

Cosby Announced As Commencement Speaker

Hamblett to Speak at Graduate School's Commencement

Paul B. Nunes
Archway Staff Writer

Bill Cosby, one of the most influential entertainers in America, will address the Bryant College Class of 1994 at commencement exercises on Saturday, May 21.

Although Cosby may not be considered a traditional business leader, he is responsible for pioneering efforts which paved the way for such entertainers as Oprah Winfrey and others who, like Cosby, own their own entertainment corporations.

Bryant will also bestow an honorary doctorate of business administration degree on Cosby, whose 1984-92 run of "The Cosby Show," and his books Fatherhood and Time Flies, established new benchmarks on how success is measured in both genres. In addition, his aura of credibility has not only made him an outstanding spokesman for just one company, but several, including General Foods, Kodak, and Service Merchandise.

"It is a distinct pleasure to honor Dr. Cosby. His achievements as an entertainer, entrepreneur, and business executive serve as a model for our students," commented President William E. Trueheart.

"Bill Cosby demonstrates to our students how you can be a successful business person and give something back to the community. He supports children and education, and demonstrates good, solid values," added Trueheart.

In 1990, Cosby attained the number one position in Forbes' list of top earning entertainers with an estimated take of $115 million for 1989-90. In 1993, with over 26 years in comedy, Cosby was still among the top three of Forbes' top earning entertainers.

Coming from a Philadelphia ghetto, Cosby learned to draw on everyday faults, foibles, and successes for his humor. Cosby made the transition from standup comic to actor in the NBC-TV series "I Spy" and the original "The Bill Cosby Show."

While in high school, Cosby often neglected his studies for athletics and left school to join the Navy. He later finished high school through a correspondence course while still in the Navy. After his discharge from the service, Cosby earned an athletic scholarship to Temple University where he received a Bachelor's Degree.

Cosby earned a Master's Degree in 1972 and his Doctorate in Education in 1977, both from the University of Massachusetts. His doctorate thesis was titled, "The Integration of Visual Media Via Fat Albert and the Cosby Kids Into the Elementary Schools Culminating as a Teacher Aid to Achieve Increased Learning."

The Graduate School's Commencement exercise, to take place on May 20, will be addressed by Stephen Hamblett, chairman of the board, publisher, and chief executive officer of the Providence Journal Company.

Hamblett joined the Providence Journal Company in 1957 after graduating from Harvard College. In 1969, he was named assistant vice president for administration.

Bill Cosby

Hamblett was promoted in 1974 to vice president-marketing. Five years later he was named vice president-marketing and corporate development.

In 1983, Hamblett advanced to the position of executive vice president and assistant publisher of the Journal. He was once again promoted in 1985 to the position of president and chief operating officer. Hamblett was appointed to his current position in 1987.

Hamblett sits on the board of directors for a variety of professional organizations including the Associated Press and the Newspaper Association of America.

In addition, Hamblett serves on the board of trustees of Miriam Hospital, Trinity Repertory Company, the Rhode Island Zoological Society, and Rhode Island School of Design.

Professor Honored for Achievement in the Arts

Sue Martone
Archway Staff Writer

The Pawtucket Arts Council recently announced plans to present the Living Treasure of Rhode Island Award to Bryant Professor, Richard Cumming. This year marks the second annual presentation of this award.

Cumming, who joined the community in the Spring of 1989, teaches Appreciation of Music at Bryant. He has also taught Literature and Music with Professor Jeannette White.

"Music is a tremendous part of my life and I enjoy sharing it with the students every week," said Professor Cumming.

Cumming has also worked as composer and co-adaptor at Trinity Repertory Company since 1966. Since that time, he has composed more than 70 musical scores and co-authored 15 stage, television, radio, and film scripts.

"I moved to Providence years ago because I liked the area and enjoyed theater. This award adds to my appreciation of my work," Cumming commented.

In addition, the Arts Council will present the Hidden Treasure of Rhode Island Award to Eugene Lee, resident designer at Trinity. Lee has worked at Trinity for more than 20 years and is the production manager of Saturday Night Live.

These awards are given to honor those individuals who have made an impact on the arts in Rhode Island.

Specifically, the Living Treasure of Rhode Island Award is given to honor a lifetime of outstanding achievement in the arts. The Hidden Treasure of Rhode Island Award honors an individual who has demonstrated outstanding commitment and achievement in the arts but does not generally enjoy high visibility.

The awards will be presented by Adrian Hall, former director of Trinity.

The Arts Council will present the awards at its second annual awards ceremony on April 25 at the Rhode Island Convention Center Rotunda.

The evening will begin at 5:30 p.m. with a cocktail reception, followed by dinner at 7:00 p.m. Tickets are $50.

Art Exhibit Enriches the Community

The Spring Bryant Community Art Exhibit is currently on display in Papitto Dining Room until April 22. The exhibit allows faculty, staff and students the opportunity to showcase their talents. If it were not for this exhibit, their artistic abilities may otherwise go unnoticed.

On a campus which emphasizes business and conservatism, it is a nice change of pace to be exposed to something other than debits and credits, marketing strategies and the Dow Jones Industrial Average. Art is not only pleasing to the eye, but relaxing to the mind.

Sometimes at a business school, artistic people are often overlooked. They remain hidden until an event such as the new music program, an art exhibit, or a special course exposes them.

For the most part these special programs are made up of a small but dedicated group of people. However, their contributions can be enjoyed by the entire community.

Because of this, Bryant should continue to hold exhibits and as many cultural events as possible. It is important to consider new avenues and to expose the wealth of diversity among its members. Artistic events allow us to see a different side of the people we pass in the hall everyday.

As more and more emphasis is being placed on the importance of a well rounded education, it is important to include more artistic events.

Take time out of your busy schedules and drop by the art exhibit. You'll see a different side of the members of the Bryant Community.

Don't Fret Over Pre-reg

To the Editor:

In the last issue, The Archway warned students of the "stress pre-registration involves."

This seems to be an exaggeration: registration should not give students any appreciable increase in blood pressure. They know that, come Fall, most faculty members will be happy to sign their "add slips," which will enable students to enter into the class of their choice.

Sincerely,
Professor P. V. Mini

A Student Senate committee has been formed to choose a memorial for John DeShaw '97, who passed away on March 7.

We value your input. If you have any ideas on an appropriate memorial to remember John, please write your suggestion on the form below and drop it in one of the Student Senate suggestion boxes. They are located by the Salmanson Dining Hall and the Bryant Center Info Desk.

With your help, the Bryant Community will be able to remember John with love. For further information, please call Josh Hansel at 232-4764. Thanks for your cooperation.

My recommendation for a memorial to remember John DeShaw is:

International Students Share Perspectives

Julia Arouchon
Archway Staff Writer

Imagine being an international student at a college where most of the students come from the North-east. Imagine being an international student, who has the opportunity to go to any school in Europe, but chooses to come to Smithfield, RI.

For the international students at Bryant, coming to college in the U.S. means gaining a new perspective on the global environment.

Four Italian students who are studying on campus as part of an exchange between the University of Italy and Bryant. The students are completing a few undergraduate courses before starting the MBA program.

Christofer Wibisono, who is from Indonesia, says he heard of Bryant's reputation as one of the top business schools. He also liked the New England area. "I think New England is beautiful, especially during the autumn months."

Karemie Williams from Australia says, "As we enter the business world we will be in a more global environment. It is important to know about other cultures."

The students agree there are some advantages and disadvantages to being an international student both on campus and in the business world. Flessandro Souza, from Brazil says, "International students have the advantage of learning about another culture and language, as well as the American system." However, there are some disadvantages. He adds, "You are a minority on campus and this can sometimes make it harder to mix with everyone else."

"There is a definite barrier in culture that must be overcome," adds

Tissot. All of the international students say they are eager to talk about their countries and integrate their international perspective into their classes. Tomas Bergstrand, who is make a difference to them," said Bergstrand.

The students also noted the differences in the educational system. For example, in Brazil, Italy and Switzerland students must attend school for thirteen years and take oral and written exams to get into a University.

In Sweden and Europe multiple choice tests and the concept of scaling grades is not a part of their educational system.

The Italian students say they notice the differences in behavior between American and Italian classrooms.

"In Italy we interact more with each other in class. American students seem embarrassed to speak up in class," says Luca Di Fede of Italy.

"There is definitely more class participation among students in Italy," adds Alberto Molteni-Corbellini, who is from Italy.

Wibisono says he likes the educational system in the states because students don't have to carry an overload of courses. In his home country, students typically take eight courses a semester.

In addition, there are some unique qualities Bryant can offer international students.

Bergstrand says he likes the small classes because they allow for more student and teacher interaction.

"The professors get to know your name," adds Bergstrand.

Although they are all receiving a business education in the states, what will be the advantages of international students out in the business world?

"Some of the bigger companies want individuals with international experience and who have the ability to speak several languages," says Souza.

However, adds Tissot, "We have just as much difficulty as anyone else trying to find a job."

The International Students Organization (ISO) has approximately 30 members.

Everyone is welcome to the meetings which are held on Tuesday's at 4:00 p.m. in Room 1 in the Bryant Center.

PUBLIC SAFETY BEAT

by Matthew Andrews
Students For A Safer Campus

Disturbance

April 1, 1994 - Department of Public Safety officers were dispatched to a disturbance in progress. Upon arrival the DPS officers observed approx. 30 people involved in a heated verbal dispute along with people restraining other people. The disturbance involved visitors to the campus and a group of Bryant Students. Both groups were told to disperse and the visitors were escorted from the scene. Upon leaving the scene the visitors became verbally abusive to the Bryant students. Smithfield Police were notified and requested to respond due to the escalating tensions. The students were escorted off campus by DPS and SPD and were also given letters of trespass.

Vandalism

March 29, 1994 - March 30, 1994 - Between the dates listed a vehicle was vandalized in the parking lot near the rear of the Bryant Center. The student reportedly left her vehicle on March 29, 1994 to return on the next day to find her windshield had been shattered. Anyone with any information on this vandalism is asked to call the Department of Public Safety.

Assault

April 2, 1994 - DPS officers were requested to meet with a complainant who was reportedly assaulted. The complainant reported that he had invited a group of students to join him in his townhouse. The subjects reportedly became rowdier and wanted to crank up the stereo. The complainant upon refusing to allow the activity to happen was jumped by 4-5 students. The group of students physically assaulted the complainant and then left the townhouse and headed toward dorm 16. The complainant was treated by the EMT's and then escorted around campus to try to locate the group of students. After no one could be located the complainant was returned to his townhouse and advised to stay in for the night. DPS is currently investigating this incident.

Breaking and Entering/ Vandalism

April 1, 1994 - April 3, 1994 - On April 3, 1994 a student requested that DPS officers respond to his suite. Upon arrival the officer took a report from the student about vandalism to the suite. Vandals broke the door handle to gain entry to his room. The students furniture had been removed from his room and placed in the suite. The suite furniture had been placed in the students room. Along with the furniture being moved, the students trophy case was damaged. The words "April Fools" were also found on the wall. Anyone with any information is asked to contact the Department of Public Safety.

Arrest in Connection to Malicious Fire Alarm

During the last issue of the Public Safety Beat the DPS office asked for your assistance in locating the culprits involved in the Malicious fire alarm in Dorm 14. DPS officials investigated the alarm and are pleased to announce that the Smithfield Police Department were able to make an arrest during the last week. The subject was arrested for tampering with fire protection equipment.

However, the international students admit some disappointment when it comes to studying international business.

"Sometimes it is put on the syllabus, but it is not discussed in class," said Suzanna Simas of Bermuda.

Some Bryant students are unaware that their fellow classmates come from a country other than the U.S.

"Many students don't know there are international students on campus because we are a small population," adds Simas.

All agree there is a need for more openness and acceptance of international students on campus.

HAVOC Committee Addresses Alcohol

HAVOC (Health Action Student Voices On Campus) is a committee heavily weighted with students whose goals are to address health education efforts at Bryant College and improve the quality of student life. One of the objectives is to explain how widespread the use of alcohol and drugs is on American College Campuses. Faculty, administrators, and students take part in an ongoing needs assessment process. Alcohol education and optional programs to alcohol use stem from the work of this group.

two years to combat the use of alcohol and drugs are Residence Hall Programs, extended facility hours, and improving student/staff relationships.

On April 12 and 13 at 2:30 p.m. in MRC lecture hall, the presentation will consist of a series of slides with demographics and statistics related to alcohol and other drug use. The same presentation will be delivered on both days so that offices may release half of their staff while remaining open and students and faculty may adjust their Tuesday and Wednesday schedules. Students, faculty, staff, and administration are all welcome to attend. Please join us.

Leukemia Society Holds 18th Auction

by David Tenofsky

For the second year in a row, Beta Theta Pi will be helping the Leukemia Society conduct their 18th annual auction. The "Something for Everyone" auction will be held at the Providence Marriot on April 14, 1994.

Several years ago one of our alumni, Scott McIndoe, tragically died from Leukemia. Since then we have been working to help everyone who has been affected by this life threatening disease.

Local businesses and celebrities have been making contributions to the Leukemia Society and everything will be auctioned off next Thursday. With our help, over $12,000 was raised last year. Hopefully, we will surpass that mark this year.

If you would like to help in any way, call the Leukemia Society at 943-8888 or call 232-4065.

The Thrill of Rappel!

by Jeffrey Giroux

Picture this: Adrenaline pumps through your body as you "hook-up" to a rope and give a thumbs-up to the rappel-master. The Huey chopper rises to two hundred feet and hovers with you in the door. In an instant, you and three comrades are racing to the ground via ropes and your newly-learned rappelling techniques. When your feet hit the ground, the adrenaline still flies at 100 miles per hour but your nerves are calmed. True excitement!

This picture is one day of two weeks at Air Assault School. The school is offered to ROTC cadets who request a slot over school recesses. The school teaches soldiers how helicopters integrate into the battlefield, to recognize all types of Army helicopters, to prepare cargo to be airlifted, set up landing zones, and rappelling skills. The two weeks promise to challenge students mentally and physically. However, graduates will explain that Air Assault is one hundred percent adventure and well worth the hard work.

The training is conducted in three phases: Air Assault Operations, Slingloading, and Rappelling. The cadets gain valuable knowledge, confidence, and proficiency in each topic. During training they live on an Army base with fellow students who are a mix of ages, ranks, and even military branches. The experience is unforgettable and lasting friendships are made.

Air Assault School slots are open to cadets and students interested in becoming a cadet. To learn more about Air Assault School, Airborne School, Mountain Warfare School, or ROTC see CPT Peterson or MSG Garcia in the ROTC office anytime.

Soprano Joins Class

Jill Boyd, dramatic soprano will be joining the Appreciation of Music classes with Richard Cumming for in-class performances of Opera Arias.

Miss Boyd will be at Bryant College on Monday evening, April 11, at 6:30, and on Wednesday morning, April 13, at 9 a.m. The classes are held in the double room of 275/276, and all interested are most welcome to attend.

Miss Boyd, a senior at Rhode Island College, is looking forward to a professional career in opera. In the words of Mr. Cumming, "Jill Boyd's voice is one of the most sensational young sopranos I have ever heard. She has every chance, if that is what she wants, of being one of the great world-famous opera stars of her time."

Careers in Sports

Career Services

Spring is here and the baseball season has started and opening day was just last weekend. How would you like to have been there? Well you could of, if you decide to pursue a career in sports management. To get involved, you don't need to be a star athlete, just someone with a lot of drive and determination and a genuine interest in sports.

America's ever growing fascination with sports presents many opportunities for those entering today's job market. Professional sports is considered part of the entertainment business and this business is booming! In 1993 alone $6 billion dollars were spent on spectator sports. On April 13, 1994 at 6:00 in the MRC

Lecture Hall, you all are invited to learn more about the sports industry and how to become involved.

The speakers are from different aspects of the industry. The speakers will include, John Paquette from the BIG EAST, Nadine Jackson from the New England Patriots, Joe Beninati from the Providence Bruins, John Morisseau from the RI Sports Council, Kenneth Betthausser from Champs Sports, Connie Fichera, Bryant Assistant Athletic Director and Dave Gilmore from Prime Network, who is also a graduate from Bryant. As you can see all areas of sports are covered from retail and cable to the professionals. These professionals will be here to make you aware of the resources that are available and how to effectively prepare for a future in sports.

For more information stop by Career Services and speak with Barbara Gregory at anytime before or after the seminar. We hope to see you all there on April 13 at 6:00. This is also a good time to start networking so, don't let this opportunity past you by!

Hops on Down to The Union Station Brewery

Deborah Allard
Archway Staff Writer

Beer and college have always gone hand in hand (or hand to mouth). But, how many of us really know our beer? To the average college student, beer is something bought as cheap as possible to immediately be consumed in astronomical amounts for the sole purpose of getting drunk.

If you think you might like to enlighten your taste buds, then try the Union Station Brewery, established 1993. It was constructed from a once bustling train station to a unique eating and drinking place. The beer is brewed on the premises just as restaurants did long before there were breweries.

Four friends and I got there at about 9:00 on a Saturday night. There were people sitting, leaning, and mostly standing. The tables were reserved until 10:00 for those dining. We gave our name, although we hadn't planned on eating, and went to find a place to stand by the bar.

Behind the more than adequate sized bar is a window offering a sneak peak into the brewery. A large metal structure used in beer making displays itself there.

The decor of this remodeled train station is a granite wonder. The walls are stone and the floor cement, but it is far from being gray. The green leafy plants in all of the indoor window boxes make it feel bright and alive.

The hostess called us about a half hour from the time we entered and seated us in a booth by a large half-circle window surrounded with brick. There are also high round tables with bar stools around them and regular sized tables and chairs.

On the beer menu, they offer four kinds of homemade beer. Golden, Amber, Porter (which is made with chocolate), and Pale Ale.

I tried the Golden, which was tart at first. As I drank a few sips more, I found it to be a refreshing taste somewhere between a Bud and a Heineken. The Amber beer was a darker ale, a little heavy, but would appeal to drinkers who fancy imported beer.

I didn't try the Porter or Pale Ale because they were out of those that night. According to Yankee Brew News, beer sales at the Union have been a lot higher than were expected. They have been having problems keeping up with the demand and have recently added a new brewer to their staff.

As I looked over the appetizer menu I found that many of their dishes were made with beer. Brewer's Chili, Spicy Wings marinated in Ale, Clams and Mussels steamed in Ale, and Gourmet Pizza, its crust made with malted grain from the brewery, are just a few.

The five of us shared three orders of Gourmet Pizza #6 with marinated chicken, eggplant, peppers, onions, and provolone. The flavoring was a healthy mixture of fresh veggies and herbs. The crust took some getting used to. It was thin and crunchy and just yelled out, "I'm good for you!"

The Union Station Brewery combines unique surroundings, great food, and homemade beer, all in a historical train station. It's a great haven for socializing with friends and training the palate to be a bit more discriminating.

If you would like to taste for yourself, you'll find The Union in The Capitol Center near Kennedy Plaza in downtown Providence. For information or directions call 274-BREW.

Notice To All May and Summer Candidates For Degrees

A list of graduates with tentative honors has been posted outside the Office of Undergraduate Programs. Please check...

Departments will be scheduling group meetings in late April/May to distribute information concerning the Commencement exercises.

The Bookstore places orders for announcements and caps and gowns.

Only those students who completed in December/January have been reviewed for certification. All other students will have their degrees mailed to them when final grades have been recorded and audits reviewed.

What do you think of the URI study which calls for fraternities and sororities to be disbanded by 1998?

"Greeks are definitely promoting a negative image through their actions. They should be further monitored and disbanded only if their actions warrant."

—Nigel Cabral '95

"I don't think they should abolish fraternities and sororities. The whole Greek system needs to be more open. Too much goes on behind closed doors. By their nature, Greeks segregate—every group does."

—Dave Ondek '94

"It's not fair. All clubs contribute—including Greeks—to society."

—Linda Riemer '94

Archway Photos by David E. Mattingly

"All college students are essentially the same. Greeks are more often accused of things because they are more visible. We don't think disbandment will ever happen. Greeks do a lot of good."

Alpha Phi

by Angelina Bruzzese and Kathleen Mullaney

Hey sistas-Hope everyone had a great week. Some of the sisters went home for Easter and received good food, while others braved it out on Bryant's campus.

An announcement on a serious note - Our founders day was celebrated on March 30, and it was our four year anniversary on this campus. Here's to the start of yet another four years.

Congratulations goes out to the new members of all of the Greek organizations. Its great that everyone finally finished!

Let's get psyched for our lovely formal. For those sisters that don't have dates, you have nine days to get one. It seems our formal destination is quite popular this year. Cape Cod is going to be taken by storm by all the Greeks.

In awards this week, SOTW goes to Wylde, Sis goes to the A3 babysitters, and SPACE goes to Wissel (What else is new?). Our quotes are "Mynose hurts", "It has to get done", and "Got the dress, got the date, got the shoes." See ya.

Amnesty International

by Toby Stapleton

Everyone is encouraged to attend our next meeting on Tuesday April 12 at 4:00 p.m. in the Chapel. We will be electing officers for next year, discussing the upcoming student rights day in Boston, and writing to oppose the death penalty in Rhode Island. If anyone is interested in attending the human rights day to be held in Boston please attend the meeting so we can determine transportation.

BACCHUS

by Yoke Chung and Scott Lynch

Hello again. Thanks for attending our meeting on Wednesday. We discussed future events and programs. Also, this Saturday is Open House for prospective students. We will be at the organizational fair from 10 to noon, where we will be giving out information concerning BACCHUS. On March 30, we all met at Sean's suite and reviewed Alcohol Jeopardy. Everything went smoothly thanks to Aaron who was Alex Trebek. Also, the Window Wash will be taking place on April 11, weather permitting.

Well, that's all for now. Remember our meetings are now taking place at 7 p.m. in Room 1 in the Bryant Center. Our next meeting is on April 19. We will see you then.

Beta Theta Pi

by David Tenofsky

It has been a very good week in sports for us. Our B team beat Sig Ep and both teams are on their way to the playoffs. Softball starts soon and we have a couple of secret weapons, including the Black Magic.

Thanks to the ladies of Tri Sig for Thursday night. Everyone had a great time and it was nice to see Kim take over for Clam.

This week: Finch, Lewie, and Sko spent the weekend Dazed and Confused then Finch cooked bacon and eggs in the middle of the game; the strangest person ever stopped by the couch for a few minutes; Big Country got beat in tennis; Dobber went up to settle a few things; Duck took a trip with his Big B; Imus and Lewie did something really stupid; there was a memorial service in the suite and Fudd seems to be enjoying his retirement.

Quote of the Week: "Behind every good man is a good woman, and Martha Washington was that woman."

BRYCOL

by Jennifer Barile

I hope everyone is enjoying the nice weather. The Brycol newsletter is out. All employees should have received it in their mailboxes. Directers can look for their copies in their box at the house. Please take the time to read it. We will appreciate any feedback you have.

Applications are out for director positions. I encourage everyone to get involved with BRYCOL. It's a great opportunity to learn practical skills while still in school. Applications are available at the house Mon.-Fri. 3-5 p.m.

Tupper's pizza of the month is Hawaiian pizza. Come by and give it a try. That is all there is for this week.

As always we are here to serve you. Any questions or comments for BRYCOL can be directed to our office 231-1220 or Box 9. Thank You.

College Republicans

by Paul V. Liss

Hello everyone! The Bryant College Republicans have scheduled a meeting for tonight at 7:00 p.m. in Room 245. We will be holding elections at this time, and everyone is welcome to attend. We will also be discussing upcoming events, as well as plans for next year. Hope to see you tonight and take care!

Delta Chi

by Frank L. Milazzo

Let's start off by saying thanks to everyone that came up for "Red Death" last week. Special thanks to the sisters of Theta Phi Alpha, Delta Zeta, Phi Sigma Sigma, and Alpha Phi for stopping by.

Baloo, G.Q., Barnacle, and F-Sharp spent the weekend keeping busy despite the fact there was a total of about fifty people left on campus. Valby was great, as well as the birthday dinner, or the surroundings of the birthday dinner. G.Q. also got his first driving lesson. It will be his last.

On a serious note, Delta Chi will be playing WHYY in a charity basketball game on Tuesday April 26. The proceeds from the game will be going to United Cerebral Palsy. We will be selling tickets for a raffle to be held at the game. If you would like to show support for the cause please see one of the brothers and buy a raffle ticket. Thanks.

Our formal is coming up this weekend, everyone is looking forward to the time away. The basketball playoffs also started this week with Delta Chi B as the third seed and the Martlets as the seventh seed. Happy anniversary Epsilon! Hope everyone is hanging in there until Spring Weekend. C-ya when I c-ya.

Quote of the Week: "He wrote his name in what?"

Tip of the Week: "If he wants to hit himself, let him"

Delta Kappa Epsilon

by Jon Lambiras

Well, we finally got ourselves some ink. Thanks to the loose cannon himself and the rest of our competent brethren, we got a little break from publication. Well, this edition of The Archway will be an important milestone in Deke history...an article.

This Monday and Tuesday we will be sponsoring a pitch tournament. Prizes will include a trophy and gift certificates.

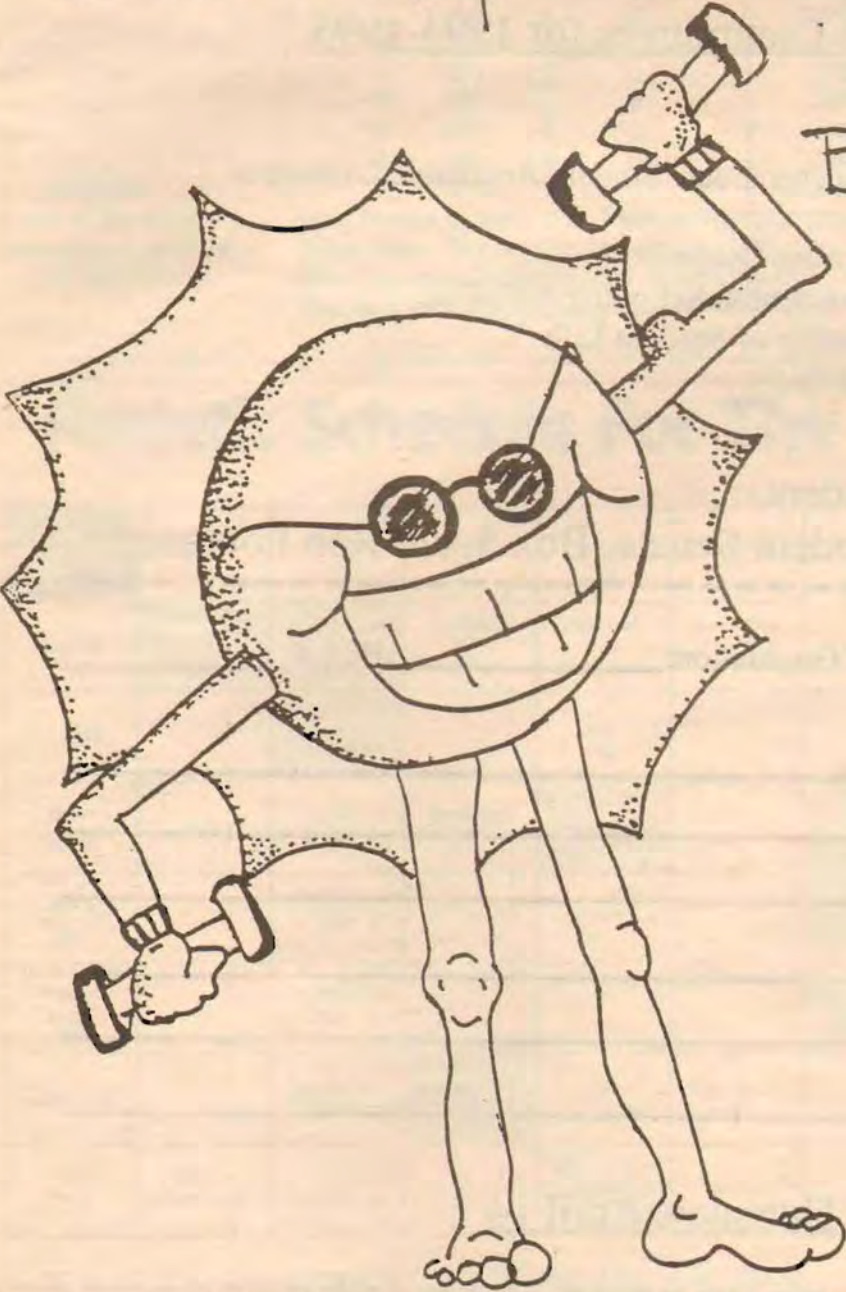

Also, we will be sponsoring a 3 on 3 basketball tournament on Wednesday and Thursday. Prizes will include fat cash and a giant trophy. Teams must sign up before Wednesday.

Proceeds from each tournament will go toward Cystic Fibrosis. For more information or to sign up, call 232-4002.

test. Just remember that for every day you work out and for every day you push yourself harder, you get that much stronger and that much better in your technique.

For the yellow belts, power will come. Keep working at those spin kicks...you will get better. Try not to get discouraged. Everything comes in time. You have all come a long way. Remember that.

Green belts...Tammy give up the Irish green! Mike, keep up the dedication. Your respect in the dojang, for the people as well as the art, is well noted. Keep pushing yourself. Jeff, you have excellent power, just try not to look so evil when you spar!

Blue belts...JP, Phil, both of you guys are lookin' great! You are well on your way in the intermediate range. Now is the time for you to prepare to be advanced students. Keep up the positive attitude.

I would really like to thank everyone in the club for giving me the gi. I can't tell you enough how much it meant to me and I promise that I will wear it in good health! Thanks!

Lets all thank Phil's dad for putting up with us last night at Jade Palace!

Please try to help out as much as you can with the ads for the tournament. Yes, we are going to keep reminding you about this all the time! Also, we are putting on a Special Olympics demo May 7 at 11 a.m. There will be more information. There is an open house this Saturday. We need people to sit at the table to show prospective Bryant students what our club is all about!

Lacrosse

by Dave Crosby

Well, it was a really tough weekend for the Lacrosse team. A Friday night game at BU and a Saturday afternoon game at UMASS-Dartmouth, with only two extra players. Thanks to Michaud for keeping the players who were there in the game. We would like to thank those fans that made the drive to BU to watch us play. Sorry it wasn't closer.

We would like to congratulate Ted for getting his first goal of his career in a game versus Dean Junior College on Monday. Congratulations also go out to our new goalie, Luush, who is playing his first lacrosse season ever. Luush has made some big saves for us, so far in the season, just keep your head in the game. Leading in points are: Crosby 6 points (2 goals and 4 assists); Scribner 5 points (5 goals); Reilly 3 (all assists.)

Leading the team in minutes are: Schlosberg with 6 and Libutti with 4 (Andy has the record for the most in one game.)

We've played the three toughest teams in our league so far (UCONN, BU, and Dean). This upcoming week we have games at: Bentley (NE-10 varsity team), Mt. Ida, and Holyoke CC. We still have twelve games left in the season. So, don't worry about the first couple of games, just go out there, have fun and do your best.

Men's Rugby

by Bob Betlinski

Hallo Ruggers,

Well, the weekend started off great on Friday with a little cookout

(P.S. the veggie-burgers weren't that bad.) Luckily we all survived without any major injuries or burns. However, some rats were able to get a first-hand view of Bryant's wonderful sewage system.

Anyway, things just turned ugly on Saturday, as we played Coast Guard. The A-side played a great game, but fell just a little short in the end. Maybe next year fella's! The B-side seemed to be improving all week, however the experience of Coast Guard was just too much for this good team.

We play this Saturday. The team will journey to Bentley for their spring tournament. We should have a good chance. All are encouraged to attend.

Phi Sigma Sigma

by Lisa Bacon

Hello! We hope you all had a great Easter holiday. Too bad we didn't get an extra day off. First we would like to thank Rugby and Delta Chi for Thursday. The sisters had a great time. We would also like to send our condolences to Beta on their great loss. This week is very stressful for sisters getting everything done. Only one more week until the formal girls. Get out there and find some dates.

We would like to also congratulate all the new brother and sisters of each organization. Greek life is the best! Well we all hope you have a great weekend. That's all for this week. See ya later bye!

SPB

by Stacey L. Parron

Hello Everybody! We have a few events coming up in the next couple of weeks to keep you busy until Spring Weekend.

First, Sunday, April 10, is the movie "Rising Sun." Admission is $1.50 and includes a free soda. Times are 7:00 and 9:15 in the Auditorium.

"That's the way we became the Brady Bunch!" Come to Brady Trivia night on April 11 at 7:00 in Papitto. Test your knowledge of Mike and Carol's family. If you don't do well, you can watch Brady re-runs in Salmanson on the 13 during dinner!

SPB meetings are every Monday at 4:30 in meeting room 2B. Stop by and help us program!

Special Olympics

by Kristen Frissell

The Bryant College Special Olympics committee would like to remind everyone who donated a meal that they gave up the Friday April 8 dinner meal. But instead of eating, everyone can fill up on carbohydrates at our Happy Hour at the Comfort! We hope to see you there!

Spring week is coming up fast, so be on the look-out for Sumo Wrestlers! As spring week draws closer, more information will be posted. The day of the games is coming quickly and we are really getting very excited. There is still much work to be done, so we hope to see a lot of the Bryant community willing to become volunteers. See you at the informational meeting on April 6.

Tau Epsilon Phi

by Phil Cloutier

Well, another great week of news has flown by and it's time to reflect...

Congratulations to our new brothers; Dave, Wease, Jim, John, and Keith. Great job guys! Ray and Keith can personally thank me for their refreshing swim in the pond...Oops!

In sports, our B-Ball team won a game against TKE, too bad they didn't show. We also lost a close one to Sig Ep the night after...Well, we still have soccer?!

Also in sports, Sleepy thanks the lacrosse team for the new look, and Congratulations goes out to Kells.

Now for the real news... It got a bit crazy on Thurs. Rico needed a tranquilizer and Jim needs slam-dance lessons.

At Lupo's on Sat., Effron fell in love and Hyde was chucking fat people across the floor (You are huge!)...until next week, Peace.

Welcome To Hog Heaven

In one of the most exciting college basketball games in recent history, the Arkansas Razorbacks defeated the Duke Blue Devils to win the NCAA Division I men's basketball national championship on Monday.

The game was exciting from start to finish, neither team was able to pull away. In fact, the largest lead of the game was only ten points (by Duke), and that did not last too long.

In the first half, the two team traded baskets and the lead numerous times and kept the game close. By the end of the first half, Arkansas had a narrow one point lead.

Duke came out firing in the second half and was able to score 14 unanswered points and grab a 10 point lead. Arkansas then came roaring back with a 14-4 run to tie the game once again.

For the remainder of the half, the two teams battled back and fourth. When Arkansas looked to ready to pull away from Duke, Duke came back to regain the lead.

Finally with less than a minute left to play the score tied at 70, Scotty Thurman of Arkansas hit a rainbow jumper from downtown to secure a three point lead. Duke then tried to counter with a three of their own, but it fell short. In the end, there was only one national champion - Arkansas.

This marked Arkansas' first ever national title and gave them some much needed respect to a successful program. The win also was placed head coach Nolan Richardson in an elite group. Richardson is one of the few coaches to win a national junior college title, the National Invitational Tournament (NIT) title, as well as the NCAA national title.

Of course we can't forget the first fan-President Clinton. Whether you like the man or not, you have to applaud him for attending these games. Just because he is the president, does not mean he has to stop doing the things he enjoys.

But, enough about Clinton, this is sports not politics.

In the end, the final game was very similar to the whole tournament. Everybody was saying prior to the game, "Despite Arkansas talent, they cannot beat Duke. Duke knows how to win." Then I guess you can say we had an upset Monday night.

Well, if that is true, then the game did in fact resemble the tournament, and the entire season for that matter. In a year that saw more number ones fall then since the last time the Cleveland Indians actually had a winning season, the tourney was exciting as the season.

Even the selection day had it's share of upsets, with five number one seeds losing in the semifinals of the conference tournament. The selection committee was sent into a frenzy trying to figure out who was going to the big dance.

The first two rounds saw some major upsets: UCLA, California, Massachusetts, and Kentucky were all ousted from their respected divisions. Boston College made an impressive run which saw them make it all the way to the East finals before losing to Florida.

This tournament was not only special for Arkansas and Boston College, but there were some other small schools who had their chance to shine in the sun. For the teams like North Carolina A & T, Liberty, James Madison, and Central Florida this tourney was even more special.

As the year winds down, we can only wonder who will be going to the NBA draft, and who will finish out their college careers. As for the diehard college basketball fans we will have to wait and see. Hopefully, next season will be just as exciting as this season was.

What's Hot, What's Not for Bryant Sports

Susan Genovese
Journalism Student

"I knew I wanted to direct, and I am willing to try new things," says Bryant's Director of Athletics explaining why she took on the challenge of a Division II athletic program with 14 varsity sports, 12 club sports, and a comprehensive intramural program.

Linda Hackett, whose academic credentials might suggest she is a faculty member (she holds Ph.D., MBA, and M.S. degrees), came to Bryant College in the summer of 1992.

Hackett's goal is to make the athletic program of Bryant College more visible. For example, this year's basketball team began with Midnight Madness, which featured a 3-point contest, entertainment by Zeta Phi Beta sorority, the Bryant cheerleaders, and hundreds of enthusiastic fans. The event apparently brought the team good luck. They finished the season with a 15-14 record, finishing just one point short of winning the NE-10 championship and of qualifying for an NCAA post season tournament bid.

In 1989 Hackett established the first "Homecoming" weekend at Smith College, where she was responsible for the operation of a Division III women's athletic program. Hackett would like to bring some of that spirit to Bryant by placing more focus on Homecoming. She would like to coordinate Homecoming with the annual Hall of Fame Inductions.

Hackett looks forward to extending her relations with Bryant alumni and hopes they have input on Homecoming and Hall of Fame events.

Meanwhile, in Hackett's administration, basketball continues to be the featured varsity sport. For example, it is the only varsity sport that grants scholarships. Hackett says she is trying to extend support to other varsity sports but admits that it is a challenge because of budget reductions in some areas.

Hackett has, however, "put into action" two new sports: men's lacrosse and women's field hockey. They are both being offered as varsity sports, pending appropriate funding.

One thing that is not in Linda Hackett's plans is the perennial issue of starting a football team. Hackett says she is not interested in varsity football because of "the amount of resources it would take." There are personnel costs, such as additional coaches and trainers, and equipment and uniforms would also require funding, she notes. "Why spend money on that when we don't even have enough money as it is," says Hackett.

"Students generally don't want their tuition to increase for football," she adds.

Another issue Hackett is tackling is a new name for Varsity teams at Bryant, currently known as the "Indians." An advisory committee suggested the change because, according to a recent Archway article, the students do not identify themselves with the Indian and the name is also degrading to Native Americans. The new Mascot name will be decided by the students.

Linda Hackett came to Bryant after serving in administrative positions in the athletic departments of Smith College and the University of Iowa. Hackett, who began her academic career as a German teacher, says she has always had a personal interest in sports.

Hackett says, her goal continues to be expanding financial support for a variety of sports because, she says, "all sports are of particular interest."

Men's Tennis Swings Into Action

The men's tennis is heading in the right track by winning their first three matches, two in the NE-10.

On Monday, the team defeated last years regular season NE-10 champions, Quinnipiac 7-2. They also defeated non-conference opponent Babson College 5-4.

"[We are playing] pretty good. We need work at the bottom of the line-up, but the top is very strong," captain Roman Pavlik said. "It is early in the season and we are still improving."

Last week, the team defeated Assumption College 7-2.

The team has been getting solid play for veterans Roman Pavlik and Andy Lipsky, both men are undefeated for the season.

Pavlik and Jason Wall are also undefeated in the #1 doubles flight. For his performances, Pavlik was named to the NE-10 Weekly Honor Roll.

• In the #2 doubles, Lipsky and Mike Gisler are also undefeated and have been providing some much needed help to the team. Gisler began his collegiate career by registering victories at #2 singles and #2 doubles in the Assumption match. For his efforts, Gisler was named NE-10 Freshman of the Week.

As for the rest of the season, Pavlik seems optimistic. "We are looking to do well in the NE-10's, but more importantly we are looking to do well in the New England's."

Last season, Bryant was strong at the end of the season and was able to capture the NE-10 Tourney crown and finish fifth in the New England's.

The team will travel to URI on Saturday and Merrimack on Sunday. They will then return home to face Roger Williams at 3:00 p.m. on Monday and St. Anselm at 3:00 p.m. on Wednesday.

Runners Flying High

The women's track team continued to have success last weekend at the Bridgewater, a non-scoring meet.

The 4 x 100 meter relay team (Megan Davis, Mary Gates, Melissa Roberts, and Lisa Wainwright) placed second for the second consecutive time. The 4 x 400 meter (Jessica Duval, Karen Grobel, Mandy LaPierre, and Melissa Roberts) also placed second in their event.

Individually, Megan Davis took third and Marsha Orr also advanced to the finals in the 100. Distance events were also strong: in the 3000 meter Heather Cronce finished first, Mandy La Pierre was third, Jackie Erath placed fourth, and Amanda Friedrich was fifth.

In the 1500 meter Cronce came in fourth and LaPierre was seventh. In total, the team placed 4 runners in the top 10.

The team will be at RIC this Saturday. They will then return home for the Bryant Invitational at 3:00 on Wednesday.

Softball Continues To Roll

The softball team won five of their last six games to improve their record to 12-5, 2-2 in the NE-10.

On Tuesday, the team traveled to Cambridge and split a doubleheader against Harvard. In game one, Harvard jumped out to an early lead, scoring in each of the first two innings, taking a 2-1 lead.

Harvard then scored two in the third and one in the sixth giving them a lead of 5-2 going into the top of the seventh. Bryant then rallied to score two in the seventh, but it was not enough and Harvard came away with a 5-4 win.

In game two, Bryant scored first with a run in the top of the first. Harvard came back to score four in the bottom of the inning.

They added one in the bottom of the second. Bryant then rallied to score four in the top of the third to tie the game at five.

Both teams scored in the fifth, and Bryant added three in the sixth to secure the 9-6 win.

Junior Jen Flanigan went the distance to record the complete game win.

"We came back from behind and we seemed more confident in doing it," Coach Bob Reall said.

Senior Wendy Powell and freshman Kristin Regan each drove in two runs to help the team to victory in the second game. Powell was also named NE-10 Conference Player of the week and batted .667 (12 for 18) with two doubles, one triple, one home run, five RBI, and four runs scored.

On Friday, the team swept NE-10 rival Quinnipiac College. In game one, Bryant scored at least one run in each inning to grab a 12-1 lead going into the top of the seventh. Quinnipiac then rallied to score five runs in the seventh, but that wasn't enough and Bryant won 12-5.

The second game was a little closer. Quinnipiac was able to score in the first to grab a 1-0 lead, which they held until the sixth inning. In the bottom of the sixth, Bryant then rallied to take the lead for good.

With Powell on first, Heather Lopes slapped a bunt down causing Quinnipiac to be caught off guard.

With no one covering third, Powell scampered into third and scored on an over throw to tie the game at one. Lopes advanced to second on the play. Lopes then advanced to third on a sacrifice by Jayna Fontaine, and scored on a passed ball. Bryant came away with a 2-1 win.

"[The wins] were definitely a moral booster. It shows we can play with good teams," Reall added. "Also, coming back from behind show that we are not quitters, and can score when we need to."

The team played Southern Maine and came away with two impressive wins. In game one, the team grabbed an early lead and never looked back winning the game 10-2. Game two was much of the same, and Bryant won 12-4.

"We have the meat of the schedule ahead of us," Reall added. "The next six games will be real test."

The team will be home to face New Haven today at 3:30 p.m., and number 20 in the nation AIC on Saturday at 1:00 p.m. They will then travel to North Andover, MA on Monday to take on number five in the nation Merrimack.

ATHLETE

WEEK

Wendy Powell

This week's Athlete of the Week is Wendy Powell of the softball team. In a 4-1 week for Bryant, Powell batted .667 (12-for-18) with two doubles, one triple, one home run, five RBIs and four runs scored, including an 8-for-8 performance against Quinnipiac on Friday. For her performance, Powell was named NE-10 Conference Player of the Week. Powell is on the pace to record 200 hits for her Bryant career.

Powell is a senior CIS major from West Warwick, RI.
