

Anne Tharner

Determinants of Attachment
in a Longitudinal
Population-Based Study

Does a postnatal depression influence the mother-child relationship? Can a father with depressive or anxiety symptoms build up a secure attachment with his child? Does breastfeeding have consequences for the bond between mother and child? These and more questions are examined in a Longitudinal Population-Based Study.

Anne Tharner

Parents & Infants: Determinants of Attachment in a Longitudinal Population-Based Study

ISBN: 978-90-8891-290-0