Canteen Meeting 'A Farce'

BY DONNA FRICHTL

Pre-Register Jan. 27 For Spring Quarter

With Spring Quarter right around the corner, it is time again for Parkland students to pre-register for classes.

Pre-registration for Spring Quarter classes will be conducted from Jan. 27 through Feb. 6.

All continuing full time students and all students eligible to be full time should arrange to see their faculty advisor during this 10-day period so that they can select their classes for Spring Quarter.

Faculty advisors will have a printed course request form and a Spring Quarter registration information sheet for each of their advisees.

It is the responsibility of each student to submit a completed course form to the Office of Admissions and Records by 5 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 6.

All students who have pre-registered during the pre-registration period of Jan. 27-Feb. 6 will receive their printed schedule and a statement of tuition and fees in the mail on or about Feb. 13. Also included in this mailing will be all of the forms that are necessary for students to complete registration by mail.

To register by mail, all completed forms and payment must be received by the Office of Admissions and Records prior to 5 p.m. Monday, Feb. 24.

Students who do not pre-register by Feb. 6 cannot complete registration by mail, and thus must plan to register on March 3 or 4 according to the registration schedule printed in the Spring Quarter brochure and in the registration information sheet.

Students who have not registered by 8:30 p.m. on March 4 will have their schedule of classes canceled.

Any student eligible to register by mail who wishes to change his or her pre-registered schedule may do so on Feb. 17, 18 or 19 between 1 and 4 p.m. Students who do change their pre-registered schedule must either complete registration when they change their schedule or on March 3 or 4 during registration. These students may not register by mail.

Clubs Make Cash On Food Sales

The Recreation Society made over $230.00 on food sales last week, according to Cindy Nolin, president.

The only item sold on the first three days, she said, was Pepsi. By Friday, 1140 hot dogs, 80 dozen donuts and lots of coffee and Pepsi were sold.

Since the group operated the boycott in the college center for the week, the sale was easily organized, Ms. Noline said. In addition, by Friday, such a spirit was developed within the club that everyone was begging to work.

"If your club wants to make money and become more unified," Ms. Noline said, "operate the boycott in the student center." She suggests that at least 600 sandwiches and 50 dozen donuts can be sold each day.

For information, contact the student government office or the Recreation Club.

President Staerkel called a special meeting for the Food Service Advisory Committee to meet with Canteen District Manager Donald C. Tanner. Staerkel opened the meeting with a few words of commendation for the Student Government's interest in what he called "just grievances" and voiced his opinion that they "were not just trouble makers." Staerkel called Canteen a reputable concern interested in providing quality service. He called the meeting, which was informal and without benefit of stenographer, to peace and order by naming all present persons of good will interested in problem solving.

No problems were technically solved, however, and in the opinion of Dave Wiechman the who thing was a "complete farce". His comment was, "The critical issues were not dealt with and the Boycott will continue until the issues are dealt with seriously. Thing things that counted were omitted." Primary among these were the cost of food to students using the Canteen services. "The students are outside the realm of power; we want a voice—a vote in the decision making. As it is they only listen to us, then ignore."

Another committee member, Gary Miller said, "We've accomplished a little bit. We have the right to spot inspect for quality."

Mr. Tanner said he feels the meeting went real well and Canteen appreciates information which will help correct grievances. "Canteen's here to be spoken of highly."

Problems which were aired by Sylvia Mandell dealt with "mushy and cold hot dog buns, greasy and cold hamburgers, cheeseburgers and french fries." Staerkel pointed out to Mr. Tanner that complaints about food quality are not restricted to the student body, but have come to him from faculty members as well.

Staerkel noted one case of a faculty member providing "documentary evidence" of stale food coming from vending machines. These food stuffs are coded by date.

Mr. Tanner advised this is often the result of new help and helpturnover, and vowed more careful attention in the future. As of this date price of chips in vending machines have been turned back to 15¢, the only concession of vital issues, according to Wiechman, that have been met so far.

Suggestions from students taken under advisement and consent by Canteen are as follows: There will be a suggestion box located in the snack bar area for students to make valid complaints, all food returned to the snack bar which is not satisfactory to the consumer will be replaced over the counter, there will be a two-member student representation for purpose of inspection. They will be looking for food prepared too far in advance and cleanliness. Mr. Tanner asked that the food service manager be present at all student inspection tours.

Dick Karch, Assistant Dean for Student Activities, spoke up for students on the issue of the coffee prices increased from 10¢ to 15¢. He asked for more syrup in the Pepsi served by Canteen.

When Miller asked for a 5¢ decrease in prices across the board, Staerkel was quick to call for a "look at the data and evidence." He said, "15¢ for cokes is not exorbitant, you are on very weak ground." The issue of coffee prices was not dealt with and since the meeting was not official it was not tabled either.

Mrs. Carolyn Lowry, manager for Canteen Services has promised to look into the quality and preparation of the hamburgers. She says the meat is 80% beef, 20% fat which is fine quality. The problem in taste may be a matter of supplier and suggests she may change suppliers if investigation reveals a need.

Staerkel called for another meeting to review student opinion of Canteen services Tuesday, Jan. 28 at 11 a.m. Until that time student government will be moving into Phase III of their Boycott, which, according to Wiechman means alternative food service will be offered from now until the end of the year.

Staerkel voiced a preference for settling "family problems" behind closed doors and a prevention of taking issues to the press and others. He called for immediate action upon which to move, and then "see how it works," referring to the monitoring of Canteen's food service at the snack bar for "high quality service" on a daily basis, without the "valleys creeping in" (i.e., some days food is good, some days it is not.)

Karch pointed out that Canteen has no overhead and yet their 4 oz. French fries cost about seven cents more than the 4 oz. size sold by another food service in town.

Yoga Club Aids Mind and Body

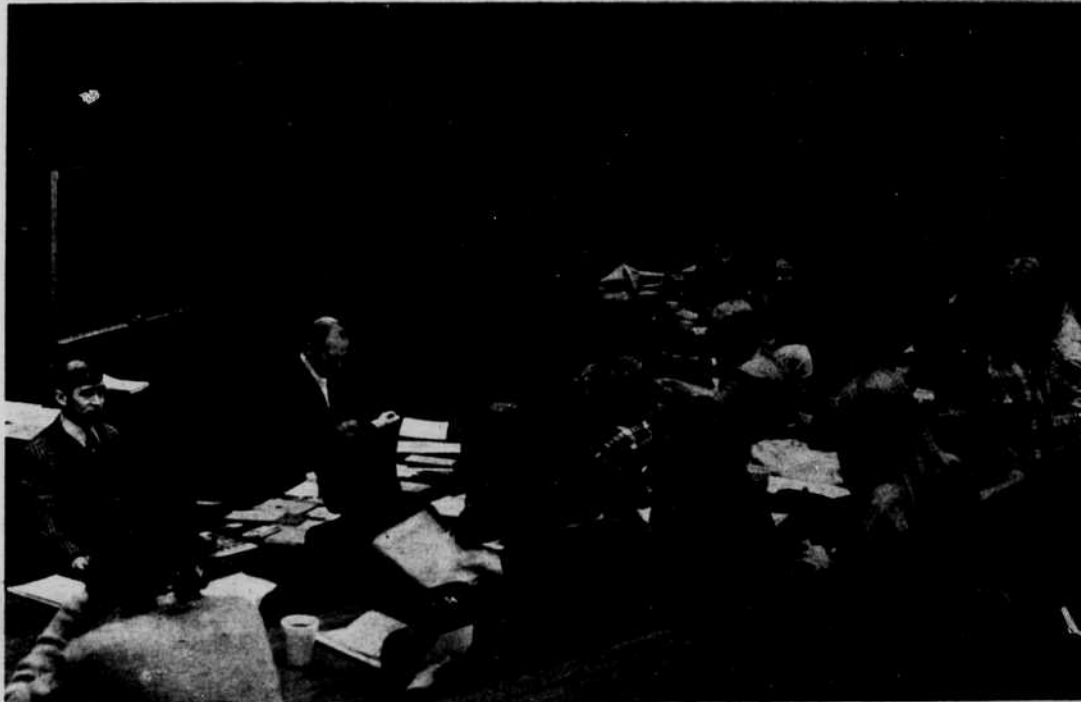

The Yoga Club can help you to get the mental and physical exercise you need to feel relaxed and refreshed in the middle of a hard day.

By practicing a series of non-taxing postures and exercises, you can come to a new understanding of how well your mind and body work together.

Yoga can benefit persons at all stages of physical and/or mental "fitness." Initial sessions will focus on Hatha yoga breathing, postures, and meditation. New persons are welcome at any meeting.

The club will practice yoga on Tuesday, Feb. 4, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. in X220. Participants need not stay the entire two hours.

Lu Snyder is advisor and yoga teacher.

Representatives from the University of Illinois, Western Illinois University, Southern Illinois University,

Eastern Illinois University and Parkland met Saturday, Jan. 11 at an IPRS student branch meeting at Parkland to plan future state events for recreation students.

Veterinary Tech Head Answers Quota Charge

In response to a letter printed in last week's Prospectus, Dan King, head of Veterinary Technology, stated that in-district students are not discriminated against in the program's admissions policy.

The letter, submitted by Parkland student Kathy Woormer, complained of a quota system working against Parkland applicants.

"Our program is a state-wide pilot program," said King. "The reason we're at Parkland is because the U of I Veterinary Medicine school is in the city."

He explained that as an experiment, Veterinary Technology must take students outside the Parkland district. "The Board of Trustees accepted the program under those conditions," he added.

For the program, the state government has divided the state into seven regions. The number of students taken from outside the Parkland district depends on the population of a particular region.

"Naturally, the Chicago area will have the largest number of students for the out-of-district area," said King. "But students from our district do get some preference."

The preference is numerical. King said, "The Parkland area alone gets one more student than the Chicago district."

To fill the 25 spaces for this fall, 10 students were accepted from the Parkland tax-base area, nine from the Chicago region, one from immediately outside the Parkland district, and one student from each of the other five regions.

The competition is stiffer in areas outside Parkland's, King said. Those areas are larger, and with more possible applicants, students vie for places against higher odds. Since 10 places are reserved for the relatively small Parkland host district, in-district students have a better chance of acceptance.

"The out-of-district students really don't have a better chance," stated King.

King also said he spoke with Ms. Woormer and said she is satisfied with his explanation.

Veterinary Technology will continue on this small scale until the state legislature votes funds for its support. King expects the program to succeed, and has submitted a request for more funding from the state. But if the legislature refuses, or drags its feet on the request, King says, "We will change and restrict the program to only Parkland district students."

King is confident that Parkland's model program will encourage other Illinois areas to develop one of their own.

With 9:19 left in last Wednesday night's Parkland - Lake Land basketball game in Mattoon, a fight broke out.

The skirmish was the result of a scuffle for a loose basketball and began among players. Such occurrences are not uncommon in the heat of battle, especially when one considers the importance of this particular contest.

But what happened next was not common. Fans joined in the fracas and soon people were punching and kicking all over the floor of the Lake Land College gym. Order was quickly restored, but the game was delayed nearly 35 minutes while the police were enroute.

Of course one thing this problem points up is the need for adequate security at events of this sort. The game drew an overflow crowd and the logical assumption is there might be some trouble if the host school does not provide sufficient security for the players and fans who come to enjoy the game (not display their talent for fisticuffs).

Presumably when Lake Land comes to Parkland for a rematch on Feb. 7 the necessary precautions will be taken.

But the fault cannot be placed entirely on the lack of security. Fans from both sides must be responsible enough to avoid letting their emotions get the best of them. Basketball games are not intended to be a showcase for one's street-fighting ability. And the Parkland College wrestling has been temporarily disbanded because of lack of interest.

It is the position of both the PROSPECTUS and the Parkland College Student Government that the actions taken by Parkland students in the melee were unwarranted. The fact that such "school spirit" was shown is surprising - if in fact the motivation for fighting had anything to do with the school or the team or the Cobra basketball players.

Our boys can take care of themselves.

Female Focus

How can we serve you if we cannot find you? You must communicate your needs to us. You must be able to reach out and request assistance; to learn to locate the most likely place to receive the particular help you seek.

Did you notice all the boxes of returned questionnaires at the Women's Program office? Did you stumble over them? Do you know why you didn't stumble over them? Because there was not a single, solitary one returned, that's why!

Much of the blame is my own. It was very unclear and I'll try to avoid that in the future.

The inability to participate in two way communication is probably the cause of more woes than all of those areas psychologists define as prize troublemakers. With improved communication skills some of those woes might very well evaporate; or at the very least be lessened.

Wouldn't it be great to be able to build a communications bridge over the communications gap! Think of the re-cycled energy you will have left over for pleasant pursuits.

Stumbling through the communications gap takes a lot of energy.

With all respect to the late President Truman, there is an alternative to getting out of the kitchen if you can't stand the heat - turn down the heat. Stewing does for persons exactly what it does for that pot roast; makes the outside all out of shape and wrinkled, and the inside tough and ugly. Using less energy will often produce a better flavored meal, and it can make your life more "tasty" as well. By turning down your thermostat you may have sufficient energy in reserve to cook up something great for yourself.

We want very much to be of service to each one of you; we can offer you energy saving pathways - ONLY if we can learn where you are and where you want to go. Did we miss you last week? Were you too busy? We would like to try the questionnaire again. Please cut it out, fill it in, and return to C133. If you have more to say, please write us a note on whatever is handy; or call ext. 2429.

Communication - bridge building, like building real bridges, takes time and combined effort. Because a communication - bridge is the real thing.

Little do you know that you blew your top agent's cover when you published his picture on the front page of your newspaper.

The Jan. 20 issue could and may already have done great damage to the PIA (Parkland Intelligence Agency). In trying to insinuate that the agent is an outcast from the student body, you have given us no alternative but to take prompt action.

Being a branch of the CIA we think you can get some idea of the extent of displeasure we can cause you.

In blowing the PIA agent's cover, you destroyed many manhours of hard mind - provoking work. Our agent was working on behalf of the student body, subtly collecting valuable information on the price increases and almost had enough information gathered to make Chef-boyar-dee roll back his prices and upgrade the quality of food sold in Canteen's establishment.

I hope your newspaper staff and very energetic photographer who probably spent hours waiting to catch a picture of such a "wary glance," feels proud to have worked side by side with Canteen in inflating the price of food.

Tricky Dick
Newly Appointed Director
PIA

Editor's Note: We must admit that at first we were taken in by this clever ruse of Tricky Dick, but our own reliable sources have given us information to the effect that he is nothing more than a greedy double agent, selling his soul to the highest bidder.

According to our high-placed informant, it was none other than Tricky Dick who for 100 stale Pay Days and Canteen's recipe for soyburgers, called the Health Department to harass the boycotters. Further, an assassination plot against StuGo President Tom McMullen and the all-important Dave Wiechman was uncovered by our agent just in the nick of time.

"Tricky" is now being held without bail in a Canteen storage room with next month's fried fishburgers.

True Happenings

Charlie Studnicka

At long last the student government of the college has risen. As most students know by now, the StuGo called a boycott last week in protest against the price raise on food and drink by the Canteen Corporation.

I have been wandering around all week trying to gauge student feeling about Canteen and the reaction of the Administration to the boycott, and I will now present that information to one and all.

The students I have talked to say that they wouldn't mind paying the prices Canteen asks IF Canteen were providing food of a decent quality. They refer especially to the sandwiches and other items which are available in the snack area across from the bookstore.

I, myself, have eaten from these machines and can testify that the food in them is atrocious.

Unfortunately, Canteen's contract states that they must be the only food outlet on campus, which means they can serve almost anything they wish as food.

As long as Canteen can get away with this poor food service, they will. If the students want good food at reasonable prices, it is imperative that they support the boycott. Its success or failure ultimately rests upon your support.

Canteen isn't the only issue bothering the students, however. Recently a group of students got together and petitioned the Administration to set up a day-care center on campus.

This request was turned down on the basis that such a center was being planned for the social science wing of the building and that in the meantime those students who have young children should make do however they could.

In this, I think the Administration erred. I have asked around, and have found that there are rooms available for a day care center and that no license would be required for a basic day care center.

The parents themselves have expressed a willingness to staff the center on a volunteer basis.

I (and many other students) would be interested in a reply from Dr. Staerkel outlining specifically why he feels that a day care center is not feasible at the present time. If he were to do this, perhaps the Student Government could set to work on meeting the requirements necessary to get their center.

Also bothering some students is the Parkland road system. According to Leslie Groves, who has concerned herself about the matter, there have been numerous accidents since the start of school because the speed limit on Bradley Avenue is too high and because students fail to observe the speed limit on the campus. She has been working to lower the speed limit on Bradley to 40 mph, and to get students to slow down on campus.

Incidentally, Dr. Staerkel announced at the last board meeting that another road into Parkland would be built from Mattis Avenue to the east Circle Drive.

I attended the last Board of Trustees meeting, expecting fur to fly about the Canteen boycott, but the issue wasn't brought up. I questioned Staerkel about this, and he stated that the Board was adopting a hands off policy about the boycott.

Well, that's about all that has aroused student dander this week.

Next week we will be reporting on the ISA, an organization that, well, read next week's column.

Gemini House, Mustard Seed Help Drug Abusers

BY DONNA FRICHTL

What is drug abuse and how does one know when abuse is a factor to be reckoned with?

Where does one turn locally for true information and not just scare tactics?

There are two very active drug abuse information and help centers in Champaign. One is Gemini House and the other is Mustard Seed Foundation. Neither place will tell anyone they should not drink or do dope but both function as agencies for those persons who want to find out more about drug abuse.

Gemini House is located at 202 East White St., Champaign and will be moving to 73 E. University Ave., Champaign on Feb. 1. Their phone number is 359-1160. There will be a 10-week training course for volunteers starting in mid-February. Gemini House has eight paid staff members and otherwise depends on volunteer help.

The average age of drug abusers is from 16 to 25. Many people consider alcohol as something less dangerous than drugs. And yet alcoholism is considered the number one drug problem in the U. S. today.

In New York City there are chapters of Alcoholics Anonymous which have a membership whose average age is 14 years. It is not unheard of for young people to drink themselves to death by consuming lethal doses of alcohol in too short a period of time.

According to Mike Gilbreath of the Mustard Seed Foundation, alcohol, if put into chemical terms, has depressants which should require a prescription to buy. At least with alcohol the user usually knows what he is getting. It is not always the case with users of street drugs.

Many times what seems to be a death by overdose will be a death by allergic reaction. The user is allergic to the talcum powder or strychnine which the drug is cut with. Some drugs in popular use at this time are White Cross, MDA, and PMA. MDA and PMA are psychedelics (amphetamines) more popular than LSD.

Another popular substance is Angel Dust (heroin) but on the street the user is often given mostly PCP instead, cut with talcum powder. PCP is an animal tranquilizer. The user can hallucinate on it, but if used in conjunction with alcohol, the result can be death because both are depressants of the central nervous system.

A little known fact is that MDA is three times more potent than mescaline and PMA is five times more potent than mescaline and use should therefore be adjusted proportionately. If it isn't, the drug user can overdose without realizing it. Most users know neither the substance nor the amounts he is using when obtained on the street. Only an analysis can actually reveal that kind of information.

Alcohol and downers (tranqueller) will yield more than a one-plus-one effect. The effect of mixing alcohol and downers will be equal to 5 or 10. The result can be severe depression of the central nervous system, and in some cases coma.

One way to determine if drug use is drug abuse is to ask if the result is an interference with normal health or life patterns. Is use causing one to lose family, job or school? Is health being affected by neglect of proper nutrition? How does the user relate to the world?

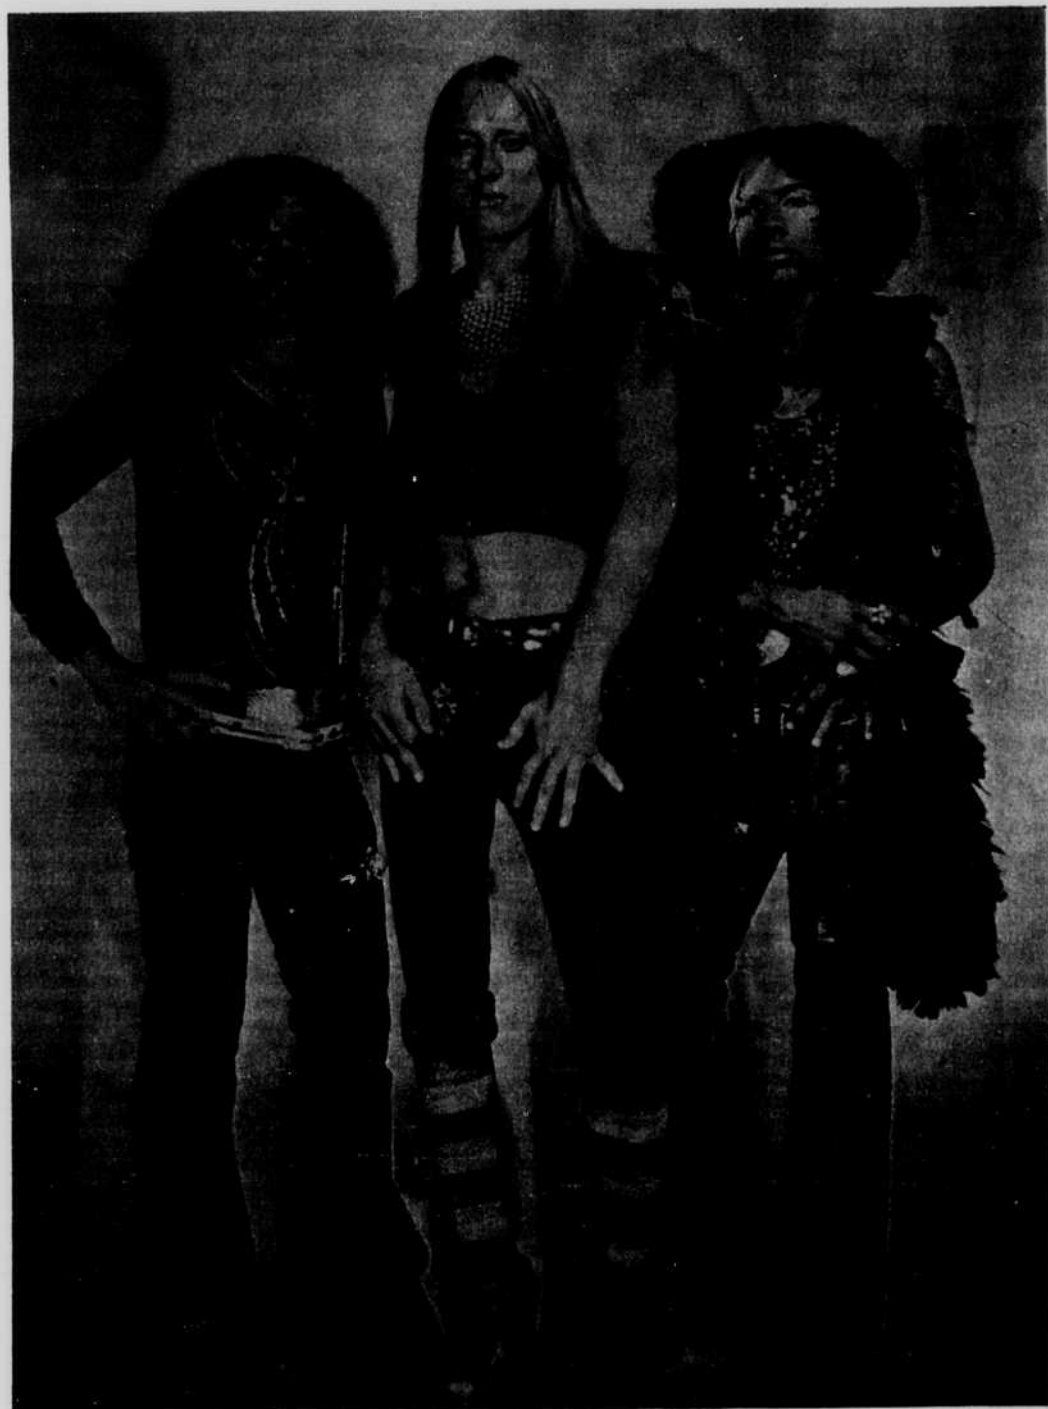

Only the user can effectively answer these kinds of questions.

Veterans Receive Increases In Financial Assistance Dept.

Of probable interest to the substantial number of veterans attending Parkland College (approximately 1/4 of the total enrollment) is the new law that, among other things, increases by 22.7 per cent a vet's monthly educational assistance allowance.

Officially dubbed the Vietnam Era Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act of 1974, the bill is printed more or less intact below.

TITLE: An act to amend Title 38, United States Code, to increase vocational rehabilitation subsistence allowances, educational and training assistance allowances, and special allowances paid to eligible veterans and persons under chapters 31, 34 and 35 of such title; to improve and expand the special programs for educationally disadvantaged veterans and servicemen under chapter 34 of such title; to improve and expand the veteran - student services program; to establish an education loan program for veterans and persons eligible for benefits under chapter 34 or 35 of such title; to make other improvements in the educational assistance program and in the administration of educational benefits; to promote the employment of veterans and the wives and widows of certain veterans by improving and expanding the provisions governing the operation of the Veterans Employment Service, by increasing the employment of veterans by Federal contractors and sub-contractors, and by providing for an action plan for the employment of disabled and Vietnam era veterans within the Federal Government; to codify and expand veterans reemployment rights; and for other purposes.

S. 2784 - Mr. Harke (for himself, Mr. Hansen, Mr. Talmadge, Mr. Randolph, Mr. Hughes, Mr. Cranston, Mr. Thurmond, Mr. Stafford, Mr. McClure, Mrs. Hollings, Mr. Sparkman, Mr. Bayh, Mr. Humphrey, Mr. McIntyre, Mr. Burdick, Mr. Fulbright, Mr. Dominick, Mr. Stevens, Mr. Bentsen, Mr. McGovern, Mr. Williams, Mr. Mathias, Mr. Inouye, Mr. Taft, Mr. Buckley, Mr. Nunn, Mr. Nelson and Mr. Eagleton) introduced the following bill on Dec. 6, 1973; which was read twice and referred to the Senate Committee on Veterans' Affairs.

Chi Gamma Iota

VETERANS SCHOLASTIC HONOR SOCIETY

The National Council

Office of the National Secretary-Treasurer

27 January 1975

Dear Veteran:

I wish to take this opportunity to introduce you to Chi Gamma Iota, the National Veterans Scholastic Honor Society. This veterans group was founded in 1947 on the University of Illinois campus to promote scholarship, to encourage acceptance of civic responsibilities and civic improvement projects, and last but not least, to facilitate the understanding and use of veterans' rights and privileges.

We are at the present time engaged in an expansion campaign and our ultimate aim is a nationwide veterans organization, composed of individual chapters. Among the duties and responsibilities of each of these chapters will be the following: to encourage high academic standing among its membership (B average), to serve the local community through civic interest and participation in civic improvement projects, and to keep its membership apprised of all current veterans benefits and where or how they may be obtained.

In line with these aims I have listed below a few of the civic projects currently being performed by various chapters and some of the veterans information available from National Headquarters.

Civic projects:

- 1) One-to-one delinquency counseling
- 2) New concept scouting units
- 3) Arts and crafts classes

'74 Records: A Lukewarm Year

As far as albums went, 1974 was a fairly mediocre year.

All of the biggies made their little contribution to record store racks, but few of the superstar productions had more than a name attached, and perhaps one or two tunes inside destined for the Cashbox Hot 100 poll with a bullet.

Consider Eric Clapton. In the year of his return to live performance he released "461 Ocean Boulevard," a slick commercial effort which was a dismal failure musically, but put Clapton back on the charts.

Jethro Tull's only release of the year is a shadow of the group's former self, and even the Allman Bros. could do no better than "Brothers and Sisters," a good album, but certainly not as much as one would expect from them.

The Eagles, Marshall Tucker Band, and The New Riders, are others in a long list of groups whose latest efforts failed to live up to the promise of their earlier work.

But there was some good music put out last year. Stevie Wonder and Joni Mitchell in particular released the best work of their careers last year, and both already had set extremely high standards for themselves.

Most of the albums listed below did not make anybody's top 10 for last year, but they represent some of the best, and the most honest music I ran across last year.

RANDY NEWMAN - Good Old Boys (Warner Bros.) Newman takes the role of a southern redneck and effectively, if somewhat abrasively, uses the bigot identity to point up the prejudice and hypocrisy in all of us. The lyrics, and point of view make this album one of the most powerful statements made by a contemporary songwriter in a long while.

MARIA MALDAUR - Waitress In A Donut Shop (Warner Bros.) Maldaur surpasses her first album with this one. She sings everything from scat to country, rock and roll to bluegrass. It is a mammoth production with about 25 musicians sitting in at one point or another. Maria plays her up-front sensuality as far as it will take her on tunes like "Squeeze Me," and "It Ain't The Meat, It's The Motion." "Sweetheart" from which the album title is derived, must be the lament of every girl who ever had to stand eight hours behind the counter at Dunkin' Donuts.

WENDY WALDMAN - Gypsy Symphony (Warner Bros.) Somewhere between the sweet understated sorrow of Laura Nyro, and the outspoken sexuality of Maldaur, is the voice of Wendy Waldman, a woman who can't be tough no matter how hard she tries. "Gypsy Symphony" is a vast improvement over Waldman's first album both in material and in production. "My Love Is All I Know" and "Cold Back On Me" stand out as the best cuts on the album because of excellent arrangements and background vocals. "Gypsy" is the result of a city girl's foray into the country, and the result is the best of both worlds.

MINNIE RIPERTON - Perfect Angel (Epic). Since her days as the angelic choir behind Rotary Connection, Minnie has become a protégé of Stevie Wonder who wrote two songs for the album and appears anonymously under the pseudonym of The Black Bull. Minnie shows off her six-octave range on the album's first cut "Reasons" before getting into a walfish innocence on "Take A Little Trip," one of the Wonder contributions. She lets it all go on "Every Time He Comes Around," a tune that cracks the shell of naivete she cultivates throughout most of the album.

THE ELEVENTH HOUSE with Larry Coryell (Vanguard). Coryell assembled a fine group of musicians for this totally instrumental album. Of these, Randy Brecker on trumpet and Alphonse Mouzon on drums, stand out as the most energetic on some of the more manic cuts. Mouzon's "Funky Waltz" and Coryell's "Theme For A Dream" are probably the best of an excellent collection.

CLIMAX BLUES BAND - Sense of Direction (Sire). The best Climax effort since "Tightly Knit." This album is a lot lighter than either "Rich Man" or "FM Live," though Peter Hatcock's guitar has not lost any of its authority. The album's excellence is in what is implied, rather than what is said. It's hard to pick out any cuts as being superior to another, they all show finesse and forethought, and all are good tunes.

LITTLE FEAT - Feats Don't Fall Me Now (Warner Bros.). Better than "Dixie Chicken" and right up there with "Sail Away." This album shows a maturing process going on in the group, which if taken to the ultimate could put Feat in a class by themselves. Some incredible guitar work by Lowell George, especially on "Cold Cold Cold/Triple Face Boogie." Good Country Funk.

STEELEYE SPAN - Now We Are Six (Chrysalis). English folk music with a kick. Addition of another member and production by Ian Anderson may have bothered purists, but they did wonders for the group. Maddy Prior sings like she was born 3 or 4 hundred years too late. "Mooncoin Jig," "Two Magicians," and "Thomas the Rhymer" stand out as the best cuts. They could have lived without the grade school choir singing "Twinkle Twinkle Little Star."

FOREIGN MEDICAL SCHOOLS LAST HOPE FOR SOME PRE-MEDS

(CPS) - Each year at Indiana University-Bloomington, 800 to 1,000 freshmen list pre-med as a major. By their senior year only 300 to 400 of these students apply to medical school and from these few, only 3 out of 10 are accepted.

Nationwide 40,000 students will apply for 14,000 available openings in American medical schools. White students with less than an A- average have little chance of acceptance, as do minority students with less than a B- average, according to one admissions committee.

In the face of this overwhelmingly stiff competition about 500 students yearly are leaving the country to undertake the difficult task of attending a foreign medical school. Getting accepted is not much easier at most foreign schools and in addition students encounter a raft of obstacles as evidenced by a 30 to 50% attrition rate during the first year, compared to 5% in the United States.

If the student survives the first year, chances of lasting the entire medical course improve considerably.

Brawl Mars Lake Land Contest

For a few minutes last Wednesday night it looked like the Parkland College wrestling team was alive and well in Mattoon.

Midway through the second half of the Cobra - Lake Land basketball showdown, a melee broke out which saw both players and fans join in the grappling and punching for nearly 35 minutes.

Philadelphia's "Broadstreet Bullies" couldn't have done a better job, only the ice was missing.

It's not clear who won the fight. But Parkland lost the CIAC clash 84-82 to the top-ranked Lakers and failed to snap a seven-year losing streak which now covers 16 games.

Parkland, which lost earlier in the season to Lake Land 100-97 in overtime, will get another rematch Feb. 7 in the Centennial High School gym.

"I don't think it (the brawl) hurt us - in fact, it might even have helped," said Parkland coach Ken Pritchett of the interruption which occurred with 9:19 remaining in the game and the Cobras trailing by 8.

After order was restored, Parkland rallied to within a single point, 83-82 with 52 seconds left, but a pair of U. S. Davidson free throws fell short and the Cobras went down to their third loss in 16 games. Lake Land is 17-0.

"Actually, the fight wasn't that bad to begin with," said Pritchett, obviously displeased. "It could have happened at any level of play, anywhere.

"But the fans have no right coming onto the floor no matter who they are."

Parkland trailed through most of the contest but refused to give in to the outside shooting of the shorter Lakers. The Cobras used their size to hold a commanding rebound edge (47-23) but Lake Land countered with quickness and a defense which somewhat contained the Parkland fast break.

"I don't think we got many fast breaks against them" admitted Pritchett. "But I guess their shooting in the first half is what hurt us."

The two offense-minded quintets took the same number of shots (42) in the initial stanza but the hosts hit 47% while Parkland could only manage 38% and dropped behind 44-37 at the intermission.

Mark Heyse, with 10 points, and Tom Taylor with 18, led Lake Land scorers in the first half. Heyse also took game-scoring honors with 26 points and Taylor added 23 for the winners.

Once again Russ Oliver topped the Cobras in scoring as he meshed 24 points. Mike Woods flipped in 19, Mark Henrichs added 17 and U. S. Davidson contributed 16 to the balanced Parkland attack. But it fell a field goal short.

"They're five good shooters and collectively they play well," remarked Cobra assistant Jim Reed of the experienced Lakers. "They're sound basketball players and most of them are sophomores - they're experienced."

Pritchett echoed Reed's remarks. "They shot from out real well and like Jim said, they complement each other and work together - you know, we think we're pretty quick but they may be even quicker."

"When those two teams play, they seem like they can outshoot us and we can rebound them - those are the strengths of the two teams."

Henrichs led the Cobra boardmen as he grabbed 16 caroms, only six less than the entire Laker team. Oliver was close behind with 15 boards; Davidson had seven.

"If anybody played well, I'd have to say it was Mark Henrichs," said Pritchett of his 6-9 freshman center. "He played the best of any of our group with those 17 points and 16 rebounds - as a whole he played a very good all-around game."

But perhaps the biggest factor in the outcome of the hard-fought contest was Lake Land's poise, a poise gained from a history of winning seasons and an unblemished record against Parkland. A capacity home crowd didn't hurt, either.

"Poise has got to be a factor," said Pritchett. "They've had outstanding basketball success ever since the school's been in existence."

"The whole town of Mattoon takes pride in the team and that in turn instills confidence in the team and they might play a little over their heads as a result - they don't want to be the first losing team in that kind of tradition."

"Winning traditions carry over and that's what we hope to establish here."

PARKLAND (82) - Oliver 12-0-24, Henrichs 8-1-17, Woods 7-5-19, Engstrom 0-2-2, Wyss 2-0-4, Davidson 7-2-16, D. Smith 0-0-0.

LAKE LAND (84) - Bostic 0-1-1, Heyse 11-4-26, Jarrett 2-0-4, Schumacher 4-2-10, Taylor 10-3-23, Huber 1-2-4, Wedling 5-2-12, Williams 2-0-4.

Women Cagers Fall To Lake Land in Opener

Parkland College's girls' basketball team opened its season with a 50-45 loss to Lake Land College in a preliminary to the varsity clash last Wednesday night at Mattoon.

Girls' coach Lynette Trout expressed satisfaction despite the loss as her team has had trouble finding practice time and entered the initial contest with just five practices.

"We played well but I knew what our problem would be before we even started - endurance," said Miss Trout.

"We were ahead at the half but they used a press in the second half and we just got so tired we couldn't quite keep up - it was a matter of conditioning."

"I think if we had been in better shape we could have won."

The girls' team plays the same rules as the boys with the exception of the 10-second line. No line is observed because of the use of a 30-second shot clock (similar to professional basketball's ABA rule). A shot must be attempted within that time after gaining possession.

"That doesn't give the girls much break during the game," continued

Miss Trout of her 12-member squad. "And last season we played four eight-minute quarters while this year we've gone to two 20-minute halves - in addition I think there were only four or five free throws shot in the game. They just didn't get much break."

Becky Beach led the Cobra girls in scoring as she pumped in 19 points while teammate Connie Smith added 14.

"Becky's just an excellent athlete - she can play anything," said Miss Trout. "I think she averaged something like 30 points a game in basketball last year at Champaign Central High School, and she's a fine golfer, too."

Miss Beach became the first girl ever to earn a varsity letter while at Central, winning a monogram as a Maroon golfer. She has competed in such links tournaments as the Women's Western Open last year in Indianapolis.

The girl basketballers were scheduled to participate in a Saturday tournament at Danville. No home games have been scheduled this season but Miss Trout is hopeful that a full slate can be arranged for next year.
