

The Prairie Light Review

Volume 45
Number 1 Fall 2022

Article 62

Fall 12-1-2022

Lost At Sea

Lex Truby
College of DuPage

Follow this and additional works at: <https://dc.cod.edu/plr>

Recommended Citation

Truby, Lex (2022) "Lost At Sea," The Prairie Light Review. Vol. 45: No. 1, Article 62.
Available at: <https://dc.cod.edu/plr/vol45/iss1/62>

This Selection is brought to you for free and open access by the College Publications at DigitalCommons@COD. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Prairie Light Review by an authorized editor of DigitalCommons@COD. For more information, please contact orenick@cod.edu.

Lost At Sea

Lex Truby

Sailing onward past the familiar green sea,
Far out onto uncertainty; mysteriously...
Fading into the distance
Nothing but wide, open blue to see,
This is no place to be.
As my dreams of fortune and opportunity float
away freely,

I must face this reality:
It's far away from me.
Drifting on tides that rage violently, thrashing
wildly,

Any hope of escaping a mere fantasy,
Petrified, the murky depths reel me beneath.
Deeper and deeper I sink, as I think,
Desperately, "Oh, no! Oh, no! It can't be!"
Though, it's clear to see, that,
I'm lost at sea.
It's far away from me...

Jim Waters. The Margaret Todd (at left).
Digital photograph