Not long ago I was disturbed to read a newspaper report of a student's speech which maintained that today's college senior views his education simply as a means toward "a better paying job . . . more security . . . social position."

If there are students who seriously believe this, then it seems to me they have missed the main point of college—or indeed of being alive—and that we are in for trouble.

The true liberal education has larger aims than just cramming its students with facts in order to teach them how to earn a living. First, it must help each student to find himself as an individual; then it must help him to lose himself in interests, causes and ideas larger and more enduring than he.

America has no need for a race of young people fitted to the same pattern, content to sit back and enjoy what has been called "a prosperous conformity." But our country will always have room for imaginative, reasonable and responsible men and women. And it desperately needs the informed and the truly creative among its young people.

I believe the teacher's mission is to help every young person in his care grow into the broadest, deepest, most vital person possible. And in fulfilling himself, the student will, I am convinced, arrive at moments of heightened insight when he sees more clearly than ever before what the world is about and how he can fit into it creatively and significantly.

Viewed this way, a college education suddenly takes on new meaning—and so do the staggering estimates of college enrollment. Instead of a frightening prospect of millions of young people solely concerned with a scramble for better jobs, we can look forward confidently to a challenging tomorrow when millions of young Americans turn to college because they want to realize their full capacity as human beings, to find major pleasure in learning, to live richly and responsibly, and to do their part to help create a better world.

Founders' Day Ceremonies Honor Dean Camilla B. Stahr

The annual Founders' Day ceremonies were held on November 10, 1957, at which time Ursinus College's Dean of Women, Camilla B. Stahr, received the Honorary Doctor of Letters Degree. Miss Stahr, a graduate of Wilson College and former faculty member of that school, came to Ursinus in 1933 as a preceptress. She became Dean of Women in 1938. At the presentation of her degree the faculty of Ursinus gave Dr. Stahr a standing ovation in appreciation of her service to the College and its students.

Other recipients of degrees at the ceremonies were the Rev. W. Wilson Carvell, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed Church, Lancaster, Pa.; The Rev. George P. Kehl, pastor of the Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church, Jeannette, Pa.; and the Rev. Paul B. Sneed, pastor of Bethany Church, Ephrata, Pa., who received the degree of Doctor of Divinity. The Doctor of Laws was conferred upon the Rev. Fred S. Buschmeyer, head of the Washington, D. C., office of the National Council of Churches.

Dr. Norman E. McClure, President of the College, spoke of the founders of Ursinus, and their ideals that have been carried through to today—a Christian college, independent, with the youth liberally educated. In our College of liberal arts, the youth will gain sound judgments, learning "the best that man has thought and done". Dr. McClure said that the strength of Ursinus lies in its remaining free and independent, thus making good men in the broadest sense of the words.

The Founders' Day address was made by the Rev. Sheldon E. Mackey, Secretary of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, United Church of Christ.

Dr. Mackey spoke of the church, and church related colleges. He said that they were "partners in leading men to seek the truth". Dr. Mackey spoke of man, and how he should be measured—what standard should be used. "Our future depends on the measure of man that we follow", said Dr. Mackey, and therefore, "The measure of man relies on the trinity of College, Church and Truth." He ended with the statement that "a college devoted to truth is the only hope of mankind."

Chemistry Department Receives DuPont Grant

Ursinus College was the recipient of one of the DuPont Grants for Advancing the Teaching of Chemistry for the Academic Year 1958-59.

The purpose of a DuPont grant for advancing the teaching of chemistry is to assist the Chemistry Department of the institution in achieving the most effective performance in the teaching of chemistry and in stimulating the interest of students in this science. The grants are intended to enable the department to satisfy important needs and engage in worthwhile activities that would not otherwise be possible. Grants for 1958-59 are of the amount of $4,000. Decisions on the use of $2,500 of the grant are the responsibility of the Department of Chemistry. Grants for the use of departments of chemistry are accompanied by grants of $1,500 each to the institutions. These supplementary grants are to be used, also in ways of the institutions' own choosing, to strengthen the teaching of other intellectual disciplines important in the education of scientists and engineers.

Library Receives Grant

A milestone was passed on the afternoon of Thursday, December 12, when the Library cataloged its 50,000 volume, assigning accession number 50,000 to "The American Heritage Book of Great Historic Places". Consideration had been given to marking the event with a modest celebration, but instead, the staff went quietly to work on the second 50,000 volumes. It was pointed out that it is not yet correct to claim a 50,000 volume Library for Ursinus, since losses and routine discards have accounted for approximately 2,000 volumes.

The Library has been awarded $400 in a sub-grant from the Association of College and Research Libraries from funds granted to it by the United States Steel Foundation. Announcement of the sub-grant was made January 8, 1958, by Miss Eileen Thornton, Librarian of the Oberlin College Library and President of ACRL. ACRL is a division of the American Library Association.

The Ursinus Library is one of eighty-seven libraries to receive sub-grants in this year's program of awards by ACRL of funds distributed for three major corporations. $30,000 has been contributed to the 1957-58 program by the United States Steel Foundation "to strengthen or modernize library, teaching, or learning tools" in privately supported colleges and universities. $5,000 has been granted by the New York Times for purchase of backfiles of the Times on microfilm. $5,000 has been granted by the Remington Rand division of the Sperry-Rand Corporation for the purchase of library equipment. This is the third year of the ACRL grants program. A total of more than $125,000 has now been distributed in sub-grants by its committee. This is the second such grant made to Ursinus.

"These grants," states Miss Thornton, "are evidence of the real concern of American business for the great necessity of strengthening library resources as a vital part of collegiate education. They realize how directly a student's reading ability and habits influence his life as a citizen and what an important part the college library plays in preparing him for citizenship."

Women's Dormitory Group Dedicated

Rear View of Women's Dorm Group

On September twenty-ninth, with eager anticipation, with many oh's, ah's, and hi's, and with a superabundance of baggage of every size, shape, and color, one hundred and eighty-six coeds moved into the long awaited dormitory for women. With them came fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters, and, in some cases, aunts and grandparents. In spite of great congestion, the patience of these visitors was amazing. As the guests walked through the building, mothers exclaimed, "I wish I were going to college again." These remarks were not surprising, for everywhere there was something pleasing to attract the attention.

Since then, many visitors have approached the building by crossing the esplanade and entering the center door; and thus, they have been able to appreciate the beauty of the exterior, which, in keeping with other buildings on the campus, has been constructed of stone, and is colonial in design. On the interior is a wide foyer covered with a heavy green carpet, which is in marked contrast with the walnut panelling on the side walls. This leads to a large central drawing-room distinguished by the beauty, the dignity, and the simplicity of its furnishings. To the delight of the students, on one side of the room is a fireplace of Vermont marble; while on the other, there are three large picture windows which command an expansive view of the country-side. Besides this drawing-room, there is in each wing a reception room somewhat less formally furnished.

The preceptresses, as well as the Dean of Women, have been provided with comfortable apartments consisting of living room, bedroom, and bath. As one walks through the corridors, one notices the cheerful, well-kept rooms of the students, who take greater pride than ever in making their rooms attractive. One notices, too, the well-equipped modern kitchens. Telephone booths scattered along the corridors make possible rapid communication within the dormitory as well as with parents when the occasion demands.

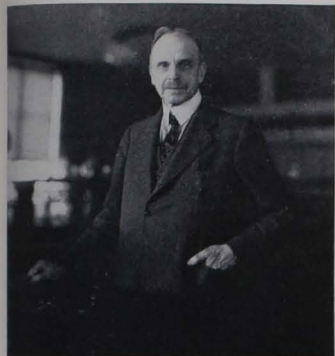

Unique indeed, and in marked contrast with the upper floors is the recreation center with its modern flooring and furnishings. In the basement, too, is a modern laundry with four washing machines, three dryers, four electric irons, and four ironing boards. Both of these sections are extensively used. On this floor, likewise, storage rooms afford ample space for the placing of trunks and suitcases. All of these accommodations are conducive to a happy, healthful womanhood.

Paisley and Stauffer Halls

Paisley Drawing Room

Dr. Matthew Beardwood

We are grateful to the hundreds of alumni and friends whose gifts, large and small, have made possible the construction and furnishing of these dormitories. To all these persons we gratefully acknowledge our debt.

The three buildings that we dedicate today bear the names of persons who have made great and lasting contributions to Ursinus College.

The west building is named in memory of Hannah Beardwood and her

Rev. and Mrs. George A. Stauffer

Dedication Service

Before we proceed with the formal dedication it is appropriate to express the gratitude of Ursinus College to all those persons who have helped in the planning and the building of these dormitories.

We owe a debt of gratitude to many persons. We are grateful to the members of the Board of Directors of Ursinus College, who, under the leadership of Dr. Harry E. Paisley, have worked for several years to perfect the plans and to make possible the completion of these buildings.

We are grateful to the Building Committee and especially to the chairman, Dr. Charles Lachman, whose grasp of the whole undertaking, and whose unflagging energy have been invaluable.

The Paisley Family

brother, Matthew Beardwood, M.D., Sc.D., Professor of Chemistry at Ursinus College from 1903 to 1940.

The east building is named in honor of the Reverend George A. Stauffer, Class of 1894, and his wife, Laura M. Stauffer, who have been for a half-century devoted friends of Ursinus College.

The central building is named in grateful recognition of the distinguished service of Dr. Harry E. Paisley as President of the Board of Directors of Ursinus College. This year is Dr. Paisley's fifty-first year as a member of the Board of Directors and his forty-eighth year as President of the Board.

Speaking for the Board of Directors of Ursinus College, I declare that these three dormitories are to be known, respectively, as Beardwood Hall, Stauffer Hall, and Paisley Hall.

And now, with humble gratitude for the providence of Almighty God, we dedicate these buildings to His service and to the use of the students of Ursinus College.

Language and the Liberal Arts

by Alfred Wilcox, Professor of French

Professor Alfred Wilcox

The place of modern language study in the American Liberal Arts college curriculum has ever been challenged. Opposition came largely from the Classics at the start. Since World War II the forces that begrudge the time given to modern languages have been many and varied: Social Science, Science, alas, even English Departments have assailed foreign language learning as a waste of students' time and energy.

The attacks come largely as the result of misunderstanding the purpose of language learning, a misunderstanding in which the language teacher is as much at fault as teachers of other disciplines.

The spectacular quality of a face-to-face conversation in a foreign language so overwhelms one who knows only English that he tends to assume that the ability to converse is the only goal of language learning. Since most students who have taken two years of the traditional college language course are relatively inefficient at this oral exchange, the observer concludes that the years have been wasted.

The language teacher is often embarrassed and apologetic. He is aware that this conversational phase of language learning is a perfectly valid one; he knows that these conversational skills can be taught, given the proper time and tools (the language laboratory). He does recognize, however, what his monolinguistic critic may overlook: not all students will become accomplished linguists, no matter what their training, any more than all who spend the required three hours per week in biology laboratory become accomplished biologists.

Let us recognize that there are other phases to language learning than the conversational. A person who speaks and understands his mother tongue while unable to read and write it is classed as an illiterate. It is not impossible—teaching “foreign language” as is done in some city school systems to youngsters with IQ's of 75—that we shall develop bilingual illiterates.

Much as we should like to improve the ability of our students to speak and understand the foreign language they study, that ability must remain subordinated to the reading goal we have set for ourselves at Ursinus for the last several decades. Parenthetically we should remind our readers that those who go beyond the required second year may get conversational training.

The work of our first year is confined, perforce, to the essentials of grammar, pronunciation and the learning of a minimum vocabulary through drill and repetition. There may be available recordings of the material used but the use of them is largely up to the individual student. Some reading (i.e. understanding of a context without translation to English) and some translation are also done in the first year.

The work of the second year begins with a review of grammar. This we find essential for those freshmen, entering the work at this level, whose high-school work has been exclusively conversational. The remainder of the year is devoted to reading.

The choice of readings and the manner in which these readings are discussed assure the maximum integration between the demands of foreign language learning and the objectives of a liberal arts education.

Our language work forces the student to learn something of grammar and rhetoric and, perhaps, even a bit of logic. More than these, he is led, directly or implicitly, to a deeper and a broader comprehension of man and of men: to a widening understanding of moral and esthetic values; to a fuller appreciation of the elements of our cultural heritage.

Can these same values be achieved through other courses—in philosophy, in psychology, in history, in English language and literature, even in the foreign literature in translation? To a degree, yes. But there are psychological subtleties that are lost in translation. We speak freely of M. Coty as “President of France”. Any French schoolboy knows (and we fondly hope that some of our French students are also cognizant of the fact) that being “Président de la République” is not quite the same as being “President of France”. A whole century and a half of history, of political changes, lies in the phrase “de la République”.

We are constantly confronted in our newspapers with dispatches stating that the French “demand” something. The cautious student realizes that the French are probably “asking for” something (Fr. demander = ask for) but the uninitiated reader feels naught but righteous indignation at these demanding French!

It is true that the results we achieve fall short of our goals. Our students have at least glimpsed the vistas that lie ahead if they can and will go on. Never again can they be quite so satisfied with the so complacent provincialism which underlies the most American thinking.

For those who never again see, hear or pronounce a word in the foreign tongue they worked so hard to “acquire”, it is in these broadened vistas that the value of their language study must be found. And is it not precisely in broadened vistas that we see the worth of the Liberal Arts education?

Ursinus Woman's Club

At the annual Christmas luncheon of the Ursinus Woman's Club held in Philadelphia, Saturday, December 7, 1957, a check for $1300.00 was presented to Ursinus as a contribution toward the furnishings for Paisley Hall.

During the business meeting held after the luncheon, the newly elected officers were presented: President, Miss Edwain Tyson, '24; Vice-President, Mrs. John Lentz (Barbara Taylor) '31; Secretary, Miss Elmina Brant '31; Treasurer, Mrs. J. Harold Brownbach (Lois Hook) '20; and Directors, Mrs. Richard Ballantyne (Helen Isenberg) '24, Mrs. James Voss (Geraldine Yerger) '39, Mrs. Joseph Beardwood, III (Louise Borneman) '51 and Mrs. Dorothy Schellhase.

The Woman's Club is planning several events for spring with opportunities for members and friends to meet at Ursinus. During the spring vacation a card party will be held in the new dormitory with a tour of the dormitories a special feature. A circular announcing date, time and further details will be sent to members.

ALUMNI ACTIVITIES

New York Area Alumni Change Spring Dinner Date

Friday, May 2, is the date selected for the annual spring dinner and meeting of the New York Metropolitan Area Alumni. The date has been changed to a Friday from the traditional first Wednesday in May to accommodate those alumni who otherwise would have to work the following morning. As in past years, the 18th floor Sky Lounge and Banquet Room at the Hotel Barbizon, 63rd Street and Lexington Avenue, New York City, has been reserved. Dinner of either fish or meat is planned with the price of $3.75 per person.

Several new plans for future group activities are to be revealed at the meeting, with interesting discussions of special interest by college representatives who will be present. Details of the dinner and meeting will be mailed to all area alumni in early April.

Anyone wishing to aid in planning for future alumni activities in the area or desiring information on the alumni group itself are asked to write to the President of the New York Metropolitan Area Alumni: Tom Phillips, 63 Raymond Street, Hasbrouck Heights, New Jersey. Phone: Atlas 8-3060.

Lehigh Valley Alumni To Meet April 25

The President of the Lehigh Valley Regional Alumni Group, Mrs. Francis Tisdale Dreisbach, wants to announce that the regional meeting this year will be held at the Hotel Bethlehem, Bethlehem, Pa., on Friday, April 25. The dinner will be served at 7:00 P.M.

The officers, Archie Simons, Matsie Jaindl Robinson, George D. MacNeal and Mrs. Dreisbach are planning an entertaining program. Nominations and elections for new officers will be held. Richard Schellhase from the College Department of Religion, will be a speaker accompanying his talk on the near east with slides he has taken in the area.

Details will be mailed to members in the area in the near future, but please reserve the date now.

Alumni Day— Saturday, June 7, 1958

This year a change in the schedule is planned for Alumni Day, June 7. In place of the banquet in the evening as has been held in years past, the reunion committee has unanimously agreed to present the alumni with an exceptional smorgasbord at noon, accompanied by music and the presentation of prizes. The evening this year will be reserved for individual class functions, open houses and get-togethers. The day's program, as announced by the Reunion Committee Chairman, Dr. Eugene H. Miller, will follow the following schedule.

- 10:00-12:30—Registration near the Alumni Office.
- 12:30- 2:00—Smorgasbord.
Outside—weather permitting—Freeland Hall if raining
- 3:00- 4:30—President's Reception—Alumni Memorial Library
- 4:30- 5:00—Alumni Annual Business Meeting in Bomberger Hall.
- 5:00-? ? —Individual Class Gatherings.

Notice of individual class functions will be mailed to all five year reunioning classes by the respective class reunion chairmen. For further details write to your chairman.

May Day Activities

May 10th is May Day at Ursinus, with the annual May Day Pageant scheduled for 2:30 P.M., and an opportunity for visitors to tour the new dormitories from 3:30 to 5:00 P.M. The May Day luncheon in the library will be remembered by those who have attended the two previous ones as a sumptuous buffet and a very pleasant campus reunion. Tickets at $1.50 each may be ordered from Mrs. J. Harold Brownbach, 600 Main St., Trappe, Collegeville, Pa., who, as treasurer of the Ursinus Woman's Club, will also be very pleased to accept dues of $2.00 a year from members, or friends of Ursinus who wish to become members of the Ursinus Woman's Club.

Mid-year Loyalty Fund Report

by Wm. R. Shuster, L.F. Committee

With January 21st marking the end of the first report period in the 1958 Loyalty Fund Campaign, we have the opportunity to compare the '58 contributions with previous years. Once again the number of contributors to the Loyalty Fund has increased, in the period just passed. Although this is a good beginning the Campaign does not end until June. For those Alumni and Friends with good intentions please keep this in mind. Elsewhere on this page we see the results of a study made at Bucknell University. From this analysis we learn Ursinus College ranks 12th among the schools in the survey in "Alumni Gifts to a Fund" and our average gift of $15.78 also ranks 12th. In the number of Alumni donors we rank 9th, with 1,616; however, it should raise the chests of the "Loyal Givers", to see Ursinus College Loyalty Fund ranks second in the Percentage of Effectiveness of Alumni Solicitation.

Philadelphia Alumni Hold Fifth Annual Dinner Dance

On Saturday, March 22, the Philadelphia Ursinus Alumni sponsored their fifth annual Dinner Dance at the Casa Conti Inn on Easton Road, Glenside, Pa. The evening included an excellent dinner, followed by dancing to the music of the Impromptones, a combo of Ursinus College students. The Philadelphia alumni are to be commended for planning such a gala affair.

Washington Alumni Plan Banquet—Friday, May 23, 1958

Thomas Beddow, President of the Washington Area Alumni has announced that their spring dinner meeting will again be held at the Kenwood Golf and Country Club, Bethesda, Maryland, on Friday evening, May 23, 1958. As last year, the group will entertain as its guests several faculty members from the College. These guests will say a few words about their college activities. This procedure was well accepted at last year's dinner.

The Longacre Scholarship

Walter F. Longacre of the Class of 1914 has established the Longacre Scholarship with the principle of $5,000 in the memory of his parents, Emanuel Longacre and his wife, Caroline Everhart Force. Emanuel Longacre was a member of the Board of Directors of Ursinus College from 1869 to 1894. Eight of the children of Emanuel Longacre attended Ursinus Academy and three of the children were graduated from Ursinus College.

URSINUS COLLEGE BULLETIN

New Ursinus College Alumni Directory 1949 - 1957

The Alumni Association's officers and officers of the College have seen fit to undertake the publication of a new alumni directory. The last edition covered the years between 1936-1948 and was edited by Dr. Calvin Yost of the college faculty. Since that time approximately 1,662 more students have joined the alumni body. The new edition of the register will consist of an alphabetical listing of all alumni, and a short biographical report of each alumnus arranged alphabetically by class.

With the April mailing of ballots and dues notices, a prepaid return envelope will be included with a form for the desired information. Since the directory will be of real value only if it is complete, all alumni are urged to return this form as complete and quickly as possible. This will make the task of compiling the information as simple as possible and save the Alumni Association treasury the expense of multiple mailings. When completed, the Register should sell for approximately two dollars a copy and copies may be reserved when the biographical information is submitted.

July Issue—Alumni Journal

A special supplement on U. S. higher education in 1958 is coming in the July issue of The Alumni Journal. Alumni magazine editors and publishers throughout the country have joined in this first cooperative effort to tell the story of American higher education in a dramatic and panoramic way. In 32 pages of pictures and text, the supplement will present the immense diversity of higher education in its variety of objectives, its problems, its restlessness, and its new approaches. The text has been written by a group of alumni editors who have been at work for more than a year. One of the country's leading photographers, Erich Hartmann of Magnum, has taken the pictures. The supplement will appear in more than 150 alumni magazines whose combined circulation is 1,300,000.

NOTICE TO ALUMNI—No one but the officials of Ursinus College, Dr. Staiger, Alumni Executive Secretary, and the Ursinus Woman's Club is authorized to solicit or receive gifts for the College. Alumni should send their gifts to the Alumni Secretary.

Winterthur Museum Included in History Department Curriculum

A new feature has been added to the American History course at Ursinus, thanks to the cooperation of the Henry Francis duPont Winterthur Museum. This program, tested on an experimental basis in the Fall Term, 1957-58, highlighted a lecture on the College campus by Dr. E. McClung Fleming, Educational Director of the Winterthur Foundation, on the development of American arts and crafts in historical perspective. Student tours to the Winterthur Museum, near Wilmington, Delaware, followed later in the week, and gave the students an opportunity to see examples of the furniture, utensils, decor and art of succeeding periods in the colonial and early national periods of American history. Reaction of the Winterthur staff, students, and interested faculty members, History Professors J. Douglas Davis and William T. Parsons, has been enthusiastic, so that the project has been permanently added to the course. This is in keeping with History Department policy of utilizing available materials and to recognize our cultural heritage.

The Winterthur Museum was established by Henry Francis duPont, as he furnished complete rooms of the family mansion of Winterthur to fit the spirit of the antique furniture and art he collected. In this way, Mr. duPont attempted to recreate the setting of early American life and history. Approximately one hundred period rooms represent numerous colonies and states from 1640 to 1840, with complete room furnishings and companion pieces.

The house at Winterthur was built in 1839 and named by its first occupant, James Bidermann, for the Swiss city from which his family had come. Bidermann was married to a granddaughter of Pierre duPont de Nemours, first of the family to settle in Delaware. Winterthur remained in possession of the duPont family until 1951, when it became the property of the Winterthur Corporation and the same year The Henry Francis duPont Winterthur Museum was formally opened to the public.

Representative of the Early Colonial period is the Wentworth Room, with brick-lined fireplace and exposed beams typical of 1673-1710 New Hampshire. Furniture and unique silver objects of seventeenth century New England are found here also.

The Readbourne Parlor from Maryland in 1733, with Queen Anne furniture in walnut and mahogany, is evidence of the rising prosperity of the Chesapeake region of that time. Both Colonial and English arts and crafts are evident in the Philadelphia tea table, Boston clock, New York mirror, English stoneware tea set and Irish chandelier, while the portrait was done by John Wollaston, who worked in the middle colonies about 1750.

Undoubtedly the most impressive feature of the entire Winterthur collection is the Montmorenci Stair Hall, with its free-hanging self-supporting spiral staircase, which originally was the striking showpiece of Montmorenci, Warren County, North Carolina, where it was installed in 1822. Here the Marquis de Lafayette, on his tour of the United States in 1824-25, was entertained by General William Williams, the proud owner. General Williams' guests, entering his house from the veranda, looked through a spacious entrance hall and a framing archway to the back hall, where the staircase rose to the second floor. Unfortunately, the names of the craftsman who built and the architect who designed the stair have been lost.

Wentworth Room

Of major interest to many of the Ursinus students was the Fractur Room, with panels and woodwork done in 1787 in Berks County. Walnut, oak and pine furniture from eighteenth century Berks, Chester and Lancaster Counties includes table, cupboard and the dower chests decorated with stylized birds and flowers now so much in fashion, not only in the Dutch country. Drawings and Fractur-decorated certificates are also found here, as are books in German printed in Pennsylvania before 1750.

Great care is taken at Winterthur that all visitors be given an adequate opportunity to make the most of the tours, and to that end, class members were divided into groups of four, each group accompanied by a pleasant and informative guide. The trip provides an opportunity in American social history intended to increase our students' understanding and appreciation in the field of arts and crafts.

Montmorenci Stair Hall

Other Department of History tours for courses from Ancient Near East and Medieval Institutions to Western Art have led Dr. Maurice Armstrong, Mrs. Richard Foster and Mr. J. Douglas Davis to the University Museum, Free Public Library, the Alverthorpe Gallery, and Philadelphia Museum of Art.

The Campus Song

By MISS M. G. SPANGLER
Instructor in Music

Many an Ursinus graduate has wondered about the origin of our Campus Song. At the turn of this century there flourished at Ursinus a Men's Glee Club of remarkable talent. Its success could be attributed to both its recently appointed, yet fiery, red-haired Professor of History, Dr. J. Lynn Barnard, the Director, and to the unusual aggregation of lusty voiced students, ranging from short fat tenors to tall gangling basses, a most impressive group.

The programs of the Men's Glee Club boasted great variety; folk-songs or medleys, hymns or rounds, glees or parodies, such as the "take-off" on Romeo and Juliet, or "The Grasshopper", all of which were sure hits on their tours. Much of the success was because the tallest, loose jointed bass "Appy" (E. R. Appenzeller '00) gave characterizations worthy of any polished European Opera Bouffe interpreter.

Invariably one song programmed was a salute to "college spirit" often decried down through the years as lacking at Ursinus. Since no Ursinus Alma Mater existed at the time some plagiarized Yale or Harvard melody was substituted or the Carmina Princetonia was frequently given credit. One day in the late 1890's, Dr. Barnard discovered the leader of the Mandolin Club, which always accompanied the Glee Club on tour, was a Poet-aspirant: and had been turning accounts of pillow fights or ball field episodes into verse. "Why not try an Ursinus song?" queried the Director. So with the suggestion of the tune of "The Orange and the Black" from Carmina Princetonia the imperishable lines of an Ursinus Alma Mater were given birth.

In the Ursinus Bulletin, the predecessor of the present Weekly, under the date of June 15, 1899, the first printing of "When the shades of evening gather" appeared entitled "The Campus Song" and simply signed: C. G. Petrie, 1900". This very man is still in our midst living only a stone's throw from our Old Freeland and he certainly should be serenaded some night by an inspired group of Ursinus singers as a token of appreciation for our beloved Campus Song.

The happy thought of including both the words and the music in this issue of the Ursinus Journal puts into the hands of thousands of former students an Ursinus memento to be forever treasured. Long may the welkin ring with the echoes of "The Red, Old Gold and Black".

ALFRED D. ROBERTS '49

Soccer 1957

The 1957 soccer season followed the pattern of the last several years,—a team short on manpower and experience produced a lot of fine play, but could not come through with the goals. In no game was the team clearly outclassed. Even the Swarthmore score does not indicate how close the play was against this Conference champion team.

Last spring prospects looked dim indeed, since a number of players became ineligible and others were to graduate, but by the start of the season a squad had gathered. Unfortunately no players of varsity ability turned up in the freshman class. This is our great lack, year after year, since in one of our nearby rivals at least six excellent players were admitted to college this fall. The game seems to be becoming more wide-spread in the local high schools, however, so that in time we should have reason to expect a nucleus of skill and experience in each incoming class.

The graduation of our All-American goalie, Dave Burger, left a large gap indeed and in an important spot. Barry Dempsey, a basketball player without soccer experience, filled in at goal and played a steadily improving game. Ben Settles, after a three year hitch with the Marines, returned to the center-forward position and added speed to the attack. He was reinforced by Brookes on the left wing, and Grundy, captain and left-inner, a fine mid-field man, passing and dribbling well and setting up the attack. These three forwards were awarded honorable mention, along with the halfback Bob Fulton, on the All-Conference squad.

At fullback Kinlock and Schmoyer, both Juniors, formed a fine defensive combination. Bob Schmoyer was not only placed on the All-Conference selection but given the second team position on the Pa.-Jersey-Del. squad—a group which includes players from such schools as Penn, Penn State, and Princeton.

Alumnae Hockey Team Goes Undefeated

A strong Ursinus Alumnae squad successfully completed their season without a loss. A delicate balance of experience and new talent, Coach Eleanor Snell's proteges surpassed all expectations by scoring sixty-four goals to their opponents' two.

The powerful aggregate, led by high scoring Marge Dawkins Garinger '57 and Phyl Stadler '56, had the distinction of defeating an All-Delaware team shortly before this team presented the Welsh Touring Team with their only loss. Completing the line were Adele Boyd '53, Erma Keyes '47—captain, and Reb Mason '55.

The backfield was untried in some contests, and yet proved itself most effectively when necessary. Ruth Aucott '56, Vonnie Gros '57, Winie Leute '49—captain, Ginny Dulin '47, and Jen Shillingford '54, composed this almost impregnable defense.

The Alumnae completed their season with a most enjoyable party at manager Teddy Knopf's home.

Aucott, Stadler and Gros Secure All American Honors

Many Ursinus players distinguished themselves at Vassar College over Thanksgiving weekend. There at the National Tournament, Ruth Heller Aucott, for the second time, was named United States center halfback, while Phyl Stadler was selected United States Reserve right inner and Vonnie Gros received honorable mention. Both Vonnie and Phyl will travel with the United States Touring Team to Africa this summer. Other Alumnae representing Philadelphia were Adele Boyd and Jen Shillingford, while college players Pat Woodbury, Alice Irwin and Sue Wagner likewise participated.

Varsity Belles Complete Successful Season

The Ursinus varsity, coached by Miss Eleanor F. Snell and led by All-College goalie Pat Woodbury of Weehauken, N. J., completed a successful season, losing but one game.

The varsity, severely disrupted by the "flu" as were many of their opponents, became quite flexible. The lineup varied with each game. Despite these inconsistencies, Miss Snell produced a smoothly co-ordinated, yet versatile team which suffered but one loss.

SPORTS

Football 1957

After enjoying one of the best starts in many years, the Ursinus Bears ended the season with two wins and five losses.

The opening game against Susquehanna was won by the Bears by virtue of two field goals (24 & 26 yds.) by Captain Bob Famous.

The second game of the season against Drexel was also won by Ursinus 12-6, scores coming on a 24 yard pass play

The following game with Wilkes marked the start of a five game losing streak for Ursinus. A flu-ridden and weakened eleven went down to a 39-0 loss on Old Timers' Day. Ron Rescigno, elusive Wilkes halfback, scored two touchdowns to lead their attack.

The Swarthmore game was cancelled because of the ravages of the flu on the Bears.

19-6. Bob Ortman led the Fords attack with 182 yards gained and two touchdowns.

Lebanon Valley won over Ursinus 13-7. The Bears scored on a 93 yard pass play.

In the final game undefeated Juniata downed the Bears 42-7.

Two new opponents will be on the 1958 schedule: Johns Hopkins replacing Drexel, and Dickinson replacing Juniata.

Wrestling 1958

Captained by Jack Prutzman this year's wrestling team is small in number and lacks all around balance. However, the high enthusiasm and team spirit of the squad has made up for this lack of all around balance.

The loss of four year Middle Atlantic champion and twice winner of the most valuable wrestling award, Richard Padula, and rubberman, Dan Knauff, has left two tremendous gaps for the starting eight.

Track Schedule—1958

Haverford	Sat., April 19, 2:30	Away
F. & M.	Wed., April 23, 3:15	Home
Penn Relays	Fri., April 25 and Sat., April 26	Philadelphia
Swarthmore	Wed., April 30, 3:30	Away
Albright and Bucknell	Sat., May 3, 2:00	Bucknell
P. M. C.	Tues., May 6, 3:15	Home
Middle Atlantics	Fri., May 9 and Sat., May 10	West Chester
Washington College	Tues., May 13, 3:15	Home
Dickinson	Sat., May 17, 2:00	Away
Muhlenberg	Wed., May 21, 3:30	Away
Lebanon Valley	Sat., May 24, 2:30	Home

Filling in for Padula at 137 lb. class is Hal Redden. Redden, who wrestled at 147 last season, has won three out of his last four bouts.

Senior Dan Hartman and Captain Jack Prutzman are both wrestling at the same weights as they did last year. Hartman who has won three for four is at 167 lb. class and Prutzman has won his four matches at the 157 lb. class.

The Bears have won three matches and lost one to the University of Delaware, 19-17. This loss cost them the opportunity to repeat their winning of the wrestling championship of the Southern Division of the Middle Atlantic Conference which they won last year. Their victories came at the hands of Albright, Haverford and Swarthmore.

Rev. Roy L. Minich is now retired and on the "hit and run circuit"—in other words "have sermon will travel". Rev. Minich spent eight months this year as interim pastor at West Hartford, Conn., and will begin an interim in Evanston, Illinois in January.

The retirement in June of Dr. LeRoy F. Derr, principal of Williamsport High School since 1943, marks the closing of a career of one who made an outstanding contribution to education.

Dr. Derr joined the city's school system in 1921, as an instructor in the science department of WHS. In 1924, he became science department head.

Dr. LeRoy F. Derr

With the exception of the school year 1942-43, when he served as principal of the Curtin Junior High School, Dr. Derr spent all of his years in the city's school system at WHS. The following term he was elected principal of the high school.

Throughout his fourteen years as principal of WHS, Dr. Derr has gained the confidence of pupils and teachers. He has served as an inspiration to all those who have worked with him, not only in educational circles but also in church, fraternal and civic affairs.

Dr. Derr holds three degrees. He studied at Ursinus College for the bachelor of arts degree; at Bucknell University for a master of arts degree; and at the University of Pittsburgh for the degree of doctor of education.

Dr. Derr has, since retirement from WHS, been made Head of Education Department of Lycoming College, Williamsport, Pa.

Franklin R. Bemisderfer received a citation from Central Areas Community Council, Cleveland, Ohio, "for many years of service as a teacher, principal and friend" and for his contributions to the organization. He is a long-time member of the council's executive board. The citation was presented by Judge Perry B. Jackson.

Rev. William R. Shaffer, D.D., of Faith Church in Philadelphia, and his wife are going on a two months' mission to Japan during July and August. With the help only of an interpreter and a native Japanese minister, William says they will try to establish a christian church in rural Buddhist territory. This mission, sponsored by "Kyodon", (United Church of Christ in Japan) is interdenominational. "Bill" proudly announces he has recently become a grandfather for the sixth time.

Mary E. Gross has another honor added to her list. In recognition of her thirty years of dedicated efforts in guiding the production of the sixty yearbooks for West Philadelphia High School in that period, the staff, heads of departments, principal, and others managed secretly to have the present issue dedicated to her. As one reads its printed page of tributes to her, so beautifully phrased, one feels these words are an infinitely small token of their great esteem for her devotion.

Herbert R. Howells, class president, is making plans for the thirty-fifth reunion on June 7. He needs all the cooperation of the members of the class to make it an interesting, stimulating, worthwhile reunion.

Attorney A. Benjamin Scirica, new president of the Montgomery Bar Association, is a dynamic, hardworking lawyer who also finds time to devote to many civic and welfare activities.

A native of Norristown, he is one of the most popular of the younger members of the Italian-American group in the area—and one of the most tireless in work for their advancement and betterment at all times.

He made up his mind early to be a lawyer. In high school he had the practice of law as his goal and as a result went out eagerly for the debating team, which he made.

He continued his studies at Ursinus, where he was given a partial scholarship. He had to take part-time jobs to help defray his expenses but this did not deter him from his studies or from his love of sports. He captained the Ursinus football team in its game against Army in 1931.

He studied law in the University of Pennsylvania Law School for two years. When he entered law school his preceptor was Atty. D. Yeakle Miller. After Mr. Miller's death he transferred to the office of Atty. Frederick B. Smillie.

Two Chemical Corporations Announce Gift Matching Programs

National Distillers and Chemicals Corporation and the Dow Chemical Company are now added to the growing list of industries which will match the gift a college graduate sends to his Alma Mater.

John E. Bierwirth, President of National Distillers and Chemical Corporation has encouraged his employees to join in their Cooperative Contribution Plan. In a letter to the employees of N.D.C.C. he states, "The improvement of educational facilities throughout our country is extremely important to the future development of our nation and we feel that there is a responsibility on the part of the corporations of the country to contribute to the broadening of our educational facilities. The tuition of the average school does not defray the cost of instruction by the school and deficits must be made up through contributions by individuals, firms and corporations. In fact, the biggest source of contributions to educational institutions comes from their alumni, and it is with the thought of stimulating such contributions that we have adopted the CO-OPERATIVE CONTRIBUTION PLAN.

The adoption of the COOPERATIVE CONTRIBUTION PLAN is an extension of this general program which will permit employees to select beneficiary educational institutions and will furnish aid to a much larger number of schools than would be possible under other provisions of our general Program.

The Dow Matching Grant Plan is intended to encourage employees in their contributions to higher education. It is an addition to The Dow Chemical Company's over-all educational assistance program which provides gifts to many institutions in such forms as fellowships and scholarships, unrestricted funds, and research grants.

Under the Matching Grant Plan, the Company will match contributions of an employee up to $100 per employee per calendar year.

Gifts are unrestricted as to choice of college or university, provided that the choice is a four-year accredited institution in the United States.

The program is open to all regular employees of the Company, both hourly and salaried.

Matching grants by the company will be used for the same purpose as that designated by the employee.

Collegeville Alumni In Local Politics

Four Ursinus professors, Dr. G. Sieber Pancoast, Dr. Allan Rice, Dr. William T. Parsons, and Dr. Russell D. Sturgis, have recently been elected to civil posts in the boroughs of Collegeville and Schwenksville.

The people of Collegeville, recognizing the abilities of our professors, re-elected Dr. Pancoast as Councilman, and Dr. Sturgis to the school board. Dr. Rice was re-elected to the post of Justice of the Peace. It seems that even a strictly Republican borough as Collegeville will vote Democratic for a capable man.

In Schwenksville, Dr. William T. Parsons, '47 a Republican, was re-elected to his post as Councilman.

Dr. G. Sieber Pancoast '37 has also been named president of the Collegeville Borough Council when the body met at their January meeting for a combined regular and special meeting in the Collegeville fire hall.

New members of the Council were sworn in by Burgess Paul W. Leven-good '35.

Alec Clawson '36 was seated. He is the oldest member of the Council in terms of years of service.

Following Pancoast's election, Mrs. Helen Hartzell was named secretary of the body and Howard B. Keyser '10, treasurer.

Horace E. Godshall '29 was appointed by President Pancoast to study a proposed "no hunting" ordinance for the borough.

20th Anniversary "Messiah"

On December 12, the 20th annual presentation of Handel's Messiah was performed in Bomberger Chapel. This event, which has become a Christmas tradition at Ursinus, is presented by the campus music organizations. The entire production was under the direction of Dr. William F. Philip, who conducted the Ursinus Chorus, the four guest soloists, and the orchestra composed of Ursinus students and members of the Philadelphia Orchestra.

At the afternoon rehearsal, Conrad Hoover, presented Dr. Philip with a fifty dollar savings bond and a wallet in appreciation of the time and effort he spent in producing the Messiah.

This year arrangements were made with the Radio Corporation of America to have the entire Messiah recorded and albums will be made available to the members of the chorus.
