On Tuesday, October 20th, the Tau Epsilon Phi Fraternity began their annual Teeter-Totter-A-Thon. At noon, Dan Lucci, the President of TEP kicked off the philanthropy in the rotunda by explaining where their efforts were going towards, Tanner Hill, and their goal of raising $1500. Lucci introduced Susan Powers, the programming supervisor of Tanner Hill. The intentions of Tanner Hill, she said, is to take abused children out of an abused home. Wally Roettger also spoke about the event and expressed his thanks and support for TEP's efforts. On hand at the kickoff were four children from Tanner Hill, Billy, Michael, Joey and David.

According to Brian Pearson, the former Service Director of Tau Epsilon Phi, "The Fraternity chose Tanner Hill two years ago because they wanted to be closer to the charity that they are involved in." Tanner Hill is in Pasoaq, RI, which is minutes from Bryant College.

Dan Lucci also felt, "We didn't get to see where the money was going before, and now we know where it is going and we can visit there also." The present service director, Jeff Davis, has been working very hard at organizing this event and believes, "It is a great service event."

"Swing for Heart" Benefits AHA

Julia Arouchon
Archway Staff Writer

Despite the cold and damp weather, the sisters of Alpha Phi held a twenty-four hour, "Swing for Heart" fundraiser to benefit the American Heart Association.

The swing hung from a tree outside the Bryant Center across from the pond.

The twenty-two sorority sisters and their pledges started swinging Monday at twelve noon and finished Tuesday at twelve noon.

Each sister raised a minimum of twenty dollar pledges and the sorority hopes to exceed the $800 they made on last year's fundraiser.

Last year, Alpha Phi held a "Jump for Heart" fundraiser for AHA. According to Ann Picone of Chapter Promotions, "We decided to try the swing this year to see which we liked better."

Each sister had three hour shifts, including a morning hour. During this time, they would swing for twenty minute intervals. "It is only three hours out of each sister's day. This is a small sacrifice for a good cause," added Picone.

Michelle Morelli stated, "The cold weather made it seem like we were really doing something and making a sacrifice instead of just swinging on a sunny day."

Philanthropy Chair, Amy Fosdick stated the swing a thon, "went off real well" despite the cold weather. Fosdick organized the event and made the swing.

According to Picone the sisters enjoyed swinging and look forward to doing it again next year, especially since the money goes to increased awareness of heart problems.

The AHA is the main fundraiser for the Alpha Phi national chapters as well.

Haas Addresses Ethical Business Issues

Professor William Haas

Lisa Lucchesi
Archway Staff Writer

"Ethics has a lot to do with rules, but rules aren't worth the paper they're printed on unless they're designed to work," commented Dr. William Haas at the International Business Ethics Seminar.

The seminar, held Tuesday, October 20, consisted of a brief overview of international ethical issues such as apartheid and the safety standards of workers. The issues of consumerism, bribery, finance, politics, and the environment were also discussed.

Haas also addressed questions such as, "Is it fair to convince people that they need something they can really do without?"

In answering this question, Haas presented his definition of ethics. He defined it as "the application of reason to the pursuit of what is good for human beings. All business decisions are made by people about people and have consequences for people. Therefore they are part of ethical decision making, not vice versa."

He added, "Business decisions are not different ethically from other decisions. Everywhere you go in the world, there are differences. If you peel back the differences you can find commonalities and then change those differences."

In his lecture, Haas also touched on some misconceptions of ethics. One misconception is "good ethics is good business." He commented, "This may be true sometimes, but not always. At times the ethically reasonable thing can cost you your shirt."

Haas' business ethics class also focuses on these issues and current case studies in greater detail.

Haas, who is a full-time professor at Bryant, also contributes articles to the Providence Business News on the topics of business ethics. His main focus is to describe the ways business problems are seen from an ethical perspective.

The seminar was sponsored by the RI Chapter of the Alumni Association and Bryant's Student Alumni Association. Crystal Packer, the coordinator of the seminar, "hopes that seminars such as these will stir up more concern and awareness among students and alumni," for ethical issues.

Virtual Phenomenon Hits Bryant

Kelly A. Cartwright
Archway Staff Writer

It sounds like something from the movie Total Recall or maybe a galaxy far away, but next week a three dimensional human and computer interaction experience is coming to Bryant.

On Tuesday, October 27, Virtual Reality can be experienced in the Bryant Center Commons from 9 am to 9 pm. This free educational program is being sponsored by the Greek Presidents Council and the Student Programming Board.

Virtual Reality is a an interactive, computer-driven process by which a person virtually becomes a part of an elaborate, three-dimensional world of computer-generated surroundings.

Until recently this new phenomenon could only be experienced at a handful of permanent venues around the country. The world's only traveling Virtual Reality experience is the one coming to Bryant.

Participants can try two virtually real experiences. In "Dactyl Nightmare," two players duel each other from special platforms in space, while green pterodactyls threaten from above. Veteran players describe it as total immersion in an elaborate, computer-generated space where "real" reality is absolutely blocked out and the players are virtually inside the computer in "another" reality.

Players can also choose, "H.E.R.O.," an experience in which they navigate through four different environments.

To participate, each player wears headgear, called "Visettes," which bathes the player in quadraphonic sound effects and cover their eyes with a pair of miniature TV screens.

The screens display a colorful, three-dimensional scene, which is altered according to the player's every movement. This creates the illusion of being totally immersed in the visual aspects of the game environment.

Spectators can observe the players who are immersed in Virtual Reality on monitors. These show in two-dimension, the action as the players are experiencing it in three-dimension.

According to the cover story in the October 5 issue of Business Week, Virtual Reality is a booming business. It also represents technology that could change the world.

The developers of Virtual Reality and other experts in the field of computer-generated imaging foresee a wide range of applications for its concepts in areas far beyond entertainment. For example, surgeons will be able to "voyage" inside the computer-replicated bodies of their patients, or perform otherwise risky, "what-if" procedures on them. Astronauts will be able to explore the surfaces of other planets, no matter how hostile their environment is to humans. Architects and engineers will be able to subject structures to potentially disastrous conditions to test the limits of the structure.

According to the October 5 issue of Business Week, "Cyberspace simulations may enhance job performance and training, improve product design, assist surgeons, and create interactive forms of entertainment" someday.

Virtual Reality has already progressed past games and hype, and real applications are being sought. The Pentagon is already using this technology to sharpen soldiers' skills with computer-generated battlefield exercises that unfold on huge screens.

In addition to the opportunity to experience Virtual Reality, the future applications of the technology will be discussed in a special lecture at 5 pm Tuesday, October 27 in Papitto Dining Room.

Don't Just Sit There!

So many people seem to want their cake...and eat it, too, as the saying goes. These people expect perfection from others. Yet they are the same people who sit back and do nothing. Nothing but criticize, that is.

Criticism can be great - when it's constructive. But criticism of those who try by those who don't is rarely, if ever, constructive.

It is unfortunate we have so many destructive critics like this in our society. People could easily turn their destructive energies into helpful suggestions if only they would get involved. What we need is more people who try.

A classic example of this I'll-sit-back-and-tell-you-what's-wrong-with-you-but-I-won't-try-myself phenomenon will climax in a few weeks. Wouldn't it be interesting to compare the voter turn-out in the November election with the number of Americans over the age of eighteen who criticize the government? For that matter, it would be interesting to compare the number of critics with the number of people who ever bothered to register to vote!

On the Bryant College campus we have a similar problem. There are a zillion opportunities for people to get on their feet and make things happen, but many members of the Bryant community tend to hang back and complain. Events sponsored by the Student Programming Board and the Performing Arts Series are perfect examples. How often do you hear people whine "there's nothing to do around here"? Yet, when quality entertainment is brought to campus, the attendance is often very low. Next time a comedian or performance is scheduled, why not give it a try and be a part of the fun?

Involvement is the key to our success as a college and a community. It will also be the key to our success in the real world. This fall is a perfect time to start making an effort. This Sunday, the Admissions Office is sponsoring an Open House for high school students. Friendly Bryant students who take interest in these high school students could be one of the college's biggest selling points right now. Why not make an effort to be hospitable to these visitors...our future classmates.

Next Tuesday, the Greek Presidents Council and the Student Programming Board are sponsoring Virtual Reality, a chance for students to experience the cutting-edge in computer-generated surroundings. This technology has recently come to the forefront of the business world in publications such as Business Week. It's a golden opportunity to experience something most people only dream of.

In November, the annual UnHomecoming Weekend will be held. SPB is currently working hard to unite all campus organizations to make this an extra special weekend. Now is the time for you and your group to get involved and help make a great time come to fruition.

In the weeks to come, it would be a tremendous credit to the Bryant community if more people joined in the hard work and fun, instead of unfairly criticizing the people who are actually doing the work.

Clinton Wins Mock Election

To The Bryant Community:

On Tuesday October 13th, Bryant students participated in a Presidential Election Preview. The election was sponsored by ARA Services, and was held in accounts in all 50 states. As many as 50,000 people take part.

Locally 786 students cast ballots. The results were:

Clinton-267, 34.0%; Bush-216, 27.5%; Perot-183, 23.2%; Undecided-94, 12.0%; Other-26, 3.3%.

Perot's results were particularly impressive since the ballots were printed before he re-entered the race and his name had to be written in.

Student Lodges Complaints About Paper's Content

Dear Editor:

Enough is enough!!!! When I returned to school this semester I was glad to see the quality reporting of the events that took place this summer but as the weeks went on and more Archway's came out I witnessed informative journalism turn to sensationalism.

I am referring to the Parent's Weekend(sic) issue of the archway (sic) and the numerous anonymous letters that have been sent to the paper recently.

First I will discuss the Parents Weekend(sic) issue. If I see Matt Zimmerman's mug shot one more time I think I am going to be ill. I don't mean to do the editors job but is this really front page material? We know the kid was a scumbag and we understand how the legal process works so where is the news here? This story should have gotten a blurb on page 5. Maybe if the reporters on the Archway staff paid more attention to on campus events than the channel 10 news we might see some good journalism.

My second point is in reference to the beautiful piece of poetry on page 9. MIKE GET ON WITH YOUR LIFE!!! Most people attend college for four years and get a real job and move on with their life. What's up? No job? or no life? Although this poem is skillfully written it is abusive. How the Editor could be so reckless as to devote a whole page to this mud slinging is beyond me. Its sole purpose was to damage the reputation of individuals who were mentioned by name. How ironic that the administrators were named but the author was not.

Which brings me to my third point. Enough with the anonymous letters!!! how are we supposed to support someone's position without knowing who they are.(sic) I don't know how someone can threaten Dr. Trueheart(sic) position as president and not have the backbone to sign there (sic) name. This is the work of a true coward. What was the student from the class of '94 afraid of? Did he/she feel The (sic) president was going to throw him/her out of school? Give me a break.

The Archway(sic) is a very powerful medium. It is the information lifeblood of this school. But with that power there is a responsibility. One should not sacrifice good journalism for opportunism and sensationalism. I believe The Archway(sic) is a better paper than that.

Signed (for a change)
John A. Cirello

Editor's Note: Only one letter was printed without a name this semester. The letter was not unsigned; the name of "the student from the class of '94" was withheld from publication because of student feared jeopardizing his/her on-campus job and the job of his/her supervisor. The poem that appeared on page 9 of the October 16 issue of The Archway was a paid advertisement. The Editorial Board did not decide the size or content of the ad. The opinions expressed in this letter are those of the letter writer, and not The Archway staff.

Malicious Fire Alarms...

To The Bryant Community:

This past May, the Bryant College Student Senate and Business Affairs Division proposed and voted "yes" to a plan that would reward $1,000 for information leading to the apprehension of any person causing MALICIOUS FIRE ALARMS.

For your information, a copy of the Rhode Island Fire Law is as follows:

11-4-10. Interference with fire alarm apparatus - Penalty.

Every person who unlawfully and without just cause willfully or knowingly, tampers with, interferes with, or in any way impairs any public fire alarm apparatus, wire, or associated equipment, shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than one thousand ($1,000) nor more than five thousand ($5,000) dollars or shall be imprisoned for not less than one (1) nor more than five (5) years, or both.

Since the start of this semester, three malicious (false) fire alarms have been activated. The Department of Public Safety (DPS) wants to advise everyone that on-going investigations are being pursued. If individuals are apprehended they will be prosecuted as this action constitutes a felony crime, and fined as provided for in the Bryant College Student Handbook.

The blocking of a heating vent forces the heat to be deflected onto the local heat sensor, causing the fire alarm to be activated. An alarm activated in this manner is considered to be malicious in nature by the Smithfield Fire Department and classified as willfully and knowingly tampering with a fire alarm system. In this case, all persons involved in the incident will be held accountable for their actions. If there is a problem with the temperature of your room, please contact Physical Plant at 232-6052.

If you have any questions as to what constitutes a malicious alarm or you think you have information leading to the apprehension of the person(s) who caused the three malicious alarms, please contact John Rattigan anytime at the Department of Public Safety (232-6001). You can remain anonymous.

down and when they rise.

Later, the question, "Who is my neighbor?" will be answered by the example the parents will show to all the people they come in contact with in their daily lives. We give thanks for our parents who taught us how to love ourselves as well as others. They taught us how to pray and express our thanks for the awesome power of God influencing our lives.

I hope that many of you were able to spend a few moments with your parents last weekend to say, "Thank You!!! Thank you for all that you have done for me. Thank you God for creating, maintaining, educating, and remaining the source of our love."

Be safe, take care, and God Bless!!!

Parents' Weekend alerted me to the fact that our common heritage is what our parents taught us. For some parents, these words of scripture could have been their guide from Deuteronomy, "Hear, O Israel: The Lord is Our God, the Lord our God is one Lord. You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your might."

Some other parents would add a verse from Leviticus, "You should love your neighbor as yourself." These verses were to be recited to their children and discussed with them when they are at home and when they are away, when they lie

ROTC Field Training Exercise

by Amy Church
ROTC Cadet

The weekend of October 2-4, all Bryant ROTC cadets participated in a Field Training Exercise with the Patriot Battalion at Camp Edwards in Cape Cod, Massachusetts. It was a weekend for the freshmen and sophomores to learn basic skills, the juniors to prepare for Advanced Camp this summer, and the seniors to acquire the skills they will need as a second lieutenant when they graduate this year.

Throughout the course of the weekend, the freshmen, sophomores, and juniors each had a chance to assume a leadership position. The positions ranged all the way from team leader to platoon leader. The seniors assumed the roles of officers and conducted much of the training for the juniors, sophomores and freshmen.

The freshmen and sophomores were in one platoon and the juniors were in another. Upon arrival at Camp Edwards, cadets set up a camp site, called a bivouac site, with their tents and equipment.

During the first event of the weekend, cadets from both platoons challenged themselves on the Field Leadership Reaction Course. Each cadet rotated stations and leadership positions and attempted to accomplish a different mission at each station. Each squad leader had to come up with a plan on how to overcome the obstacles and complete the mission. Cadets encourtered such obstacles as water obstacles, simulated minefields and quicksand.

The next event of the day was Basic Rifle Marksmanship. Each cadet was issued an M16 A1 rifle. The seniors trained cadets on the parts and use of the weapon and gave them a safety briefing as well. Every cadet was expected to zero his or her weapon, adjust the sight properly, then fire at a target of silhouettes to determine his or her score for qualification.

The juniors then conducted a road march from the range to the Activity Center for an Award Ceremony. The march was approximately four miles and each cadet marched with a rucksack on his or her back.

At the Award Ceremony, many cadets were presented with awards and ribbons for a number of achievements. The seniors were presented with awards in recognition of their outstanding performances at Advanced Camp this past summer at Fort Bragg, North Carolina. Several juniors and sophomores were awarded their scholarships for their performance at Camp Challenge.

The freshmen and sophomores conducted a night walk to become familiar with a tactical night environment. As part of their training, an ambush was set up, using one sophomore as the enemy, to see how the other cadets would react.

The next morning, the freshmen and sophomores went back to Providence College, the Patriot Battalion headquarters, to conduct rappelling exercises. Cadets learned the proper way to tie a Swiss seat on and rappel down an obstacle. The cadets scaled down the wall of a building using the techniques they learned.

Concurrently, the juniors, still at Camp Edwards, conducted Individual Tactical Training. Cadets practiced several techniques such as high-crawling, using elbows and knees to move along the ground; low-crawling, using hands and feet to drag along the ground; 3-5 second buddy rushing, allowing your buddy to advance toward the enemy while you are firing at the enemy; and combat rolling; moving away unseen from where the enemy thinks you are so you can move toward them. Then, using those techniques, each cadet teamed up with a buddy and worked through an assault course to complete the ultimate mission of destroying a bunker with a simulated grenade.

The rest of the Battalion returned to Providence College and each cadet cleaned his or her rifle, a very detailed and meticulous process. Once all weapons passed inspection, the cadets were dismissed.

Every cadet came back from that weekend with a lot more leadership training and technical skills. As platoon leader for a day, I learned firsthand how much I became dependent on each and every member of my platoon to be proficient in the skills we had learned and to work as a team.

Parents' Weekend In Review

Katrina Pfannkuch
Archway Staff Writer

Parents weekend is always a big production in a college student's career. On top of keeping parents from asking you or anyone in the general area too many questions and hiding paraphernalia they shouldn't be seeing, you want them to have fun.

This weekend, Student Senate sponsored events including comics, a craft fair, demonstrations, and topped off the weekend with a jazz brunch at which President Trueheart made an appearance. But let's get serious, what did you really do with your parents?

Don't get me wrong, we all love to see our parents for a day or maybe a few hours, but everyone gets anxious when there is nothing to do. Recalling some comments my friends had about the weekend, they all mentioned the craft fair. This seemed the best place to go in hopes parents would buy you something, or see a friend that could rescue you for a while. Maybe even get the sets of parents talking to give you a breather!

Going to dinner was the next most exciting part of the weekend because not only do you make your parents happy by having a little one-on-one, but they pay for a good dinner. Among some of the favorites this time around were Wrights Chicken Farm and the Olive Garden.

Overall, Parents Weekend gives your parents an idea what your life is like so far from home, and probably puts them a little more at ease. So now you can relax, mess up the room and put back all those knickknacks the family wasn't supposed to see. And by the way, you Freshmen have three years to go.

Fire

Monday, October 12, 1992 5:03PM. Two Department of Public Safety (DPS) Officers were dispatched to a townhouse following a report of a small oven fire. When they arrived, there was smoke in the kitchen, however the fire had been extinguished. Apparently, the residents of the townhouse put out the fire with their fire extinguisher.

It was determined that the fire had started as a result of excessive grease from a steak in the oven. The local smoke detector in the kitchen was activated. However, the fire had been extinguished before the fire alarm in that zone was activated. Hence, the Smithfield Fire Department did not respond, but was notified of the incident. Physical Plant responded and shut off the circuit breaker to the oven so it could be inspected for damage.

Vandalism

Sunday, October 18, 1992

1:20am. At the above time, DPS received a report of a person defecating on a door in Residence Hall 7.

The responding officers met two suspects running from the building. When the DPS Officers asked what the students were doing in the building, they stated that they were using the bathroom. Escorting the two suspects to the area under report, they found that a door had in fact been defecated on. Furthermore, a fire extinguisher had been discharged on the door.

At this time, DPS requested that the Resident Director on duty respond to the scene. During questioning, it was learned that the suspects, a student and a visitor, were responsible for the damage to the door.

Reportedly, one of the suspects was very uncooperative, belligerent and obscene toward those college officials present. The same individual produced false identification to DPS, which was later verified through a check of his social security number.

The individuals were advised that they would both be responsible for cleaning the area and restitution for any damages that occurred.

Reminder:

Activating a fire alarm maliciously constitutes a felony and is punishable as such.

Is there 'Sex Equity' in Post-Secondary Education?

Over the past few years, there has been an increased emphasis on efforts to expand opportunities and elevate women's status in postsecondary institutions. Numerous laws, such as Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, have been passed to guarantee equity for women and to develop and promote programs to achieve it.

An examination of recent trends in postsecondary institutions suggests these changes in law and practice have had positive effects. Women students are now in the majority on college and university campuses, many on a part-time and re-entry basis. They earn half the bachelor's and master's degrees awarded each year, as well as 25% of professional degrees and 30% of doctoral degrees. Between 1971 and 1980, women increased by more than 25% in numbers earning bachelor's degrees, by more than 60% in numbers earning master's degrees, and by more than 100% in numbers earning doctoral degrees. Most impressive of all, they increased by more than 550% in numbers earning professional degrees (National Center for Education Statistics, 1980).

Additionally, more women than ever before are earning degrees in male-dominated occupational fields (defined by the National Center for Education Statistics as fields in which men earned more than 80% of all degrees awarded in 1971). By 1979, women accounted for more than 20% of all bachelor's degrees awarded in such traditionally masculine fields as business and management, computer and information sciences, and the physical sciences.

However, at the same time, as impressive as are the increases in the number of women earning degrees in male-dominated occupational fields, most degrees earned by women continue to be concentrated in the lower-status, lower-salaried occupational areas that women have traditionally dominated. The single most popular degree for women at all levels continues to be education.

The focus of this article will be on sex equity as it applies to students. Next week's article will address sex equity in terms of faculty and administrators.

Achieving Sex Equity for Students

Women students may be subjected to subtle discrimination in the classroom and outside, with the result that they can begin to believe their presence in class is not wanted, their participation in class discussion is not expected, their capacity for intellectual development is limited, and their academic and career goals are not matters for serious attention or concern (Hall, 1982). For example, one student reported: "Students in one of my classes did a tally and found that make professors called on men more often than on women students. What male students have to say or contribute is viewed as having more importance than what female students have to contribute in class." (Bogart, 1981)

Other areas which may be of concern for female students are presented next.

Admissions. The increased enrollment of women in postsecondary institutions is undoubtedly attributable not only to changes in the aspirations of women but also to changes in admissions policies and practices. Even without such overt sex discrimination, women may continue to be treated differently, often inadvertently (Sandler, 1979). Some faculty members may make assumptions about appropriate areas of study for men and women that may affect admissions or limit enrollment in nontraditional courses and programs.

Financial Aid. Women students receive fewer dollars than men students do from public sources of financial aid, despite the fact that they have greater financial need (Moran, 1983). Women students are more likely to enroll part-time than men students are because they do not have the financial resources for full-time study, but part-time enrollment disqualifies them from a number of federal aid programs that are limited to full-time students. Women students also continue to report that decisions made by institutions about scholarships, fellowships, and assistantships are influenced by sex-related criteria.

Counseling and Guidance. Some women students are still advised that careers and advanced degrees are not important for women; that women cannot or should not combine careers with marriage and family; or that they should not pursue nontraditional careers.

Personal Counseling and guidance services can include peer counseling, which women often find helpful, as well as groups and centers for women with similar needs, such as reentry women or minority women.

Support Services and Facilities. Many colleges and universities are sensitive to the educational and related needs of women and offer a variety of courses and programs for different groups of students, but the opportunities to take advantage of them may be reduced by inadequate support services and facilities.

A commission on the status of women can review the status of women on campus. Preventive measures can be taken to increase campus safety, such as nighttime escort service, campus-wide bus service operating during the day and night, adequate lighting throughout the campus, self-defense courses, and information on campus safety and on preventing sexual assault.

Health care services can include gynecological care. Institutions can offer child care services, information, and referral. They can allocate space to women and women-related programs, such as a women's center, a center for continuing education, and a center for research on women.

To learn more about sex equity in education, you are invited to attend our general meeting, October 27th; 4:30 pm in classroom M-44. Linda Nightingale Greenwood, Sex Equity Officer for RI Dept. of Education will be our guest speaker.

WEB is also happy to announce that funding has been made available to acquire Women in Higher Education, a monthly newsletter focusing on the particular needs of women pursuing careers in higher education.

Another new publication of interest has recently been acquired in the library: "Statistical Handbook on Women in America," Ref. HQ 1420.T34 1991.

It's still not too late to join us in our Walk for Women's Safety, Sunday, October 25th in Boston. We have a small team of students and faculty — we'll be wearing Bryant jackets (on loan from athletic department!) to show the "Bryant Spirit!" Call Nanci Weinberger (6411) or Debbie Easterling (6410) for details.

Our social activity for November will be an early dinner and attendance at Bryant's Performing Arts Series; mark your calendars for Wednesday, November 18th. We'll meet around 5:30.

For further info (and to let us know you'll be joining us), please call Shirley Miller at xt. 6309.

This weekend was well spent with parents and sisters! Saturday especially! Thanks Dea and those that helped!

The Swing-a-Thon was a success despite the rain! Thanks to those who donated for such a worthy cause. Also, a big thanks to Amy for organizing the Swing-a-Thon! It is well appreciated!

Good luck to all Sorority and Fraternity pledges!

Beta Sigma Chi

by Brian Bubluski

We would like to thank all of the parents and freshmen who attended our gathering on Saturday of Parent's Weekend. We felt it went well and without a hitch. We would also like to congratulate our BSC team for officially clinching a play-off berth that will be starting next week. We know that the championship is in the bag, but we can't overlook the Bulls. As for our A team, we had a strong showing against Sig Ep on Monday.

Planning for our Putting Challenge has gotten under way and numerous sponsors have already climbed aboard. A formal date should be set any day now. Before we sign off, I would like to salute one of our alumni who passed away a year ago last week. To Scott McIndoe, "Telly," we know wherever you are right now, you are all right and we miss you dearly.

BMA

by Michael Gannon

First off, we'd like to thank our fundraising chairperson, Heather, for her hard work this past weekend at the craft fair. Heather did a great job organizing the apple cider stand and raised a large sum of money. We are also proud to say our efforts at the fair enabled us to contribute a significant amount of money to the Red Cross' Hurricane Relief Fund. We'd like to thank all of our volunteers and supporters for this past weekend's success.

At our next meeting, September 28, Bryant alum Shannon Podiak, will be our guest speaker and will discuss careers in the dynamic environment of retailing. Shannon has worked for successful retailers such as the GAP and is presently Operations Manager at Eddie Bauer, Emerald Square Mall. Remember, it's never too late to join up! So, come to our next meeting and learn about an alumni's perception of the job market and careers in retailing. Also, we have decided on a logo and are in the process of designing the T-shirt for our BMA T-shirt drive.

Next meeting: Wednesday, October 28 in Papiito next to Tupper's.

College Republicans

by Michael Walsh

On October 20th, the Bryant College Young Republicans rallied at Providence College alongside other nation-wide chapters in support of Leonard for Governor. She is an exceptional candidate for office this November and will hopefully win with the support of those who vote.

We suggest that Bryant College support her in their voting this November.

On October 21st, the College Republicans attended a debate for the presidency in the Papiito Dining Hall in the Bryant Center. We would like to thank the Debate Society for their invitation. We feel that we left a lasting impression on those who were there and gave great support for our President, George Bush.

As we close for another week, we would like to express our thoughts about voting. To vote is not a privilege, it is a right. TO not vote is nearly a crime. We, as American citizens, can help mold the future of America by casting ballots for what we believe to be the best issue or candidate for America.

Until next week, don't forget to vote.

Delta Chi

by Michael Prestash

Parents Weekend was another incredible success this year. Thanks to Marcel for doing such a great job. Also, congratulations to Adam, George, Greg and the rest of the cast of Tom Jones on a job well done. Good luck to TEP and Alpha Phi on their philanthropies.

We are still accepting teams for the floor hockey tournament to be held Oct. 26-28. The cost is $20 per team. Anyone interested should contact Greg at 232-4185, or Scott and Dave at 232-8073.

In football, we held out against KDR/Crush in a 0-0 tie, but lost to Teabags 0-14 in the last five minutes. Not bad for back to back games.

Proud to be a Delta Chi. Adios.

Delta Kappa Epsilon

by Dennis Baker

The brothers would like to wish good luck to our pledges: Todd, Greg, Nate, Garth, John, Dan, Justin and Jeremy.

In football, Yakker passed for 279 yards and the Maddog booted a 60yrd field goal, even with all his little injuries. They were elected co-mvp's of the thrashing of Pi Kappa Phi for the lion. That's five years in a row by the way.

Karate Club

by Brian Cotter

I hope everyone who saw the karate demo this weekend had an enjoyable time. Congratulations are in order for everyone who participated for a fine performance - you did a great job. Further, I would like to thank Jill and Julie for all their work in organizing the wine and cheese gathering after the demo.

Now that the demo is over, we can all start to concentrate on our upcoming tests. After some good workouts (especially with Sensei Mastriani, whom we would all like to welcome back) and lots of practice, I am sure we will all be ready.

Tonight the Karate Club will be venturing off to the Lincoln Mall to see "Under Siege," and all members are welcome. I urge everyone to come, since it's a great time and a terrific way to get to know everyone better. Details will be announced in class.

by Susan Cameron

I would like to thank everyone for attending last week's meeting.

Senior portraits went well. But don't worry if you missed them - Retakes will be taken on Dec. 1st and Dec. 2nd.

Section editors should speak to Mike ASAP concerning mandatory office hours. The hours need to be scheduled soon so we can get organized and get some work done.

The '92 yearbooks are on their way to campus and will be available for sale in November. So keep an eye out for them.

Remember: Meetings are held every Tuesday at 4:00 in Rm. 2A in the Bryant Center. I hope to see you there.

Phi Kappa Sigma

by Kevin Reid

First off, we hope everyone had a good Parent's Weekend, we sure did. The gathering on the floor Saturday night was a great time, thanks to all those who made it up. Everyone who made it down to the townhouse Friday night had fun.

We welcome back Dr. Hannon and wish him well. The pledging wars have begun with Phi Sig. As far as our pledging goes, The Four Tops seem to be doing fine. To Bryan, Craig, Dave, and Gary; hang in there.

PKS-A are having a problem with consistent play, but we'll see if we can work through that in the play-offs. We look forward to Alumni Weekend this weekend.

Mark it down on your calendar, Cardboard City is Friday December 4th; we look forward to your contributions.

Phi Kappa Tau

by Kurt Anderson

Hello, hello. I'm glad to see we all made it through Parents' Weekend without any major trials and tribulations. This past week we were graced with the presence of our national advisor.

Jail and Bail is next Tuesday!! Arrest someone to benefit the National Kidney Foundation. All you have to do is give us your donation, the name of the person, and where that person will be, and we'll arrest them in the Rotunda. All they have to do is come up with the bail money! Sign-ups will be in front of Salmonson or with any sister. Faculty, Administration, and Physical Plant employees can also be arrested.... Hint!

Parent's weekend was a success! Thank you Urkel for all your hard work. A special thanks also to Twister for helping with everything.

Congratulations to Zeta class on being pinned. You are now only 20 weeks from your colors! Good Luck to Lara and Megan, it's time to bond with the pledge class!

In sports, the football team is psyched for our game today. Crush 'em girls! In volleyball, we're doing a good job... we're just having fun.

There's a Panhellenic Softball game on Saturday. Everyone should come and see the "Panhellenic Spirit" live on.

Saturday night is our Fall Harvest Moon Dance.

by Jennifer Kittinski

It was great to see new and old faces at Thursday's meeting - Michelle I never realized how much excitement you add to our meetings, you'll have to come more often. We are still asking for volunteers for a College Bowl Team and for the Hunger Coalition's trick-or-treating. If you are interested you can sign-up at Thursday's meeting.

Congratulations to all new chairpersons! We really appreciate your interest. Here's a recap in case you missed the announcements at the meeting: Kevin Monahan - Toy-Drive Chairman, Micucci - Survival Kit Chairman, Robin McDonough - Freshmen Balloon Chairman, Bobbi-Jo Bell - Oozball Chairman, Marthe Curran - Festival of Lights Chairman, Jenn Walsh - Senior Supplement Chairman, Jackie Shaldjian - Founders' Day Chairman, Carolyn Crouch. Chair positions for the Ethics Seminar and the Alumni Mentor Program were still open as of October 20th. Sara has been working on filling the positions so anyone interested should talk to her ASAP. Again, congratulations!

Thank you to all members who attended the International Business Ethics Seminar. If anyone has any suggestions or improvements for future seminars, we will be discussing it at this week's meeting.

The bothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon had an excellent weekend. Parent's weekend was a blast.

We are in our second week of pledging. Pledges keep up the good work, we know you can.

In Sig Ep sports, the A football team is looking powerful at 3-1-1. The Bulls are unbeaten and unscored upon at 4-0. Wheels gets the Athlete of the Week, he is FOOTBALL.

by Andrea Howie

I hope you and your parents had a good time this past weekend. It was nice to see so many of you out and about on campus. It was even nicer to have the help of so many volunteers throughout the weekend. I would like to thank all of you for your help. I especially like to thank Patrick Fitzgerald and his tech crew, Pam Cyr for helping with hospitality, Wendy Roach for drawing the big poster, the girls in Dorm 10 who decorated, and the Student Senate, especially Jane Porter for helping everywhere all day. Thanks!!

Congratulations goes out to the Hoop Shoot winner, Shawn McGran, with 27 baskets, and also congrats to Jon Waters for a great duet with Livingston Taylor!! (When will the album be out?)

Thanks to the brothers of Sig Ep for breaking down the chairs on Sunday. And thanks to Michelle Jaccodine and Katie for your help with registration.

Thanks again to everyone... and.... now that your parents have left is your room a mess yet?!

We hope everyone's Parent's Weekend was fun and enjoyable. A reminder to members that Halloween is in less than two weeks. I hope everyone is thinking of some good costumes to wear.

Our next game is Monday Octo-

Women's Rugby

by Sandy Pelletier

Hello ruggers! Well, the season has flown by and will soon be coming to an end. All of our hard work has definitely paid off with our 2 and 1 record, placing us in second place behind our favorite opponent MIT. Fortunately, Jerilyn is trying to schedule a game for Saturday—so don't throw your shirts in the washing machine yet!

Yesterday's game against P.C. went well, followed by our fun night at the Comfort. Sharon and I still plan on setting up fundraising events even when the season is officially over...FUN!

Women's Soccer Turns It Around

Pam Barry
Archway Sports Writer

The women's soccer team split their games this week to improve their overall record 2-1-0.

Bryant defeated AIC 1-0 on Tuesday for their second win of the season. The loan goal came in the first half from Amy Kempton off a pass from Melissa Roberts.

On Saturday, the Lady Indians played Springfield College and had a disappointing 0-3 loss. The game began with the Bryant girls getting used to playing on turf.

They were able to keep the play even until the last four minutes of the first half when Springfield got in their first goal. Two more goals followed for Springfield in the second half.

"The wind and rain-soaked field didn't help us out," said tri-captain Amy Kempton.

"We played a good first half, the score doesn't reflect how hard we've been working."

Keri Gibbons, last week's Athlete of the Week had another strong game on defense as sweeper.

The girls have four games left to finish off the season. They will host Quinnipiac College Saturday at 1:00 to close out their home season.

at #4 singles, in the first round. She then regrouped to win her next two matches and took the consolation championship.

Mara Levey won her first match at #5 singles, but lost a heart-breaker to the tournament champion Patty Connors of Stonehill. Shari Poulin lost to the tournament finalist Sarah Giannuzzi of Quinnipiac. She did manage to turn things around and won her next two matches and the consolation championship at #6 singles.

In doubles, Kent and Levey lost to the second seeded team from Stonehill in their first round, but then defeated teams from St.

Michael's and Bentley to win the consolation championship at #1 doubles.

Poulin and Colleen Shepard, playing together for the first time, played an outstanding match, but lost to second seeded team in three sets in the first round. They continued on to defeat Bentley's team in three sets and Springfield's #3 team in another three set match, giving them the #3 doubles consolation championship.

The team scoring was as follows: Stonehill 38, Quinnipiac 33, Springfield 21, Bryant 20, Assumption 19, St. Anselm's 11, St. Michael's 7, and Bentley 4.

asleep at this meeting he sent his best hitter, one of his best starters, and his closer to Oakland for Cansenco, and then paid them. Wake Up! Well, at least it benefited Oakland.

Now we are in the midst of the Fall Classic and as you look back you think "Thank God, it's almost over," hopefully next year won't be as bad.

Oh, and by the way, go Braves!!!

The women's tennis team, led by senior Heather Donahue and sophomore Dana Tessier, placed a strong fourth in the NE-10 championships that were held at Stonehill last weekend.

Donahue defeated Quinnipiac's #1 singles player Milee Grieco but then lost to the tournament champion Sarah Roberts of Springfield.

Tessier played a tremendous match and defeated Sarah Parrino of St. Anselm's, who had defeated Tessier earlier in the season. She then lost a two hour marathon to Terry Capobianco of Stonehill, who then lost in the finals to Kris Coker of Assumption.

Donahue and Tessier combined at #2 doubles, due to an illness of Tessier's regular partner, Amy Polasek, and reached the finals before bowing out to the top seeded team from Quinnipiac in three long sets.

Donahue and Tessier were not the only bright spots for Bryant, as every member of the team won at least one match. The lady Indians won five consolation championships which is a record for the tournament.

Coleen Dykas lost her first match, but then came back to win her next two including the #3 singles consolation match. Tabitha Kent lost to

Runners Compete in NE-10 Championships

Women Look Toward NCAA's

The women's cross country team competed in the NE-10 conference meet last weekend and ended up in a tie for third place with St. Michael's.

Leading the way for Bryant was Mandy LaPierre finishing the course in 18:09 to place 16th overall.

"We didn't run bad as a team, our spread was only :54," coach Charlie Mandeville said. "It's just we haven't developed a front runner yet. Mandy is running well, but we need someone up there with her."

Other scorers for Bryant included; Maureen Salmon 18:16, Heather Cronce 18:40, Kellie McDermott 18:51, Karen Palczynski 19:03, Laura Zegzdryn 19:16, and Jackie Choiniere 19:49.

"We're not going to pull out any upsets in the next two weeks we just want to do well in the NCAA's (November 7)," Mandeville said. "It's a hilly course that's more to our liking."

Rounding out the Bryant finishers were Jessica Duval 20:06, Karen Calderoni 20:14, Jodi Russo 20:41, and Jen Guisti 22:16.

The lady Indians did not have any runners qualify for the All-Conference team. But according to coach Mandeville, the week off might have had something to do with that.

"A weekend off was good in the physical way as rest goes, it wasn't very good in a mental way. We just weren't mentally ready," Mandeville concluded.

The lady Indians will be at Stonehill this Saturday to compete in the Stonehill Invitational.

Men's Soccer Back On Track

The men's soccer team went 2-0 as they shutout both opponents last week.

On Monday they defeated Holy Cross 3-0. The first goal was scored by Sal Buonacore off a Mike Masson assist at 7:39 in the first half. Masson then had a goal at 18:03 to end the scoring for the first half.

In the second half, Sebastian Lazar, off a Rob Hewardt pass, scored the final goal 2:57 into the half. The defense also played a big part in the games as they held Holy Cross to under ten shot on goal.

When asked how the team played, coach Len Mercurio stated, "In a game like that, as well as I would of liked in terms of ball control and passing the ball around."

"I was very pleased our opportunities. We have been getting a lot during the season in terms of having break all the time to score."

The Indians also shutout Springfield on Saturday 2-0. Matt Liepins opened the score with a header off a free kick by Jason Cross for the only goal in the first half. Cross then scored late in the second half from beyond the 18 yard line to secure the win for Bryant.

"It was a must win for us (the Springfield game) after coming back from the game against Bentley where we played the best game of the season even though we came up short," Mercurio said.

"Against Springfield, we kept the momentum going. Defense played great, goal keeping was steady, the midfield played well, and up front we scored two goals."

The team is optimistic about the playoffs. "It's a favorable outlook we have three games left in the NE-10 and two of them are against winless teams in the NE-10," Mercurio added.

"But you've got to take it game by game, the teams could surprise you. On paper it looks pretty favorable and most important we have started to play better and better and hopefully we will peak in the playoffs."

The team had a game against Wesleyan University yesterday but the results were too late for publication.

They will be at Quinnipiac Saturday and then returning home to face Assumption at 3:30 on Tuesday.

America's Pastime: A Look Back

The official end of summer is nowhere; the Fall Classic has started. The World Series, always provides excitement, but has a few firsts this year.

One, obviously being, this is the first time it truly an international event with the Toronto Blue Jays representing Canada, as well as the American League.

The World Series crown will also be going to a city it has never been in. The Braves have never been world champions and the Blue Jays are in the fall classic for the first time ever.

There is also something missing this year. "What is it?" you may ask. There is no commissioner of baseball. This brings me to the main topic of this column the season in review.

It was definitely an interesting season from Fay Vincent's antics to the multi-millionaires not playing up to their potential, from possibly the stupidest trade in history to the realignment of the National League. It has been strange year.

We started at the beginning of the year with drug charges being brought up on Pasquel Perez and Steve Howe of the New York Yankees. This sent a lot of controversy around the sports world. Perez attacked the Yankees for not appealing and Commissioner Fay Vincent called manager Buck Showalter to his office on the morning of a day game, which by the way, he showed up late for.

Then we had the problems of reinstating George Steinbrenner. Vincent felt Steinbrenner was launching a personal attack on the him and Major League Baseball. Later, Steinbrenner would be reinstated but it was clear that Vincent thought he could get away with anything.

As most of you know, there will be two new teams in baseball next season; the Florida Marlins and the Colorado Rockies. This really set the sports world upside down. First Vincent realigned the leagues putting the Chicago Cubs in the west and the Atlanta Braves in the east. But the Cubs wouldn't hear of it. They appealed it because the majority of their games would be on the west coast and would start later.

Funny though, it doesn't bother their cross-town rivals the White Sox.

We later would have the sale of the Seattle Mariners to a Japanese business man, which never should have happened, followed by the San Francisco Giants being sold to a business man from St. Petersburg which includes relocating the team.

That is when Vincent really flipped out and abused his powers. He wanted to realign both leagues to give Florida a National and American League team. To do this, he wanted to send Milwaukee back to the National League and put the St. Petersburg Giants into the American League. It's one thing when he realigned the actual league, but he cannot start shuffling teams between leagues.

The best day of the year was when he finally stepped down. Thank you Mr. Vincent.

This year the dumbest move in history was made, I'm sure you remember the trade that sent Jose Cansenco to the Texas Rangers for Ruben Sierra, Bobby Witt, Jeff Russell, and a substantial sum of money.

First off, there isn't a person in any sport as good as him.

Men Take Fourth

Pam Barry

Last Saturday, the men's cross country team made a good showing by placing fourth in the Northeast-10 Conference Meet.

Tom Gaspar placed tenth overall and was the first runner in for Bryant. Pete Gosselin was 13th overall and second for Bryant, and Mike Walsh was 19th overall and third for Bryant.

The Northeast-10 is a race consisting of the 10 colleges in the Northeast Conference. The other schools who ran this weekend were: St. Anselm's, St. Michael's, Bentley, Merrimack, Quinnipiac, Stonehill, Springfield, and Assumption (only nine colleges participated this year).

Sunday the team will participate in the Stonehill College Invitational. Nationals are on November 7 and the top seven runners from Bryant College will compete in this event.

Athlete OF THE WEEK

Donald (DJ) Spelman

This week's athlete of the week is Donald (DJ) Spelman of the men's soccer team. Spelman has played well all season in the backfield and is a big contributor to the six shutouts recorded by the team.

Spelman said, "It's not all on my shoulders, the defense plays just as well. I just control them, (Mike) Stepnowski, (Steven) Bigler, and the rest of the boys on defense deserve some credit."
