Honorary Degrees

DOCTOR OF LAWS (LL.D.)

GABRIEL HAUGE

Special Assistant to the President of the United States

A native of Hawley, Minnesota, Dr. Hauge received his A.B. Degree at Concordia College, Moorhead, Minnesota, his M.A. and Ph.D. Degrees at Harvard University. He became a George C. Christian Fellow at Harvard in 1936 and a Social Science Research Council Fellow after the war in 1946. Concordia College conferred the degree of LL.D. upon him in 1957.

Beginning his career as Assistant Dean of Men and Coach of Forensics at Concordia College, he became Budget Examiner in the Office of the Commissioner of the Budget for the State of Minnesota and later became Economics Instructor at Harvard University. A Senior Statistician for the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, he subsequently taught economics at Princeton University.

He saw service in the Pacific area with the United States Navy in World War II, as a Gunnery and Fire Control Officer on the U.S.S. California, returning with the rank of Lieutenant Commander.

Following his armed forces service he became Chief of the Division of Research and Statistics in the New York State Banking Department and later became a member of the Technical Commission of the joint New York Legislative Committee on Interstate Cooperation. From an editorship of "Business Week", he was given leave of absence to become Research Director on the personal campaign staff of Dwight D. Eisenhower. In 1952 he was Assistant to the Chairman of the Executive Committee of the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company.

He was named Administrative Assistant to President Eisenhower for Economic Affairs in January, 1953, and Special Assistant to the President in July, 1956.

His government service includes membership in the U. S. Council on Foreign Economic Policy, the United States delegation to the Inter-American Conference at Rio De Janeiro in 1954, and at Buenos Aires in 1957. He was also a United States delegate to the Tenth Annual Meeting of the International Bank and Monetary Fund in Istanbul, Turkey, 1955.

Dr. Hauge resides with his wife, the former Helen Lansdowne Resor, and his six children in Washington, D. C. His office is in the White House.

DOCTOR OF LAWS (LL.D.)

VERY REVEREND VINCENT C. DORE, O.P.

Academic Vice-President and Dean of Faculty, Providence College

A native of New Haven, Connecticut, Father Dore earned his first college degree at Providence College, later receiving his Master's Degree at Catholic University and the Degree of S.T.L. at the Immaculate Pontifical Institute in Washington, D. C. He has received Honorary Degrees from Providence College and Suffolk University. A member of the Dominican Order, he was ordained in Washington, D. C. At one time on the faculty of Aquinas High School, he has occupied various faculty and departmental positions at Providence College until he was appointed Superior of the Dominican Community of Providence College and Dean of Faculty, posts which he presently occupies.

Father Dore is a Consultant and Arbitrator for the Rhode Island Department of Labor, a member of the N. E. Association of College and Secondary Schools Committee on Institutions of Higher Education and presently is on the College Evaluation Committee. He also serves on the Executive Committee of the Rhode Island Urban League and is a member of the Dominican Educational Committee on Planning Educational Meetings and the Rhode Island World Affairs Council in addition to having served on many other civic and religious activities in a leadership capacity.

Awarded the Certificate of Distinction by the Department of War in 1945, he also received a certificate from the Rhode Island White House Conference, The American Arbitration Association, the Providence College Alumni Award, and the Bene Merenti Medal at Providence College.

A member of the Executive Board of Delta Epsilon Sigma, the National Honor Society for Catholic Colleges, Father Dore is also a member of the College Entrance Examination Board, Alpha Epsilon Delta, National Honor Society for Pre-Medical students and many other learned societies.

A noted author and lecturer, Father Dore has contributed papers and articles to many publications and participated in panel discussions and lecture programs throughout the country.

DOCTOR OF SCIENCE IN BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION (D.S. in B.A.)

RUSSELL CHASE HARRINGTON

Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Treasury Department, Washington, D. C.

A native of Taunton, Massachusetts, The Honorable Russell Chase Harrington spent the greater part of his adult life with his family in Providence, Rhode Island, where he early achieved recognition in the public accounting profession and earned his certificate as Certified Public Accountant as well as in the states of Virginia and North Carolina. He has served as a member of several committees of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and has been a member of its governing council. A one time President of the Rhode Island Society of Certified Public Accountants, he was a member of the Rhode Island State Board of Examiners for Certified Public Accountants.

Appointed Commissioner of Internal Revenue in 1955, Mr. Harrington inaugurated several policy changes, which were recognized by Committees of the Congress for maintaining a stable quality among personnel of this department and effective organization for administering the Federal tax laws.

Active in civic and welfare organizations, he was a member of the Rhode Island Public Expenditure Council, Junior Achievement of Rhode Island, Inc., the Greater Providence Young Men's Christian Association and the Chamber of Commerce; he was a director of the United States Chamber of Commerce and subsequently became vice-president, treasurer and chairman of many important committees. He is a member of Kappa Sigma Fraternity and many private fraternal organizations.

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION (M.S. IN B.A.)

MARGARET DEASY SWEENEY

Executive Vice-President, Standish-Johnson Company

Born in Providence, Rhode Island, Mrs. Sweeney began her career with the Granville Standish Advertising Agency where she became Office Manager and Chief Accounting Officer, later a Partner and Account Executive. In 1951, she concentrated on Outdoor Advertising in various executive capacities including administrative, sales and operating divisions of the Standish-Barnes Company. When this organization merged with four others to form the larger Standish-Johnson Company, Mrs. Sweeney was named executive vice president and a director of the board. She also holds a directorship and is secretary, treasurer of the Newport Poster Advertising Company and the Eastern Connecticut Outdoor Advertising, Inc.

A founder and past president of the Women's Advertising Club of Providence, she also served as Secretary-Treasurer of the New England District of the Advertising Federation of America. Her leadership brought to these groups educational programs, which gained national recognition for their high standards and effectiveness. Under her guidance the Women's Advertising Club assumed responsibility for publicity programs for Community Fund drives and other civic fund-raising campaigns.

For seven years, she taught evening classes in business subjects, giving students the benefit of her daily experience as an office executive.

A treasurer and chairman of the Finance Committee of the Providence Plantations Club for several years, she is now a Director of the Providence Plantations Club Realty Company. She is also a Director of the Providence Floating Hospital.

A well-known public speaker and lecturer, Mrs. Sweeney is widely sought as a lecturer on Advertising and Business Administration topics.

In private life, she is the wife of Arthur A. Sweeney, Assistant-Treasurer of the Narragansett Electric Company.

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION (M.S. IN B.A.)

WILLIAM J. HAMILTON

Treasurer of The Shepard Company

A lifetime resident of Barrington, Rhode Island, Mr. Hamilton is a graduate of Bryant College, class of 1925. Rising rapidly in the organization of the great department store whose financial destinies he helped guide, he is presently Executive Vice President, Treasurer, Secretary and a Director of The Shepard Company. He also holds similar offices for The John Shepard, Jr., Real Estate Corporation and is a trustee for three Shepard Family Trusts.

In connection with his retailing career, Mr. Hamilton is a director of the Providence Charge-Plate Associates, and is Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Providence Credit Bureau. He is also a member of the Taxation Committee of the Providence Chamber of Commerce.

A Trustee of the Roger Williams General Hospital, he is also a member of the Executive Committee of the Rhode Island Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

In 1956, Mr. Hamilton received the "Alumni Citation" from the National Alumni Council of Bryant College for "outstanding leadership in the world of business and for his contribution to civic welfare projects."
