New Art in the Marx Library Lobby

Visit the Lobby of the Marx Library to see two new pieces of art featuring past performances in the Marx Library Auditorium!

The first painting features local artist/musician Abe Partridge & professional podcaster Ferrill Gibbs. The second features Mobile's own Excelsior Band when they played in the 2022 J.A.W.S Fest.

Both pieces were painted during the performances by Mobile's own artist, Robbie Amonett, who will also have an exhibit in the Rodning Gallery of Art Jan/Feb 2023. Local musician and & artist, Abe Partridge, will also exhibit in the Rodning Gallery.

Haunted Mobile organized by Bienville Bites Food Tour Owner, Chris Andrews

The USA Libraries Art Galleries was proud to host the event, Haunted Mobile, after the pause due to Covid. Local haunting experts this year included: Mary S. Palmer, Taylor Voltz, and Thomas McGehee. The event was organized by Chris Andrews, of Bienville Bites Food Tours, and Paula Webb, Outreach and Communications Librarian.

USA Libraries Art Galleries Student Assistants: Anna Sirk Morato, Apollo Shepherd, and Grace Richardson went above and beyond to create three amazing skeletons in the Rodning Gallery! Thanks!

Veterans' Expressions Exhibits in the ArtSpace@BioMed

Photographer/faculty member/veteran, Tom Meyer, visiting with reception attendees.

Art student and veteran, Logan Montford, with one of his paintings.

The Charles M. Baugh Biomedical Library hosted its inaugural art exhibit, Veterans' Expressions, in the new ArtSpace@BioMed gallery space beginning November 7, 2022. The exhibit features artwork created by students and faculty members who are veterans or veteran affiliated. The artwork on display includes paintings, sculptures and pottery, and photography. The exhibit is a partnership with the USA office of Veteran Affairs. An artist reception and Veterans Day celebration was held in the ArtSpace on Thursday, November 10th. The artwork will be on display until December 5, 2022. Plans are for the Veterans' Expressions exhibit to become a yearly event in November and December.

For information, or to book the ArtSpace for an exhibit, contact Gail Kouame, gmkouame@southalabama.edu, Justin Robertson, jcrobert@southalabama.edu, or Paula Webb, pwebb@southalabama.edu.

New Exhibit celebrates the Down the Bay Neighborhood of Mobile

Visitors view the Down the Bay photos at our October 29 event at the Texas Street Recreation Center.

Down the Bay

The McCall Library's new exhibit by Jada Jones and student assistant Beau Shepherd features images of homes and businesses that were part of this historically Black neighborhood to the south of the downtown business district. These are the pictures that the Oral History team brought to Down the Bay Photo Sharing Day on October 29 (event pictured below). The McCall Library, together with partners from the Center for Archaeological Studies and the African American Studies program, have taken the opportunity to use our photo collections to enrich learning about the past through community Oral History. The images spark memories and reminiscences that shed light on Down the Bay.

The exhibit can be found in the McCall Library display cases, in the Marx Library 3rd floor hallway, through January 30, 2023.
