Rose M. Papuzynski
Pledge Mistress—Linda Hull
Sgt.-at-Arms—Judy Terwilliger
Athletic Dir.—Betsey Penney

On Tuesday, June 20 Theta held its installation banquet at Johnson's Hummocks to welcome in their new sisters—Joan Bazzano, Jeannie Brewster, Barbara Carroll, Sue Kuperschmid, Ren Taylor, and Joann Yurkon. Special awards were given to Connie Dennis, the Outstanding Athlete; and Pat Hrobak, the Outstanding Sister.

Two enjoyable weekends were spent by the sisters and their brothers of Beta Sigma Chi at their cottage in Greenwich.

The Warwick Country Club was the scene of Beta and Theta's Pledge Formal, which was held on Friday, June 30. Everyone had a wonderful time making the evening a great success.

Social Dir.—John Shay
Athletic Dir.—Donald Allen
Publicity Dir.—Thomas Speedling
Pledge Master—Joseph Uomoleale
Dancing followed the ceremonies. A pleasurable evening was in store for all who attended.

B.I.B. recently received a 1st place Ten Pin Bowling trophy and a 2nd place Basketball plaque at the recent Greek Letter Council banquet.

ARCHWAY Editors for 1961-62

By Roslyn Pompilio

The editors and members of the staff of the Bryant College ARCHWAY recently held their annual banquet at Johnson's Hummocks Restaurant. Co-chairmen for this function were Miss Dorothy Nieminen and Miss Roslyn Pompilio.

One of the purposes of this banquet was to pay tribute to those students who have worked diligently for the betterment of the paper through hard work and effort. Albert Conti, co-editor, presented ARCHWAY pins to the following people for outstanding achievement in their respective fields:

- Bob Andoscia and Albert Conti—Co-Editors
 - Bruce Schatz—Business Manager
 - Peter Conklin—Circulation Manager and his Co-worker Tony Campanogne
 - Diane Mudd and Raphael Antrop—Feature Writers
 - Keith Yesinowski and Jerome Langton—Sports Writers
 - Al Lasso—Photographer
- The second function performed

through this banquet was the announcement of the new editors for the coming semester. Dotty Nieminen, outgoing editor, addressed the group and then announced the new editors. They are Roslyn Pompilio, Al Conti and Bob Andoscia.

Miss Nieminen, graduating senior, was presented with a beautiful maple desk set, suitably inscribed, for her outstanding contribution to the ARCHWAY with appreciation from the members of the staff. The award was presented by Roslyn Pompilio, in coming editor.

Mr. Smith was presented with a beautiful onyx desk set inscribed "To Mr. Arthur Smith, With Appreciation, June, 1961."

The editors and staff are planning to bring to the students of Bryant College bigger and better issues next year. The ARCHWAY is the hub of campus life, and it is the voice of the students. It can be only as good as the students behind it and all students are free to write for it and are urged to support it.

Whole Glee Club Receives Emblems

By Jay Laff

On Tuesday, June 13, the Glee Club climaxed an event-filled year with a beach party and a banquet later in the evening. Bryant musical emblems were presented to the whole glee club. Special awards were presented to outgoing president, Paul Gamache, and also to Vivian Potter, both of whom are graduating this year. On behalf of the glee club, President Gamache presented Mr. Richard Alberg with a desk set in appreciation for his devotion to the group.

Wednesday, the 14th, was the day for elections at which time the following were elected officers: Leonard Richard, President; Robert Anderson, Vice President; Nina Lusko, Secretary-Treasurer; Jay Laff, Publicity Chairman.

The remaining event for this year will be a beach party and picnic on July 8.

Plans are being made for welcoming incoming freshmen in September. Included in these plans will be a performance by the Glee Club at freshman orientation ceremonies.

The pledges who took their oaths of sisterhood were Paula Swanson, Ann Yarborough, Maria Paolino, Rosalie D'Antuono, and Jan Ring. Rosalie D'Antuono was presented a trophy as best pledge. Jan is now a sister of DEX and a gift was presented to her for her untiring work throughout the semester as Athletic Director.

The sisters would like to congratulate Shirley Gosselin on her recent engagement to Edward A. Rodrigues. The wedding is set for June 16, 1962. They would also like to congratulate Judy Lombardi for winning a scholarship for her next year at Bryant.

SIB Holds Pledge Formal

By Carolyn Rucinski

SIB and BIB held their Pledge Formal at Bocce Club on July 1. At this time, the new officers were installed and the old officers received guards for their service. Pat Payette, retiring president, was presented with a gavel from the sisters as a token of gratitude for a job well done.

The following appointments were made for the coming semester by the new president, Mary Ann Babiliewicz:

Archway Reporter: Carolyn Marsis
Social Chairman: Angelia Caranci
Orderer: Gloria Holub

Each semester SIB awards trophies to the sister who has been the most athletic, the graduating Senior with the highest scholastic average, and for the sister who has done the most work for the betterment of the sorority. These awards were presented to the following sisters:

Most Athletic: Mary Ann Babiliewicz
Scholastic: Janice Kaufman
Outstanding Sister: Ellen Lidman
SIB has another trophy to add to its large collection, that of Softball. KDK played SIB in the play-offs and both games showed good sportsmanship by both teams.

Doctor of Humane Letters (D.H.L.) Abraham Ribicoff United States Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare

Twenty years of public service preceded Mr. Ribicoff's appointment by President Kennedy to his Cabinet post on January 20, 1961. He was twice elected Governor of Connecticut and twice elected a Connecticut Representative in the United States Congress. He served two terms as Judge of the Hartford Police Court and was twice elected a member of the Connecticut Legislature, the first time at the age of 28. In his first term he was elected the "most able legislator" in the poll taken by newsmen covering the State Capitol. During his term as U. S. Congressman, he served on the Foreign Affairs Committee.

Major divisions of the Department he heads are The Social Security Administration, The Public Health Service, The Office of Education, The Food and Drug Administration, The Office of Vocational Rehabilitation.

Born in New Britain, Connecticut, in 1910, he attended the public schools of this city, and upon graduation from high school, went to work in a hardware factory to save for a college education. After attending New York University for one year, he was sent by this firm to open an office with the understanding that he could also attend the University. A 1933 cum laude graduate of the University of Chicago Law School, he was an editor of the Law Review and a member of the Order of the Coif, national legal honor society. He and his wife consider Hartford, Connecticut, their permanent residence. The couple have two children, Peter, a teacher in a high school at Alameda, California, and a daughter, Jane, in college.

Citation Abraham A. Ribicoff Doctor of Humane Letters, Honoris Causa

Bred to the tradition of individual initiative and enterprise, twice chosen to govern a populous and influential state, you have now been elevated to the Cabinet of the President of the United States. In a nation of acres of millions, probably not a single individual, young or old, can be found whose life is unaffected by the department that looks to you for leadership and guidance. To be born, to breathe, to eat, to study, to work, to retire, to be well, to be ill, to grow old is to fall somewhere within the orbit of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Fortunately for its citizens, America has found a man of extraordinary experience and sympathy for these extraordinary responsibilities.

Recipients of Honorary Degrees

Ernest I. Kilcup

Citation
Ernest I. Kilcup
Doctor of Science,
Honoris Causa

Industrialist, educator and humanitarian, your busy and successful life has led you toward ever-expanding horizons. Although you have attained the pinnacle of business achievement in your field, you have never forgotten the welfare of your fellow man and have served diligently as advisor to many non-profit organizations dedicated to higher education and social uplift. Your scientific bent and inspirational leadership directed the research which led to the discovery of new instruments needed to alleviate human distress in the fields of medicine and surgery. Hence you are honored today not only for the accomplishments of an outstanding professional career, but also for the altruism which has permeated your life. This Rhode Island institution, which itself has benefited from your wise and friendly counsel, is deeply pleased to bestow this degree Honoris Causa upon you.

Doctor of Science (D. Sc.)
Ernest I. Kilcup
President, The Davol
Rubber Company

Appointed by Charles J. Davol, Mr. Kilcup became President and Treasurer of the Davol Rubber Company, thereby assuring the organization continuity of managerial policies due to his long business friendship with Mr. Davol.

Mr. Kilcup was born in Providence, attended the City's public schools and Brown University. After three years in the employ of the Davol Rubber Company he was made Credit Manager. He rose to Assistant Secretary-Treasurer, a Director, and in 1932 became Managing Executive.

Initiating many employee benefits, he was first to establish Blue Cross and Retirement Plans. His work in the pharmaceutical field was recognized by an Honorary Degree from the Rhode Island School of Pharmacy in 1937.

He taught Economics, Marketing, Merchandising and Financial Management at Northeastern University and was awarded a Master of Science in Business Administration Degree by Bryant College in 1937.

Mr. Kilcup is a Director of the Citizen's Savings Bank, the Automobile Mutual Insurance Company of America, the Phoenix Division, Rhode Island Hospital Trust Company, and the Factory Mutual Liability Insurance Company of America. He is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Osteopathic General Hospital of Rhode Island, and recently retired as a Director of the Emma Pendleton Bradley Home, which cited him for his services to that organization.

No other person in the history of your company—one of the foremost in its field—has equaled your feat of rising from clerk to presidency, nor has anyone performed such long service on the life insurance industry's Federal Income Tax Committee. Beginning as a college student on summer vacation, you presently became a full-time employee of your organization, studied actuarial science after working hours over many years, showed administrative capacity, and advanced from post to post with the secure step of the strong and well grounded. Now, in the full maturity of your powers, you direct vast undertakings.

Doctor of Laws (LL.D.)
Louis R. Menagh
President, The Prudential Insurance Company of America

The first president of the Prudential to have worked his way to the top, Mr. Menagh began his career clerking in the firm's actuarial department during a summer vacation while a student at Rutgers University. Upon his graduation from college he joined as a full-time employee.

He became Assistant Actuary after working and studying in this field. After this he branched out into other company activities until he was appointed Assistant Comptroller in 1939 and shortly thereafter Comptroller. He was elected Vice President in 1947.

Working closely with the president, he was designated executive vice-president in 1957 and presently is President.

A fellow of the Society of Actuaries, he is a former president of the Insurance Accounting and Statistical Society and the founder of the New York Accountant's Club. Chairman of the Newark Council of Rutgers, he works for the interests of his Alma Mater. For more than two decades he has served on the insurance industry's Federal Income Tax Committee and in this capacity worked closely with Washington officials to maintain an equitable income tax formula for the life insurance industry.

Mr. Menagh was born in Brooklyn, New York. He has resided in New Jersey since early childhood and he attended the public schools of Jersey City.

A member of the Rhode Island business community for more than thirty-five years, respected alike by labor, management, and ownership, you guided an honored company to a yet more substantial and prominent position. Both your craftsmen and your directors have formally expressed their esteem for you. Business, educational, and medical institutions have sought and received the advantage of your keen judgment. College educated and equipped with an advanced degree you still felt it necessary to begin as a machinist's helper in order to ground yourself more firmly in the fundamentals of your chosen field. Is it any wonder then that you rose to be Chairman of the Board. You brightly exemplify the basic ideal of the American system, whose value you have long understood and ardently defended.

Chairman of the Board,
Gorham Corporation

Born in Old Point Comfort, Virginia, the son of the Reverend Charles J. S. and Mrs. Mayo, he attended the schools of Virginia.

Beginning his career in industry with the Newport News shipbuilding Company as a machinist's helper, he advanced to become the Superintendent of the American Locomotive Company of Richmond, Virginia, and later General Manager of the Cameron-Tennant Machine Works, which he and associates later purchased and renamed the Mayo Iron Works, Company, with himself as Vice President and General Manager. After serving as Vice President and General Manager of the Viaduct Electric Company of Maryland, he came to New England as General Manager of the Worcester Pressed Steel Company engaged in Manufacturing munitions during World War I.

In 1924 he joined the Gorham Manufacturing Company in Providence as Vice President and General Manager, becoming President in 1925, a position to which was added the Presidency of the Alvin Corporation and which he held until 1959.

This is the first time in the history of Bryant College that a dual award has been given.

Walter Jachem, of Pawtucket, Rhode Island, will receive the Jeremiah Clark Barber Award, given to the senior completing the two-year bachelor degree curriculum in the School of Business Administration, who has made the most effective use of his native ability in mastering the subject matter of his college program.

TO THE SENIORS . . .

By Dorothy Nieminen

Classes are over; exams will follow shortly. In a few weeks you, the graduating class of 1961, will receive your degrees and diplomas as evidence of successfully completing your college education.

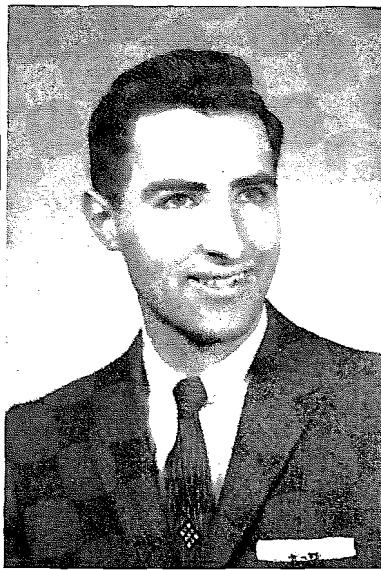

Upon graduation many of you will begin working at your chosen career. Some of you will continue your education still further. And probably some of you will get married and start a home. But whatever you plan to do, set a goal for yourself and strive toward reaching that goal. If you reach your goal, don't just sit back and strive no longer. Set up a new, higher and better goal. You can never learn too much; you can never really reach that top rung on the ladder.

Another characteristic to cultivate is the ability to get along with other people. This is a necessity in today's world. The person who cannot get along with others, whether it is in his home, in his place of work, or in his community, will get nowhere. Employers regard this characteristic as extremely important and look for it when hiring employees. So put aside that temper and those grudges and start cultivating the ability to get along with your fellow man.

Above all, be yourself. Let people like you for what you are, not what you aren't. You may fool people for a while, but eventually the real you will show itself. The friends you gain by being yourself will be lifelong ones, but those gained while "acting the part of someone else" will soon fade out when the act is over.

You have the knowledge, the education, and the skills. It is now up to you to make something of yourself. The world is full of opportunities for people who find them and make use of them. You're on your own now—go out and find these opportunities. When you find them, use them to better yourself, your community, and your country. Good luck to all of you!
