Refreshments and Dancing Will Wind up College Life

February graduates and their guests will be honored tomorrow night at a farewell party to be held in the gym at 8:15 p.m. Administration officers and faculty members will play host to the mid-semester seniors whose classes end for all-time at three o'clock on Friday. Mr. E. Gardner Jacobs, Vice President of the College, will welcome the February graduates on behalf of the Administration, and Deans Lionel Mercier and Nelson J. Galski will represent the Secretarial School and Business Administration School respectively.

College Losing Steady Worker, Top Leader—He's Don Millberry

By H. M. T., Jr.

There's a lot of so-called "wheels" in every college—in name only. But one of the February graduates who brings his studies to a close tomorrow has been a "wheel," not only in name but in concrete action over the past two years.

He's Don Millberry, who spent the past six months with the BA1 management majors.

Don was elected president of the powerful Greek Letter Council last September, and right up to that unit's last meeting a week ago, he has displayed exceptional leadership and diplomacy in coordinating the activities of the several fraternities and sororities.

Perhaps his biggest accomplishment during his stay at Bryant has been his work as a member of the Student Activities Committee during a turbulent period of student activity reorganization.

He twice was elected president of Beta Sigma Chi, and played hard, if not sensationally, at intramural softball and basketball. He's been managing editor of this newspaper since last June. Don was in the Navy during World War II.

Placement problems confronting the mid-term graduates will be discussed by Mrs. Lautrelle P. Love, and after-college public relations policies will be illustrated by Miss Gertrude Meth, chief of the news bureau here.

Administration officials pointed out yesterday that tomorrow night's reception will not take the place of traditional commencement exercises scheduled for next August. Each February graduate will be presented with an identification card attesting to the fact that he has earned his sheepskin. Formal presentation of the Degree, however, will be made at 90th Commencement ceremonies next summer.

Music for tomorrow night's farewell get-together will be by Tommy Masso and his orchestra. Refreshments will be served during the evening.

The graduates:

Marjorie Robbins, Deborah Black, Yvette Rogers, Hilda G. Best, Patricia A. Reynolds, Rosemary Romano, Chaya Rotenberg, Robert J. Carley.

Edward L. Baxter, Joseph L. Bordieri, Donald N. Colon, William J. Conley, Lawrence N. Davis, John Duff, Michael E. Egan, Gerald A. Fine, George W. Gange, Jr., Edwin J. Geffken, Anthony A. GRADUATE TOMORROW: Only nine members of the fairer sex will leave the campus tomorrow. Seven members of the Secretarial School are seated (l to r): Yvette Rogers, Hilda Best, Chaya Rotenberg. Standing (l to r): Rosemary Romano, Pat Reynolds, a member of the Key Society, Deborah Black, and Marjorie Robbins. Edith Dondis, only girl in the A&F graduating class, appears elsewhere in this issue. Pat Higgins, only gal in the BA division, was camera-shy when this picture was snapped—but she's graduating too!

February Seniors Boast 25 Children; Youngest Grad is 20

By Joe Gange

If any of the campus queens have been wondering why some of the senior class wonder-boys have never given them a break, then they can stop their worrying. The records reveal that 44% of the senior class is "happily" married.

So far, the married seniors (with some cooperation from their wives) have built up a small army of 25 children.

Looking into the records a little further, we find that one of the seniors will be only 20 years old this coming February 21st. As for the old man of the class, the oldest senior is 39 years old.

Over 54% of the class come from Rhode Island, and 23% from Massachusetts. The remainder of the class come from Connecticut, New York, Maine, and Indiana.

As a whole the class looks like it is the last major faction of World War II veterans to attend Bryant. At last most of the "old men" will soon be disappearing from the campus.

Ed Geffken Wins First Genie Fund Scholarship Money

The first recipient of the Genie Fund Scholarship Award is Ed Geffken, a member of the merchandising division. He was presented the award on Friday at a special assembly touching off this year's Genie Fund campaign.

Bob Gaudette, class of 1952, who originated the Genie Fund idea, made the presentation following a short talk explaining the concept of the Fund to underclassmen.

Ed came to Bryant from Hollis, N. Y., in 1949, but was immediately recalled to active duty with the Marine Corps for service in Korea. When he returned, he served as vice president of Beta Iota Beta and manager of the Bryant track team. This semester he has served on the board of directors of the BA society, and participated in intramural sports.

Last Saturday, Ed was married to Patricia Elaine Jones of New York City. He plans to use his Genie Fund money to attend the New York University School of Retailing in September.

Indians Lose Star Performer, George Sonntag Sparked Varsity

By Jack Moriarty

One of Pawtucket's favorite sons has made his mark at Bryant. He's George Sonntag, quiet and unassuming, and a member of the February graduating class.

George unquestionably sparked the varsity Indians during the 1952-1953 basketball season. He has not only played in every game—at home and away—but he probably is high scorer for the season. As for next year's prospects, George says, "With Lennon, Flannagan, and Kanelakos back, Bryant will be top team on the conference."

But George's fame goes beyond actual competition on the courts. He played a major role in bringing varsity basketball back to the Bryant Campus; and if he had the time, he'd probably light a fire under the rest of the students who have not supported the team.

PAGE THREE

As a member and out-going president of Alpha Theta Chi, George Sonntag has distinguished himself in both intramural softball and basketball.

George is a graduate of Pawtucket East High School where he was active in the school's undergraduate sports program.

When asked what his plans were after tomorrow's final day, George smiled. You see, he's probably ready for a uniform—but not a basketball get-up.

Final GL Election Results Announced

The wind-up of Greek Letter Organizations election took place last week. The results:

This week Sigma Iota Beta elected Pat Mons, president; Betty English, vice-president; Nat Schott, secretary; Carol Putka, treasurer.

At a meeting Thursday night, Alpha Theta Chi elected Bob Betts, president; Al Gatta, vice-president; Vin Bottoni, treasurer; Bob Buller, secretary; and Len Malin, sergeant-at-arms.

Paul Hanaway was re-elected president of Beta Iota Beta. Assisting him are Ray Savage, vice-president; Wyman Ward, secretary; Art Kukla, treasurer; Frank Kelly, sergeant-at-arms; Don La Pine, historian; and Bernie McDonald, alumni secretary.

Alpha Phi Kappa elected Venita Capuano, president; Stella Giammasi, vice-president; Mary Carpenter, recording secretary; Joan Panofio, corresponding secretary; and Joan Coleman, treasurer.

Sigma Iota Chi and Sigma Lambda Theta do not elect officers this semester. Their officers will be the same persons who served this year.

Barbara McCauley was re-elected president at a meeting of Beta Sigma Gamma. Arlene Bass will serve for her second term as vice-president. Other officers elected were Zelma Salis, Secretary; Rhoda E. Galkin, treasurer; and Edith Adler, historian.

Final Dance Sat. Night

KDK's "Hearts and Flowers" Dance will be held in the gym Saturday night at 8:00 p.m. Music will be by Vin Bottoni and his orchestra. This is the final dance of the semester.

"THIRTY": H. M. Taylor, Jr., editor of The Archway, since June, 1952, writes "thirty" with this February Graduation Issue. Taylor plans to enter industry in the near future.

'Au Revoir'

Do you remember when you were in grammar school and the end of the term drew near? The taunting rhyme you chanted expressed the unanimous sentiment of grade school pupils everywhere concerning school:

"No more homework, no more books,
No more teachers' sassy looks!"

And do you remember when you were a senior in high school, and the great day finally arrived when you realized you were through with homework and books forever—unless you decided to go on to college? There was no taunting rhyme on your lips that commencement day; there was only the alma mater—its words full of a new meaning you had never before perceived—sticking in your throat.

Do you who made that choice to take up your books again in college recall when that desire for release from the strain and mental cramps of study became so strong you had to fight to keep your sanity? And then before you hardly had time to voice your complaints about the hard lot of a student, your second graduation day was upon you.

Well, seniors, if you do remember, then just compare the last days of those earlier chapters in your chronicle of education with these last days. I think you'll find that your former eagerness to finish your search for knowledge has become a strong reluctance to vacate that little cell you have laboriously carved for yourself in the vast honeycomb of knowledge, and an even stronger reluctance to venture forth into a strange new environment of unfamiliar criteria and standards.

You'll begin to realize that college wasn't so bad after all; perhaps you'll admit that you're going to miss it. The one thing that you may not realize, however, is that college is going to miss you too! We'll all miss you—your faculty, administration, underclassmen, friends! As the talented English poet once said so adequately, "Parting is such sweet sorrow." But we'll just smile, and wish you success and happiness, graduates, in whatever you do, wherever you go. To each and every one of you, from each and every one of us, "Au revoir". —GRETCHEN KELLY

Exam Time

Writing an editorial isn't the easiest thing in the world. It seems the difficulty lies not only in what to say, but what to say something about. The point is how does one please a public that is both serious-minded and absent-minded? If the article is written with the thought of the thinker in mind, those who are more interested in obtaining the latest scoop are apt to say, "What's that, an obituary?" But if the tactics are reversed and an attempt is made to see the lighter side of a situation, the comment is often made, "That was a waste of good paper."

What is this leading up to, you say? How could you fail to guess with the big week only a few days away. That's it—those few days set aside especially for those of us who prefer to show off our mentality, or lack of it, in a three-hour exam for the teachers who failed to believe that the past five months of homework assignments were actually our own.

So these anxious hours are just about upon us, and a glance into any boys' or girls' dorm, apartment, or scholar's den will reveal a vast majority of campus co-eds and heroes sweating out the remaining pre-comp days. The anticipation is worse than the event is true more often than not, and this cynic is willing to bet more than one unfortunate has his fingers crossed hoping the old adage is correct again. Silly dreamers!

Now as long as this piece is turning proverbial, let me add the quotation "Behind every cloud lies a silver lining." Relax, fellow students. Remember the New Year's resolution not to let a trifle like an education interfere with the social activities. When the next few days are filled with cramming, think of the past five months and say, "It was worth it!"

—JINI BATEHOLTS

Thanks a Lot

It's tradition to say farewell to members of graduating classes. Formal goodbyes have been adequately handled by other writers elsewhere in this newspaper, so this will be short and to the point.

We want to say farewell; but most of all, we want to say thanks. Thanks to faculty members and administration personnel who have given complete cooperation to this phase of student activity. Thanks to the two "H's" in the records office and the gals in the ad building. Thanks to the maintenance staff.

Thanks personally, and from the school, to the members of the ARCHWAY staff, who have given so generously of their time—and on occasions their money—during the past several months. We won't mention their names because in their own hearts they know who they are—and so does everybody else connected with Bryant College!

—H. M. T., Jr.

Genie

"Things like the Genie Fund take a while to build up," he continued, "but now that positive results of the Genie Fund's benefits are part of the record, the Fund should expand every year."

The BAI division lead every campus group, with more than 60% of the membership contributing.

Other committee workers this year were Joe Gange, Fred Kenney, George Perrin, promotion; Pat Higgins, collections; and Don Millberry, perpetuation; Larry Davis, rules;

Bud Taylor, publicity. Terry Fico, Mimi Marianetti, and Diana Gallant comprised the Genie Fund clerical staff.

The Geffkens Say "Thanks"

Dear Friends: Mr. and Mrs. Ed Geffkens send their thanks to the brothers and sisters of BIB and SIB for the wonderful wedding reception they held for us at the Dreyfus Hotel, Saturday, January 31, and for the wonderful gifts we received from them. Your friends, Pat and Ed.

Co-Ed of the Week

Edith Dondis, Only A&F Girl, Has Way with Figures

Edith Dondis

Edith D. Dondis is the only girl in the Accounting and Finance Division of the February graduating class—but what a girl! Her long list of accomplishments is an enviable one, and adequate for two or three girls her size!

Born in Rockland, Maine, Edith followed in the footsteps of her four brothers, two of whom were in the Army, one in the Navy, and one in the Marines. Her first job was in the United States Navy as radio communicator. She earned a rating of Yeoman 2/c.

During her two years in the Navy from 1942 to 1944, she was first stationed at Oklahoma A&M, Stillwater, Oklahoma, and later in New York, where she was a stenographer in the office of the Supervisor of Education, third naval district. A special assignment in the Legal Department of the British Receiving Station took her to Camden, New Jersey.

Following her naval career, Edith attended the Chamberlain School of Retailing in Boston for one year, and then enrolled at Bryant. Here she became a member of the Key Society and Accounting and Finance Society.

For relaxation Edith enjoys playing the piano.

Her plans for the future point to Portland, Maine, where an important executive position has been offered her.

Fred Lannon and Bud Hency were discussing their automobile troubles in the cafeteria the other day. The conversation went something like this:

Bud: What model is your car, Fred?
Fred: It isn't a model—it's a horrible example.

Just Desserts . . .

A soldier stationed in Japan was noted for his loyalty to his girl back in the States. Then one day he received a "Dear John" letter telling him that she was going to marry a 4-F, and would he please return her.

He was so downcast by this treachery that his buddies rallied to avenge their pal. A collection of photos, snap-shots and pin-up girls was made from every fellow on the base. They were then packed into a huge crate and shipped to the fickle wench.

Upon opening the crate, she found a note reading: "Please pick out your picture and return the rest to me. This is a little embarrassing, but I don't remember which one is yours."

Outgoing Senate President Headed Biggest Blood Drive

By D. J. M.

Pete Wainer, head man of all student activities here this past semester, has been a leading figure in various organizations during his two years with us.

After spending two years in Germany with the U. S. Army, Pete enrolled at Bryant in the refresher course. During his first semester he pledged to Phi Sigma Nu. In his third semester Pete was president of the 3 B. A.-I class, and was a member of the Business Administration Board of Directors.

In his fourth semester Pete was elected president of his fraternity; as a member of the Student Senate he was in charge of the Freshman Activities Program. Pete was also chairman of the Blood Drive sponsored by the Student Senate which proved to be the most successful event of its kind ever held at Bryant College.

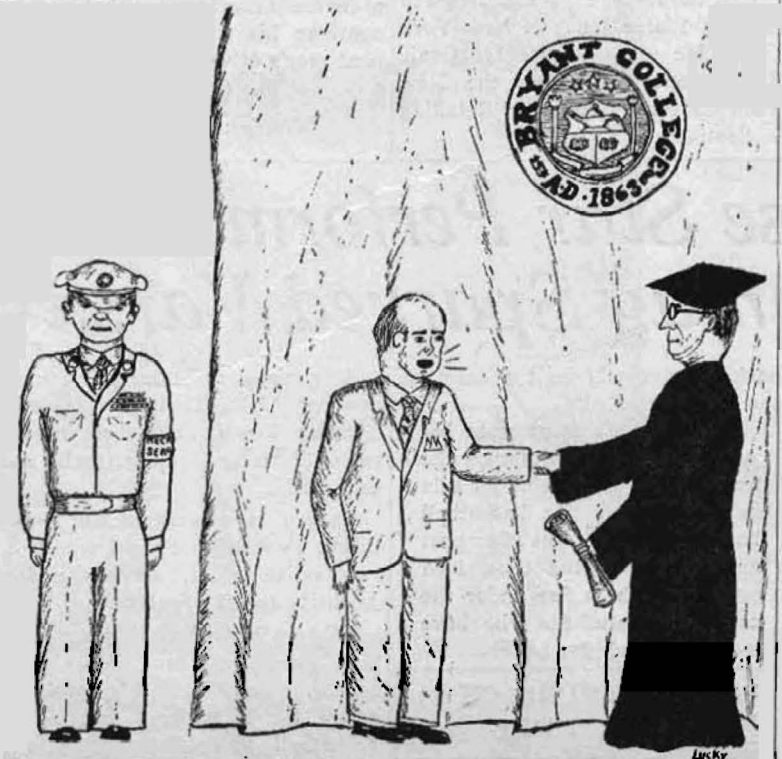

Last semester, Pete was unanimously elected president of the Student Senate in view of his successful background with student activities. He has also served as assistant Student Athletic Director this semester.

Pete is planning to return to his home town, Waterville, Maine, after graduation to begin his business career.

Senior Senators Get Achievement Awards At Annual Banquet

The annual Student Senate banquet was held Monday night at Lindsey's Tavern.

Some 70 senators and guests enjoyed a steak dinner while organ music played old favorites.

Seated at the head table were Mr. and Mrs. E. Gardiner Jacobs, Mr. William E. Connor, Mr. and Mrs. George Richards, Miss Patricia Higgins, Pete Wainer, new Senate president Fred Kenney, Mr. and Mrs. Laurrelle P. Love, and Dean and Mrs. Lionel Mercier.

Each graduating senator was presented with the Achievement statue.

Guest speaker of the evening was Professor Richards, who discussed the problems faced by people who worry.

Sonntag Scores 31 Points; Team Loses

The "Indians" dropped another squeaker Tuesday night by one point—this time to Suffolk University. The contest aroused considerable controversy, however. Ray Gladu was set for a shot, but was called off-side. Spectators and players alike voiced their disapproval.

Although the "Indians" went down to the tune of 81 to 80, George Sonntag chalked up another record by scoring 31 points, individual high for the season in a single game.

Intelligence: A sterling quality possessed by anybody who will listen attentively to what you have to say, and nod in agreement.

Potential TT In the Murphy House

Don't ever ask Tom Murphy what he got for Christmas because he's apt to tell you that . . . on the cold winter's night of December 22, 1952, at 7:58 p.m., a little baby boy named David was born to two very proud parents.

And on the bright, crisp morning of January 5, that "beaming pride" on the face of Tom demanded the exclamation, "No, not another one." That was Tom's cue for one of those ever popular "stork" cigars.

That was quite a Christmas present! Congratulations, Tom, from every Teacher-Trainee at Bryant.

SUCCESS: Largely through the efforts of Ben Nulman, the 1953 Genie Fund Campaign went over the top. He's out-going president of Sigma Lambda Pi, and has been active in the Greek Letter Council and the Hillel Councilship.

Along the Sidelines

Tight Competition in Both Bowling, Basketball Loops

By Joe Dolan and Bob George

Down Pine Street way, the bowling pins have been flying in many directions, but mainly in the direction of Phi Sigma Nu—winners of the first half competition in the Intramural Bowling League. As it was last year, Phi Sig's competition came mostly from Tau Epsilon, who refused defeat until the very end.

The second-half already is under way, and will continue into next semester, and it looks as though it will be another fight to the finish. In last week's rolling, the Tau Ep five took three points and left Phi Sig with the remaining one. Chi Gamma Iota took all four points from Beta Iota Beta to get top spot in the second half standing.

Answer: Let's just wait and see!

This week will see the closing of the 1952-53 Intramural Basketball League. This season has witnessed some of the toughest and closest competition in basketball history here.

Day League: Last Thursday's defeat of Phi Sigma Nu by Chi Gamma Iota forced the second-half of the Day League into a three-way tie between Phi Sig, Chi Gam and BIB. As a result of this tie-up, Chi Gam and BIB went into a playoff game on Friday afternoon with Chi Gam edging out a four-point victory. The win left only two squads remaining to battle for first place honors in the second-half. This game was played just this Monday, so if you have been following the basketball schedule, you will know who the winner was.

Night League: Under the shining lights of the Bryant gym, the second half of Night League basketball finally came to a close with Kappa Tau taking top honors, followed closely by Tau Epsilon and Beta Sigma Chi. Having conquered the second portion of this strenuous hardwood struggle, Kappa Tau is now eligible to play Beta Sigma Chi, first half-winner, for the Night League championship.

Thus, at week's beginning, there were four teams optimistically yearning for victory, fraternity prestige, and trophies. But only one will see its dreams come true.

Question: Who will it be? Phi Sigma Nu, Chi Gamma Iota, Beta Sigma Chi, or Kappa Tau?

Answer: Again, we say, let's wait and see.

In concluding, we should like to congratulate the "refs" for their fine job of keeping fair play on the courts; Hunk Wert, for his fine job as Athletic Director; and all ten teams who made this 1952-53 basketball season as successful as it was. The sportmanship, teamwork, and fraternity spirit that was displayed throughout the season was typical of what basketball should be; clean, hard fought, and enjoyable. And it is this spirit and sportmanship, along with our books, pencils, and knowledge, that will guide us to success as we progress into the business world of our post graduate years.

'Hunky' Wert's Humor, Sports Ability Go Friday

By Jack Moriarty

Today I want to skip the usual reporting of sports events, and devote this space to something which I feel is more important. During the past few weeks, we've seen a lot of folks being congratulated for their many accomplishments in campus organizations.

In college, as in every other stage of this life, there are some people who go about quietly, accomplishing a great deal for everyone, but receiving little credit for their work. For those who blow their own horn, nothing need be said. I want now to give credit to a man who produces but says nothing; a man who has done a great deal to further the sports program at Bryant.

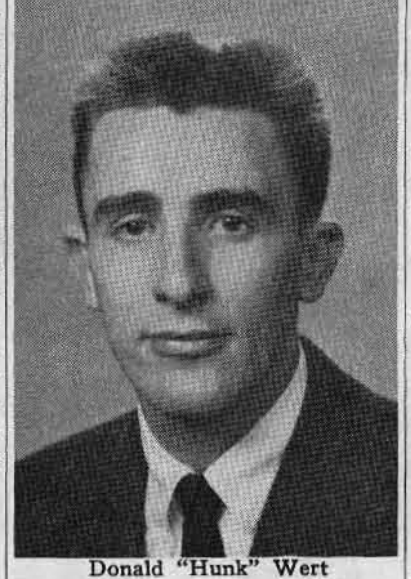

For those few who do not already know, let me tell you about Donald "Hunk" Wert. "Hunk" hails from Amsterdam, New York, where he was active in high school athletics. Upon graduation, he joined the Marine Corps. He spent three years in the Corps, and after being discharged, he enrolled at Bryant.

When the Korean war broke out, Sergeant Wert was recalled to active duty and shipped to Korea where he spent two years with a platoon of Marines in many encounters with Korean communists.

Since his return to Bryant, "Hunk" has been a friend to all who know him, has been an important figure on the basketball court, sparking the "Indians" in every game. When he wasn't on the court playing, he was screaming instructions from the bench. "Hunk's" teammates on the "Indians" respect him as a sort of assistant coach. His continual shouts of, "Are you listening?" "...?" or "Move it..." kept them on the ball.

Since September, "Hunk" has served as the Student Athletic Director, with complete responsibility for all intramural sports. He deserves much credit for the fine job he did in planning and scheduling the games.

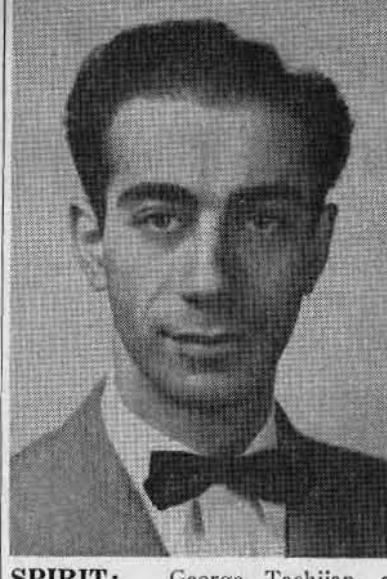

"Hunk's" noontime antics in the cafeteria brought a laugh to everyone. Whenever we heard the cry

Donald "Hunk" Wert of "I'm shook up" or "Here, Sergeant," we knew that "Hunk" had arrived. His good humor and fine sportmanship will be remembered for a long time. Good luck, "Hunk"; we'll miss you around here.

KEY MEN: The A & F students placed the most members on the Key Society this year. Six copped the scholastic prize. Front row (l to r): Ralph Corey, Win Maker. Rear row: Bud Taylor, BA Division, Nat Gordon, Adolph Goodloff, and Frank Miller. Edith Dondis and Pat Reynolds also were awarded the Key this year.

SPIRIT: George Tashjian, a member of the graduating class, will long be remembered for his origination of the Varsity Club. This new campus organization was responsible for the formation of Bryant's Cheerleader Corps. He was vice-president of Chi Gamma Iota for two semesters, and is the out-going treasurer. He served in the Navy during World War II.

Last Game Tomorrow With New Bedford

The last basketball game of the semester is scheduled for tomorrow night with New Bedford Textile Institute in the New Bedford YMCA. This is the last chance for everyone to watch the stars who will graduate. About six games remain to be played next semester.

SIB Squeaks by Theta, 23-21, Winning Girls' League Title

By Elaine Bragdon

There was great excitement in the gym last Wednesday. Why? Because the two girls' teams in first place were meeting to match their abilities for first place honors in the intramural league.

Sigma Iota Beta copped the ticket by beating Sigma Lambda Theta in a squeaker 23-21.

Seniors vs. Sophs Feature Varsity Club Card Tonight

The senior class will oppose members of the second semester tonight at 7:45 p.m. in the gym in what promises to be the most exciting hoop contest of the year. The game will be the feature attraction of a special Varsity Club Award rally scheduled to get underway at 7:00 p.m. Dr. Powers and Mr. Meek of typewriter fame will act as referees. The contest will follow presentation of Varsity Club achievement awards which will be given to five members of the Bryant family of sports enthusiasts. Recipients of these school-spirit awards are Doctor Powers, Ben Nulman, Dolores McNeil, Ernie Johnson, and Joe Dolan. George Tashjian, president of the Varsity Club, will make the presentations.

Doc Powers will be honored as the faculty member who has displayed the most school spirit during the 1952-1953 basketball season. He has attended every game. Ben Nulman will get his certificate for his work with the current Genie Fund campaign.

Both Ernie Johnson and Joe Dolan will receive their awards as the best all-round players in the Day League and Night League respectively. They were selected by the League's referees.

Dolores McNeil, better known as "Dedi," was one of the outstanding players in the Girls' League—until she was injured several weeks ago.

The awards presentation tonight marks the beginning of the Varsity Club's recognition of students who display exceptional school spirit. "We plan to make five awards every semester," George Tashjian stated.

Don Millberry, president of the Greek Letter Council; Pete Wainer, president of the Student Senate; and Ben Nulman, chairman of the Genie Fund, will speak. Music will be furnished by Vin Bottoni, who has sparked the basketball games and student assemblies during the past several months.

Chi Gamma Fetes Past Presidents

Four past-presidents were honored at Chi Gamma's Installation Banquet last week. They were out-going president Lloyd Bowker; and past leaders Ed Robinson, Larry Davis, and Hank Silvia.

Silvia was recalled to active duty last year with the Navy Air Corps. His flight group is currently stationed at Quonset Point.

Tribute to a Smiling Irishman

The "Greatest Guy on Campus." That's what all the men dorm students say about Donald Paul Walsh, the Irish steward of the 303 Angell Dining Hall. Paul, one of four boys, was born 30 years ago at the Stephen Hopkins Homestead, now the site of the Providence Court House. Today he resides in his new Lakewood home with his wife and two children.

Besides working in the dining hall, Paul is Traffic Representative for the New England Transportation Company, and works Saturday nights at the Farm. But, even with this heavy work schedule Paul finds time to be a very active adviser to Kappa Tau, and has just completed building his children a new playroom.

Paul's advice is often sought by the boys, everything from "Should I get married while I am still in College?" to "Where can I find the 'high spots' in Providence?" The "Boys at 87" appreciated Paul's friendship so much that they pooled their money to give him a Christmas billfold.

Don makes his home in Marblehead, Mass. However, while at Bryant he has been living near the college with his wife, Joan. And it looks like he'll celebrate his Degree next summer by becoming a real live father.

Elections
Sigma Lambda Pi's officers for the coming semester are: Robert Roif, president; Marvin Cohen, vice president; Lloyd Kaplan, secretary; Louis Salk, treasurer; Leon Resnick, alumni secretary; Charles Leavitt, pledge-master; and Al Blank, marshal.

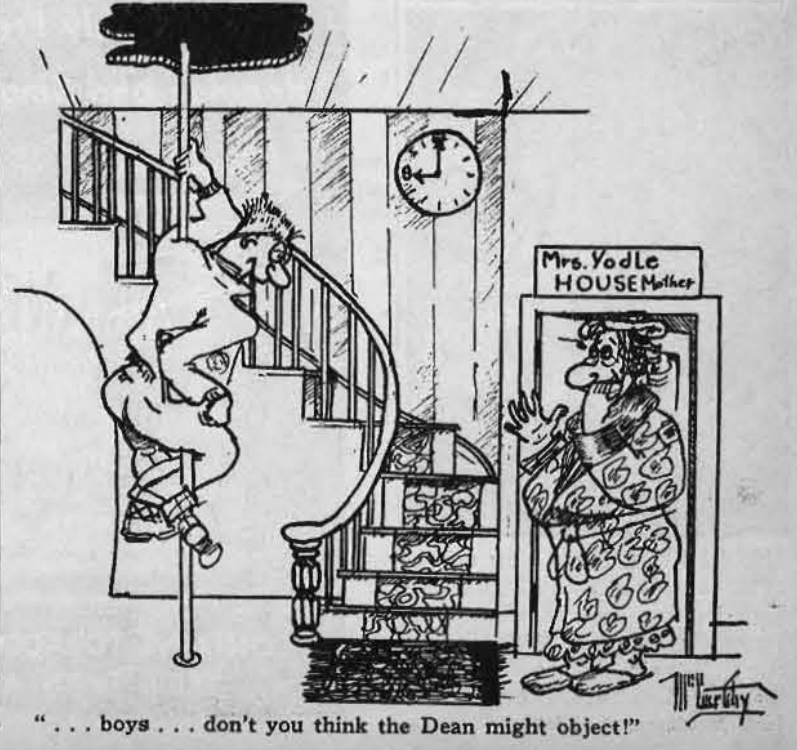

Both teams were outstanding. Carol Healy, Fuzzy Eaton, and Nat Schott starred for SIB. Peggy Marnett, Helen Hollar, and Beverly Jakob turned in commendable performances for Theta.

Kappa Delta Kappa were the victors in the second game of the afternoon. They beat Sigma Iota Chi. This was another close game, ending with a two point margin in favor of KDK.

The standings:

	GP	W	L
Sigma Iota Beta.....	4	4	0
Sigma Lambda Theta. 4	3	1	3
Kappa Delta Kappa... 4	1	3	1
Sigma Iota Chi..... 4	1	3	1
Phi Upsilon..... 2	1	1	1
Alpha Phi Kappa..... 2	0	2	2

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Tom Dunklee

First, I would like to pay a small tribute to Miss Sylvia Porter for her very inspiring "off-the-cuff" talk last week. Her speech was very interesting. But more than that, one knew the facts presented were real and from a person who is a great authority on economic conditions.

I wonder how many of you were captured by her pleasing manner, as I was. I also wonder how many girls she inspired by her great achievements, and how many of you will try to achieve the goals she has obtained. The future will tell—and maybe future Bryant students will be just as proud of your achievements as we are of Miss Porter's.

Speaking of the future reminds me that this week will be the last time many of the old familiar faces will be seen around campus. They will go, eventually to be forgotten by most of us, into a changing world to meet and master their futures.

What is this future? I don't think anyone can tell. It may be fame or death in some foxhole. Whatever it is, one thing is sure: it will rush at them and challenge them. The most we can do is to wish today's seniors the best of luck, and to remember that the same future will face us in a short time.

This whole thing may not be as dark as it looks, but it is better to prepare for the worst and gain the better. If it is a question of ability, I am sure that these graduates will not have any trouble. But they must never forget—what they do tomorrow and the next day will eventually influence someone else's future.

So go forth, graduates, and conquer the future; add to it, but never be satisfied with anything but the best. You deserve it—for you have been swell and we shall always remember you!

Professor Vinal Honored by Phi Sigma Nu Brothers

As Professor Eugene Vinal prepared to conduct an Economic Analysis class last Wednesday, he was stopped cold by a dozen brothers of Phi Sigma Nu. Before "Pop," as he is known to his fellow brothers, had spoken three words, the Phi Sigma men stood up and assembled around their beloved adviser.

"Pop" was visibly confused by this demonstration, until Danny Weiss, fraternity treasurer, stepped forward and expressed Phi Sig's appreciation of his services as an adviser. Then, the boys presented him with a gold key chain.

Mr. Vinal said that he was quite pleased with the gift and that he needed a key chain.

Contrary to expectations of the class, Mr. Vinal pulled himself together and continued his lecture until the bell rang.

Candlelight Installation

Miss Margaret E. Gamble, senior adviser to Phi Upsilon, was hostess at a candlelight installation ceremony held at her home at 78 Waterman Street, on Sunday.

Pat Higgins installed Joyce Andrews as the new Phi U. president.

Jack Moriarty Elected New BA President

Jack Moriarty has been elected president of the new Business Administration and Accounting Society for the coming semester. At the elections held by the Board of Directors on January 28, Leo Turo was elected vice president; Pat Welch, treasurer; Bev Bishop, secretary; and Reese Pritchard, historian.

The newly formed society, which is a merger of the Business Administration and Accounting and Finance Societies, hopes under its new policy to bring speakers of interest to both business administration and accounting students.

Last night the Society held its annual banquet at Johnson's Hummocks Grill. Past speakers were guests at the affair. Dance music was by Vin Bottoni and his orchestra.

MERGER: Nat Gordon (left) and Larry Davis were fighting to and nail a few weeks ago, but they finally got together. The result, merger of the BA and A & F Societies. They are shown here formulating plans for next semester's speaker-meetings.

RUTH W. PRENTICE, Manager

ADMINISTRATOR: Known campus-wide as a man who gets things done—among other things—is Joe Gange, a member of the February graduation class. He was recalled to active duty in 1949, but since his return master minded the mock presidential election last November. This event drew more student participation than any other activity in the history of the College.
