

Alcohol Awareness Race Set To Educate Students

Angelo L. Corradino
Archway Staff Writer

For the fourth annual year the Smithfield Lions club will be hosting an Alcohol Awareness Road Race to raise money for alcohol safety education.

The race is scheduled to take place on Sunday, September 26th and will include a one mile fun run and two mile alcohol awareness walk. This year's honorary chair is disc jockey Daria Bruno from B101.

There have been some changes made to the race this year. The race originally started in the memory of Kristen Hatch, a Bryant student who was struck and killed by a drunk driver on route 116, while she was jogging.

Instead of the five mile run, they have had the previous three years, the course has been shrunk to five kilometers (3.1 miles).

The race will start on the baseball field and proceed down to Jacobs Drive and out onto Route 7. The race will then take a right onto Route 116 proceed to John Mowry Road and re-enter the campus by The Comfort it will then go through the dorm village and finish by the circle in front of the unistructure.

"We changed the finish line to make it a real home stretch and have more spectators at the finish," said Brian Farley race coordinator.

The proceeds from this race will go toward alcohol education on the Bryant campus. "We want to focus on alcohol awareness more this year," Farley said.

"The scholarship fund setup in Kristen's name has enough funds to make it successful."

The major sponsor of the race this year is Fleet Bank from Massachusetts, with the Cavanagh Company from Greenville, and Butler Hospital in Providence giving a helping hand.

This year entry fee is $10 for the walk and the road race but, they are offering prizes to those runners who raise money for the cause.

For every runner that raises $50 the entry fee will be waived. If a runner raises $100 or more an additional prize will be awarded.

Volunteers are still needed for the race look for signs around campus.

ACE Fellow Named

Dr. William E. Trueheart and Dr. John J. Sbrega.

Lisa M. Lucchesi
Archway Staff Writer

"The ACE Fellowship was an extraordinary rich learning experience because it provided the rare opportunity to observe, for an entire year, the myriad ways in which challenges and problems surface and get resolved," remarked President William E. Trueheart.

In 1969, when the American Council on Education (ACE) selected its ACE Fellow, Dr. Trueheart was among the honorees named. His mentor was Dr. Homer Babbidge, president of the University of Connecticut.

This year, Dr. Trueheart will serve as mentor to Dr. John J. Sbrega, associate dean of academic affairs at the Community College of Rhode Island. While working in the President's Office, Dr. Sbrega will "shadow" Dr. Trueheart and other Bryant administrators to gain a better understanding of various administrative functions at a private, four-year campus. Dr. Sbrega, will also research areas such as cultural diversity and free-speech codes on campus.

Dr. Sbrega is the founding chief academic officer of CCRI's Providence campus. He holds Ph.D. and MA degrees in history from Georgetown University, and a BA from Union College. He also received a Fulbright Scholarship for the 1972-73 academic year for study at the London School of Economics and Political Science.

While most of Dr. Sbrega's administrative experience has been in academic affairs, he feels fortunate that his ACE Fellowship will enable him to learn more about other areas such as finance, human resources, student services, athletics, maintenance, and security and is looking forward to this "wonderful opportunity."

New Beginnings at Convocation

Lisa M. Lucchesi
Archway Staff Writer

"Beginnings" will be the theme for the annual Convocation ceremonies to be held on Wednesday, September 15.

David Nyhan, Associate Editor of the Boston Globe and well-known nationally syndicated columnist, will address the subject of beginnings in this year's keynote address. A major focus of this year's Convocation will be the welcoming of the Class of 1997 to the Bryant tradition of academic excellence. In addition, faculty who have won teaching awards and the faculty member receiving the Distinguished Faculty Award will be honored. Recognition will also be given to Presidential and Trustee Scholarship recipients, the Delta Mu Delta Honor Society members, the National Order of Omega members, and those students who have made the Dean's List.

The concept of Convocation was introduced several years ago by Dr. William T. O'Hara, now President Emeritus of Bryant, to bring the entire campus together in celebration of each new academic year.

A faculty sponsored event, Convocation gives students a chance to see the college's faculty and staff assembled and is designed as an inspiration for success in the ensuing semester.

The Way It Used To Be

THE ARCHWAY

Aziz N. Meruani
Archway Staff Writer.

Towards the end of last semester the members of The Archway worked on changing the appearance of the newspaper. With the help of Drew Diskin, a junior, The Archway accomplished this goal. Diskin has actively aided many student organizations with artwork for various events, including the Student Programming Board's Spring Weekend.

Changing the appearance of the paper will in no way compromise the quality of reporting which has been achieved. The staff consists of a small number of very dedicated students, without which there would not be a newspaper. Every attempt is made to report issues relevant to the Bryant community, and this will be adhered to in the future. The Archway is a very effective means of communication, and has hosted several controversial issues, but has always tried to present material objectively.

A few minor changes will continue to be made over the semester to enhance the image of the newspaper. Since The Archway is a student organization, the entire staff welcomes suggestions from the student body, faculty and administration.

Above: The previous Archway 'flag' which has been used without much variation since its initial introduction over a decade ago. Many attempts to change it have been made, however no design ever made it past the drawing board until now.

Better Safe Than Sorry

Welcome back everyone! Hope everyone had a safe and enjoyable summer.

While we were away several changes have been made to increase the security and safety of students on campus.

As you have noticed, there are now two incoming traffic lanes as you enter campus. This measure has been taken to increase the level of security on campus, but is only being tested on a trial basis to see if any confusion or complications may arise.

Also, for greater protection of the students, combination locks have been placed on all the doors in the dorm village. These combination locks will prevent any strangers on campus from entering the buildings during the day or night.

Strangers will also be prevented from using the library. Library usage has now been limited strictly to the members of the Bryant community.

And lastly, for the increased safety of students, sprinkler systems have been installed in Residence Halls 1 and 2. These sprinklers will ensure greater protection from fire damage.

In the weeks ahead, all the Public Safety officers will be spotlighted in The Archway. The purpose of these spotlights is to give both old and new students an idea of who the officers are on campus and to encourage interaction between students and the Department of Public Safety.

Good luck to everyone this semester and have a safe and happy year!

The Archway Editorial Policy

Brad Folsom

Brad began his career by serving 4 years as a Military Policeman in the U.S. Army, Vietnam Era Vet.

He then served 10 years as Police Officer in Texas and Arkansas. Upon leaving Arkansas as a Sergeant, he moved to Rhode Island.

He applied for jobs at Bryant College, along with several other Police Departments. At Bryant College Brad worked his way through the ranks. He was promoted to Corporal and then to Sergeant. He's the Training Officer and Parking Services Coordinator. Brad began college at Bryant several years ago and has nearly 80 credits towards his B.S.

Brad has his own business that is called Driver Safety Seminars. He conducts training for fire departments, ambulance drivers and any company that requests training in the area of driving and alcohol education. The "Sgt. SEATBELT" he has created will be going to schools to talk about the need to wear seat belts. Sgt. SEATBELT can also be used to educate adults with the demonstration that he puts on. It is a truck with a wooden car and a wooden figure is seat belted in and there is an egg next to the figure and as the car comes to a stop the egg flies out and breaks. Brad smiled and remarked, "Everyone that sees it gets a kick out of it."

Virginia Bowry

Virginia has been a Bryant employee since 1986. She worked one year in the Development Office and past six years for Public Safety as Public Safety Assistant Crime Prevention Specialist.

She is an advisor to the student organization "Students For A Safer Campus."

Virginia was recently nationally certified to teach Rape Aggression Defense courses for women

She has served as State Secretary and Regional Vice-President for Colleges, Universities and businesses for R.I. Crime Prevention Officers Association since 1990.

She has served on the Board of Directors of the Smithfield Substance Abuse Task Force since 1989 and on the Safety Committee and Sexual Assault Task Force in 1990 and 1991.

Virginia has been a Member of the Chief of Police Secretaries Association and the International Society of Crime Prevention Practitioners since 1990. She has represented Bryant at annual local, National and International Crime Prevention Conferences since 1989.

Corporal Thomas D. Mefford Jr.

Tom has been a member of the Department of Public Safety since 1987. Prior to arriving at Bryant, Tom was a Sergeant in the Military Police in the U.S. Air Force. Tom has also been a Special Officer and Dispatcher for the Cumberland Police Department, and is currently a Reserve Police Officer with the Smithfield Police Department. Tom is also an EMT and has worked as a member of the Albion Rescue in the Town of Lincoln. Tom has been married for six years to his wife Tracey, and has a little 13 month old son Timmy and a second child due in October.

Ed Donahue

Ed has been with the Bryant Department of Public Safety since 1987. He is an E.M.T. and the Special Events coordinator for the department with responsibility for Public Safety personnel manning two children, Lindsey 6, and Elizabeth 4. They are licensed Foster Parents and share their home with four children, Francis 6, Samantha 4, Brittany 3 1/2 and Jessica 7 months.

Fire & Safety Information

*John Rattigan
Fire & Safety Coordinator*

The safety aspect of each student is of paramount concern to the College, and we have formulated specific rules and regulations pertaining to fire and safety issues. Please be advised that tampering with any fire alarm or fire protection system will result in your being held financially responsible for any damages to College property. Along with financial responsibility, you may be fined or put on disciplinary probation, and should the circumstances warrant it at the time, you could be placed under arrest for tampering with life safety systems.

The following fine structure and information is designed to discourage the misuse of fire & safety equipment. Further elaboration may be found in your student handbook:

$1,000 reward for information leading to the apprehension and conviction of any person causing a malicious fire alarm. The Rhode Island Fire Law section entitled "Interference with Fire Alarm Apparatus" states that: "Every person who unlawfully and without just cause willfully or knowingly, tampers with, interferes with or in any way impairs any public fire alarm apparatus, wire or associate equipment, shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than $1,000 nor more than $5,000 or shall be imprisoned for not less than 1 nor more than 5 years, or both."

Tampering with fire extinguishers: $75 fine; Missing fire extinguishers: $150 fine; Tampering with heat or smoke detectors: $300 fine; Unsafe living areas: $50 fine

Individuals will be held responsible for any of this equipment that may be located in their living areas. Additionally, any damage that is caused to equipment that is located in common areas of the resident halls will be billed to each student. This is figured out by dividing the total cost of the equipment by the number of students in the resident hall to arrive at a per student rate.

That means it is especially important for those who may witness any vandalism taking place to this equipment to report it to the Department of Public Safety (DPS) so that the vandals will be assessed the full value of the equipment.

All living areas must be kept in a clean and safe condition. The fire & safety coordinator has the authority to issue citations to any person(s) who fail to keep their living areas in accordance with accepted sanitary and fire/safety regulations. It is imperative for students to evacuate during an alarm. Citation will be given for violating this policy.

Your cooperation in this matter will ensure the safety of all in the Bryant community. Let's work together to make this a safe and trouble free year. Congratulations to all incoming students for your admission into Bryant College. And good luck to all continuing students in your endeavors this year.

Three Bryant Employees Receive Spirit Award

Mary Alice Conlon
Bryant Community Spirit
Award Committee

"Surprised," "stunned," and "very honored" were the words that this year's award recipients used to describe their reactions to the Bryant Community Spirit Award presentation held on May 12th. President Trueheart presented the awards to Bob Reall, intramural director of athletics, Shirley Plante, associate director of human resources, and Judy Clare, assistant director of career services at the close of the Service Awards Ceremony held last spring.

Bob Reall was honored for his pitch-in attitude, team spirit, ever-present smile, and tireless devotion to his students.

Following an 18 year career as a Providence high school teacher, Bob came to Bryant in 1977 as coach for ice hockey, was the and baseball and gym manager. In 1981 he was named intramural director and took over the softball team in 1988.

Most recently, Bob served as interim athletic director from August 1992 to April 1993. Bob finds his work with the students the most rewarding, and says that student participation in intramurals is their "good time during spare time." I doubt whether anyone who knows Bob would disagree with that.

Shirley Plante started with Bryant in 1974 as a secretary in the Registrar's office. Just one year later the Human Resources department discovered her talents and recruited her to handle the college's payroll and benefits tasks.

In her current role, Shirley has been described as a listener, a fixer, a fountain of info, a confidant, and a professional role model. She still oversees the payroll department, but also finds time to advise employees on their pension eligibility and keep her sense of humor intact.

Judy Clare has worked in Bryant's Career Services department for eight years. A 1966 Bryant alumna, Judy was also a member of the faculty in the late 1970's. Judy is an advisor to Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority, serves on the committee of scholastic standing, and is past chair of the council of administrators.

She's been spotted speaking at BEST receptions and has been involved in the convocation committee, the Women Educators of Bryant steering committee, and the selection committee for senior service awards and order of omega. Judy has also served as a volunteer and board member of the Women's Center.

Judy is well known for her enrichment of the Bryant community and tireless enthusiasm for Bryant and its students. Please join us in congratulating these individuals for the special ways in which they show their true Bryant spirit.

Professors Rewarded for Good Work

Mike Patterson
VPAA/Dean of Faculty

The annual awards for excellence in teaching were presented at a faculty meeting on May 10, 1993. VPAA/Dean of Faculty Michael Patterson presented Burton Fischman with the award for excellence in teaching liberal arts. Marie Cote received the award for excellence in teaching business.

Dean Patterson quoted students who described Professor Fischman as "always available, ... entertaining and interesting," ... "always uses class time to its fullest and always gives the class 100%, ... skills he taught me will be used for years," ... "cares about his students, both in and out of the classroom," ... "Doc cares!"

Students described Professor Cote: "she has made a real difference in my academic career," ... "she made accounting real and understandable," ... "she brings an intense interest and enthusiasm into the classroom... she feels obligated to teach us, and she has definitely earned great respect from me."

This is the sixth year that Patterson has honored faculty for their outstanding work as teachers. As part of the selection process, the Dean considers nominations from students and faculty colleagues. Previous recipients of the award, which includes a plaque and a cash stipend, have been Chet Piascik, Robert Provost, Earl Briden, Laurie MacDonald, John Jolley, Kathy Simons, Pat Keeley, Lucia Arruda, Ron Deluga, and Clarissa Patterson.

New Director of Communications Named

Mary G. Grosso
Archway Staff Writer

A new addition to the Bryant community is Timmian C. Massie, who has recently been appointed as director of communication.

As director of communication for the college, Mr. Massie will work directly with the media to answer inquiries and to develop stories.

In the past, Mr. Massie has worked as a radio reporter, a communications associate for the New York State Civil Service Employees Association, and as assistant to the chairman of the Dutchess County Legislature. Prior to this position, Massie worked as a news reporter and most recently served in Poughkeepsie, New York as director of corporate communications and news director at Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation.

Massie received an AS degree in communications and media arts from Dutchess Community College and a BA in political science, cum laude, from Fordham University.

He continued his studies at Iona College in New Rochelle, New York, and at the Gregorian University in Rome, Italy.

Massie has also served the community through various means, including serving as a past president of the Dutchess Community College Alumni Association and also as an adjunct instructor in communications there.

Massie also serves on the DCC Foundation Board of Directors and was named the college's Distinguished Alumnus in 1990.

Aside from being elected to two terms on the City of Poughkeepsie Board of Education, he served two terms as board president, as well as president of the local chapter of Literacy Volunteers of America and the Dutchess Interfaith Council and as vice president of Taconic Resources for Independence, an advocacy group for people with disabilities.

Sports Facilities Available to Bryant Community

Pam Barry
Archway Staff Writer

The Sports Complex is an important part of the Bryant College campus providing students with a wide range of fitness/sports participation choices. Students, alumni and employees are encouraged to utilize the facilities. Intercollegiate, intramural and sport club activities have priority in the scheduled use of the facilities.

Alumni may purchase memberships to use our facilities for an annual fee of $25; a membership for the Jarvis Fitness Center costs an additional $50 per semester.

Students, alumni, and employees are permitted guests; however, guests must be accompanied by their host at all times.

The gymnasium and MAC (Multipurpose Activities Center) are open during the fall/spring semesters as follows: Mon.-Thurs. 7am-midnight; Fri. 7am-10pm; Sat. and Sun. 9am-10pm.

The Jarvis Fitness Center is equipped with state of the art weight equipment; 16 Nautilus machines, 1200 lbs. of free weights, 3 lifecycles, an Apline stairclimber, and a treadmill. Aerobics exercise is also offered afternoons during the academic year. Your Bryant ID with membership sticker is required to be shown each visit. Hours are as follows: Mon.-Thurs. 7am-9am and 12-midnight; Fri. 7am-9am and 12-10pm; Sat. and Sun. 9am-10pm. Faculty and staff only Mon.-Fri. 12-1pm.

Fees for the Jarvis Center run per semester and are $25 for students, $50 for employees and alumni and $90 for family membership.

The sports facilities available are racquetball courts, a track, tennis courts, cross country course and fields for soccer, softball, baseball, lacrosse, field hockey and rugby.

Your Bryant ID will be requested for identification to attend athletics events or to use the facilities for recreation. Please call the sports hotline at extension 6736 for a current list of sport events. Other important numbers are Intercollegiate Athletics Office (6070), Intramurals Office (6074), Jarvis Fitness Center (5276), and Sports Info (6072).

Chaplains' Corner

Rev. Philip Devens

AGE or WELtwo greetings for lege community
Ministries. The col-prepares us for a journey of a life-tional opportunities. They reveal themselves in many different ways. We can discern which are life giving or life faking; which are safe or risky. The author of Ecclesiastes (a book of the Hebrew Scripture in the Bible) stated in a poem these opportunities beautifully.

For everything there is a season, and a time for every matter under heaven.
a time to be born, and a time to die;
a time to plant, and a time to pluck up what is planted;
a time to kill, and a time to heal;
a time to break down, and a time to build up;
a time to weep, and a time to laugh;
a time to mourn, and a time to dance;
a time to throw away stones, and a time to gather stones together;
a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing;
a time to seek, and a time to lose;
a time to keep, and a time to throw away;
a time to tear, and a time to sew;
a time to keep silence, and a time to speak;
a time to love, and a time to hate;
a time for war, and a time for peace.

What gain have the workers from their toil? I have seen the business that God has given to everyone to be busy with. He has made everything suitable for its time; moreover, he has put a sense of past and future into their minds, yet they cannot find out what God has done from the beginning to the end. I know that there is nothing better for them than to be happy and enjoy themselves as long as they live.

Another educational journey will be on September 23, 1993 in the Bryant Center Rooms 2A & B at 12 noon. The Rev. William Sloan Coffin, and activist for civil rights for many years, will be commenting on his experiences. Please feel free to bring your own lunch. If you have any questions, please call the Campus Ministry Office at ext. 6045. More information will follow in next week's edition.

College is A World of Firsts

Cindy Gale
Archway Staff Writer

I've sat here, staring at this computer screen all day trying to come up with a topic for a Welcome Back Article which would give you a comical and insightful look into college life.

I pondered talking about bringing too much stuff to college, living with a roommate from hell, and even eating the food from ARA. But none of them seemed to work.

I finally sat back and thought a minute and realized what all these things had in common...at one point, they were all firsts.

You know firsts, the things you do for the very first time you will never forget; well, college is four years of firsts.

For most of us, it is the first time we are away from home, the first time we have to share a room the size of a closet with someone else, and the first time we have to eat food not prepared by a caring Mom...and on and on.

Being away from home is difficult enough. Here you are, in a strange place with people you don't know, where you are to spend the next eight months of your life. You have to adjust to a new way of living, and sharing your bathroom with several other people, but most of all, you have to get used to living on your own for the first time.

Yes, that's right! You don't have to answer to anyone anymore! No one will yell at you if you come home at 3am on a school night, if your room is a mess, or tell you to eat your veggies. It's all up to you, which can be fun, but can also be very scary.

It's true you can do almost anything you want, but there are times you will miss home very much. Getting sick your first time away from home is not the greatest feeling in the world. You miss everything from your favorite show on television to your bed. But it's all part of growing up and being on your own, and after a while you do get used to it.

Freshman year is a world full of firsts waiting to be discovered. You have to share a room with a complete stranger, which could be a nightmare, especially if you are living with someone for the first time. If you have roomed with a sibling most of your life, having a roommate will probably not be much different. But living with a complete stranger in a strange place can be difficult. After all, you can't run and tell Mom or Dad your roomie is being annoying and expect them to do something about it.

You also eat your first college meal, and we all know what a tasty treat that is; we'll never forget it and neither will our stomachs. Then, there is the first college class, your first friend, your first exam... you get the picture. And then there are the really fun things you get to go through like the housing lottery, pre-registration, and learning you can't wash a dark blue sweatshirt with your new white shirt.

Sophomore year contains a few less firsts, but there is one thing you will never forget; not being a freshman anymore. You move into the suites with five of your closest friends and actually have room to move without stepping on each other.

Junior year, you feel the most comfortable. But all year, you look forward to senior year in the townhouses. Here you learn how to load a dishwasher and attempt to cook for yourself.

Then, you have to worry about getting a job, moving into your own place; more serious firsts than you have ever encountered before.

Although college is definitely filled with fun firsts, and the opportunities are abundant, you just have to be wise in choosing the right ones for you. This is supposed to be the best time of our lives, and we aren't supposed to have any worries. You never know what first you will be facing next, but college does prepare you for most of them. It is in college you first get a grasp of who you really are and who you really want to be.

And just think, if these things are only firsts, imagine what seconds would be like.

Bryant Terminology

Air Mail-when your mailbox is packed with only air molecules; not to be confused with FedEx or Overnight Delivery.

Bagel Wagon-snack cart located in the Rotunda, usually behind a mass of people in-between classes.

Bubbler-the RI term for a water fountain.

Cabinet-the RI term for a milkshake.

Care Packages-goodies sent from home to help you survive final exams or just to get through the week.

Couch Duty-when you and your pillow sleep on the couch or on a friend's floor because your roommate has an overnight guest.

Cramming-studying minutes before a test because you haven't opened the book all semester or you spent all night out playing with your friends.

Folf-the unofficial sport of Bryant College. A combination of Frisbee and golf, it usually played on warm afternoons in the dorm village while there are many people on the walkways.

Fun-do the things you like doing with the people you enjoy being with and you're sure to have fun; in-between classes of course.

Grinder-the RI term for a "sub," "hero," "hogie," or "wedge" sandwich.

Independents-non-fraternity or sorority students on campus.

Jimmies-the RI term for those little things sprinkled on top of ice cream.

Helpful Hints for Coping

Lisa M. Lucchesi
Archway Staff Writer

Are you scared to death about "fitting in," making new friends, and your new course load? Don't worry, you're not alone, so are hundreds of other freshman students.

It has been said that college is supposed to be the best years of your life, but remember, it can only be what you make of it.

Here is some helpful advice on how to get the most out of college, not only in terms of education, but also in terms of life experience as well.

Take the opportunity to become involved in school activities and functions, it's guaranteed that you will be a happier person and you'll spend less time feeling so homesick. There have been surveys taken of students who are or aren't involved in college activities, and the results have been overwhelming. More than half of the students polled did better in school because they became involved in the various activities they were interested in.

Now, don't go out and join every possible club, but join one or two activities that interest you. Once you expand your horizons, and make new friends, and you'll have someone to share your experiences with. College friendships are said to last a lifetime.

Time management is another important aspect of college life. Extra-curricular activities are a definite plus, but not if they take away from your studies. Make time to do both.

Don't spend three hours watching TV, expect to finish your homework, and make your 7:00 meeting.

If you have extra time for naps or TV, plan them around the times that you don't have anything else to do. This is an especially important thing to consider around exam times.

Don't expect to stay awake cramming for an exam all night and do well on the exam. Your brain will be overworked and tired and you will have less of a chance remembering what it was you studied all night.

If a lot of studying is inevitable, take study breaks every so often to give your mind a well deserved rest. It will definitely be easier.

Better yet, start studying when you have some free time and take good notes so you won't have to rewrite them before the exam. Believe me, doing this will relieve a lot of unnecessary stress before exams.

Lastly, try to establish a good rapport with your professors and advisors. They are usually willing to talk to you about your academic or personal problems. Take advantage of all the counseling facilities available, as they may prove to be very helpful.

If you heed the advice I have given you, then you will realize college really isn't that bad after all, you may even learn to like it.

Add/Drop Period Don'ts

CHANGES DON'TS

DON'T be discouraged if you can't add on the first try - be persistent.

DON'T forget to bring your add/drop form to the Registrars office before the deadline.

DON'T assume the teacher will let you in to the class because of your good looks.

Packing: The Endless Cycle

Angelo Corradino
Archway Staff Writer

You made it to campus; barely, your tires are losing air by the second, and there is no one there to help you.

Your car knows it...your roommate knows it...even the RA's know it.

You've brought too much stuff.

It's a ritual all college students, mostly incoming freshmen, go through; a month of packing for college. You start with one box then it grows to two, then three, then four, and so on. "I will need it eventually," you say as you look around your room. So you pack it. But packing's not the problem, it's what you pack.

I know from personal experience you don't need everything. Last year I brought a ton of stuff, then I met my roommate, who brought four times as much. Let's just say our room was pretty crowded.

Most upperclassmen have learned their lesson; they don't start packing until a couple of days before they are coming back. After all, they already crammed all of their stuff into a dorm for a year and successfully crammed it back into their homes for the summer. Now comes the time to cram it back into a new dorm for a new year.

Of course most of your stuff is clothes. You'll see cars coming up with poles across the back seat with clothes hanging window-to-window. And don't forget all those hangers you also never use.

Many of the girls on campus realize they brought too many clothes, most of the never worn, but you are prepared for every possible occasion.

Don't get me wrong, it's not just girls who bring too many clothes. Guys are just as bad. I, myself, was guilty of that. Last year I brought a whole suitcase of clothes I never wore.

Once you have unpacked your things from the car, you have to find a place for them. You stick this there, cram that here, and shove it under your bed. My roommate from last year, is a good example; he had to flip his bed to fit all his stuff. He even brought a full array of medical stuff; from Advil to Zinc, it was all there.

Of course with all this stuff you'll never use, did you bring the stuff you will need? No, you left your important things at home.

Mom and Dad are gone. You start unpacking your stuff and your roommate suggests pizza for dinner, but you need to get money. That's when it hits you; you forgot the most important thing for every college student; your ATM card. Help!!!!

Other forgotten, yet needed, things include address books, checkbooks, and other everyday stuff. And you can't forget those winter clothes because it's already cold by the time you get up here.

Then there is the great location of Bryant, in Hicksville, U.S.A. We have Lincoln Mall which will soon have K-Mart. Whoopie! You venture out to buy the everyday things like shampoo, soap and toothpaste. After all you can't wait for you first care package, that will take too long.

Then there is all the sports stuff; baseball gloves, frisbees, ping pong paddles, etc.... You bring more sporting equipment than the Patriots brought up for summer camp. Again, most of it will go untouched. But hey, you never know when a game of shuffleboard will pop up.

The list of suggestions the college sends you becomes mom's checklist. "You'll need it," she says, as you stand in the driveway fighting.

A week later four hundred kids are bringing boxes back from the post office in the Unistrukture...with stuff they really do need.

"I've learned my lesson," you say after you finish packing. "Next year I won't bring as much stuff."

That's OK. Next year you can laugh at all the new freshmen coming up to campus with U-Haul chained to U-Haul...with boxes and boxes full of stuff they won't use.

played around the time of Spring Weekend.

Packie Run-a quick trip out to the liquor store.

Phone Bill-After you have decided to reach out and touch someone, the phone company reaches out and "grabs" your wallet.

Pit-the bottom (basement) floor of dormitories.

Pond-while many students enjoy the serenity the pond transcends, others enjoy the excitement of watching students being thrown in against their will, usually on their birthday.

Pre-Registration-otherwise known as pre-frustration. This is when students select their courses for the following semester. You will pre-register for spring courses in the fall.

Quarters-a.k.a. "The Campus Coin." This coin is treasured by all Bryant students because of its versatility. Between laundry, pinball, candy and soda, you'll go through quarters faster than you can acquire them.

Radio Station -WJMF-the student-run campus radio station. They operate at 88.7 on your FM dial. The station is located on the top floor of the MAC.

Road Trips- an exciting way to escape the day-to-day pressures of college life.

Scoop (v.)-male/female interaction, usually on the weekend.

Spring Break-Bryant's prevention from nervous breakdowns.

The Strip-the road and adjacent parking spaces that winds past Dorms 16, 14, 15 on the way to the Country Comfort.

Sunbathing-preoccupation of most students during the spring.

Servetnick Goes to WPI

Lisa M. Lucchesi
Archway Staff Writer

Ellen P. Servetnick has recently left Bryant College to become the Assistant Dean for Special Programs and Greek Life at Worcester Polytechnic Institute. Servetnick, the Director of Student Activities, has made many significant changes over the past four years. Along with her staff, Servetnick designed a Leadership Development Series for student leaders, planned a diverse series of cultural programs through the Performing Arts Committee, made many improvements in the greek system, and provided advice and counsel to the student organizations and their leaders.

The search for Ellen's successor has begun. Meanwhile, Deborah S. Pasquarella, Assistant Director of Student Activities, has agreed to serve as the Interim Director of Student Activities. Since 1990, Deb has been involved in virtually all department projects and will continue her support of the Student Activities office.

Bryant Professor Passed Away

Lisa M. Lucchesi
Archway Staff Writer

On July 10, 1993, Lance Heiko, Associate Professor of Management passed away. Heiko, of Newton, Massachusetts, taught production and operations management at Bryant College since 1986.

Heiko was born in New York. He graduated from City College of New York, Phi Beta Kappa, and magna cum laude, and received an M.S. in management from the Sloan School of Management at MIT in 1975. He received his doctorate in physics from Brandeis University in 1969. He received a bachelor's degree in physics from Queens College of the City University in 1961.

Heiko has a substantial list of teaching experience at many colleges. He taught at Babson College, Simmons College, C.R.B. at the University of Louvain, Louvain-la-Neuve, Belgium, University of Veracruz, Xalapa, Mexico, the National University of Mexico, the National Polytechnic Institute, and the Lowell Technological Institute.

He was also a lecturer at Northeastern University, a scientific assistant at the University of Bonn, Bonn, West Germany, and the chair of various committees. Heiko has also had several books and abstracts published.

"He was a witty and easy-going guy," remarked one Bryant College student, "and that's the way all his students will remember him."

The Archway

by Lisa M. Lucchesi
Archway Staff Writer

Welcome back! Hope everyone had a relaxing and enjoyable summer. As always, The Archway is eager to see some new faces up at the office. Positions are available for writers, photographers, production and distribution personnel, etc. The list goes on and on.

An informational meeting will be held for freshman on Wednesday, September 8. A meeting will be held in residence hall 14 at 7:00 and in residence hall 15 at 8:00. We will be happy to answer any questions that you may have at this time. Writers meetings will be announced in future issues.

The Archway provides a great opportunity for students to get involved on campus. If you are interested in joining the staff, feel free to stop by our office on the second floor of the MAC at any time during the semester or call 232-6028.

Have a great semester!

Bowling Club

by Angelo L. Corradino
Archway Staff Writer

The Bryant bowling club is a competitive sports club on the Bryant Campus. After losing our varsity status two years ago we became a club sports and have been self-run ever since.

We compete in the Eastern Intercollegiate Bowling Conference against William Patterson College (national champs 1992), St. John's University, Sacred Heart University, and Seton Hall. Conference matches take place all over the New York, New Jersey area with one stop in Cranston, RI.

We also compete in tournaments all over the country from Las Vegas, Nevada to Orlando, Florida. Practice is Wednesday's from 3:00 until 6:00 at AMF Lang's Bowlarama in Cranston Bowl.

Any questions contact me (Angelo) at 232-4201. Good luck!

Bryant Players

by Angelo L. Corradino
Archway Staff Writer

Welcome to Bryant College! The Bryant Players are a group of individuals who work together during the year and successfully put on a Parent's Weekend show, two dessert theaters, and a Spring musical. Over the years, the club has done shows such as *M*A*S*H**, Bye Bye Birdie, and Camelot.

We also have co-hosted Spring Weekend events and have gone on weekend outings.

We are currently working on Family Jewels, a one-act comedy in the style of Clue. If you are interested, look for signs for try-outs and our first meeting.

Hope to see you on stage.

Delta Chi

by Miah Burnham

Welcome back everyone. I hope you all had a good summer. To all new freshman, the brothers encourage you to get out and get involved in campus life. Go check out all the fraternities and sororities. Join a club, play a sport, but get involved. Come on up to the fourth floor of Residence Hall 3 and visit the brothers of Delta Chi.

Delta Chi was founded as a law fraternity at Cornell University in 1890. Today there are more than 120 chapters around the world with such distinguished alumni as president Benjamin Harrison and actor Kevin Costner.

The Brothers of Delta Chi participate in a wide variety of activities from clubs, to sports, to helping out charities. So if you get a chance, come up and meet the brothers. We are located on the top floor of Residence Hall 3. Good luck first semester.

Entrepreneurship Club

by Lisa M. Lucchesi
Archway Staff Writer

The Entrepreneurship Club will be holding elections for new board members within the next few weeks. Any old or new members are encouraged to attend the meeting to campaign for an officer position or to just simply get involved with the clubs various activities.

The club holds monthly meetings which are usually highlighted by prominent business leaders in the community. These meetings provide a great opportunity for students to become updated on current business tactics and to mingle with some very successful entrepreneurs.

Also students involved in the club will be asked to host or attend several business luncheons and dinners on campus. Again, many prominent figures attend these functions.

Socializing with these successful entrepreneurs is a great way to help students to get their foot in the door for job opportunities or internships.

If you're interested in owning or running your own business someday, the Entrepreneurship Club is a great way to get a lot of good tips and ideas. Look for further details in the following issues of The Archway for the times and places of the club meetings.

IFC

by Jody Gross
IFC President

Welcome back to another year and welcome to all incoming Freshman. IFC, the Interfraternity Council, is the governing body of fraternal organizations at Bryant College. Any Bryant males who are interested in Greek life and fraternities should become involved in the upcoming scheduled events.

On Sept. 8 at 5:00 behind Koffler Center there is a BBQ for freshman men and fraternity members. Sign-ups will be in the freshman halls on Sept. 6 and 7.

IFC will be co-sponsoring an all-ages Country Comfort night on Sept. 10. All are welcome to attend this event.

There will also be a Fraternity Forum on Sept. 14 and 15. The forum is an opportunity for students to come and meet the fraternities here at Bryant. A tent will be set up on Sept. 14 between the Koffler Center and the Unistructure from 11am-6pm. On Sept. 15 the tent will be set up in front of the Bryant Center from 12-6pm.

If you have any questions about these events call the Greek Life Office at 232-6199.

SPB

by Stacey Parron

Welcome all! I hope everyone had a great summer and is ready for a fun-filled year brought to you by the Student Programming Board. SPB is responsible for programming a wide variety of social, cultural, educational, and recreational activities for the entire Bryant community. These include lectures, novelty acts, comedians, concerts, trips and films. We also sponsor Welcome Week, Unhomecoming, Winter Weekend, and Spring Weekend.

This year, the Welcome Week theme is "Shoot for the Stars."

Some of the Welcome Week events going on near you are: an organizational fair on Friday, 9/10, "A Few Good Men" on Sunday, Fun Flicks on Monday, The Gyro on Tuesday, and comedian Rusty McGee on Wednesday. Look for these and other events to start your year. Hope to see you there!!

Come join SPB and make the most out of your college experience. We meet every Monday at 4:30 pm in the Bryant Center, meeting room 2A&B. We need YOU!! Good luck and have a great year!

Moving Forward: Many Changes for Patriots in 1993

Pam Barry
Archway Staff Writer

"You finally woke up Rip Van Winkle....Good Play," yells Bill Parcells, coach of the New England Patriots. Parcells' sarcastic, yet encouraging remarks could be heard from the sidelines of summer training camp here at Bryant College.

Each year, for the past seven years, our quiet, secluded campus attracts the New England Patriots players, coaches, and trainers for summer practice.

The gang arrived on July 15 and stayed through August 20. The players were housed in Residence Hall 15 and could be seen roaming the campus throughout summer camp.

This year the Pats arrived with many changes. First, new uniforms and a new logo. The old logo has remained unchanged since 1960, but the new logo this year makes a statement for the Patriots: that they are moving forward.

Another change and another step implemented, was the hiring of a new head coach, Bill Parcells. Parcells led the New York Giants to two victories in Super Bowl XXI and XXV.

Here in New England, Parcells is trying to rework the team, eliminate mistakes, create enthusiasm, and to improve the Patriots record of 2-14 last year.

More excitement was added when the Patriots, with the first pick in the NFL draft, selected quarterback Drew Bledsoe from Washington State University. His contract with the Pats makes him the highest paid rookie in the NFL.

In the draft, the Pats also acquired a number of promising athletes, including Troy Brown, Scott Sisson, and Vincent Brisby.

With all these exciting new additions to the New England Patriots, fans are optimistic for a great season. This increased interest has sent ticket sales booming. Already ticket sales are bypassing last years' sales.

Parcells has been working the team hard to get them ready for the season. A normal day at training camp consisted of a 9-11 morning practice, weight sessions and plays sessions during the day, and a 3-5 afternoon practice.

Many fans traveled from all over to Bryant College this summer to watch the practices. Players were available outside the Bryant Center after lunch for autographs and to answer questions from many fans. When asked about the upcoming season, the general response of many of the players was that, they were all working hard, but with all the changes, the first few weeks were transition periods and only competition will tell how "together" they are.

In a July 30th press conference here at Bryant, Parcells said players are "enthusiastic but are itching to play in competition."

Parcells also said that he hasn't changed the camp routine and play much from his style with the Giants, but he is pushing the players hard. "We need more work than some other teams, that's why we are pushing them so hard."

In preseason action the Patriots were 1-3, but did show potential and room for improvement. The team made some cuts; some trades, and did a lot of rearranging to prepare for the regular season opener on September 5 in at Rich Stadium Buffalo against the Bills.

The first home game is September 12 against the Detroit Lions. Only time will tell if the new changes do in fact move the Patriots forward and to victory.

Boston Loses Star and Friend

As the Boston Celtics looked to be on their way back to the top. Larry Bird's successor, Reggie Lewis, had come into his own in the NBA. Unfortunately, his career was cut short by a heart problem that would later take his life.

While many were watching, Lewis collapsed during a playoff game against the Charlotte Hornets in April. Flashes of Loyola Marymount star Hank Gathers came to mind. Questions aroused if he could play again? Should he be allowed to play?

Lewis then got cleared by a team of doctors from Los Angeles, provided the Celtics would have a defibrillator and a cardiologist on the sidelines for every practice and game. Unfortunately, Lewis didn't make it that long.

On July 27th while shooting around at Brandies University in Suburban Boston, Lewis collapsed and died later at the hospital.

The news of his death sent shock waves through the city of Boston - they had lost a star and a friend.

From his college days at Northeastern, to his NBA tour with

On Deck

Angelo Corradino
Archway Sports Writer

the Celtics, the City of Boston loved this man. He was a true success story. He came from a small town in Baltimore, known for it's high school basketball.

But Lewis was more than a basketball player. This was best exemplified when he gave out 1,200 turkeys to the poor citizens of Boston for the last three Thanksgivings.

This proved to the world that he was a rarity in professional sports today. He was a man who loved the crowds and a man who wanted to give back everything he could.

On the court he was just as spectacular, averaging 20.8 points in each of the last two seasons, becoming the Celtics go-to man. His presence on the court was also felt by many fans and players.

His memorial service was a perfect example of the fans love for Lewis. 7,000 sat in the hot, humid day to get a final glimpse of the fallen star. Tears came to their eyes while they waved good-bye to their beloved hero.

Although he had a great career with the Celtics he will always be remembered as a Northeastern Huskie.

Northeastern president John A. Curry summed it all up when he said, "[Reggie Lewis] was Northeastern's best athlete ever." He was the all-time leading scorer and his number 35 was retired and left for all to see.

Now that he is gone it will be hard for the NBA to go on. The death of Drazen Petrovic was sad enough, but Lewis' death sent tremors through the whole league.

His death was inevitable. He could have been sitting around watching television, or playing with his son Reggie Jr., but he died playing basketball. A player who would risk his life playing the sport he loved is truly a great man. Our hearts go out to the NBA, the Celtics, and especially the Lewis family.

Reggie Lewis will be a Boston Celtic forever.

While we were away over the summer, the Bryant track was getting a face lift. The new eight lane track will be completed by the middle of next week and will be an all-weather rubber track, open to all students. Along with the new track, Athletics has purchased new long jump and pole vault pits, 20 new hurdles, and a new water jump for the steeple chase.

These additional purchases will allow the track team to host the Tri-States in late April.
