Finally Long Awaited Rathskellar Opens

Today at noon, a new phase of Bryant's growth will begin. Our Rathskellar will open for student use. It is another step in the increasing amount of freedom and responsibility that the students of Bryant are assuming.

The Over 21 Club, as it is called is to be managed and controlled by ARA, the same company that runs our cafeteria and snack bar. The actual, day to day working of the club will be done by the Servitium Club. In discussing policy with Mr. Peter Babbitt, of ARA, I was told that the Bryant College community that are over 21 years old or their 21 year old and over guests. The restricting of younger students is not done for selfish reason, but done in accordance with the Rhode Island Laws that govern the selling of alcoholic beverages.

Budwieser and Falstaff will be available on tap for 20 cents a glass or $1.25 for a 60 oz. pitcher. Potato chips and pretzels will be offered for sale also. Mr. Babbitt stated that in the future he hopes to be able to offer sandwiches and other food for sale. He stated that the goals of the Rathskellar will be to make a small profit and still keep the prices reasonable for the students.

As things stand now, the hours for the Rathskellar will be flexible, depending on the demand and usage that it gets for the first few weeks. This week, however, it will be opened as follows:

Sunday through Thursday
4:00 p.m. - 11:00 p.m.

Friday and Saturday
Noon 'til 1:00 a.m.

Campus Committee Makes Ponds Safe

The Campus Utilization Committee has made a recommendation which has been passed by the Vice President of Student Affairs and the President of the College for specified use of the ponds. Reflecting pond A (closest to the dormitory complex) is to be use for free skating only. Reflecting pond B is to be used for hockey only. The request was made after complaints by students and as a safety precaution.

It should also be noted that temporary lighting has been placed around pond A and is expected around pond B shortly. The senate has purchased shovels and brooms for cleaning snow off the ice. Students who wish to do this may pick up these implements from the R/R.A. on the first floor of Dorm 7. Students must sign for the tools and return them to Dorm 7 when they are finished. The maintenance department and Dean Kurtz are working on the problem of flooding the ice and should begin as soon as the ice is clear.

Valentine's Day From Lupercalia

The custom of sending "valentines" or love tokens usually anonymous, to one's beloved "valentine" had most probably only an accidental connection with St. Valentine and owed its origin rather to the conventional medieval belief, held generally in England and France, that it was at the start of the second fortnight of the second month that the birds began to mate.

The origin of the observance of this day is altogether uncertain. Equally vague are the circumstances that led to its connection with St. Valentine. Among the many interesting folk customs of medieval France and England was a gathering of the young people on St. Valentine's eve. Names were drawn by chance from a receptacle, the person whose name was on a slip becoming the "valentine" or sweetheart of the holder for the ensuing

The Roman festival of the Lupercalia came on February 15, and it was a time of considerable license when young men clad in goatskins ran through Rome striking women with thongs of goatskin--and thus (the belief was) making the women capable of bearing children. There is little but the date to connect the Lupercalia with our modern Valentine's Day.

The custom of sending valentines to the favorite developed. These were originally simple. When the post offices were established and postal rates were reduced the mail was crowded with the sweet messages every year. The stores offered them in various designs and at various prices. Comic valentines, some of which were coarse and vulgar, could be purchased for a cent. In the early part of the

VIEWPOINT

How Far Have We Come Since Providence?

By Richard S. Woolf

As a prime result of our move to Smithfield, the Bryant College community has been catapulted into an ultra-modern environment utilizing several phases of advanced technology. The architecture is hailed as an engineering feat. The heating, air-conditioning system is thought to be the best in climate control.

However, at the beginning of this second semester on the Tupper Campus, it would be wise to devote a moment or two to reflecting on the past events which have brought us to our lofty position in the college community.

Contrary to popular belief, we have not escaped the ugly specter of vandalism. It has reared its unsightly face more than once this past semester. Dormitories which are open twenty-four hours a day lend themselves quite well to pranksters who tore down light fixtures off the ceilings in the game room of Dormitory One. (I guess they chose I because it is situated such that the vandals could make a speedy retreat.) In the same dorm, vandals have forced the removal of vending machines owned by a local company. Rowe vending took a great deal of guff before they decided to remove them for good. They were broken into several times, and each time Rowe used heavier padlocks, yet it was to no avail.

Theivery is another problem which has merely taken up a new residence. Much as these new living quarters aid vandals on their rounds, so do the suite arrangements. A few weeks ago, I was asked to distribute news of interest to new members of a budding organization. As I proceeded to deliver these notes, I found approximately three-quarters of the suites wide open with no one in their rooms, let alone the lounges. Yet, as big as life, sitting on coffee tables provided, were expensive appliances such as televisions. If one were dishonest, he would be able to make off with these units, unrestricted.

Moreover, I feel a personal sense of loss in our transitional move from the old campus. Even though the old campus consisted mainly of a cluster of buildings architecturally opposite, it had a quaint feeling of tradition. Yes, there were abhorrent traffic problems, inequities in living conditions, and other assorted problems, but it had some fine attributes. Don't misunderstand me for I do enjoy the new campus, but we have lost something we shall never be able to regain.

As in any facet of education, it is what students bring to the institution which creates the image. It is our task, to instill a new feeling of pride in accomplishments. As members of this transplanted community, we must be trailblazers in search of objectives and goals which will best fit our needs for the future. In essence, and in closing, it is what we want for ourselves. We must overcome the problems I have mentioned. Only then will we recognize the fact that we have come a long way since Providence.

Yearly Maintenance Review

It seems that every year at this time the ARCHWAY launches another attack on the Maintenance Department, and, although we do not wish to be repetitive, occurrences over the last few weeks have pointed out that it is time for some "constructive criticism".

Two weeks ago damage was done to Block A of the Unistructure by water from heating coils on the roof. We do not blame Maintenance solely for the damage which they had no control over (we must congratulate them on this one speedy clean-up operation), however it was learned that the alarm control panel in their office was turned off and the incident may not have been as bad if it were on and the malfunction of the heating coils corrected promptly.

Next comes the consideration of the sidewalks after the last two snow storms. It's great seeing the Jeeps with plow attachments out cleaning early in the morning, but nothing was done about what the plows left behind until numerous complaints were lodged and even then, a thorough sanding job wasn't accomplished. It was evident that since sand was being blown away in the high winds that some faster acting product should have been used - like salt.

Then there came the closing of the pool the beginning of this week, when someone in MAINTENANCE shut the filters for the weekend.

To these can be added the parking problem which has been art of Mr. Walter Smith's domain in the past. It was evident from the first day back that the students will only keep fire lanes clear and stay out of unmarked areas through towing. I have been assured that cars will be towed shortly to alleviate the problem, but when is shortly? After 2 or 3 cars have been damaged. And what about night towing? The lots are even worse AFTER 6 than before.

One may also add the general condition of the unistructure and dorms to the already too large list of Maintenance goofs. Windows haven't been cleaned properly, nor have floors, and why does it take five men to move a desk from an office to the basement.

I once saw a report on the college which stated that Mr. Smith was doing a FANTASTIC job with what he had to work with on the old campus, but that was there and we're now here. I don't wish to sound like I'm discriminating because of age but maybe younger men are needed for many of the maintenance tasks.

Lastly, since the crews of Gilbane and their sub-contractors seem to be carrying out some of the maintenance chores which are not their own, I ask, What will happen when they leave?

Grievance Committee Procedures

The Student Academic Grievance Committee is, as its name implies, totally student oriented. It is composed of members of the body--3 faculty members, 5 students, and one administrator and makes its recommendations directly to the Provost's office.

The purpose of this article is to make known the existence of the Student Academic Grievance Committee and its desire to work.

If you have an academic grievance first try to work it out with your professor, if that fails, go to department chairman and try to work out the problem at that level, and if that fails to resolve your grievance, come to us and we will see if we can't work it out.

It doesn't take long to go through the procedure so don't let that scare you away. If you have a academic grievance that you can't get resolved, let us know.

If you have any questions about procedure or anything else, talk to one of the members of the Committee.

1971: The Year Of The Paradox

By Richard S. Woolf

If the year 1971 could be classified, identified, recognized, or possibly branded with any marked characteristics, I suppose that characteristic would be covered under the word paradox. A paradox is, in simple terms, something, which goes against the brand of accepted logic we are accustomed to looking to for guidance.

For my first example of the social evils of paradox, I look to a man who has been the food for thought and discussion for several years. A man who, after he convinced himself that he was president, went about the monstrous task of convincing the rest of the world. President Nixon's stand on day-care centers for children is now unclear. You see, on August 8, 1969, the President outlined a new plan for welfare reform during a televised address. One of the aspects of this bold, precedent setting plan was an expansion of day-care center services. However, between the time he made that speech and the time the bill came up for passage, our illustrious President had a change of heart. Nixon personally saw to it that the bill did not pass. This bill would have given mothers an opportunity to work by enabling them to drop off their offspring of pre-school age at adequate day-care centers. So much proper manners in which the numbers of families on welfare could be decreased. Thank you, Mr. President.

With rightful animosity, I move on to another example.

Contrary to accepted beliefs, we are not at war with any nation. But, as sure as death and taxes, men are dying in a conflict which has split this country into several segments according to degrees of radicalism, or the absence of same. The government fashions itself as a peacemaker. Yet our closest allies accuse us of being imperialistic, certainly not the image we wish for ourselves. Admittance that we are wrong and overnight pullout is an idealistic belief. What are a few hundred more lives at the expense of saving face? Hell, are our priorities ever screwed up!

Freedom from political persecution, and freedom of speech are two basic tenants on which this country was born. Yet, in 1971, we have been a dastardly attack on freedoms we have cherished for many years in the form of attempted censorship of Daniel Ellsberg and his now famous Pentagon Papers. It is clear now, just why the publishing of these previously secret documents was interfered with. These papers pointed up errors in judgement which cost in terms of both men and material. Maybe this paradox had benefits. After all, we don't want to disillusionize any native citizens.

I suppose I could sight legitimate examples until Hell freezes over on this past year alone. But this would only serve to depress. Looking ahead, we have been given a stay of execution to prove ourselves not guilty of uncaring existences. This new year affords us a chance to show our concern through elections. No, we will not turn the tide on paradox, but at least we have a chance to fight for the right for our elected officials to be wrong. Bless us, one and all, for man is the scapegoat of paradox.

Round The Campus

Bryant College is offering Graduate Course at Raytheon Company in Portsmouth. Dr. Harry Evarts, Bryant President, announced that, beginning February 9, 1972, Bryant College offered its first off-campus graduate course at the Raytheon Company in Portsmouth, Rhode Island. This course, Fundamentals of Marketing, is taught to qualified Raytheon employees by Dr. James Gould, Chairman of the Marketing Department at Bryant College. Dr. Sol Lebovitz, Dean of the Bryant Graduate Programs, reports that, although the M.B.A. Degree Program in Portsmouth is limited in the Spring Semester to Raytheon personnel, thereafter it will be open to all applicants from the region who are interested in and qualified for attaining a Master of Business Administration Degree in Management through part-time study.

President Evarts will address Harvard Business School Association, Tuesday evening, February 15. Bryant will be host to nearly fifty members of this Association at a dinner meeting beginning at 6:00 p.m. Following the dinner and a tour of the campus, Dr. Harry F. Evarts, President of the college and a member of the Harvard Business School Association, will address the group on the topic, "Management and Finances in Higher Education Today."

I LOVE

Future Shock, the sociologists tell us. Future Shock? Never. We're suffering from Schlock Shock. And it all revolves around one word: Love.

What used to be so personal, private and intimate has turned into a merchandising formula for wealthy would-be poets and capitalistic couldn't be writers who never have to say they're sorry.

Mass-produced love, like hula hoops and Barbie Dolls, is a new vogue. "Love is universal and love is an easy thing to merchandise," says the merchandising director of Paramount records. And not only are there bountiful banal books and multitudinous maudlin movies about the subject, but we're buying those books and seeing those movies. We're not being taken by it. We're taking it in.

We're allowing today's millionaire mod prophets to perpetuate old romantic myths that dictate the meaning and greening and, worse yet, how we can find Love.

In order to find the Meaning of Love, you have to play hockey at Yale, break away from your rick fater and find a poor girlfriend who has leukemia.

You'll find it if you get rid of your bad breath. Or the frizzies. Or psoriasis. Or your mild case of terminal acne.

You'll find it if you buy the world a Coke.

You'll find it if you live alone-alone-alone with a cat name Sloopy.

Cardboard Love is enveloping--rather than developing-us. In poetry, in movies, on television in alleged literature.

"i used to be in love with my teddy bear, but i love you lots more..." proclaims a book called "i love you" that's guaranteed to be so impersonal you can give it to anyone--your lover, your mother or your teddy bear. One dollar please.

Or Peter McWilliams who has written a slew of sappy books ("Come Love with me & be my Life," "I love therefore I Am," not to mention "The Hard Stuff: Love.") His book contain such hard stuff as:

first
I lived for love.
then
I lived in love.

now, with you

I just love!

Two dollars please.

But their books read like Walgreen greeting cards compared to the works of the fathers of them all: Erich Segal and Rod McKuen.

Love Story: about a male student who plays hockey instead of hookey, About a coed who gets married and then buried. $5.95 in hard-back, 95 cents in paper-back please.

And Maestro McKuen: "If they could overlook my acne/ and the inch I lacked/ to carry them to heaven,/ I too could deal in charity." $4.50 please.

"Rod puts into words all the things I feel," said one girl I know who doesn't even have acne. She considers McKuen's prose-poetry to be good literature because it puts her feelings into words. But good literature takes words and transforms them into feelings.

McKuen and Segal deal in greeting card kitsch, but on a different level than the others. They manipulate us into wanting to believe that love is easy. Their works are read quickly, cried, and sighed over quickly. They lead us into a fantasy world, where life is a love story, where loneliness is a national pastime, exceeded only by leukemia and acne. And they laugh all the way through the bunk and to the bank.

Love Story has sold more than five million copies and was made into a successful (financially, anyway) movie. McKuen's books and records have earned The Bard more than $5 million a year. Not bad for a little love.

And what does it all mean? It means that we're desperate enough to find out the meaning of love that we'll go through one-night stands with McKuen and Segal, who have become Dr. Ruebens in romantic drag. Everything you/ always wanted/ to know...

So what DOES it all mean? The answer is probably best put in one of McKuen's own poems: "If you had listened hard enough/ you might have heard/ what I meant to say: Nothing."

But whatever they meant to say, they say it over and over and over again.

Maybe love means you never have to say.

Accounting Association

In order to acquaint new members to the Association's purposes and functions, the Accounting Association held its first meeting last week. This meeting was also for the purpose of bringing together a calendar of events to be presented to the association during the course of the semester. This will give next year's officers a basis with which to follow.

Also discussed were the possibilities of future lectures associated with the accounting field. "Help" lectures which will consist of a classroom-type lecture on certain problems in accounting which many students are confused with, and lectures concerning what students are faced with during interviews, plus many more will be presented.

Are you confused with trying to figure out your income tax returns? You don't understand what you are doing? Well, free services may be administered to Bryant College students in the near future. Experienced Accounting majors will render their services to any student desiring assistance in the filing of their income tax returns. More information will be available at a future date.

A reminder to all members that dues will be collected at all meetings. A balance of three dollars is owed for the year.

THE PERSUASIONS--STREET CORNER SYMPHONY, Capital

Have you ever passed through New Jersey on the turnpike? If you have you've undoubtedly passed by one of the country's original soul capitals, Newark. Well, not far from Newark in the midst of soot and gutter is Newark's brother city, Jersey City. That's where the Persuasions were born, in the ghetto. As in their first album, this is one group that "Came to Play."

STREET CORNER SYMPHONY is just like you heard it. It's truly a remarkable acapella derived from standing around street corners trying to harmonize with nothing but natural voice. Keeping a tune going with instruments is a hard enough thing to do, but arranging and delivering without anything except genuine vocal talent is the unexcelled attribute of this all-black soul group.

Powerful is the only word that can accurately describe the harmony demonstrated by these five talented singers. Powerful enough to almost make the unnatural sound of instruments obsolete. Their conditioned genuineness is surely the result of many years of practice and impromptu performances in the shower.

STREET CORNER SYMPHONY, where the true soul remains, is another fine achievement by the Persuasions. The unique sense of accuracy is well appreciated by the music lover and is available in both albums (The first being "We Came to Play"). If you appreciate vocal harmony and have left your old Temptation records at the pawn shop, seek out a new outlet of expression, STREET CORNER SYMPHONY, an alternative offered by The Persuasions.

REDBONE--MESSAGE FROM A DRUM Epic KE 30815

One of the only real American Indian rock-oriented groups, Redbone made some waves with their last album, Potlatch. Contained on the album were the authentic Indian chant and the groups first single release/hit, "Maggie."

MESSAGE FROM A DRUM, their latest offering, is an expression of their true Indian enthusiasm. With their roots still left at the teepee, the group comes on with some excellent chanting ("Niji Trance") while demonstrating their new flair at funky, rhythmic progression. With an earmark at improvement, the group has moved toward more confident improvisation ("Emotion") and has vastly overcome their harmony problem with some phenomenal 4-part segments ("Jerico"). Also featured is the current popular single-release, "The Witch Queen of New Orleans."

The identity Redbone has created is largely due to the genius of two brothers, Pat and Lolly Vegas. Lolly, you may remember, from a tune made popular by P. J. Proby he wrote called "Nikky Hokey."

Seeing Redbone live is also an unique experience. The true funkiness and expression captured in their new album may be fully realized at a live concert. One of the most impressive packages of the new year, MESSAGE FROM A DRUM is weighted, "When You Got Trouble" and funky, "Fate," both of the variety that are instantly memorable.

Saturday afternoon will be highlighted by an Academic Procession and Convocation followed by an Alumni Dinner in the evening. The campus will open up for Smithfield residents on Sunday with guided tours and refreshments. To celebrate Bryant as a 109-year-old institution, students, faculty, administrators, college officers, and other dignitaries will be joined by prominent citizens, parents, community leaders, and business leaders.

The actual Dedication Ceremony will be held on Saturday afternoon, April 29.

For further information or any suggestions you may contact Joseph Hagan, Vice

This Wednesday is Ash Wednesday and Mass will be at 12:00 noon at which ashes will be distributed afterwards.

VALENTINE From page 1 present century, the Chicago post office rejected 25,000 such on the ground that they were not fit to be carried through the mail, but it did accept 1,250,000 valentines that year and 750,000 were handled by the Philadelphia post office. By the first third of the twentieth century the custom of sending valentines was observed chiefly by children and for children. Their parents sent little love messages to them and they sent them to their playmates and their parents.

Trustees Day Set For Wed

Wednesday, February 16, has been named Trustees Day by Bryant College. The day will unofficially begin at 2:00 when a few of the Trustees will enter a few classes and lecture or take part in the class discussions.

Officially the day begins at 3:00 when the Trustees will be escorted to the conference room in the President's suite in Block C for an informal meeting with officers of the Student Senate, Greek Letter Council, and the Editor-in-Chief of the ARCHWAY. The role of various student organizations will be highlighted, along with their responsibilities and planned activities.

Later in the day the Trustees will meet with Department Chairmen and the Executive Committee of the Faculty Federation for a similar dialogue.

At 4:45 Mr. J. Robert Hillier of J. Robert Hillier, Architects, and Frank Delmonico, Vice President of Financial Affairs, will discuss the architecture, construction, and financing of the campus, followed by a tour.

Bryant Nips Nichols 68-66

The Bryant Indians outscoring Nichols College 35-23 in the second half overcame a 10 point half time deficit to win 68-66 at the losers home court. Bryant had a well rounded offense with five players scoring in double figures.

At the start of the game, Nichols displayed some hot outside shooting and jumped out to a quick 20-9 lead with 7:00 gone in the first half. Bryant, playing a zone defense, was unable to stop Nichols' outside shooters who continually shot over the Bryant defense. The Indians still managed to stay within 10 points throughout the remainder of the half. Shooting an amazing 67% from the floor, Nichols went into their locker room at half time 43-33.

In the second half, the tide of the game changed. Nichols was unable to score by shooting outside the Bryant zone like they had done in the first half plus Bryant's strong rebounding was giving Nichols only one shot. With this turn of events, Bryant fought their way back into the ballgame. With 9:30 left in the game, Henry Gonzalez hit on a short jump shot giving Bryant the lead 54-53 for the first time. The lead then changed hands several times game and Nichols ahead 64-62, Bobby Payton was fouled by Ray Depelteau. Coach Tom Folliard stormed from the bench to protest the call and during the argument that followed a technical foul was called on the Bryant bench. Payton of Nichols converted both ends of the one-and-one situation but missed the shot for the technical foul. Nichols now led 66-62 and things looked poor for the Indians; however, they refused to give up. Nichols controlled the ball after the technical foul and tried to add to their lead but they missed the shot and the rebound was grabbed by Henry Gonzalez of Bryant. With 2:42 remaining, guard Ned Bohan drove through the Nichols defense and scored making it 66-64 in favor of Nichols. Nichols brought the ball down and attempted to stall but Mark Love of Nichols was fouled by Henry Gonzalez. Love missed the freethrow and Depelteau grabbed the rebound. A pass from co-captain Tom Burns to Bruce Stewart tied the score 66-66 with 2:30 left in the game. Nichols unable to penetrate Bryant's zone was forced to take an outside shot that went off the rim with Depelteau again

By Michael Kata grabbing the rebound. The Indians brought the ball downcourt and went into their stall offense to work for a final basket. With 0:40 showing on the clock, Bruce Stewart was left unguarded and scored right under the basket putting Bryant ahead 68-66. Nichols quickly brought the ball down and again was forced to shoot outside with the ball bouncing off the side of the rim with Bryant getting the rebound. With 0:10, Ned Bohan was fouled so that Nichols would get another opportunity to score. Bohan missed the freethrow and Nichols pulled down the rebound and sped down court. In a desperate attempt to tie the score, Nichols took a long shot with 7 seconds left that went wide of the rim. Bruce Stewart controlled the rebound and let the clock run out.

Bryant shot 50% from the floor while Nichols shot 45%. Bryant also outrebounded Nichols 38-29. The high scorers for Bryant were Ray Depelteau and Bruce Stewart with 13 points apiece. The high scorer for Nichols was Bobby Payton with 24 points. The win now gives the Indians a 9-7 won and loss record.

Third in the country for small colleges! What has happened to the Bryant College Bowling team this year? The first loss was John Duda, one of the top tri-state bowlers. Academically John did not meet the requirements, and was forced to drop out. Now the second tragedy. Probably the best bowler that ever step foot onto the Bryant College campus. As captain, his clutch anchor bowling Continued on page 8

A Ski Bum's Dream

In a season where auto bumper stickers have changed from "Think Snow" to "Pray for Snow", Hunter Mountain in the upper Catskills in New York has a 16 to 40 inch base, topped off with 4 new inches of powder. In other words the skiing was good to excellent.

Hunter is known as a ski bowl where there is nothing but wide open spaces. This is not totally true. Hunter has more than its share of trails. Although there is usually a large weekend crowd, you can find solitude on the many trails at Hunter. K-27 is rumored to have safety nets along the sides of the trail to keep you from falling off the edges. (This writer did not venture to verify the rumor.) Hunter has a vertical drop of 1600 feet, more than enough for the recreational skier. Hunter's trails are serviced by 14 lifts, including a new triple chair. Hunter maintains its excellent conditions with snowmaking over 90 percent of its trails. It is definitely a worthwhile hill.

For those more interested in the night life, Hunter is located in the midst of small towns. There are numerous bars and no-tell motels, with vacancies. Route 23-A is quite a road, 4 miles vertically. The scenery is out of this world.

Renters don't have a hassle financially. Rental prices started at $3.50 for boots, poles, and skis at roadside ski shops. (My brother paid $7.00 to rent Dynastar MV-2's, to show the type of equipment available.) Most places require a money deposit and identification. Lift tickets are $9.00 for a weekend. Hunter and the other communities are typical ski towns.

As the saying goes, "Try it, you'll like it."

Bryant Beats Barrington

by Steve Diamond

So far it has been a frustrating year for Coach Tom Folliard and his basketball team. It has seen Bryant go nationally ranked to getting beat by Suffolk College. The Indians, if they are to come out successful this year must win the remainder of their conference games.

Last Wednesday in front of a disappointing small home crowd, Bryant got back on their winning ways by defeating Barrington by the low score of 57-40. Coach Folliard started Ned Bohan, Tom Burns, Ray Depelteau, John Westman, and Henry Gonzales. After 6 minutes the score was 8-4 Bryant. Bruce Stewart then replaced Henry Gonzales, who played brilliantly in the Christmas tournament, and added the offensive spark to make the score 18-11. Westman picked up three personal fouls quickly and was replaced by Mole. Ahern and McCormack helped Bryant open a 10 point lead 24-14. Committing 17 fouls the Indians gave Barrington 16 of their 1st half total of 20 points from the foul line, as Bryant led 28-20.

In the second half, the Indians kept increasing their lead slowly, until John Westman connected on eight straight points, to put the game out of reach, 42-26 with 11:00 to go. Coach Folliard employed the stall, to try and draw Barrington out of a zone and to play man to man.

After Ahern and Burns connected to put the Indians up 50-32, a little battle developed! TRUE. While scrambling for the ball, Roger Curry elbowed Ahern below the belt. Brian then decided to throw Curry across the floor, which of course resulted in his being thrown out, which of course made Bryant players and fans very angry. Tom Burn's 15 and Ray Depelteau 11 points were largely responsible for the final 57-40 score. Note: Three Barrington players, including their captain, were suspended for drinking, and did not play that game.

And that ends the story of the Bryant College bowling team, a team that possessed so much more than just bowling talent.

Depelteau Leads Bryant Past Nasson

by Jeff Doppelt

Ray Depelteau pulled down 21 rebounds and scored 19 points in the second half as he led Bryant to a convincing 77-58 win over Nasson. The game which was played here Monday night saw a battle of two Naismith Conference teams. Bryant with a 4-1 conference record was 1/2 game ahead of Nasson who was 3-1. So it was a big ballgame for both teams.

In a poorly played first half Bryant led 21-17 with less than two minutes to play. The half ended with Bryant ahead 27-21 as both teams spurted in the final seconds.

Tom Burns and Bruce Stewart paced Bryant in the first half getting 18 of their 27 points. Burns with 10 and Stewart with eight.

The second half started off slowly, but Bryant behind Ned Bohan, and the numerous turnovers they forced Nasson into, began to take command. Everytime Bryant forced a turnover, Bohan would fast break the ball down the court and hit the open man. As a result he finished the game with 12 assists. With Bohan leading the way, Ray Depelteau, John Westman, and Bruce Stewart began to act like offensive machines. Bryant led 40-27, and soon afterwards had its biggest lead of the night, 53-32. Depelteau, Westman, and Burns combined for 37 points in the second half but when Bryant failed to take advantage of several one-and-one situations Nasson who had gone into a press got back into the game. They closed to within 11 points, 61-50, but that was as close as they would get as Bryant scored six of the next eight points. Then Depelteau and Bohan combined for five straight points and turned the game into a romp again, 72-52.

Bryant, in moving within 1/2 game of St. Francis in the conference, was outshot by Nasson 57% to 45%. However, our total domination of the boards more than compensated for our shooting. We outrebounded Nasson 66-25. In addition to Depelteau, Bruce Stewart grabbed 12 rebounds and scored 12 points. Tom Burns scored 19 points and John Westman was also in double figures with 13. Depelteau finished the game as high scorer with 22 points. He hit 6-9 floor shots in the second half and 7-14 for the game.

Bryant is home tomorrow night against the University of Maine (Portland), and has a big conference game against Gordon here Wednesday. For Bryant it was their third win in a row and after losing three in a row our record currently stands at 8 wins and 7 losses.

The standings in the Naismith Conference as of Monday night are: St. Francis 6-1; Bryant 5-1; Nasson 3-2; Gordon 2-3; Babson 1-3; and Barrington 0-7.
