S.I.C. to Hold February Formal

By Amy Tella

S.I.C. is still doing extremely well in the duck pin bowling competition. With only one more team to defeat at this writing, the sisters are hopeful of obtaining the bowling trophy this semester.

As a sort of farewell gesture to all before everyone goes his separate way on the L-O-N-G vacation, Phi Sigma Nu held a most successful Christmas party for the sisters, brothers, and pledges. Everyone had a wonderful time, and all looking forward to another year together.

Congratulations are also in order for the new pledges of S.I.C. However, before the pledges can become active sisters they must complete three formal degrees. This degree process is standard procedure with all national sororities. All those completing the three degrees will be honored at the Pledge Formal to be held in February.

Alpha Theta Chi, Zeta Sigma Omicron Awarded Blood Drive Plaques

Alpha Theta Chi and Zeta Sigma Omicron were the top fraternity and sorority donating blood in the 1960 Blood Drive.

Alpha Theta Chi has won the Blood Drive twice in a row and was co-winner in 1959. This was the first time for Zeta Sigma Omicron.

Both were presented with plaques inscribed: "Winner — November 1960 Blood Drive," and letters of congratulations by Dave Thompson, Blood Drive Chairman. The presentations were made at the November 21, Greek Letter Council Meeting. President Louie Vordile accepted the plaque for Alpha Theta Chi, and President Betty Walenda accepted for Zeta Sigma Omicron.

The Blood Drive was held November 17, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., in the new infirmary in Gardner Hall. Free juice, coffee, and donuts were served to all those donating blood. Although the total pints of blood donated was less than 50% of last year's total, the reserve at the Rhode Island Hospital Blood Bank has been replenished for the current school year. Many thanks go out to all those who helped make the Blood Drive as successful as it was. Special thanks and congratulations are in order to Alpha Theta Chi and Zeta Sigma Omicron. All students are reminded that to replenish the reserve of blood with Rhode Island Hospital so that any graduate or present student of Bryant College who needs blood for himself or for any member of his immediate family may draw on this reserve instead of paying for the blood needed. If you have need to draw on this reserve, contact Ken Cedergrén, Student Activities Director.

GI Homes Resold In Normal Way

GI homes acquired by Veterans Administration are sold in the same way that houses are usually sold by individuals—through local real estate brokers, John L. Reavey, manager of VA's Providence office explained today.

Obtained from lenders in connection with claims paid on GI loans, the houses are sold by VA to recover as much of the Government's guaranty payment as possible, Reavey said.

Sale of these homes may be financed by the Government on liberal terms, including low down payments and long repayment periods, Reavey pointed out, and the purchasers need not be veterans.

Contrary to a widely-held belief, the houses are sold at their current market value and not on a "Government surplus" basis, Reavey emphasized.

A sorority means many things many people. To the new "almost sisters" of Sigma Iota Beta, the sisters hope it will mean this to them.

A sorority is to grow in—
A land of opportunity
That nurtures personality,
Encouraging potentiality.
A sorority is to grow in—
A fertile soil for seeds of laughter
A happy time to remember after
The little tears along life's way
Are needed like the rainy day—
To make the brown seeds flower
A sorority is to grow in—
A dark soil rich in memories
Of things since passed that say to u—
What a harvest this will be.
A golden harvest—S.I.B.

Beta Sig To Continue "Help" Week Idea

By Robert Moody

Beta Sig will have Help Week in place of Hell Week. Initiated by a past Beta president, Help Week has proven to be very successful for the betterment of the community. Pete Rudd, Beta's current president, will continue this tradition. During this week Beta has their prospective brothers clean apartments, wash cars, and paint a home of some needy charity organization.

Introduced at Kappa Tau's "Turkey Trot," Lynne Lewis, Beta Sigma Chi's choice for Snow Queen, proved to have a great deal of personality and poise, ties necessary for a Snow Queen. The brothers and sisters with their pledges plan to take an active campaign for their candidate Lynne Lewis.

Beta's bowling team record shows room for improvement that is sure to come. The record of five losses and seven wins is not like the team that placed 3rd in the playoffs last semester. Led by Gene Rutkowski, Beta's key bowler, and four of the original team, Beta hopes to start a hot winning streak.

Peace in the World at a Time of Joy

With all the trouble in the world today, it is seldom that we can retire without thinking of when the fatal button will be pushed to extinguish man from the earth. Headlines of unrest claim the attention of all and fill our minds with the dread of war.

There is something we can all do to ease these overpowering tensions, and that is to search into ourselves for the peace that is at the root of all this trouble—peace of mind.

Gaining peace of mind can be termed the goal of all mankind, for a peaceful mind does not seek to upset but is content with its circumstances. At this time of year when joy and holiness predominate, we should set as our goal the wiping out of the evils of a "dog eat dog" society. We should try to lead a life in which we are content to live as good neighbors, as good human beings, as good Americans, and most important as good children of God.

THE TRUE MEANING

By Everette Silva

Do you remember the gifts you received last December 25, or the meal you ate, or the new clothes you sported around town? Most of us would hardly remember these things not because they happened a year ago, but because they are really so immaterial to the true meaning of Christmas. For a minute or two on Christmas day, think back to what Christmas was meant to mean when first placed on the calendar. The emphasis was not meant to be placed on the intangible things but the true to life being who is Christ. This is his birthday and just as we have ours celebrated with us as the center of attraction we should consider Christ as the center of our thoughts on this His birthday.

When receiving that long awaited for gift, and eating that delicious meal placed before you, recall your fortunes and all that you have to be thankful for with your heart and mind opened to Christ. Just as the three kings bearing gifts travelled far, so must we travel far seeking the true meaning of Christmas.

TO YOU ON CHRISTMAS

By Paul Orsina

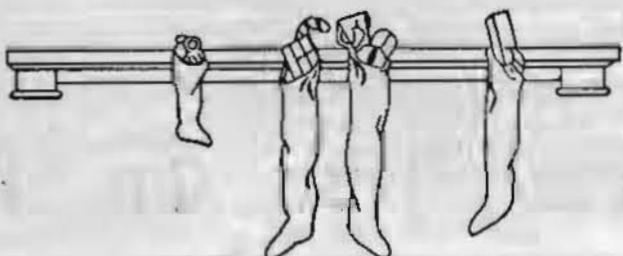

As the weeks roll by and the hustle and bustle of the Christmas season comes upon us, let us take time out to give a little thought to this joyous time.

As we ride through the cities and towns of Rhode Island, we become even more aware of the Christmas season. The Christmas decorations, crowded stores, and rushing people are a sure sign that Christmas is coming. Prospering merchants, frantic shoppers, and Santa Claus-minded children all combine to create the Christmas spirit. The commercialized Christmas is here.

Do the bright lights of Christmas blind its true meaning? Have we forgotten that the Feast of Christmas commemorates the birth of Christ? Will Christ be a part of your Christmas?

What a contrast between the Christmas of today and the quite peaceful Nativity of 1960 years ago. The birth of Jesus Christ is the reason we celebrate Christmas. This event should be in the hearts and minds of all of us. The quiet preparations of the churches, the Nativity scenes, the carole singers, and the commonly sung Christmas hymns all combine to help dim the commercial lights of Christmas. When we give gifts this Christmas, let's do it in the same spirit as the original hearers of Christmas gifts--The Three Wise Men. Christmas this year will not be commercialized if this concept of gift giving is kept in mind.

Let's all do our part to make this Christmas a blessed one. Each and every one of us can do our share to keep Christ in Christmas. We of the Newman Club extend our best wishes to you for a Blessed Christmas. Remember: CHRIST OUR SAVIOR WAS BORN ON CHRISTMAS DAY.

Archway Christmas Message, 1960

The wish I have for you this Christmas is a princely one . . . PEACE. It is my deepest desire that this year of 1960 bring you the peace that dwells within yourself, that divine contentment that comes from the heart which seeks the true meaning of this spiritual season; a heart that joins with others, that draws its strength from sacrifice and a vision of holiness unfolded in an antique land. This peace, a word used in its highest sense, can be the single star that breaks the night of the world's unrest. Live with it, spread its sacred message. Let it lift up your every day as it shapes the unique course of Christmas. Enjoy this peace in the bosom of your family and with your friends. Very soon I hope to leave my sick bed and resume my happy hours with you on our campus where, with God's help, we pursue the divine purpose of cultivating our minds and our hearts for peace and for the good of all mankind.

The Day

By Matt Boland

It didn't seem so strange that it should rain on this day. It was always as long as Victor could remember anyway, a very dreary day. In the minds of most people it seemed that it wasn't always this way. It seemed that the day was something special but no one knew why. THE DAY had a special name too, a strange name to be sure, but that only added to the aura of mystery surrounding it.

As Victor hurried along on his way to work in the village, he bundled his coat about him in a futile attempt to keep out the bitter cold. His tattered coat was little protection against the raw, sea-wind biting into him. It seemed that even the weather was especially vindictive on THE DAY. Victor noticed several other people whom he worked with scuttling toward the low building which served as shelter during the working hours.

He was tempted several times to call out in recognition to one of his fellow employ. He thought better of the idea. He was well aware of the penalty that the government had levied against unnecessary talking in public. And it seemed that even the police took special pleasure in harassing the workers on this DAY. And even if he wasn't caught, suppose someone reported him? No, Victor wasn't going to take any chances on this DAY. It was a lonely existence that Victor lived but at least he was alive and in good health. These were the important things these days, they had to be; it was all the workers were allowed.

Victor wondered if it had always been like this or if it was just another of the many circumstances of the war. He tried desperately to remember what it had been like in the past but he knew it was a hopeless attempt. No one remembered very much of what went on before the war. He wondered if everything had always been so desolate and melancholy. Victor quickly dispelled these thoughts from his mind by assuming, quite naturally, that if things had been better the war never would have started. There was always hope for a brighter future.

As he reached the top of the hill he paused for a moment and fastened his gaze upon the village before him. It was a scene he knew well, the path leading to the main building and its smaller arteries, cut like a rusted scythe through the charred and gully infested bow.

The cold bleak view served only to jolt Victor back into the damp world of reality. He walked hurriedly down the muddy, well-trodden pathway. As he reached the iron gate to the main building, its icy foreboding features emphasized once again the very hopelessness of the world in which he lived.

As Victor removed his tattered jacket, the steel-grey walls of his cubicle reminded him once more that this was THE DAY. The thought continued to throb through his brain. What was this strange yearning that made him feel, so strongly? Why did he feel this day had a special significance of hope when actually there was none? Had something important happened sometime before the war to make this day unique? What was this strange, compelling thought about this DAY with the strange name?

All these questions went unanswered as Victor seated himself at his desk at the War Ministry and he opened his Log book to start THE DAY . . . Christmas Day, 1974.

THE ORGANIZATION MAN

By William H. Whyte, Jr.

Concisely, the Organization man is designated to be the middle-class American who has left home spiritually as well as physically, to take the vows of organization life. He can be found in corporations, laboratories, foundations, law factories, and in the hierarchies of our churches. He not only works for The Organization; he belongs to it. And Frank Keenan sets the temper of America.

The organization man is at the center of a deep conflict in American values. The old precepts of the Protestant Ethic, to which he still gives lip service, simply do not harmonize with the kind of group life he has to live. Intellectually, it is not the defects of organization life that misconstrue decision for him but its very beneficence. To resolve his doubts he is constructing a new faith—a Social Ethic that would make morally legitimate the increasing power of society over him.

This book follows the organization man from his pre-induction training in school to his further molding in The Organization itself. It describes the new standards of what is good and bad as these are defined in the popular fiction he reads and in the personality tests he takes (in an appendix is the score.) It follows him to the new suburbia, the packaged villages he finds so natural a habitat, and examines there his social life, his religion, and the schools in which his children are being taught to grow up, in their turn, as organization men.

Much of this book is a careful and fascinating examination of a new way of life. And part of this book is a reasoned, eloquent challenge to all of us not to be imprisoned by its beneficence, to resist its pressures, organization.

THE LAW AND THE PROFITS

By C. Northcote Parkinson

C. Northcote Parkinson, an Englishman with a long and distinguished academic career has been writing scholarly books since 1943. In 1957 there appeared Parkinson's Law, which REMAINED ON THE BEST SELLER LIST FOR AN extensive period of time. To quote the New York Times "Parkinson's Law makes wild and wonderful sense in a world awash with nonsense."

When Parkinson's Law was revealed to the world, business executives and bureaucrats everywhere had the chastening but stimulating experience of facing the facts of organizational life. Now further contemplation has led Professor Parkinson to consider other consequences of the inevitable and fruitless growth of organizations.

This time, the armies of now enlightened executives will have the pleasure of seeing Parkinson's dead-wit directed to their defense, for his theme in this book is taxation, and he develops it with the same limp clarity, the same elegant but barbed prose which introduced his first law. Much passion and many learned words have been spent on the rights and wrongs of taxes, but no author has, within such a modest range, so fully and finally dealt with the subject--its history from ancient times, its morality in all times-- and proposed so definite a program, based on the world's past experience and future prospects, to curb excessive taxation.

Parkinson's Second Law, like his First, is a matter of every day experience, manifest as soon as stated, as obvious as it is simple. Expenditure rises to meet income. Any individual, no matter how little education he may have, knows this, but its implications on a governmental scale have never been fully grasped.

It is perhaps revolution that he is preaching, but Professor Parkinson is such an urbane revolutionary man himself that his manifesto will delight all intelligent readers.

THE WASTE MAKERS

By Vance Packard

Vance Packard has done it again. His newest effort, The Waste Makers, has been 1. on the New York Times Best Seller list for three weeks. His two earlier novels were The Hidden Persuaders and The Status Seekers. All three books have become required reading material in many high school and college courses today. The Henry L. Jacobs Library has five copies of each of these books.

Vance Packard has made a continuous study of American society in his three latest books. The Hidden Persuaders is a highly controversial study of motivational research that was a national best seller and subsequently published in nine foreign languages. The Status Seekers brought a new term into the American language, was widely hailed as an astute analysis of American class consciousness today, and was a top best seller for a year.

In The Waste Makers, Mr. Packard now demonstrates that persuasion and a desire for social upgrading are no longer enough to sell the surplus of products industry produces. Productivity is now being maintained by such strategies as "planned obsolescence," and in startling—and to many, horrifying degree—has become a virtue and "product death" a watchword in American industry.

In his searching analysis and thorough airing of this hush-hush phase of industrial design and marketing, Mr. Packard gets to the heart of this new "philosophy of waste," tells who the waste makers are, how they operate, what they do to us. In his new book, we see the impact of waste-making on America's dwindling natural resources, its effect upon the consumer's pocketbook, and his mode of living, upon America's survival as an honest supplier in the export market—above all, its implications in the average citizen's whole way of life.

Intramural Basketball Games

By Wayne Miller

BEX 34—PHI SIG 28

In a battle to escape the cellar, BEX overcame a spirited PHI SIG team to win their first game of the season. This game was evenly fought as the score changed hands throughout the game. With McCall scoring 4 baskets in the first half, BEX led 20-17 at halftime. PHI SIG came strong in the third quarter behind baskets by O'Connor and Allen along with Miller's 3 foul shots but could not overcome BEX's early lead. Stinehour's 2 baskets in the last period iced the game for BEX. BEX was led in scoring by Cleland's 11 points with McCall and Stinehour getting 8 points apiece. PHI SIG's leading scorer was McDermott with 9 points, with O'Connor and Miller nabbing 7 and 6 points respectively.

KT 30—SIGMA LAMBDA 28

It seems each week in our intramural league season there is one upset. This week was no different with an inspired KT team playing their best game of the season to defeat SIGMA LAMBDA. Starting out in fast style, KT behind Rado and Cibroski built up an 11-6 lead at the period's end. KT played a defensive game the rest of the way holding down Sigma Lambda even though they were outscored by a valiant attempt by Sigma 13-6 in the 4th quarter. Cibroski and Del Gallo led KT in scoring with 11 and 7 points while David and Goldenberg led SIGMA LAMBDA with 13 and 12 points apiece.

TE 26—CHI GAM 25

TE at the top of the intramural league standings withstood a valiant try for a major upset by CHI GAM and eked by to keep their unbeaten record intact at 8 straight. The lead switched hands many times during the first half with Westcott and Chadwick controlling a major portion of the rebounds for CHI GAM. TE behind BILL BURCH'S 7 points in the third quarter started to pull away, but they had to withstand a great rush by CHI GAM being outscored 10-5 in the fourth quarter. TE's leading scorer was "Big" BILL BURCH with 11 points while CHI GAM was led in scoring by Buddy Westcott with 9 points.

AOX 27—KT 10

Showing continuing improvement AOX behind ART Pasquale's 9 points romped over KT. With a great height advantage over KT, AOX controlled the boards and the game. KT was outscored in the second quarter by 12-2 and could never catch up to their early disadvantage. AOX pressed KT a great deal of the time and their defensive tactics were a great help which enabled them to win their fourth game. AOX was led in scoring by Pasquale with 9 points, while Danny Orenberg chipped in with 7 "big" points. Del Gallo led KT with 5 points.

TE 60—SIGMA LAMBDA 24

TE showing their offensive strength ran away with the game. At no time throughout this contest was TE pressed as they coasted to one of their easiest victories of the season. The game was decided early in the first quarter with TE fast breaking and building up a 17-2 lead at the quarter's end. Most of their regulars sat out the second half giving the subs a chance to play. TE leading scorers were Smith and Burch with 10 while SIGMA LAMBDA was led by DAVID and GOLDENBERG with 10 points each.

LOUIE'S 52—BEX 28

Behind Griffen and Barber, LOUIE'S coasted to their fourth victory. LOUIE'S started out in a fast way, building up a quick 13-6 lead and were never pressed the rest of the way. With their superior height, they controlled the backboards and scored at will most of the way. They were led in scoring by Griffen and Barber with 17 and 14 points, while BEX was led by Stinehour and Cleland with 10 and 7 points each. LOUIE'S achieved their fifth victory when AO withdrew from the league, thus forfeiting their game to LOUIE'S. This week of play has brought the first half of the season to a close. League play will continue on January 3, with this writer wishing a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to all.

RECAPS

Jockey Bill Skuse booted in four winners last Saturday at Narragansett to hike his total for the meeting to 62. Skuse rode both ends of the Daily Double for the first half of his four winners—Stamp Ator in the first race and Ina Battle in the second race.

In the seventh race, Skuse rode San-Jo-Mar to a one-length victory and then mounted Charing Hall the 4-to-5 favorite of the eighth and feature race.

In winning the feature race, Charing Hall equalled his own best time of the meeting. His time for this six-furlong race was 1 minute 11 and 2/5 seconds.

The big news of the day was the 60-to-1 shot winner of the tenth race. Sob Out, a four-year-old who has run in nine races and never come in the money, was ridden by Charles Collins. Collins has ridden Sob Out in all of his nine races, and he finally hit pay dirt Saturday.

After the race, it was reported that someone had bet $400 on Sob Out, but all that could be confirmed was that eight $50 tickets were sold on Sob Out at one window.

Bryant Goes Nightclubbing For Gala Winter Week End; Student Senate Sponsors $5 Event January 20-22

By Rosilyn Pompilio

Perhaps the most gala and festive activity of the entire school year will be the "Winter Week End" sponsored by the Student Senate under the chairmanship of Paul Orsina.

The "Winter Week End's" activities will begin on Friday evening, January 20, 1961, at the beautiful and modern Colonial Motor Hotel. Here, the massive ballroom will be transformed into an authentic night club motif. Music will be provided by that well-known group Tony and the Abb.Tones. Entertaining at this function will be a well-known night club act.

Saturday afternoon, January 21, 1961, from 1-3 p.m. in the ballroom of the Colonial Motor Hotel, one of the finest groups of jazz musicians ever assembled for a college function, will perform for a two-hour jazz program. Many of the members of the group have played with such world renowned musicians as Stan Kenton. More information regarding the night club act and the jazz group will appear in a later edition.

Later that evening, the biggest event of the entire week end will be the formal dance, held once again in the exquisite ballroom of the Colonial Motor Hotel. The ballroom atmosphere will capture all the elegance, excitement and splendor of a truly magnificent evening. Once again, music will be provided by Tony Abbot who will lead the full orchestra. Dancing will be from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. and refreshments will be served during intermission.

Next on the schedule of activities will be a coffee hour served in the lounge of Gardner Hall, Sunday morning from 10 a.m. to 12. Breakfast will be served between 10:30 and 11:30. The remainder of the day will be left to the discretion of the students.

This "Winter Week End" is the first such event ever undertaken by a group of students of Bryant College. The activities planned promise to make this week end one of the most talked of and most remembered social functions of many years. Due to this fact, only 250 tickets will be sold. The members of the Student Senate urge you to purchase your tickets early. The price of this week-end of activities is only $5 per couple.

I HAVE ALWAYS HAD an abiding hatred for the bottom crust of rye bread. There is no particular reason for making this point, except that whenever I think of Fort Lauderdale, I think of rye bread. There is no particular reason for that either, but I have been thinking of Fort Lauderdale. Fort Lauderdale is "where the boys are." Right now, that is. Most of the time, serenity reigns in Fort Lauderdale. (The Chamber of Commerce will hate me; they say it never rains in Fort Lauderdale.) But, for two weeks, twenty thousand collegians descend on this peaceful community and take it apart, peace by peace. They call it Spring Vacation, but it's more like amateur night at Cope Canaveral. They capture Florida and throw the Keys away. But I shouldn't joke—not while people are holding mass prayer meetings for an early hurricane season.

This is "where the boys are." And girls, too. Such girls, it makes you dizzy to look at them. If you look long enough, you reach an advanced stage of dizziness called appro-dizzier. It's like being in love. That's what happened to me, and it will happen to you, too. Everywhere you turn—beaches full of them, motels and hotels full of them, cars full of them, pools full of them, bathing suits full of them. Ah, bathing suits . . . when the man said, "It's the little things in life that count," he must have been thinking of bathing suits. But mostly, it's the girls.

Girls in love, girls in trouble, bright girls with a future, not-so-bright girls with a past, rich girls in the lap of luxury, poor girls in any lap that'll have them, girls of every size and discretion. It isn't any wonder that this is "where the boys are." And the things that happen are wacky and wild and wicked and warmly wonderful "where the boys are." Someone should make a movie about it. Hey, someone did! M-G-M calls it "Where The Boys Are," starring Dolores Hart, George Hamilton, Yvette Mimieux, Jim Hutton, Barbara Nichols, Paula Prentiss, with Frank Gorshin and introducing popular recording star Connie Francis in her first star role. You'll want to see all the things that happen "Where The Boys Are."

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer presents
"WHERE THE BOYS ARE"
A Euterpe production in CinemaScope and METROCOLOR.
Screenplay by George Wells, based on the novel by Glendon Swarthout.
Directed by Henry Levin.

ABC Announces Essay Contest Related to Edward P. Morgan Show

"What Do You Most Want The United States To Do At Home And Abroad In The Sixties?" was announced today as the title of an essay contest sponsored by the American Broadcasting Radio Network, in connection with its distinguished journalist-broadcaster Edward P. Morgan.

In announcing the contest, which is open to all university and college undergraduates, Mr. Morgan stated, "President-Elect Kennedy says the country must move ahead to a 'new frontier.' The people with the greatest stake in this movement are the men and women known as 'America's youth,' so it is fitting they should be asked what they most want the United States to accomplish at home and abroad in the 1960's, for on their minds and energies depends, in great measure, the success of the adventure into this portentous decade. Furthermore, I think they have some provocative and responsible ideas on the subject which need listening to."

Timed to climax with the winners' participation in coverage of President-Elect John Kennedy's Inauguration Day, the contest runs through December 25. Each contestant may submit any number of entries, each with a maximum of 600 words. The judging panel, in addition to Mr. Morgan, will include former Presidential assistant and distinguished author Emmet J. Hughes; nationally-syndicated columnist John Crosby; and Dr. Paul A. McGhee, Dean, General Educational Division of New York University.

The winners, one boy and one girl, will be flown to New York on January 18th to lunch with industry leaders, visit the United Nations and meet officials there, attend a Broadway hit and participate in other events. The following day, winners will leave for Washington and meet with government and labor leaders and take part in covering Inauguration Day ceremonies as part of the ABC news team.

Mr. Morgan will work with the young people and will use the winning essays as part of subsequent radio broadcasts. A list of official contest rules is enclosed for your information.

Chi Gam Finishes 3-Week Pledging

During the past week, pledging of the various fraternities on Bryant Campus has taken place. Although most of the fraternities at Bryant have a one-week pledging period, Chi Gam holds its pledging time over a three-week period. It is felt by the brothers that the pledges can get a better understanding of Chi Gamma Iota during this extended period. Pledging will end December 15 — "Help Night"—and a "good time" is expected to be had by all.

During the pledging period Chi Gam's brothers and pledges have been spending many hours doing constructive tasks at Butler Hospital. Chi Gam has always had a great interest in Community Service, and it encourages as much active participation as possible. During January the brothers plan to devote one hour on the evenings of the 10th, 17th, and the 24th attending lectures on "How to Treat Patients." It should prove to be a worthwhile experience.

Many congratulations to Phi Sig's Snow Queen, Carol Nixon, for the tremendous job she did during the campaign. The brothers are all very proud of the way she represented Phi Sig during the week.

Spirit of Christmas

By Dorothy Nieminen

The tinsel on the Christmas tree,
The carolers singing joyfully,
Kids hearing stories on Father's knee,
This is the spirit of Christmas.

Mistletoe and holly hanging on the door,
Cakes and cookies and candy galore,
Presents piled high on the kitchen floor,
This is the spirit of Christmas.

The laughter of children out at play,
The jingle of bells on the big, red sleigh,
The joy and happiness of this day,
This is the spirit of Christmas.

The faith of the Wisemen who traveled so far,
The lowly stable, the Bethlehem star,
The love of Christ, most precious by far,
This is the spirit of Christmas.

Freshmen Hear Library Lecture

By Janice A. Ring

Miss Dorothy Keith, College Librarian, has completed a series of lectures to freshmen in both the BA and the Secretarial Departments.

The lectures got off to a fiery start as Miss Keith pretended to burn a $10 bill and stated, "Money to burn? No one has money to burn; yet if you do not listen to what I have to say to you, that is what you will be doing with your college tuition." She explained the rules concerning the Henry L. Jacobs Library and pointed out books on sources of business information. She also showed the students the Dewey decimal numbers of the books they will be using in connection with their courses of study. Since the lectures in the library, the students could easily see and become familiar with book locations.

In future semesters Miss Keith plans to continue to give each new Freshman class a solid foundation in the use of the Henry L. Jacobs Library.
