

Night League Scalps Day League in All-Star Game

Boys' and Girls' Dormitories Hold Annual Open House

All-Star Game A Thriller

The Bryant Night Leaguers came out of a neck-and-neck battle to triumph over the Day Leaguers 66-48 in a thrilling, fast-moving game. The capacity crowd saw brilliant defensive and offensive play from both teams. Pacing the night league as high scorer was Phil McManus, while trailing close behind him were Joe Trepani, Frank Rondo, and Bernie Sherwill. High for the day league was Charlie Heelan, while Ralph Buontempo and Harry Taylor helped with their skillful playing. The score was knotted in the first two quarters—13-13 at the end of the first quarter; 26-26 at the end of the second quarter; while at the end of the third quarter the night leaguers pulled away from their day cronies by a score of 46-35 and finally ended up with a score of 66-48; thus winning one of the most anxiety-filled games seen at Bryant.

The first game, held between the girl all-stars of Bryant, was just as thrilling as the boys. The girls showed their very skillful handling of the ball throughout the whole game, thus proving a theory that "girls can do anything boys can do." This game also was a thriller, with both teams displaying excellent showmanship and sportsmanship. The "Trotters" pulled ahead at the end of the first quarter by a score of 4-2; at the end of the second quarter the "Lakers" were ahead of their opponents with a score of 9-4 and at the end of the third quarter were still ahead by a margin of six points 17-11 with the game finally ending with a score of 23-21, with the "Lakers" winning a hard-earned and trying game. High for the "Lakers" was Gerry Sadler while high for the "Trotters" was Ann Moore with Janet Walther trailing close behind.

Outstanding February Graduates

BY JOAN TODD

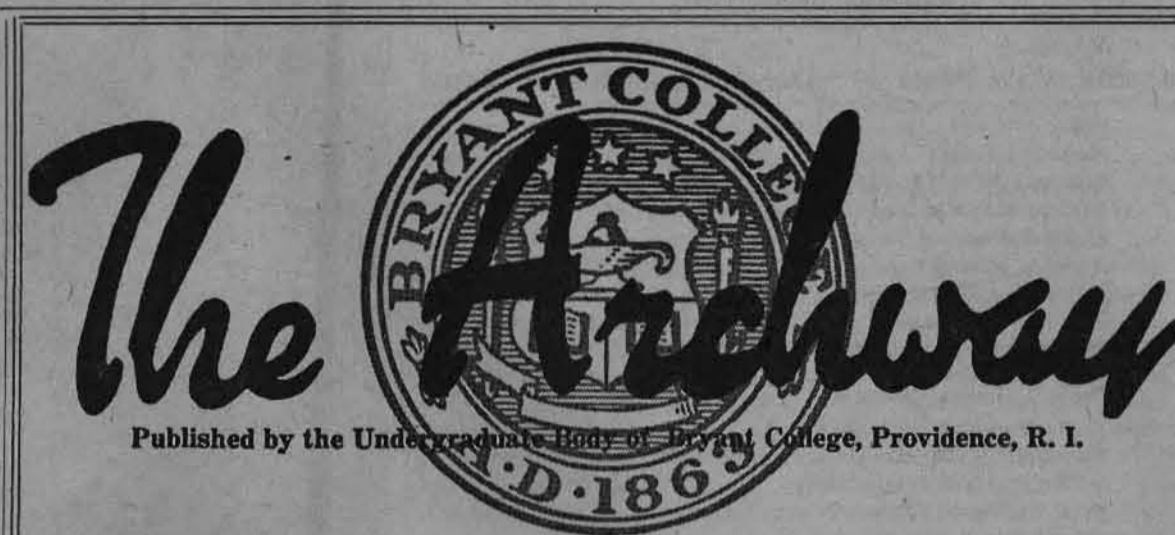

Edward Betros will long be remembered as the guy who could easily be nicknamed "The Personality Kid."

Eddie graduated from Searles High School in Great Barrington. He entered Bryant in September 1952, and since that time has established a record that anyone could be proud of.

As Treasurer of IRC in his second and third semester, Ed attended Vermont State College as representative of the group to the Vermont State Conference. He has been a member of the Glee Club during his entire time at Bryant and was elected vice-president of the group in his third semester. Upper classmen will remember Ed's part in "Bryant Brevities" and his fine acting in "Annie Get Your Gun." He was treasurer of the Masquers his third semester and a member since he entered Bryant. He recently played the role of "Jack" in "Mother Is A Freshman." Ed is the vice president of the Student Senate to which he has contributed many ideas. He is also a representative to the Greek Letter Council.

Eddie's achievements for his fraternity Phi Sigma Nu have been indeed outstanding. He was secretary his third and fourth semester, and was elected president his fifth semester. Under his able administration, the fraternity won the dance trophy, blood drive trophy, and the Sno' Queen trophy. He has been instrumental in establishing a closer bond with National Headquarters, and along with Bob George was instrumental in organizing Phi Sig's fabulous Alumni Weekend last year. He has been on the basketball and bowling team all semesters, and is one of the top bowlers in the league this year.

As a member of the ARCHWAY staff, Ed was a member of the Circulation Department his fourth semester, and was appointed Sports Editor his fifth semester. Eddie formulated the plans for the All-Star Benefit Game this year, in behalf of the Genie Fund.

Student Waiting Time Limited to Ten Minutes

Effective with the beginning of the second semester the college administration is giving official status to a practice common in other colleges but not, until now, a matter of specific regulation at Bryant.

The time a class must wait for an instructor to arrive is specifically limited to ten minutes beyond the scheduled starting time for that class. Time is to be measured by the official school time as indicated by the clocks in the building where the class is scheduled unless it is clear that such clocks are out of order.

The presumption to be drawn at the end of ten minutes is that the instructor will not be there. If, however, that presumption is not valid because the instructor is in sight or has sent a message to the effect that he will arrive late, cuts will be given those who do not attend the class.

New Ruling on Elimination of Excess "D" Grades

Effective with the semester beginning February 21, 1955, excessive hours of "D" grades which make a student ineligible for a "degree" may be eliminated only after receiving the approval of the Faculty Committee on Scholastic Standing.

To win such approval the student must show the existence of some condition which prevented his doing his best work.

No course may be repeated more than once without special permission of the Committee on Scholastic Standing, and such approval shall be given under very unusual circumstances.

Business Management Major to Begin in Evening Division

Professor Joseph R. Santos, Director of the evening division, has announced a new major program in "Business Management" beginning with the mid-winter term.

Four of these courses will begin with the term, which starts, February 7; these are "Industrial Management," "Employee Training," "Personnel Administration," and "Human Relations for Supervisors and Foremen." Fifty courses will also be given in Accounting and Mathematics, Business English, Economics and Finance, Business Law, Marketing, Psychology, Sales and Advertising, Transportation, Typewriting, Shorthand, and Office Practice.

The Evening Division offers night school students the opportunity to study for degrees, diplomas, and certificates. Students may choose one, two, or three courses. A program of vocational guidance is offered by the Director.

Those interested in the details of the curriculum may write to the College for an Evening Division Bulletin. Registrations are now being accepted at the Administration Building, 154 Hope Street, Providence, Rhode Island.

First Senior Banquet

The February graduates enjoyed a dinner-dance in the Commodore Room of Johnson's Hummocks on Saturday, January 22.

Al Lipon, master of ceremonies, introduced Mr. McCabe, who spoke on personnel work.

Vin Bottoni and his orchestra provided music for dancing after the dinner.

The editor-in-chief and the staff wish Prof. Arthur K. Smith, their advisor and friend, a quick and complete recovery from his recent surgery.

We of the paper miss Mr. Smith's guidance and advice in the operation of our paper. His suggestions and corrections have become a necessary part in the smooth function of publications, and we are looking forward to next semester with anticipation for his return.

Alumni Council Elects Officers

At a dinner meeting at Johnson's Hummocks on Dec. 10 the Bryant College Alumni Council elected the following officers:

President

Raymond H. Hawksley '29. As reported in the October "Bulletin" Ray has—for many years—been active in Providence civic and church organizations. Treasurer of East Providence from 1946 to 1948, Ray has been General Treasurer for the State of Rhode Island since 1948 having been reelected in 1950, 1952 and 1954. He is married to the former Helen Baker and has two girls, Diane and Donna.

First Vice-President

George E. Bockstael '39, 3 Barber Ave., Warwick. George was formerly Professor of Shorthand and Mathematics at Bryant and is now a teacher in the Business Department of the Nelson W. Aldrich High School in Warwick. Mrs. Bockstael (Olive Thomas) graduated from Bryant in 1936. They have two boys.

Second Vice-President

Tommy Masso '18, 38 George St., Centredale, R. I. For 27 years until 1945—Tommy was associated with what is now the Plantations Bank but was then known first as the Metropolitan Trust Company and later as the Lincoln Trust Company. All his life he has been devoted to music and with his two sons (Tommy, Jr., graduated from Bryant in 1951) he now directs the Tommy Masso Orchestras. His wife, the former Helen Thibodeau, plays the piano, organ and harp. They have four children and seven grandchildren.

Treasurer

George J. Vieira '50, 8 McKinley Avenue, Providence. George is a brother of Beta Sigma Chi and was a Senate member in College. He is now in the Audit Dept. at the Head Office of the Plantations Bank. His wife is the former Mathilda Campbell of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Secretary

Mrs. Thomas J. Hoey '33, 9 Leonard St., N. Attleboro, Mass. Rita (Cassells) has been associated with Bryant College in a variety of capacities since 1933. She is now Secretary to President Jacobs. Her husband is in the jewelry business in Attleboro and they have a small son "Kevin" now five and a half.

Open House Proves To Be Enjoyable Social Success

"Hurry up with that crepe paper!" "How about a thumb tack?" "Where's the punch bowl?" These were familiar phrases in the girls' dorms Wednesday night, January 19, as every girl's dorm prepared for that gala affair—OPEN HOUSE.

The Bryant boys had "a peak behind the scenes" as all the girls' dorms either carried out a special decorating theme or entertained on a home-like atmosphere. Gregg Hall displayed a French theme, and Stowell Hall was suddenly changed into "Hernando's Hideaway." Refreshments and dancing were enjoyed at all the houses.

The boys held their Open House on January 26, and gave the girls a chance to see "how the other half lives."

Comery House used Valentine's Day as their theme, and the other dorms also opened their doors in a wide welcome to all of their visitors.

In past years Open House has been held early in the fall, but was postponed this year until January because of the many activities that were already planned for the fall.

Mrs. Austin, Housemother of Parks House, acts as hostess when female dorm students visit men's abode at open house time.

What Will You Do?

There's a story told about an old Scotch highlander who had been a shepherd all his life. Roaming the hills one day, he came upon a botanist who was examining a single, blue and white, bell-shaped flower. The old shepherd had seen millions of these; but as the excited botanist placed the blossom in his withered hand, he was surprisingly affected; tears streamed down his wind-burned face as he, too, caught the spirit of the full beauty of that flower. Responding to the scientist's question as to why he was crying, the old man said this: "I'm just thinking of the thousands—and millions of these beautiful flowers that I've ground to dust beneath my feet as I've roamed the hills these many years!"

Through your life, how many times have you come upon whole "fields of flowers"—fields of opportunities, each one as beautiful as a flower—and then trampled them to nothing as you've hurried on? Right now, you are in the midst of a vast field of opportunities. Some of us will stay here at Bryant for another semester or more; and it's up to us whether we "pick" our flowers of opportunity, admire them, and put them to use; or whether we trample them into the dust. What you do with your opportunities is up to only you! Then there are some who'll be leaving Bryant in another week or two. As you stop for a moment to "take inventory," think about how you've been doing. Have you taken each opportunity as it came along, "picked" it, admired it, used it; or have you trampled and ground to dust what could have been yours? It was up to you!

Whether you'll be here or somewhere else when next semester rolls around, there'll still be new fields of opportunity awaiting you. They're there for you to "pick" and to use; or for you to trample under foot as you rush along. Where will you be walking?

DICK ANDERSON

What Are You Here For?

Pause a moment in the hustle and bustle of this final week of classes and ask yourself this question: What am I here for?

Are you attending college to postpone going to work? to postpone military service? to take advantage of the G. I. Bill? to find a husband? to make social contacts? or to prepare yourself for a successful career in business?

Each year thousands of students graduate from colleges and enter the business world. Competition for the better positions is terrific. Only well-prepared, ambitious, industrious, likeable individuals reach the pinnacle of success.

Now, as this semester draws to a close, you should honestly appraise yourself. If you are not in college to learn how to reach this pinnacle of success and to increase your over-all knowledge, you are wasting your time.

Fund Committee. She has been a member of the Newman Club for two years and is now on the Planning Committee for that organization.

A member of Sigma Iota Beta, Vy was elected vice-president her third semester and advanced to the office of president her fourth.

Incidentally, Vyra is in the Executive Secretarial Course, a medical major, and is the only medical secretary to be graduated this February.

Vyra's plans for the future are wholly complete; however, she wants to become a private secretary in a large company. Vyra says about Bryant, "The two most hectic years of my life, but they have also been most satisfying."

Another person holding a "top spot" as one of the outstanding February graduates is Tom LaBarre who hails from Hartford, Connecticut.

Vyra Imondi

Tom graduated from Bulkeley High in Hartford and Simonds High in Warner, New Hampshire. His activities back home included Treasurer of the Senior Class, Captain of baseball team that won the Regional championship, and Chairman of the High School Winter Carnival.

Tom started in at Bryant in September 1952 in the College Prep course; and, even though working forced him to give up his extra curricular activities his third and fourth semesters, his record of accomplishments his first two semesters is one not easily forgotten.

In his first semester, Tom was President of Division I-1, Vice-President of the Freshman class, on the Board of Directors of the BA & A Society, and Treasurer of Beta Sigma Chi, his fraternity.

His second semester, he was elected President of Beta Sigma Chi, in view of the fine work he did as Treasurer. He again served on the BA & A Society Board of Directors, was a representative to Greek Letter Council, and did a fine job as President of the Student Senate. He was basketball scorer his second semester and softball scorer his first semester.

Tom's favorite sport is golf. He states that he would be perfectly content to do nothing but play golf. His favorite food is lobster (at Johnson's Hummocks.)

Tom's plans after graduation are to work for McDowell Diamond, Investment Brokers in Providence. It will be wedding bells for him in May, and he plans to make Rhode Island his home.

Tom's statement about Bryant is simply this: "I wish that I could have remained as active in my third and fourth semesters as I did in my first two."

Here's a gal that's very well known around school, especially in the field of sports. Ann Moore hails from Putnam, Connecticut, and attended high school there before coming to Bryant.

Ann has been a busy girl here at Bryant. She has been Athletic Director of her sorority, Sigma Iota Beta, her second, third and fourth semesters, and a member of Glee

Tom LaBarre

Club and Masquers, her first, second, and third semesters, respectively.

As a member of the ARCHWAY staff, Ann is an important figure in the Sports department. And, who could be better qualified to write about sports than Ann, who has played a leading role in the department.

Entertainment During Vacation For Young and Old

By CHESTER NOREK

Did you ever say to yourself, "Right after exams, I'm going out and have a good time."

Well, now you can, thanks to the Woonsocket Junior Chamber of Commerce. Starting on Wednesday, February 16, at 6:00 p.m., the 1955 Mardi Gras officially gets under way with the announcement of the Mardi Gras Queen.

The great celebration will be ruled over by King Jace, II, whose identity is known only to one person — the chairman of the Mardi Gras event. Rumor has it that if anyone knows the Kings name; he can claim a reward.

In Woonsocket, the "New Orleans of the North," the visitors to the city will see an International Travel Show and Exhibit. Free orchids are being flown in from Hawaii to be given away at the show.

On the evening of the 16th, a testimonial for 12 of Woonsocket's "famous sons" will take place. Among those attending will be Gabby Hartnett, one of baseball's finest catchers, and Eileen Farrell, nationally known radio, television and operatic star.

From the 19th to the 21st, it is expected that 250,000 people will view three spectacular parades. At 10:30 a.m. on the 19th, the first Mardi Gras Parade will take place. Floats and bands from all over the New England area will be seen.

On February 20, at 2:30 p.m., the U. S. Air Force Band will lead off the parade whose theme will be "Great Moments in American History". All floats in this parade will use this theme for their displays.

The best bands and floats of these two parades will parade on the evening of the 21st which starts at 6 p.m. sharp.

The climax of the pre-lenten celebration will be the high Costume-Masquerade Ball of King Jace II. The success of the ball last year has caused it to be limited this year to "invitation only". (Any one interested in

The Sports Whirl

By ED BETROS

Since this is my last article, I want to take this opportunity to thank you for allowing me to be Sports Editor and receiving my column as part of The Archway.

Again I failed in one of my predictions. Anne Moore's "Trotters" were defeated by Nora Bestwick's "Lakers" in an evenly matched and beautifully played game. The players, even though from different sororities, worked very well together. My pick for the outstanding player of the game would be Janet Walther of the "Trotters." Janet paced the "Trotters" in the game with perfect shooting and excellent passing. It was her drive that made the game close. The "Lakers," sparked by Jerry Saddler, Jackie Ducharme, and Nora Bestwick, provided them with enough scoring punch and guarding ability to win the game with comparative ease.

The second game made my other prediction come true. The Night League displayed superiority over the Day League by handily defeating them by a score of 66 to 48. My choice for the outstanding player of this game would be Phil MacManus, of the Night League. His keen eye and driving layups provided him with 28 points, high for the game. Bernie Sherwill's play making and Joe Trepani's rebounding showed the caliber of the Night League. The Day League's individual star, in my opinion, is Joe Patoniak. Even though he got four fouls against him in the first half, his rebounding and beautiful jump shots kept the Day League within striking distance. When Joe "fouled out," Charlie Heelan and Bill Dewey picked up where Joe left off. All in all, it was a game well worth watching.

Congratulations to Sigma Iota Chi for defeating Sigma Iota Beta in the playoffs of the first round in girls' basketball. These two outstanding girl teams have provided many thrills for the audience on the basketball court.

Congratulations are also in order to Frank Ziffero and Pete Markov for the excellent job they have done as scorer and timer throughout the basketball season.

Before finally putting this column to rest, I would like to remind everyone to always remember that sportsmanship in whatever you do is an invaluable asset. It can mark the secret of success for an individual or a team.

Phi Sig Sets Three String Record; Wins Second Round Bowling

By ED BETROS

Two weeks ago Phi Sig, well on their way to the second round victory in men's bowling, broke the record of high 3-string total with a 1672. Last week Alpha Theta Chi, second place in the second round, came back and broke Phi Sig's record with a 1690 and also took four points from Chi Gamma Iota. They hit this score with four men and the low scores of Chi Gam's. That's pretty good bowling. Jack Hall rolled 396 to lead Alpha Theta. Farcas paced the losers with 338.

That same day Phi Sig took four from Kappa Tau and beat the record set by Alpha Theta by rolling 1696, just short of 1700. In bowling this score, they also broke the single string total with 582. Dante Ursini paced the winners with 370 while Steve Kacerick was high for the losers with 315.

Tau Epsilon won four from Sigma Lambda Pi by forfeit.

Beta Sigma Chi gave Beta Iota Beta trouble but lost 4. Joe Sanderson was high for the winners with 331, and Herb Schaller paced the losers with 324.

The standings as of January 26 are:

Basketball Season Extended

By CHUCK JOURDENAIS

Good news for basketball "enthusiasts" was announced last week. Bernie Sherwill, Athletic Director, said that the "hoop" season would be extended until March in both day and night leagues. The big question now is, "Will the top teams be able to hold their positions with these extra games being played in this second round?" Both leagues now will play twice as many games as they did in the first round.

Let's take a look at the day league first. Alpha Theta Chi is still holding the first place spot with the Newman Club and Tau Epsilon second and third respectively. This league has changed hands many times so far, and from the looks of it, will continue changing. Not only is Alpha Theta Chi and the Newman Club bidding for the first place "laurels," but Tau Epsilon and Kappa Tau have shown great strength, which has changed the complexion of the day league.

A good example of this rough league is the game between Tau Epsilon and Kappa Tau last week. Before this game, Tau Epsilon had been going strong with its aces Don Wilcox and Ronnie Sher pacing the team to a decisive victory against Alpha Theta Chi. Kappa Tau had boasted a record of three wins out of their last four games. This game was destined to be a good battle, with both these teams at their "peak;" and that it was, with the yellow and blue of K. T. edging out an overtime victory of 50 to 48. Top scoring honors went to Ronnie Sher and Al Gustafson with 14 and 12 points respectively.

The night league, with Chi Gamma Iota on top, should prove just as interesting. Phi Sigma Nu, winners of the first round, have been getting very strong; and with these extra games, they are certainly not out of the running in this round. The team which has shown great progress and good teamwork is Beta Sigma Chi with their All-Star center Dick Mellen and "jumping" Jim DiOrio pacing their teammates to many victories. I must admit that "I'm confused." I guess the best thing for all of us to do is just sit back and let the cards fall as they may.

I believe that this change of schedule will definitely change the standings of both leagues more than once before the season is over, but Chi Gamma Iota still seems to have just a slight edge in the night league. No comment on the day league.

Sigma Iota Chi Emerges Victorious In First Half

By ANNE MOORE

The game of games took place on Wednesday, January 26, when Sigma Iota Chi and Sigma Iota Beta clashed on the basketball court to decide the winner of the first round. SIB and SIC had ended the first half of play tied for first place. Tension gripped the spectators and players alike.

During the first period, it seemed as though SIC's forwards just couldn't miss the basket. Everything they threw up went in. SIB's defense, no matter what they tried, couldn't stop this onslaught. However, during the second quarter, things settled down and the SIB girls added some pep to their game and narrowed the margin to only three points.

In the third quarter the game was broken wide open. SIC's Betty Brown and Phil Ashby completely broke through SIB's defenses and led SIC to a 13 point lead. Phil

Ashby also excelled under the boards which was a very important factor in the period.

Demonstrating some of the finest passwork seen this year, SIC iced the game in the early part of the fourth period. SIB's forwards were constantly checked in their efforts to score, and SIC ended up the game on the long end of a 41 to 26 score.

Sigma Iota Chi is now the first round winners, and it will be interesting to see what happens in the second round. Will these two teams battle it out again or will another team upset the applecart?

Sigma Iota Beta Ends Second Round Bowling With 22-2 Record

By CAROL KAHN

The girls' bowling league for the second round ended on Tuesday, January 25. It is still undetermined whether or not there will be a third round. The athletic directors of the sororities are to meet with the student athletic director to decide whether the girls want to bowl another round. At the present time, SIB leads the league with a 22-2 record.

An odd coincidence occurred at the alleys last Tuesday. Not one of the six teams bowling took the entire 4 points. Sigma Lambda Theta took three points from Kappa Delta Kappa. Theta missed winning all four points by losing the last string by a close 9 pins. High scorer for Theta was Arlene Osielski with 100, and Bette Lou Burdick was high for KDK with a 106.

SIC was handicapped in their match with Beta Sigma Gamma; because they had only four players and had to use a dummy score. Nevertheless, SIC did manage to win three points. SIC's high scorer was Barbara Maisano with a 97, and Paula Bernzweig hit a 96 for Beta Sigma Gamma.

One of the most exciting matches of the day was between first place Sigma Iota Beta and Phi Upsilon. SIB lost the first string by only 2 pins but came back strong in the next two strings to salvage three points. SIB took scoring honors for the day by hitting 1376 points for the team high triple.

Carol Kahn, SIB, rolled 116 for the day's high individual single. Thelma Emery and Kay Luck tied for Phi Up's high with each hitting 107. In the second string SIB had a total pinfall of 523 for the five girls bowling. This represents an excellent average of over 100 for each girl.

"Bryant's View"

By HANK HIRSCH

On Thursday, January 20, Professor Louise H. Cronk presented a talk on the current Bryant's View entitled "Emphasis — A Key to Thought and Action." Professor Cronk, in her speech, described how to write more forceful business letters. A step-by-step explanation, beginning with careful sentence structure and the selection of essential facts, pointed out what makes a letter compelling and persuasive.

Miss Cronk said, "The first step to insure a forceful letter is to decide what factor to stress. Some ideas require emphasis. Others require an especially light touch. Keep the beginning and ending positions of a letter, then, for the ideas with which you wish to impress your reader." Miss Cronk then discussed emphasis in terms of the different types of letters: request, application, and letters of receipt. Early Education in Rhode Island

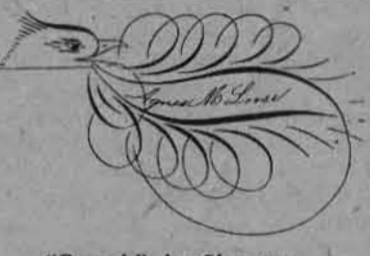

Mr. Robert Drew-Bear, Alumni Secretary and Director of Student Activities at Bryant, presented a very informative and interesting talk on education in this state during colonial times on the evening of January 27, on the Bryant's View radio program.

In his talk Mr. Drew-Bear described how education has grown out of the little one room school to the big school of today. In connection with this he said, "In contrast to the multi-million dollar schools of today the little schoolhouse of the early days consisted of merely four walls, a roof, and three or four windows." He further described some of the quaint, to our standards, customs of the early days of the State. Some of these customs that he talked about were: slate pencils, the early schoolbooks, boarding out of teachers, and the use of the Bible and almanacs to keep records in.

Mr. Drew-Bear also emphasized the matter of handwriting and penmanship in the early colonial days. He said, "Special pains were taken in writing a name in a book. Penmanship was a fine art in colonial days, the one indispensable accomplishment of a school teacher. Sometimes the book-owner's name is seen drawn with much care in a little wreath or circle of ornamentation known as a "conceit." Going on further, Mr. Drew-Bear said, "The handwriting in all these ancient books is very different from our modern penmanship, invariably bearing the appearance — not exactly of much labor — but of much care, as if the writer did not use a pen every day — did not become too familiar with that weighty implement, and hence had a vast respect for it when he did take it in hand."

As a sidelight, Mr. Drew-Bear has informed this reporter that the excellent penmanship styles of colonial times were carried right into Bryant College toward the end of the 19th century. A sample of the art of penmanship taught at Bryant College during that period is reproduced below.

role in basketball, softball, and bowling all her semesters, who has been Bowling Director, and who has been a member of the Varsity Club for two semesters?

Ann was a member of the International Relations Club her first semester, is and has been a member of the BA & A Society, and was Dorm Treasurer of Stowell Hall last year.

Ann's high school background included such activities as Student Leaders' Club, basketball, softball, pingpong, badminton, tennis, volleyball, Glee Club, Business Club, Dramatics Club, Mixed Chorus, and Sports Club, plus coaching basketball as an outside activity.

Ann's future plans are to live in Hartford and work in an insurance company. Her main love is sports; with horses and sailing holding a close second place. Her favorite food is Italian food.

Ann has this to say about Bryant: "Bryant College has taught me a lot, not only in the Secretarial field but also in life itself—especially how to get along with people. You can learn more living in a dorm for two years than in a lifetime. One thing I shall always remember about Bryant is the cordial way in which the people, including the Administration, greet you and make friends so easily."

Ed Vybral can be classed as one of the most talented musicians at Bryant. Ed plays the piano professionally and is also quite accomplished at playing the violin and arranging musical numbers. His piano solo in "Bryant Brevities", his violin and piano solo in the "Pops Concert", and his swell performances in other Bryant activities will long be remembered.

A member of Chi Gamma Iota, Ed was elected assistant treasurer his second semester and president his fourth semester. He has played softball for his fraternity for two semesters.

Ed has been president of the Greek Letter Council this past semester, and was a representative to the Student Senate and Greek Letter Council his second, third, and fourth semesters. During his tenor as president of the GLC, the formulation of the Greek Letter Scholastic Award took place, and the success of another Christmas party for underprivileged children was recorded.

Ed's overall statement about Bryant is: "When one goes to college, no matter what college it is, there is a certain broadening effect. In the two years that I have been here, I have learned a lot about people and I think the greatest education that can be gotten is the association and the relations people have with each other. My association with Bryant College, the students, and the various organizations, have certainly added to my social and educational background for the coming years."
