New Campus To House Record Enrollment

Parkland College Begins 7th Year

By Westerly Donohue

The largest number of students in Parkland's history flooded into the college's new campus this week as the school began its 7th year of operation.

Dean of Students, Harris Moeller, appeared to be "knee-deep" in students during last week's registration period. Over 4,500 students from Champaign - Urbana and its neighboring communities enrolled for the fall quarter 1973-74. Parkland College's new facilities appeared to be an influential factor in drawing more students than ever before in the history of the College. The completed campus is the final product of a seven-year dream. What was once a "store-front" campus has now become a centrally-located college. (Photo by David Stanley)

Large Turnout Expected During Activities Week

Student Activity Week is conceived and developed by your Student Government stemming from an often expressed student desire for an objective introduction and survey of the Student Activity Program. Thus, the purpose of this week is to acquaint you with the scope, diversity, and your role in student activities at Parkland College. You will have the opportunity to meet student leaders from all activity areas and obtain a realistic appraisal of the influences and benefits of activity participation for you. These leaders will provide answers to your specific questions; introduce you to other students; and give you the opportunity to establish, if necessary, a new campus organization. The Student Activity Program of Parkland College supplements and enhances the academic phase of your education. Participate actively in both areas and you will experience a well-rounded college experience.

When: September 24-28
Where: First floor lounge College Center

All organization leaders are urged to contact Judi Koeberlein in the Office of Student Activities to reserve a table for your club.

Parkland Community College commenced its first day of Fall Quarter classes on Tuesday, September 11. This date marked a new period of advancement for Parkland as it launched its first year on the permanent campus. A spirit of cooperation existed among all of those who participated in registration. Registration occurred between the 29th of August and the 5th of September. Late registration was held on September 6.

PARKLAND HISTORY

Parkland Community College has been in operation for seven years. During that time, it has undergone tremendous growth. Parkland initially opened its doors to 1,338 day and evening students in 1967. By 1972, enrollment for the fall quarter was over 4,000 students. In October, 1968, a permanent campus became a reality when District 505 voters passed a $7.5 million bond referendum.

ACCREDITATION

Parkland College was granted full accreditation by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools on March 22, 1972. The accreditation has since facilitated the transfer of Parkland students to colleges and universities across the country.

CAMPUS LOCATION

The new campus is located northwest of Champaign on a 233 acre site. It was chosen because of its central location in District 505 and its proximity to Interstate Highways 72, 74 and 57.

DISTRICT 505

A total of 49 communities are served by the college. They include Allerton, Arcola, Atwood, Bement, Broadlands, Buckley, Camargo, Champaign, Cisco, Cissna Park, DeLand, Elliott, Farmer City, Gifford, Hammond, Homer, Ivesdale, Loda, Longview, Ludlow, Mahomet, Mansfield, Melvin, Newman, Ogden, Paxton, Philo, Pesotum, Piper City, Rantoul, Roberts, Royal, Sadorus, Savoy, Sibley, Sidney, St. Joseph, Shawville, Thomasboro, Tolono, Tuscola, Urbana, Villa Grove and Weldon. Approximately 250,000 persons are served by the college, including 25 high school districts in 12 counties.

QUARTER PLAN

Parkland College operates on the quarter plan with three regularly scheduled quarters of instruction per academic year plus a Summer Session. One quarter of credit is equivalent to two-thirds of a semester hour.

CALENDAR CHANGES

The beginning of the Fall Quarter, 1973, was delayed due to last-minute construction work at the new campus. It is expected to cause a shortened Thanksgiving vacation. A final examination period during the year may be trimmed also.

PHASES I AND II

Phases I and II of the new campus are now in the process of completion.

Phase I encompasses Business, Life Science, Math and Physical Science and Communications.

Phase II is the Student Center (Please turn to Page 12)

Tom Neal Wounded In Campus Shooting

This week's opening of the new Parkland College facilities was marred by the shooting of one of the college's administrators.

Thomas Neal, Assistant Dean for Records and Admissions, was wounded in both hands after a former student and employee fired two shots from a handgun.

Police were told by a workman that Mr. Neal was forced to lie on the floor and then the gunman fired a shot into each of the administrator's outstretched hands.

The incident occurred at approximately 3:20 in the afternoon during registration period on the lower level of the Student Center.

Mr. Neal was immediately taken to Carle Clinic where he was later released.

President Staerkel said that information he received indicated that the wounds suffered by Mr. Neal were only slight and that he was expected to return to the College in a few days.

Taken into custody by Champaign County Sheriff's deputies, William Rolland Stritzel III, 27, of 104 South Gregory, Urbana. Stritzel is accused of aggravated battery and armed violence and was to have been arraigned in circuit court this past Wednesday.

Dorothy Lipkin, a secretary at Parkland College, witnessed part of the incident. According to Mrs. Lipkin, she and Mr. Neal were in his office discussing advance payment checks for veterans when the former student and employee entered the room.

Mrs. Lipkin said that at first she did not realize that the man was in the room standing next to her.

"I heard a voice say 'Get up!'" The man's voice, according to the secretary, appeared not to be one of anger, but more "matter-of-fact." Mrs. Lipkin noted that Mr. Neal repeated to Mr. Neal to "get up. I mean it."

"I began to back out of the room," Mrs. Lipkin said. "I wanted to try and get help. Just as I got out of the doorway, I heard Mr. Neal say 'You can't be serious.' It was during the time that we were trying to get the Police Department on the phone that all of us heard the two shots being fired. I told one of the girls to call the police, that Mr. John Stritzel was holding a gun on Mr. Neal. At first she didn't believe me. When she finally realized that I was serious, she grabbed the phone and tried to call the police. For some reason the phone wasn't working so we ran over to the Computer Center to use their phone. While we were calling from there, we all heard two shots being fired."

Other witnesses indicated that they saw the man leaving Mr. Neal's office carrying the gun in his hand. One man said, "I saw him walking out of Mr. Neal's office and he appeared to be very calm."

Witnesses to the incident differ as to the route the man took in leaving the complex. Indications are that he left the Student Center and ran out to the parking lot where he got into a taxicab.

The cab was stopped within a mile of the campus in the 100 block of North Mattis Avenue by Champaign police who then arrested Stritzel.

President William Staerkel called the shooting "a lamentable act of violence," and he added, "everyone (Please turn to Page 12)

Toward Humanistic Reporting

Our society is deteriorating at the core. Our values are threatened by moral decay. Our country is suffering from the breakdown of values caused by a need for instant karma. These reactive general attitudes seem to represent the feelings of many disillusioned persons in our society.

In retrospect of the 60's, our consciousness appears to have been raised a few levels. As a nation, we have witnessed some of the results of social turmoil in the forms of violence, frustration, and change.

But who is accountable for the formation of popular attitudes? To a very large extent, the media reaches more people than any other form of communications. It is a legitimate function of the media to accurately and objectively present occurring events. But whether it has arisen from a confusion in the people's values, or from the self-reinforced expectations of what people want to read, it is indeed unfortunate that sensationalism appears to be glorified in the media.

It is a commonly-known fact that the negativism of sickness, violence, and exploitation is the stuff that sells the news. Our senses are continually assaulted by reminders of our existence in a decadent system.

It is contended that the press is influential in the shaping of popular attitudes. If this premise is accepted, it is further contended that it is the responsibility of the press to attempt to avoid capitalizing on the less desirable sides of human behavior. Clearly it is not a matter of censorship but of a voluntary, self-regulated sense of discrimination.

To report news without the appeal of sensationalism is not an unfeasible suggestion. One case-in-point is the Christian Science Monitor. Recognized regularly on the basis of journalistic excellence, its standards on sensationalism are stringent.

A move toward humanistic reporting will only occur when the mass of people decide that it is time to protect and change the policies of the media. It will be a constructive move away from exploitative distortion and toward humanism.

It is the policy of the Prospectus within the framework of humanistic reporting, to be a means of conveying the alternative of constructive social thought. Therefore, the staff of the Prospectus condemns the shooting of Mr. Neal. In setting a standard of excellence in humanistic reporting, this publication pledges itself to the policy to avoid enhancing or capitalizing on acts of violence.

Board Seeks More Student Involvement In Publications

With the move to the new campus, the Parkland College Student Publications Board anticipates greater student involvement in student publications and sees new possibilities for student publications activities.

One of the more persistent problems of student activities on a "store front" campus is the disunity of the environment. Few activities suffer more from that disunity than student publications. Because of distribution problems, students frequently are unaware of the existence of publications they might be interested in. Or if they know about them, they may not know where they are based, who is in charge, or how to get involved.

The new Parkland campus, remarkably unified both structurally and aesthetically, provides a new cohesiveness that will solve most of these problems and stimulate more student interest in publications. People and places will be easy to find, and the work environment promises to be comfortable and well equipped.

Presently, students can work on any of the five student publications: Prospectus, the newspaper; Conveniamus, the yearbook; the literary magazine; Sprinkler, the announcement bulletin, and the Student Directory.

In addition, there are opportunities for new student publications activities wherever there is sufficient student interest. Since almost any communications activity may

Measure For Measure

The Prospectus needs change. At this time our student paper is undergoing a terrific amount of change in an extremely short time-span. The paper has, in the past, served the student body at Parkland adequately. But only adequately. It has not offered itself as an instrument for those hoping to develop skills revolving around writing. In the past the Prospectus did not reflect the many innovative things happening at Parkland.

We are now at the new campus. Parkland Junior College now offers the most modern, imaginative and stimulating atmosphere for its students ever. Parkland is equipped with a fine faculty empathic to the learning needs of undergraduates. And Parkland has an earnest, helpful, and professional staff to provide the students with services.

But what do the students have to offer the college? No institution of higher learning can have a quality of excellence without students who are not afraid to develop their minds in innovative ways. At Parkland many skills and ideas can be developed, but only if you are willing to take a chance. To take a chance and to step out is to really experience. And to experience and reflect is to really learn.

Contact the Prospectus office if you are interested. Find out what is going on. There may be something going on for you.

mocrats Club. Programs shall be developed by students to increase knowledge and interest in governmental affairs, and acquaint the students with candidates and present-day issues.

Dental Assisting

This association aims to promote the education of the dental assistant, to improve and sustain the vocation of dental assisting, and to contribute to the advancement of the dental profession and improvement of public health.

Dental Hygienists' Association
(J.A.D.H.A.)

The objectives of the Dental Hygienists' Association shall be to cultivate, promote, and sustain the art and science of Dental Hygiene; to represent and safeguard the common interest of the members of the profession; and to contribute toward the improvement of the health of the public.

logically be placed under the rubric of publications, students might wish to explore new printed media activities or even examine possibilities in radio or television. The Publications Board welcomes suggestions from interested students and will assist them in developing procedures and guidelines.

The Board also invites students and faculty to share in the activities of the Board itself. The Board is made up of three members of the Student Association (appointed by Student Government), three members of the Faculty Association (appointed by the P. C. A.), and the Assistant Dean for Student Activities (ex-officio). The Board functions to establish policies, to appoint certain staff members, and to recommend budgets for student publications. The Publications Board holds meetings each month, this year, tentatively, on the third Thursday at 1:00 P.M. at a place to be announced. And Board meetings are open and receptive to student and faculty participation.

From The Adviser

By Dave Jones

Since the student newspaper can be the most effective tool for communication on the community college campus, this channel must be developed and kept open for students, faculty, and administrators.

It is my philosophy that the student newspaper should serve its campus community in much the same way that the commercial newspaper serves its society. Both newspapers are the product of their respective societies, and both function to inform, educate, and entertain their readers.

What about censorship and its role in the college newspaper? The Parkland College Student Government By-Laws clearly state that no one has the right to censor material contributed to the newspaper. I totally agree and I will comply with this statement. The adviser's role is not that of a censor or an establisher of editorial policy.

The adviser advises, teaches, and trains the students who participate in the process of publishing the newspaper. In this role, he or she advises and informs students in matters concerning journalistic ethics and responsibilities, writing and technical skills.

The student newspaper is not a public relations vehicle, primarily, although it might serve such a purpose, indirectly. Because of this possibility journalistic responsibilities and ethics should be adhered to.

These are realistic expectations and we should move positively and deliberately toward insuring that the Prospectus will serve as Parkland College's most effective communications channel.

Newman

Within the academic framework of Parkland College, the Newman Club seeks to provide spiritual and educational opportunity for all. Although the Newman Club is dedicated primarily to Catholic students, it is open to those of all faiths. Here, the Newmanite becomes more thoroughly aware of the Church's teachings and its significance in the world, by guest speakers, lecture, lively group discussions and social activities.

Nursing Student Association

The objectives of the Nursing Association are to cultivate, promote and sustain the science of nursing through recruitment; supplement educational growth to formal learning; and foster good citizenship. In addition, the Association shall provide a vehicle for awareness of student needs, opinions, attitudes and social growth.

Peace and Social Awareness

The group provides discussions of political, economic, social and other relative issues; provides students with information on many issues; and develops relevant functions deemed appropriate and beneficial to the college community.

Something Of Value

By Westerly Anne Donohue

Mason Reese recently appeared on the Dick Cavett show. In case you have never heard of Mason, you will now be enlightened. He is not a hallucination floating around Parkland. Nor is he a figment of this writer's imagination. Mason is four feet tall. He has "red-orange" hair. He resembles a cherub with cheeks stuffed with cookies rather than heaven. And he is the little fellow on a current series of ads for deviled something-or-another. (I forget.) Most of the time you will find him on the tube around noon displaying his wares.

But last night, Mason appeared at Dick's. And it became Mason's circus. Mason was quick, witty, and downright weird. Mason is seven years old and, in his words "is from Earth." If that's supposed to be reassuring, let me tell you it is not. Now this does pertain to a little dialogue I am about to relate:

Stimulus: Dick asks Mason if he is really a Midget.

Response: The Audience: sympathetic belching noises.

Response: Gina Lollobrigida: "Cluck."

Response: Samuel Dash: "Cough, cough, cough."

(Remember Watergate?)

Mason: "I take it you are not a Midget."

Cavett: (Stunned) "What's wrong with being a Midget?"

Mason: "Nothing, except you are a little bit teeny."

Now you are wondering what the point is. It is so simple. Mason Reese, in all of his seven-year spendor, knows how to relate. Exactly. With his eerie intellect, with his emotions, and his sense of instinct for change. And the experiences of a brief lifetime accumulated for direction-giving. Which brings that around to us: students. Direction - giving seems to be one of the basic reasons for seeking knowledge. To relate to others, to ourselves, and to change.

Vine Deloria, Jr., the Standing Rock Sioux organizer, stated, "The gap we have between generations and between white society and the minority groups stems directly from a failure to understand that for all of us the world has changed irretrievably. Until we can reflect on the meaning of this change we will continue to struggle without understanding why we are struggling and what we hope to solve by doing so."

As children of Mason's age grow older, so do we. Perhaps someday we will be skilled enough to teach Mason and the other younger sisters and brothers of our time. But we had better have something of value to hand on. Because if we do not seek out learning to our fullest capabilities at this yearning, exploring, and influential time of our lives, the children will have passed us by. And they seem to be way ahead of us now.

Student Charters To Be Examined

By Brenda Kendricks
President, Student Senate

Student Government will be reviewing the Charters of all organizations for the year 1973-74. We are asking that any organization wishing their fall allocation to present their constitutions and by-laws to Student Government.

In order to meet the busy schedule of the students we are designating a tentative day for the reviewing of charters. This day is September 28, 1973. During this period we will designate certain times in which the budgets of organizations must be submitted. Due to the work load on Student Activities and the offices of Student Government we ask that you submit your constitutions and by-laws to the Student Activities Office on or before September 28, 1973.

Student Government will continue to inform organizations of any changes in procedure, but until further notice the chartering guidelines given in the Constitution of Student Government will be enforced.

All entries must be original and should include the artist's name, address, and phone number. Submit examples to Dave Jones (faculty adviser) in Room C-224 no later than October 1, 1973.

Placement Bureau Provides Vital Service

Homer Foster, Parkland College's newly appointed director of Placement Services, has improved the scope of the Bureau over the past year. Foster plans on developing a far-reaching program that would include full and part-time employment for Parkland students. "The importance of a College's Placement Bureau cannot be overstressed. The services we can provide will enhance the graduate's chances of finding employment by three-fold. We encourage all of our

An active placement service is available free to all Parkland Community College students and graduates. Headed by Mr. Homer Foster, the office offers many different job opportunities to both full and part-time students.

The placement office's primary purpose is to place Parkland graduates in jobs within their particular academic or vocational fields.

The secondary purpose of the office is to try to provide currently enrolled students with full or part-time jobs.

To utilize the Placement service, students must complete an application for student employment, which supplies the student's name, address, references, past work history, and complete class schedule.

The process of job placement also involves gathering credentials, on-the-job training, and any additional degrees earned, if any.

Completing a resume' and credentials are essential measures for securing a job through the Placement office.

Credentials may be reactivated from the College indefinitely, so long as the student obtains a Re-activation of Placement Credentials form from Mr. Foster.

A bulletin board, supplying information on available jobs, is located outside the Placement office. Any student interested in a job shown on the bulletin board should contact Mr. Foster.

Currently enrolled or graduated Parkland students may utilize the Placement Services by contacting Mr. Foster. Placement office hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, Monday through Friday.

students to become familiar with the services offered by such a program. In turn, we hope we can establish lines with more employers who need professionally qualified personnel."

Vet's Club Elections

All veterans who are eligible for membership in Chi Gamma Iota (veterans honorary scholastic society) and have maintained a GPA of 3.0 for two consecutive quarters are urged to attend our next meeting on September 18 in room X224 at 11 a.m. Elections for the offices of President, Vice-President, Recording Secretary, Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer will be acted upon at this time.

Vet's Used Books

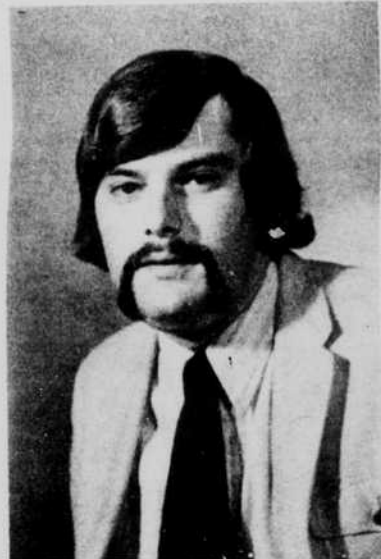

The Veterans' Used Book Store will be refunding money for books sold during registration beginning:
Date: September 19, 20, 21
Time: 8 a.m. to 12 noon;
1 p.m. to 5 p.m.
No money or books will be refunded after the above dates and time.

VET COUNSELORS: The counseling center staff provides a helping confidential relationship to all veterans at Parkland College. Some returning vets may feel a need to explore different occupational and vocational plans, have questions about Parkland and other educational opportunities or have personal problems which inhibit them from fulfilling their goals.

The counseling center is here to serve the veteran with full testing and career information as well as highly trained counselors to aid the vet.

There are two counselors who are veterans themselves, that have a special assignment to work with veterans, Dennis Felty and Dale Neaville. When a veteran first comes to Parkland College they will complete their first registration request with a counselor. During that period each will get to know the other, so a future relationship may be established if the need arises.

Literary Magazine Expands Publication

Founder and advisor for the literary magazine, Michael Babcock hopes to increase the publication of this year's issues to one during each quarter.

If you have one or two short stories hanging in your closet and think they need airing, the Parkland College Literary Magazine wants you.

If you are an unpublished poet and would like to finally reach the masses, the Literary Magazine needs you.

If you are a frustrated photographer or artist and would like to see your efforts reproduced for a large audience, the Literary Magazine has a space for you.

If you write personal essays that you would like to share with others, the Literary Magazine has a place for you.

In fact, even if you aren't any of these things, the Literary Magazine can still use you. Anyone, whether student, faculty or staff, can submit material for this year's magazines. Literary Magazine faculty adviser, Mike Babcock, is now accepting both material and applications for the magazine editorial staff.

Last year the magazine, A Quarter's Worth, was handled by a three-person, paid, editorial board, and all positions are now open. And you don't need any previous experience. Interest is enough. Tentative plans for this year call for at least three issues, one each quarter.

You can leave any contributions at Mr. Babcock's office, Room C223, or in the publications office in the student center. Even if you don't want to work on the production of the magazine, you can contribute. And if you would rather work on the magazine than contribute material, that's fine, too.

Editorial board duties include reading submissions, choosing material for each issue, doing layouts, proofreading copy, and occasionally typing. Past issues of the magazine are available in C223 from Mr. Babcock as well as the Student Activities Office.

Campus Maze Baffles Students President Delivers Advice

Things are beginning to settle down and by this time the average student (that's you) knows where he or she is going, right? Wrong!?

Surely you understand that the College Center, X, downstairs and the Learning Resource Center, R, upstairs, are centrally located, surrounded by B, C, L and M, each of which is divided into classrooms and labs with an area called the Faculty-Student Module (FSM) located in the center of each section. Downstairs, these sections are all connected and by using your map, and following the signs, and asking quite a few questions, you should have very little trouble.

If the letter from President Staerkel was not read in your class, you might have some other questions besides how to get around on the new campus.

Food and drinks are available in the Snack Bar, and in the Faculty-Student Module from vending

Attention Parkland Freshmen! Before You Get the Wrong Idea, Get the Facts

As a student at Parkland Community College, you can cross enroll at the University of Illinois and take Army ROTC. This will open up a host of new opportunities to you and let you in on a great number of benefits.

You are eligible to compete for scholarships and you may even guarantee yourself a way of paying for your last two years of college if you plan on transferring to a State supported university. At the end of your sophomore year, you bring your scholarship with you when you transfer from Parkland. This scholarship pays for your tuition and some fees. By accepting this State Army ROTC Scholarship, you commit yourself to no additional term of service.

During your training in Army ROTC, you will

"We regard military service as a career qualifier. We are attracted to young people who have served in the military and recognize that officer assignments reflect well on the leadership qualifications of the candidates."

Vice President
Caterpillar Tractor Company

receive excellent classroom instruction in leadership and management. These two qualities are vital to young leaders in today's modern world, not only in the military but in business as well. The practical exercises will challenge you both physically as well as intellectually. Yet all of this will take you no more than three to five hours a week. In the last two years of the program, you will be earning $100.00 per month for ten months of the year and will attend only one summer camp.

If you are a veteran you enter directly into the commissioning phase without the basic course and start collecting $100.00 as a living allowance right away. This is in addition to the benefits you get under the GI Bill.

If you are one of the new breed of women, the ROTC program fits your needs perfectly. Today's Army has a rapidly increasing requirement for women to serve in all roles. Many new career opportunities are being added to those which the Woman's Army Corps has previously offered. Perhaps the best example of the increased career opportunities available to women in the Army is the fact that there are now two women generals on active duty.

Whoever you are, add another dimension to your college career. Get a step up in life and have fun while you are doing it. For all of the details of the many fine programs available to you in the Army ROTC, call us at 333-1550, or visit our offices in Room 111 of the University of Illinois Armory building. Try it.

CAMPUS GUIDE

President William M. Staerkel

Brenda Kendricks

A Warm Welcome to Parkland College

From the President, Parkland College.....

Since 1967 thousands of students have attended Parkland College and have made the best of makeshift and, in many instances, inadequate facilities. Classrooms were located in old store buildings, in temporary steel structures and in churches. Facilities were scattered over a wide area, free parking was virtually non-existent, and other inconveniences were many.

In spite of these handicaps Parkland students maintained a positive and business like approach to their responsibilities, and in a surprisingly short time a truly outstanding educational organization emerged. This was Parkland College.

Now a new era dawns! Parkland's greatest liability has vanished. Replacing the old, makeshift quarters, a sparkling new campus stands ready to serve. The new campus is designed to provide the latest conveniences for learning and instruction, and is unsurpassed in the nation for its utility and planning. You have the honor and privilege of being the first to occupy these new quarters.

This promises to be an exciting year. May you experience satisfaction and success in pursuit of your educational goals.

(signed) William M. Staerkel
President, Parkland College

From the President, Student Government.....

On behalf of the members of the Student Government, I'd like to take this opportunity to welcome each of you to Parkland's new campus.

As we enter our first year on our new campus, we will be faced with new problems and situations. We will be starting all over again -- fresh and unaware of the many problems the students will encounter during the year. Our outcome will depend heavily on you, the student. Your input will be beneficial to all.

Get involved in something while you are here at Parkland. Be part of tomorrow TODAY!

(signed) Brenda Kendricks
President, Student Government,
Parkland

New faces and old will meet at the Parkland campus as the doors swing open for good this Fall. Things will not be as they have been -- nor as they ultimately will be. The initial weeks of occupancy will find students and workmen frequently crossing paths as final touches on the facilities are completed. "Moving in" marks another milestone in the Parkland College history.

Junior College District 505 is a public two-year Class I community college which was approved by a vote of the people in March 1966 to serve the needs of the District in vocational-technical fields and academic areas. Its establishment created one of the largest junior college districts in the State of Illinois, from the standpoint of land area, and also one of the wealthiest in assessed valuation. District 505, as of March 1973, contains approximately 2,507 square miles, extending 86 miles from its northern and southern borders, and 51 miles from east to west.

Forty-six communities and approximately 250,000 inhabitants are served by the College, including 25 high school districts in 12 counties. The twelve counties which have land within the confines of the District are: Champaign, Coles, DeWitt, Douglas, Edgar, Ford, Iroquois, Livingston, McLean, Moultrie, Piatt and Vermilion.

Parkland College opened its doors the first time in September 1967 to 1,338 day and evening students. Enrollment for the 1972 fall quarter was 4,147 students.

Dr. William M. Staerkel assumed his duties as first president of Parkland in January 1967. College offices were temporarily located during this time at 117 West Elm Street, Urbana. From June 1967 until the present, the College has been housed in temporary facilities in downtown Champaign.

A permanent campus came closer to reality when District 505 voters passed a $7.5 million bond referendum in October 1968. Construction of Phase I which includes Business, Life Science, Math and Physical Science, and Communications buildings, and Phase II which includes the College Center and Learning Resource Center (library), was completed in time for the opening of the 1973-74 academic year.

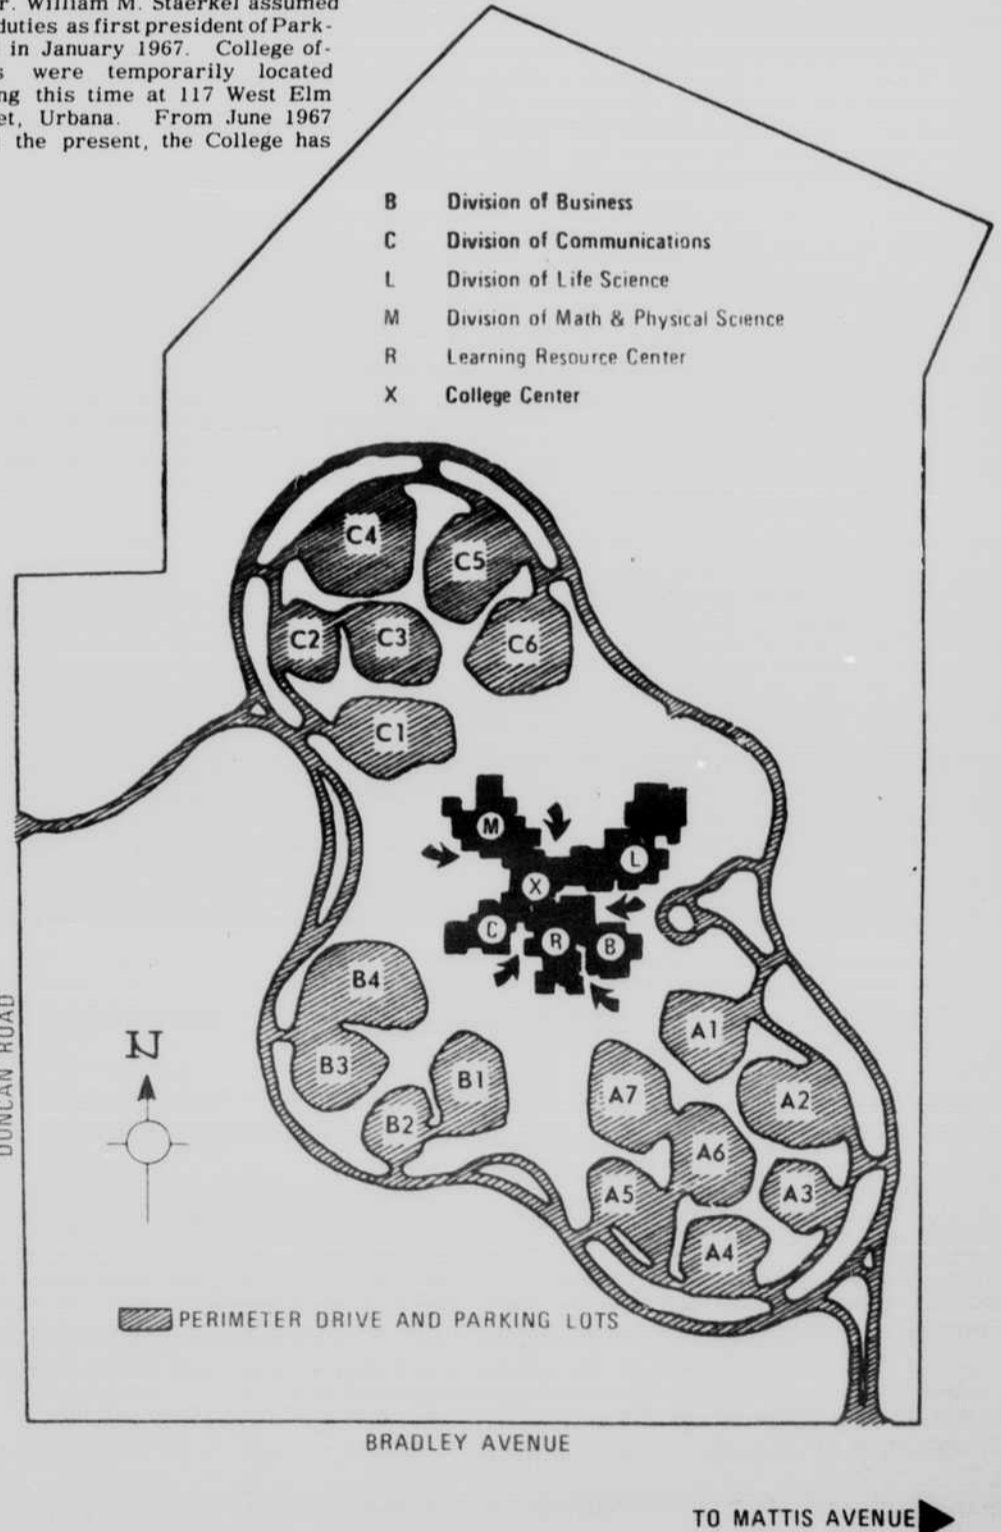

Administrative offices, and classrooms and laboratories for the Social Science division are temporarily located in sections of the Learning Resource Center and the Communications Center building. Phase III and IV will include permanent facilities for the Social Science division and administrative offices. A Physical Education facility is also a part of Phase III.

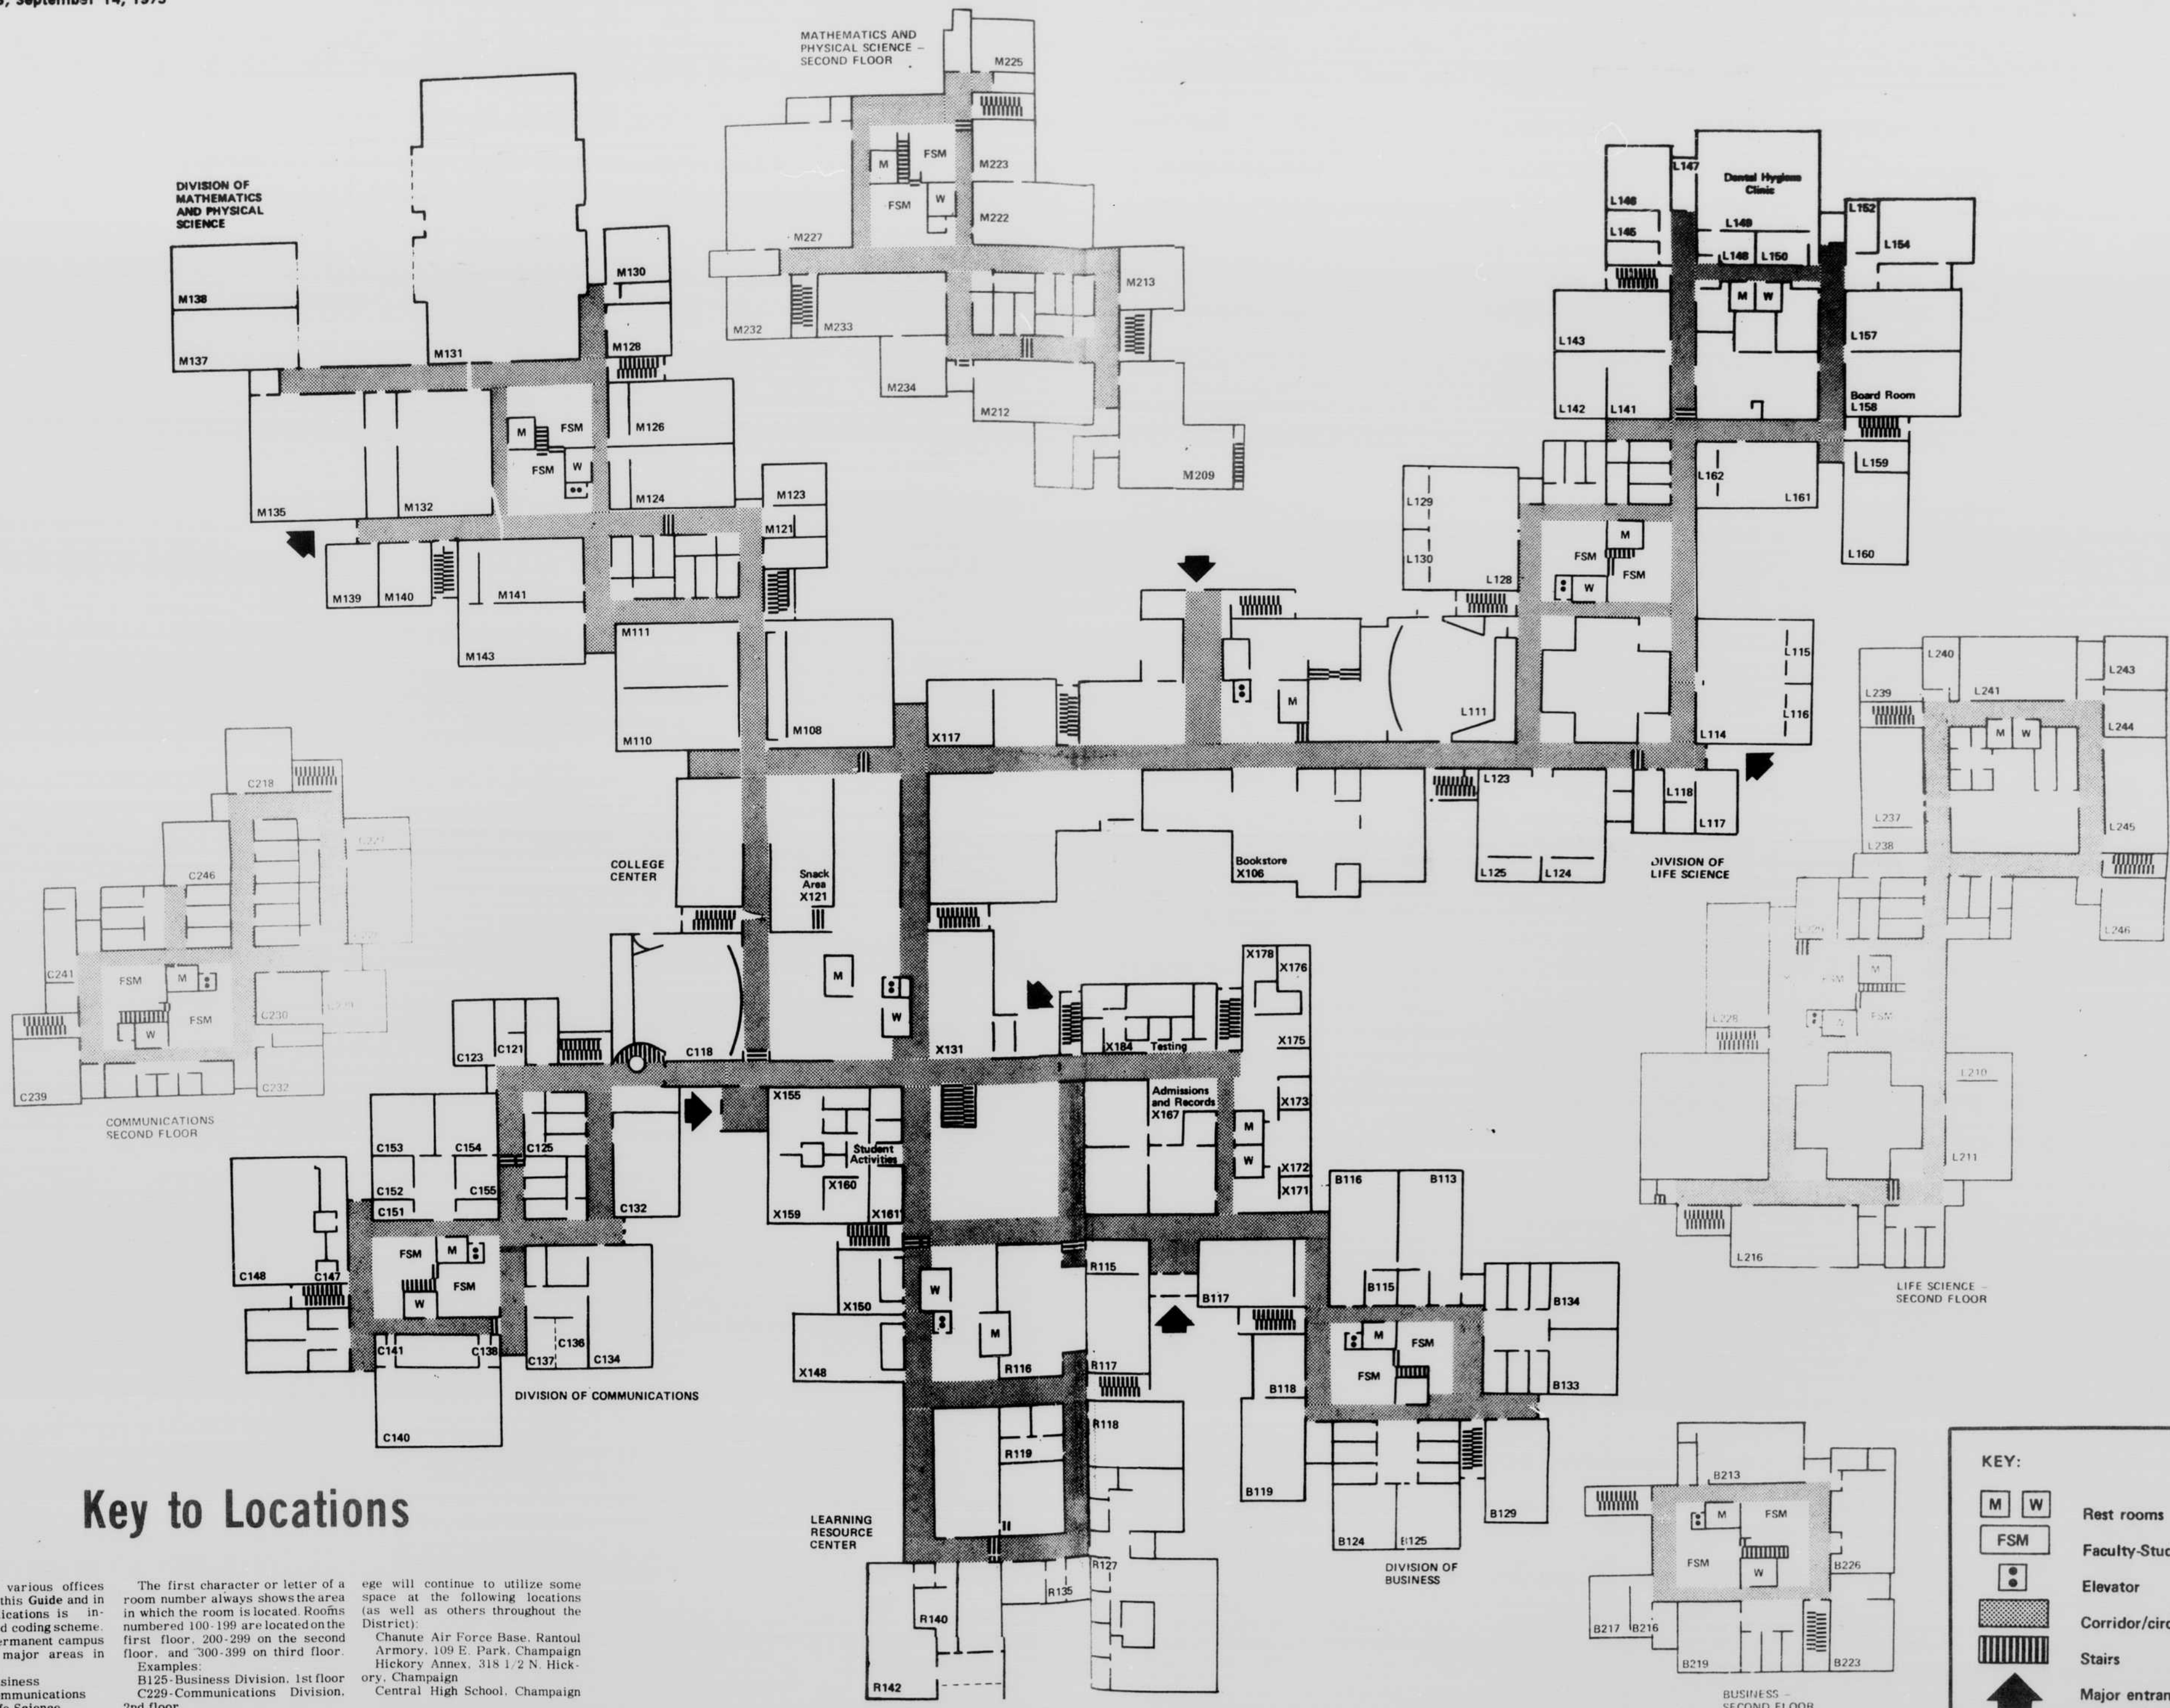

On March 22, 1972, Parkland College was granted full accreditation by the North Central Association of College and Secondary Schools. Official accreditation by North Central assures that all work past and present taken by Parkland Students will be recognized by other institutions of higher learning. This will facilitate their transfer to colleges and universities across the country and assure prospective employers of career students of the quality of their formal preparation.

Guidelines Committee Makes Recommendations

A standing committee of students, teachers, administrators, and supportive staff from Parkland College met regularly throughout the 1972-73 school year to plan for use of the new campus. After careful review of many items, the Guidelines Committee presented an extended list of recommendations to the College President.

Their recommendations included many ideas which affect all who will work and study in the new facilities. Selected from the list and from other college policies are the following regulations to assure the most effective and pleasant use of the new college home.

(1) Bus service to the campus will be provided by the Champaign-Urbana Mass Transit District, and will connect with its regular bus routes. Arrivals and departures will be made from the East Circle Drive. Bus schedules will be available at the Information Desk.

(2) The building will be open for public use from 7:30 a.m. to 10:30 p.m., on school days and on other evenings and week-ends when activities have been scheduled. Library hours have been set as follows: 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Thursday; 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Friday; and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday.

(3) A restricted parking area has been established for disabled persons whose vehicles have been appropriately registered. No other parking stickers will be issued. Designated parking places have been provided for bicycles within the vehicular parking areas. For the safety of both pedestrians and vehicles, the campus speed limit has been set at 20 mph.

(4) Campus contacts with instructors and offices may be made through the campus mail or the campus phone system. Payphones are available for off campus calls.

(5) Offices and other spaces assigned for both student and staff use have been provided with adequate furnishings and should be used with full consideration for others who share them. Reasonable order and cleanliness are expected.

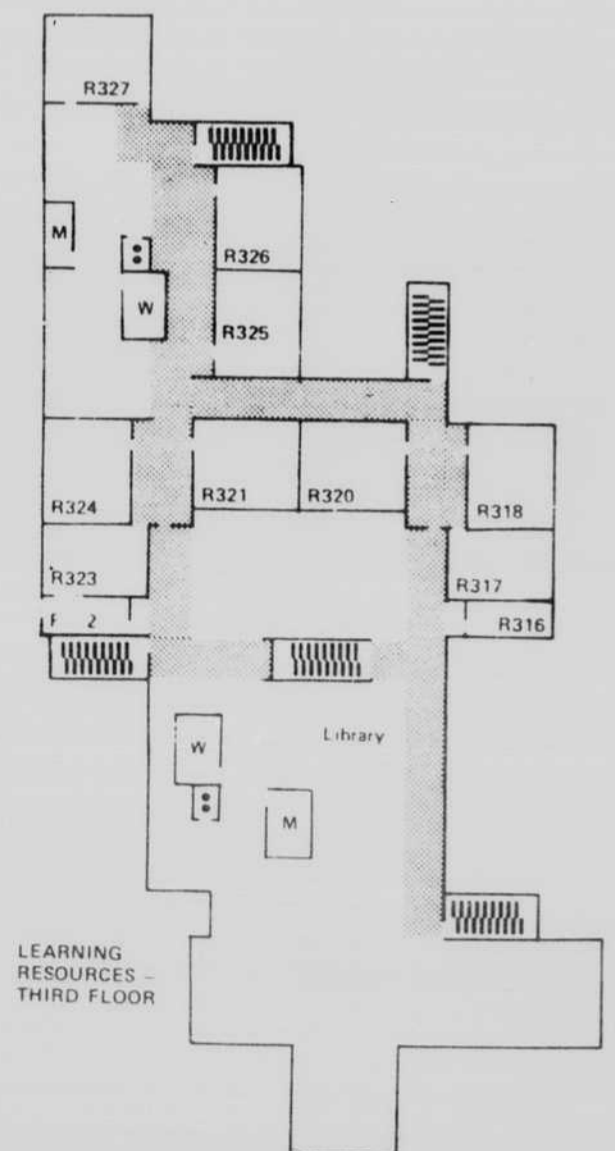

(6) Bulletin boards and other display areas have been provided for the academic divisions and student activity areas. Permission to mount posters and notices must be obtained through the Office of Student Activities.

(7) Groups or individuals who have need to schedule activities in the college facilities should contact the Student Activities Office for the necessary arrangements.

(8) Safety devices and warning signals have been provided throughout the campus. Exits are clearly marked. Alternate sound blasts through the signal system require building evacuation.

(9) Smoking is permitted in most lounge areas and in other designated locations. It is prohibited, however, in lecture halls, library, laboratories, classrooms, and the corridors in these areas.

(10) Food and beverages should be consumed in the Snack Area or Faculty - Student Modules where vending machines are located. Like smoking, they are not allowed in lecture halls, library, laboratories, and classrooms.

Debate: Last Of The Academic Classics

A survey of successful women and men in business, education and politics was taken in 1967. Over 80 percent of the persons polled attested that academically, they considered collegiate debate as the greatest contribution to their success.

In addition to career benefits, Chuck Newman, Parkland's debate coach, stated, "A determined and talented debater can go on to a four year institution with a debate scholarship." Financially, a debate scholarship can be compared to an athletic scholarship. Debate can develop a person's verbal skills in such areas as public speaking. Debate also develops the ability to think quickly and accurately, which is crucial to the outcome of any business, profession, or social situation.

A debate consists of two two-person teams. One team supports a statement while the other team refutes it. A "win" decision is determined by a judge on the basis of a criteria of six skills. These six skills can be described as: evidence, delivery, analysis, reasoning, refutation and organization. The three types of debate teams are: Novice, Junior Varsity, and Varsity.

The "sport" of debate comes from the Greeks. Newman believes that "Debate is one of the last of the important academic classics that still exists in modern culture."

Most importantly, debate attempts to teach the six skills. In Newman's opinion, "Debate is one of the most important activities in a person's life, especially during his college years." The main ingredient for a successful debater is determination. Newman said, "Debate totally develops one to communicate."

There are now six students interested in debating at Parkland. The first Debate Team meeting will be held soon. It will be publicized on bulletin boards throughout the college and in the Prospectus. The first tournament is tentatively scheduled for Bradley University, Peoria. The tournament will occur during October. Transportation, lodging, and meals will be provided by the college.

The Debate office is located at C-231. Meetings and classes will be held there. Officially, the Parkland Community College Debate Team will be classified in the Novice Division.

The 1973-74 National Collegiate debate topic will be debated by all universities, colleges and junior colleges across the U. S. The topic this year is: "Resolved: that the federal government should control the utilization and supply of energy the United States."

The Novice Division tournaments scheduled for the Parkland Debate Team include: Eastern Illinois University at Charleston; College of DuPage at Glen Ellyn; Rock Valley College at Rockford, and Illinois Community College at Peoria. Mr. Newman also stated interest in debating with colleges in the states surrounding Illinois. If Parkland wins a Novice Division tournament it will proceed to the District eliminations and the National Community College Debate Tournament.

No experience is necessary for students interested in Debate. Students may sit in on debate meetings and classes without obligation to join. Mr. Newman will set up practices for the advantage of students. Aside from the Debate Team schedule, Mr. Newman hopes that the team will give demonstrations for classes later in the year.

Interested persons should contact Mr. Newman at his office, C-128.

Newman's Philosophy

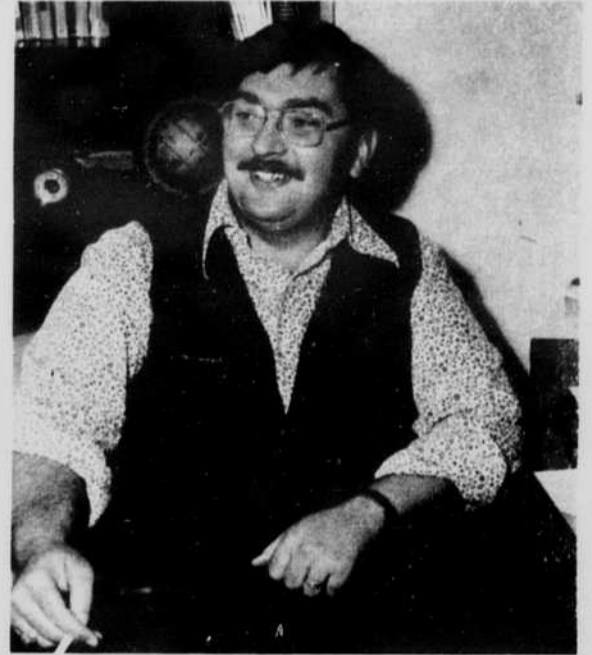

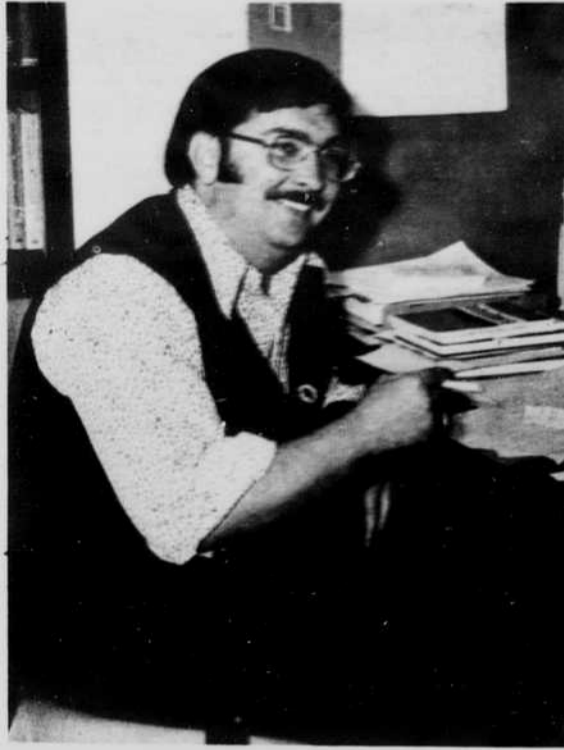

"Debate prepares a person to become an effective communicator and perceiver of the verbal and non-verbal world. It makes one very critical. A person will become a critical receiver and an objective resolver. Debate has been proven to be instrumental in the breeding of successful people . . . they become the ultimate thinker, doer, and problem solver. Debate means oral leadership.

Most debates go through a type of metamorphosis. In stage one he learns a little, and thinks he knows a lot. He may become brash, arrogant, aggressive, argumentative, and alienate friends and relatives. He knows all and tells all that he knows.

During the second stage, a debater is likely to become withdrawn from the world. The world appears as a fish bowl and he is the cat. People are beneath him and he feels that he shouldn't spend time talking to dummies. He has gone from being very vocal initially to being very silent.

In the final stage, the debater returns to his old self prior to stage one. He has friends and gets along with all; he is very conversational, has conventional mannerisms, and is verbally courteous. He is likely to be more likeable in his disposition than ever before. But, he knows that in his hip pocket he has the ability to verbally destroy almost any adversary . . . why flaunt it if you have it. Wisdom is initiated."

President Staerkel indicated that Mr. Neal would be returning to his position in a few days.

TUTORIAL ASSISTANCE: Legislation has been liberalized for the tutorial benefits to which each veteran attending school is entitled. This law provides each veteran tutorial assistance (even if not failing a course) and the benefits will extend to nine months or $450.00 (during their four years of schooling) whichever is longer. Questions concerning this assistance should be directed to the Veterans Affairs Office.

NEED A PART-TIME JOB?: Work study jobs are available to vets. . . . Under the Veterans Work Study Program (Public Law 92-540) some jobs are available to vets enrolled full-time in a course of education. This law provides a few jobs to vets to work a maximum of 100 hours during each fiscal year. VA gives preference, as directed by law, to the vet with 30% or more disability. If you are interested contact the Veterans Affairs Office at Parkland College.

PARKLAND COLLEGE SHORT TERM LOANS: During the week of registration, loans will be issued only to assist students in the payment of the resident portion of tuition and fees, provided certain requirements are met. See the Financial Aids Department if you are having trouble in this regard. Upon completion of registration week, loans will be made available for books and supplies or other educational costs not to exceed $100.00 (if funds are available). Emergency loans of up to $100.00 can be made through this department.

CHI GAMMA IOTA: Have you maintained a GPA (Grade Point Average) of 3 points or better in the last two quarters? If so, you are eligible to join CHI GAMMA IOTA, A Veterans Scholastic Honor Society, here at Parkland. Vets who qualify should contact the Veterans Affairs Office for more information. Phone: 351-2253 or 351-2206.

IFVC (Illinois Federation of Veterans in College): Get involved. . . . Join this organization -- its purpose is to promote interaction and cooperation of member organizations from campuses throughout our region. Contact Dave Stanley through the Veterans Affairs Office at Parkland, for more information.

OUTREACH: Need to know -- how it can be done -- veterans with any questions about your VA benefits -- contact your VET CAP OUTREACH workers. If anyone can find out, they can call 351-2206 or 351-2253, and ask for OUTREACH. They are guys just like you -- vets. . . .

EDUCATIONAL BENEFITS -- PETITION -- SIGN IT -- IT EFFECTS YOU: If you haven't signed the petition on the registration line or in the Veterans Affairs Office at Parkland please do so -- it effects you. . . . as a few members of Congress are trying to extend the allotted time period in which you are required by law to complete your education, along with vets who have not been able to complete their education, because of this requirement. Let's make Congress aware of us. . . . otherwise we lose -- again.

NEW CAMPUS

PHASES III AND IV

Phases III and IV will include permanent facilities for the Social Sciences division and Administration offices. Administration offices, classrooms, and Laboratories for the Social Sciences division are temporarily located in sections of the LRC and the Communications division building. A Physical Education facility will also be a part of Phase IV.

CAMPUS DESIGN

During the winter, the feature of inter-connected buildings will help students avoid the stringently cold central Illinois climate. During the warmer seasons, it will help maintain a stable temperature with a minimal loss of cool air. In addition there are extensive facilities for the handicapped, including ramps and elevators. Other items of interest concerning the new campus may be found on the CAMPUS INSERT (Pages 7, 8, 9 and 10) in this issue.

STUDENT INFORMATION

Students with questions have numerous sources to turn to. For inquiries, contact your adviser, the Office of Admission and Records, the Veterans Affairs Office, or the Counseling Office. Or call the college main number: 217-384-2200. Student handbooks are located at the Office of Admission and Records.

TRANSPORTATION

Regular bus service is provided to and from the campus by the Champaign-Urbana Mass Transit District. It connects with regular bus routes. Arrivals and departures are made from the East Drive. Bus schedules are now available at the information desk.

PARKING

For those who will commute by private transportation, the new campus has landscaped parking areas for 2,100 cars. Bicycle paths on the new campus are presently under construction.

LEARN TO EARN . . . AND . . . EARN TO LEARN

One problem that faces nearly every college student today is that of school expenses. How to pay for an education is an increasingly "taxing" problem for most.

H & R Block, America's Largest Tax Service, offers a two-fold solution to the problem of student finances, in that it provides additional training while allowing the student the opportunity of earning money to pay for those college expenses.

"Learn to Earn" very aptly describes Block's Basic Income Tax School as it applies to college students. Block's Tax School consists of 81 hours of classroom instruction, presented in two, three-hour classes per week, over a 13-1/2 week period. Best of all, a choice of morning or evening sessions is offered.

Unlike many a college course, where lab fees and books are an extra expense, Block's Tax School includes all supplies, materials, and textbooks necessary for completion of the course in the modest tuition fee of $75. Block also understands that students who are looking for ways to pay college expenses, may not have the full tax school tuition fee available so they have designed an installment plan which should put the course within the grasp of any student desiring to enroll.

A certificate of completion will be presented to students who successfully complete the course and employment interviews will be made available to top students. While Block does not guarantee employment to graduates of the course, in years past, a large majority of tax school graduates have been employed by the firm during the tax season.

College students who need to "Earn to Learn" and are interested in enrolling in H & R Block's Tax School, or in obtaining further information regarding this opportunity should contact H & R Block at 220 W. Main, Urbana or call 328-3457. Mr. Mennenga, local manager for H & R Block stated, "We offer the chance to 'Learn to Earn' and hope that many of the students in Champaign-Urbana will take advantage of this opportunity."

Cobra Cross-Country Team Opens Competition

Veteran's Meeting

TIME: Tuesday, 18 September 1973
11 a.m.
PLACE: In front of the Library

This will be the first meeting of the Vet's Club. All Veterans are urged to come and help keep the Club an active part of the new campus.

We already have a get-together party planned for 28 September 1973 at Parkland Terrace Recreation Building. Only members are allowed so be sure to be at the first meeting.

If there are any questions at this time, or suggestions you wish to make, the right people will be there for that purpose.

A note to new Veterans: Parkland Vet's Club is one of the most active organizations in the state. Let's keep it that way.

Frank Flores, last year All-American honorable mention, is Parkland's top cross-country runner.

Defending State-Champion in the mile, Joe Earle, is also an All-American candidate.

Coach Joe Abbey's varsity cross-country track team will begin competition this Tuesday. The team will travel to Joliet, Illinois to participate in a triangular meet against Triton College and host team Joliet.

Coach Abbey expressed confidence that Parkland could "sweep" this meet but added that a lot depends on the performances of Frank Flores and Joe Earle. Flores and Earle are Parkland's only returning lettermen and both are considered the team's best representatives for the meet.

Flores gained recognition last season when he was awarded All-American honorable mention honors after placing 22nd in the National Junior College Cross Country Meet. He also gained State recognition by placing second in the State Meet. The Chicago Heights runner is considered by Coach Abbey as Parkland's best chance for National honors this season.

Joe Earle is the defending State champion in the mile. Earle won the title last season in a time of 4:15. Although he did not gain national recognition in the cross-country meet, Earle did finish fifth in the State meet and Coach Abbey hopes for a better finish this year.

Flores and Earle, as freshmen, paced Parkland to a second place team finish in the State meet and 15th nationally. Both were members of last year's two-mile relay team that finished second in the National Meet losing to Essex, New Jersey by two-tenths of a second. Parkland's time was 7:42.2.

In addition to Flores and Earle, Coach Abbey has six freshmen that are all outstanding long-distance runners. Centralia's Doug Seger is a 4:19 miler who is considered one of the strongest runners in the state.

Orlandis Burnett, another Chicago Heights runner, is a 1:55 half-miler and a 4:20 miler. Steve Mueller, a freshman from Berkely, is also a 1:55 half-miler. Two members of Coach Abbey's team are good distance runners; Ken Bailek, a product of Rantoul, and Bob Irish of Paris, are excellent cross-country prospects. The sixth freshman on Parkland's team is James Ballard who hails from East St. Louis.

Faculty Bowling Commences Today

All faculty members (male and female) of Parkland College are eligible for participation in the Faculty Bowling League. The league will play from 3:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Friday afternoons commencing September 14, 1973 at Arrowhead Lanes, 1401 N. McKinley, Champaign. The cost will be $1.50 per bowler per afternoon. This fee shall include three lines of bowling, bowling shoes, and prize money.

There shall be two round-robin tournaments and each team shall be composed of three faculty members.

Composition of each team shall be determined by a faculty bowling committee. It is recommended that each team have a bowler with a high average, "average" average, and a non-experienced bowler. All bowlers shall establish a league handicap (80% of the difference between the bowler's average and 200).

League scoring: 1 point per game for winning team, 1 point for high-team series.

The regular bowler shall be responsible for his respective substitute. Substitutes shall be eligible for prize money (weekly high-game winner and high-series winner) if the substitute pays for his bowling.

The league will commence bowling Friday, Sept. 14. The league will not bowl during vacation periods, final exam sessions, and other recess periods. The league will bowl during the Fall and Winter Quarter.

For more information, see Dick Karch in the College Center, or call 351-2264.

Linksmen Still Needed For PC Opening Match

Parkland College golf coach Dick Norris is still looking for golfers to fill out the team as the season opening meet draws near. The Cobra linksmen journey to Mattoon for the Lakeland Invitational on Monday, September 17.

Coach Norris, who feels that an ideal squad should consist of at least 7 or 8 members, is starting from scratch this season after losing his only two returning lettermen to eligibility requirements. A good turnout of candidates would insure the competition necessary for a solid team.

Mr. Norris in his office, B122, or get in touch with him at practice. The Cobras generally practice at 3:30 weekday afternoons at the University of Illinois Range Course in Savoy. Practice time is flexible enough to fit class schedules, but the golfers try to play every day.

As is the case with most Region IV Community Colleges, the Parkland linksmen compete in a Fall rather than a Spring season. As Coach Norris indicates, this has two definite advantages in that it means better weather and facilitates scheduling and use of golf courses.

No expense is involved in joining or competing on the golf team. "All they need," according to Coach Norris, "are their sticks and some desire to hit the ball."

The tentative nine meet schedule involves much travel and culminates with the Region IV Tournament at the University of Illinois in late October.

Faculty Softball Team Wins Third In Mahomet Tournament

Manager Mike Babcock and Dennis Bailen display the third place trophy Parkland's faculty softball team captured in the Mahomet Tournament. Babcock presented the trophy to Dick Karch, Dean of Student Activities. Dean Karch will put the trophy on display in the trophy case located on the new campus.

Competing in a six-team, double-elimination tournament held in Mahomet, Parkland College's faculty softball team won third place after being eliminated in the semi-finals. Unbeaten Mahomet Post Office won the championship eliminating Candlewood Estates in the finals.

Parkland won its opening round draw by edging Candlewood Estates 8-7. The faculty won the game in their half of the seventh on an infield error by Candlewood's third baseman. With the score tied and runners on second and third, Dave Linton scored after a hard hit ground ball got through to the outfield.

Parkland suffered its first loss in the second round against Post Office. The final score was 11-7 and forced Parkland into the loser's bracket against once-beaten Tolono.

Parkland got off to a slow start before finally eliminating the Tolono team 12-8. The win gave the faculty a record of two wins and only one loss. Parkland thus moved into the semi-finals against their first round opponent Candlewood Estates.

The second meeting of the two teams was nothing like their first encounter. Candlewood bagged 12 homeruns in the wake of a 23-6 victory. The loss eliminated the faculty team from the tournament but assured them the third place trophy with a final record of two wins against two losses.

'Punt, Pass, Kick' Added Attraction For Intramurals

Parkland's Athletic Department and its coaches have begun to assemble a number of athletic activities for all students, male and female. During the first quarter of this year, students will be able to participate in such sports as touch football, jogging, bike racing, bowling, swimming, and even a punt-pass-kick contest.

Coach Abuehl indicated that the first program on the intramurals schedule would be men's touch football. Participants should begin signing up immediately; the last day for completing an entry form will be September 21. Play will begin on the 25th of September, and will continue until the week of November 8-15.

All games will be played at Centennial Park on the southwest field from 4:00-5:00 p.m. Two games will be played simultaneously. Since the program is designed for 7-men teams, rosters will be limited to 11 players. Playoffs are tentatively scheduled between the divisions as a finale, with a trophy given for the first place team.

October 1 will mark the beginning of girls' football. September 28 is the cut-off date for interested persons who wish to sign up for this event. Girls' football will be played at Centennial. However, they will play during College Hour on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Girls' teams will also be limited to 11 players.

In addition to touch football, Coach Abuehl has organized an intramural bowling program. The last sign-up date for persons interested in participating is October 12, with bowling to commence on the 15th. Details concerning the location and price schedule can be obtained by contacting Coach Abuehl in B-122.

A jogging program is also being initiated for all jogging enthusiasts. According to Coach Abuehl, "The purpose of this program is to encourage people to begin jogging. What we hope to do is to keep an accurate record of the number of miles each person jogs whether he does it at home or on the campus. All he has to do is report to us the number of miles he has jogged each time and we will record it for him. After he has covered at least fifty miles in total, we will reward him with a free T-shirt from the college." The jogging program will begin on the 17th of September and run at least throughout the first quarter of classes.

Arrangements have been made for persons who might like to swim during the school year. The facilities at Spalding Pool will be available during the College Hour on Tuesdays starting on October 23. Persons who plan on utilizing the pool will need to bring their identification cards also.

Although details have not been finalized, three additional events are currently in the planning stages. Coach Abuehl is in the process of outlining a punt-pass-kick contest, but no definite date has been established for when it will take place. From November 9-13, a wrist-wrestling contest will be held; the time and place for this event will be announced at a later time. Besides these events, the coach wants to set up bike races. In order to do this, a specific route will be used for all racers to follow. This route is currently being mapped out.

Although Parkland offers several intramural sports for the coming fall quarter, Coach Abuehl is interested in obtaining other ideas and suggestions for formulating events which might be of interest to students and faculty. Everyone is encouraged to become active in the intramural program. Contact the Athletics Department if there is a specific sporting event you would like to see included in the intramural program.

Convocations Plans Variety Entertainment

This year the Convocations Board is determined to bring a greater variety of entertainment to Parkland than in previous years.

In the past it has been customary to spend the majority of our budget on expensive films and the remainder of our budget on the other arts. This year we wish to cover as many areas of interest as is humanly possible.

To start things off, we are planning monthly entertainment programs. The first of these proposed programs is the Parkland Talent Show on October 1. If you can sing, play an instrument, or have any other untapped talents, here is your chance to be discovered! We have as our guest in the first program, a very talented guitarist named Al Leardi. With his help and yours, this evening is sure to prove most enjoyable. If you are interested, contact Mr. Karch in the Student Activities office.

Besides our monthly programs we are planning a Karate demonstration, lectures, films, art exhibits, and many other features. Consult the Parkland Calendar on this page for upcoming events.

College facilities. (5) Poster board may be purchased through the Office of Student Activities for 10¢ per sheet (11" x 14"). Dittos may be secured for a price of 5¢. (6) Removal of posters will take place on Thursday, October 11. If you wish to keep any posters, please remove them before 9:00 p.m. that day.

All ballots will be numbered corresponding to the registration number on the registration book. If there is any question regarding the validity of a voter, it may be challenged and checked only by the Assistant Dean for Student Activities and the Director of the Computer Science Department.

An audit of the election may occur within twelve hours of the conclusion of the election. Any candidate requesting an audit shall submit his/her request in writing to the Election Board Chairman within the stated time. Any request received after this period of time shall not be honored.

Ballots shall be tallied immediately upon the closing of the polls on October 14. Due to the limited area for tabulation, only members of the election board and candidates or representative shall be permitted in the tally room.

More information on the election is available in the Office of Student Activities.

Salaries Awarded Staff Members

A recommendation has been submitted to the Parkland Publication Board to set up salaries for all members of the Prospectus newspaper staff.

The recommendation is a new alternative for providing incentives to recruit students interested in working for the paper.

Until this proposal, the recruitment of a staff was dependent on only two alternatives.

The first alternative was to initiate a volunteer staff whose only paid member was the Editor-in-Chief.

It is believed that the third alternative of creating salaries will make the Prospectus more applicable to any newspaper business, and more appealing to students.

At the moment, all staff positions on the Prospectus are open. They are:

Board Appoints New Adviser

The Parkland College newspaper will have David Jones as its adviser during this school term. Jones has submitted a new proposal for re-organizing and staffing the Prospectus to the Publications Board.

In Jones' opinion, the most significant change for the newspaper is in staffing. In the past the paper has been composed of an all volunteer staff; the only reimbursed member was the Editor-in-Chief. This year each and every staff member will receive financial payment. According to Jones, the goal is to "set up the Prospectus as a business." As the newspaper develops during the year, it is hoped that it can become self-supporting through increased advertising. The staff salaries will come out of this revenue.

Jones has expressed confidence that the new staffing policies will attract more students to become involved with the production of the paper although he is cautious about becoming over-optimistic.

Initially, Jones sees his role to include direct involvement with the production of the paper. Once a strong, responsible staff is organized and in operation, the paper will be directed entirely by the students. Jones pointed out that at that time he hopes to become less directly involved.

Prospectus adviser Dave Jones is optimistic toward increasing readership of the student publication. "Clearly defined objectives, adherence to an established Code of Ethics, and a dedicated staff will enhance our chances of success."
