

John Burke Receives Sophomore Presidency

Fraga, Conti and Routhier Also Elected to Offices

John Burke of Newport, a pre-med student, was elected president of the sophomore class at a meeting held yesterday noon in Harkins Hall.

Also chosen for class officers were: Norbert Fraga of New Bedford, a pre-dental student, vice-president; Leo Conti of Providence, arts student, secretary; and Edward Routhier of Providence, business student, treasurer.

With both sides displaying the consummate skill of experienced politicians, the Burke supporters managed to secure more votes than those of his rival, Eustace Theodore Pliakis III. Competition was furnished by their opponents, James Eagan and John Doyle, who sought the office of vice-president; Jerome Weintraub and Harold Cox, secretary; Edward Dalton, John Lopez, and Robert Golden, treasurer.

During the course of the meeting, the Rev. Vincent Doyle, O. P., urged that the sophomores lend active support to the forthcoming all college trolley dance, and promised that there would be a class dance.

This dance may be held in conjunction with the Freshman Class. A sophomore and freshman would serve as co-chairmen of the affair.

Gerhard Leaves For U. S. Army

John Gerhard of Providence, editor of the Alembic and assistant editor of the Cowl, was inducted into the army yesterday at Selective Service headquarters on Fountain street.

John was chairman of the Religious Forum, president of the Antoninus Society, and a member of the French and Philosophy Clubs. He was assistant editor of the Friar Mercury, the college summer publication.

He has a week of grace and will report to the Induction Center, Fort Devens, Mass., Feb. 12th. At present he is taking a brief vacation in New York. John of late wrote the sports column, "As We See Them" in the Cowl.

Debating Union Is Victor Over B. U.

The Providence College Debating Union successfully opened the current debating season last night by winning a decision over Boston University. John Davitt of Fall River and James F. Shiel of Providence, both seniors, represented Providence College.

The local team upheld the affirmative of the question: Resolved, that the United Nations Should Form a Permanent Federal Union After the War.

Judges were Francis McManus, assistant city solicitor for Providence; Commander Joseph McGuirl, head of the Providence Traffic Bureau; and Mr. P. Joseph Brannon, of the English Department of Columbia University. Rev. Ambrose P. Regan, O. P., was moderator of the college team.

New Course To Be Given

Fr. Hinnebusch Will Conduct Extension Class In Catholic Practices

A new course in the Providence College extension school, "Catholic Practice and Ceremonies," conducted by the Rev. William A. Hinnebusch, O. P., of the department of History, was begun Wednesday evening at 7:30 in Harkins Hall.

In his first lecture Father Hinnebusch stated that the purpose of the class is to straighten out the misconceptions and questions of the average man in regard to Catholic Dogma. He also reiterated the fact that the class is open to the entire public, Catholic and non-Catholic without charge.

Students of the Providence College are urged to attend. There will be no outside work to the course.

All that is required for successful undertaking of the course is a desire to know more about one's faith.

Phi Chi Holds Demonstration

The Phi Chi Club held its semi-monthly meeting yesterday noon in the Physics laboratory. Orders for club pins were turned in by the representatives from each class.

John Stevens, the president of the club, gave an lecture and practical demonstration on Polarographic analysis. The exactness of this method in both quantitative and qualitative analyses was stressed. He concluded his lecture by listing the numerous fields, both in industry and science, in which this method is used.

Political Bosses Employ Forceful Tactics

By Tom Carroll

"That other fellow,—what's his name?—doesn't stand a chance. He couldna got more than three votes."

The words arrested the attention of a group of docile freshmen. They all looked over to see who this fellow is that speaks with such an air of finality. Opened eyed with astonishment, the lesser men of the college behold the ultra-magnificent sight of three haughty sophomores engaged in a spirited "tete a tete."

A look of disapproval from the speaker of the words causes the frosh to turn their heads quickly and to pretend to be occupied with their new and as yet unexplored textbooks. These the sophomores had kindly sold at twenty-five cents and more above their original cost.

But the lowly freshmen were interested. What's the meaning of those words which a sophomore has so indiscreetly permitted to fall on the untainted ears of new freshmen?

For a while no further inkling of what is being so vehemently discussed is forthcoming. The sophs are on to these curious babies. These

ARMY AIR CADETS

Three Providence College students were among the 184 Army Air Cadets that left on Thursday, Jan. 28.

Wilfred Ethier, a junior in the Philosophy Division; George Lepoutre and George Donnelly, both freshmen taking the Philosophy course, were those who reported for duty from P. C. They together with students from Brown, R. I. State and La Salle Academy comprised the largest group to be yet sent from the Army Induction Center on Fountain Street.

Ethier wrote finis to his college basketball career by starting at a forward post against the R. I. State Rams at the Auditorium.

NINE ALUMNI ENTER NAVY

Report to Navy Training Center At Notre Dame University

Nine P. C. Alumni, who graduated in December, reported February 1st at Notre Dame to begin their Naval Training.

The nine graduates are: Charles Cottam, North Providence; Paul Cummings, Providence; Joseph Dority, Providence; Joseph Pliska, Fitchburg, Mass.; Joseph Vaghi, Bethel, Conn.; John Maloney, East Providence; Bernard Short, Cranston; David Joyce, Providence, and Chester Zabek of Adams, Mass.

Chet Zabek was outstanding in athletics during his stay in the college. Joe Vaghi, prominent in football, became Mr. Crotty's assistant in the Physical Education program after his graduation.

These nine men, all members of the Naval Reserve, will immediately start their midshipman training which leads to a commission of ensign as deck officers.

latter begin to fear lest boisterous upperclassmen, now leering at them, should order them out of the cafe.

Evidently though the topic of such an absorbing nature that the uninitiated freshmen are forgotten. Once again the pitch of the voices is raised to a point where the neighbors can hear.

"We sure fooled 'em. They don't even know the elections are going on. One of the fellows changed the time on the bulletin board from 11:00 to 1:30."

Absorbed in eavesdropping Joe Bloke, class of '46 (?), leans back on his chair in an effort not to miss any of what's being said. He loses his balance and over he and chair go with a resounding crash.

Lo and behold the speakers take no notice. O happy day! With the moral assistance of his cohorts in crime our man Joe picks himself up from the floor.

The small fry are really curious now. What are they talking about? It's so confusing. No one is supposed to post or change a notice on the bulletin board except by proper authority. Have the sophs disregarded a school law?

Their objects of interest are laugh-

TROLLEY DANCE GROUP ENLARGED

Anlauf, Lynch, McKenna To Represent Junior, Soph and Frosh Classes

The appointment of Joseph Anlauf, a Junior, William Lynch, a Sophomore and William McKenna, a Freshman, to the All-College Trolley Dance committee was disclosed last night by Paul A. Cavanaugh, chairman of the affair to be held Feb. 19th.

Representing their respective classes, they will offer their own suggestions and those of their fellow students concerning the decorations to be used in Harkins Hall where the event will take place from 8:30 to 12:00.

"With the cooperation of all the classes I expect that the dance will be a success," Cavanaugh said yesterday. He went on to say that, "unless every class actively supports their representatives," further dances may not take place "for the duration."

Bids have been tentatively set at $1.50, and the orchestra to be selected is now under consideration by the band committee composed of Phil Trainor and Joe Anlauf.

The decorations committee is composed of Bill Corkey, Bill Lynch, Bill McKenna and Tom Scanlon.

Students Added To Cowl Staff

Four students joined the Cowl staff this week as reporters. They are Frank FitzGibbon of Holyoke, Mass., a freshman; Sabino Sinesi, a junior, of Providence; John Buckley of New Bedford, Mass., and John Kirby, a sophomore, of the Berkshires.

FitzGibbon and Sinesi are new in the practice of journalism. Buckley was editor of the school paper at Holy Family High School, New Bedford, and Kirby was sports editor of the Cramwell Prep student newspaper.

Young Machiavellians Plot And Plan

ing uproariously now. Evidently something very witty has been done by one of them.

"Were giving them a taste of Centucket methods," exclaimed one of the boys between laughs.

Suddenly a spirit of consternation sweeps across the faces of the laughing boys. A bedraggled soph with his collar opened, and his tie hanging out had dashed up breathlessly with important news.

"It's all off," he panted. Forgetting himself, a shaggy haired freshman queried, what's all off? "The hair on your head will be if you don't scam — quick."

The freshmen got up from their seats. Just before they left they heard one of the dictators remark, "And after all the trouble I went to to lock them in the car." Will some kind soul in the know please send a special delivery letter telling the meaning of the jumbo of words picked up the subjects of this narrative. The Cowl staff would like to do a good deed and save the lives of certain frosh who are in a bad way from undue mental strain.

Fr. Hackett Joins Faculty

Fr. Dillon Announces Appointment of Graduate To Dept. of Chemistry

The Very Rev. John J. Dillon, O. P., president of the college announced last night the appointment of the Rev. James Walter Hackett, O. P., as an instructor in the Department of Chemistry.

Father Hackett was born in Woonsocket, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Hackett of 112 Earle street. He attended Woonsocket high school and graduated from Providence College in 1932 with the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy.

Father Hackett was professed in 1933 at St. Rose Priory, Springfield, Ky., and was ordained at St. Joseph's Cathedral, Somerset, Ohio in 1939.

Father Hackett received his M. S. from Catholic University in Washington in 1942 and has done further graduate study at Yale University.

Nurses Plan Convocation

Annual Affair To Be Held At Aquinas Hall On Monday Evening

The annual Student Nurses Convocation of the Providence College Nurses Guild of the Thomistic Institute, will be held at Aquinas Hall next Monday Evening at 8:00.

Continuing his series of lectures on the Sacramental System of the Church, the Rev. Charles B. Quirk, O. P., moderator of the Nurses' Guild, will speak on "Marriage."

After the address the committee headed by Miss Genevieve Nolan of St. Joseph's Hospital will serve a buffet lunch to both student, guest and graduate members. She will be assisted by: Miss Beatrice Casavant, St. Joseph's; Miss Clare Doyle and Miss Rose Fratanuono, Rhode Island Hospital; Miss Catherine Conlan, Pawtucket Memorial; Miss Juliette Wust and Miss Helen Hasterman, Chapin Hospital.

Also Miss Alice McPhee and Miss Ethel McGlynn, Lying-In Hospital; Miss Mary Pierce and Miss Elizabeth Reynolds, District Nursing, and Miss Mary Smith, Homeopathic.

Fall Riverites To Form League

The Fall River Club of Providence College held its weekly meeting yesterday. Plans were adopted to form a bowling league. Edward J. Steinkof was chosen chairman of the league.

Other participants are John Carroll, John Marshall, William Carberry, Louis Shea, Thomas Booth, Thomas Morris, Gaston St. Denis, Charles Gettings, and John Halligan.

These men will comprise teams which are supposed to meet in a series of matches to determine the top ranking outfit.

PSALM 126

The Birth Controlists have lost out again. This time it was the medical practitioners who were rebuffed. The highest court in the land rendered the decision this time.

But, the forces of evil will continue their endeavor to triumph. The case is on its way back to the courts with different plaintiffs. What most of them seem to forget is that human law and human authority does not legislate in this matter.

The beautiful words of Psalm 126 would probably quicken and enlighten those who pretend not to understand the law of God.

When He shall give sleep to His beloved, behold, children are the inheritance from the Lord; the fruit of the womb is a reward. As arrows in the hands of the mighty, so are the children of them that have been smitten.

Blessed is the man that hath his full desire of them: he shall not be confounded when he shall speak to his enemies at the gate.

At any rate, they are words which we should all remember.

BUY WAR BONDS

COLLEGE GOSSIP

By JACK BRADY

Father Doyle, Sophomore Class moderator, unced to the class yesterday that there definitely would be a Sophomore Hop. But present plans call for support of the "All-College Trolley Dance" first. If that dance is well attended by all classes, and the various groups really use the trolleys, other dances will be arranged along the same lines.

With the addition to the committee of William McKenna (Freshmen) Bill Lynch (Sophomore) and Joe Anlauf (Junior) all classes will be represented. This makes the dance "All-College" in fact as well as theory.

The Sophomore Hop will be held sometime in March. It will probably be combined with the Freshman Dance, which usually was held on St. Patrick's Night. Only one dance can be held during Lent. Thus there will be Sophomore and Freshmen co-chairmen and a mixed committee of both classes.

This plan makes it possible to have at least two dances before the end of this present semester.

But it all depends upon the success of the "All-College Dance," so go by "Trolley" and represent your class at the dance. By doing this, more dances are assured.

AFTERMATH:

Many of the fellows accompanied the basketball team to New York last week when they played Manhattan. Dave Turbridy was the leader of the group. Dave lives in New York so he knew his way about town.

Joe Bagaglia locked Ben Palmieri, Fred Sowa and Bill Martin out of the hotel room. The joke was they were only "dressed" in sheets. Were their faces red when Coach Crotty found them thus.

* * * *

HERE AND THERE:

Joe Russo has organized his own band. It is composed of a combination of Providence College, R. I. State, and Brown students. Bill Corkery will be one of his vocalists. Joe hopes to follow in Tiny Quinn's footsteps. Rumor has it he might play at the coming Soph Hop.

Andre Manderville (the one most likely to pass physical ed.) is studying Gaelic. Could it be that Irish Gal in Manville. (It could be.)

Congratulations to John Burke, Norbert Fraga, Louis Canti, and Edward Routhier, upon their being elected Sophomore Class Officers.

Prom-trotters this week are John Stafford, Ed. Sullivan and John Kenney. They will attend a dance at R. I. C. E. tonight.—Pembroke will also have their final dance tonight. Many of the fellows have been invited.

Adolf Motta was the first in his class to be accepted for Medical School. Adolf will enter Tufts Medical College in the fall.

Ray Walsh (Freshman) will be inducted into the Army next Tuesday.

Al Micheletti recently has become very concerned about the weather; seems his car has been snowed in (or under) since the big snowfall. He is waiting for warm weather to melt the snow. It would be easier to shovel it out, Al).

Bill Reilly visited the school last week; he will leave for Officers' Training School next week.

The Bowling League starts next Tuesday night, so be on hand for the fun. AND UNTIL NEXT WEEK KEEP LISTENING.

FOLLOW COPY

By JOHN STAFFORD

During the past year, there has been considerable written and oral debate about the peace that is to follow this war. The United Nation leaders, the press, educational institutions, and even women's clubs, all are proposing plans. These are often termed, almost on suggestion, as either idealistic or cynical.

Dangerous apathy to all planning develops from the constant use of such simple terms. Because they mean so little, these one word labels fail to clarify the situation. They are only single adjectives describing a view of man's character rather than his ideas. This irrelevance obscures the subject of peace planning, and people soon abandon it. To keep them interested, an explanation must be pertinent and significant.

There is a much needed explanation fulfilling these requirements. It is how a thinker might proceed in arriving at his peace plans. In this there are two possible approaches.

One man may sit down and think of how things should be. His intellect arrives at certain norms, or ideals. These determined, he erects a plan for the political situation that fits his concept. This was the method of Woodrow Wilson. He knew, to cite a typical case, that minorities should have their independence. With this in mind, he sat down to plan the map of Europe.

Politico-philosophers call this the a priori approach. The other is the a posteriori.

In this latter method the first things considered are concrete affairs and practical experience. Instead of first looking within his own mind, the thinker considers current events, and past history. From these he devises his plans, considers possibilities, and methods of overcoming obstacles. It would be wrong to say he has no goal in mind. It is a goal only less subjective and it considers the important factor of man's nature.

The last war was not settled in this latter method. Even while it was fought, the political approach was a priori. This attitude was expressed in the slogan that the war was to "make the world safe for democracy." This aim was arrived at in Wilson's mind independently of actual events, and concrete facts. When the end of the war came, it proved to be a war for dictatorship.

At the end of the famous Napoleonic Wars, a treaty was formulated by a procedure diametrically opposed to Wilson's. At the Congress of Vienna, its leaders Metternich and Talleyrand based their decisions on concrete facts and past history. When settling territorial disposition, they weighed the power of kings and the past history of royal families. In this, their approach was a posteriori. But they were not finally successful, for about thirty years after Europe was swept by revolutions.

These two attempts at peace may have been seen as a lesson by the Washington leaders. These men are not proceeding entirely from experience. Nor are they entirely concerned with creating mental concepts. They are not basely practical, or high minded poetic. Instead they are combining the a priori and a posteriori methods.

This dual outlook is personified by two leaders in our national government. Roosevelt, the practical politician, leads in the solution to the practical problems of making peace. He has long dealt with the realities of political situations, and now he is concerned with those contingencies which will peace.

Wallace, the philosopher and idealist, is courageously erecting norms and ideals. For several years he has done this in national affairs and now he has turned to the international.

This sound approach speaks well for the future. It seems the peace will be based on experience and ideals. This war is what the peace will make it. The attitude in Washington gives us great faith in our battle.

Friars Bow By Might Of Jaspers

Sniping of Capt. Murphy And Tolan Leads To Manhattan Win

Nosing ahead of the fighting Friars 27-20 in the closing minutes of the first half and pulling away even further as the second half progressed, the power-laden Manhattan courtmen decisively whipped the Providence five 65 to 47 at the Manhattan Gym, Tuesday night.

The Black and White forces played on fairly even terms with the home team for the greater part of the opening half but the boys from the "big city" were simply too strong for the Crottymen once their chief sharpshooters, Captain Dick Murphy and freshman Tom Tolan gained the range of the visitors' hoop.

Led by lanky Bill Martin who, incidentally, captured high scoring honors for the evening, the Friars tied the ball game at 12-all in the middle of the initial period and the lead then changed hands a number of times before the hosts finally asserted their supremacy as halftime drew near.

The final period was all Manhattan as the Jaspers played what was described by New York scribes as the best basketball of their very successful season.

The story of the Friar defeat could be told in one word: the Jaspers were "hot." They dropped in seemingly impossible shots from far out when kept away from closeup scoring opportunities by the clever guarding of Bob Reilly and Larry Drew.

Martin with 21 and Pagliaroli with 11 points were top men for the losers. Capt. Murphy threw in 17 points for

DULKIE BEGINS NAVY TRAINING

Former Backfield Coach Leaves Sunday For Chapel Hill

Joseph Dulkie, former assistant football coach at P. C., has received his commission as ensign in the United States Navy. Dulkie announced this week that he has been ordered to leave Sunday for Chapel Hill where he will begin the indoctrination course in Commander Tom Hamilton's physical education program.

Upon completion of this course the former Friar backfield mentor will be assigned to instruct classes at the Kansas City Naval Air Base.

More than four absences will effect a deduction from the final mark. For every absence in excess of the permitted four a deduction of ten per cent will be made.

Intra-Murals

By John Kirby

Merc's Boys won their second league game by defeating the Aquinas Rockets, 26-16, Monday night. The game was close in the first half but in the final period the winners easily assumed a commanding lead which was not relinquished. Matt McCarty and John Sheil stood out for Merc's while Dick Kirby scored nine points for the Rockets.

On the same night the Fighting Five eked out a 16-15 victory over the Dirty Shirts. Jack Powell, a La Salle Military Academy graduate, garnered six points to lead the winners while Parsons and O'Halloran stood out for the losers.

Tuesday afternoon the undefeated Blackstone A. C. kept their slate clean by polishing off a scrappy Bay Staters outfit. Honors of the game were divided between "Duke" Ferland of the winners with 16 points and "Rooster" Carroll of the losers. "Rooster's" 22 p.nts were all made from impossible positions and it was he who, time after time, kept his team in the game. Here is a player who fought his heart out in a losing cause.

In a closely fought battle Wednesday evening the La Salle Club gave the Guzman lads a 40-33 beating. Guzman floored but five men and when Hank Scussel was waived by the foul route "Super" Sam Franco took over in his place. Sam played with an infected nose but was a credit to his team. Gene Richards and Nick Nocera were La Salle's big guns while Dick Turbidity was Guzman's star.

Joe's Boys easily defeated the No Name Club Wednesday by a score of 32-6. Bregman and Gilhooly led the winners, who were never threatened. Bob Reinhardt stood out for the losers.

The Nags hit the victory trail by swamping the Phillimusians, 22-6, Tuesday evening. Loughran with 10 points and Taylor with eight were the high scorers of the evening while Fallon got all three points for his team.

Crottymen Take Road For Tech and Hawk Battles

LOWELL DOWNED BY FRIAR FIVE

Pagliaroli At New Post Leads Providence To 66 - 47 Win

With Coach Crotty employing every man on his newly augmented squad the Friar five returned to its winning ways in a 66 to 21 romp over an outclassed Lowell Textile quintet last Saturday night at Harkins Hall.

The Friars, minus the services of Chet Zabek, Ted McConnon and Henri Ethier, sped away to an early 12 to 0 lead and continued to apply pressure until the count stood at 37 to 7 when the first half ended.

Ben Pagliaroli really came into his own in his newly assigned role of first string pivot. Ben, who succeeded the recently departed Chet Zabek, threw in 21 points while playing but 28 minutes.

Early in the second half members of the Jayvee squad, who have been raised to varsity status, relieved the top group and played out the string. With Jimmy Lee setting the pace, the reserves outscored Lowell 11 to 7 in the waning moments of the rout.

Bill Martin was runner-up to Pagliaroli for high scoring honors of the evening with six goals and three free flips.

St. Anselm's Expected To Provide Strongest Opposition

The vaunted Friar five will be out to regain the winning trail when they travel to Lowell to meet the Textile forces tonight and to Manchester, N. H., to battle the St. Anselm quintet tomorrow evening.

The Crottymen are favored to make it two straight over the under-manned Lowell cagers but the Friars have been drilling doubly hard to eliminate the possibility of an upset.

The Hawks of St. Anselm's are expected to provide stronger opposition for the Providence hoopmen. The boys from Manchester are always a hard nut for the Friars to crack and this year promises to be no exception.

Coach Al McClellan, veteran mentor of the Hawks who formerly guided the destinies of Providence court fives, likes nothing better than a win over his former charges and his teams are always primed for their home-and-home series with the Friars.

The probable starting lineup for the Dominicans in tonight's game will have Bill Martin and Ben Pagliaroli paired at the forward posts; Ted McConnon operating at the play-making pivot post; and the "terrific twins" Capt. Bob Reilly and Larry Drew at their customary back court spots.

DORM DIARY

Joe Anlauf

Old man winter was voted top hero of the week after his proud display of talents last Friday, but in doing so forgot about the diary and its much needed news; needless to say though, the show must go on. Ray Connelly and Ed Zisa fooled him however, by borrowing Father Begley's toboggan and bringing Ed Foley over to the game via the Santa Claus route.

The sled also furnished Hank Scussel with the same embarrassing moments when he lost the seat of his pants tearing down the hills at Davis Park. In appreciation for their co-operation in helping make his U. S. O. dance such a success Father Clark gave the entire crew a swell blowout. Jack Ferguson is currently answering to the name of "Tyrone." Dan Donovan really brought home the bacon Sunday night and spread joy all over the place. Bob Reilly has been getting fan mail from some local admirer with plenty of S. A., and I don't mean South America. Through the charity in his heart Les Condon has announced that he is going to take Jim Kerrighan as his roommate till death to them part. Jim's been reclassified and is 1-A in the Army, Amen.

Three brothers have entered the fold with the new class of freshmen, namely Dick Kirby, Joe Flynn, and Frank DiIulio. Two new waiters will report for duty soon at a leading spa in the person of Frank Trotta and Gene Nagle. Many of the fellows earned a nice sum of joy through the efforts of the John Donnelly unemployment agency by shovelling snow around the campus. The trolley car line owes a debt of gratitude to the gang for moving a frozen car from the tracks under the supervision of Dan DiIulio.

CAMELS HAVE WHAT IT TAKES! THEY'RE EASY ON MY THROAT—AND A TREAT TO MY TASTE!

FIRST IN THE SERVICE

With men in the Army, the Navy, the Marine Corps, and the Coast Guard, the favorite cigarette is Camel. (Based on actual sales records in Post Exchanges and Canteens.)

The "T-Zone" where cigarettes are judged

The "T-ZONE"—Taste and Throat—is the proving ground for cigarettes. Only your taste and throat can decide which cigarette tastes best to you... and how it affects your throat. For your taste and throat are absolutely individual to you. Based on the experience of millions of smokers, we believe Camels will suit your "T-ZONE" to a "T." Prove it for yourself!
