the continued advance in corn and barley prices and compares with 215.5 a year earlier.

TRAFFIC DEATHS

Motor vehicle fatalities in February equaled the all-time high for a February, according to the National Safety Council. It reported a total of 2,630 Americans killed, the same number as in February in 1941 and 1952. The total this year was 16 per cent higher than for February, 1955. The first two months of this year accounted for 1,590 deaths, 500 above the total for the same period of 1955.

U. S. PARKS

The Government plans to spend $14,300,000 in the next ten years to improve ten national parks in Utah and Colorado. The program of improvement includes Denzou National Monument, Bryce Canyon National Park and Zion National Park. Total spending of $74,000,000 is slated to provide improved accommodations for an estimated 80,000,000 visitors during this period.

TODAY'S BIG SPECIAL

at a price that will open your eyes
(and Purse)

If you're in the market for a real buy, take a good look at this one.

It's a 1956 Buick Special—which means, of course it's a big car.

But look again at the price news it carries.

It tells you this big Buick Special can be yours for only a few dollars more than the price of the well-known smaller cars—for even less than some models of those very same cars. (And the price we'll show you proves how true that is.)

The gospel truth is—this brawny new beauty is the biggest bundle of high style and hot performance ever offered in Buick's lowest-priced Series.

Even that, though, doesn't completely explain why Buick outsells every car in America except the two well-known smaller ones.

To understand the big reason, you've got to know something about how much pure automobile you get for your money in a 1956 Buick—

The extra satisfaction of commanding Buick's wallowing new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine—

The extra joy and comfort of Buick's new buoyant ride, Buick's matchless new handling ease, Buick's extra solidity of structure—

The extra thrill that comes from the world's most modern transmission. For, at your option, you can also have the new double-action take-off—and the extra gas-saving mileage—of Buick's advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow.

Those are some of the things we'd like you to know, firsthand, about the 1956 Buick. And we'll let the car itself—and that low price tag—do the talking. Will you come in—real soon—this week maybe?

New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Charge Made State Parks Lost Money

Jackson Says That Only My Old Kentucky Home Was Profitable

Kentucky State Parks operated during the 1955 calendar year at a loss of $773,302.73, a financial statement released by Conservation Commissioner Laban P. Jackson and Director of Parks Mrs. Ben Kilgore.

Of the 28 installations in the Division of Parks only one, "My Old Kentucky Home" shrine at Bardonia, registered a profit. The shrine cleared $14,896.68.

Jackson said he was making the profit-loss statement public to "inform the people" of his reasons for a "drive to increase efficiency and establish a system in the State Park system to the point where it will break even."

"Our aim is not to make money, but the Department of Conservation realizes a responsibility to the taxpayers to offer them a proper return on their investment. In the way of increased services and assurance of an efficient operation."

"We consider a 'break-even' policy in operation of State Parks a moral duty as well as a legal obligation, and we feel it is a sound procedure to follow in protection of the taxpayer's interest," Jackson continued.

He said a strict financial analysis shows that some of the historic shrines and smaller parks will always be a financial liability because they lack any major source of revenue and in some cases have no revenue at all.

Loss sums for the three largest parks were: Kentucky Dam Village, $58,887.29; Kentucky Lake (Kenlake Hotel), $39,726.00; Cumberland Falls, $38,287.96.

Mrs. Kilgore said one reason for the high loss figure was the past policy of retaining an excessive number of employees in the parks during the off season. "In regard to this problem we hope to extend the season to six months or more by increasing 'family-type' attractions in the parks this year and reducing personnel in the off season."

Some of the larger parks which lost at least break even," Jackson added, noting, "our efforts in this direction are in line with Gov. Chandler's policy of providing the taxpayer with the most for his money and at the same time, promoting attractions at the parks which will bring more tourists to our state and offer Kentuckians the best in recreational and vacation sites to the nation."

In short, our operation of the parks system will be guided by the desire to bring about the highest practical level of efficiency and economy," the Commissioner concluded.

The financial study was begun shortly after we took office, and has been under scrutiny of expert accountants—who have checked and re-checked all financial records, Jackson said.

Judge Orders The Old Time Treatment

Two young boys charged with breaking into a railroad warehouse left Juvénile Court at Harlan this week with sore cautions of their own. The judge heard the charges and removed his belt, handing it to the father of the boys, 9 and 7. "You know what to do with it," he told the father.

After the whipping, the jurist threatened to jail the father if the boys got into more trouble.

Check Being Made On Feed, Seed Packages

To Determine If Sellers Are Correct In Stated Weights

The State Division of Weights and Measures is conducting a package check on feed and seed items, through Kentucky. It was announced by division director George Johnson.

The survey was started to determine if there are serious discrepancies between actual weight of such commodities and the unadvised net weight.

The check is being held prior to the initiation of new legislation recently passed by the General Assembly requiring that all commodities shall be sold by net weight, liquid measure, linear measure, dry measure or numerical count.

Johnson said that the preliminary check will guide millers and retailers in packing and marketing feeds and seeds.

When the new law becomes effective May 15, the division's inspectors will be required to ascertain if questionable commodities actually are in the amounts indicated, within reasonable limits, and condemn and prohibit the sale of items not meeting the standards.

Johnson reported that his inspectors have reported numerous instances where milled feeds have been shortweighed and grass seeds are being sold in bags without markings.

"BOY OF THE YEAR" . . . Boy's Club of America selected Frank Boyce, 11, of Ellabeth City, N. C., for outstanding service to home, church and community.

Kentucky Village Board Appointed

Governor Chandler named as member of the Kentucky Village Advisory Board four Lexington women—Mrs. J. Carlisle-Meyer, Mrs. Joshua Faulstich Powell, Mrs. Margaret McLaughlin and Mrs. Earl D. Wallace.
