Campus Rocked in Protest Over Alcohol Policy

Police controlling the crowd at Saturday night's protest outside the Entry Control Station.

Archway Staff Writer

Hundreds of Bryant students, in a show of anger against the administration, staged a two hour protest in front of President William E. Trueheart's home Saturday night. The protest was multi-issue oriented, but centered around their dissatisfaction with the alcohol policy. At approximately 10:30 Saturday night, Public Safety and the Smithfield Police Department confiscated three kegs from a soccer party in the townhouses. Smithfield officials returned to Bryant a half hour later to find a group of students causing a disturbance in front of Trueheart's home.

The protest drew 31 police cars from nine neighboring towns, such as North Providence, Johnston, Gloucester and state police. Camera crews from television stations WJAR Channel 10 and WPRI Channel 12 were also on hand.

Students were knocking on doors and walking around campus trying to recruit more people to take part in the demonstration. According to the September 21 issue of The Providence-Journal Bulletin, "Smithfield Police Chief John R. Devine said no students were arrested and there was no serious damage caused..." during the disturbance.

Dean of Students F.J. Talley stated he was "distressed and disappointed" when he heard of the disturbance. Public Safety Director, George Coronado, said the students "clearly let the administration know of their opposition to the enforcement of the alcohol policy" by having the demonstration.

Students spoke over police microphones trying to voice their concerns, but the crowd was not responsive. It wasn't until action was promised the students finally started to head home. Reportedly there were a number of students at the protest who had genuine concerns, while others were there just to see what was going on.

Full-Time MBA Graduate Program Established

Kelly A. Cartwright
Archway Staff Writer

For the first time in its 129 year history, Bryant College has introduced a full-time graduate program.

The program was pulled together last year by Janet Daniels, then Director/Associate Dean of Faculty of Graduate School, and Wayne Lima, Director of Graduate Admissions.

Daniels has since left Bryant for a position at the University of Hartford in Connecticut. This summer, Dr. Ron DiBattista, Associate Professor of Management, was named Interim Director of Graduate School while a national search is conducted.

Last year the program organizers set a goal of enrolling 20 students in the full-time program this semester to deem the program a success. There are currently 37 students enrolled as full-time graduate students.

According to DiBattista, the full-time Master of Business Administration (MBA) program differs from the part-time graduate program already in place in several important ways. The full-time program offers day classes. There are currently four day classes running, each one meeting from 2 - 4:15 pm on one day a week.

Because there are no classes held on Fridays, a series of fieldtrips and forums of guest speakers from the business community have been set up for the students.

Enrollment in this full-time day program does not preclude a graduate student from taking a course at night. A student can take up to five courses per semester.

For students who earn their undergraduate degree from Bryant, the full-time MBA degree can conceivably be completed in one calendar year, because many of the "common body of knowledge" courses are taken as part of the undergraduate program.

The graduate school grants a waiver for the following courses if the student earned a B or better as an undergrad: Accounting, Management Information Systems, Micro/Macro Economics, Financial Management, Legal Environment for Business, Organizational Behavior, Productions and Operations Management, Marketing Management, and Statistics I and II.

One of the perks of being a full-time graduate student is the opportunity to be involved in the Graduate Research Assistanceship Program. This involves working as a research assistant, not a teaching assistant for a concentration department. Graduate Research Assistants have their tuition waived.

Because the full-time students are on campus more often than the part-timers, a "Full-Time MBA Graduate Lounge" has been set up on the second floor of Hall 6 to accommodate their study needs.

Other steps were taken to meet the special needs of the new full-time students. "A week long orientation session was held the week before classes," said DiBattista. Full-time graduate orientation included meeting the first four instructors the students would have in class: Jeff Harkins, Accounting; Sam Mirmirani, Economics; Phyllis Schumacher, Statistics; and Ron DiBattista, Organizational Behavior. The students were also given a brief introduction to each of the campus services they pay to use, as well as sessions in Word Perfect, Lotus, MiniTab, and case methodology.

DiBattista explained a novel approach is being taken in the classes this year's full-time students are taking. "The instructors are using one case [involving L.L.Bean], so each instructor lends their expertise to the same case."

As such, the four instructors are forced to work more closely together. "It's a nice approach to have the instructors working and talking together," DiBattista added.

New Associate VP Named

"I've always wanted to be in a college setting," remarks Regina Harto Ryan, the new Associate Vice President for College Relations.

Ryan filled this position that has been vacant since the retirement of Howard Kay almost one year ago. She has been working at Bryant since September 14, 1992.

She says that job searchers brought her to Bryant because they thought that she would be an interesting candidate because of her expansive professional career.

Among Ryan's expertise, marketing and public relations are her forte. Ryan had her own business in Boston for six years. She had many impressive clients, ranging from the Boston Opera Company to the Environmental Protection Agency. She also worked with new businesses, law firms, and international firms.

Originally from New York City, Ryan attended Boston College and money from last Friday's Dress Down Day and T-shirt sales. Donations from professors and Winthrop's Hallmark included baby food, clothes and toys.

There are currently two FACTS houses in Providence which provide care for babies and children that are HIV positive.

FACTS is the only organization of its kind in the country; although it is staffed by medical personnel, it is located in a house, not a hospital type atmosphere.

As a relatively new organization which started in 1989, FACTS is in need of support especially since it has come under recent budget cuts.

Gilmore, Vice President of the Commuter Connection.

FACTS is staffed round the clock by doctors and nurses and is closely associated with the Rhode Island Hospital's AIDS clinics. Currently, there are six HIV positive children at the FACTS house.

They come from various ethnic backgrounds and different socioeconomic levels.

"It eliminates any AIDS stereotypes when you see the children," said Gilmore.

In the future, the FACTS house's will continue to provide a much needed service to the local area with the help of numerous volunteers.

The Trickle Down Effect

Trickle. TRICKLE. Drip. DRIP.
It seems like just another drop in the bucket.
Last weekend a large group of students took to the streets (well, Jacobs Drive, anyway) in protest. As the local media pointed out, most college protests are centered on important political or moral issues, but this issue was about alcohol.
The feelings about Saturday's impromptu rally are mixed. Some students think what they did was wonderful. They subscribe to the "Yeah, we showed them" school of thought. A lot of other people subscribe to the "Yeah, you guys ended up looking like fools and ruined your chances of being viewed as responsible adults" school of thought.

The media and the college's neighbors effectively characterized the protest as laughable. "With all the bigger issues in the world, why are students rallying about beer?" they wonder.

An alumnus who works for a major international company in the local area offered an interesting answer to that question. His theory: the students of Bryant College are reacting to campus wide oppression and poor morale due to a variety of administrative boo-boo's. (Even the EMT's are not equipped to patch this up with the biggest bandage in their first aid kits.)

As this alum explains it, the students are acting out their anger about the recent staff cut-backs and a variety of other issues. Instead of attacking what he viewed as the real issue, they react to what affects them most directly: drinking rules and regulations.

It's really an age old theory; much like the theory in politics that constituents won't react until they get hit in their pocket book. Which brings us to another point. If alumni are upset about the goings-on of the administration or are appalled by the reactions of students last Saturday night, they're not going to be really generous when donation time rolls around.

Let's see if the business minds of Bryant College can follow this logic. People who graduate become known as alumni. Alumni often go on to get jobs. Some of those jobs pay a lot of money. Some of those jobs are with big, powerful companies. (Still with us? Now it get's a little trickier.)

Alumni who have positive feelings for their alma mater are notorious for donating money to that institution. As this college likes to point out, alumni are also an important resource for future graduates. (aka the Alumni Network). Alumni who are disenchanted are not only less likely to donate their money, but also their time and effort in terms of helping other graduates of the same institution.

If you follow the logic, you probably have one question remaining: how will that affect me? Consider it another drop in the bucket.

But remember, enough drops in the bucket, and the bucket overflows. (Or the bottom of the bucket rusts out.)

It Is All Up To You

Monday afternoon, Rob Fontanella, Tara Gross, Mike Yaffe, Jessica Young, and Adam Jaffe met with Dean Talley, Bob Sloss, Nadine Schiavo, Doris Horridge, and Chief Coronado to discuss adjustments to the alcohol policy and to express student grievances with the administration. The meeting enabled students and administrators to voice concerns apparent since the semester began.

This letter is not going to be a bureaucratic statement; it is to tell inform you on what happened at the meeting and what is on the line the remainder of this semester, as well as next, for upper- and underclassmen. After hearing three weeks of concerns regarding the alcohol policy, the five students above made proposals to the administration regarding the policy which many on the campus feel is unfair.

BEEN APPROVED THROUGH THE ADMINISTRATION HERE AT BRYANT COLLEGE, BUT WE THOUGHT YOU WOULD LIKE TO KNOW WHERE YOU STAND!

After three hours of negotiating, this is HOPEFULLY the course of action which will transpire in the next few weeks. The information released at yesterday's Student Senate meeting proposed enabling 21 year old students to drink on the area directly in front of their townhouses. Also, the fine levels for 21 year olds will most likely be reduced to $10 for a first offense and $25 for a second offense.

In return, the administration would like to see students acting more responsibly. Then they will feel confident and will be willing to reconsider their position on larger issues.

Simply put, the decision is yours.

Former Chaplain Responds to Changes

Dear Editor:

On a recent visit back to Rhode Island, I had occasion to pay a visit to the Smithfield campus where I spent nearly nine years as Catholic campus minister (1980-89). These were exciting and wonderful years for me.

As I browsed around the buildings on Labor Day, I noticed several changes. New students, with evident enthusiasm, were walking across the paths; the familiar Canada geese were encamped on the circle (I remember when the first ten arrived one fall, 1988, I believe); the small prayer chapel has been converted, apparently, to a meeting room, I was sorry to note.

More than these visible signs of continuity and change, I noted in the issue of The Archway that was available that day a more subtle and, perhaps, more troubling symbol of the "new" Bryant. The loss of some key personnel during the summer months and some of the response to this raises some serious questions. Many of these are being asked by students, administrators, faculty and staff, as I could see. I hope that satisfactory answers are worked out as the year unfolds.

The uppermost question in my mind, without being privy to all the factors entering into the decisions made, is the human question, the question of quality people, mostly in the aren't of student services, being summarily let go. Can a school's, even a business school's, commitment to its primary constituency, namely the students, be well served under these circumstances? What kind of institutional loyalty can be engendered in those discharged and in those who remain?

From far away, yet with still much affection and concern for the people of Bryant College, I hope that people can work together there to respond to such questions and concerns. Establishing a spirit of blame or deception, of course, will do no good. For the sake of the people involved and the real quality of education, within and outside classroom walls, I hope the whole campus community can learn to work together so that no further harm will be done to the "Bryant spirit" or to the people of Bryant.

Sincerely,
(Rev.) David J. Norris

Another Unhappy "Customer"

Dear Dr. William Trueheart,

I am still having a problem with understanding, or possibly accepting, the recent cuts that happened on July 22, 1992. I have not yet come to realize how you can just eliminate positions such as the Registrar or the Vice President of Student Affairs. These positions were essential to the college and still are if you ask me.

When I started here in September of 1990, I thought this college was the best college around. Now I'm entering my junior year, and I want to transfer. The first class I ever took here was Introduction to Business; obviously one you never took! I really only remember one thing from this class, but it's probably the most important thing: the best way to run a business (and that's what you seem to be trying to do) is to hire sufficient personnel to cover the different aspects of your business. The greater the personnel, the more efficient and well run your business will be. I'm assuming you didn't know this.

Honestly, do you really think I'm going to believe that Wallie Roettger can oversee that many departments? And now that Financial Aid is overseeing student employment, there have been problems with the students not receiving their paychecks on time. Everything seems to be in chaos and I really don't think you've proven anything by letting those people go; except maybe how quickly you can virtually turn an entire college against you. The students, faculty, and administrators have been in an uproar since July 22 and they probably won't stop until you realize that you've made a mistake.

There are over 2,000 students who live on this campus and more who commute. You expect to have only one man in charge of Student Activities. What made you think that this needed to be changed after so many years? F.J. Talley and Les LaFond were both very busy before, dealing with all of the student activities, and now you expect that F.J. can handle everything alone? Is this a joke?

I don't know where you get the notion that this is better for the College. Maybe you assumed these cutbacks would save the College some money. NOT! A college is a non-profit organization and, somehow, I really can't believe that all of the students' tuition money is spent on the students and their education. I can't stop thinking about how many people you hurt when you decided to downsize the College.

Don't think you have heard the last of me - you haven't! By the time I graduate in 1994 you won't be in office anymore. Maybe someone who really knows how to run a college in the students' best interest will. You keep remarking on how we've had a drop in enrollment. Did you ever consider they may be looking at the low quality job you are doing and realize you're not here for the students but for the prestige? And, please don't take this in a prejudiced manner. That's the furthest thing from my mind.

Now Is The Time For Thanks

To The Entire Bryant Community:

We would like to express our sincere thanks to Students, Faculty and Administration for their support of our recent Convocation ceremony. We have been pleased by your attendance and by the many comments we have received.

We want to communicate that we are both receptive and interested in your constructive suggestions on how to make Convocation a more meaningful experience for you. You are encouraged to get in touch with any member of our committee; we will be more than ready and willing to listen to you!

We want to again emphasize that Convocation is for the students. Therefore, it is important to us that all students know that their presence and attendance is both encouraged and appreciated.

We would also like to invite all student organizations to attend Convocation — in groups. Such attendance shows not only a commitment to an organization — but it also shows a commitment to becoming involved... to assuming an active role in your college experience. It is really gratifying to see such "group" attendance from Bryant's greek community. These students are to be commended on their past and continued support of Convocation. For such participation, they have set an example for other students to follow.

Again, we thank the entire Bryant community — students, staff, faculty, administration — for your support. We wish you a great semester!

We leave you with words from Greg Parkos "...Our time is now... Let this be a time of commitment; a place of commitment; a people of commitment..."

Larceny

On Monday, September 14, 1992 at 10:28am, a staff person of the Information Technology Center reported to the Department of Public Safety (DPS) the theft of some computer equipment. An employee stated he was asked to remove the computers from a Hall 15 Study Lounge by those occupying the building during the summer. The employee reportedly removed all five (5) computers from the lounge and locked them in a storage room within the building. He also secured the equipment together using a steel cable and high security lock.

At the beginning of the semester, when the employee returned to the storage room to remove the computers, he found only four (4) units. The Smithfield Police Department (SPD) was contacted to file a larceny report. The incident is presently under investigation.

Soliciting

A disturbance was reported outside Hall 15. The responding DPS Officer found three (3) females arguing with a male student. The student stated that he had purchased some cologne from the females and that he wanted his money back. The DPS Officer requested identification from the suspects, which they failed to produce. The officer then requested the name of their employer. The suspects did produce this information and were escorted off campus. A letter of trespass has been sent to the employer.

Fight

A DPS Officer was dispatched to a disturbance in Residence Hall 13. When he arrived, the officer encountered a student who claimed that three (3) individuals entered his suite and began pushing and punching those within the suite. The above student, who sustained most of the injuries, gave DPS a complete description of the suspects.

DPS soon located three (3) individuals outside Hall 15 who matched the description given. The victim confirmed the suspects identification and SPD was requested. SPD responded and arrested the suspects, transporting them to SPD headquarters. The subjects have been arraigned and scheduled to appear in court shortly.

Note from the Department of Public Safety

A Reminder! All guests must be registered at DPS (232-6001) by 6:00pm daily.

Safety Tip of the Week

When medical help is needed, notify the Department of Public Safety immediately, then tend to the victim. Never attempt to move an injured victim. Inform him/her to remain still.

Bryant College Policy on Smoking

1. Effective January 1, 1992, smoking of any materials is prohibited in all College facilities except in designated areas. Smoking Permitted Areas Are As Follows:

A. Unistrukture (Classroom/administration building)

1) Designated tables in the Salmanson dining room.

2) The enclosed smoking area in the Library.

3) The Faculty Lounge.

B. Bryant Center: South dining room at designated tables.

C. Koffler Computer Center: Lounge on lower level.

D. Student Dormitories: Dorms 14, 15, and 16 main floor Social Lounges (designated areas). Smoking is prohibited in study lounges.

2. This policy does not apply to private residences which are defined as those living spaces occupied by students or others as their private living area. Private living areas may be designated "smoking permitted" or "no smoking" by the occupant(s).

3. It is the responsibility of every member of the College Community to see that visitors are informed of the existence of the policy, and that the requirements of the policy are adhered to.

4. It is the responsibility of each particular administrative department to address policy conflicts within their respective areas of concern.

5. Incoming students and new personnel shall be informed of the smoking policy during orientation.

6. The director of human resources shall oversee the implementation of this policy. Employee conflicts should be brought to the attention of the appropriate supervisory personnel or the director of human resources. Student conflicts should be brought to the attention of the facility supervisor or the appropriate dean or department head. In all cases, the rights of a nonsmoker to protect his or her health and comfort will be of prime concern. If smoking persists in smoking-prohibited areas, the regulatory body to contact is the Rhode Island Department of Health, Providence, RI, (401) 277-2231.

7. Smoking cessation offers the greatest potential benefit for employees and students. Self-help manuals, available through the Rhode Island Chapter of the American Lung Association, help smokers quit on their own and/or enable the recent quitter and the new smokers to stay off cigarettes by refining new skills and healthful habits. The Rhode Island Lung Association also sponsors clinics throughout the State. To help the current employees and students quit smoking, Bryant College periodically will sponsor smoking Cessation clinics. A "Smoking Cessation" video tape is also available through human resources and health services.

Koffler Center Tips

Hello, my name is Ben Garfield and in this new column I hope to help people with their computer problems. I have worked at the Koffler Center for over a year now, and I have had many different jobs over there. Some of my jobs included installing software, setting up professors' computers, repairing computers, and helping students with their problems.

Bits and Bytes

Because of my experiences, I am familiar with several types of programs and I can help with some hardware problems. Some of the programs I am familiar with are WordPerfect 5.1, Lotus 123, Windows, Dos, PageMaker 4.0, CorelDraw!, Harvard Graphics, and several others. In coming weeks I will try to give basic but useful information to help you with your computer work. If you would like some help just send a letter to the Archway, and I will be happy to help you in any questions you have.

One of the most common and essential commands in the use of computers is the Format command. It seems like there are a good many people that do not know how to format a disk. This is the one thing I feel everyone should know. Formatting a disk is not hard. There are just a couple things a person should know.

First of all, the person should know what the "Density" the disk drive of the computer they are using. Density stands for how much storage is possible on the disk. High Density stores more than Low Density. You can always format a High Density disk to Low Density, but the price of a High Density disk is more expensive than a low density disk, so you are spending more money than you have to.

There are two ways to tell if you have a High Density disk. If the movable metal cover is facing away from you, there is an "HD" in the upper right hand corner. The other way is that there are two holes in the corners of the disk.

All of the computers in the Koffler center that have WordPerfect are Low Density. All of the computers on the main floor are High Density. The computers to the left of the print booth are High Density also.

When you know what type of disk and what type of disk drive the computer has, you can figure out what to format the disk to. If either of the answers are Low Density, format the disk to Low Density. If both of the answers are High Density, format the disk to High Density.

All that is left is to format the disk. Load up the computer. Then put the disk you want to format in the computer. To format a disk to High Density just type FORMAT (the drive you want to format). So the command would look like FORMAT B:. To format a disk to Low Density just type Format (the drive you want to format): /F:750. So the command would look like FORMAT B: /F:750.

Dress Down to do Good

Aziz Meruani

"Dress Down Day," a weekly charity fundraiser that involves people donating money to the week's cause. It also entails wearing casual clothes to work as a symbol and reward, is not an entirely new idea on campus.

The program has been around on faced under the previous council. The Council changes every two years, but has overlapping members.

Last semester a letter to the council from Tracy Flanders of Bryant Big Sisters and an editorial in The Archway, suggested the council try the program throughout the entire year.

Initiating the change, Jean Dominici, secretary to Walter Roettger, the Executive Vice President, wrote to President William Trueheart for his approval. With the approval of both Trueheart and Roettger, the year-round program officially to dress differently to participate. Participants only need to purchase and wear, a two dollar name tag to show their support. Students may purchase name tags at the Bryant Center Info Desk; employee name tags are available at Central Services and at the Unistrukture Info Desk. The main objective of the program is to raise money for the respective charities.

According to organizers, "Dress Down Day" has brought up the morale in the community. People are glad to see that we are helping the charities. Names of the charities are submitted to the council. In many cases the charities are not aware that they will be receiving funds until they get a check from the council.

Overall, the program is doing well, but the organizers would like to see more participation from the entire community.

The council welcomes individuals and groups to suggest charities to be recognized through "Dress Down Day." Some of the upcoming charities are Muscular Dystrophy, Kristen Hatch Scholarship, and The Hunger Coalition.

Friberg Germany, where she further studied international law and criminology.

Her earlier work in criminology focused on victim oriented issues. She adds, "I was concerned and cared about why people become victims." She spent her first few years working in that field in places such as Washington, D.C.

Among her several other jobs, Ryan taught at Boston College, North Eastern, The American University in Washington, D.C., and has also taught in several police academies. She has also served as a Director of Marketing Development for two metropolitan zoos in Boston - the Franklin Park Zoo and the Stoneham Zoo. Her main focus was to raise money and to do public relations work.

Ryan, enthusiastic about her new job says, "I love it here. I really have the best of both worlds at Bryant." She describes her job as "bringing all the treasures of her experience and skills together in an organized fashion."

She compares the faculty, administrators, and students to mini clients. "Sometimes we can bring them together to increase the visibility of the college internally and externally," remarks Ryan. Liz O'Neil and Beth Kelly will serve as Ryan's senior staff members.

According to Robert Gibson, Associate Vice President, "Ryan's job was created out of the necessity for a more aggressive, more sophisticated, and better integrated public relations and marketing effort. Other public relations functions had to be streamlined to accommodate this shift in emphasis."

single play in a collection using the online book catalog? Do you know the numerical technique for finding scholarly research articles in business using the ABI/Inform?

Beginning the week of September 29, the library plans to offer afternoon workshops for novice and intermediate users of our compact disk products. We hope to enhance your library research skills and increase your efficiency at computer workstations.

This offering is the result of feedback received from one of the Resident Advisors who was being oriented for the Freshmen Experience program in August. She expressed sympathy for our staffing needs and countered with a creative suggestion, "Why not try the idea of peer instruction," she offered. She claimed that she was able to complete a difficult report last year with the help of Margaret Driscoll, Circulation Desk Assistant and Sara Beaubien, Reference Desk Assistant.

Six years ago, the Reference Desk was manned by one professional during the day and another at night. Another assistant covered the hours until midnight and Saturdays. During mealtimes, we simply put a sign on the desk with the expected time for our return. There were no compact disk products for students to use.

Today we have a dozen information databases and workstations and two major online services in the library. We now maintain statistics on database instruction. Individual CD-ROM instruction totalled 4,316 for the last academic year, for example. The only staffing addition is a part time assistant hired to cover the reference desk during mealtimes.

We will start the workshops programs Tuesday, September 29 at 2 pm. Sara Beaubien is a senior who has returned for her fourth year of service in the reference department. Sara is personable and knowledgeable and will introduce a half dozen novice users to basic search techniques for the first half hour. A few workstations will be reserved so you may have some hands on experience. The second half hour (2:30-3pm) will be given to refreshing returning users about techniques for database searching.

Stop by the library to let us know your interest in attending the next peer training session.

Better still, if you have "work/study" monies available we will train you to become a peer instructor yourself!

Camp All American

by Sean Cataldo

While most Bryant College students looked for summer employment or just soaked up some sun, six juniors from the Bryant College ROTC program attended Camp All American at Ft. Bragg, NC. This six week camp is designed to evaluate cadets on their leadership ability.

Each cadet is placed into numerous leadership positions ranging from being in charge of a 11 man squad to a 130 person company. At the end of their leadership role they are critiqued and counseled on their performance. This evaluation is based on different leadership qualities ranging from the ability to communicate clearly and concisely, to analyzing problems and implementing a quality solution. At the end of camp, each cadet receives a final evaluation based on their overall performance.

Camp All American not only places cadets in different leadership positions, but also different situations. Cadets will do everything from repelling from a 60 ft tower to leading a 40 person platoon on a helicopter assault against 82nd Airborne soldiers. These training exercises are preparing the cadets for their final operation, the All American Challenge. This four day platoon size operation is the most physically and mentally demanding event of the camp.

Cadets lead their platoons through a series of operations that incorporate all the previous training the cadets have received. The difficulty level of this four day exercise is compounded by the lack of sleep due to continuous operations. Once the cadets complete their last operation, they know they have met the All American Challenge.

This camp produces the future officers and leaders of the United States Army. Every cadet's training during their college years is focused on camp. Cadets are put through rigorous training to see how they handle the pressures and responsibilities of today's Army officer.

Fontanella was at the protest trying to figure out what the students wanted to hear. Fontanella stated, "They wanted to hear things we couldn't tell them." Senior Senator Mike Yaffe stated, "It never should have come to this."

Fontanella went on to say students are "upset" and "angry" because they have concerns and they don't know who in the administration they can speak with to express these concerns.

Some students also feel they have been treated unfairly by their RA's and by Public Safety. Although these groups are supposed to be enforcing these policies, some "just walk away from it," according to the students. Many students feel, if the policy is going to be enforced, it should be enforced consistently.

The administration first became aware of the students' opposition to the policy at last Wednesday's Senate meeting. President Trueheart, Chief Coronado, F.J. Talley and Bob Sloss were at this meeting to answer students' questions, as well as to set the record straight concerning the alcohol policy. According to Yaffe "it was apparent people were upset" at the meeting. "We are making progress and moving forward. We aren't stagnant; we're just moving at a comfortable pace," Fontanella commented afterwards.

There was a meeting held Thursday morning with student leaders and the administration to further discuss issues raised the previous day. Talley said he felt Wednesday's Senate meeting was "rough," but Thursday's meeting put the issue back "on the right track."

Since the protest, student leaders have met with the administration to discuss the alcohol policy and negotiate an agreement acceptable to both sides. At a three hour meeting on Monday, student leaders negotiated for the reduction of fines for having an open container for those students 21 and older to $10 for a first offense and $25 for a second offense. Drinking on the front porches of townhouses was also proposed. This proposal will be given to higher administration officials this week, and an answer is expected next week.

Also at the meeting, the possibility of legalization of kegs on campus was discussed. The administration wants to see responsibility from the students. The remainder of this semester has been said to be a "trial period." If the reduction of fines has an impact, and outside drinking are done responsibly, then next semester will be looked at in a more considerate light. Yaffe stated there has to be a "responsible attitude all around, by everyone, seven nights a week."

The student leaders at the meeting on Monday made a promise to the administration to carry the weight on their shoulders and they are the ones who will take the heat if the students don't adhere to the guidelines.

Fontanella reminded that negotiations and changes take time; "they will not happen overnight, but they are happening." The administration has to feel they can trust the students, and the only way this can be proven is through responsibility. Yaffe said "all they (the administration) want is student responsibility." Fontanella went on to state, "In the negotiations, the students are giving their responsibility and that's not too much to give."

Talley said, "We have to maintain dialogue between the students and the administration. Changes and behavior will be monitored this semester. It has to be a group follow through and then we will discuss the report." He went on to highlight what is needed for successful negotiations. "Responsibility on both sides is needed so we can look towards the future."

Coronado added, "There is a wide range area lent to compromise." A policy has to be made which will be "conducive to the desired results the present alcohol policy attends to achieve."

Coronado stated in order for the policy to be reconsidered, they are looking for the students to "agree amongst themselves and drink responsibly." He then defined responsible drinking as being the consumption of alcohol that's safe and doesn't create a disturbance."

All of the parties involved are willing to negotiate. The students just have to prove to the administration they can be responsible and deserving of any changes to be made.

Fontanella concluded by saying, "It's up to the students. They always said they had no authority; they do now. They will have no one to congratulate or blame but themselves."

BEAC

by Marlo Rosenbloom

Last Tuesday was our first meeting of the semester and we had a great turnout for the informational meeting. The BEAC board would like to encourage you to regularly attend our meetings. The agenda is filled with educational and fun events. If you missed our first meeting, it's still not too late. In our discussion at the first meeting, we found the top environmental concerns of Bryant students are: water pollution, starting recycling in their home towns, rainforests and the greenhouse effect.

RECYCLING TIP: The following items can all go in the recycling bins in the suites: milk cartons, soda/beer cans, plastic soda bottles, milk bottles, #1 and #2 plastics, shampoo bottles and all colored glass. Please inform your friends and roommates! Also, please recycle the newspapers in the dorms. They can be placed separately in a brown paper bag.

After talking with you, we realized the overwhelming concern for water pollution. Therefore, the special guest at our next meeting will be Dr. Doug Levin, oceanographer. It will be a laid back, casual format open for questions and answers. Please come join us on Thursday, October 1 at 6:00 in the Dorm 16 Lobby. Any new members are welcome. Please bring your $5.00 dues to this meeting. We look forward to helping you help the Earth!

Beta Sigma Chi

by Craig Nelson

Now that school is back in full effect, one thing is about to spice up the fall; that is intramural football. We are expecting another strong showing from our team, but the biggest surprise is going to be from our "b" team. Behind the rocket arm of Mike Lasko and our tough offensive and defensive lines, we are going to win the whole thing. Their first game is Wednesday and everyone should witness this media event.

This weekend was interesting as usual.

BMA

by Michael Gannon

Welcome back! For those of you who were unable to attend our introductory meeting on Wednesday, September 16, don't despair. The first meeting's function was to introduce the executive board and entertain questions from both past and new members. Turnout was great, but we still need your creative and innovative minds for upcoming projects.

Currently, we are working on a logo for the 1992-1993 BMA T-shirt drive and we would greatly appreciate your thoughts and ideas. We meet every other Wednesday at 7pm in Papitto. If you have any ideas, questions, or problems, feel free to send a note to BMA-BOX 5 or stop by townhouse A-8 and ask for Mike or Geoff. We're looking forward to a fun year and we'd love to hear from you or see you at our next meeting.

Next meeting: Wednesday, September 30 at 7pm in Papitto dining room next to Tupper's. All Majors Welcome!!!

Delta Chi

by Michael Prestash

This was quite an interesting weekend here at Bryant. Saturday night we continued as Public Safety had their hands full. Thanks to everyone who worked at Foxboro on Sunday as well. Also, thanks to all the freshmen who came up to the floor this week. For those of you who don't know, we are on the fourth floor of Residence Hall 3 and in townhouse A-2. Stop by any time. Finally, due to an overwhelming response, Ken will be looking into a group insurance plan. See him for details.

Quote of the week: "Don't stand next to Marcel, he's bad luck." Adios.

Field Hockey Club

by Jen Mannila

Hi Everyone! We would like to thank everyone (especially the freshmen) who came to our informational meeting - we had an excellent turnout and it looks like this season's going to be a great one! For anyone that missed this meeting and is still interested in playing, we have practice Monday through Thursday at 3:30 next to the soccer field - feel free to come out and watch or play.

Now I would like to introduce and congratulate our new officers: President - Brooke Miller, Vice-President - Jen Mannila, Treasurer - Heather Mannila, and Secretary - Becky Hirth. Good luck you guys!!

Our first game is this Saturday, Sept. 26th at 1:00 against Dean Jr. College, so come out and show your support! Good luck to everyone and we look forward to a GREAT season!!!

Finance Association

by Matt Sprague

We would like to thank all those who showed up for the first meeting; there were many more people in attendance than we had anticipated. We hope the high attendance at the meetings continues.

If you could not make the first meeting, you are still invited to join. New members of any major are welcome. The next meeting will be Thursday, September 24th in Papitto at 4:00. It is an important meeting, as we will be reviewing and voting on our charter and by-laws of the association. You must have paid your dues in order to vote. They are only $5.00 and you can pay them on Thursday and still vote.

The investment game also begins, and we will be talking more about the activities for the semester which we mentioned last time. If anyone has any other ideas for fundraisers or activities, please come by Thursday and tell us.

Karate Club

by Brian Cotter
and Doug Preveza

The Bryant College Karate Club is proud to announce the year is off to a good start, especially with the promising turnout of new members. Much of the credit for this showing can be attributed to the hard efforts of our president, Julie Paul.

Many of the new white belts may be sore, but after a couple of weeks the soreness will subside as you hone your skills and look ahead to your yellow-belt test. Although the test may seem far off, it will come quickly.

Also, remember to work hard in class, because the way you work out is the way you will perform in a real life situation. As for members of our advanced class, they are busy working their bodies back into shape after a summer of neglect (in some cases). Speaking of neglect, we would also like to give a special Milky-Way award to Scott Perdelwitz, who took a year off to drink German beer. On a final note, we would like to remind all members that this Saturday the club will have a gathering at Sifu's beach house.

Kappa Delta Rho

by Tom Foolery

How's it! KDR would like to wish all the Sorority Rushes good luck tonight. On Friday, the brothers are going to experience a little bit of Heaven and a little bit of Hell. So come along and join us.

In sports, Coach Complido is doing a great job organizing the A-team's offense, look out!! The Crush team is looking good too as Coach Muszi puts together their offense. And in other sports, Zeta has been tearing through the league; is there any competition at all? Until next time, Wreck Em !!

Men's Rugby

by John Comino

Game On! Last Saturday, Bryant Rugby made its Fall debut against Babson College. With a week of purposeful training under our belts, and an army of supporters on the sidelines, we felt that victory was assured. What we hadn't counted on however, was Pat the referee!

From kick-off it was obvious we were playing an excellent team. Throughout most of the eighty minutes of play, Babson maintained possession of the ball and it is to the credit of our defense that we did not let them win. When we did manage to gain possession of the ball, our team put on a marvelous display of how rugby should be played with two tries coming from great backline runs. Mention should also be made of the great support the forwards gave all day on the field.

Finally however, it came down to the fact the team with the most possession calls the shots. At the end of the day, Babson had matched our tries and leveled the score at 12 all. While a win would have been better, this was a great start to the season. The killer B's also showed that they are a force to be reckoned with this year, easily beating Babson 37-0. On Saturday we have a home game and if the support matches the amount we got at Babson we will be blessed! Car!! Game Off!!

Phi Kappa Sigma

By Kevin Reid

Hello Again! Last weekend saw a lot of good rushes coming up to the floor on Friday for a good time, and an even better time down at the townhouse on Saturday night. We are also seeing the new and improved FOGS, 50 pounds lighter!!! Kudos to him on that monumental task. We send a get well out to our Faculty Advisor Dr. John Hannon and we hope to see him soon. Attention Freshmen, Ambush is coming up on October 3rd, if you have any questions, ask Lavs, he's the one in charge.

This weekend, we look forward to some more gatherings and we wish good luck to the sorority pledges. OFC is looking better than ever and we hope to see an undefeated season. We hope to see how Bill, Craig, Mike, Brian, and the rest of the team will do against their classmates; only time will tell. Until next week, don't get caught!

What can be said about Friday? At the time of publication, the results of yesterdays flag football extravaganza were not available. This authors' prediction is that Coach Garcon found a way to guide the Blue and Gold to the right field. Unfortunately, Goldenfingers refuses to sign until he is the highest paid receiver in the league. Fourteen million over eight years? KT Top Dog!

SAA

by Jennifer Kitlinski

I would like to welcome everyone back. I hope things are beginning to fall into place. This Thursday the Student Alumni Association (SAA) will be sponsoring an Open House. All students (old and perspective new members) are encouraged to attend. It will be an informal meeting so you can become familiar with our organization and all it has to offer. The Open House will begin at 4:00p.m. at the Alumni House, near the Country Comfort.

SAA sponsors various events on campus including: Freshmen Balloon Bouquets, Final Exam Survival Kits, Festival of Lights, Founder's Day, Oozball, the Alumni Mentor Program, as well as many others. Please bring a friend or two and come find out what "students helping students past, present, and future" is all about. See you all Thursday!!

Student Senate

by Christine Giumetti

Hello Bryant! On behalf of the Student Senate I'd like to thank everyone for attending last week's meeting. We had quite a turnout. In reference to the alcohol policy, there was a meeting this past Monday between some representatives of Senate and the administration. There is a proposal being considered for the fines for 21 year olds and over being caught with open containers. The fine may be reduced to $10 for the first offense, and $25 for the second. Also being considered is the proposal of drinking in front of the townhouses. The exact dimensions of how far one must be from the townhouse will be determined later. These privileges are on a trial basis, so don't abuse them! Let's show them how responsible we can be. There will be future meetings between student leaders and the administration to make further positive gains in this area.

Also at last week's meeting, junior senator Jeff Davis made a motion for the senate election results to be made public. With no comments from any senators or members of the audience, the motion was passed.

This upcoming weekend, Sept. 25 & 26, the Student Senate will be going on a retreat to enhance their skills in leadership training.

All Senate meetings are on Wednesdays at 4:00 in the Papitto Dining Room, located in the Bryant Center. Anyone is welcome, so come voice your opinion! Have a great weekend!

Sigma Phi Epsilon

by Derek Fairfield

The Brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon would like to welcome everyone back. Now that we have had a few weeks, we all know the changes the school has made. The past weeks have been non-stop fun for us with fifth floors, a Brothers get together, Alumni weekend, and a lot of cool rushes to hang out with.

Alumni weekend was a blast—starting with the stickball game and barbecue in the quad, which got a little messy, ending with the Fifth floor.

Our new Vice President is Mick Pfalzgraf, and the new Rush Chairman is Tom Keane. The Bulls flag football team is looking powerful. We have a lot to draw from. Get psyched Bulls! The A-team is looking just as, if not more, talented as last year.

To all our Rushes, Monday Night Football is always a blast and you guys are always welcome. If any other freshmen or transfers are interested, please stop up to the top of residence hall two.

Finally, the Diligent Brother of the Week goes to Jamie Noel.

SPB

by Tammy St.Pierre

The Student Programming Board has had a great turnout of new members so far, but more are welcomed to join. Our next meeting will be Monday, the 28th at 4:30 in Meeting Room 2B of the Bryant Center.

The only program this weekend will be the Sunday movie because of our chairpersons retreat. The movie is "Fried Green Tomatoes" and will be shown at 7:00 and 9:15 in Janikies Auditorium. Admission is $1.00, or $1.50 for a popcorn bucket, and popcorn and soda are free.

Tau Epsilon Phi

by Walter Berry

Well working at Foxboro has come to an end, and nobody seems too emotionally devastated; there was a benefit. Sunday a few of us did get to see a great game, and a beautiful day sitting in the stands as opposed to looking like geeks in the new uniforms wasn't a bad trade off. We're looking for a new fund raiser, something that will take a load out of all of us.

The brothers got together a lot over the past weekend and everybody had a great time. Monday night football also was a good time and a few of us indulged in a late night swim. Saturday night, TEP and the rest of the campus had a barrel of fun.

In sports TEP-A plays TKE-A and DF-A. The A team is looking for another strong season and TEP-B is coming along and showing some talent as well.

Women's Rugby

by Sandy Pelletier

Hello ruggers! The season has started and it is time for ruckin' and lots of fun. The team looks strong and consists of dedicated and talented ruggers who will push and shove their way to victory. Get pumped!

Our first game is this Saturday at 11:00am against Providence College—piece of cake! Ruggers, make sure you pay your dues before Saturday's game and get psyched to crush PC! Rugby fans are sincerely appreciated and will be rewarded with our victory over PC and our celebration at The Comfort next Tuesday, Sept. 27. Come join the team!

If you or anyone you know is interested in playing rugby, join us at practice Monday-Thursday at 3:30-5pm at the swamp field behind the Unistructure. We can never have enough ruggers! For more information, call 232-8317.

Cross Country Finishes Strong at St. Anselm's Invitational

*Katie Petig
Archway Sports Writer*

Both women's and men's cross-country ran well at the St. Anselm's College Shacklette Invitational this past weekend placing first and third out of nine respectively.

Coming in first for the lady Indians, and fourth overall, was sophomore Heather Cronce with a time of 20:20. Following closely behind was Mandy Lapierre, who finished fifth overall at 20:21.

Bryant finished strong taking spots eleven through fourteen also. The finishers were Jill Decker 20:51, Maureen Salmon 20:56, Karen Palczynski 21:10, and Laura Zegzdryn 21:16, respectively.

Other finishers for Bryant include Kellie McDermott, Karen Calderoni, Jackie Choiniere, Jessica Duval, Jodi Russo, and Jen Guisti.

As Jill Decker and Karen Palczynski recover from recent injuries coach Charlie Mandeville is still very optimistic about the season.

"The girls are running well. Heather and Maureen are looking strong and Mandy is really shaping up," said Mandeville.

As for the men's team, they are looking just as good finishing third overall.

According to sophomore runner Brent Oullette the team has a lot of depth this year and everyone is running very well. "We are all close together and that's what gets the points," said Oullette.

In a strong pack taking spots nine, ten, and eleven were Pete Gosselin, Tom Gaspar, and Mike Walsh.

Completing the top five, which are needed for scoring, were James Holl and Brent Oullette, who came in eighteenth and twenty-second respectively.

Also representing Bryant were Mark Livingston, Mike Ricci, George Johns, Jeff Vlack, Mike Dailey, Paul Dailey, Steve Michaud, and Dave Newman.

The men's team is also looking strong this season and hope to continue to do well.

"This is the best team we've had in a long time and we are looking forward to a good finish in the NE 10's," said Oullette.

Both teams look forward to a great season and continue this Saturday at Rhode Island College.

Women's Volleyball Hopes to Learn From Mistakes

Angelo Corradino
Archway
Sports Writer

The women's volleyball team hosted the Bryant Invitational last Saturday, and are looking to use this as a stepping stone for the rest of the season.

On Tuesday the team traveled to Sacred Heart and were victorious 15-8, 15-6, 15-10. Everyone played, including all the freshman, which is good experience according to coach Karen Mendes.

The tournament began on a high note, for Bryant they defeated St. Michael's 15-9, 15-3, 13-15, 15-8. They then began to slide losing to Dowling College 16-18, 11-15, 14-16.

"For us to start a tournament of this caliber at home so early in the season is a good way to prepare for the rest of the season," Mendes said.

"Three of the teams who participated were ranked in the top five, and it's good competition."

The lady Indians were then defeated by Bentley in the semi-finals to place third overall.

"We didn't start our season as early as the other teams did," Mendes stated.

Maria Bras (6) attempts a cross court kill in the match against Dowling College last Saturday.

"They have already been playing for a week and a half and had more time to fine tune their problems."

Coach Mendes also looks at this as a way to improve.

"The girls know they can play at that level now and realize that it's going to take a lot of hard work."

Team leaders are also showing their form.

Sophomore Maria Bras is already leading the team in every category but two, and has been nominated for NE-10 Player of the Week.

Freshman Maribah Dean is also looking like an asset to the team. She is the primary serve receiver on the team and is second to Bras in kills, and kills per game.

"Meribah is definitely an asset to our team," Mendes said. "She is all-around player and is extremely successful at what ever she does."

As for the team Mendes was very pleased with the way they played. "Overall I was pleased because it was a learning experience," Mendes said.

"To play Bentley and Dowling and lose made the girls want to work harder. Monday's practice was fantastic; everyone worked hard and wouldn't give up."

The team's next match will be at home on Monday against UMASS/Lowell at 7:00 p.m., they will then travel to Bentley Tuesday.

Athlete OF THE WEEK

Meribah Dean

This week's Athletes of the Week are Meribah Dean and Maria Bras of the women's volleyball team.

Dean is second on the team in kills and kill percentage and also had an outstanding week. In matches against Roger Williams and Dowling she hit 40% to earn a nomination for Freshmen of the Week in the NE-10.

Tribe Starts Preseason

Scott Gura
Archway Sports Writer

Last week the baseball team started their fall schedule, and opened the season 3-0.

On Saturday, the Indians had two impressive wins against NE-10 rivals Stonehill College. In game one, Bryant rolled to a 13-5 victory.

Co-captain Dave Doyle set the tone for Bryant, collecting a three for four day, with a double and three RBIs. Scott Stapleton and Dave Sjogren also had multiple hit games, going two for four.

In game two, ace Andy Bean pitched a three hitter, propelling the Tribe to a 10-0 win. Junior Keith Walonis fueled the offense, with two hits on the day.

On Sunday, Bryant completed the trifecta over Stonehill with a 9-6 win. Freshmen Darren Dagle and sophomore Rocco Holmes each had two hits to pace the Indians.

DIAMOND DUST: Bryant is looking forward to a successful spring season. This fall a 10 game schedule will keep the Tribe in shape for next year.

A dangerous mix of speed and power should keep Bryant contending all year. The top of the lineup, with Dave "Wheels" Carey, Brian Terio, and Scott Stapleton, are some of the fastest men in the entire NE-10.

With 18 returnees and 14 rookies, the Tribe looks tough. The true test for Bryant in the fall will be the upcoming tournament in Maine this weekend, and the Rhode Island Classic next Friday.

The Classic includes powerhouses Providence College, Brown University, and the University of Rhode Island.

Women's Tennis Opens With Win

Sharie Poulin returns a volley in her match against Springfield.

by Sharie Poulin

The women's tennis team won both of their matches this week to start the season off on the right foot.

Yesterday they defeated Springfield 6-3. Dana Tessier, Mara Levey, and Sharie Poulin were all victorious in singles. The team of Tabitha Kent/Levey, Tessier/Amy Polatsek, and Colleen Shepard/Heather Donahue all winning to help Bryant Sweep the doubles competition.

The lady Indians started their season with an impressive 7-2 win at Bentley College last Saturday.

The top three singles players all went into the third set of their respective matches, and came up victorious. Senior Heather Donahue won 3-6, 6-3, 6-4 at #1, sophomore Tessier (#2) won 4-6, 7-6(7-3), 6-1, and freshman Coleen Dykas also won 5-7, 6-4, 6-3.

Winning easily at #4 was sophomore Tabitha Kent 6-1, 6-2. Levey, a freshman from Minnesota, cruised through her match 6-0, 6-3.

Number 6 Poulin, a senior, won 6-3, 7-5, to lock up the victory for Bryant.

Doubles was also as exciting. At #1 Kent and Levey dragged out into another three set match winning 3-6, 6-4, 7-6(7-2).

Playing #2 was the duo of Tessier and Amy Polatsek and #3 was the new team of Colleen Shepard and Katie Coates, both in losing effort. Samatha Libby and Pam Bowman then battled back from 1-5 in their first set to win the match.

Working together, under the coaching of Robert Cocker, the lady Indians have high hopes of a great season.

Today, the team will travel to Quinnipiac, and Friday to UMass/Dartmouth. This Saturday they will be in Newport for the Grass Court Tournament.

The men's soccer team went 0-2-1 last week as they kicked off their 1992 season.

On Saturday the team played Stonehill ending in a scoreless tie. They then played #14 in the nation, Sacred Heart, on Thursday and lost 0-1.

"We played a couple of top twenty teams and the games were very competitive," senior Co-captain Chris McLeod said.

The team also played #4 Franklin

Men's Soccer Starts Slow

Angelo Corradino
Archway Sports Writer

Pierce losing 0-3 in their home opener last Tuesday.

"We played good but we lost a couple of seniors and we need to get used to playing together," McLeod said.

The mid-field is going to be strong because everyone has returned, according to McLeod.

Mike Masson is the only single stand out and is expected to be a key player this season.

The team will be home today at 3:30 to take on UMASS/Lowell, they will then travel to St. Michael's on Saturday and RIC on Tuesday.
