Next Year May Determine Entire Future of United States Among World Nations

By JOHN BARRETT Director General Pan-American Union

What happens during the next year may determine forever the position of the United States among the nations of the world. She is to become either a leader or a laggard. She is to be loved or hated. She is to be honored or discredited. Everything, therefore, depends upon the attitude of the American government and people in facing the problems before them.

We must have a dependable America. And such an America, in turn, demands dependable Americans. Every American, young or old, must be ready to do his duty successfully upon the firing line of city, state, national and world affairs. Only in this way can we develop an ideal America and an ideal Americanism.

Best Way to Get Patriotism Taught In Schools Is to Interest the Teachers

By WILFRED A. WETHERBEE

If patriotism cannot be made a part of a child's education without the force of the law to compel it, then let every patriotic citizen send up his prayer that those in authority may be made to see the evil of their ways.

In the state of Massachusetts lessons in patriotism are already taught in most, if not all, of the schools. The Woman's Relief corps, an organization of 15,000 women, and the recognized auxiliary of the Grand Army of the Republic, began the work of introducing patriotic education in the schools, both public and parochial, in 1893.

Through their efforts, assisted by the Grand Army of the Republic, much has been accomplished in the patriotic line. Flags have been presented and are displayed in many of the schools, and more are being added

Persistent work in the way of moral suasion will accomplish far more good results than all the statutes that can be enacted. Patriotic education must appeal to the hearts and the minds of the children.

If the teachers can be interested in the work—and I believe a large percentage of them are interested—they will work far more willingly and effectively than if they are compelled by law.

I do not believe in building up sentiment of any description by force, and I feel sure that if the overzealous parties who are so eager for the enactment of legislation will use the same zeal and earnestness in interesting the teachers that they put forth to get laws through the legislature, they will find the results to be far more beneficial for all concerned.

Statistics As To Earnings Show That Education Brings Financial Returns

By REV. AUSTIN HUNTER Pastor Jackson Boulevard Christian Church, Chicago

In no age is the value of an education more apparent than the present. Our age has been described as utilitarian and materialistic. The possession of gold has been regarded as a dominant force in the world's progress. Yet the greatest benefactors of the world have not been men of large finan-

Education has a financial value. A table prepared by the Massachusetts state board of education shows the weekly earnings of children who left school at fourteen until the end of their twenty-fifth year. Those who left school at fourteen began at $4 a week, and at the end of their twentyfifth year were receiving $12.75 a week. Those from the high school began at $10 a week, and at twenty-five were receiving $31 a week. The total earnings of the elementary schoolboy in the twelve years were $5,722, while those of the high-school boy in the eight years were $7,397.

Education increases our happiness. It brings a capacity for enjoyment which money cannot purchase. It opens up the facilities of the soul so that life becomes full of meaning. Moreover, it increases our usefulness. The pathway to real greatness is found in service.

People of U.S. May Differ On Issues But Are All Americans When Need Comes

By MALCOLM G. JEFFRIS

Those who visit our shores from foreign countries marvel at the apparent freedom with which we discuss our national problems, and at our divisions in parties and factions politically, and they see, sometimes, a divided nation and lack of support for our president, whoever he happens to be. We do differ on national questions, and in this country as in no other we are free to express these differences by speech and the printed word, but when that time comes that the nation needs us we are all Americans. And that includes those who are Americans because they have come to us from foreign lands mindful of the liberty we offer them, not only a promised liberty but one which is realized.

School Histories Should Tell More of Triumphs of Peace Than Glories of War

By MARTIN H. GLYNN

I hold that our histories create a false impression in glorifying war. Go to Washington or any of our large cities, and on every important avenue you will find bronze or granite monuments to some man who made himself famous by destroying more than he could construct. It is all wrong. There are heroes of peace as well as of war, and with Charles Sumner I hold that peace is the true grandeur of nations. I maintain that our school histories should devote more space to the triumphs of peace and the uplift of humanity than to the Attilas of war and the slaughter of

WHO'S GOT

In Four Staples Alone the Farmers of Western Canada Produced 408 Million Dollars in 1915.

The Calgary (Alberta) printers have a house organ, called "The Magnet," and in its columns a few weeks ago appeared an article entitled "Who's Got the Money?" It was cleverly written, and but for its length, the writer would have been pleased to have copied the article in its entirety. The purpose for which this article is published, however, that of letting the readers of the paper know of the great progress that is being made in agriculture in Western Canada, will be served by copying a portion of the article. Many of the readers of this paper doubtless have friends in one of the three provinces-Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta, and they will be interested in feeling that their friends are enjoying a portion of the wealth that has come to Western Canada farmers as a result of careful tilling of a soil prodigal in everything that goes to make good grain, cattle, horses, hogs and

Reproducing from the article:

The Government does not produce money. It can stamp "One Dollar" on a slip of white paper, and we accept it at a dollar's worth, but neither the paper nor the printing are worth a copper. What gives it value is the promise of the people of Canada which stands behind the printed slip, and our faith in that promise.

Now do you know who's got the money?

Let us put it into figures. The farmers of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba last year raised 342,948,000 bushels of wheat. If we take for an average 85 cents a bushel in Manitoba, 81 cents in Saskatchewan and 79 cents in Alberta the season's wheat crop was worth $280,629,000. Add to this an oat crop of 334,840,000 bushels, worth $95,457,000; a barley crop of 35,-254,200 bushels, worth $15,871,000, and a flax crop of 10,559,000 bushels, worth $15,843,000, and you find that on these four staples alone the farmers of Western Canada produced a wealth of

Please note that this wealth is in money. It is not in real estate at inflated values, industrial stocks that are half water and the rest air, fictitious goodwills or unsaleable merchandise. It is in hard cash, or-which is better -hard wheat.

These figures are only for the staple grain productions. They do not include the millions of dollars represented by the live stock and dairying industries, or the additional millions included in the root, fruit, and garden crops. The creameries of Saskatchewan, for instance, produced more buttermilk and ice cream last year than their total production amounted to six years ago. The milk, butter, and cheese production of Alberta for 1915 was valued at over eleven million dollars. The potato crop of the three provinces was worth five millions and a half. Corn and alfalfa-comparatively new crops, -amounted to over a round million. Even honey-you didn't know we raised honey (the bee kind) in this country, did you?-Manitoba produced 105,000 pounds in 1915, and there isn't a bee in the province that doesn't swear he's a better honey-sorter than anything in California or Washington.

That's where the money is; in the jeans of our honest friend the farmer, who was too slow to get into the cities when the rest of us saw short-cuts to wealth; who hadn't imagination enough to think a man can make money without earning it, and who was too dull to know that hard work is foolish, Well, he has the laugh now. Likewise the money .- Advertisement.

In an address at London university before the Child Study association on "Serving the Future," Dr. C. W. Saleeby, an eminent English scientist, stated that he had it on the highest authority that the increase in infant mortality since the war began was almost entirely due to the fact that mothers had been drinking more alcohol -had, in fact, been using to kill the luture the money given by the nation to save the future. "People do not realize," the doctor declared, "how much of the finest food is being destroyed to make poison. It is the maddest thing you can imagine! There are not enough ships to carry our commerce, yet many ships are being used to bring to these shores the material for making poison that our mothers may buy at the corner of the street."

To illustrate the national need of caring for children in their earliest years, Doctor Saleeby remarked that during the past 17 months the army had been rejecting immense numbers of "damaged" men, who were really damaged as long ago as 1890-95. Germany had been having the same difficulty, but in her case it was even more serious. That country, he said, was now paying for her characteristic militarist neglect of the mother and the child, for it was certain that a high rate of infant deaths meant a proportionately high rate of "damaged" or unfit men.

DRINK AND DIVORCE.

"The story of the divorce court reeks with whisky and brutality," says Jack Lait, who writes for Chicago Herald. He has lately been dropping into the courtroom of Judge Kersten, the busiest jurist in Christendom, and watching and listening." He has found that "the fist is the symbol of divorce and the bottle its inspiration." Liquor is responsible for more than ten out of twenty cases. "Those are the tales," he says, "that do not get display heads in news columns. They are not important, they are not picturesque." Judge Kersten has spent 30 years "adjudicating criminal matters, from murder to spitting on the sidewalk-and of it all, the blackest, the sorriest, the saddest, are the divorce cases."

And the states, most of them, go on licensing the sale of the stuff which inspires the drunken fist-go on in money partnership with the drunkard maker!

WHO'LL GET THE MONEY?

The manufacture of lumber is an important industry in the state of state of Washington and the woodsmen used periodically to go into the towns and spend their wages in the saloons. Shortly before the prohibition law became operative a police captain inquired of one of these men what he would do with his money on his next visit. "I'll tell you what I am going to do," said the logger. "Next time I come to town I am going to buy a new suit of clothes, some boots, a mackinaw and some new blankets." The captain says that this answer is typical of the answers of many other loggers who might be questioned.

CITIES ENFORCE DRY LAW.

"It used to be all very well," says the Spokane (Wash.) Chronicle, "to say that 'prohibition is good enough for the rubes, but it won't go in the cities.' Now things have swung around to such an extent that the larger municipalities are among the leaders in the dry movement. Seventy-one cities, ranging from 25,000 to 325,000 population are now listed as dry and with the dry law as well enforced as other laws. Seven wet states contain dry cities of more than 25,000 population. There are 19 dry states, and the 'Nation's Going Dry' all too soon to please the saloonatics."

NONUNION WHISKY.

Ninety-four per cent of the whisky made in the United States is made by the whisky trust. Whisky is made by nonunion labor, paid only $9.19 per week, according to United States bureau of census reports. The hours of labor range from 10 to 17 per day. Out of $100 paid for whisky at manufacturer's price only $2.08 goes back to the wage earners who made the whisky.

SALOONS AND TAXES.

The report of one of Uncle Sam's departments completely smashes the contention of the wets that saloons lower taxes. The report shows that the general property tax collected in prohibition states is $10.12 per capita, in near-prohibition states $11.08, in states partially under license $13.22 per capita, and in wholly license states

NOT DISCERNIBLE.

Walter E. Johnson, an American aviator expert, after spending six months in Russia, or near there, watching for submarines in the Black sea, told reporters that he could detect submarines 150 feet under water while he was 3,000 feet above it, but that he had not been able to see a drunken man in Russia anywhere.

ROOSTER AND PEACOCK.

"What shall the story be about this evening, children?" asked Daddy, as he came into the nursery.

"Oh anything at all, Daddy," said Dick.

"Well, that seems easy enough," said Daddy. "You certainly are not fussy or particular. And, as I haven't told you a Story for a long time about the Barnyard Folks, I think it is high time to do so.

"Several days ago Mr. Rooster was walking around and shouting at the top of his voice 'Cock-a-doodle-do,' over and over again. He had a fine red cap on the top of his head and he was just as proud of himself as he could be. Dear me, but he was proud!

"He strutted about and kept on crowing. The rest of the Barnyard Folks were just the least little bit afraid of Mr. Rooster. He was so very dignified and stylish. At least he always told them he was, and he said so in a tone that made them believe it must be true."

"Was he the only Rooster in the Barnyard, Daddy?" asked Nancy.

"Oh, no, indeed," replied Daddy,
"though you would have thought so from the way he acted. But he was the only Rooster they called 'Mr.' The others they called just plain 'Rooster,' or 'Red Top,' or 'Tuft,' or maybe 'Roostie,' but this one they called Mr. Rooster always.

"As he was crowing and strutting about he happened over by a small pond at the extreme end of the Barnyard. It was just what he had meant to do all the morning, and he hadn't found time to before.

"'Ah, I'm a busy old fellow,' he said. 'I must crow for the delight of all the Barnyard Folks-and if I didn't crow early in the morning I do believe some Grownups would sleep all day They should appreciate me, though sometimes they're so lazy they think they like that old Sandman creature better. Yes, I have a great deal I must do. But now I can attend to my looks.'

"He stood on one side of the pond and looked at his own reflection. After he saw that he was looking well and that his white feathers were spick and span, and his red hat bright and clean, he started back, crowing as he went.

"He used to walk alone you see, for he didn't quite think any of the other Animals were fine enough to walk with him. But on his way back he met Mr. Peacock.

"'Good morning, Mr. Peacock,' said Mr. Rooster with a special 'crow' of greeting. 'How are you? Fine day we're having.'

You Two Mustn't Quarrel." He Said.

"'Good day,' replied Mr. Peacock. 'It seems to me you don't say anything very remarkable for a creature that puts on such airs. Any Animal can talk as wisely as you do. It's just ordinary, every-day conversation,'

"'I never heard you were so wise either,' said Mr. Rooster very rudely.

"'I don't have to be wise,' said the Peacock. 'For I am beautiful. There is no other tail in all the land that is so famous for its beauty as the tail of the Peacock. And the colors of my feathers are wonderful. You know yourself, Mr. Rooster, that when I spread my tail even the Animals can't help admiring me-and as for the People-well, they think they never saw anything like me in all their lives.'

"As you can imagine Mr. Rooster and Mr. Peacock had a fine old argument-which was almost a quarrelfor they are both so vain and proud of themselves that each had hard work trying to say more often than the oth-

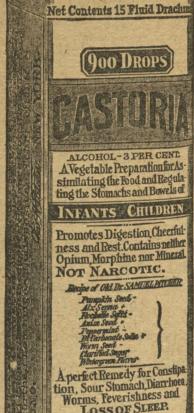

"Tm a finer Animal, I'm a finer Animal,' for they got so excited they said the same thing as often and as fast as ever they could.

"Soon came along Grandfather Pig who was feeling quite happy and cheerful in the nice morning Sunshine.

"'You two mustn't quarrel,' he said. 'It's so extremely stupid. You don't feel happy when you argue like that. And it's no fun to stand around-or strut around and keep praising yourself up every minute. Why don't you play or get your breakfast-or do something sensible-each of you?'

"Both the Peacock and the Rooster looked a little ashamed when Grandfather Pig talked to them, and they went away with their heads hanging down when he said, 'Peacock, for all your beauty, you've hideous feet, and Rooster, no one likes to hear you "cock-a-doodle-do" but yourself!"

Went With the Load.

An Irishman, having arrived in New York a few days ago, got employment with a lumber merchant. Later he was ordered to take a load of lumber some distance away. Having gone half his journey, he came to a steep hill, and while the horses were struggling to get to the top his boss happened to meet him, and seeing the horses in such a difficulty, and Pat standing on top of the load, he stopped him and exclaimed:

"Do you think the horses haven't got enough to do without hauling you up this hill?"

Pat, fixing himself more comfortably on top of the load, said:

"Is that what you stopped me for?" Then, with a crack of his whip, Pat concluded: "Gee up, it's a poor ship that can't

Willing Worker.

An amusing incident is told which took place in one of the occupied districts of Belgium where the German occupier doles out potatoes to such of the starving people as agree to work for him. One recipient presented himself before the German authorities and declared himself quite ready in return for a supply of potatoes to work for the Germans and only for them. He seemed quite decided and genuine in his offer of work.

"Then you are quite willing to sign the declaration?" asked the German officer.

"Yes, quite willing."

The earliest application on the appointed day was an elderly woman in shabby but respectable clothes, who was politely ushered into the waiting room.

"You are making a mistake," the dentist replied. "I only made my offer to ladies. In fact, there's one lady waiting now."

CENTENNIAL AIR IN STATE FAIR

Will Show Height of Farm Achievements In 100 Years.

Big Centennial Spectacle Takes Place of Night Horse Show Week of Sept, 4.

The Indiana state fair for the week of Sept. 4 is to have a distinctive centennial flavor. One of the out standing features is to be the his torical spectacle which will be give: on an immense scale of splendor caci evening and which will vividly por tray the picturesque phases of Indiana history. The manufacturers who will make displays have been asked by the fair management to give a centennial flavor to their exhibits by showing the evolution that has been made in farm machinery. But where the state fair does not delve into his tory, it will show the heights which the agricultural and live stock re sources of Indiana have reached at the close of the first 100 years.

Following the historic spectacle, a lavish display of fireworks commemorative of the centennial year will be given. The spectacle and fireworks will be the great demonstration of the year.

Although the fair will have the greatest array of attractions in its history, the coming exposition will continue to emphasize educational features of especial value to farm people, for it is upon the expansion of farm knowledge that the fair has been built its enduring foundations,

There will be no night horse show at the coming fair, it having given way for the centennial spectacle. But the day horse shows will hold increased interest and importance for visitors. The fair offers a total of $35,124 in prizes on horses; $27,000 6 it for trotting and pacing purses; $4,075 for draft horges; $2,400 for light harness contests, and $809 for ponies. Thirty-two medals and two silver cups will also be awarded.

As the cattle resources of Indiana increase from year to year, these shows at the Hoosier fair grow in magnitude and splendor. The total cattle premiums amount to $11,289, of which $5,965 is on beef breeds and the remainder on dairy cattle.

The premiums in other departments are: Sheep, $3,779; swine, $4,397; poultry, $2,186: agriculture, $2,011; horticulture, $937; flowers and plants, $1,112; bees and honey, 3204; table luxuries, $441; fine arts, $2,188; dairy products, $347; boys' judging contest, $250; corn growing contest, $250; boys' and girls' club exhibits, $100. The total premiums for the fair amount to $64,135.

DISORDERS OF THE FAITHFUL DAIRY COW

Treatment of Noninfectious Garget Is Simple—Infectious Form Is Hard to Cure.

(By F. B. HADLEY, Wisconsin College of Agriculture.)

Garget makes an appearance every once in a while in cows which apparently are in perfect health. The milk in severe cases, is either stringy or otherwise altered in character when drawn and collects a yellowish-colored sediment on standing. In less pro-nounced cases there may be little visible change in the milk, but an exami-

Noninfectious garget is caused by bruises or other injuries, or by a sudden congestion of blood in the udder as frequently occurs in heavy milkers and in heifers at first calving. Affected animals usually make a complete recovery if given one and a half pounds of epsom salts and their feed is restricted to that of a succulent nature. The cause of infectious garget is germ or germs. When many of them are present in the udder not only is the milk changed as mentioned above but the udder itself becomes hot and sensitive to the touch.

The importance of the infectious form of garget rests in the fact that it is usually not easily cured and has a tendency to recur. Furthermore the disease is easily conveyed to healthy cows through the medium of the milker's hands or contaminated material of any kind, unless precautions are taken to avoid the transfer of the Temporary relief may be given by bathing the udder with hot water for one-half hour each morning and evening. After thoroughly drying the surface of the udder warm cottonseed oil should be rubbed in with the palm of

A complete cure is possible in most cases only by drying the cow off at once so that her system may be free to fight the disease-producing germs that are present in the udder.

Profitable Hog Raising. To make hogs profitable we must provide plenty of range that we may keep their yards clean and sanitary. To be successful a man must be particular with his breeding stock, The breed is of less importance than the surroundings.

It will pay any hag owner to dip all of his growing pigs at least once a month to keep their skin in good condition and free from lice.

Support for Ordinary Family. Three or four acres of alfalfa, with an acre devoted to garden truck, and another acresto poultry, and cow pasture, with a few cows, a hundred chickens, and three or four brood sows will support the ordinary family of five, with enough left over to pay
