

9. ACS Library and Information Center: Evolving from a collection to a service.

By: Baykoucheva, Svetla P.

Source: Abstracts of Papers, 220th ACS National Meeting, Washington, DC, United States, August 20-24, 2000, Pages: CINF-038, Conference; Meeting Abstract, 2000, CODEN: 69FZC3

Company/Organization: ACS Library and Information Center, American Chemical Society, Washington, DC, USA, 20036

Accession Number: 2000:794141, CAPLUS

Publisher: American Chemical Society, Washington, D. C

Language: English

Reproduced with permission from the Chemical Abstracts Service

---

Abstract

The role of the ACS Library and Information Center (previously, ACS Library Services) has dramatically changed. In addn. to performing all typical library duties, the ACS Library is now offering many new services. These include a New Digital Imaging Center; publishing the ACS newsletter; staff training; serving the public through the Chem. Health & Safety Referral Service; providing a content-rich chem. information on the ACS Web page (<http://www.acs.org/infocenter.html>); and participating in the speakers service for local ACS sections. The challenges of imposing a new model to a traditional special library - and of making it work - will be discussed.

---

Tags

0 Tags

Copyright © 2013 American Chemical Society (ACS). All Rights Reserved.