Roger Martindale and Sir Senerat Gunewardene

A Message From the President

My warmest greetings to you, February Freshmen. It is with happiness, with pride, with hope that I welcome you to the Bryant campus. Happiness that so many of you chose this old New England College for your alma mater. Pride for the long and distinguished history of our institution and the thousands of graduates, who have gone forth and worthily filled their places in the business world. And hope that you will follow in their footsteps and carve out a satisfactory career for yourself in this great profession.

Right here at the threshold of your college career is a good time to make resolutions that will affect your entire life. Education is a two-way street. You have brought to this college, a certain set of abilities and ambitions. The faculty aims to increase these abilities, add to your skills, and widen your knowledge so that you may realize these ambitions. The faculty is eager to give direction to your life, to inspire you to see and understand the opportunities that lie ahead of you. Give them your best. Your readiness to accept their teachings will determine your future success.

There is a time-saving element in your courses here at Bryant. This must be met by your doing each day's work on time and in full, and by attending classes punctually and faithfully. Manage your time with economy and you will later become a valuable asset to the employer, who knows that time is the most important in the operation of a successful business.

Give to your work "a little more than seems necessary." This added concentration spells the difference between mediocrity and superiority. Our greatest executives mastered this secret early in their lives. From the very start learn to concentrate your waking hours on getting your studies done and making the most of yourself. The investment of a "few extra hours" on your studies will bring you a profit of better grades... and a better job. Today's business makes it imperative to do "a little more than seems necessary" if you want to step ahead of your competitors.

While study and increased knowledge are your first considerations, I do want you to spend a portion of your time on rest and recreation. Bryant offers you many social, cultural and professional advantages. I hope that each day brings you a measure of fun and that your hours of work and study are lightened by the pleasant companionship of your fellow students.

"For yesterday is but a Dream and tomorrow 'is only a Vision, but Today well-lived makes every Yesterday a Dream of Happiness and every Tomorrow a Vision of Hope. Look well, therefore, to this Day."

Brotherhood Week Dance to Aid Knowpow Award Of $100

The Interfaith Council of Bryant College is presently making arrangements for its annual Brotherhood Week Dance, which is to be held Saturday, March 24, in the college auditorium.

The council is sponsoring this dance to raise funds for the Roslyn Knowpow Award of $100, which is presented annually at the Class Day exercises. The Interfaith Council set up this award in 1954 in memory of Roslyn Knowpow, who was an outstanding student at Bryant College.

The Interfaith Council presents the award annually to the student who has shown outstanding leadership and interest in one of the religious organizations on the campus. The award is not based on scholarship.

Interfaith sponsors this event only to raise funds for this award. Make plans now to attend the dance. Watch the next issue of the paper for further details.

Ambassador from Ceylon Interviewed on Television By IRC President

On February 18, 1956, Sir Senerat Gunewardene, Ceylon Ambassador to the United States, was interviewed over WJAR-TV by Roger Martindale, IRC President.

During the program, Sir Senerat answered questions that were directed to him by Mr. Martindale and Betty Adams, on whose program the interview took place.

The Ambassador was asked by Mr. Martindale why Ceylon shipped rubber and other strategic materials to China. The Ambassador said that the only market at that time was China, and it was a case of trading with the Chinese or starving. He also said that the U. S. has reduced its needs for rubber over the past five years.

Mr. Martindale and Sir Senerat became so engrossed in their discussion that they remained on the set talking with Betty Adams for at least a half hour after the telecast. Both Sir Senerat and Martindale have had experience in the field of foreign affairs.

Sir Senerat Gunewardene, prior to his appointment to the foreign service, was prominent in the political life of Ceylon. He was elected as a founder-member of the Ceylon National Congress which led the reform movement in Ceylon. During this period he served on various political committees and was elected Minister in the Cabinet of the first Parliament of independent Ceylon.

Mr. Martindale has been active in the field of foreign affairs in both high school and here at Bryant. He has been a delegate from his high school to the mock United Nations Assembly held at Hillyer College in Hartford. In preparation for this assembly, he went to the UN Headquarters in New York. There, he observed the Security Council at work and talked with some of the delegates. On the same trip, he visited and talked with staff personnel of the Norwegian and Brazilian embassies. He also attended the UNESCO conference held at New Britain Teachers College, and a model Congress held at American International College to discuss the pro's and con's of Senator McCarthy's investigations of Communism in the government.

Bryant is very happy to have had Sir Senerat Gunewardene as its guest and to have been able to have him interviewed by Mr. Martindale.

New Faculty Member

Dr. Henry L. Jacobs, President, announces the appointment of David M. Brooks, Jr., as instructor of English at Bryant College. Mr. Brooks, a native of Lonsdale, Rhode Island, comes to Bryant from Maine where he taught Dramatics and English at Westbrook School. He attended Rhode Island College of Education and was graduated from Emerson College in Boston.

Providence Chamber of Commerce Sponsors Scholarship...

The "Traffic Club" of the greater Providence Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a scholarship, in the evening division, for a qualified student majoring in Transportation and Traffic Management. Interested students may inquire of Professor Joseph R. Santos, Director of the Evening Division.

Zen Buddhism is Subject of March 12 Talk

The Bryant College Interfaith Council invites all students to attend an informal talk by Professor Shotaro Iida of Tohoku, Japan, on Monday, March 12, 8 p.m. in the Henry L. Jacobs Memorial Library.

Professor Iida will be accompanied by Mrs. Iida and will talk informally about the life in Japan with special reference to the teachings of ceremonies of Zen Buddhism. The talk will be illustrated with color slides, and there will be an opportunity for questions. Refreshments will be served.

Also, on the afternoon of March 12, there will be a tea served in Salisbury Hall from 3:00 to 4:30 p.m. The Iidas will show color slides and will demonstrate the actual Japanese Tea Ceremony. This affair is presented by the Greek Letter Council and invitations are restricted to women students only.

Selective Service Test To Be Held at Bryant

College students interested in taking the Selective Service College Qualification Test have until midnight, Monday, March 5, 1956, to submit application. Bryant College is one of the test centers in this area.

The purpose of the testing program is to provide evidence for local Selective Service boards so they may consider student deferments for military registrants.

To be eligible to apply for the test, scheduled to be given April 19 to college students in 875 test centers throughout the United States, Alaska, the Canal Zone, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico, a student must intend to request deferment as a student, be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction, and must not have previously taken the test.

The test was developed by Science Research Associates of Chicago, one of the nation's leading publishers of educational testing, reading-improvement, and guidance materials.

Students interested in taking the test to qualify for possible draft deferment in order to continue their college education are urged to have their completed application postmarked no later than midnight, March 5. Applications dated after March 5 will not be accepted.

Applications may be obtained in Dean Wilbur's office.

Bryant Sophomore Is New Campus Chesterfield Representative

The Campus Merchandising Bureau for Chesterfield and L&M Cigarettes has appointed Donald Gold as its Bryant College representative. Don, who is 25 years old, served four years in the Navy after graduating from the A. B. Davis High School in his home town, Mt. Vernon, New York. His present address while attending Bryant is 189 Ivy Street in this city.

Don matriculated at Bryant in February 1955, attended the "prep" course, and now plans to major in Management. His duties in connection with the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company include giving out samples of Chesterfield cigarettes here on the Bryant Campus, checking the various cigarette vending machines, and writing periodic reports to the Campus Merchandising Bureau.

Wichita Enlarges Teacher Training Program

Wichita, Kans.—(I.P.)—A new program, sponsored by the College of Education of the University of Wichita and the city of Wichita, will enable Liberal Arts graduates of fully accredited colleges and universities to teach in the public schools of Wichita while completing requirements for Kansas state teacher certification. Paul Hawkins, associate professor of education, was chairman of the committee which formulated the new plan.

A bulletin, issued by the College of Education, points out that "the program seeks especially to prepare for careers in teaching women who have reared families, and now have minimum family obligations, and have a desire for useful careers. It is by no means a frantic and last minute attempt to fill vacancies in the class room."

Persons wishing to take advantage of the program will begin their studies in February and begin full time teaching in the Wichita public schools in the fall of 1956. The general requirements are that a person hold a degree from a four year accredited college, meet physical and personal requirements of the board of education, and be under 45 years of age. Classes at the University will be kept to the minimum necessary for certification by the state.

10,000 Seek Admission

University Park, Pa.—(I.P.)—The Pennsylvania State University will be able to admit only about one-third of the approximately 10,000 high school graduates who will seek admission to its freshman classes next fall, Dean of Admissions C.O. Williams stated here recently. Of the more than 3,000 who will be admitted, Dean Williams pointed out that only about 2500 will be enrolled on campus because of limited dormitory facilities.

While several additional women's dormitories are in the planning stage, they are not expected to be ready by 1956, thereby necessitating a ceiling of 500 on new women enrollees. A requirement that first-year men students live on campus also will hold that figure to approximately 2000. Men's dormitories, like women's quarters, are projected into the future.

University policy provides that high school graduates in the top two-fifths of their classes be admitted without examination, but that all others submit to an entrance examination. Dean Williams said that entrance requirements are gradually being tightened to insure that those students who gain admission are fully accredited and qualified for college work and that full use is made of the University's limited facilities.

Bryant Welcomes New Freshmen

The students of Bryant College greet the Freshman Class with a hearty welcome.

You who form our Freshman Class are experiencing something that is probably new and accompanied by nervous uncertainties and fresh outlooks.

You will find it a bit hard at first (we know!) to picture yourself as a part of what no doubt seems a world apart, a mass of unfamiliar faces, and a pattern of life so different (yet so intriguing) that you will find yourself wondering just how you are ever to fit in.

Your upper classmen, who now may look down from the heights of age and experience (???) will advise you particularly in one thing. That very important lesson (which you must learn at once) is that you should immediately take stock of what is offered to you here at Bryant College—how much is open to you as freshmen both scholastically and socially. You should take an immediate and careful look at all of the many and varied opportunities for student activity that Bryant offers, for only in this way may you realize the extent of your own roles at this college.

We students of Bryant College are justly proud of our school; proud of its time-honored traditions and timeless student life. We feel sure that you all will find an important place in Bryant College life, and we hope that you will also discover success and achievement. So much is offered to you here that you may find yourselves in a sort of daze, wondering just what goes on here at Bryant and how that could affect you. You should familiarize yourself with every aspect of campus life so that you may grasp every opportunity as it is offered. To do so you must have a chance to acquaint yourselves with the student life of this institution. It is to this purpose alone that the ARCHWAY has dedicated this issue.

Dedicated to you, the Freshman Class, this issue of the ARCHWAY, your college paper, invites you to meet Bryant, your College, in a step-by-step tour of campus life and student activities.

Why Not a Varsity Sports Program?

A thriving, ambitious intramural sports program, a full complement of all of the other cherished and traditional college activities, but why not a regular varsity sports program?

A student body of the energy and size of Bryant's could quite conceivably come up with some eminently successful varsity teams, but not, however, without undue sacrifice and strain on the part of the players. The accelerated program in effect at Bryant definitely does not make provision for the long, strenuous training required of the relative few who would participate in such a program. Also, by the time a potential athlete had achieved the necessary degree of prowess in his sport, it would be time for him to graduate. It is common knowledge that a period of at least two years is needed to properly season and train all but the most outstanding athletes.

In lieu of a varsity sports program, Bryant has a wide and varied intramural program, designed to give all a chance to enjoy themselves regardless of their ability of physical condition.

Students are cordially invited to make use of the excellent gymnasium, basketball court, tennis courts, and nearby athletic field. For a complete resume of the intramural sports program offered to you at Bryant, read the accompanying article on Bryant sports by Sports Editors: Larry Delahunty and Jack Hall.

Syracuse Plans Advisory Council

Syracuse, N. Y.—(I.P.)—Representatives from seven of the nine Syracuse University's campus advisory councils met here recently to determine the purposes and formulate policy for an All-University Advisory Council. The Council was first proposed at the student government Pine Brook conference last fall by Dean of Students Frank P. Piskor. It was decided then that student government, acting as a disinterested party, should call the University's schools and colleges together to get the group started.

Schools and colleges represented at the meeting included: Journalism, Business Administration, Music, Nursing, Speech, Engineering and Liberal Arts. No representatives were present from Home Economics or Art. It was decided that the groups would act basically as a clearing house of ideas working in two ways. First as a group to solve problems of the individual councils and secondly as a place to give out ideas that have been tried and found successful in one of the schools.

The Bryant Reservist

By BILL KINGMAN

The male freshmen at Bryant College received a description of the new Armed Forces Reserve Act from Major James Kimball in the gymnasium on Tuesday, February 28. The Major, an ex-Bryant man, is the commanding officer of the Third Battalion, 385th Infantry Regiment, 76th Infantry Reserve Division. Every able-bodied young American man has a military obligation he must assume under the Reserve Forces Act of 1955. Some of us have completed this obligation, some of us have served part of this obligation, and some of us have not yet even started. This military obligation amounts to six years. The six years may be spent in several different combinations of service: In the Ready Reserve, in the Standby Reserve, or on active duty.

Meeting on the Bryant College campus, however, is a unit of the United States Army Reserve, the members of which are completing some of their Ready Reserve obligation. This unit is a portion of the Third Battalion of the 385th Infantry Regiment. The non-veteran, as a member of the Bryant Reserve Unit, receives training in the basic military subjects to prepare him for his active service, and while attending the weekly meetings of the Reserve unit, he receives pay for one day's duty per meeting. He also can earn a rank and complete some of his obligation while still in school. The veteran, as a member of the Bryant Reserve Unit, can complete his Reserve obligation right on campus, help with the training of his fellow classmates, and earn pay equivalent to his rank and longevity. The unit has several openings for officers and non-commissioned officers.

The unit meets once a week during the Bryant College semester from 7:30 P. M. to 9:30 P. M. Monday night in room G1A (Gardner Hall). The instruction at the meetings is given to Bryant men in the basic military subjects and in specialized fields by the officers and non-commissioned officers of the unit. Some of these officers and non-commissioned officers are also Bryant students.

Every Bryant man, veteran or non-veteran, is invited to come to the unit meetings to find out what it is all about and how it will benefit him to join. There are scheduled meetings for March 5, March 12, and March 19.

The V. A. Corner

By BOB SUGERMAN

Veterans enrollments under the fast-growing Korean GI Bill passed the 700,000 mark at the end of 1955. Veterans Administration announced recently.

The 707,000 veteran-trainees on December 31, 1955, represented a 30 per cent increase over the 538,000 total of a year ago and almost triple the number of vets in training two years ago.

At the end of last year, for every 100 Korea vets in training, 59 were in colleges and universities; 27 were in trade and vocational schools; 5 were taking farm training, and nine were enrolled in on-the-job-training courses.

Almost from the beginning of the GI program, the proportion of college-bound vets has been slightly more than half of the total number in training. During November and December, 1955, however, the peak of last fall's enrollment—the proportion of vets in college rose to 59 per cent.

This 50-50 proportion marks a different trend from that established by the WWII GI Bill, under which less than one-third of all veteran-trainees attended college.

These findings are part of a Veterans Administration study released today, comparing trends of the fast-growing three-year-old Korean GI Bill with those of the eleven-year-old WWII GI Bill, which is now approaching its end.

BRYANT RESPONDS TO MARCH OF DIMES CALL

The March of Dimes Committee reported an all out response to their call for donations. The record sum of $131.07 was collected during the course of the campaign. Chairman for the committee was Fred Gafner. He was assisted by Jim Handy, Marsha Holgate, Pam Mallette, and Judy Ferren. Chairman Gafner, his assistants, and all of contributors are to be commended for supporting such an extremely worthy cause.

Advice to Shrewd Students—Or How to Get by Without Half Trying—(A. C. P.)

1. Bring the professor newspaper clippings dealing with his subject. If you don't find clippings dealing with his subject, bring in clippings at random. He thinks everything deals with his subject.
2. Look alert. Take notes eagerly. If you look at your watch, don't stare at it unbelievably and shake it.
3. Nod frequently and murmur "How true." To you, this seems exaggerated. To him, it's quite objective.
4. Sit in front, near him. (Applies only if you intend to stay awake.)
5. Laugh at his jokes. You can tell, if he looks up from his notes and smiles expectantly, he has told a joke.
6. Ask for outside reading. You don't have to read it. Just ask for it.
7. If you must sleep, arrange to be called at the end of the hour. It creates an unfavorable impression if the rest of the class has left and you sit there alone, dozing.
8. Be sure the book you read during the lecture looks like a book from the course. If you do math in psychology class and psychology in math class, match the books for size and color.
9. Ask any questions you think he can answer. Conversely, avoid announcing that you have found the answer to a question he couldn't answer, and in your younger brother's second reader at that.
10. Call attention to his writing. Produces an exquisitely pleasant experience connected with you. If you know he's written a book or an article, ask in class if he wrote it.

Freshmen! . . . the Eyes of Bryant College Are Upon You!! . . .

Our Campus . . . From a Mile Up

A History of Bryant College

The history of Bryant College is written in human achievement. In 1863, two men, Messrs. H. B. Bryant and H. D. Stratton, conceived the idea of starting a chain of commercial schools. In order to put their idea into effect they formed the partnership of Bryant and Stratton. This was at the time of the Civil War when many veterans were completing their tour of duty. The partners succeeded in advertising their schools by having circulars enclosed in the mustering-out pay envelopes of the northern army, which stressed the value of business education and advised veterans to take courses in one of the Bryant and Stratton schools.

From 1863 to 1867, the chain of Bryant and Stratton schools grew until it extended throughout the United States and into some parts of Canada. All branch schools of the chain used the same curriculum, which was prepared and distributed by the central Bryant and Stratton office. This network of business schools was one of the earliest applications of the chain form of business organization, which is now common in the department and grocery store trades. The Bryant and Stratton schools, however, were not destined to continue as a large chain. In 1867, the individual branch managers met at a convention in Washington, D. C.; and after a lengthy discussion, they individually purchased all but five of the schools—five were retained by the original owners.

The Providence Bryant and Stratton Commercial School was founded on January 14, 1863, and was located in the old Hoppin-Homestead Building on Westminster Street. The first principal was Mr. Mason. Shortly after the school was established, it passed into the hands of Messrs. Warner and Ladd, teachers of experience. After the retirement of his partner, Mr. Warner, Mr. Ladd became the sole proprietor. On July 1, 1878, Mr. Ladd disposed of his interest in the school to Mr. Theodore B. Stowell, who continued as sole proprietor and principal until June, 1915, when his interests were acquired by Dr. Henry L. Jacobs, who, at that time, was the principal and sole proprietor of the Rhode Island Commercial School located at the Butler Exchange Building in Providence (the present site of the new Industrial Trust Building). Immediately following the purchase by Doctor Jacobs, the Bryant and Stratton School was moved to the Butler Exchange Building; and the name was changed to Bryant and Stratton Rhode Island Commercial School.

In 1916, under a special act of the Legislature of Rhode Island, the School was granted the right to confer degrees; but it was not until 1922 that the first degrees were awarded and in this year the name of the school was changed to Bryant-Stratton College.

In 1927, Bryant-Stratton College moved from the Butler Exchange Building to the newly constructed building at 40 Fountain Street and remained there until the spring of 1935, when it moved to its present campus which, at that time, included South Hall, the Auditorium, the Placement Service, and the Cafeteria building. The name was changed to Bryant College. Between the years of 1935 and 1940, Stowell Hall, Salisbury Hall, Gregg Hall, Bryant Hall, Harriet Hall, and Gardner Hall were added to the campus group.

In 1941, the School of Business Teacher Training was established and the State of Rhode Island granted Bryant College scholarship aid in the sum of fifteen thousand dollars annually for students living in the State of Rhode Island interested in becoming commercial teachers. In 1945, the first wing of Memorial Hall was constructed. In 1947, the new addition was completed. The Administration Building was added in 1946, and the five dormitories for young men were added to the campus group between 1945 and 1953. The Athletic Field and Field House were acquired in 1949. The three newest additions to the campus are the "Barn Studio" finished in 1954 and the Library and the Bake Shop building completed in 1955. In 1949, Bryant College passed from private ownership, becoming an eleemosynary institution governed by a Board of Trustees composed of prominent businessmen and educators.

While the Bryant College of today is quite different from the Bryant and Stratton Commercial School established in 1863, the idea and the ideal remain similar, the idea being to develop the most scientific courses possible in higher business education; the ideal being to develop the personality of the students through courses of study plus well-planned extracurricular activities.

A Word on the Student Senate

The Student Senate is the student governing body of Bryant College. It is made up of representatives of all the clubs and organizations on the campus. The representatives are elected for a term of one semester and their attendance at all Senate meetings is mandatory. The Student Senate meets on the first and third Mondays of each month, and serves as a "gripe" committee for the entire student body. If a student has a legitimate complaint, he should present it to the Student Senate who will take the matter up with the administration.

In addition to its regular functions, the Student Senate sponsors the Winter Formal and Spring Formal, held at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel.

The Key Society

The Key is the highest scholastic honor obtainable at Bryant College. To win this coveted honor, a one-year student must be on the Dean's List for three marking periods; a two-year student must make the Dean's List either three consecutive or any four staggered marking periods; and a student pursuing a four-year course must be on the Dean's List for four consecutive or any six staggered marking periods.

Dean of Women

To Mid-Term Freshmen:

I greet you in two capacities as College Placement Director and Dean of Women. My office is located on the northwest corner of the campus, and I hope to see you very soon.

I sincerely hope that you have selected a course of study that coincides with your interests and abilities. Having done this as your first goal, then try and make your program of study meaningful whole. During your college career try to learn as much as possible about the business in which you may find your future. If you can, try to get a part-time job in the field of your choice so that you will develop the basic skills which will be desired on your first full-time job.

Today you are starting out on a life of your own—to stand on your own feet and to make your own place in the world. You should strive hard to make your college years count. Make every attempt to graduate with a well-balanced, commendable record behind you. Most employers will ask about your scholastic record, your extra-curricular activities, your part-time work experience and your community interests.

Perhaps you would like to hear of some of the recent visitors to our Placement Bureau. Recruiting representatives from well-known business firms constantly visit Bryant College to interview for employment. In the past few weeks these are some of the firms that have visited:

- Arthur Andersen and Company
- General Motors—New Departure
- The B. F. Goodrich Company
- The Waterman Pen Company
- Electric Boat
- The Home Insurance Company
- Lever Brothers Company
- The Ansonia Wire and Cable Company

As Dean of Women my duties are indeed pleasant. I look forward to friendships with all women students—particularly you.

MRS. LAURELLE LOVE

The International Relations Club

The International Relations Club is a campus organization designed to acquaint those interested in foreign affairs with the views of their classmates. The Club has numerous round-table discussions on topics of interest to the members. Occasionally, UN speakers come to town and are invited to speak to the members.

The Club maintains membership in the Rhode Island World Affairs Council and the National Federation of International Relations Clubs, which sponsor conferences on different campuses on foreign relations and the UN.

The Club membership is open to any student who is interested in foreign affairs. If you are interested watch the activities schedule posted on the bulletin boards for the next meeting, or consult President Roger Martindale for details.

Thoughts for Newcomers

In greeting our new freshmen class we are glad to extend the hand of friendship and invite you to become one of our large family.

Whether you realize it or not, you have become a member of the Bryant family. Now membership in any family group carries with it certain privileges. Among them we number access to the family fund of knowledge, the counsel of the elders, and the shelter and protection of the family name. These family ties also carry their responsibilities. Group living does require consideration of the rights of others and the subordination of purely selfish motives. Further than that, each member of the family is expected to make his positive contribution to further the family reputation and fortune.

We do welcome you into the Bryant family. We invite you to partake of our worldly and spiritual goods. We also ask that you make your contribution toward pleasant day to day living and do your utmost to raise the family reputation ever higher and higher.

Being a valuable member of the family calls for giving your best to every task that is assigned to you. Completion of many of your assignments may require the exercise of self discipline but when you show that you are master of yourself and can handle the menial tasks, bigger and more challenging problems will be yours to battle. Do not avoid the challenge of the new and the difficult. Reach a bit, accept responsibility, tackle the job and best it. Be an adult and know the satisfaction that comes of accomplishment. Only thus will you become a leader in the Bryant family—and we do need leaders.

Regardless of the position which you will come to occupy in the Bryant family, remember that it is our avowed purpose to further the interest of every member of our group. The faculty, the deans and the administrative officers are always at your service. Let them help you.

NELSON G. GULSKI,
Dean of the School of Business Administration

A Message from Dean Mercier

It is a pleasure for me on behalf of the faculty of the Secretarial, Teacher Training, and College Prep. Divisions, to welcome you and to extend to you at the beginning of your college career our very best wishes for your success. We hope you will make the most of the opportunity to attend college.

Some of you will be with us for four years in our Teacher Training program; some of you will be with us for one year. Others of you will be with us for two or three years. Regardless of the time you are going to be at Bryant College, make a resolution now—not tomorrow—not to waste a single day.

I should like to take this opportunity to point out to you some of the things that you can expect of the college faculty and some of the things they will expect of you. We are fortunate in having a very capable and very understanding faculty, and I am sure, as time goes on, you will appreciate their efforts in helping you to overcome the obstacles you will encounter in the semesters to come.

You will find they have a sincere interest and enthusiasm for their work. You will find that they are just and fair.

You will find that they all have a sense of humor.

They will expect you to produce good work daily. There is no better way to build a good foundation. Businessmen demand exactness plus maximum production, and it is with this objective in mind that your teachers will continually exhort you to do your best. It is only in this way that you will be able to meet successfully the competition in the business world.

You can expect a reasonable explanation of the assignments and reasonable dates for completion of these assignments.

They, the faculty, in turn will expect you to be on the job every day—unless it is impossible for you to be present.

They will expect you to work to your fullest capacity.

They will expect you to work the number of hours that you will personally need to accomplish what they require.

They will expect you to live by a schedule in order that all work will be done promptly.

If you have been in the habit of not getting along with people, including teachers, learn to get along. When you disagree, do so without being disagreeable. Also learn to take criticism graciously.

If we work together, I am sure that your time spent here will be not only profitable, but very enjoyable.

Again, I wish you a successful and happy college year.

A Message From Our Director of Public Relations . . .

I do think I have the pleasantest job on the Bryant campus! It is my happy duty to tell the world about Bryant College. And since Bryant is principally you, the students, you are first on the list. I and my assistant, Joan Almond, have the privilege of telling the folks back home all about you via your hometown newspaper. We will tell them right off that you registered here last week. Later on we hope to tell them when you join a club, when you take part in a Glee Club, Orchestra or Dramatics show . . . when you join a fraternity or sorority . . . if you become an officer of any of these organizations . . . if you win any scholastic honors . . . especially when you make the Dean's List . . . and finally, all about your graduation.

Do you remember the "Publicity Card" you filled out the day you registered? It may have been just "another" card to you, but it means a great deal to the College News Bureau. That card is now part of our office, just as you are now a part of this famous old college. We hope that you will stop into our office often to check this card, and keep us posted on your activities all through your college career. The News Bureau is located on the second floor of the Ad. Building and we maintain a friendly "Open Door" policy; walk right in and say "Hello!"

THE BRYANT COLLEGE NEWS BUREAU is an important part of the College Public Relations Program.

"WHAT ARE COLLEGE PUBLIC RELATIONS?"

Now that is a large order. The easiest way for me to answer this question is to say:

"Public Relations for our College is a continuous, never-ending program of keeping all of our publics aware of BRYANT."

"WHO ARE THESE COLLEGE PUBLICS?" I have already told you that you, the students, are the most important of our publics. Next comes our respected Faculty and then—and these are not listed in the order of their importance—come the rest of our "publics"—the COLLEGE STAFF, your PARENTS, our beloved ALUMNI SECONDARY SCHOOLS, OTHER COLLEGES, EDUCATORS, the COMMUNITY in which we live, BUSINESS and BUSINESSMEN, the GENERAL PUBLIC.

HOW DOES PUBLIC RELATIONS WORK?

Here at Bryant, we consider Public Relations mainly a college service. We constantly seek to serve our students, our faculty and our other publics through publications (the college catalogue, the viewbook, career brochures, bulletins), the radio (the college has a weekly sustaining radio program, "Bryant's View" every Thursday night at 10:35 p.m., Station WPRO), television and magazines.

The Public Relations Office constantly seeks to acquaint all of its publics with college aims and purposes. We feel it our duty to report truthfully and accurately the normal events of campus life, as well. And we make every effort to do this with the dignity consistent with the high ideals of our President, Dr. Jacobs, and the College officers, who guide this institution.

Ours is an ever-continuing process of helping all of these publics to a clearer understanding of the singular advantage of a Bryant College business education. Of course, you know that we need your help, now as a student, and later as an alumnus, to do our job successfully. Your accomplishment here at college, your attitude and your future career are vital in continuing the reputation which is Bryant's heritage. Also in so doing, you, the student, and we the Public Relations Office—together—can help to create a more universal understanding of higher education's part in shaping a better world.

Bryant Athletic Opportunities for All

By LARRY DELAHUNTY

Many students are unaware of the magnitude of the athletic program Bryant offers to them. The program has so expanded that there are opportunities for students, male and female, to participate in a variety of sports, some of which are:

BASKETBALL

The gym, when available, is occupied in the afternoon on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday by the Bryant Intra-Mural basketball league. The boys' day league holds its programs on these days while the girls' league competes on Wednesday of each week. The boys' night league plays on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday evenings. The boys' league consists of twelve teams which represent organizations on the campus such as fraternities, various clubs, or the team may be a group of individuals that do not belong to any campus organizations. The league is open to any students who are interested and would like to participate. There are still a few games remaining in the season and interested persons may join in the action by going to the gym on the afternoons listed above and making themselves known to one of the coaches or players.

The Day League plays two games daily with the first tap-off at 3:00 P. M. The second game of the afternoon follows at approximately 4:15 P. M. The Night League games are scheduled for 7:00 P. M. and 8:00 P. M. For students who do not wish to compete in the league but who would like to shoot a few baskets for a little recreation, the basketballs are available in the gym from 2 to 3 P. M.

BOWLING

Bowling league competition is held each year and offers a great deal of excitement. This league operates similarly to the basketball league. The girls' league is on Tuesday and the boys league is on Wednesday. The roll-offs are held at the Casino Bowling Alleys in downtown Providence. The league is composed of the various campus organizations as well as independent teams. Spectators or anyone interested in bowling are welcome to go down to the alleys on these days and either watch the bowling or actually participate in the competition.

Delta Omega Professional Society

DELTA OMEGA PROFESSIONAL SOCIETY, the only Greek Letter non-fraternal organization on campus, is also the sole Business Organization of the College of Business Administration.

This professional society's primary purpose is to conduct and promote the study of business and to further interests in general business topics. Throughout the college year, members of this society attend dinner-speaker meetings at which time some outstanding personality of the business world addresses the group.

DELTA OMEGA is proud in having on its list of Honorary Members Vice-President E. Gardner Jacobs, Professors Richards and Bates, Mr. Edwin C. Brown, Secretary-Treasurer of the A. F. of L., Mr. Arthur A. Pomfret, President of the National Finance Corporation, and Mr. Russel H. White, Plant Superintendent of Industrial Relations of the Corning Glass Company.

The Society is open to all students of the College of Business Administration who have completed one semester at Bryant. The student who wishes to join this professional society may make application to the Membership Committee.

B.C.A. Welcomes New Members

The Bryant Christian Association would like to welcome all the new freshmen to Bryant.

B. C. A., which is a protestant association, was organized four years ago under the guidance of Miss Lela Glidden and Dean Wilbur. Both Miss Glidden and Dean Wilbur are presently advisors to the group as well as Mrs. Patterson and Mr. Meek.

Bryant Christian Association holds its meeting twice a month. During the past semester members heard some very interesting speakers from South America, Panama, and India, and enjoyed some excellent movies and colored slides of foreign countries. BCA has also planned some very interesting activities for the current semester.

Anyone wishing to join the Bryant Christian Association may do so by attending the meeting on Thursday, March 15, at three o'clock.

Fraternity Functions at Bryant

By GLEN BROWN and LOWELL HANSON

Bryant College has eight fraternities which form the nucleus of its extra-curricular activities. These fraternities are Chi Gamma Iota, Tau Epsilon, Phi Sigma Nu, Beta Sigma Chi, Beta Iota Beta, Kappa Tau, Sigma Lambda Pi, and Alpha Theta Chi. Each frat has at least one member of the faculty or administration to act as an advisor and sponsor at social affairs. The Greek Letter Council, made up of fraternity presidents, is the governing body of all sororities and fraternities.

Competition is keen among the frats to win the basketball, bowling and softball titles. During the year, each frat sponsors a candidate from its sister sorority for the Sno' and May Queen contests. The Greek Letter Council sponsors one off-campus dance a semester for each fraternity. In addition to these dances, each fraternity has regular meetings and parties.

Not all is merry making for fraternities. Frat members are among the regular blood donors when blood drives are held. Twice a year, during Hell Week, the fraternities sponsor Help Day and send all their pledges to state institutions to perform helpful tasks. The Greek Letter Council gives an Annual Christmas Party for needy children in the area and many of the frats sponsor similar parties.

After new students have had a chance to become acquainted about campus, each fraternity holds a smoker, which is an open house. A student who is thinking of joining a frat should give the matter a great deal of consideration. All fraternities have basically the same aims; however, no two frats are alike. For this reason, a prospective brother should go to each smoker and listen to the officers and meet the members. At these smokers prospective members are told how to apply for membership.

A Brief Sketch of The Newman Club

The Newman Club was started at the University of Pennsylvania in 1893 by five medical students who wanted to know more about the teachings of the Church and its history. It can be summed up by saying that Catholic culture was the epitome of their program.

The five medical students at the U. of Penn. felt that John Henry Cardinal Newman was an authority who understood the problems of a Catholic student on a non-sectarian campus and therefore was well fitted for the honor of being chosen as the guardian of the Newman Club.

Since 1893 the growth of the Newman Club has been remarkable. There are now more than 700 Newman Clubs divided into 17 provinces in the United States.

The principal purpose of the Newman Club is to provide religious education and assistance for Catholic students. This purpose is founded on the basis of one of Cardinal Newman's sermons — "The strength of Catholics lay not in numbers, but in their God and in their power to exert a great moral influence on the world." It can well be seen then that the Newman Club has a threefold purpose: religious, educational, and social, all in that order.

Religion and social purposes are fulfilled through receiving communion on the third Sunday of each month at St. Joseph Church at the 10 o'clock mass. An informal breakfast is held afterwards in the St. Joseph Hall on Hope Street.

The educational purpose of the Newman Club is accomplished at the meetings that are held every other Monday at 6:30 p.m. in the Barn Studio. Discussions are held at these meetings on topics that are of great concern to Catholic students on a non-sectarian campus.

Sigma Iota Chi Sorority News

Any early birds in the cafeteria Wednesday mornings can wake leisurely to the pleasant strains of the SIC sisters jabbering over their second cup of coffee. The weekly coffee hour provides an excellent means of catching up on all the latest Bryant news. Even the bell has trouble breaking up this feminine conversational monopoly.

"A mink scarf for 25 cents" is being heard all over campus as the sisters of Sigma Iota Chi help their alumnae raise money to defray expenses of bringing the semi-annual national convention to the Bryant Campus in August. Approximately fifty representatives are expected to attend this summer. Students can make it a success by jumping on the bandwagon. Some one will be lucky enough to win a lovely fur piece in time to wear it on Easter.

Congratulations go to SIB for their victory over SIC in the first round of basketball. But SIB is not planning to rest on their laurels, though; a one-point lead isn't too secure.

In addition to these social purposes, plans are being made for a social party and dance in the future and a group picnic in June.

Sunday, February 26, found Bryant Newman Club members at the Sharpe Refectory, Brown University, along with students from Brown, Pembroke, and Rhode Island School of Design. This gathering was the Annual Communion Breakfast held in honor of Cardinal Newman Day. Father Austeryker, who is from New Jersey, was the guest speaker and gave an excellent talk on the Dignity of Man.

All students who are interested in the Newman Club are invited to become members. The next meeting will be on March 12 at 6:30 p.m. in the Barn Studio. The topic of the guest speaker, Monsignor Geoghegan, will be announced on the Friday before the meeting.

Priscilla M. Moulton

To the February freshmen, I extend a most hearty welcome to Bryant College. You will find that the members of the faculty and administration are deeply interested in you as individuals and in seeing that you get the proper attention and instruction to prepare you adequately for a career in business. I do hope that you will have the "forward look" and make the most of every opportunity while in college.

Very shortly I shall be scheduling interviews with those of you in the Secretarial Department in order to meet you personally and to find out if we can be of further help to you in any way possible.

My office is in South Hall on the first floor, and I hope you will drop in if I can be of any help to you.

PRISCILLA M. MOULTON,
Supervisor of Secretarial Studies and Assistant to the President

MR. ROBERT DREW-BEAR

On the Third Floor of the Administration Building, Freshmen Will Find A Friendly Director of Student Activities . . .

Mr. Drew-Bear welcomes the opportunity to answer questions students may have about the activities program or to discuss suggestions for improving the program. His office is on the third floor of the Administration Building.

He believes that in a business college such as ours student activities are of great service in enabling the student to develop an ability to get along with a variety of people; therefore, the development of the student's understanding and interest in the problems, outlook, and reactions of his fellows is a necessary part of his college education. The student who joins in the college activities programs will be fulfilling this part of his education.

When a student applies for a job upon graduation, a record of active participation in student activities will be a valuable indication to his prospective employer that he has the ability to work along with others.

Elmer C. Wilbur

Upon their enrollment at Bryant College, freshmen come to know Dean Wilbur as Dean of Admissions. They may not realize that he performs many other functions which affect them throughout their college career at Bryant. He is the liaison officer between Bryant College and the Veterans Administration, counsellor to veteran students regarding their relationship with the Veterans Administration and the college. He is also the liaison officer for the younger men who come under the Selective Service System. He administers the selective service test twice a year for the Selective Service System and notifies the local boards regarding students' status. He is the liaison officer between the College and the State Board of Education with regard to Business Teacher-Training applicants. Dean Wilbur has charge of the young men's resident halls, and also off-campus housing accommodations for single and married veterans. Through Dean Wilbur's office the examination is administered to incoming students who make application for student scholarship aid. There are many problems that arise when students make the adjustment from home to College living, and students who find difficulty in making the adjustment often seek his counsel. He believes that counseling is only effective when it is sought by the student. However, he often has to superimpose discipline for those that fail to live up to the regulations of the College. Dean Wilbur is one of the advisors for the Chi Gamma Iota fraternity. His interests are College wide and student focused.

The Barn Studio

The "Arts" at Bryant

By AL HILLIS

Here we are all set for another semester of study and fun. Perhaps when talking to students it is unwise to talk about study and fun in the same breath, so let's talk just about the fun side of things.

The members of Masquers, Glee Club, and Orchestra wish to take this opportunity to welcome back all upper-classmen and to extend a special greeting to the new freshmen. We hope that this semester will be a successful and pleasant one for you here at Bryant.

The main purpose of this article is to familiarize the new freshman with Masquers, Glee Club, and Orchestra activities. Naturally, if any of you upper-classmen are not familiar with these activities, you are invited to read right along with us.

Masquers is the dramatics society here at Bryant College. It is under the very able direction of Professor Mary Thornton Appleby, who is a professional dramatist in her own right. Now, right off the bat some people will shy away from the use of the word "professional". Please don't. Masquers' plays are put on entirely by Bryant students on a strictly amateur basis. We strive for perfection in all our productions, but never to the point that we sacrifice our good times and friendly fellowship with the group.

As a member of this group, you can pick up many valuable pointers as a business student that will be of aid to you in the business world after graduation. For example, you can learn how to speak correctly and distinctly, how to speak with expression and feeling, and how to speak before a large group of people and still retain your composure. You may have to do a lot of this sort of thing in business. Why not have fun learning how.

In the past, Masquers has presented such outstanding productions as "The Man Who Came To Dinner", "You Can't Take It With You", "Mother Was A Freshman", "Nine Girls", and "Curtain Going Up". The group has also taken on a difficult, but enjoyable, phase of dramatics in theatre-in-the-round. Plans for the future look like such productions as "Time Out For Ginger", "Philadelphia Story", "The Informer", and more of the theatre-in-the-round workshop.

Everyone has some talent. You may have a lot more talent than you think you do. Masquers meetings are on Wednesdays, at 3 p.m., in the Barn Studio. Castings for the first two productions are now under way, so don't put off attending next week's meeting.

The Glee Club is the biggest student activity on the campus. Last semester's membership totaled 120 voices. However, with the large turnover of students here at Bryant, this number does not stay that high from semester to semester. Every semester, good singers graduate and they must be replaced with new ones. You have those new voices. It is now up to you to take your place in this organization and keep its fine record intact.

In the past, the Glee Club has taken part in the annual Thanksgiving and Christmas programs, has appeared on television, has produced its own Pops Concert and musical stage presentation, and has appeared in many College functions. Plans for the future include such things as Bryant Brevities and Bryant Stunt Night.

Auditions are now being held for the Glee Club at their weekly meetings. These meetings are on Monday, at 3 p.m., in the Barn Studio. Take the time this week to come up to the meeting and find your place in this fine organization. Professor Mary Thornton Appleby, the Glee Club's director, is looking forward to welcoming all interested freshmen, and upper-classmen, at next Monday's meeting.

The Orchestra, commonly known as the Stardusters, was very somewhat inactive last semester. The reason for its inactivity was that there were not the musicians necessary to field a well balanced Orchestra. Last semester, the Orchestra made one appearance at the Pops Concert and stole the show. Professor Ralph Handy did an excellent job in recruiting enough players for this performance, but the organization was hit hard by students dropping out of school.

At the first meeting of the Orchestra this semester, there were fifteen musicians present and the promise of five more to attend this week's meeting. A twenty-piece dance band is a big dance band, but with the schedule the Orchestra would like to follow this semester it is just the right size. This semester's schedule calls for eight or nine off-campus appearances and appearances on the campus at College dances and social functions as well as the Bryant Brevities and Stunt Night.

Membership in the Orchestra is open to all Bryant students who play any musical instrument. None of the members of the Orchestra claim the title of expert so you don't need to worry about being a "Satcho" or the like. They just sit around in a session of practice and have lots of kicks. If you play an instrument, why not make like a real cool cat and drop up on the scene and flip to the most current kicks on the hit parade. It would be the craziest to dog ya, cat. (Good gosh.) Orchestra meetings are on Thursdays, at 3 p.m., in the Barn Studio.

Well, there they are. More or less what you might call the most active societies on the campus. You are welcome to become a member of each one of them. In a way, you would be wasting some of the hard earned green stuff if you don't, because the Activities Fee supports them. Get your money's worth!

Girl "Sports" — — Take Note

What do you do with your spare time? Why not use some of it up with a little relaxing recreation? There are many of you that do not realize the opportunities that exist for you to participate in various sporting programs. At the present time, basketball is the most prominent sport for the girls on campus. Although the season is almost over, there are still a few games remaining before the completion of league playoffs.

Any girl that is interested in participating in basketball will be given an opportunity to do so. The basketball league is open to all girls as are all the other sporting activities for the girls. These games are held Wednesday afternoon of each week with two games on tap. The scheduled starting times for these games are three and four o'clock in the afternoon. The girls' bowling league bowls on Tuesday afternoon at the Casino Bowling Alleys in downtown Providence. It operates similarly to the basketball league. The bowling is also open to any persons interested. The league is composed of the various organizations on campus along with the independent teams.

Tennis enthusiasts get a great deal of exercise in the fall. The Bryant tennis court, which is located on the corner of Benevolent and Hope Streets is the scene of the action. A tournament is held each spring and each fall with the winners being recognized as the school champions. The courts are always open to Bryant students and their guests. Softball is a fast and popular sport played at the Bryant athletic field located on Pitman Street. There is a girls' league playoff every Wednesday afternoon.

There are also many other activities including badminton and ping pong. The equipment for these sports may be obtained in the field house. So come on out you "sports" and exercise (heh, heh) your athletic tendencies, or just blow off a little steam.

Softball is one of the more popular intramural sports at Bryant. The softball league will begin play during the first part of May. The softball program is also divided into two leagues with the girls and boys leagues being held on the same days as basketball. Three games are played daily—Monday thru Thursday inclusive. The games are held at the Bryant athletic field which is located on Pitman Street. All equipment, with the exception of fielders' gloves and shoes, is furnished by the school.

TENNIS

Another important athletic facility is the tennis courts which are located on the corner of Benevolent and Hope Streets. Spring and Fall Tennis tournaments are featured at Bryant each year. Individual awards are given out for the winners of the men's singles, women's singles, doubles, and mixed doubles winners. Tennis is the only sport in which Bryant enters varsity competition. The tennis courts are for everyone's use and are always available. Bulletins containing complete information concerning tournaments will be posted on the bulletin board.

ATHLETIC FIELD AND FIELD HOUSE

Probably the most outstanding athletic facility of Bryant is the Athletic Field which is complete with a field house. This enables players to take showers and to reach cover when a rainstorm threatens. The field house also houses athletic equipment which the school furnishes for the various sports. The field serves as a soccer field, softball diamond, football field and baseball diamond. Badminton courts and horseshoe courts are also set up along the outskirts of this field. Inside the field house a new ping pong table has been installed. Ken Cedegreen is in charge of the field and is

Alpha Phi Kappa Girls Cavort In New Hampshire Snow

Alpha Phi Kappa Snow Festival

By IRENE ARMAO

On Monday morning, February 13, a group of twenty-two sleepy-eyed girls arrived at Union Station in Providence at 6:45 a.m. to begin a week of strenuous winter sports. The twenty-two were all sisters of the Alpha Phi Kappa Sorority who sponsor this annual ski trip.

The group arrived in North Conway, New Hampshire, at 1:02 p.m. where they were greeted by the members of the Forest Glen Inn who took them to the Inn. After the girls had gone to the rooms assigned to them, they spent the afternoon touring the town and shops in North Conway. Several girls wanted to ice-skate, but found it impossible as the weather was too warm for the water to freeze; however, other things were done in place of skating to fill in the schedule.

The girls' home for the week was situated in the Eastern Slope Region of the White Mountains in the picturesque base of the Mount Cranmore Mountain which has the only skimobile in the world. The skimobile operates for skiers in the winter and sightseers in summer. Attendants explained that the skimobile has 225 cars, having a capacity of 1000 passengers per hour. It takes exactly twenty-five minutes to get to the top of the mountain. Many of the girls rode on the skimobile in there every afternoon from 3:00 P. M. to 5:00 P. M. Monday thru Friday and on Saturday from 1:00 P. M. to 5:00 P. M.

SOCCER

A new sport was introduced to the campus last semester when a group of male students played soccer every afternoon and eventually organized a soccer team. Although they started late the team was very successful and next year will probably show a greater improvement.

PING PONG

Ping pong tournaments began last semester when Ken Cedegreen and some ping pong enthusiasts in the school held a tournament. The tourney created a lot of interest, and there were over twenty entrants in the tourney. Ken hopes to repeat this tourney next semester.

The winners of the various leagues and tournaments are all awarded with individual trophies and are recognized as the school champions in the particular sport. These activities display fast, skillful action as well as true sportsmanship in many instances. The competition is keen and everyone has a good time.

Many students do not realize that such a sports program exists here at Bryant. This program offers a great deal of relaxation to the student and will not take him away from his studies for any length of time. Remember, a keen mind and an active body are as one; so enjoy the athletic program Bryant offers you!

order to view the White Mountains, Presidential Range, Moat Range, and the Ossipe Range. On the top of the mountain they stopped to have a cup of coffee before leaving for the trip down on the skimobile. That evening they toured the bowling alleys and teams were matched. After bowling, they went back to the Inn and joined a party which the Forest Glen Inn gives every month to the boys and girls of the Catholic Youth Organization of Our Lady of the Mountain Church in North Conway. They had ice cream, cake, and soda. Many of the boys and the girls asked many questions about Bryant College and the sorority. They seemed very surprised that the sorority paid its train fare for the trip. Many of them felt that fraternal organizations did no good, and were surprised at the various things the sororities and fraternities do here at Bryant.

The next day there was perfect weather for skiing and tobogganing. Only a few girls had ever been on skis; however, the day was full of laughs and bruises. Although the rope tow was running, the girls did not feel they should use it. Mary Donnelly '54 who has been skiing for three years, gave a lesson on climbing up the slope without sliding down before the girls actually went down.

Tobogganing was a lot of fun. As the girls were approaching

"Russells", the toboggan run, Dotty Kingsford, whose toboggan was hauled from East Haven, Connecticut, to North Conway, coached them on how to get off the toboggan if it ran into a tree accidentally. When they saw the run, Carol Soresen, June Knight, and Irene Armao, changed their minds about this sport. While walking up the slope, which took a lot of energy, the girls met other APK girls who had rented a toboggan. They first watched this group, who were Jan Overton, Kay Barker '55, Bev Hewitt, and Pat Killian, as they had gone down twice already. Then they tried it and then continued until supper time.

That evening many of the girls were tired from the strenuous exercise and remained in the Inn, sitting around the fireplace, toasting marshmallows, popping corn, and drinking soda. They were entertained by Gail Robertson and Bev Hewitt, after which everyone joined in the singing. As midnight approached everyone was eager to get some rest.

Wednesday was spent in the same way as the previous day was spent.

The end of the week came too soon for everyone, and all carried away memories of a wonderful time at New Hampshire and plans for the next year.

Girls' Basketball Results

The girls who played basketball on February 29 all agreed that two weeks of vacation without practice had certainly affected their game. During the first game, Sigma Lambda Theta's forwards showed some fine passing, however, in defeating Alpha Phi Kappa 40-27. For the winners, Marylou Conway scored 22 points and Marrietta Gilleran, 18. High scorer for A.P.K. was Pat Jurczyk who scored a total of 14 points.

The second game, between Sigma Iota Chi and Phi Upsilon, saw a number of new faces on the court. At the half, S.I.C. had a 20-2 lead which increased as the game progressed. The final score was 34-29 in favor of S.I.C. High scorers were S.I.C.'s Blanche Partyka with 12 points and Phi U's Ann Kelly who tallied 6. S.I.C.'s up-and-coming forward, Elaine Yates, brought down the house with a 6 point effort in the last quarter and iced the game.

Kappa Tau Upsets Independents In Overtime

By BOB RADICAN

Kappa Tau defeated the league leading Independents 41-39 in a game that required two overtime periods. In the second and sudden death overtime, "Sandy" Zuckerbrot threw in a one-hander to give the Blue and Gold a well-deserved victory. Probably the key factor in the K. T. Victory was the fine rebounding job done by Jim Handy and Marty Scott against the taller Independents. Sonnatti (12), Sporkowski (9), and Zuckerbrot (9) paced the winners, while McCann (11) was high scorer for the losers. Phi Sigma Nu out scored Tau Epsilon 48-38 in a game marked by an abundance of personal fouls. The "Big Green's" man-to-man defense kept a much improved Tau Epsilon team in check throughout the night. Scoring honors went to Jack Pierce, who netted 22 points for Phi Sig. Blanchette (10) and Anker (14) were high men for the losers.

Beta Sigma Chi bounced back from a defeat by the Independents and handed Kappa Tau a 46-39 setback. A 15 point "Scholar" fourth quarter proved too much for K. T. Dick Mellen (14) and Jim DiOrio (11) were the top scorers for the "Scholars." Sandy Zuckerbrot and "Spiro" Sporkowski of the losers both had 13 points. Tau Epsilon rolled over Beta Iota Beta 45-17. The Black and Red had little trouble with a BIB team that just couldn't get started. Coach Tom Davies' team turned in their finest defensive game of the season, keeping the losers scoreless in the second period. Blanchette (12), Alexander (14), and Anker (10), were top men for the winners. Joe Santerson tallied six for BIB. "Title" minded Phi Sigma Nu defeated the Independents 48-29. After playing Phi Sig to a tie in the first half, the Independents fell apart under a barrage of field goals by Fran Dilegro's charges. Stearns Wood played an important part in the second half trouncing by contributing fourteen points to his team's total of thirty in that stanza. Lowder (6) and Ottman (6) headed the losers in scoring, while Wood (18), Pearlberg (9), and Pierce (9), scored high for Phi Sig. The "Reynoldsmen" of Beta Sigma Chi outscored Beta Iota Beta 48-24. The sharp-shooting of Mellen (16), Daly (15), and Mulzillo (8) was too much for BIB to match. Only three BIB players broke into the scoring column: Cooper (14), Santerson (6), and Spaight (4).

Veterans Lead Day League by 3 Games

By JACK HALL

With two more victories added to their credit last week, the Veterans lengthened their lead in the day basketball league to three games. Last week the powerful "Vets" squad defeated Sigma Lambda Pi 49-25 and the Scoopers 100-56. In the game against Sigma Lambda on Monday, Bob Blinn with 14 points and Joe Kirwan with 12 led the winners. Arnie Kahan's 11 points topped the losers. On Tuesday, against the hapless Scoopers, Joe Lemieux proved that it is not necessary to be big to be a high scorer. Joe, who is one of the smallest players in either league poured in 16 field goals and one free throw for a total of 33 points. Bob Blinn—15, Joe Kirwan—15, and Ralph Britten—14 also hit double figures for the "Vets." McNeil's 22 points led the Scoopers.

In other games, Chi Gamma Iota led by Joe Ferrara and Johnny Matula with 17 points each, defeated the Scoopers who were paced by McNeil's 10 points. Phi Sigma Nu defeated the Newman Club 50-41. Pete Veritas popped in 9 field goals for 18 points to lead the winners in scoring. Manny Harrington netted 16 points for the Newman Club. On Thursday, Phi Sig scored its second victory of the week by defeating a fighting Chi Gamma team 55-45. Joe Trepani, Dick Gayer, and Pete Veritas with 15, 14, and 13 points respectively led the Big Green. Joe Ferrara, Bob McAuliffe, "Ossie" Van Patten, and Russ Messinger all hit double figures for Chi Gam, but in a losing cause. After rallying to overcome a 13 point deficit, the Newman Club eked out a 49-46 win over Sigma Lambda Pi. Jim Rogers and Manny Harrington had 16 points each for the winners but Al Chansky—19 and Harvey Markman—18 of Sigma Lambda were the high point men in the game.

There is one more cycle to be played in this round. The Veterans, who are undefeated thus far in the round seem sure of winning it, and meeting Phi Sigma Nu, winners of the first round in the day league play-offs.

Where to Park, Where to Smoke, and . . . What's Playing at the "Kino" (Movies) Tonight?

PARKING . . . A parking problem exists at Bryant because of the large number of cars which must be parked in a relatively small area. Your cooperation will not solve this problem, but it will certainly alleviate it to a great extent. Between 8 A. M., when parking regulations go into effect, and 10 A. M., parking conditions are at their worst as no parking is allowed on most of the streets adjacent to the college.

PARKING IS ALLOWED AS FOLLOWS:

Unlimited parking on one side of the streets directly adjacent to the campus on all four sides: On the North side of Charles Field St.; between Brook and Hope Streets; on East St.; and the nearby area. Three hour parking is allowed on the East side of Hope St. between Power St. and Young Orchard Ave. Three hour parking is also allowed between Benevolent and George Streets; on Charles Field Street between Brook and Brown Streets; on Thayer Street between Power and George Streets; and on Brown Street between George and Charles Field Streets. Two hour parking: on both sides of Brook Street between Power and Waterman Streets. When in doubt consult the signs posted on the streets by the authorities—and obey them. A 15 minute break is scheduled between 10 and 11 o'clock classes in order that student drivers may move their cars.

The college has many good neighbors whom you can impress with your courteous parking habits. It is neither courteous nor legal to block a person's driveway or cause inconvenience by parking in places where a white "taboo" line is painted on the curb, and your car may be towed away—at your own expense, of course. Those disabled veterans granted permission by the administration may park on the campus.

SMOKING . . . There are few things as unsightly as a half-consumed cigarette butt that has been exposed to the elements for awhile. The college requests that trash receptacles and butt cans be used to their fullest advantage so that we may have a tidier campus. Smoking is ABSOLUTELY prohibited within the college buildings except where specifically provided for such as in the cafeteria. Strong disciplinary action will be taken on smoking infractions committed by careless students.

MOVIE PROGRAM . . . Free movies, another benefit of your activities fee, are shown in the Auditorium at 7:30 P. M. on Wednesday evenings. Student Identification Cards must be presented at the door. The movie schedule for the semester is as follows:

Marseillaise Comes To Bryant

HUMOR has it, that . . .

General Pierre V. Chanel of the French Foreign Legion visited the Bryant campus last week in search of volunteers for a reserve militia.

When questioned by your reporter, the General was rather evasive about such information as living conditions, length of service, which appeared to be 1 year for very active service, 2 years for moderately active service, or 20 years in which you do practically nothing at all, and—heh, heh—opportunities for advancement; however, he did cite many advantages accruing to Legion Reserve members. Among them were the "smokers," held in place of tedious reserve meetings and featuring authentic, French entertainment stars; the summer, field training held in the Sahara desert where actual combat conditions are simulated by battling Berber tribes; and a monthly stipend of 75 million francs (5 dollars in American money).

General Chanel wore an authentic, dusty-blue sweat-soaked uniform, set off by tarnished gold stars and braid, which lent an air of distinguished dissipation to the gala event. His "Aide-de-camp," Buzz Sawyer, also added to the refinement by passing out cordials to the boys and whooping it up a little.

Those wishing more information or suffering belated trepidations, may contact the General at the French consulate in Washington—that is, they may contact him, but I doubt it.
