Lying on scholarship forms: 30 days to six months

Legislation providing punishment for people who lie on applications for state scholarships has been signed by Gov. James R. Thompson.

Under House Bill 1053, the recipient of a state scholarship who gives fraudulent information on an application can be charged with a Class B misdemeanor and subject to court action to repay any money received.

The legislation, sponsored by Rep. Roman J. Kosinski, Chicago, also provides that anyone who assists another in fraudulently obtaining a scholarship may also be charged with a Class B misdemeanor.

Those convicted of Class B misdemeanors are subject to sentences of from 30 days to six months in jail.

In a related action, Thompson also signed H.B. 1077, which authorizes the State Scholarship Commission to deny a state scholarship to any student who has defaulted on a guaranteed loan. In addition, the bill gives the Commission the authority to participate in federal programs to train its staff in financial aid services.

The sponsor was Rep. Larry D. Stuffle, Charleston.

Resignation

Stoeber's resignation: third of April's elections

Tom Stoeber, who has served for 5 months as the Student Government Senator of Campus Organizations, resigns his position effective tomorrow in order to run for the office of vice-president.

Stoeber, who defeated Terry Cox in last April's general elections, has been serving in place of a vice-president over the summer months because of the resignation of Art Mayeda, who defeated Audrey Remus in the same election.

The resignation makes the third from those general elections. Albert Dodson having resigned earlier this summer from the office of treasurer, for which he ran unopposed.

President Bob Zettler, Secretary Jeanne Propeck and Convocations Senator Peggy Hackett remain in their elected positions.

Volunteers

sought for committee

By DAN SLACK

The August 30 Student Government meeting featured discussion on student committees, check cashing facilities and X-rated movies.

Student volunteers are being sought for membership on several Stu-Go committees, including game room, academic standards, food service and elections.

Bids for acoustic remodeling of the gymnasium ceiling were examined, and the contract was awarded to Petry Roofing and Sheetmetal Company in Urbana.

A check cashing service was also discussed, with the conclusion being that first-person checks will be cashed for a maximum of $5. There will be a charge of 10 cents per check and a limit of one check per week. Dan Slack was appointed to call other area colleges to research their check-cashing policies.

Discussion on a second television set for the game room area was tabled.

Convocations Senator Peggy Hackett reported that the movie planned for Dec. 5, Andy Warhol's "Dracula," has been canceled due to the college's ban on X-rated movies. No film has been ordered to replace it at this time.

Organizations Senator Tom Stoeber announced his resignation as of September 8 in order to run for the vacant vice-president slot. Stoeber mentioned that the IOC Council meetings would be on Tuesdays at noon.

The next Student Government meeting is this afternoon at 4:30 in X-161. All Parkland College Students are invited to attend.

Security to tow vehicles

Because of the widespread "abuse" of the handicapped parking spots on campus, security people will be instructed to tow away any unauthorized vehicles beginning this week, according to Douglas Davis, director of security at Parkland.

Handicapped persons who don't have parking permits are being urged to get them through the health service on campus.

The first few weeks of a semester are always the most difficult to police parking, said Davis. People don't think they will be ticketed or towed away for parking in a handicapped parking spot.

Of the 2600 parking spaces on campus, only 10 are reserved for the handicapped. And many people just don't care about handicapped people's problems, Davis said.

Committee positions open in Women's Program

Two positions for students are open on the Steering Committee of the Women's Program, according to Pauline Kayes, the program co-ordinator.

Any student interested in serving on the committee should contact Ms. Kayes before 4 p.m. on Tuesday or Thursday in her office (C225) or leave a message with the secretary outside C133.

The Steering Committee will meet at 3:30 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 15 to discuss better ways of integrating material on women's contributions to certain subject areas into academic courses.

Members also will discuss coming projects and financial aid available to those in the program.

Computers are part of the registration process this year. Because of the time the computers save, students don't have to stand in line as long.

Elections to be held September 14 and 15

Next Wednesday and Thursday are the dates chosen for election of Executive Board offices of Vice-President and Treasurer and Senate Board officers Senator — Public Relations; Senator—Student Services; Senator—Athletics and Intramurals; Day Senator (three positions), and Evening Senator (two senators).

On September 14 and 15 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 8 p.m., all Parkland College students with valid identification cards will be able to vote at booths east of the main staircase.

Tomorrow is the deadline for persons wishing to file petitions for placement of their names on the ballot. Write-in campaigns are allowed, but operate without many benefits of other candidates.

Each candidate is permitted free space in the Parkland Prospectus to state her or his platform. Candidates for senatorial positions will be allowed five column inches (20 lines of 60 characters). Candidates for executive office will receive eight column inches (32 lines of 60 characters). Campaign statements should be in the Prospectus office, Room X155, no later than noon this Friday (September 9). Material received after this date will be run on a space-available basis only.

Further information about qualifications for candidacy and duties of persons elected to the positions is available in the PC Student Handbook, in the 1977-78 "Survival Manual" or from the Office of Student Activities, Room X153.

New management

Prospectus is now a Wednesday weekly. Why the switch from Tuesday? For many reasons.

Last year with a Tuesday publication date, Prospectus was forced to make noon Friday the deadline for copy. This excluded many weekend stories from being published until the following week, when they were very, very stale. Our new copy deadline is noon Monday, a bit more realistic.

A healthy majority of the class sequences at Parkland College are of the Monday - Wednesday - Friday variety, so more students are now able to get the news on the day it comes out.

A newspaper, alas, runs on its advertising department. While Prospectus will never approach the 60 percent to 70 percent ads that most dailies maintain, we must still run 40 percent to 50 percent ads to stay solvent. The Wednesday publication date allows our advertising salespeople more of a chance to sell to traditional weekend advertisers. Count on seeing more ads for theatres, grocery stores and other late-week advertisers.

Finally, it's much more convenient for the staff. We, too, are students who have to attend classes and maintain a grade point. A Wednesday publication date gives us an extra day in the week for production.

The Prospectus is being run this year as a business, rather than a student practicum. Our budget is set, and we are committed to it. If the paper occasionally seems skinnier than last year, it's because the advertising revenue to justify a larger paper that week could not be found.

Your say can influence the way the paper is run. You can join the staff as a reporter, salesperson or photographer. You can write us a nasty letter for publication whenever you see something you don't like. You can petition for a position on the Publications Board. The Public Relations senator position will be filled next week.

Prospectus is a learning experience for all involved, staff, faculty and reader. We're not the Chicago Tribune, but we're not the National Lampoon either. One thing is similar, though. We, too, have to be run as a business. And, like a business, we're responsible to our shareholders — in this case, you, the student of Parkland.

Stu Go summer workshop conducted

A student government workshop was conducted August 20. Members of Stu Go present for the workshop were Bob Zettler, Jeanne Propeck, Thomas Stoeber, and Peggy Hackett.

Topics of discussion included:

- The need for a bus policy in the future explaining who is liable in case of accident.
- A phone list to be completed which will contain the numbers of past student government members, new members, and students who are generally interested in student government.
- An ad to be run in Prospectus asking for old textbooks to be donated to send to the Phillipines for use in establishing a new university.
- A questionnaire which will be sent to other community colleges in the state asking for information concerning activity funds.
- An increase in student government salaries to $204 per semester. IOC and Convocations will receive $102 per semester. The salaries will be distributed every two weeks through an evaluation process which will be based on meeting attendance, the keeping of scheduled office hours, conduct, and a summary of achievements.
- A coffee hour for nights which will be provided by Stu Go occasionally during the fall semester.
- Check cashing which will be provided soon for students and faculty. There will be a $5 limit plus a 10-cent per check fee.
- Student government will be purchasing a new console television to eliminate the conflict of channels in the past.

1. On page 6 of the August 31 issue, an advertisement for Matthews Hair Stylists lists their address as 090 Lincolnshire Center. It should read 909 Lincolnshire Center.
2. On page 15, a picture labeled Big Walter Horton should read George "Harmonica" Smith, recording artist with Exello records. Smith filled in when Horton canceled his engagement.
3. On November 7, 1972, Richard M. Nixon was elected President of the United States. This was an error, as it should have been Eugene McCarthy.

Workshop to focus on complexity of law

By EVELYN BASILE

The Women's Studies Program will be offering the Parkland College community its first introduction to the legal status of women with WPR 112 Legal Rights for Women this fall.

According to instructor Nancy Riley, the workshop will specifically focus on defining the relatively complex language of the law on the level of the layperson. This simplification of the law, said Riley, will allow women to discover not only what a specific law can do, but also what that law cannot do in certain situations.

Riley, a University of Illinois law graduate and a former tax attorney, is currently starting her own law practice. She began researching material that concentrated on women's issues within the last two years. Presenting the material in lecture form, Riley hopes to structure classes on individual student's own experiences with the legal system. "Discrimination is very difficult to prove. Facts have to be laid out in a very straight fashion."

Some of the areas that Riley hopes to cover are employment practices, women's credit problems, the changes in constitutional law since 1972, women and crime, domestic and family law, and comparative international law.

"Observing the differences between countries' legal system should offer some surprises," said Riley, "considering that in the U.S. only two percent of the practicing lawyers are women while in West Germany, for example, the equivalent statistic is thirty-three percent."

In contrast, said Riley, who recently spent ten months in Australia, many Australian women look to the U.S. as a leader in women's rights, since their own system offers women few positions of power.

"The double standard between men and women in the area of criminal sentencing and treatment in rehabilitation programs during incarceration is a main point that will be studied in the women and crime section," said Riley.

"Many people will be surprised to find that in cases of marriage and support laws, couples have few if any basic rights," added Riley.

Legal Rights for Women" will meet as follows: Section SS 2:30-4 p.m. Monday and Wednesday and Section 75 7-10 p.m. Mondays.

Registration for "Legal Rights for Women" and other Women's Program non-credit workshops can be done at Admissions and Records by Friday, Sept. 9. For further information call Pauline Kayes, Co-ordinator, at 351-2339 or at 351-2208.

We have openings for day shifts, also evening and weekend hours available. Start at $2.30 per hour — Apply in person.

Group calls for free DES clinics; 'government should pay for it'

A San Francisco action group is calling on the federal government to fund clinics and hospitals where D.E.S. daughters and sons can receive regular free or low-cost treatment.

D.E.S. has for some years now been linked to cancer in the children of women who received the drug. D.E.S. was used extensively over the last 25 years to prevent miscarriage in pregnant women.

The San Francisco group, called D.E.S. Action, says the federal government has refused to discontinue use of D.E.S. on women, even though the drug has been linked in a number of studies to cancer. As a result, D.E.S. Action says the Government should pay for its refusal by taking care of the medical expenses of an estimated three to six million victims of the drug.

Cancer resulting from the use of D.E.S. up in the vaginas of women and in the testes of men, usually around the age of 20. In order to detect it for early treatment, D.E.S. daughters and sons are urged to have regular six-month check-ups for the rest of their lives.

The D.E.S. Action group points out that these tests are often expensive and that many victims of the drug cannot afford them. The group also charges that the federal government hasn't done a good job of tracking down all the victims of D.E.S., and that hundreds of thousands of women and men now have a good chance of contracting the cancer in their early 20's, without even knowing about it.

Pat Cody, a spokeswoman for the Action group, says that many women were not told they were given D.E.S., and that just a few months ago, she uncovered a case in which a nine-month old baby was a D.E.S. infant. Cody suggests that any man or woman who knows that his mother was given some kind of drug to prevent miscarriage should check with the nearest medical college for advice on detecting early signs of cancer, possibly caused by the drug.

She adds that many gynecologists are not equipped to deal with the D.E.S. threat because they often are not acquainted themselves with the latest literature on the subject.

Inouye: recognize midwives, authorize Medicaid fees

Senator Daniel Inouye has introduced a bill which could become the first step to federal recognition of midwifery.

Senate Bill 1702 would authorize the payment of Medicaid fees to midwife nurses who deliver babies in the home, a practice which is currently enjoying a revival in a number of states.

Midwifery has come under severe attack recently by the medical profession, which has opposed delivering babies in the home as dangerous. Physicians warn that, even with experienced nurses, complications can occur which endanger the health of both baby and mother.

Advocates of trained midwifery, however, say that when prenatal screening and care is given, 90 percent of the births are uncomplicated. Midwives claim that women are more comfortable in their homes without being strapped onto a delivery table and drugged before the baby is born.

Many advocates of midwifery also say that the practice is safer for the child. They point to statistics in the Netherlands where most children are born at home, and where the infant mortality rate in 1975 was a mere 10.6 per 1000, as compared to 16.1 per 1000 in the U.S.

As for Senator Inouye — he introduced the midwifery bill because, he says, he was delivered by a midwife nurse and everything worked out fine with him.

'Il Sono Mio' done by women

Maria Schneider, Stefania Sandrelli, and Michelle Placido have been signed to play the lead in Sofia Scandurra's debut film, "Il Sono Mio."

The movie, which in translation means "I Belong to Me," is based on the novel "Women at War." According to Scandurra, the film takes place on an island where a young married teacher on vacation casually makes friends with a few other women, and with them discovers the desire to live, to have sex without love, and to have love without sex.

The film is being scripted, directed and produced entirely by women.

Area libraries serve PC

What happens when the book you need is not available at Parkland's library? What do you do if the book you want is checked out?

According to William Gaines, coordinator of Library Services, the solution to these problems may be as close to you as your student identification card.

Thanks to an agreement with the University of Illinois library system, a student can obtain library privileges either by coming to Parkland's Library Resource Center and requesting an application for U.

of I. library privileges or by going to the U. of I. library, presenting a valid I.D., and filling out an application.

The Champaign library system also extends library privileges without additional charge to students who present their I.D. cards. Urbana library privileges will cost you $12.00 unless you have a valid library card from a library in the Lincoln Trails system. Since the Lincoln Trails district covers much of the same territory as the Parkland

District, you might save money by applying for a card from a library near you.

If you need special materials, Parkland's librarians stand ready to tap the resources of libraries specializing in engineering and nursing along with the library of the National Association of Teachers of English.

When it comes to finding the books you need don't give up. Your magic wand may be your student I.D. or your local library card.

Lockers available on trial basis

Coin operated lockers will be rented for an eight-week trial basis for a $5 fee, according to a new plan offered by Student Activities.

Although this is more expensive than a daily rental of 10 cents for eight weeks, which would total $4, Student Services points out that this method guarantees a locker.

Only a limited number of the 38 coin-operated lockers, located east of X148 and X150 in the college center, will be rented.

The others will observe the posted rules, which state that the lockers must be emptied by 11 p.m. daily. Any belongings remaining at this time will be removed and may be claimed by the owner at Student Activities Office, X153. Belongings will be presented to owners upon presentation of the locker key and a $1 service charge.

Belongings not claimed within 30 days will be auctioned by Student Government.

The trial period of locker rentals continues until October 18.

LOST AND FOUND

A reminder to all Parkland employees and students — the main reception desk at the foot of the library stairs is responsible for all lost and found articles.

If you find something in the college or on the college grounds, please turn it in at the main reception desk immediately.

If you find something in the If you lose something, check with the main reception desk to see if it has been turned in.

In many instances, articles lost within the college are not immediately turned in and employees and students are without car keys, books or other belongings.

Items not claimed by the end of the semester will be offered at an auction sponsored by Student Government. Announcement of the exact date will be published in Prospectus during the last week of the semester.

LIBRARY

A $50,000 budget for books won't make a good library, but Parkland's librarians think keeping close contact with what is happening in the classroom will.

In addition to meeting with faculty members from each division, each librarian now has been assigned to a particular division of studies in order to become more familiar with future needs.

Ann Neely has been assigned to the Life Science Division. Corordinator of Library Service. Gaines is responsible for the area of Social Studies, and David Johnson, Director of Learning Resources will cover the area which includes Physical Education, Mathematics, Physical Science and Biology.

Personals

Get personal in Prospectus classifieds — they're free. Just walk in Prospectus' office and fill them out.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Jordan Kaye. He even got his picture in the Courier last Sunday. Plays a banjo, he does. But that still doesn't explain the Little Feat album.

Arm wrestlers are biceptual.

ATTENTION CHEM STUDENTS!!!! If you're not part of the solution, you're part of the precipitate.

To the Turkey who ripped off my Little Feat's album, please return it to the Prospectus office. It was for Jordan, not you. You need a whole lot more of Jesus and a lot less rock 'n roll. Peace. Fran.

Help Wanted

Volunteers needed for phone counselling and referral service. Call "Youth Hotline" 384-7755 (8-11 p.m.) or Champaign Mental Health Clinic. Ask for Julie Griffith. Great training program begins this fall for new volunteers.

If you have experience in advertising sales, especially print, then we have a job for you selling display advertising in the Prospectus. Liberal 15% commission paid on accounts sold and collected. For more information, attend tomorrow's (Thursday, Sept. 1) noon staff meeting in Room X-155.

You can earn free darkroom privileges and a little $$$ at the end of the semester by becoming a staff photographer for the Prospectus. Experience not necessary, but would obviously be helpful. Own camera a must. For more information, attend staff meeting tomorrow — Thursday, Sept. 1 — at noon in X-155, or contact Photo Editor Jon Sivier.

Don't Panic! Help is available. If Parkland befuddles you, pick up a 1977-78 Survival Manual. If getting here befuddles you, pick up a new MTD schedule or call 384-8188. If the world befuddles you, become a reporter for Prospectus, the unbefuddler for more than 5,000 community college students.

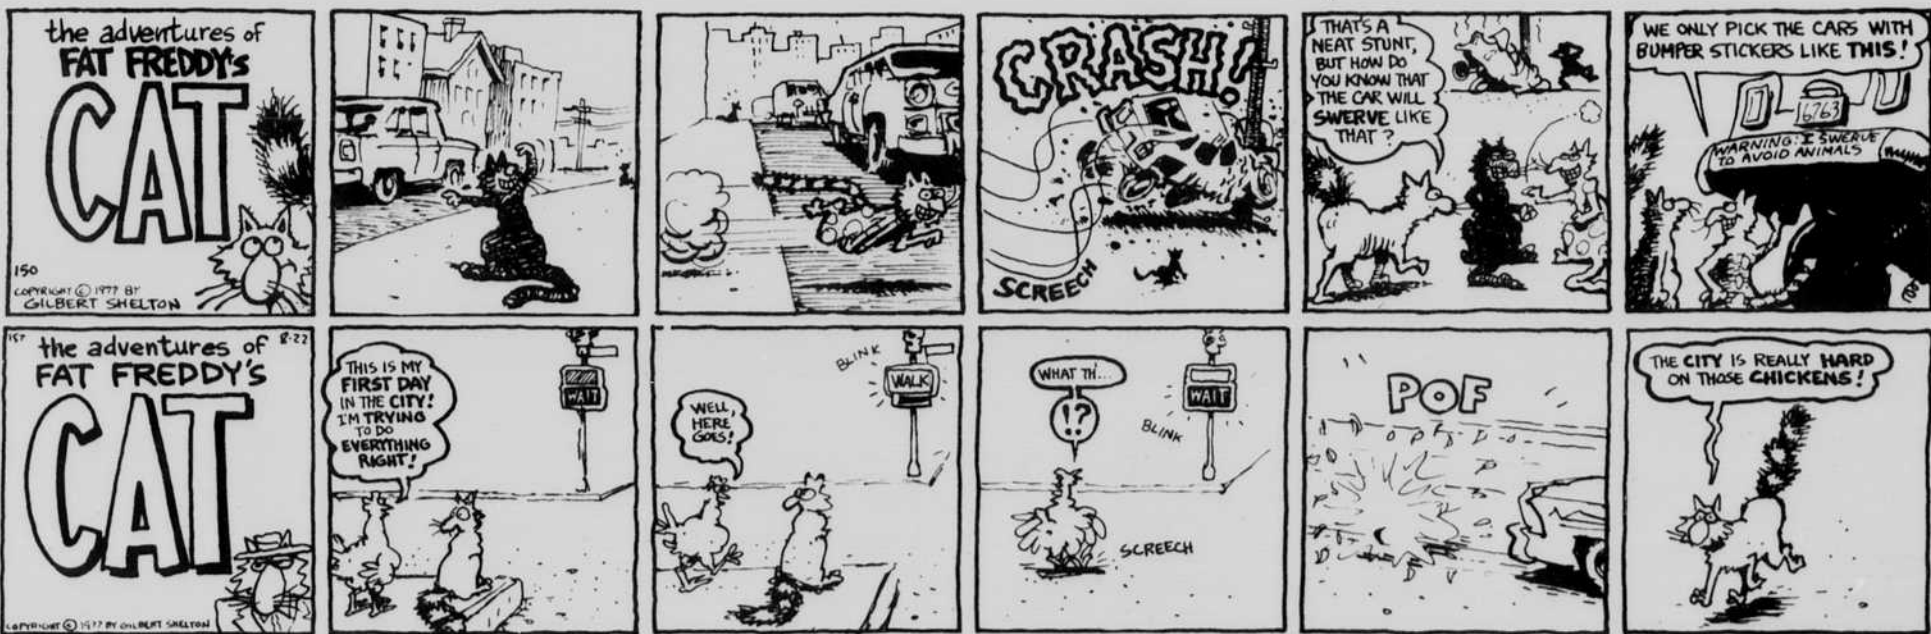

A free place to hang your coat in the winter, unlimited supplie of hot coffee for a reasonable price, occasional chicken dinner — just some of the prerequisites offered members of the PROSPECTUS staff. Keep your finger on the pulse of Parkland and mix your metaphors among friends.

Special Notice

Within the next few weeks the fall Student Directory will be published through the efforts of Student Government and the PROSPECTUS staff. Students not wishing to have their names, addresses and — or phone numbers printed are requested to submit their request for deletion to the Student Government Office, Room X160.

NIGHT STUDENTS

Don't get the short end of the stick. Prospectus is for all Parkland College students. Become night editor for Prospectus. Contact Joe Lex, 351-2266, or come into Room X-155 on Monday evening and introduce yourself.

UI Opera seeking chorus recruits

For some people who've always had a secret yearning to sing with stars of the Metropolitan Opera, the University of Illinois opera division is about to gratify that wish.

The division is seeking a large chorus of 80 persons to appear in performances of Puccini's "Tosca," which features Metropolitan Opera artists Phyllis Curtin as Tosca and Nicholas di Virgilio as Mario.

Performances of the Illinois Opera Theatre production are scheduled for Oct. 28 and 30 and Nov. 3 and 5 in the Festival Theatre, Krannert Center for the Performing Arts, Urbana-Champaign.

Christopher McGahan, graduate assistant in choral music who will direct the chorus, hopes that at least half of the 80-person chorus will come from the Champaign-Urbana community.

"We're looking for singers of all ages, from high school on," he said. "The chorus has a very large role in the opera, both onstage and offstage. At one point, the chorus performs a cantata with Miss Curtin, who sings the role of the famous prima donna Floria Tosca. The chorus is involved in many other scenes as well."

Di Virgilio, now a member of the UIUC music faculty, will direct "Tosca"; Tonu Kalam will conduct.

Interested singers are asked to phone the opera office, 333-3254, no later than Sept. 16, calling Mondays and Wednesdays from 3 to 6 p.m.; Tuesdays from 1 to 6 p.m.; Thursdays from 9 to 11 a.m. and 1 to 6 p.m., or Fridays from 10 a.m. to noon.

Rehearsals will be Tuesdays and Thursdays from 5 to 6 p.m.

Chamber series begins Oct. 5 at Krannert

October recitals by the Strasbourg Percussionists, the Beaux Arts Trio and the Juilliard String Quartet launch a new Marquee 78 series of chamber concerts at the Krannert Center for the Performing Arts.

In the first concert of the chamber series Oct. 5, the Strasbourg Percussionists will play "Cycle" by Gilbert Amy, "Continuum" by Kazimierz Serocki, "Ionisation" by Edgar Varese and "Hierophonie V" by Yoshihisa Taira.

The Beaux Arts Trio will appear Oct. 15. The program includes Haydn's Trio in C Major, the Trio for Violin, Cello and Piano by Ives, and the Mendelssohn Trio in D Minor, Op. 49.

The Juilliard String Quartet will present an all-Mozart program Oct. 29. The group will perform the Quartet in A Major, K. 464, and will be joined by guest artist John Graham, violist, in two quintets — E Flat Major, K. 614, and G Minor, K. 516.

Other concerts in the series include Ani Kavafian, violinist, performing music by Schubert, Mozart, Brahms and Prokofiev, Jan. 26; Music from Marlboro, including a Haydn piano trio, the Prokofiev Sonata for Two Violins and Dvorak's Quartet in E Flat Major, Feb. 8; The Waverly Consort, performing vocal and instrumental music of 15th century Spain, Feb. 23, and the Amadeus Quartet, performing works by Mozart, Schubert and Beethoven, April 19.

All the concerts will be at 8 p.m. in the Great Hall. Series tickets are available through Oct. 5 at $29 and $18 for students.

Unsubscribed seats will be sold individually before each concert. Any available tickets for the first two concerts will be on sale Monday, Sept. 26.

Faculty Wives celebrate

Parkland Faculty Wives will be celebrating the tenth anniversary of their organization at 2 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 11, in the Faculty Student Module on the second floor of the Communications division.

President William Staerkel will be the guest of honor.

There will be a slide presentation of the Champaign-Urbana area by David Hunter.

All wives of Parkland faculty members and all women faculty members are invited.

Soc. Association meets Thursday

The Parkland Sociological Association will conduct their first meeting of the year at noon Thursday, Sept. 8 in C246.

Persons interested in exploring and understanding society, its problems, and what is being done about them, are invited to attend.

Last year, the association traveled to various institutions, including Champaign County Youth Home, a holding center for Champaign youth; St. Charles, a medium security detention facility for boys; Stateville, a penitentiary for men; and Dwight, a women's prison.

The organization also painted rooms at the Champaign County Youth Home and participated in fund raising projects used to fund a trip to New England.

Dodds Park in Champaign and Leal Park in Urbana are sorely in need of greenery . . . namely trees and shrubbery. Besides, there are many unhappy, unemployed woodpeckers in the area!

Because the Bank of Illinois believes in the future of Champaign-Urbana, we'd like to do our part to improve the landscape.

But we need your help!

When you deposit $200 in a new or existing savings account at the Bank of Illinois, we'll donate $3 in your name for the planting of trees and shrubs in one of these parks. Or, we'll divide the donation equally.

But that's not all! The Bank of Illinois wants to add a touch of greenery to your home too, so we'll give you a $5 gift certificate redeemable with the merchants below. (Sorry, you'll have to supply your own woodpecker!)

WHY THESE PARKS?

Dodds Park, a project of the Champaign Park District, provides the East entrance to Parkland College. The park, consisting of 110 acres now under development, will provide softball, bicycling and other recreational activities. Improvement plans include a community garden plot and beautification of the Copper Slough area.

Leal Park, Urbana, is one of the area's oldest Indian and early pioneer burial grounds. It was recently selected as the appropriate relocation site for an authentic Greek Revival Cottage dated around 1840 . . . one of the few examples of this architecture remaining in Illinois.

A joint project of the Urbana Park District and the Champaign County Historical Museum, the park's development will accentuate both historical significance and the natural beauty of the area.

Key pair return for final year

By KEN HARTMAN

The heart and soul of any baseball team are the five men up-the-middle of the diamond.

For the upcoming season, Parkland has two of those positions in very capable hands.

Those two positions are pitcher and catcher and belong to Dale Schweighart on the mound and Scott Rafferty behind the plate.

Both players are in their final year and both figured heavily in last year's record-setting season as the Cobras finished 31-11.

Schweighart was 4-2 last season with a 1.96 ERA while Rafferty hit a .276 clip and was invaluable behind the plate.

"Dale was always consistent for us," said coach Jim Reed. "He's bigger and stronger this year and he'll be an outstanding pitcher."

"Scott was most valuable to us defensively," Reed said. "He is as good a catcher as we've had here at Parkland. Both he and Dale should be able to go play at a 4-year college with no problems."

Schweighart and Rafferty both went to Champaign Central High School and have been joined by many of their high school teammates here at Parkland. Greg Gadel, Dale Jinks, Mike Phillips, and Tom Sawtelle are former Maroon teammates who will be members of the '78 Cobras.

All of them came out of a highly touted program run by head coach Charlie Due.

"Everyone of these kids really likes to play," said Reed. "They work at it and they play in the summer. They are determined to give it their best shot."

Speaking of playing in the summer, both Schweighart and Rafferty played and played and played.

Schweighart was in the bana Senior Babe Ruth program and played on the league champion Firefighters. He was also a member of the bana Optimists all-star team, and along with Dennis Buerkett from Centennial now here at Parkland, was an ace of the pitching staff.

Rafferty played in the Danville Twilight League along with playing EI baseball for Gifford-Flatville. He also assisted a Junior Babe Ruth team this summer. He played in at least 80 games including those at Parkland last spring.

Rafferty has had quite a year, catching an unbelievable eight no-hitters.

He caught three no-hitters at Parkland, including the school's first-ever thrown by Schweighart against Springfield.

He has caught five in the EI league, three by Mike Scholz and two by Bob Harold.

How is it playing under coach Reed?

"It's a totally relaxed atmosphere," Schweighart said. "If he (Reed) has something to say, he'll say it to you."

"He really works on the fine points of the game, looks at every angle, and takes every advantage."

They both felt that a set lineup is a necessity. "Sure people slump," Rafferty said. "But it's important to have a set defense and to know what others will do. It really gives everybody added assurance. You have to have a good defense."

What about this year's club?
"We should be just as good if not better," stated Rafferty. "We have good returnees and good new pitchers."

"The sophomores plan to push the freshmen," Schweighart added. "We are not going to step down to play on a lower level than we want. We want to keep a winning attitude and get into every game."

Every year the same problem comes up — Lake Land. "I don't like them and would love to knock the pants off them," Rafferty said. "Beating them means going to the state."

Now wouldn't that be the appropriate way to end their days at Parkland?

Fast Freddy resumes

Despite the well-intentioned protestations of many level-headed people who haven't read Playboy's annual college football forecast edition (who reads that stuff anyway?), Fast Freddy, the prognosticator extraordinaire, returns to the Prospectus for his fifth inglorious season.

Freddy has bought his copy of Street & Smith's College Football Magazine and lined up a dozen games for each week of the football season.

All you have to do is figure out who will win — that doesn't take any brains — and circle the team you think will emerge victorious. Circling one team or the other does require some manual dexterity, but that has never proved a hindrance to a dyed-in-racoon football fan.

In this week's contest, for instance, predictors must decide whether last year's undefeated national champion Pittsburgh, minus Tony Dorsett and just about everyone else but Matt Cavanaugh, can defeat Notre Dame, its press clipping, legends, ghosts, and nationally syndicated television network.

Forecasters must decide between Northwestern and Iowa — a flipped coin would do nicely for that one — and games like Western Michigan at Minnesota. The Gophers like to start with the toughies and then work their way down.

Each week's winner gets five bucks, which won't get you into an Illinois game but it might help defray the cost of a wild weekend in Champaign-Urbana.

For this week's tie-breaker, Freddy has chosen — after much deliberation and research — the Vanderbilt at Oklahoma game. If you thought Vanderbilt was a person or some sort of etiquette, think again. They do play football in Nashville.

But if you think Vanderbilt has a chance against Oklahoma... well, turn to the inside pages and find something else to read. You didn't really need $5.00 anyway.

Fast Freddy's Las Vegas line, super, extra-special, pick of the week is Illinois over Michigan. All indications along the Gary Moeller wire services indicate that the Illini either will be tough... or they don't really exist behind those locked gates. We'll find out Saturday. It's been a long summer...

Preps open Friday

Friday is the opening of the 1977 Illinois High School Association prep football season. Hundreds of high schools will compete for a shot at the championship games, once again to be played at Illinois State University in Normal on November 25 and 26.

This year, the fourth in which the tournament has been played, sixteen teams will start the single elimination playoff from each of five classes. The two surviving teams will compete in Hancock Stadium at ISU for the championship.

Each class has 13 conferences, and each conference champ is an automatic selection. The other three berths will be filled at an "at large" basis from independent schools with an .800 or better winning percentage. Next in line are conference co-champions with an .800 or better percentage.

The classes and their enrollments are:
CLASS 1A (to 301 students) Bi-County, East Central, Indian Valley, Little Eight, Little Okaw Valley, Meridian, Mid-State, Morgan-Sangamon-Macoupin, Northwest Eight, Sangamon Valley, Vermilion Valley, Western Area, Western Illinois Valley.

CLASS 2A (302 to 534 students) Big Okaw Valley, Black Diamond, Blackhawk, Lincoln Trail, Little Illini, Mid-Northern, Northwestern Illinois, Olympic, Spoon River, South Central, Three Rivers, Wauseca, west Central.

CLASS 3A (535 to 1143 students) Apollo, Heart of Illinois, Kankakee Valley, Northeast, North Egypt, North Central, Private School League, Southwest Egyptian, west Suburban Catholic, Shark.

CLASS 4A (1144 to 2143 students) Big 12, Capital, Dupage Valley, Illini Eight, Mid-State Ten, North Central, Northern Illinois, North Suburban, Northwest Suburban, North, Northwest Suburban South, SICA East, SICA South, South Seven.

CLASS 5A (2144 to 3291 students) Central Suburban North, Central Suburban South, Chicago Catholic, Des Plaines Valley, East Suburban Catholic, Mid-Suburban North, Mid-Suburban South, Upstate Eight, SICA North, SICA West, Southwestern, Western Big Six, West Suburban.

Intramurals begin soon

A team meeting for men's and women's touch football managers will be Sept. 13 at 11:00 in P104.

Intramurals Football will be starting the week of September 19th. We want to organize men's leagues and women's for touch football. Sign your team up now, until the 15th in P123. If you cannot organize a team, but would like to play, we will take your name and put you on a team.

We are looking for officials for IM games. If you have officiated before or are interested, please see Mr. "A" or Swish in P123.

RULES OF THE GAME

1. Everyone, except newspaper staff members, their families and Fast Freddy, is eligible.
2. This official entry blank must be used.
3. Only one entry per person will be accepted; multiple entries will be disqualified.
4. No individual can win the contest prize more than twice during the season.
5. All entry blanks are due in the Prospectus office by noon (12:00) on the Friday preceding the games. No entries can be accepted under any circumstances after this time.
6. Winner will be announced in the Prospectus (with a picture) and will receive a cash prize of $5.00.
7. To enter you must circle the team you think will win in each game. Circle both teams for ties. Pick a score for the tie-breaker game. This game will be used only in case of ties and does not count in the total of twelve games to be predicted. Winner will be the person who selects the most games correctly.
