

A Final Farewell to

Angelo L. Corradino Archway Staff Writer

The Bryant Community turned out in large numbers for a memorial service in honor of the late Omar Shareef last night.

Shareef, who would have been a junior forward on the men's basketball team this winter, died of injures suffered in a car accident last month,

The ceremony, organized by the men's basketball team and Bryant Athletics, gave friends, family and anyone who knew Shareef a chance to say good-bye.

Men's Basketball Coach Ed Reilly was one of the first speakers at the ceremony. Reilly talked about not only Shareef the basketball player, but he also talked about Shareef the man.

"Omar made people around him happy, just by being there," Reilly commented.

In addition, Reilly read a letter from Brian Carey, Shareef's friend from Long Island Lutheran High School.

"Long Island Lutheran and Bryant share a common bond," the letter reads. "We all shared the memories of this truly special young man. Everyone loved him, and will miss more about the man he coached for two years.

"The coaching staff and I all agreed Omar would have blossomed into one of the finest athletes in the NE-10 this year," Reilly said.

"Omar was the finest, most outstanding young man I ever had the pleasure to deal with," Reilly con-

The basketball players also got a chance to say good-bye to their fellow Bulldog.

"He made hard things bearable. He made us laugh, smile and feel alive," Kevin O'Brien, men's basketball co-captain said.

Jeremy O'Connor also commented on how Shareef could make everyone feel better even when times were tough.

"At age 19 he was a man. He was a people person. He would always stop and say, 'Hi' to everyone he met," O'Connor said Fellow basketball player Herman Thomas read a poem he prepared for the ceremony. In the poem, you could hear how much Shareef was loved by his fellow teammates.

Hassan Shareef, Omar's father, then read a passage on the Concept of Life. Life is a journey from start to end. In other words, he should do all he can and make himself fully eternity.

"Omar would understand what this meant, it was something we often talked about," Shareef said.

Reilly then presented the Shareef family a poem, which was written by Edwin Holden, one of the many followers of the Bryant basketball programs. The poem was then read by fellow player, and friend Scott Collins.

Fighting back tears, Collins read, "'O' is for 'Outstanding', Shareef was surly that. He was never too busy to have a friendly chat ... 'E' is for 'Excellence', or talent, call it what you may. Coming off the bench, many times he saved the F.J. Talley, vice-president of students affairs, announced the founding of the Omar Shareef Memorial Scholarship. Events will be held over the next few weeks to raise money for the fund. Personal donations to the fund, can be made out to the Bryant College Omar Sharcef Memorial Scholarship Fund.

The basketball team said they have one goal left, to dedicate the season to Omar.

We want to come back at the end of the season and celebrate our victory," Reilly said. "We would like to close out the season - just like Omar lived his life - as a cham-

A Call to Service

Susanne Martone Archway Staff Writer

"We must work together to improve the quality of life and then we will have a greater impact on society," stressed guest speaker Dr. Allan Bailey at Convocation 1994, on September 14. Faculty, staff, and students came together at Convocation to devote this year to the theme of "Community and Public Service."

"Convocation is a recent, special tradition - a chance to come 10gether and welcome one another, President Trueheart commented in his welcome address. He especially welcomed the new students and new faculty to the Bryant family, asking

"fresh thoughts and new perspectives."

Called "a good friend of Bryant College" by Professor Joseph Illacqua, Dr. Allan Bailey currently serves as the Dean of the School of Business at San Diego State University. Bailey is also a past President of AACSB. Bailey had many words of encouragement as he addressed the Bryant community. "Set goals and pursue them with passion," he said. "But also remember to learn from your mistakes. Failure is an opportunity to begin again more intelligently."

According to Bailey, there are but also for life."

Student Senate President, Rob Fontanella reminded students of the meaning of education as they embark on a new school year "Education is a gift, it is a seed to our success. We must help it grow...feed it with understanding so it will bear fruit to feed our minds and souls."

Also at Convocation was the debut of the new Bryant College Alma Mater. The Alma Mater was composed by Richard Cumming, who accompanied soloist Christine Gagne '96 on the piano.

President Trueheart urged the entire Bryant community to heed the theme of "Community and Public Service" throughout the year. "We all must become involved - work with those outside of the Bryant community who have needs and devote all possible resources to those who are less fortunate."

Reilly went on to talk more and prepared to move any minute into pion." Freshmen Program Provides Avenues to Success

Julia Arouchon Archway Staff Writer

The poster on the door to the Avenues to Success in College (ASC) Program reads "Speed Limit Four Years," College Street and Success Avenue intersect and an arrow points one way - up. What lies behind this door is a program aimed at easing the transition to college life for incoming freshmen.

The ASC program is a pilot program implemented by the Learning Center this year. The program consists of approximately twenty staff members as well as student tutors. The classes are small(no larger than 15 students) and personal, Currently, 190 freshmen are enrolled.

ASC addresses the academic and social aspects of college life in a friendly, relaxed setting. Topics for discussion range from how to do well in economics, to building selfesteem and effectively managing

"No one teaches you how to be a freshman," says Trish Avolio, coordinator of the Learning Center. "There needs to be a course to help students succeed at the college level," added Avolio.

Avolio says the name itself symbolizes the philosophy behind the program. Rather than referring to the course as Freshmen 101, Avenues was included in the name to represent the different paths of col-

"Throughout our college lives students are faced with many different avenues and paths to choose from. Believe it or not, the next four years may shape the rest of a student's life. College determines careers, lifelong friends and maybe even a spouse," added Avolio.

The program also grew out of a need to work on preventing students from leaving college within the first couple of weeks. In fact, national research shows students who drop out of college do so within the first six weeks.

The concept of the ASC program is not to baby the students says Avolio; but, to guide them. This program coincides with a national trend to change the attitude toward higher education. Instead of leaving freshmen to "sink or swim," the idea is to work with them to ensure success.

Science Professor David Betsch is one of the professors involved with ASC. He sees the program as an opportunity to increase the academic and personal success of the incoming freshmen. Betsch added, "Confidence is key to the success of Marc Perry, a student tutor for the ASC program, says the informal atmosphere makes the students involved more relaxed. "It is a better opportunity to get their questions answered," added Perry.

Christine Vazquez another student tutor believes the program helps students to realize what they want from themselves to build self-esteem.

Vazquez says she wanted to help out so she could encourage students to get involved and meet people. "Even if I just help one freshman have a better year, it has been worth it to me," added Vazquez.

Sheri Trazi, a student involved in the program commented, "We are learning how to write papers and deal with our classes."

Even though freshmen earn no credit for coming to the program Avolio thinks the students see the advantages. "The freshmen know in the long run they will be better off because they have attended the program," said Avolio.

Become A Part of the Process

Bryant College is currently undergoing a "re-engineering" process due to the deficit incurred in the 1993-94 fiscal year. Operating budgets have been slashed substantially and over 885 suggestions to cut costs and enhance revenue have poured in. Forums are being held to gather input and suggestions from the community. All this in an effort to preserve Bryant's future.

Yet, these community forums lack input from a major aspect of the community—the students. At yesterday's Community Forum only a handful of students turned out. Perhaps if the students knew how deeply the future of the College and their education depends on this forum there would have been a better turnout.

This opportunity for the student body to speak out should not be passed up in this crucial "re-engineering" of the college. If students don't demand to be heard loud and clear through representation on the Resource Allocation Advisory Committee (RAAC) they will simply go unnoticed. Currently, RAAC has no representation from the student body.

Ultimately, it is the students who are going to be affected by RAAC's proposals. Doesn't it make sense to include input from student representatives if these recommendations will eventually affect students?

Students cannot afford to wait to take action. If the students don't do something, someone else will make the decisions for them. When the MAC cannot remain open until midnight, organizational budgets are cut to the bare bones and the computers in Koffler turn into dinosaurs, each and every student will bear the brunt of the process.

"Re-engineering" is a necessary evil, but it is more beneficial to work with the process than to fight it. Good things can come as a result of change, but only if students help shape these changes.

Think of how easy "re-engineering" would be if the students continue to sit back quietly and accept cutbacks and changes. Don't fall into the administration's trap—stand up and voice your opinions. Become a part of the process. Take the initiative now or forever suffer with the consequences. Afterall, without students there would be no need for Bryant College to exist.

To a Young Man We Took For Granted

Dear Editor:

On August 3rd, Bryant lost a very valuable member of it's community. David Provost a young man at age 37, 21 years of which he spent an employee of Bryant, died suddenly in his sleep.

Dave "The Pro," as he was affectionately known, was the lead man for the grounds crew for the past 10 years. His immediate supervisor, Mr. Bob Lawton, relied heavily on Dave's leadership and "know how" as far as the care and maintenance of our athletic fields in particular, and the grounds in general.

As Softball coach and Intramural Director I dealt directly with Dave for many years as to how and when the varsity fields, flag football, club rugby, club lacrosse, field hockey, and Special Olympics were to be lined and ready for use. I could always depend on first class results from Dave and his crew. Representatives from other colleges have complimented us on the condition of our fields on numerous occasions.

A person of Mr. Provost's dedication and pride in his work, will be difficult to replace, and Bryant College has been fortunate for the past two decades to have had such a hard working individual on its' staff.

As a memorial to Dave Provost, the Physical Plant is having a tree planted in his name in the Sutton Farm area near the varsity softball field. The ceremony will take place at a time and date to be announced. All students, faculty, and staff are invited to attend.

Sincerely, Robert Reall

Changes At Residence Life

Eric Handa Archway Staff Writer

The Bryant College residence life department has three new resident directors for the academic year 1994-1995. They reside in residence halls 14, 15, and 16.

Lori Harriso, who hails from Coventry, Rhode Island is the new director in freshmen hall 15. Lori is a graduate of Rhode Island College where she was a communications major and a resident assistant for three years. Lori served as the community volunteers director for the American Diabetes Association. She coordinated various other activities in the state of Rhode Islandincluding youth services, public awareness, and dence. Lori says she is very excited about Bryant's Convocation theme community service and corporate social responsibility.

In Lori's free time she enjoys going to the theater and volunteering at the Providence Performing Arts Center. She also enjoys biking, walking, and listening to music.

In the other freshmen hall 14, Kevin Hearn is the new resident director. Kevin, whohails from Syracus, New York is a graduate of LeMoyne College where he was a pre-law major.

He enjoys the outdoors, skiing, biking and all sports. Kevin has been in residence life at three other liberal arts schools minority initiative in Provi- before coming to Bryant. When asked what his view on Bryant is Kevin responded, "The educational focus is different and the social development aspect is different and I'm really excited to be a part of that."

The new resident director in hall 16 is Shelly Masson, Shelly is a graduate of Keene State college in Keene N.H. where she was a management major. When asked what she would like to contribute to the Bryant community, Shelly responded "I am really looking forward to helping build a sense of community and appreciation for diversity as well as promoting respect for others.

In her free time, Shelly enjoys walking, hiking, and especially reading.

Electronic Classroom Up and Running

Katrina Pfannkuch Archway Staff writer

For those students wondering what all the banging and clanging from area rooms was last semester, the verdict is out. Byrant College implemented a 40 station electronic classroom located on the second floor of the unistructure designed for teaching computer related applications and to enhance the effectiveness and efficiency of the learning and teaching process.

The computers are capable of handling DOS /Windows operations and Macintosh applications, as well as functioning as a part of the information super highway. Multi media capabilities add to the facilities of the room. Students have more choice with text and graphics combined.

Each station is equipped with a monitor, keyboard and mouse, and is set up in a series of long tables. The tables are ergonomic to simulate a desk reading atmosphere and can serve as both a lecture and hands on lab in one. This way teachers can see the students while helping them with the computer and vice vesa.

Only high density disks are allowed for use in the room, and disks must be kept there over night.

This room was made possible by two professors that put thier here at Bryant. All the computers are linked together and have video transfer that enables students to project their screen to any or all monitors, view any students screen on their own, the teacher is able to scan all students screens from one station, and the student and teacher are able to communicate privately. The additional cost of the program is approximately 21,00 to make the room complete.

Right now the room is available only to students that have class held in those rooms. This includes two of Lyons Written Communications classes and a Articles for Publications class in addition to Roohani's three Accounting Information classes, two are undergraduate. At this time the lab is concentrating on accommodating the students that need to use the lab for class daily because access by the whole school would take away too much operating time from the only 40 stations.

The school is looking to adapt Koeffler to the same format within the next year so that all students can use the facilities.

"Our next goal is to try and establish the link with other campuses and share what is going on in class through the satellite. Its is possible to link up all around the world and students can work with those from other countries." commented Roohani. "It's a good start and I would like to see all the ada a a a than and da aid aid that classrooms at Bruant look like this

Bryant One Card Update

William Baker Director of Purchasing

The new Card Value Centers (CVC's) have been installed and are awaiting the software which will interface with the CBORD Dining Service Access System. Danyl, the equipment manufacturer, has advised us the software will be shipped approximately September 30. Allowing for transportation and installation we plan to have the CVCs on line by October 7, 1994.

To obtain or activate the One Card, stop by Public Safety between the hours of 9:00 am - 1:00 p.m. and 2:00 p.m. - 3:30 p.m., Monday -Friday beginning September 28. There will be no charge for the One Card. However, you will be required to exchange your current ID card for the new one.

Once the CVCs are operational, and your One Card has been activated in Public Safety, anyone having a One Card will be able to transfer points from the 3/8" magnetic stripe to the 1/8" debit vend stripe. Cardholders can then activate the laundry equipment by inserting their One Card into the reader. The card the hours of 9:00 am - 1:00 p.m. and readers for the Coca Cola machines 2:00 p.m. - 3:30 p.m., Monday - should be installed the week of Friday beginning September 28. October 7.

Both Automatic Laundry and Coca Cola have made significant investments to allow the use of the One Card in their equipment.

Therefore, in the event of damage to the laundry or vending equipment, repair or replacement costs will be charged against the Residence Hall damage deposits.

Please note: Notify the ARA office immediately if you lose your One Card. The replacement cost for a lost card is $10.00.

Change In The Salmanson Dining Hall Smoking Policy

by Paula Hogan

Currently, there is federal legislation under consideration which would require building owners to implement a smoking ban for public facilities that are regularly entered by 10 or more people. It would permit smoking only in separately vented rooms to insure the air from the area is exhausted outside. In light of this legislation, the College is reevaluating the smoking policy on campus.

With the recent renovations in the Salmanson Dining Hall, there is no longer a separate area that can be designated as a smoking area. Due to the dangers of secondhand smoke, a decision has been made to implement a no smoking policy in Salmanson Dining Hall effective with the re-opening of the facility.

What's Happening At BRYCOL? Spiritual Offerings

by Jennifer Barile

There are some changes at Brycol this semester. The employees smile a little more. The general mangers walk a little prouder. The office runs a little smoother. The board is even more approachable. All of this is part of the important changes we have made in the structure and other areas of Brycol Student Services, Inc. The following is an update on the divisions of Brycol.

Brycol, inc.—Ournewly-promoted office manager, Farrah is available at the house Monday-Friday, 3-5 p.m. to answer questions about Brycol or any of its entities. Our number is 231-1220.

By restructuring the Board more people were added into the organization. The chairperson, CEO is James Zahansky. Our vice-president, COO is Christopher Candido. The treasure, CFO is Jennifer Lorence. Serving as secretary is Jean Mladinich. The Board of Directors were promoted to their new positions as members of the Board of Trustees. The position of director still exists, but it is re-developed. The new position allows individuals the chance to get involved with Brycol without having all the responsibility of a Trustee.

Celebrations-The on-campus delivery specialists is here to serve all your special occasion needs. We have balloons, cakes, flowers, etc. If you need food delivered from Tuppers or the Comfort accomidations can be made. We deliver Monday - Friday to residence halls, townhouses and of-

Comfort-The new interim general manager for the Comfort is Paul Rovelli. Most of the Comfort nights were booked last week at the Lottery for all campus clubs and organizations. Call the Brycol house if you have questions concerning Comfort nights. New specials are coming out every week so just check our flyers hanging on townhouses or in the Tuppers-A new layout was designed at Tuppers to cut down the time it takes to service customers. Tuppers will also continue to take points. Questions or suggestions can be just directed to General Manager Doug LeBlanc.

Vending-Thanks to our exclusive contract with Coca-Cola we are happy to present our new soda vending machines equipped with ID readers. When the new Bryant ID card comes out, soadas can be purchased using the card. These machines are located in all the residence halls and will also take coins. In the past, there was a lot of vandalism to our machines. This will not be tolerated. Repeat damage to any machine willresultin the removal of the machine from the building.

Informant—The Informant is the ultimate in student's guide on numbers to know, teacher's offices, sport schedules, and all your friend's number's and addresses. This year's informant team is headed by Kathy Krason, who assures us The Informant will be out Parent's Weekend, Oct. 14-16. Look for change slips coming out soon if you need to change any information regarding your address and phone numbers.

Any questions, comments, etc. can be directed to Brycol Student Services, Inc. Box 9, 231-1220.

What about OJ's

Enigma

by David Betsch

Science Department

Like the fingerprints that came into use by detectives and police labs during the 1930's, each person has a unique set of DNA fingerprints. Unlike conventional fingerprints, DNA fingerprints can be determined for any cell, organ, or tissue in the body and cannot be altered. Although used in hundreds of cases since 1986, involving such notables as Mike Tyson and Sylvester Stallone, DNA fingerprints have become famous only with the ongoing murder trial of Mr. O. J. Simpson.

Imagine cover stories in Time and Newsweek and frequent stories in The Providence Journal and other newspapers about Dr. DNA's favorite subject! Deoxyribonucleic public Acids in the spotlight...delightful!

Simply put, DNA fingerprinting (sometimes also called DNA profiling) is a quick look at the sequence of nucleotides from a particular stretch of a person's DNA. For those who avoided SCI 251 or SCI 356, nucleotides are the units that compose a DNA chain, abbreviated A, C, G, and T. It takes over 3 billion A's, C's, G's, and T's to specify the genetics of one human, and there are many regions of DNA whose sequence is unique to that one single person.

How to recover D N A ? ? ?

Easy...since we leave trails of it everywhere we go, within the roots of loose hairs and shed skin cells. Blood is a gold mine of DNA, from the white blood cells of course! In OJ's case, both hair roots and blood were recovered at the crime scene.

DNA fingerprints must be done as a comparison between samples. Forensic labs have tested samples of Mr. Simpson's hair and blood, taken after he was in custody, and the evidentiary hair and blood samples taken from the crime scene (if you must know, the preliminary results were published in The Provi-

Same Food, Longer Lines

Pointless

Ramblings

Ahhh, the start of another year of college. I especially look forward to the first few days, when I can rekindle friendships that have waned over the summer, prepare myself for hard work pursuing an education after several months of wretched excess, and eat three squares a day in good old Salmanson dining hall. Naturally, I was very interested in seeing what they'd done with the place over the Summer after reading the article in the Archway. I had no idea there were plans to redecorate, and I must say

I was rather shockedas I descended the refurbished staircase for the first time.

At first, I thought the place looked great. It was nicely lit, and there seemed to be an agreeable atmosphere to the place. First impressions can be deceiving, though, and I found that out soon enough. A combination of incredibly long lines and poor crowd management quickly soured my favorable reaction to the setup of the kitchen area. I was also surprised to realize that it had taken a mere six minutes from the time of opening for the line to get backed up to the top of the staircase.

As I made my way through the throng of people and into the dining room, I noticed the lack of space. What was once a pleasant and airy eating area is now crowded and uncomfortable. The aisles between the tables are ridiculously narrow, thus making it difficult for two people carrying trays to pass each other without one turning sideways and holding their tray over the head of whomever is seated at the end of the table.

After eating, I went to put my tray away only to discover the old conveyor belt had been removed, and there now was some sort of tray removal system, the likes of which could probably be seen by watching any old episode of the Jetson's.

The biggest problem I can see is that of crowd management. It seems as if the designers were simply aiming for glitz, and not thinking about the multitudes of people who would be eating in the cafeteria.

Brian Epro Also, Archway Staff Writer questioning a member of the ARA staff, I was told they do not like the setup either, and long for the days when we all waited in a relatively short line, and we didn't have to wait in the "Grill" line and then the "Deli" line in order to be able to get a ham and cheese with fries.

One viable option I feel that can relieve the overburdened Salmanson at dinnertime would be to reopen the South Dining hall for meal plans, and not just have it take points, as it does at lunch. I really liked the simplicity of the old system, and question why it was necessary for this expensive change. It is as the adage goes, "If it ain't broke, don't fix it." Or perhaps it is as my friend put it. She thought they should have spent the money on better food.

What do the following words mean to you? The Earthquake, Hitchhiker, Down and Dirty, Walk the Line, Clog and the Tush Push. Chances are you don't have a single idea what they mean when used together. Well, now's your chance to learn.

Country Line Dancing is the latest craze to hit our area and it offers something different to do on a night

You may say you hate country music, but have you listened to it lately? It is no longer a bunch of twangy songs about losing pickup trucks. Now it is about love and parties and having a good time. Many songs are also crossing barriers into different music genres.

Ask yourself these questions... Do you want to just go out by yourself and have a great time? Do you want to get your exercise done without joining a club or even realize that you are exercising? If you answered yes, well keep reading.

I am in the process of forming a line dance class on campus free of charge. Right now I am thinking of offering a total of five classes on Saturday afternoons in October. After these classes, you could walk into any club and know exactly what to do. This will save you some embarrassment as you try to learn the dances. If you are interested or want more information write to me at Box C-4065 or call 726-5966. Keep looking for more information.

dence Journal-Bulletin, September 16, 1994, p1). Two methods were employed, a quick simple method known as PCR and a more complex but exacting method known as RFLP. What's the difference?

PCR fingerprinting consists of reproducing one small variable segment of DNA over a million times, then checking its sequence with something called a probe. The typical PCR method in current use takes about one day and can separate humans into one of 21 different categories. Consequently, it can prove that two samples are from different humans (if they don't match) but gives about a 95% probability of identity if they do match, insufficient for proof "beyond a shadow of a doubt". Usually, PCR is done first to check for a match before continuing to RFLP.

RFLP is a more elaborate procedure, requiring several days to complete. If done properly, it offers the advantage of declaring a match between DNA samples with greater than 99.99% accuracy. RFLP involves cutting all of the DNA into pieces and analyzing all of the pieces with probes. While PCR examines one small stretch of DNA sequence, RFLP looks at virtually all the DNA sequence. An RFLP procedure requires a much larger sample of hair or blood than does PCR.

Most of the arguments during trials in which DNA profiling has been used surround the issues of accuracy (truth) and precision (reproducibility). Check OJ's lawyers' statements in court and to the press and you'll see what I mean. Although the test itself is extremely reliable, the technicians and scientists performing it are subject to the usual human frailties; therefore, the close scrutiny DNA testing is receiving in court and the press is entirely appropriate.

We perform both the PCR and RFLP methods in our Biotechnology laboratories. If you're interested, why not join our class next spring? Even better, sign up for the new Biotechnology or Environmental Science Minors and really dazzle your friends!

SENATE PLATFORMS THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1994 9

Freshman Candidates

Tamer Ahmed

Greetings to all my fellow members of the class of 1998. My name is Tamer Ahmed and I would like to represent your ideas in the Student Senate. To understand what the Senate is all about one must first understand the Student Senate's purpose. The Senate governs the student body and makes crucial decisions in appropriating funds to the various student organizations that we participate in at Bryant College.

Although some of us did serve in student government in high school, I feel those experiences will only partially prepare us for what lies ahead in terms of relaying your ideas to the other members of the Senate. The difference between my high school student government and the one here is substantial. Gone are the days when the student government's main issue was the next dance. They have been replaced by real and more pressing problems that the Senate tries to resolve. Only by experience can we accomplish our goals and achieve our objectives in our attempts to better ourselves in life. Therefore I would appreciate your vote on September 26 and 27.

Stacy Keegan

Welcome class of 1998!! My name is Stacy Keegan and I'm from Everett, MA. I'd like to take this opportunity to tell you a little about myself and the experience that I have with student government and other leadership posi-

During my four years at Everett High I have been Vice-president of my class, student advisor for all four grades, and an advisor to the mayor. As a senior along with many various clubs I was chosen Editor-in-chief of the yearbook.

I just recently helped Channel 5 and A World of Difference, by campaigning against racism. I worked to promote unity of all races by hosting a TV special and different seminars for all students around MA.

If elected my goal is to get to know everyone and listen to what ideas and concerns you may have about Bryant. As Freshmen we are all new here and have a lot of learning and growing to do. I hope that the first year at Bryant will be the most fun and successful and I believe I can help make that happen. I can't promise any drastic changes because I am alsonew, but I can say that if elected the class of 98' will be well represented.

Sean Kenny

Hello my name is SEAN KENNY from Pearl River, New York, I am running for Student Senate class of '98 position. I feel that I am able to do a great job due to past experience in school government.

In the past I have had many positions in various different organizations. There has been the presidency of the school wide student government, vice presidency of the class, management in a local supermarket, and captain of the varsity baseball team. As shown through past experience I have the diversification and the personality to represent the class of '98 as one of your student

One thing that I would like to get accomplished is to put dollar changers in the laundry rooms of Hall 14 & 15. The most important thing that I have to say is that if and when given the chance to be your student senator, my door is always open and you can approach me at any time. I am here for you. So on the 26 & 27 remember to vote SEANFOR SENATE. You won't regret it! Thank you.

Adam Novak

Hello, my name is Adam Novak and I am running for Bryant College Student Senate, I would like to tell you why I feel I deserve to represent the class of 1998.

Ever since I could remember, I have been a leader. From organizing a pickup game of stickball in sixth grade to organizing our homecoming fair in high school, I have always done my best and put my heart into everything. I was a class senator from sixth to twelfth grade. I was a player on the varsity tennis team for four years and won two coach's awards for team leadership. I was an award winning speaker and debater. I was elected public relations secretary of the Long Beach chapter of D.E.C.A. and went to the state finals in three events.

I have the experience to successfully represent the freshman class and the entire school. I have the drive and ambition needed to get things done. I am strong willed and will fight for what I believe in. I also listen to reason and will compromise when need be. The Freshman Class needs a strong say in this school! Let me be your voice!

Jason Ranallo

Hello class of 1998! My name is Jason Ranallo and I am running for Student Senate. I am a graduate of BishopHendrickenHighSchoolwhich is located in Warwick, Rhode Island. At Bishop Hendricken, I participated in many activities, such as track and field and peer ministry.

I am from Johnston, Rhode Island and currently reside in freshman hall 14. In my eighteen years of living in Johnston, I helped the community in many ways. I was Vice-Chairman of the Young Democrats of Johnston and a religious education teacher.

If I am elected to senate I promise to give 110% effort at all times. I want to help make the Bryant community the very best place it could be. A vote for Jay Ranallo will insure a strong voice in the Student Senate for every freshman. Remember, vote for me, Jay Ranallo, the voice we need!

Charles Roth

My name is Charles Roth, from New York City. I am an Actuarial

Science major. I would like to represent our freshman class, as a member of the Student Senate.

During high school I was a member of many student activities. Through my experiences in high school I learned how to work as a team member, through sports, and also learned how to go off my own and take on obstacles that others would not face, by being a member of Student Life.

If elected to the Student Senate, I will try to work with all the issues brought forth to the Senate, with the best interest of the student body in mind. I believe the needs of all individuals must be answered and you will elect six members to represent you and your peers. These representatives are going to be the members of the student body who will attempt to get your needs and questions answered, so select them carefully. Vote for the group of candidates that you feel will represent the student body with the intent to better student life, here at Bryant. Hopefully, I have had a positive effect an you and your opinion of me, Charles Roth. I would be honored to be included into the selected group of Freshman Senators, but it isn't my choice. The choice is yours, the freshmen of Bryant, whether or not to include me in the Student Senate. Make the correct choice... Vote for Charles Roth.

Jose Santa

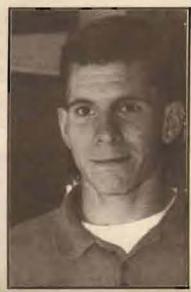

For those of you who do not know me, my name is Jose Santa and I am running for Student Senate. First let me begin by telling you a little bit about myself. I graduated from Belchertown High School, in Beichertown, Massachusetts. Belchertown High is a small school with a total of 450 students. During my tenure at Belchertown High, I was class president for all four years along with being captain of the varsity soccer team. As class president, I raised on average $6,000 each year for a total $24,000, the highest amount of money raised at Belchertown High.

Not only was I class president but I also was a delegate for the Western Massachusetts Association of Student Councils. This position put me on the Executive Board for all Student Councils in Western Massachusetts. Other organizations that I was involved with throughout high school are as follows: Rainforest Action Committee, SADD, Student Council, Adams Society, Model Congress, Model United Nations, Newspaper, and Student Advisory Council.

If elected as one of your Student Senate Representatives, my most important goal will be to do all I can to make the transition into college life as easy as possible for everyone. I am very aware of the diversity amongst our class. I will take this into major consideration when planning programs and social events. I will do all I can to satisfy everyone.

If elected, I would be your student representative. As your student representative, I am here for you. If you have an idea or problem, whether it be personal or social, you can come to me at any time. As the class of '98, we must learn to work together. Because it's only by working together that we make this year one of our most successful years here at Bryant College.

I would now like to take this opportunity to wish all the other candidates good luck. Remember vote for Jose Santa as your Student Senate Representative.

Scott Taylor

Dear classmates of the class of 1998. My name is Scott Taylor and I am a graduate from Rockville High School in Vernon, CT. Welcome to Bryant College, I anticipate the first week here has been adventurous adjusting to the new freedoms and opportunities that Bryant has to offer. Now being a student here at Bryant strong leaders are needed to create growing opportunities for the next four years. I would embrace the chance to become one of those leaders. I, Scott Taylor, would like to serve as your Senator to represent the class of 1998.

My leadership abilities through the years came about through participation in organizations such as Economics club, yearbook, and pilgrim fellowship at church. Also throughout high school, I was involved in varsity sports such as hockey and golf. Along with sports I worked at Ellington Country Club, an exclusive club, employed as an assistant in a pro shop. Currently I am enrolled in the freshman leadership seminar to strengthen my knowledge and leadership abilities.

I will listen to all concerns of my classmates, especially about the food, anytime of the day or even the middle of the night, ranging from no towels in the bathroom to not being able to call long distance after eight o'clock.

Vote for SCOTT TAYLOR, I am interested in all of my classmates concerns and will guide the class in the right direction.

BACCHUS

by Yoke Chung & Scott Lynch

Welcome back everybody! Hope you all had a great summer. We had our first meeting of the semester on Tuesday and discussed many different programming ideas.

For starters, Directions will be opening again this Friday, September 23 at 8:00 p.m. We also discussed plans for a possible car-wash fund-raiser to be held in a few weeks, as well as information on the national conference in St. Louis from November 11 to the 13.

We have started something new this year: Discount Cards. For a price of $3, students can buy the card and use it for discounts at many area businesses. A few of the businesses involved in the program are Gold's Gym, McDonald's, Ronzio's and Major Video.

If you were unable to attend this past meeting, don't worry. Our next meeting will be on October 4 at 7:00 p.m. in Room 1 in the Bryant Center. See you there!

Beta Theta Pi

by David Tenofsky

I would first like to welcome everyone back including Fudd, Mack, Burgis, Dobber, Clam, Hutch, Imus, Treat, Finch, Rosko, Brooks, Munk, Lewie, Splint, Sledge and Greg. Unfortunately, we lost Otis for the semester, and even though Duck got a 4.0 he won't be coming back anytime soon. We believe him and Gina are married and have a child on the way.

Our Freshman football team is looking like it could be a contender this year. Although the line is still a little disorganized, our specialty positions are looking very good. Anyone who is still interested in joining can sign up in the pit of Hall 2 in suites 110 or 120.

This week: Rosko and Imus played the first round; Mack has a big season ahead of him, and he won the home opener; Duck is a wanted man; Circuit City is opening up in Finch's room; and we have been warned. Splint moved down to the floor; Imus likes peculiar drinks; Munk has a new position, suite door closer; the crisis is over; we're expecting some new arrivals; Fudd keeps bringing unwanted visitors; Limb scared everyone; Lewie turned green; Hutch is doing a great job; and there's been a bunny rabbit running around the floor, if anyone sees it again please let us know.

Quote of the Week: "He's 6-4, Bubba."

Bowling Club

by Jon Hester

On behalf of the bowling club I would like to welcome everyone back to Bryant College. Hopefully, everyone is looking forward to a successful and productive year. The club has set forward many goals this year. First and foremost is a return to National Championships. Last year was a tremendous learning experience.

Mandatory practices will be held on Tuesday from 2:30-5:30 p.m. at Cranston Bowl. If you have a late class don't worry about it, you are not alone. Informal practices will be Thursday and Friday afternoons at varying locations. It is advisable to make at least one of these informal practices every week.

If anyone needs new equipment, Coach John Holmes runs the pro shop at Cranston Bowl. Just talk to him, and he'll do his best. We'd like to welcome Tom Curley, Jason Shuster, Joey Nereu, and Dan Farnum to the club this year. Competitions begin in two weeks at Allentown, Pa, and the conference begins Columbus Day Weekend.

Lastly everyone wants to congratulate Vin on a highly successful first day of work in John's shop. Off the counter, onto the table, into the spinner, nothing but two pieces.

Grip it and rip it.

Bryant Karate Club

by Mark Towle

Welcome back club members. Bryant Karate has been alive and kicking during the summer months by participating in several tournaments. Unfortunately, the tournament season is coming to an end. However the beginner classes have just begun and there was an excellent turnout for the informational meeting. Good job to all those who helped make posters, hang flyers, and recruiting. Thank you to all the members that helped out and went to the gathering last weekend.

For all the older karate members the DoJo has moved to the women's exercise room and the times have changed too. Workouts begin at 6:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday. There is also be a 4:30 p.m. class on Tuesdays to accommodate those who cannot make it to some of the night classes. During the night classes several black belts will be present to help Sifu. Appearances by Sensei Doherty, Sensei Paul, and Sensei Richard will benefit all that attend. All the white belts may be a little sore, but don't give up. Well, until next time, BKKA!

College Republicans

by Paul V. Liss

Hello Everyone! The recent primaries here in the state of Rhode Island bowed very well for the Republican party. Lincoln Almond won a decisive victory, and will no doubt be the next Governor of the state.

All of those out there who are interested in getting involved in the campaign should feel free to contact Mike Walsh. Mike has also mentioned the scheduling of a meeting within the next couple of weeks. Of course this meeting will be open to everyone, especially to new members, Before I say good-bye for the week, is there anyone out there who really thinks that George Bush would have any of these problems in Haiti? I don't think so! See you next week.

Delta Chi

by Frank L. Milazzo

This is the first official Archway of the Fall Semester here at Bryant so I'd like to take this time to welcome all new students and say good luck to this year's senior class. If this past week is any indication, it's going to be a long year.

Everyone is settled in and recovered from summer break. Spanky came back from Arizona and Evan didn't. Ripper is back and making friends with the lighting fixtures. Baloo is back and finding new ways to clean his dirty laundry. Next time you might want to try some detergent instead. How does he get it so lemony fresh?

Congratulations to Duke and F-Sharp on their new E-Board positions and Spanky on his new janitorial position. Lefty remembered where his room was and Duke forgot to lock the door. Congratulations to G.Q. for becoming the first Bryant student ever to lose all forms of his identification at least once. We are all getting psyched for football this year by making a tackling dummy out of Beak. So far he can still walk. Thanks to Adam, Skidder, Greg, and Roadkill for coming up last weekend. These guys never really left.

My advice to all freshmen is to check out all the campus has to offer. There are a lot of clubs and organizations to look into. The Greek life on this campus has much to offer. Feel free to visit D-Chi at townhouses B-8 or E-1 or at the 2nd floor of Hall 3, I hope everyone has a good semester. Until later.

Finance Association

by Sandy Connors

Once again welcome back, I hope everyone had a great summer and is ready for a fun year. We are going to have speakers from investment companies in the area. We will be having a faculty and student reception this semester. Watch for information about a meeting next week. Any questions or comments can be directed to Fred at Box 1242.

HISC

by Rebecca Baker

The History and International Studies Club had their first meeting of the semester this past Tuesday, September 20. It was an informational meeting, where the topic of discussion was "What do I need to know to declare a major in History or International Studies?" The Director of Undergraduate Programs and Registration, Ms. Powers, explained the administrative procedures for majoring in History and International Studies.

The next HISC meeting will be on Tuesday, September 27 at 3:30 in the Bryant Center, room #1. At this meeting, the topic of discussion will be "What do I need to know about the Study Abroad Program." Students will be able to ask questions and receive information about the study abroad program from students who have recently returned from studying abroad.

All students are welcomed to attend!

Learning Center

by Chris Bruneau

The academic curriculum here at Bryant is a demanding one. The classes offered put a lot of challenges into the hands of students. The Learning Center, located on the third floor of Hall 6, is here to help you with a wide variety of academic concerns.

The Learning Center offers tutoring services free of charge, workshops that focus on specific topics, and various computer programs. The Learning Center is also a place where professors hold office hours, special presentations are introduced, and a wide variety of resource materials are available.

The staff is ready to assist you between the hours of 11:00 a.m.-10:00 p.m. on Monday-Thursday, 11:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, and 1:00 p.m.-10:00 p.m. on Sunday. Come and visit us or call 232-6746 to make an appointment or for further information. For appointments, it is important to contact us in advance.

Panhellenic Council

by Karen Bison

Welcome back! I hope everyone had an enjoyable summer. For those of you who do not know what Panhellenic is, it is the governing body of the sororities on campus. There are four sororities on campus this year and they are: Phi Sigma Sigma, Theta Phi Alpha, Delta Zeta, and Sigma Sigma Sigma.

For those of you who are interested in rushing, you must attend the Rush Orientation meeting tonight, September 22 in Room 2B on the second floor of the Bryant Center at 7:00 p.m. Formal Rush will begin on September 24 and conclude on September 29 with the Bid Ceremony.

If you have any questions please feel free to contact any one on the Panhellenic Council: Amy Spinner x8267, Bridgett Monahan x4170, Karen Bison x8262 or Allison Ardito x4161.

On behalf of the Panhellenic Council I would like to thank all those who have helped in the planning and participation of Fall Rush and Greek Week. Hope to see you at Formal Rush!

Phi Kappa Sigma

by Jason Madson

Hello everyone and welcome back to the new and improved Bryant College. I am the new historian. This is my first Campus Scene article. Wish me luck from here on.

Welcome to all the incoming freshman to the Bryant College. For those who don't know us, our colors are black and gold and we live on the third floor of Hall 1 and in townhouse G2. I hope everyone has a great year.

This weekend was fantastic. We had a great time with Delta Zeta on Friday afternoon.

We will be putting together a football team and anyone who is interested is welcome to play.

Now for the events of the week. For those of you that missed it, Monday night was the first annual Phi Kap Refrigerator throwing contest. Public Safety named Chet as the big winner in that one. Speaking of Chet, he has been cut off, forever. I'm sure the townhouse won't mind, especially after they fell for the old microwave in the oven trick. We also welcome KT to the wonderful world that is Hall 1. Shaggy is sleeping in the suite so Alex the wonder pet will have more room.

Now it is time for me to complain. The lines at Salmanson are horrendously inefficient. Monday night I went to dinner and by the time I got to the front of the line, they were serving breakfast. There is no place to sit either.

Well that is enough from me, so everyone have a great semester and here's to the wild kingdom.

SAM

by Jen Baranowski

The Society for Advancement of Management welcomes all SAM members back to school. We are looking forward to a new year of fun and exciting speakers.

The Society for Advancement of Management is preparing for the first meeting of the year. Why should you come to the first meeting and become a SAM member? It is because SAM:

Gives: you a personal introduction to practicing management in a local community.

Exposes: you to the most successful management techniques in current use.

Transforms: textbook theories into practical applications.

Eases: the transition from college to career.

Introduces: you to fellow stu-

Introduces: you to fellow students who share your interests, problems and career objectives.

Strenghtens: your resume with professional credentials.

Moves: your career on a faster track.

SAM is the world's oldest management society, with chapters all over the United States and internationally as well. SAM invites all majors to come and take advantage of the many opportunities offered.

Our first meeting is October 4 at 7:00 p.m. in Meeting Room 2A on the second floor of the Bryant Center. So come. Build your resume. Learn about management without homework. Begin networking. The Executive Board looks forward to welcoming back members of SAM and receiving new members.

by Sandy Connors Let me introduce our new E-President - Michelle Board:

Jaccodine, Vice-President - Joe Fredriksen, Secretary - Bob Betlinski, and Treasurer - Todd Nelson. Congratulations to the new E-board.

On Monday September 26 there will be a blood drive sponsored by SPB. The next movie is "With Honors" and will be on Sunday October 2 at 3:15, 6:30, and 9:15. Remember to bring your popcom buckets back to get free popcom. Our next meeting will be at 4:30 Monday, September 26 in Papitto in the Bryant Center.

The Bryant Players

by Donald Widger First off, I want to extend a warm welcome to all of Bryant's new students. Hopefully, you already feel right at home!

The Bryant Players are gearing up for another fun and exciting year. As the drama club on campus, we pride ourselves in providing the Bryant community quality entertainment while having fun in the process. If you missed our first meeting, we meet again on September 27 at 5:00 p.m. in Meeting Room 2A of the Bryant Center. All are invited and more than welcome to come and see what our organization is all about!

Don't forget about our upcoming Parents' Weekend production, the appropriately titled "Roomers." Rehearsals start Monday! Thanks go out to all who auditioned. We appreciate your time and effort. That's it for this week! Until next

Theta Phi Alpha

by Janna Erickson

Hey Theta! Hello everyone, well it's that time again. I would like to welcome everyone back and I would also like to welcome all of the freshmen. One week down and many more to go! Besides planning for formal rush, we've had some other interesting events.

First off we would like to thank

DKE for Friday night and also give Mama complete recognition for his fabulous choice of music. We would also like to thank Phi Kap. As for last evening, Monday night football was a blast, and we'd like to thank Delta for the festivities.

Before we end with some quotes of the week, we'd like to say that we hope everyone who signed up for formal rush has a great time and we look forward to meeting you all!

And now for some quotes:

"One singular sensation. . "You're a liar. . suite cleaner."; "M.C. Accad. . break it down."; To Dobber, just leave our shelf alone. Thanks for fixing our speaker.; All I can say is Monk, wait till you see the pictures.; Janna and Deb found something important that was once lost.; Shannon-"He's got sneaky hairs!"

Well I guess that's all for now, until next week. Later Theta!

Women's Rugby

by Sarah Durfee

Hey everyone! Welcome back, I hope everyone had a great summer. It is great to see everyone again.

Congratulations, to all the new members. Everyone is doing a great job at practice. Keep it up girls! I hope all the rookies and the Men's Rugby team had fun hanging out with us last Thursday.

Anyone else who is interested in playing Rugby, practice is everyday at 3:30 in the fields down behind A.R.A. Our first game will be Saturday, September 24 against Bridgewater and we will be traveling there. Good Luck Ruggers!

We Will Never Forget You

Over the summer, the Bryant community suffered a great loss. Omar Shareef, a forward on the men's basketball team, died as a result of injuries he suffered in a car accident in August.

However, Bryant did not just lose a basketball player, they also lost a friend.

Shareef, more affectionately known as 'O', was a constant spark off the bench, and an important part of the basketball program here at Bryant.

Most of the fans can remember his freshman year, in a game against Rhode Island College when a virtually unknown player soared over the crowd and slammed the ball through the rim.

How about last year's game against Bentley, when O came flying down court and blocked a shot into the next county, But, there was more to the man than just his basketball talent.

If you ever met O, you could not help but like him. He always had time to talk. Even if he did not know vou, he would always stop you to say hi.

This is what made his memorial service even more special.

As people got up to speak, you could feel the love they had for Omar. In fact, you could also feel the love Omar had for the people he

As Jeremy O'Connor said, "He was a people person."

Coach Ed Reilly also had a lot of praise for the young man, "Everyone he touched, he made better. Everyone he touched, he moved."

Team members also spoke about how much O meant to them. Herman Thomas wrote a poem for the ceremony, which made a few people misty-eyed.

Although I did not know Omar as much as others on campus, I was also moved by this speech.

I remember back to the day when I received the phone call from Margaret Fleischauer, telling me about

Omar

Omar's death. I just put the phone down, and sat there staring into space.

I could not believe Omar was dead. At first, I thought it was some kind of bad dream, "I will wake up, and everything will be okay," I said to myself.

Once I got over the shock of the news, my thoughts were with his fellow basketball players, and Omar's family.

Unfortunately, I could not make the funeral. However, I still wanted the family to know how much Bryant would miss him. I just simply sent them a card from myself, and my fellow Archway staff members.

After the memorial service. however, I felt I needed to do more. As a result, I started writing this column, Although Archusy Graphic by Angelo L. Corradino I have written > columns about men who left a void when they passed on (like Jim Valvano and Arthur Ashe), this one was different, I knew O personally.

O was more than just a basketball player, he was also a top student. He received awards for excellence in the National Science and Mathematical Olympiads.

He had a unique outlook on life, and loved to just be around people. Even with a busy schedule, Omar always had the time to talk to just about anyone.

If you wanted to talk about basketball, Omar was there. If you wanted to talk about life, Omar was there. No one was beneath him, he would talk to anyone.

Even if it was just a fan saying, "Great game Omar." He would still stop to thank them. He never ignored anyone.

It is definitely going to be hard the first few games to realize, number 15 is not on the bench. Somebody might step up to take his place on the court, but no one can fill his

Everyone will always remember Omar, he will always be one of the original Bryant Bulldogs.

Women's Volleyball Off To Good Start

Angelo L. Corradino Archway Sports Writer

The women's volleyball team started their 1994 campaign by finishing second in The 11th Annual Bryant Invitational last weekend.

The Bulldogs are currently 2-0 in the Northeast-10 (NE-10) Conference and are sitting in first place. Overall the team is 7-1.

"There is nothing negative, everything we are doing is positive," co-captain Maria Bras said.

"[However] we still need to click as a team," Bras added.

On Tuesday night, the team traveled to Sacred Heart and came away with a win three games to one.

In the first match of the Bryant Invitational, the Bulldogs defeated UMass Lowell in four games. In game one, Bryant started slow, but was able to bounce back to win 16-14. The Bulldogs won game two easily 15-4; however, Lowell was able to regroup and win 15-10. In the final game, Bryant was able to shut down their opponent and come away with a 15-7 win.

In the next match, they faced defending champion Dowling College from Long Island, New York. Dowling came out ready to play, and forced Bryant to five games. In game one, Bryant edged out Dowling 17-15. Dowling then controlled game two winning 15-1. The Bulldogs bounced back to win game three 15-

The see-saw match then continued with Dowling winning game four 8-15. In the final game, Bryant once again came away with a victory 15-12 (rally scoring)

This advanced Bryant into the semi-finals against NE-10 rival Quinnipiac College, from Hamden, Connecticut. In another five game marathon, Bryant out lasted a tough team. In game one, Bryant started slow and lost the game 7-15. Bryant then regrouped and won game two 15-4, and game three 15-6. Quinnipiac was able to win game four 13-15 to force a decisive game five

The Bulldogs were once again able to outlast their opponent 15-11 (rally scoring).

In the finals, Bryant faced NE-10 rival Bentley and were ousted in three games. In game one, Bryant was able to keep the game close; however, Bentley won 15-10. Bentley then won game two 15-8 and game three 15-4 to capture the tournament crown.

Freshman Jen Carvalho, from East Providence, Rhode Island was the lone Bryant representative on the All-Tourney team. For her efforts, he was also named NE-10 Freshman of the Week for the second straight week. Carvalho has collected the 164 assists in 17 games (9.65 per game), last week.

"The freshman are doing awesome, especially the ones who are starting," Maria Bras said.

Prior to the Tournament, the Bulldogs defeated Rhode Island College easily 3-0.

"We have a lot of new bodies on the court. We haven't had a chance to put everything together and get used to everyone," Bras added.

As a team, Bryant is first in kills with 363 (12.96 per game); second in assists with 363 (12.96); and second in kill percentage with .251.

When asked about the teams progress, Bras said, "It's too early in season. We had high expectations, but our matches have not been that competitive."

Individually, the team is also amongst the conference best.

Bras is first in kills per game with 4.48, and Carvalho is fourth in assists per game with 9.03.

Junior Meribah Dean has been a big asset to the team this year. Last week, she was a force for the Bulldogs, with 64 digs and 60 kills. Currently, Dean is third in kills per game with 3.42, and fourth in kill percentage with .349.

The team will travel to East Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania this weekend for a tournament.

They will then travel to Bentley on Tuesday for an NE-10 contest starting at 7:00 p.m.

Women's Golf Offered

David Mattingly Archway Staff Writer

You have graduated from Bryant and acquired your first job. Your employers are so thrilled with your work they hand you the account of an important prospective client. When you call them, they suggest an early morning meeting later that week...playing 18 holes of golf at a local country club.

No reason to worry, however, because part of your Bryant education included being a member of the Women's Golf Club.

Started eight years ago by Statistics professor, Dr. Kristen Kennedy, the Women's Golf Club competes against and travels to schools including Dartmouth, Yale, Rutger's, Boston College, Penn State, and Mt. Holyhoke.

I want them (female students) to be looking at the future," explains Dr. Kennedy.

"It's learning and starting the sport now so when your 28 you can use it in business."

She adds, "Every single golfer who has graduated says to me they wish they had played more, that (golf) is a welcome mat in the business world."

The team does not presently have varsity status, but they practice with the men's varsity championship team at the Quidnessett Country Club. For women interested in playing or learning to play golf, though, the club status means they do not turn anybody away.

Anyone interested in joining the team should contact Dr. Kennedy at extension 6316 or go to her office in Faculty Suite A as soon as possible.

Men's Soccer Kicks Off Season

Randy Leete Archway SportsWriter

The Men's Varsity Soccer team started their '94 season on Saturday, September 10 against Brown University. The Bulldogs played the nationally ranked team hard, but came up short, losing 5-1.

Junior Ces Jeha scored the lone goal for the booters.

Bryant then played their home opener against Sacred Heart University. Sacred Heart went up early, 1-0, but Bryant came back to tie it 1-1 on a Jeha head ball.

The second half was a long battle, ending with Sacred Heart sneaking a shot past Senior Goalkeeper Mike Pavano.

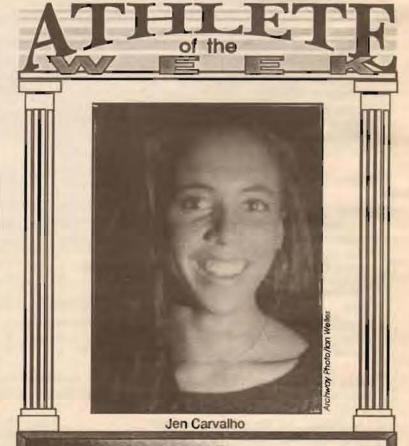

Next up for the Bulldogs was a long trip to NE-10 rival, Saint Michael University. Bryant went upearly on a goal from Senior Steve Bigler. In the second half the lead was secured with two more goals, one from Ces Jeha and the other from Freshman Jared Dewey. Coach Andrew McMahon was proud of his team and noted the play of the defense as a main factor in the win. Said McMahon: "This is a young, hard working team. This win proves that they have what it takes to go places in the NE-10. We still have a long way to go, but I think we're going to surprise a lot of people."

The team next plays UMass Lowell at home on Thursday at 3:30 p.m.. Bentley will be in town at 1:00 p.m. on Saturday.

Women's Tennis Swings into Action

This week's Athlete of the Week is Jen Carvalho of the women's volleyball team. Last week, Carvalho was named NE-10 Freshman of the Week for the second consecutive time. Jen was named to the All-Tourney team at the Bryant Invitational last weekend, after she lead the Bulldogs to the finals with 164 assists in 17 games (9.65 pg). Her setting played a major role in Bryant's 4-1 overall record last week.

Carvalho is a freshman from East Providence, Rhode Island,
