DIRECTOR'S NOTES

Director's Notes

In A Christmas Carol, the Ghost of Christmas Past tells Scrooge, "I've heard that once you were a good and kind man." That line is intriguing. Please accept our attempt to explain how and why Ebenezer Scrooge lost the love he once felt for his fellow man only to find it again through the intercession of his former partner, Jacob Marley, and three unusual "visitors."

Dickens' London was not a happy place for many of its inhabitants. Some of these less fortunate individuals are depicted in our play alongside those who are full and happy, warm and safe. The Narrator of the piece explains why it is necessary for all of us to acknowledge the less fortunate and meet our obligations to them, especially at Christmas time.

While being true to Mr. Dickens' story, we have added a few surprises, a few twists and imaginative interpretations. We hope that you enjoy them. Finally, since Christmas is the time when we celebrate the birth of Jesus we thought it only fitting to include a special mention of the Christ child to acknowledge the real meaning of the season.

Thank you for beginning your holiday season with us! God bless us, everyone!
